THE LAW WEEKLY

(MADRAS)

A Weekly Legal Journal of great merit and distinction
In Two Volumes per year.

Each Volume of not less than 20 parts and each part consisting of not less than 6 formes or 48 pages.

Size: Royal Octavo.

Reports all important cases of the Madras High Court and of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, Summary of Recent Cases, Digest of English Cases, Critical notes of Indian cases and Editorial notes. Well appreciated Fascinating life-sketches of distinguished Judges and Lawyers. Cases always well-selected, Prompt Reporting.

The following select opinions speak for themselves as to the superior merit of the journal.

The Chief Justice the Hon'ble Sir Owen Beasley, Kt., says:

".....I should like to say that I consider your Journal, 'The Law Weekly,' a most excellent publication. A wise collection of cases has been made and they are well reported. It is, I am sure, of great use to both the Bench and the Bar."

The Hon'ble Sir Veppa Ramesam, Kt., Officiating Chief Justice, says:

"The Law Weekly was started in 1914 and has ever since maintained its position as a very useful legal Journal. The cases are well selected and the reports are prompt. The notes on decided cases and other topics are interesting. One distinguishing feature may perhaps be mentioned—life sketches of distinguished Lawyers and Judges with portraits."

The Hon'ble Justice Sir Abdur Rahim, Kt., says:

".....Mr. V. C. Seshachariar, Vakil of the Madras High Court, was good enough to supply me with a copy of his valuable journal 'The Law Weekly,' since it was first started. As was to be expected from a gentleman of Mr. Seshachariar's energy and enterprise his paper has always been up-to-date in the reports of the decided cases and I found his editorial notes dealing with varied topics concerning laws, lawyers and administration of justice generally, specially interesting. While Mr. Seshachariar never scrupled to express freely his opinion about men and matters, it must be said to his credit that he never had an unkind or uncharitable word to say regarding the Judges whose decisions he naturally had often to criticise."

The Hon'ble Justice Sir Charles Spencer, Kt., says:

".....I perused with interest your article on Mr. Norton's Jubilee at the Bar. I first became acquainted with him in 1902 when I was acting as District Judge of Madura and he has been my friend ever since..... I have always admired the good sense which has characterised the conduct of 'The Law Weekly' the excellent quality of the type and the general get up of this journal, the punctuality of its appearance and its freedom from all kinds of partiality and prejudice. I took it and read it from its first issue up to the date of my quitting the Bench....."

The Hon'ble Justice Sir C. V. Kumaraswami Sastriar, Kt., says:

".....I have been a subscriber to the Madras Law Weekly from the time when it was started in 1914 and have always found that the journal maintained a high standard of efficiency. No case of any importance has failed to find a place in the reports. The reporting has been prompt and the head notes clear. The articles and notes on legal and other topics have been always interesting....."

"I wish the learned editor and proprietor, Mr. V. C. Seshachariar, every success and hope the 'Law Weekly' will find a place in the library of every Court and lawyer."

Preface.

This is the 132nd Edition of the Asylum Press Almanack & Directory.

We take this opportunity of thanking the Government of Madras for their continued support and patronage for this Publication.

We are indebted to the Government of Madras for the various Publications and Editor's Table Papers kindly supplied to us by them which we have made use of for the compilation of this Directory. Our special thanks are also due to the Government of India for their permission kindly given to us for printing the Indian Customs Tariff.

A number of new and useful features has been added—such as information about a number of cities outside the Presidency, Textile Mills in India, list of the Members of the Cosmopolitan Club, Madras, District and Taluk Board Members, Municipal Councillors, etc., etc.

Every section of the Book has been brought up-to-date.

Suggestions for improving the Publication will always be welcomed and gratefully acknowledged by

As regards Varasulai, one should not travel towards the directions specified above, but can do so in cases of emergency after the expiry of the said periods and after contributing Curd for East, Jaggery for West, Sesamum Oil for South and Milk for North.

THERMOMETER.

There are three kinds of thermometers, Fahrenheit, Reaumur and Centigrade. The scales of their comparison are noted below:—

Freezing Point:—32°F = 0°C = 0°R.

Boiling Point:—212°F = 100°C = 80°R.

To convert one kind into another, use one of the following formulæ.

Let F represent Fahrenheit, C—Centigrade and R—Reaumur.

$$\text{Then } F = \frac{9C}{5} + 32 = \frac{9R}{4} + 32 = C + R + 32; C = \frac{5(F-32)}{9} = \frac{5R}{4}; \text{ \& } R = \frac{4(F-32)}{9} = \frac{4}{5}C.$$

PHENOMENA.

Mercury:—Owing to its proximity to the Sun than the Earth and moving round its orbit it has been styled an "Inferior Planet". It revolves round the Sun in about 8 months assuming all the phases of the moon round its revolution. It is distinguished by its bright white light. It is Stationary on 4th April, 15th July, 9th August, 8th and 28th November 1933, 24th February and 14th March 1934; in Superior Conjunction on 28th May and 11th September 1933; and 20 July 1934; in Inferior Conjunction on 30th July, 18th November 1933 and 6th March 1934; at Greatest Elongation (East) on 2nd

PHENOMENA—(Contd.).

July, 23th October 1933 and 18th February 1934; at Greatest Elongation (West) on 20th April, and 18th August, 6th December 1933 and 2nd April 1934. It is in South Declination from 1st to 23rd April and 20th September 1933 to 31st March 1934 and in North Declination at other periods.

Venus:—Another planet having its orbit inferior within that of the Earth. It revolves round the Sun in about 7½ months assuming all the phases similar to those of the moon. It has a very pleasant light. It is in Superior Conjunction on 21st April 1933, and in Inferior Conjunction on 5th February 1934; in Greatest Elongation (East) on 25th November 1933; in Greatest Brilliancy on 31st December 1933 and 11th March 1934, and Stationary on 18th January and 24th February 1934. It is in North Declination from the beginning of the year to 23rd August 1933 and in South Declination during the rest of the period.

Mars:—A superior planet next to the Earth in order of distance from the Sun. It goes round the Sun in nearly 2 years. It is distinguishable from other planets by its deep red colour and fiery aspect. This also assumes all the phases of the moon during its revolution round the Sun. It has two satellites discovered so long ago as 1877 and they can be seen only by powerful telescopes. It is stationary on 13th April. It is in South Declination from 9th July 1933 to 16th March 1934 and in North Declination during other portions of the year.

Jupiter:—Another superior planet next in rank. Its revolution round the Sun is nearly 12 years. It has 9 satellites. Of these the last two have retrograde motion. Round its disc arranged in parallel lines are seen several dusky bands called "belts". These form an interesting subject for examination. It is Stationary on 10th May 1933 and 7th February 1934; in Conjunction with the Sun on 27th September 1933. It is in North Declination from 1st April to 22nd September 1933 and in South Declination during other parts of the year.

Saturn:—Another superior planet next in size to Jupiter. It has belts on its surface which could be discerned only by powerful telescopes. A still more wonderful appendage is its ring, which is found to consist of two concentric rings separated from each other by a dark space. It has 10 moons, the last one has a retrograde motion. It is Stationary on 27th May and 14th October 1933, and in Conjunction with the Sun on 8th February 1934 and in Opposition to the Sun on the 5th August 1933. It is in South Declination throughout the year.

Uranus:—Another superior planet having as many as 9 satellites with retrograde motion. Any pocket glass can be used in seeing the primary but its moons require a telescope of a very high order. It is Stationary on 2nd August 1933 and 2nd January 1934; in Opposition to the Sun on 19th October 1933, and in Conjunction with the Sun on 13th April 1933. It is in North Declination throughout the year.

Neptune:—Another superior planet most distant from the Sun. It can be seen with any telescope if its position is known. It has only one satellite moving in a retrograde motion. It is Stationary on the 19th May and 15th December 1933, in Conjunction with the Sun on 2nd September 1933, and in Opposition to the Sun on 2nd March 1934. It is in North Declination throughout the year.

Pluto:—Is at present the last of the Sun's growing family. It requires a very powerful glass to see it. The elements of this planet have been only provisionally fixed.

Minor planets:—Prior to the discovery of these planets some astronomers believed in the existence of a planet between Mars and Jupiter. The first of this series was discovered on the first day of the last century and in regular succession other planets were discovered and the astronomers of the present day can boast of a great number of these planets intervening those major ones. Vesta is the only one ever visible to the naked eye. Till 1910, Eros was considered the nearest planet to the Earth but the discovery of a new planet removed this belief. This new planet is exceedingly small.

GENERAL GARDENING CALENDAR FOR INDIA.

By H. E. HOUGHTON, Esq., F.L.S.

General Gardening Calendars are given for the Plains and Hills so that they may be universally useful to the general body of Amateur Gardeners who live in the vast Indian Empire. The great diversity of climates makes it impossible, in the limited space available, to give full details as to the exact time of sowing, etc., but as the native Malis know the proper time for sowing seeds in their own towns, or districts, the information given in the Calendars and in the Cultural Notes for growing vegetables and flowers, will enable Amateurs to instruct their Malis what gardening operations they ought to undertake from month to month, according to the nature of the weather. The times mentioned in the Calendar, I think, are generally suitable.

THE PLAINS.

KITCHEN GARDENS.

January.—This month belongs to the cold season, and little or no rain falls; if it falls, the average is about 2 inches, but dews are abundant.

In places where there is a heavier rainfall, or when the weather is otherwise favourable, a last sowing of European vegetables should be made, of the kinds that mature early, such as Beans, Cress, Lettuces, Mustard, Radishes, Tomatoes, Turnips, Vegetable Marrow and even Peas. Where there is but little rain, or the season is unfavourable, it will be a waste of time and labour to sow Vegetable seeds (in consequence of the weather becoming too warm before they mature, they will not attain any perfection, or be worth eating.)

In most places careful watering will have to be done, but it should not be done while the sun's direct rays are on the plants; the early morning, or the evening is the best time for watering.

Squashes should be liberally watered. Celery should be earthed up for blanching.

Weak liquid manure should be applied once, or twice a week to growing crops, and the ground around them kept constantly hoed and weeds eradicated.

Sow any country vegetables that may be required.

Fig Trees and Grape Vines should be pruned and Custard Apples, Pomegranates and Plantains looked after.

Collect and transfer all waste vegetable matter to the leaf manure pit.

February.—This is the last of the cold weather months; towards the end it gradually warms up. There is no rain, but a fair amount of dew in the mornings, but little can be done with European vegetables. All crops in the ground that are maturing should be freely watered. Sowings of Lettuces, Mustard, Cress, Country Radishes, Cucumber and Gourds can be made. Drenchings of liquid manure to growing crops will be of benefit. Destroy insects. Sow Parsley in pots for hot weather supply, it also makes a fine foliage plant. Keep the garden clear of decayed leaves. Vegetables during this month, especially the cabbage tribe, give out a most disagreeable odour if left decaying. See that arrangements are made to keep up a supply of such country vegetables as may be required. Watering will invariably be requisite throughout the month; commence collecting manure for the next season.

March.—It is the first of the hot weather months with no rainfalls and there is but little dew in the morning. Watering must be done carefully and freely.

European vegetables can no longer be grown with satisfaction; the cultivation of such native vegetables as may be required, should be attended to. Bottle and Snake Gourds, Cucumber, Squashes, Sweet Potatoes (American kinds for preference), Spinach, Tomatoes, Goa, or Double Beans may be grown and Parsley in pots in a shady place.

Herbs will be ready for cutting and drawn.

Beets, Carrots and Onions should be lifted and stored in pots of dry sand. All vacant spaces in the garden should now be dug and thrown up in ridges, (this is applicable to heavy soils) so as to expose the soil to the influence of the sun during the hot weather. Where the soil is light, let it be dug over level; collect manure without delay; if composed of heating materials, it will require to be watered and turned over frequently; be sure this matter is not overlooked. Encourage Fig trees to go to rest by watering sparingly, attend to watering lately-planted Mango trees; support the stems securely against high winds. Store Yams in sand, or dry oil.

April.—In this month a little rain sometimes falls and the dew in the mornings gradually disappears. The crops of European vegetables will have come to an end and only Country vegetables can be grown. Cucumbers, Gourds, Squashes and Melons may be sown and protected from the sun until established, and then watered freely. Yams and Jerusalem Artichokes may be put down to grow. Pines, which will be in fruit, must be carefully attended to.

If any digging work remains unfinished, complete without further delay; attend to general cleaning up.

Collect leaves for the leaf manure pit.

May.—Although a few light showers may fall, at stations that get the October to December monsoon, European vegetables cannot be grown; so continue to grow Country vegetables.

Arrowroot, Tapioca and Sweet Potatoes may be planted; continue to attend to Pineapples. Dig over waste places, re-make water channels and roads, and repair buildings and working implements. Water carefully and liberally. Prepare manure.

At the stations where the rain begins at the end of this month or that get the June to September monsoon, if there are indications of early setting in of rains, get ready to sow Cabbage, Koolkhol, Celery, Beet, French Beans, Carrots, Lettuce, Tomatoes, Mize and Peas.

KITCHEN GARDENS—Contd.

June.—At non-monsoon places, although rain may fall, this is the midsummer month; except acclimatized Maize and Country vegetables, nothing else can be sown.

Work indicated last month remaining unfinished should be completed. Make sure that the supply of manure is sufficient and in a condition to be used next month, if necessary.

At south-west monsoon stations, during the fine weather that succeeds the first burst of the monsoon, any kind of European vegetables can be sown, and a succession of sowings can go on until November.

Plant out such seedlings as were raised last month. Plant the crowns of Pineapples.

Look out for noxious insects that attack all kinds of the Cabbage tribe, Cauliflower, Kuolkhol, Turnips, etc.

July.—In consequence of the June to September monsoon some rain may fall at the non-monsoon places; but the attempt to sow vegetable seeds should be made everything should be in preparation for sowing in August, if the weather is at all favourable.

If frequent light showers fall towards the end of the month, Celery and Parsley may be sown.

The manure heap should be in fit condition for immediate use.

At south-west monsoon stations, Cabbages, &c., sown last month will now be infested with green-fly which should be destroyed; attend to weeding and hoeing soil round growing crops. Make successional sowings of European vegetables.

August.—If the weather has cooled down by the rain that has fallen last month, and what falls during the month, let a first sowing be made in boxes, or pots, of European vegetables. Sow Celery, Parsley, French Beans, Carrots and Radishes and a first sowing of Peas at the end of the month. Of Country vegetables sow Brinjals, Gourds, Cucumbers, Roseles, Greens, Spinach, Beans, Chillies, Snake Gourds, &c.; plant Yams and Jerusalem Artichokes. Attend to top-dressing Asparagus beds; make a fresh bed of Water-cresses in a shady spot near a well or tank, where they can be easily supplied with water twice a day. Put in suckers of Pineapples and prepare stock of Mangoes for grafting. Let the garden soil be levelled, well-manured and dug over; make sure the manure is well-looked after and mixed with lime and ashes before using.

September.—As the north-west monsoon is due next month, this is the proper time to sow a succession of Peas. French beans and Spinach may be put in every week during the month; continue to sow vegetables of all kinds; Onions and Leeks in light rich soil in beds; protected from the rain by mats tied over moveable bamboo frame-work. Attend to the seedlings raised last month some of which will be ready for transplanting. Kuolkhol and Cabbage, if any were sown early in July, will be ready for final transplanting in the garden beds, in rows; let them be lifted carefully; disturb the roots as little as possible. Encourage the growth of Celery by slight waterings of liquid manure; look after insects, (a slight sprinkling of lime over and under the leaves will arrest their ravages); if this is not used, let them be picked by hand every morning. Lime will in nowise injure the tenderest vegetation, if slaked and cool. Native vegetables sown at the beginning of last month will be fit for eating, if slaked and cool. Commence to graft mangoes; make preparation such as digging trenches, &c., to prevent the garden being flooded during the monsoon, which should commence about 15th October. Manure Pineapples, remove the suckers and put them into root.

At south-west monsoon stations continue to sow Cauliflower, Cabbage, Turnip and Kuolkhol for main crop, if this was not done last month.

October.—Transplant all vegetables, that are large enough, into the beds, or drills where they are to grow. Trenches should be ready to receive Celery plants; shade if the weather is clear; look after Tomatoes, Onions, Leeks, Carrots and Beetroot; let them be thinned out to proper distances from each other; the thinnings may be planted if required. Continue to sow a few varieties of vegetable seeds. Peas may be sown every week; let the drills in which they are sown be raised above the surface level; continue to sow a succession of French beans. Keep up a supply of Salads, such as Lettuce, Endive, Mustard, Water-cress, &c. Finish early in the month preparations for planting out vegetables; do not wait till wanted, as the soil may not be workable from rain. Let everything about the garden be neat and clean; eradicate weeds on their first appearance. If the weather during the month should prove dry, Peas and the Cabbage tribe will suffer much. A supply of water will be requisite to prevent the crops sustaining a check which would prove very detrimental. When water is applied, let it be in the morning, very early if possible, when it is cool; frequent hoeing up the soil amongst the crops will require to be looked to. If activity is not displayed during the early part of this month in forwarding operations, there is but little chance of success for the season. Take particular care that the crops are not planted on the same piece of ground they were grown last year; alternate them yearly if possible. Graft Mangoes and plant Pineapples.

At south-west monsoon stations, continue sowings similar to last month; also sow Cucumber and Parsley.

November.—Attend to transplanting seedlings. Peas and French beans may be sown, every week, or ten days; the main crop must be looked for from seeds sown this month, as Peas sown late may not be good. Sow a small quantity of Cabbage, Kuolkhol, Cauliflowers, Tomatoes, &c., likewise a few Salads. Cauliflowers sown during the first week of the month, if well attended to, may flower during February. Attend to transplanting Onions and Leeks. Thin out Turnips and Carrots to proper distances from each other.

Plant Celery in trenches; look after all details, such as cleanliness, digging trenches to carry off the heavy rain water; put in cuttings of Cabbage sprouts for use during the hot season. Graft Mangoes, and put in cuttings of Figs and Vines. Plant Onion for salad.

At south-west monsoon stations, sowings of imported vegetables may be put in for a late crop. Plant out seedlings of previous months' sowings.

December.—Continue to plant out all vegetables on hand during the first week. Plant Celery in trenches and earth up such as may require it. Keep the soil amongst the growing crops hoed, and eradicate weeds on their first appearance. Blanch Lettuce and Endive by tying up the leaves. Thin out the branches of Tomatoes. Look after insects amongst Cabbage and Cauliflower. Use slaked lime freely on all crops attacked; it will prove a beneficial check. During the month sow Cucumbers, Vegetable-marrows, Country Vegetables, &c. Early planted vegetables will be fit for use towards the end of the month. French beans and Salads should be in abundance. Attend to staking of Peas, Beans, &c. Continue to make up a manure heap for the ensuing season; let nothing be lost in the shape of vegetable matter. The main work of this month is attention to growing crops and looking to early grafted Mangoes; make incisions gradually on the branches above the grafts.

At south-west monsoon stations, attention should be given to growing crops, thinning out crops to give them more space to grow in. Earth up Celery plants and give water freely if days are clear.

FLOWER GARDENS.

January.—The flower garden should be gay with flowers grown from the seeds of European annuals, sown after the rains. Final sowings of the most hardy of these annuals should be made, to supply out flowers late in the season, Browallias, Cosmea, Gaillardias, Sunflowers, Balsams, Tagetes, Torenia, Zinnias, (of which there are several improved kinds) and similar annuals, will grow during the hot weather months.

Craniums, Geraniums, Salvias and similar plants will strike readily if cuttings are put in. The following should be pruned:—Allamandis, Hibiscus, Ixoras, Bignonias, Lagerstroemias, Quisqualis, Tecomas, &c. The other garden operations consist in keeping everything clean and in perfect order, using the knife amongst the shrubs, where required. Attend to the young shoots of creepers so that they may be properly trained, cut back all plants that may have grown over the edges of the beds, or walks; this should be done neatly, so that the use of the knife may not be discovered; nothing looks worse than plants abruptly cut round the edge of flower beds. Such cuttings of shrubs and roses, as have rooted should be planted out in beds and well watered and shaded for a few days. Attend to plants in pots; Roses in flower-bud will be improved by frequent watering with liquid manure, which will increase the size of the flowers. Shade tender plants from the mid-day sun. Attend to clipping hedges, keeping the walks in proper trim and mow and roll the lawns.

February.—The directions for January are also suitable for this month; little more can be done than attending to watering and cleanliness. Protect tender plants in pots from the mid-day sun. During the course of the month remove and put in pots a good supply of Verbenas and such like, to preserve them during the hot season. Chrysanthemums will have finished flowering; let them rest, or divide them and plant them in a bed, or in small pots.

Several orchids flower in this month; see that the syringe is used with care. Attend to plants in pots, frequently stirring up the soil on the surface. If worms are troublesome, a little clear lime water used occasionally will remove them; keep walks in proper order, mow and roll the lawns.

March.—Pay attention to cleanliness, watering shrubs, Roses, &c., freely; such beds as are empty should be neatly dug over; look to the roots of Dahlias, let them be stored in pots of sand, or in the pots they were grown in, if the soil is dry; in any case they must be kept dry. Amaryllis, Lilies, Gloxinias, Achimenes, Caladiums and all bulbs that have flowered require the same treatment; plants growing in pots should be placed, if possible, so that they may receive the morning sun but be shaded during the mid-day.

Prune shrubs that have flowered, do any re-potting that may be required. The lawn grass will have stopped growing, in the absence of heavy dew; mow and roll the lawns if necessary.

April.—Achimenes and late kinds of Amaryllis also some Orchids flower this month; store away any bulbs that have died down, examine bulbs already put to rest to see they are not damaged by vermin. Cease to excite Roses to flower. Clean up garden generally.

Water liberally ornamented plants and shrubs in the ground. If you are watering your lawn use mower and roller, or the grass will grow long and will have to be cut by hand. See that your manure supply for the next season is sufficient.

May.—Where the monsoon is not expected, hot winds prevail, and nothing can be done by amateurs. Order flower pots and have old empty pots well washed; prepare compost for pot plants. Repair plant houses, trellis work, and see that the lawn mower, garden pumps, watering cans, etc., are serviceable.

Where the monsoon is expected at the end of this month, or beginning of next, annuals such as Hollyhocks, Balsams, Browallias, Gaillardias, Cosmeas, Zinnias, &c., may be sown, and if temperature falls, sow other half-hardy annuals. Be prepared to re-pot bulbous plants; as they commence growth prune and manure Roses, watch Orchids and syringe them after they begin to grow, until the monsoon rains fall.

June.—At non-monsoon stations, pits for planting trees and shrubs may be dug, low places in the lawns levelled up, and any of the unfinished operations commenced last month completed.

At south-west monsoon stations rain having fallen, sowings of half-hardy annuals may be made, except Pansy and the better kinds of Petunias. If seedlings, from seed sown last month are strong enough, transplant them.

Make cuttings of Roses and shrubs and plant them for striking. Weed your lawns and move the grass, roll lawns and roadways and keep them clear of weeds.

July.—At non-monsoon stations, if the weather is still too hot, little can be done during the month further than preparing for the ensuing seed time; let composts be in a perfect state for use before the end of the month. Take care not to be carried into too active operations by good showers of rain, but Hollyhocks, Browallias, Calliopis, Cosmeas, Gaillardias, Sunflowers, Tagetes, Torenia, and Zinnias may survive the heat. At south-west monsoon stations make up grass edgings with turf. Do not prune Roses unless they show signs of growth; this can be easily discovered by the swelling and bursting of the buds; if they show signs, prune and manure, though waiting till the following month would be more judicious. Look to the roots of Dahlias, Gloxinias and Achimenes that may have commenced to grow; retard them as much as possible, but bring them to the light; as Dahlias are very impatient, their roots should be divided towards the end of the month into as many divisions as possible with a sharp knife; they should have one shoot upon each division.

Seedlings of annuals transplanted last month will now be ready to go into their flowering pots, or into beds that will not be water-logged. Transplant Chrysanthemums into their flowering pots; continue to sow seeds of such annuals as you require, to keep the beds and the demand for cut flowers going.

Weed the garden thoroughly and attend to cleaning generally. Weed, mow, and roll the lawns, and bury all weeds in a pit; they will make good manure for the following season.

August.—At south-west monsoon stations look after growing crops, hoe and weed daily, continue to sow vegetables, and put in seed for main crop.

Sow seeds of those flowers that are most suitable for the climate; be careful how small seeds are sown and watered; look to the roots of Dahlias, Gloxinias, &c.; they should be set a growing in good soil. If no plan has been definitely fixed upon to secure a good supply of flowers, now is the time to look to it; there is no time to spare; propagate Verbenas by layers; sow Hollyhocks, Petunias, Balsams, Celosia, Gomphrenia-Marigold, Ipomea, Sunflower, Torenia, and Zinnia, increase your stock of Chrysanthemums and Cannas by division, or fresh supplies; let the flower garden be well dug and manured; dig and manure round the roots of shrubs on lawns, &c. Let a shaded piece of ground be prepared in which to put cuttings of Roses, shrubs, &c.; prepare pits for planting trees and shrubs; make them large and deep. Pits should not be less than 3 feet in diameter and depth. Too much care cannot be taken of seedlings, lest they get drawn during the dull days that may prevail; expose them to the light and air as much as possible. Top-dress all plants in pots, not intended to be re-potted, with fresh soil and manure; re-pot and top dress Roses in pots. Prune and manure garden Roses and put in cuttings, weed and use lawn mower if necessary. Water carefully on dry clear days.

At south-west monsoon stations continue to make successional sowings. Give plants that are making rapid growth weak liquid manure, re-plant edgings and clip such edgings as require it. Put in cuttings of Crotons, &c. Attend to cleaning, as directed last month.

September.—Hollyhock, &c., sown last month, should during this be fit for planting out, choosing a dull damp day. Continue to sow Balsams, Hollyhocks and all showy annuals. Attend to cleanliness and keep the soil in flower beds open by hoeing. Layer bed and put in cuttings of Roses and such shrubs, trees and creepers as may be required. Sow seeds of trees and shrubs, put in pipings of Carnations in boxes filled with fines and mixed with a little red earth. Let all creepers be neatly tied to the posts, or trellises upon which they are trained; prune where required; prune and keep in proper form shrubs, &c.; attend to cutting hedges and filling up gaps. Casuarina hedge, neatly trimmed would look much nicer round flower gardens than unsightly bamboo trellises; it is astonishing they are not more generally planted, as they combine neatness with economy, and are easily raised, if the seed is not too deeply covered with soil. Use the lawn mower and roller over the lawns.

At south-west monsoon stations, transplant Roses and other shrubs that have finished their rainy season growth.

Small sowings of imported annuals should be made. Cleaning up as indicated above should be undertaken.

October.—The operations of last month are applicable to this. Look after Dahlias in pot stake them and water occasionally with liquid manure. Plant out Verbenas, Heliotropes, and all other budding plants. Keep up a supply of Balsam, Cockscombs, &c. Plant trees and shrubs attending to training and pruning creepers. This is a good time to get Roses, Fuchsias, Violets, &c. from the hills. Weed, mow and roll the lawn, and take advantage of dry days to grass it; straighten and trim the edges of walks and beds. Give everything a neat and clean appearance. Protect all newly planted trees from the wind.

At south-west monsoon stations, the budding of Roses and re-potting of plants should be done; continue to sow seeds as directed last month and keep garden neat and clean. Put in cuttings.

November.—Continue to transplant seedlings into pots, or boxes. Plant out annuals, Verbenas, Hollyhocks, Phloxes, and Ipomeas, if strong enough. Sow any flower seeds remaining on hand, sow seeds of trees and shrubs. Decide early in the month positions for ornamental creepers, and plant without delay. Attend to training creepers and pruning where required. Prune and manure garden Roses, and put in cuttings. In pruning, cut the old branches down to three or four eyes from the bottom. Top-dress all plants in pots not requiring re-potting; protect tender plants from heavy rain; activity is required during this month to obtain a good supply of flowers during the three following months. The finer varieties of Roses in pots should be re-potted if necessary; they require a heavy soil mixed with well-decayed horse manure. Support all plants requiring it from the high winds.

At south-west monsoon stations, all seedlings large enough should be transplanted, and transplanted seedlings should go into the beds, or pots in which they are to bloom; such as are making vigorous growth in beds and pots should be given liquid manure once in a week or 10 days.

December.—Plant out the remaining stock of annuals; sow a few Hollyhocks, Gaillardias, Zinnias, Torenias, Amaranthus, &c. A last sowing of Balsams may be put in. Sow convolvulus of all kinds and Petunias, as for flowering during the hot months. Attend to Dahlias and encourage them by weekly waterings of liquid manure. Keep the flower beds and walks clean and neat. Water and roll the walks towards the latter part of the month; it will give them a neat appearance, and at the same time they will be more comfortable to walk upon; use lawn mower and roller on lawns.

At south-west monsoon stations, attend to growing annuals, and budded Roses; sow last lot of imported annuals and excite flowering plants to make rapid growth, so as to get them in flower during the cold season.

THE HILLS.

KITCHEN GARDENS.

January.—The weather is favourable; sowings of Cauli-flower, Broccoli, Lettuces, Parsley, Peas, Radish, Mustard and Cress may be made but must be well protected; in some stations the verandah is used for the early crops, or a glass frame with bottom heat. Where the ground is covered with snow nothing can be done.

February.—Small sowings, by preference in glass frames, or in the verandah, may be made of Asparagus, Beetroot, Cress, Cabbage, Cauli-flower, Cress, Turnips, Parsnips, Knolkhol and Onions; sow Peas if not sown last month; if sown earth up and protect with top dressing of litter.

March.—All kinds of European vegetable seeds should be sown now, but the beds must be protected; transplant seedling sown during the past two months.

April.—Continue to sow Vegetable seeds and transplant seedlings raised previously; sow Celery. Plant out in beds any seedlings that are strong enough. Plant main crop of potatoes; give weak liquid manure to growing crops.

May.—Make successional sowings of all seeds of European vegetables including Maize; attend to growing crops and keep soil round vegetables well hoed and free from weeds and insects. Make a new bed of Asparagus; propagate Rhubarb.

June.—For a late crop, Peas and Beans may be sown. To keep up a supply of Cabbages, Cauli-flower, etc., plant seedling out once in eight, or ten days, and Cress and Mustard once in four, or five days. Water all growing vegetables freely and hoe and weed the beds. Weed Asparagus beds.

July.—Small sowings of Cabbages, Cauli-flower, Carrots, Lettuce, Dwarf Runner Beans, Endive and Turnips should be made. Take out herbs and dry them for use in Winter. Hoe the Asparagus bed, thin out Celery and Beet, and take Beans. Give growing crops drenchings of liquid manure.

August.—If weather is favourable small sowings of Peas, Dwarf Bean, Cabbage, Cauli-flower and Lettuce may be made. Onions should be taken up and Celery earthed up.

September.—A sowing of some well-known early Peas should be put down. In order to keep up a continuous supply of vegetables, sow all kinds once in eight, or ten days; Cress and Mustard once in four or five days. Broccoli to go through the Winter may be sown now; earth up Celery.

October.—Sow main crop varieties of Peas towards end of this month; sow Cabbages, Cauli-flowers and Brussels Sprouts; if weather permits sow Cress, Mustard and Radish, earth up Celery, take up Potatoes, Parsnips, Turnips and Carrots and store them.

November.—Put in a sowing of a late variety of Peas, Brussels, Sprouts, Cabbage, Cauli-flower; etc.

Top dress with well-rotted manure, Asparagus, Artichoke, Seakale, Rhubarb, etc. All leaves should be put into the leaf mould pit.

December.—During this month all plant should be protected with straw, or grass, and water given very sparingly.

January.—Cuttings raised last month should be now ready to be transplanted, or potted off; they should be protected and the watering done sparingly. If the weather is favourable, hardy bulb, such as Gladioli Tulips, Snowdrops, Anemones, Crocuses, Hyacinths Ranunculi, Primulas, Cinerarias, Petunias, &c., may be planted and successional sowings of annuals may be made; seeds of germeaceous plants, may also be sown. Sow Sweet Peas at the end of the month. The roots of shrubs should be protected with straw leaves, or any rubbish. If the ground is covered with snow, all plants needing it should be sheltered in a house.

February.—Sow Antirrhinums, Asters, Cinerarias, Stocks, Calceolarias, Daisies, Phlox, Petunias, Pansies, Primulas and Mimulas in pans in a sheltered portion of the verandah. Pot on plants that are fit to transplant, also layers of Carnations if it has ceased snowing; this is the best time for this work. Re-pot Roses, Geraniums, Camellias and Picotees, Pelargoniums and Fuchsias; put in cuttings of Chrysanthemums.

March.—All kinds of "hardy annuals" can be sown this month; seedlings raised in the past two months may be transplanted. Prune Roses and water all plants freely.

April.—Attend to the watering of growing annuals in pots, transplant seedlings, sow seeds of "half-hardy" annuals and continue to sow seeds of "hardy" and "half-hardy" annuals to end of May. Plant out Dahlias, and bud Roses. Pot off Gloxinias and Begonias.

May.—Plant out annuals ready to go into beds, or into the pots in which they are to bloom; sow seeds of annuals for autumn flowers. Stake Hollyhocks and other plants. Plant out Dahlias and put Chrysanthemums into the pots in which they are to flower.

June.—Such annuals as Balsams, Marigolds, Torenias, Zinnias, &c., should be sown in anticipation of the rains; Carnation and Rose cuttings may be put in and shaded on clear days.

July.—Put down cuttings of Roses, Geraniums, Fuchsias and layer Carnations; a small sowing of annuals for flowers in September may be made. Geraniums and Chrysanthemums will be growing freely and should not be over-watered, or manured, but Dahlias may be given liquid manure. See to weeds, lawn grass and pathways.

August.—Sow seeds of Stocks, Petunia, Mimulas, etc.; divide and pot off Lilies. If Chrysanthemums are in bud, feed with liquid manure; re-pot Geraniums that have finished flowering. Eradicate weeds, keep walks in order and mow lawns. If you do not put down cuttings of Geraniums and Fuchsias this month, they may not root early enough and be overtaken by Winter.

September.—Sow seeds of Dianthus, Petunias, Phlox, Sweet Peas, etc. Re-pot any Lilies that may require dividing, or re-potting, plant the bulbs low in the pots, so that they may make strong roots to support their long stems and flowers. Sow Pinks, Pelargoniums, Primulas, Zonal Geraniums, Cinerarias and Calceolarias, so as to get strong plants before Winter. Chrysanthemum buds should be pinched off, if large flowers are wanted and liquid manure given.

October.—If the Hill station is below 4,000 feet, hardy annual seeds may be sown; sow Pansies and Sweet Peas; most of the imported bulbs and roots can be put down. Put Hyacinths in 7-inch pots, and place in a dark room. When the pots are filled with roots and the crowns show signs of growing, remove them into a warm place in the house. Allow Achemines to dry off gradually. Take up Dahlias carefully and store in a dry place; attend to removal of lateral shoots of Chrysanthemums. Pot off Geraniums from beds. From this month until Spring, most plants should be sparingly watered.

November.—All delicate plants and shrubs should be protected. Pansies and rooted Geraniums should be potted off. Dahlias not to be lifted, should be top dressed and Begonias allowed to go to rest; be careful about watering.

December.—Plants that do not flower during this month, should be very sparingly watered. All delicate plants should be kept in a warm place in a glazed verandah, and not put out until after the end of March. Cuttings of Verbenas and Petunias may be rooted and potted.

SHIP'S TONNAGE.

Is described as "Gross" and "Register". Gross Tonnage does not include the entire space available on a ship—for, from this measurement all spaces above deck, solely appropriated to the ship's machinery, deck house cabins, deck shelters, the galleys, wheel and chart houses, cable tiers, sail, carpenter's and boatswain's stores and a few minor spaces, are excluded. Register Tonnage excludes in addition to the above, crew space, Masters', Officers' and Engineers' accommodation, etc., and in the case of steamers, 32 per cent. of the whole is also deducted for engine rooms allowance. In steamers, the difference between gross and register tonnage is often very great, the "Oceanic", for example, has a gross tonnage of more than 17,000 tons, while her register tonnage is only a little over 7,000. A "displacement ton" is 35 c. ft.

NOTE.—France, Belgium, Italy, Greece and Switzerland constitute the "Latin" Union, and their coins are alike in weight and fineness, occasionally differing in name. The same system has been adopted by Spain, Serbia, Bulgaria, Russia and Roumania, but they have not joined the Union. Franc and centimes of France, Belgium and Switzerland are respectively designated lire and centesimi in Italy; drachmai and lepta in Greece; dinars and paras in Serbia; pesetas and centimos in Spain; leys and banis in Roumania; levo and stotinki in Bulgaria.

The Scandinavian countries, Norway, Sweden and Denmark, all employ coins of the same weight and fineness, their names being also alike. Most of the South American States possess a standard coin, equal in weight and fineness to the silver 5 fr. piece, generally termed a "peso" In Hayti, the corresponding coin is a "gouide."

In most of the British Colonies English money is current. The currency of Ceylon, Mauritius and the East African Protectorate is, however, based on the rupee of British India; that of the Straits Settlements is on a dollar basis. Canada and British Honduras coinage are on the basis of the United States gold dollar. A British dollar, identical in weight and fineness with the Japanese "yen," is legal tender in the Straits Settlements, Hongkong, Sarawak, British North Borneo and Labuan.

The exchange value of the monies of many countries is determined by the rate of exchange for the day. The rate given in the exchange notes of the newspapers generally represents the number of standard coins that are equivalent to one sovereign. The Spanish rate is given in terms of pence per dollar (=2 escudos), the Russian in pence per rouble, Portuguese in pence per milreis, and the United States rate in pence per dollar.

The exchange value of the Indian rupee depends on the rate for "India Council Bills," but by an Act of 1898, the British sovereign was made legal tender and equivalent to 1½ rupees, the rupee being thus rated at 1s. 4d.

In "bimetallic" countries pure gold is generally taken as being worth 15½ times its weight of pure silver. This proportion corresponds to giving standard silver a constant value of 60½d. per oz.

BRITISH WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

UNIFORMITY.—An edict of King Edgar decreed that there should be but one Standard Measure, that kept at Winchester; and by the 27th section of Magna Charta, there was to be one weight for all England. Nevertheless, numerous customary weights and measures have continued in use—custom was stronger than law, especially with regard to land, corn and wool. In 1824, however, an Act was passed rendering uniformity compulsory from the 1st of January 1826, since which time, the Imperial Statute System of Weights and Measures has been in general use. The legal measures for Great Britain and based upon the standard yard and the standard pound by the weight and Measures Act of 1878 which superseeds all previous laws.

N.B.—The Grain Troy is the same as the grain Avoirdupois.

Avoirdupois weight is used in almost all commercial transactions and common dealings, but in addition to the above, there are special weights for various articles, the chief of which are—

A Quarter Loaf..... = 4 lb.
A Peck of Flour, 2 Gallons.... = 14 "
A Firkin of Butter..... = 56 "
A Firkin of Soft Soap..... = 64 "
A Box of Fish, about..... = 90 "
A Barrel of Gunpowder..... = 100 "
A Barrel of Raisins..... = 112 "
A Seam of Glass, 24 stones of 5 lb. = 120 "
A Barrel of Butter—4 firkins.... = 224 "
A Barrel (or pack) of Soft Soap = 256 "

Troy Weight (Gold and Silver).

Carat..... = 4 grains.
Pennyweight...dwt. = 24 grains.
Troy Ounce.....oz. = 20 dwt., 480 gr.
Pound.....lb. = 12 oz., 240 dwt., 5,760 gr.
Hundredweight...cwt. = 100 lb.
N.B.—The grain troy is the same as the grain avoirdupois.

Troy is the weight used by goldsmiths and jewellers. The grains Troy, Apothecaries' and Avoirdupois are equal, and the same in England, France, the United States, Holland, and in most other countries; but the carat varies; in France it is 3.18 grains, in Holland 3.0 gr., and in the U. S. 3.2 gr. In the U. K., the jewellery ounce is divided into 151½ carats or 600 pearl grains.

The oz. Troy and Apothecaries' = 1.09714 oz. avoirdupois; but the lb. Troy and lb. Apothecaries' = only 0.82286 lb. avoirdupois; while 175 lb. Troy and Apothecaries' = 144 lb. avoirdupois.

For gold and silver the ounce, divided decimally and not into grains is the sole unit of weight. The Troy ounce is the same as the Apothecaries' ounce—480 Avoirdupois grains in weight. There is no Troy Pound.

Apothecaries' Weight.

Scruple, ʒ = 20 Grains ... = 20 grs.
Drachm, ʒ = 3 Scruples ... = 60 "
Ounce, ʒ = 8 Drachms ... = 48 "
Pound, lb. = 12 Ounces ... = 5,760 "
The avoirdupois oz. of 437½ grains, and the lb. of 7,000 grains, are the weights named in the British Pharmacopoeia; drags are purchased by avoirdupois, but compounded by Apothecaries' weight. The Apothecaries' oz. and lb. may now be considered obsolete.

Apothecaries' Fluid Measure.

60 Minims m. (drops) = 1 Fluid Drachm / 3
8 Fluid Drachms = 1 Fluid Ounce ... f 3
20 Fluid Ounces = 1 Pint ... 0
8 Pints ... = 1 Gallon... C., or Cong.
A table-spoon=½ Fluid oz. A tea-spoonful = ¼ Fluid oz. A desert-spoonful=¼ Fluid oz. A tumblerful=8 ozs. A teacupful=1 to 5 ozs. A wine-glassful=2 ozs. An egg cupful=1 ounce.
1 Drachm=1 Tea-spoonful. 2 Drachms=1 Desert-spoonful. 2 Drachms = 1 Table-spoonful. 2 Ounces = 1 Wine glassful. 3 Ounces = 1 Teacupful.

The Apothecaries grain is the Avoirdupois grain and the Apothecaries' ounce is the Troy ounce of 480 grains. The Apothecaries' drachm is not the same of the Avoirdupois drachm and is spelt differently. A fluid ounce of distilled water at a temperature of 62° Fahrenheit is equal in weight to the Avoirdupois ounce. A fluid drachm is equal in weight to two Avoirdupois drams.

Prescribing medicine by the spoon, glass or cupful, is unsafe, as all those vessels vary in size. Graduated glass measures may be purchased for a few Annas.

Hay and Straw.

Truss of Straw 36 lb. Truss of Old Hay, 56 lb.
Truss of New Hay (to September 1st), 60 lb.
Load of hay or straw. Ton of hay=36 Trusses.
36 Trusses=Straw, 11 cwt. 2 qr. 8 lb.; Old Hay 18 cwt.; New Hay, 19 cwt. 1 qr. 4 lb.
An acre of grass should yield 1 to 2 tons of hay.

Wool.

Clove ... cl. = 7 lb.
Stone ... st. = 2 Cloves 14 lb.
Tod ... td. = 2 Stones 1 qr.
Wey ... wy. = 6½ Tod 1 cwt. 2 qr. 14 lb.
Pack ... pk. = 240 lb.
Sack ... sk. = 2 Wey, 13 qr.
Last ... la. = 12 Sacks, 39 cwt.

Since the advent of SHODDY, some of the above weights have become nearly obsolete, although the terms are still in use with different values: thus, 16 lb.=1 St.; 28 lb.=1 Tod; 30 lb.=1 Score; 12 Scores or 240 lb.=1 Pack.

1 sq. mile=640 acres=2,560 roods=6,400 chains=102,400 rods, poles or perches, or 3,097,000 square yards.

Dimensions of an acre.—The Acre is 4840 sq. yards or 220 x 220 yards. The length of a side of sq. Acre is 69.57 yards; an area 110 x 22 yards or (220 x 11 yards) would be half an acre; an area 55 x 22 yards or (110 x 11 yds.) would be one quarter of an acre and so on.

An Acre roughly stated has four equal sides of 69½ yards; accurate measurement gives each side 208.71 feet.

The sides of a square half-acre would be 147.581 feet, and of a square quarter-acre, 104.355 feet.

The above Imperial Land Measure is now employed as the standard in the United Kingdom, in Canada, Australia, and the Colonies generally also in the United States; but occasionally some older measurements are referred to.

Of these—

DEFINITIONS OF UNITS OF CAPACITY.

A liter (l) is a unit of capacity equivalent to the volume occupied by the mass of 1 kilogram of pure water at its maximum density (at a temperature of 4 deg. C. practically) and under the standard atmospheric pressure (of 760 mm). It is equivalent in volume to 1.000437 cubic decimeters.

This bushel is the so-called stricken or struck bushel. Many dry commodities are sold by heaped bushels, which is generally specified in the State Laws to be the usual stricken bushel measure "duly heaped in the form of a cone as high as the article will admit" "or heaped as high as may be without special effort or design." The heaped bushel was originally intended to be 25 per cent. greater than the stricken bushel.

 Note.—A circle of 7 yds. diameter has in practice a circumference of 22 yards—1 chain.

Electrical Measures.

It is customary to express electrical measurements in terms of the centimetre, the gramme, and the second (C. G. S. units) and the value of the units has been fixed by international agreement. The principal units are as follows—

Unit of resistance, the international Ohm which is based upon the ohm equal to 109 units of resistance of the C. G. S. system of electro-magnetic units and is represented by the resistance offered to an unvarying electric current by a column of mercury at the temperature of melting ice, 14.4521 grammes in mass, of a constant cross sectional area, and of a length of 106.3 centimetres.
 Unit of current, the international Ampere, which is one-tenth of the unit of current of the C. G. S. system of electro-magnetic units and which is represented sufficiently well for practical use by the unvarying current which when passed through a solution of nitrate of silver in water, in accordance with a certain specification, deposits silver at the rate of 0.001118 of a gramme per second.

Unit of electro-motive force, the international Volt which is the E.M.F. that, steadily applied to a conductor whose resistance is one international ohm, will produce a current of one international ampere, and which is represented sufficiently well for practical use by 1000/1434 of the E.M.F. between the poles of electrodes of the voltaic cell known as Clark's cell at a temperature of 15° C., and prepared in the manner described in a certain specification.

Unit of quantity, the international Coulomb, which is the quantity of electricity transferred by a current of one international ampere in one second.

Unit of capacity, the international Farad, which is the capacity of a conductor charged to a potential of one international coulomb. The unit generally used in practice is one millionth part of this, or the microfarad.

Unit of work, the Joule, which is 107 units of work in the C.G.S. system, and which is represented sufficiently well for practical use by the energy expended in one second by an international ampere in an international ohm. In practice the watt-hour is usually employed. It represents the work done by such a current in an hour, and equals 3,600 joules.

Unit of power, the Watt, which is 107 units of power in the C.G.S. system, and which is represented sufficiently well for practical use by the work done at the rate of one joule per second. 746 watts—1 horse-power and the value of a Board of Trade unit (B. O. T. U.) is 1,000 watt-hours or 3,600,000 joules or 1½ horse-power hours.

Unit of induction, the Henry, which is the induction in the circuit when the E.M.F. induced in this circuit is one international volt while the inducing current varies at the rate of one international ampere per second.

For practical and commercial purposes, the chief units are the—
 VOLT.—Electromotive force = about 92.6% of that given by one Daniell's battery cell.

In incandescent lamps of 16-candle power, (nominal) about four watts are required, per candle power to give good economical results for domestic purposes.

One Board of Trade unit will keep a 16 candle, incandescent lamp alight for about 16 hours.

METRIC WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

The Metric System is based upon the (assumed) length of the direct distance from the Equator to the North Pole. The ten millionth part of this distance, as calculated in 1795, was adopted by the French Government as the unit of length, and called a metre. All other measurements are derived from this unit; the cube of the tenth part of the metre is the unit of capacity, called a litre, and the weight of a litre of water, at a certain temperature is the unit of weight, called a kilogramme. The unit of land measurement is 10,000 sq. metres, called a hectare. The above terms are now used in this country under the English names of meter, litre, kilogramme and hectare.

The Metrical System is used in Belgium, France, Germany, Italy, Portugal, Spain, Sweden and Norway, and some other countries, the unit of which is the Gramme—15.432 grains; the chief multiple of the Gramme is the Kilogramme—2.2046 lb.; in practical use this is found inconvenient for small purchases, and nearly all commodities are sold by the demi or half kilo. The Centner of 50 kilos=110½ lb., very nearly represents the English cwt.; but heavy goods are sold by the Tonneau of 2234·621 lb., about 19 cwt. 77 lb., the Myriagramme being ignored.

In the United States and in Canada the cwt. is generally reckoned as 100 lb., and the ton of 50 cwt.=2,000 lbs.

In Russia the Pood of 36 lb. is the commercial weight; 622 Poods=1 English ton.

BRITISH INDIAN WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

The Unit of the British Indian Ponderary System is called the Tola. It weighs 180 grains English Troy Weight, as does the Rupee. From it upwards are derived the heavy weights, viz., Chattack, Seer and Maund; and by its sub-division, the small or jewellers' weights called Mashas, Ruttees and Dhans.

1 Dhan or grain	= 4 Pankas	= 15 grain Troy	= 1½ dr.	Avoir.
4 Dhans	= 1 Rutte	= 1½ "	= 1½ "	"
8 Ruttees	= 1 Masha	= 15 "	= 1½ "	"
12 Mashas	= 1 Tola	= 7 dwt. 12 "	= 6½ "	"
5 Tolas	= 1 Chattack	= 1 oz. 17½ dwt. Troy	= 2½ oz.	"
16 Chattacks	= 1 Seer	= 2½ lbs. Troy	= 2½ lbs.	"
40 Seers	= 1 Maund	= 100 lbs. Troy	= 82½ "	"

To CONVERT INDIAN WEIGHT INTO AVOIRDUPOIS. Multiply the weight in Seers by 72, and divide by 35; the result will be the weight in lbs. Avoirdupois; or multiply the weight in maunds by 36, and divide by 49; the result will be the weight in cwt. Avoirdupois.

To CONVERT AVOIRDUPOIS WEIGHT INTO INDIAN WEIGHT.

Multiply the weight in lbs. Avoirdupois by 35; and divide by 72; or multiply the weight in cwt. by 49, and divide by 36; the result will be the weight; in the former, in Seers in the later in Maunds. A Ton is equal to 27·222 Maunds, or 27¼ Maunds nearly.

Bazaar Weight.—16 chattacks are one seer, or 2 lb. 0 oz. 13 drs.; and 40 seers, 1 maund, or 82 lbs. 2 ozs. 3 drs. 100 Bazaar maunds=100 Factory; and 1¼ Factory maunds=1 cwt. Factory Weight.—16 chattacks are one seer, or 1 lb. 13 ozs. 14 drs., and 40 seers, 1 maund, or 74 lbs. 10 ozs. 11 drs. The Indian Maund=82½ lb. Avoirdupois weight.

BENGAL BAZAAR WEIGHT.

5 Sihil or One and Quarter Rupees make 1 Kacha.	The Bazar Maund is 82 lbs 2 oz. and 6 cwt.
4 Kachas	1 Cwt.—112 lbs.—Bazaar 1 Maund=14 seers and 3 Chits.
4 Chattacks or 20 Tolas	1 Powa.
4 Powahs	1 Seer.
5 Seers	1 Pusseree.
8 Pusserees, or 40 Seers	1 Mana or Maund.
The weight of a Rupee is called a Tola.
The bazaar Seer—80 tolas of Sicca Rupee weights.
The Factory Seer is 72½ tolas.
The Indian Maund is 82 lbs.
The Factory Maund is 74 lbs. 10 oz. and 11 cwt.

To reduce Bazaar weight into Factory weight add 1·10th.

To reduce Bazaar weight into Cwt., add 1·10th, and deduct 1·3rd of that sum; the remainder will be Cwt.

To reduce Factory Maunds into Tons divide by 30, and the quotient will be the answer.

INDIAN CLOTH MEASURE.

Jobs make 1 Ungli ...	say = ½ Inch.	8 Girahs make 1 Hath ...	8 y= 18 Inches.
3 Unglis .. 1 Girah	" = 2½ Inches.	2 Haths .. 1 Guz ...	" = 1 Yard

N.B.—The Guz varies in different localities from 24 to 36 Inches.

There appears to be no Indian measures of capacity for such Dry and Liquid goods as are sold by weight. Wherever, for the sake of convenience, measures are employed, they are intended to represent some specific weight of a Seer, Chattack, &c.

BENGAL LINEAL MEASURE.

Notwithstanding that the cubit or human forearm is the basis or unit in Oriental and Western countries, there is no fixed standard established in India.

In Bengal the measure mostly used is the following:—

1 Hath (Cubit)= 18 Inches; 4 Haths= 2 Yards; 2,000 Dandas= 1 Coss.

The Coss of Bengal mile is equal to 1 mile, 1 furlong, 3 poles, 3½ yards English.

The Indian Imperial Coss is equal to 2½ miles nearly.

NOTE.—In the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh the average distance is about 2 miles, but it differs in almost every province in the country. In Agra and Muttra, the coss is about 1½ miles; as towards the Himalayas, the coss is a little more than a mile; in Bundelkhand, it is three times as long as in other parts and is called a Pucca coss; while in the Doab it is the Gow Coss, or as far as the lowing of a cow can be heard at the dead of night.

BENGAL SQUARE OR LAND MEASURE.

1 chattack	= 45 sq. ft. or 5 sq. yds.
16 chattacks= 1 cottah	= 720 " or 80 "

In U. P. 1 Bigah	= 3,025 sq. yds.
In Punjab 1 Bigah	= 1620 "
In Bombay 1 Bigah	= 3927 "
In Madras 1 Bigah	= 6,400 " 4 Bengal Bigahs

There is, however, no fixed standard Beegah; almost every district has its own local measurement. There are also Cucha and pucca bigahs; the latter is usually three times larger than the former.

ASSAM LAND MEASURE.

12 feet= 1 loocer; 20 loocers= 1 cottah; 5 cottahs= 1 hillisah; 4 hillisahas= 1 poorah.

Geographical Measure.

The North and South Poles are two points at the opposite extremities of that diameter of the earth round which it revolves. The equator is a great circle, equally distant from the North and South Poles. For geographical purposes, the surface of the earth is divided by circles, called the circles of Latitude and Longitude. The circles of Latitude are small circles parallel to the Equator. The circles of Longitude are great circles perpendicular to the Equator and passing through the North and South Poles. These circles are divided into Degrees, Minutes and Seconds. Degrees of Latitude are numbered from the Equator to the North and South Poles. Degrees of Longitude are numbered from the primary circle of Longitude, or Meridian, which passes through the astronomical observatory of Greenwich (England).

HINDU ASTRONOMICAL TABLE.

15 matars or twinkles= 1 kashta; 30 kashtas= 1 kala; 30 kalas= 1 muhurt; 30 muhurtas= 1 day and night of mortals; 30 such days= 1 month of mortals; 12 Months or 360 Days= 1 year. The Hindu Astronomical Year is 5 days, 6 hours and 43 minutes shorter than ours.

SIZES OF TYPE.

All Founders cast their type to one uniform height ('type high') which is 11/12 inch. Individual letters vary in breadth but the "body" of each character is of uniform depth throughout the alphabet in each font. The unit of breadth is the Pica M (Em)⁶ of which, side by side, occupy one inch of space. The unit of depth is the Point (72 Points=1 inch) so that 6 lines of 12 Point occupy 1 inch in depth. * In some places use 40 x 27.

NOTE.—Books are usually bound up in sheets of 16 or 32 pages. Octavo books are generally printed 64 pages at a time (32 pages on each side of a sheet of quad); a crown of octavo book of 320 pages will therefore require 5 sheets of quad crown and a ream will provide 100 books the odd 16 sheets being reckoned as waste. Newspapers (and books circulating in large numbers) are printed on rotary presses for which the paper is supplied on reels (and not in cut reams).

(c)	The provisions of Sections 5, 6, 20, 21, 23 and 25 of the Indian Stamp Act II of 1899 shall Mutatis Mutandis apply to calculations of value for the purpose of determining the registration fee.
(d)	In the case of agreements to render service for hire, or to let moveable property for hire, the value of the document shall not be taken at a higher amount than the hire for one year.

If the value cannot be determined from the stamp, as for instance, when the deed is not liable to stamp duty, or is liable to duty at a fixed amount irrespective of the value of the transaction, or when the transaction is not susceptible of money valuation, the fee leviable shall be Rs. 6, provided that in cases where value of only a portion of the property or consideration is given and that value exceeds Rs. 1,500, the fee shall be levied on the value so expressed.

Note.—In the case of documents evidencing petty transactions incapable of valuation the Inspector-General may, if he considers that the levy of a fee of Rs. 6 would be productive of hardship, authorize registering officers to levy a lower fee, which however shall not be less than 4 annas.

(h) The registration fee leviable upon a document purporting to give a collateral of auxiliary or additional or substituted security or security by way of further assurance where the principal or primary mortgage is proved to the satisfaction of the registering officer to have been duly registered, shall be the same as for the principal or primary mortgage, if the same does not exceed Rs. 3; otherwise it shall be Rs. 3.

INTERNATIONAL LABOUR OFFICE.

(Head Office.—Geneva, Switzerland).

INDIAN BRANCH, NEW DELHI.

The Indian branch of the International Labour Office was established in 1928, and is situated at 21, Curzon Road, New Delhi. The International Labour Organisation (Head-quarters.—Geneva, Switzerland) was set up by the Treaty of Versailles, Part XIII, the preamble to which indicates its scope and functions. It consists of (1) one or more annual Conferences, to which every member-state has the right to send a delegation consisting of two government representatives one representative of employers, and one of workers, together with a staff of advisers; (2) a Governing Body consisting of 24 members, of whom 12 represent the member-states, and six each employers and workers; (3) the International Labour Office with H. B. Butler, C. B. as Director.

The office consists of the following divisions :—

(1) The Diplomatic Division deals with the application and interpretation of the Peace Treaty and the work of the International Labour Conferences. (2) The Research Division has sections dealing with statistics, labour legislation, unemployment, migration, industrial health and safety, social insurance, disablement, agriculture, technical and vocational education, co-operation and other questions. (3) The Intelligence and Liaison Division collects information with regard to current events in the field of labour and industry, throughout the world, and maintains relations with employers' and workers' organizations, and other bodies interested in these problems. (4) The Administrative Division co-ordinates the administrative work of the office.

In addition to the head-quarters at Geneva, branch offices have been established in the more important industrial countries to enable the International Labour Office to follow more closely the principal movements in labour and industry in these countries. The Indian branch is one of such offices and maintains close relations with the central and provincial governments, and with the more important organisations of Indian employers and workers. In addition, it renders easily available to the Indian public the highly specialised information on industrial and labour questions which is being collected at Geneva, and serves as a distributing centre for the numerous official publications of the International Labour Office, such as the weekly "Industrial and Labour Information," the monthly "International Labour Review," "Legislative Series," "Industrial Safety Survey," "Studies and Reports" etc.

INDIAN RAILWAYS.

RELATION OF THE GOVERNMENT TO RAILWAYS IN INDIA.

DIVERSITY OF RELATIONS BETWEEN THE STATE AND RAILWAYS:—One of the special features of the Indian Railway system is the diversity of conditions that prevails in the relation of the State to the various lines in respect of ownership and control. Of the important lines situated in British India or in which the Government of India is interested, five (the North-Western, Eastern Bengal, East Indian, G.I.P. and Burma Railways) are owned and worked by the State; five (the Bombay, Baroda and Central India, Madras and Southern Mahratta, Assam-Bengal, Bengal-Nagpur and South Indian) are owned by the State but worked on its behalf by companies enjoying a guarantee of interest from the Government; three important lines (the Bengal and North-Western, Rohilkhand and Kumaon and Southern-Punjab) and many of less importance are the property of private companies some being worked by the owning companies and some by the State or by the companies that work State owned system; several minor lines are the property of District Boards or enjoy a guarantee of interest granted by such Boards.

The diversity of conditions is in certain respects less important than might at first appear for the following reasons:—

The Government of India exercises under the Indian Railways Act, 1890, in respect of all Railways in British India (and also by virtue of arrangements with Indian States, in respect of the chief railways passing through such States), certain general powers. Thus a railway may not be opened until a Government Inspector has certified that it has been constructed so as to comply with the requirements laid down by the Government and can be used for the public carriage of passengers without danger to them. The Government of India can also, in the interest of the safety of passengers, require a railway to be closed, or the use of particular rolling-stock to be discontinued, or may prescribe conditions for the use of the railway or the rolling-stock. They can appoint a Railway Commission to investigate complaints on certain matters such as the withholding of reasonable traffic facilities or the grant of undue preference.

In addition, the Government of India (or in some cases Local Governments) exercise under the provisions of contracts detailed control over the management of all Railways in British India greatly exceeding that which is secured by the Indian Railways Act. They also have a certain financial interest in all companies in British India, and a preponderating interest in most of the railways which are of the first importance.

HISTORY OF RELATIONS OF THE GOVERNMENT AND COMPANIES:—The main causes which have led to the present diversity of conditions in regard to the agency by which Railways are managed, and the relations of the Government with the various classes of Companies now in existence, are summarised in the following paragraphs:—

The first proposals for the construction of railways in India were submitted in 1844 to the East India Company in England by Mr. R. M. Stephenson afterwards Chief Engineer of the East Indian Railway, and others; they included the construction of lines by Railway companies to be incorporated for the purpose and the guarantee by the East India Company of a specified return. A contract for the construction by the East Indian Railway Company of an experimental line of 100 miles from Calcutta towards Mirzapore or Rajmehal at an estimated cost of 1,000,000, was made in 1849, and a return of 5 per cent. was guaranteed by the East India Company on the capital; and a similar contract was made in the same year with the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company for a line from Bombay to Kalyan at an estimated cost of 50,000. But the policy of entrusting generally the construction of Indian Railways to guaranteed companies was not adopted until 1854 on the recommendation of Lord Dalhousie, who, in a minute, dated 20th April, 1853, explained his reasons for preferring the agency of companies, under the supervision and control of the Government, to the construction of lines on behalf of the Government by its own officers. He held that the State Engineer officers would make Railways as well, and possibly as cheaply, and as expeditiously as companies; but that the withdrawal from other duties of the large number of officers required would be detrimental to the public interest, that the conduct of commercial undertakings did not fall within the proper functions of any Government and least of all within the functions of the Government of India, since the dependence of the population on the Government was, in India, one of the greatest drawbacks to the advance of the country, and that the country would therefore benefit by the introduction of English energy and English capital for railway purposes, with the possibility that such energy and capital would in due course be encouraged to assist in the development of India in other directions.

OLD GUARANTEED RAILWAYS:—The policy supported by Lord Dalhousie was adopted, and between 1854 and 1860 contracts for the construction of Railways in India were made by the East India Company, or (after 1858) by the Secretary of State for India with the East India, Great Indian Peninsula, Madras, Bombay, Baroda and Central India, Scinde (afterwards the Scinde, Punjab and Delhi), Eastern Bengal, Great Southern of India (afterwards, when amalgamated with the Carnatic Railway Company—see below—the South Indian) and Calcutta and South Eastern Railway Companies. Under these contracts the Railway Companies undertook to construct and manage specified lines, while the East India Company (or the Secretary of State for India) agreed to provide land and guaranteed interest on the capital, the rate fixed being in various cases 5, 4½ and 4 per cent, according to the market rates prevailing when the various contracts were made. Half of any surplus profits earned was to be used towards repaying to the Government any sums by which it had been called upon to supplement the net earnings of any previous period in order to make good the guarantee of interest; and the remainder was to belong to the shareholders. In practically all matters of importance except the choice of staff, the companies were placed by the contracts under the supervision and control of the Government, which had power to decide on the standard and details of constructions, the rolling stock to be provided, the number, time and speed of trains; the rates and fares to be charged; the expenditure to be incurred; the standard of maintenance; and the form of accounts. The Railways were to be held by the companies on leases terminating at the end of 99 years, and on such termination the fair value of their rolling-stock, plant and machinery was to be paid to them. But provision was also made to enable the Government to purchase the lines after 25 or 50 years on terms calculated to be the equivalent of the companies' interests therein and also to enable the companies to surrender their lines to the Government and to receive in return their capital at par.

EARLY ATTEMPTS TO SECURE FUNDS FOR RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION WITHOUT A GUARANTEE.—An attempt to secure the construction of railways in India, on terms more favourable to the Government than those of the contracts with the original guaranteed companies, was first made in 1862, when a subsidy but not a guarantee, was granted to the Indian Branch Railway Company which proposed to make feeders to the trunk lines in Northern India, and did actually make one such line. Similar assistance was granted later to the Indian Tramway Company, which made a short line in Madras. In 1881, the terms granted to the two companies mentioned were taken as a standard for general adoption with a view to the encouragement of similar companies. The chief provisions were: that the Government, besides giving the necessary land free, of costs, would grant an annual subsidy for 20 years at a rate not exceeding £100 per mile of line, with an addition in respect of large bridges costing more than £10,000. These terms failed to attract capital, and the two unguaranteed companies which had begun work found themselves after a few years unable to proceed without further assistance from the Government. Consequently in 1867, a contract was entered into with the Indian Branch Railway Company (which soon after changed its name to the "Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway Company") by which the company was guaranteed interest at 5 per cent. per annum on the cost of certain lines to be carried out by it, on conditions similar to those laid down in the contracts of the period 1854–1860. Similarly, the Indian Tramway Company, after having been given in 1868 a guarantee of 3 per cent. per annum, went into liquidation in 1870, and became absorbed in a new company called the Carnatic Railway Company (afterwards amalgamated with the Great Southern India Railway Company to form the South Indian Railway Company) with which the Secretary of State entered into a contract guaranteeing interest on its capital at 5 per cent. per annum. In 1869, Sir John Lawrence summed up the result of the experiment of the construction of railways by unguaranteed companies as follows:—"The Government of India has for several years been striving to induce capitalists to undertake the construction of railways in India at their own risk, and on their responsibility with a minimum of Government interference. But the attempt has entirely failed, and it has become obvious that no capital can be obtained for such undertakings otherwise than under a guarantee of interest fully equal to that which the Government would have to pay if it borrowed directly on its own account."

The attempt to encourage unguaranteed companies having thus been unsuccessful, it became necessary to decide whether the old practice of relying on guaranteed companies, of the type that had provided capital for, and had constructed, the first railways in India, should be continued. The Government of India expressed their objections to this course. They doubted whether their power of control over such companies secured the greatest possible economy in construction. They also disliked the arrangements under which they guaranteed the interest on the capital of companies, and thus became responsible for loss on working while having only a comparatively remote prospect of profiting by the result of successful working. Two important changes were consequently made in the practice that had been followed since the beginning of railway construction in India:—

1. Arrangements were made with some of the most important of the guaranteed companies that in lieu of the provision that half of any surplus profits was to be applied in repayment of sum advanced by the Government under the guarantee of interest, half of the surplus profits for each half year should be the property of the Government. In consideration of this modification, the Government relinquished, in the case of three companies, the Great Indian Peninsula, the Bombay, Baroda and Central India and the Madras, its right to purchase the lines at the end of the first 25 years from the dates of the respective contracts.

2. It was decided by the Secretary of State that the time had arrived when in both raising and expending such additional capital as might be required for new lines in India the Government should secure to itself the full benefit of its own credit and of the cheaper methods which it was expected that it would be able to use. Accordingly, for several years after 1869, that chief capital expenditure on Railways was chiefly incurred direct by the State and no fresh contracts with guaranteed companies were made except for small extensions. Among the lines constructed or begun by State Agency and from State capital between 1869 and 1890 were the Indus Valley, Punjab Northern, Rajputana-Malwa, Northern Bengal, Rangoon and Irrawaddy Valley and Tirhoot.

PROGRESS IN THE CONSTRUCTION OF RAILWAYS.—By the end of 1879, in about 25 years from the introduction of Railways in India, 6,123 miles of railway had been constructed by companies which had expended, approximately, £17,572,000 (these figures include the Calcutta and South Eastern and Nalhati Railways which were constructed by Companies but were purchased by the Government in 1863 and 1872, respectively). By the same date 2,175 miles of railway had been constructed by the Government at a cost of £23,695,226.

INTRODUCTION OF MODIFIED GUARANTEE TERMS.—In 1880, the necessity for great and rapid extension of the railway system was urged by the Famine Commissioners, appointed after the great famine of 1878 who estimated that at least 5,000 miles were still necessary for the protection of the country from famine. It was held by the Government of the times that a limit was necessary on the capital borrowed annually; and it was clear that the limit fixed was not high enough to allow of such progress in railway construction as was desirable. With reference to this difficulty the Famine Commissioners remarked: "that there would be manifest advantages in giving free scope to the extension of railways by private enterprise if it were possible; and, though the original form of guarantee has been condemned, it may not be impossible to find some substitute which shall be free from its defects, and may secure the investment of capital in these undertakings without involving the Government in financial or other liabilities of an objectionable nature."

Action of the direction suggested by the Commission was taken by the formation of three companies without a guarantee (the Bengal Central in 1881 and the Bangalore North-Western and Rohilkhand and Kurnool in 1882) and three new guaranteed companies (Southern Maharashtra in 1882, the Indian Midland in 1885 and the Bengal Nagpur in 1887). The Bengal and the North-Western and the Rohilkhand and Kurnool Railway Companies are referred to more fully, in a later paragraph. The Bengal Central Railway Company's operations were not successful at the outset and a revised contract was entered into with the Company, with effect from the 1st July 1885, under which the Secretary of State guaranteed interest at 3½ per cent on the Company's capital, the balance of net earnings remaining after payment of interest on advances by the Secretary of State and debenture capital (but not the share capital) being divided between the Secretary of State and the company in the proportions of three-quarters to the former and one quarter to the latter. The new contract gave the Secretary of State the right to take possession of the line on the 30th June, 1905, or subsequently at intervals of 10 years, on repaying the Company's capital at par. The rate of interest guaranteed to the Southern Maharashtra Railway Company was also 3½ per cent; in this case the balance of net earnings remaining after payment of interest on advances by the Secretary of State but not on share or debenture capital was divisible, in the same way as in the case of the Bengal Central Railway Company. The guarantee to the Indian Midland and Bengal Nagpur Railway Companies was 4 per cent; and the Secretary of State was entitled to three-quarters of the surplus profits in excess of all interest charges. The lines constructed by the three Companies last mentioned were declared to be the property of the Secretary of State, who had the right to determine the contract at the end of approximately 25 years after their respective dates, or at subsequent intervals of 10 years, on repaying at par the capital provided by the Companies.

The Assam Bengal Railway Company was formed on similar lines in 1892, except that any surplus profits were to be divided between the Secretary of State and the company in proportion to the capital provided by each. The rate of guarantee in this case was 3½ per cent for the first six years and thereafter 3 per cent.

The terms of the guarantee given to the Companies formed since 1880 have thus been much more favourable to the Government than in the case of those formed before 1869.

TERMINATION OF CONTRACTS OF THE OLD GUARANTEED COMPANIES.—In dealing with the guaranteed companies formed before 1869 and with those formed in 1881 and subsequently, it has been the practice (except in the cases mentioned above, when the purchase of some of the old guaranteed line was postponed in order to secure to the Government a share in surplus profits) to use in some way or other at the earliest possible date the right reserved by the Government of terminating the contracts of the various companies. The method of making use of this right has differed in different cases. The Eastern Bengal, Oudh and Rohilkhand and Scinde-Punjab and Delhi lines were purchased and transferred to State management, the last named now forming part of the North Western Railway. Similarly, the Bengal Central line was purchased and made part of the Eastern Bengal Railway. The Madras and the Indian Midland lines were acquired but left, after acquisition, under the management of companies working other lines with which it was advantageous to amalgamate them. In the cases of South Indian, Bombay, Baroda and Central India, Southern Maharashtra and Bengal Nagpur, the course adopted has been to arrange for the continuance of management by the original company (or by a new company closely related to the old one) but to secure more favourable financial conditions for the State by one or more of the following methods.—reduction of the amount of capital retained by the Companies in the undertakings, reduction of the rate of interest guaranteed by the State on such capital, and modification in favour of the Government of the clauses relating to the division of surplus profits.

This method was adopted also in regard to the East Indian and G.I.P. Railways, but the contracts under which they are being worked having terminated in 1921 & 1925, the management of these lines has been taken over by the State. Similarly the management of the Burma Railways was taken over in 1929.

ARRANGEMENTS BETWEEN THE GOVERNMENT AND COMPANIES AT PRESENT.—The relation between the Government and the guaranteed companies now working railways may be summarised as follows.—

The lines that they work are the property of the State.

The greater part of the capital is the property of the Government, either through having been originally supplied by it or through the acquisition by the Government of the greater part of the companies' interests on the termination of old contracts.

When funds are required for further capital expenditure, the Government has the option either of providing them or of calling on the company to provide them. The company receives guaranteed interest at a fixed rate on its capital; and similar payments out of the earnings are made to the Government. If, after these have been made, surplus profits remain, they are divided between the Government and the company in the various proportions provided for by the contracts. The company's share is in all cases only a small fraction of the Government's share.

All the contracts, except one, which is for a fixed term of 25 years, are terminable at the option to the Secretary of State, at specified dates; and on termination the company's capital is repayable at par (except in the case of the East Indian Railway Company, which is for special reasons to receive a terminable annuity instead of cash payment).

The administrative control exercised by the Government over the companies is as follows.—

The company is bound to keep the line in good repair, in good working condition, and fully supplied with rolling stock, plant and machinery; to keep the rolling-stock in good repair and in good working condition; and to maintain a sufficient staff for the purposes of the line;—all to the satisfaction of the Secretary of State.

The Secretary of State may require the company to carry out any alteration or improvement in the line, or in the working that he may think necessary for the safety of the public or for the effectual working of the line.

The Secretary of State may require the company to enter into agreements, on reasonable terms and conditions, with the administrations of adjoining railways for the exercise of running powers, for the supply to one another of surplus rolling-stock, for the interchange of traffic and rolling stock and the settlement of through rates, and for additions and alterations to, or the redistribution of, existing accommodation in junctions or other stations in view to their convenient mutual use.

The train service is to be such as the Secretary of State may require. In order to secure a general control over the rates quoted by companies, the Secretary of State has retained power to settle the classification of goods and to authorise maximum and minimum rates within which the companies shall be entitled to charge the public for the conveyance of passengers and goods of each class.

The company has to keep such accounts as the Secretary of State may require, and these are subject to audit by the Secretary of State.

In all other matters relating to the line the company is made subject to the supervision and control of the Secretary of State, who may appoint such persons as he may think proper for the purpose of inspecting the line, auditing the accounts, or otherwise exercising the power of supervision and control reserved to him. In particular, the Secretary of State has the right to appoint a Government Director to the Board of the company, with a power of vote on all proceedings of the Board. All the moneys received by the company in respect of the undertaking, whether on capital or revenue account, have to be paid over to the Secretary of State.

All expenditure by the company has to be stated and submitted for the sanction of the Secretary of State.

Thus, the Government has the preponderating financial interest in the lines worked by the two classes of guaranteed companies, those formed before 1869 and retained as working agencies with reduced capital after purchase, and those formed on terms more favourable to the State after 1880; it has exceedingly wide control over the methods of working; and it has the right of taking possession of the lines at specified times on repayment at par of the capital of the companies.

OTHER LINES WORKED BY COMPANIES.—In addition to the lines referred to above, and apart from lines constructed by Branch line companies, District Boards and Indian States, two lines of some importance have been constructed by companies, which receive no direct assistance from the Government, namely, the Bengal and North-Western Railway and the Rohilkhand and Kumaon Railway. (The Rohilkhand and Kumaon Railway Company was guaranteed interest at 4 per cent. during construction and received for 10 years thereafter a subsidy of Rs. 20,000 per annum. This ceased in 1894). While, however, these companies have no guarantee or other direct payment from the Government, they derive some advantage (partly through direct participation in profits and partly through reduction of expenses) from the fact that the working of certain State lines has been entrusted to them, the can be purchased by the State in 1932 on terms which are different in respect of the different sections of the lines, but are, on the whole, much more favourable to the companies than those provided for in the contracts with the guaranteed companies. Failing purchase in 1932, the lines will become the property of the State in 1933 on terms much less favourable to the companies. The general administrative control exercised by the State over these companies and the control over expenditure are similar to that which is exercised, as explained above, over guaranteed companies.

Extracts from Acworth Committee's Report on the Working of Indian Railways.

28. DEMAND FOR FINANCIAL REFORM.—The defects mentioned in the last chapter are due primarily to the failure of Government to provide the railways with adequate funds for capital expenditure on development and extension, and even for the essential operations of renewals and repairs. They are the inevitable results of a paralysing system which has not been adapted and developed to meet the requirements of what is essentially a commercial enterprise of the first magnitude.

29. As to the necessity for great financial reforms, the evidence placed before the Committee was practically unanimous.

30. Witness after witness told us that the present financial methods need drastic revision, and that the basis of the reform is the complete separation of the railway budget, in respect of both capital and revenue, from the general budget of the country.

58. NEED FOR RADICAL REFORM OF SYSTEM.—In the circumstances it is perhaps permissible to say that the Committee was appointed to consider, and did in fact consider, not so much what form of financial administration was best adapted to the needs of a great commercial enterprise, as how best railway management could be fitted into the rigid framework of the existing financial system of the Government of India. We have said that we do not believe that it is possible so to fit it. We do not think that the Indian Railways can be modernised, improved and enlarged, so as to give to India the service of which it is in crying need at the moment, nor that the railways can yield to the Indian public the financial return which they are entitled to expect from so valuable a property until the whole financial methods are radically reformed. And the essence of this reform is contained in two things: (1) the complete separation of the Railway Budget from the general budget of the country and its reconstruction in a form which frees a grant commercial business from the trammels of a system which assumes that the concern goes out of business on each 31st March and recommences de novo on the 1st April; and (2) the emancipation of the railway management from the control of the Finance Department. The primary function of any such Department is to reduce to a minimum expenditure in order to keep at the minimum the corresponding taxation. Its officials are not qualified either by training or experience to judge the essentially commercial and technical question where and when the circumstances of a railway undertaking justify bold expenditure of large sums, having regard not merely to the actual conditions of the physical machine at the moment, but to the prospects of development and the requirements of the future.

59. We think that the sentence which we have quoted above from the Report of Mackay Committee, to the effect that the Government of India provides all the money it can and distributes it in the manner which it conceives to be most advantageous, is based on a misconception of the real position. It confuses two different things: the functions of the Government as a Government, and the functions of the Government as the owner of a great commercial undertaking. A Government as a Government always has before it many objects for which it would gladly spend money were the money available. No one will question that the expenditure of large sums on for instance, sanitation and education would be greatly to the benefit of the people of India. Neither of these services is, however, directly remunerative. Their cost can only be met by taxation. The question for the Government is whether, especially having regard to the attitude of the tax-payer, the object is so essential and so urgent as to justify the imposition of new taxation. The railways are in an entirely different position. It is no question of new taxation. It is merely a question of allowing the railway undertaking to finance its own requirements out of its own resources and at its own time.

60. To say as the Mackay Report does, that the Government provides such money as it possibly can is to confuse the issue. Had the Railway Budget been separate from the general budget when that Report was written, there would have been no difficulty, in providing all the money the railways needed on terms which would have secured for them a handsome profit after payment of interest on the loan. And its provision would have done nothing to check, would indeed have done much to promote, the growth of the ordinary revenue of the Government available; for such purposes as sanitation and education. The Indian Government is now compelled—the further postponement of expenditure being impossible—to pay as high as 7 per cent. for money which before the war could have been had at or under 4 per cent.

62. We cannot but feel that the authorities ultimately responsible for Indian railway finance—how far that responsibility was located in Whitehall, and how far in India, we cannot say—have entirely failed to appreciate the position of the Indian railways as a commercial undertaking. The owner of a factory, with a record of success behind it, who found his entire output reduced and slowed down for lack of a certain new machine costing, say 10,000, and refused to buy this new machine, saying he could not raise more than 3,000, to pay for it except at a rate of interest to which he was unaccustomed, would ere long find himself in the bankruptcy court. And his fellow-businessmen would say he had deserved his fate. This is in effect what has been happening in India from a date long before the war with this difference: the manufacturer only brings down a single factory. The Indian case is that railway undertakings, in which a great capital has been invested all over the country have been held up for lack of the relatively small new investment in new machinery required year by year to make the whole of the plant efficient and economically productive. And there is another difference. If the single factory goes down, the customers can go elsewhere to fill their wants. The unfortunate customers of the Indian Railways have nowhere else to go to. They merely suffer. They are ceasing to suffer in silence.

67. INADEQUACY OF MAINTENANCE AND RENEWAL:—That the Railway development and therefore the economic development of India has been starved, is not the only charge which we are compelled to bring against the system of financial control to which the Railways have been subjected. It might have been expected that control purely from the financial point of view would at least have resulted in correct and unimpeachable financial orthodoxy. This has not proved so in practice. We have spoken above of the "Programme" expenditure and the method by which its amount is determined. Now in every commercial concern Capital expenditure and Revenue expenditure are constantly intermixed. And a prudent board of directors, especially when the concern which they are managing is prosperous and paying substantial dividends, takes very good care that Revenue is debited with its full share. The principle is clear that by the time the useful life of an asset or a building has expired, its full original cost should have been written off out of Revenue.

68. This has not been the case on the Indian Railways. There are scores of bridges with girders unfit to carry train loads up to modern requirements; there are many miles of rails, hundreds of engines, and thousands of wagons, whose rightful date for renewal is long overpast. Their cost has not been written off. They stand in the books at the original figure. The Government has formed no replacement reserve. It is not now physically possible within a short period of one or two years to replace all the plant of which the economic life is exhausted. If it were possible, it would be a burden upon current revenue too heavy to be borne without unsettling the normal railway finance. The position due to the unwise methods of the past must be redressed gradually. It will never be redressed under the present system of programmes and annual grants and lipases, but only when commercial accounting methods are introduced in the management of a commercial undertaking.

69. In our judgment, a financial system which produces these results stands self-condemned. But the faults on which we lay stress outweigh the merits, and in our judgment they are inherent in the existing financial system. Railway management is a highly technical business. It should be placed in the hands of those who understand it. It has little in common with the raising of taxation on the one hand or with the control of the expenditure of ordinary Public Departments on the other.

74. NEED FOR SEPARATE RAILWAY BUDGET AND GOVERNMENT CONTROL MUST REMAIN:—We now proceed to discuss the manner in which reform should be carried out. At the outset we wish to disclaim any idea that the railway organisation should be independent, an imperium in imperio. This is quite out of question. The Indian Government owns the railways; the Indian Government must control them. But that is no reason why the control should take the form which is found suitable in respect of other departments of the State. What we propose is in outline that the railways should have a separate budget of their own and assume the responsibilities for earning and expending their own income. The first charge in that income, after paying working expenses, is interest on the debt incurred by the State for railway purposes. The amount of this debt is known—we may call it roughly 252,000,000. The annual liability of the Indian Government for the interest is 8,00,000. Whether the railways should pay precisely this amount, or a larger amount, in consideration of the fact that in early years taxation had to be imposed to meet that portion of the interest which the railway receipt did not then cover, or a smaller amount, in consideration of the expenditure which the railways have since incurred for non-railway purposes, is a matter for argument. We have no wish to express a positive opinion, though we think there is much to be said for letting bygones be bygones and fixing the payment to the Government at the same sum that the Government has itself to find at the present time for interest on the railway debt. The point is that the Railway Department subject to the general control of Government, once it has met its liability to its creditors, should itself regulate the disposal of the balance and should be free to devote it to new capital purposes (whether directly or as security for new debt incurred) or to reserves or to dissipate it in the form either of reduction of rates or improvement of services.

75. We have expressed our own view that the only payment by the railways to the general Exchequer should be the interest at a fixed rate on the capital advanced. But we desire to point out that this is not necessarily involved in the separation of the railway budget. It would be possible, however undesirable, for the Government to impose a surtax on railway traffic such as is now in force, or even to call upon the railways for an emergency contribution to the necessities of the State. Neither method would involve interference by the Finance Department with the Railway Department's control of its own internal finance.

76. Naturally, the steps taken to raise new capital and in general the large questions of policy must continue to be controlled by the Government, i.e., by the Viceroy's Council and the Legislative Assembly, and in the last resort by the Secretary of State and the House of Commons. But there must be a Member in charge of railways, taking part in the Council deliberations, and able to discuss with his fellow Members railway questions equally where they concern finance as where they are management questions proper. Under the new constitution the Budget is to be voted by the Legislative Assembly. This right must, of course, be preserved. But there is no reason why the Railway Budget should not be submitted by the railway Member as an annex to the general Budget.

instead of by the Finance Member himself. Even in England, though departmental estimates have to be approved by the Treasury, and the Treasury control over them is undoubted, the estimates for the War Department are submitted to Parliament, not by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, but by the Secretary of State for War.

In India 74 per cent. of the route mileage of railways is owned and 45 per cent. is directly managed by the state. The control, financing and development of the railways are done by the Central Government through the body known as the Railway Board. The Board consists of the Chief Commissioner, a Financial Commissioner and three members and is assisted by five Directors. In 1872 the total railway mileage in India was a little over 5300. By the end of March 1931, it was over 42,000, nearly double that of the United Kingdom. The standard of efficiency and comfort maintained in Indian railways is so high as to be unsurpassed in any other country in the world. It was Lord Dalhousie that about 70 years ago conceived the idea of a system of great trans-Indian routes linking the interior of each Presidency with its outlying parts and the different Presidencies with each other, and including lines from Calcutta to Lahore, from Bombay to the north-west of India, from Madras to Bombay, and from Madras to the Malabar coast; and these form the skeleton to which have been appended the numerous subsidiary lines which cover the country.

Among recent constructional works undertaken by the Railway Board, mention must be made of the electrification of the Madras suburban sections of the South Indian Railway and of the main line section of the G. I. P. Railway between Kalyan and Igatpuri, the doubling of the 142 miles of line between Cawnpore and Tundla and the transfer of the workshops for the broad gauge section of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway from Parel to Dohad. Local advisory committees which have been established and are functioning on all class I Railways have proved themselves a valuable link between the Railway administrations and the public and the interest taken in their work and the value attached to their influence, is amply demonstrated by the number of applications received from trade associations and other organisations asking for representation upon them.

In December 1929 the Railway Board drew up a scheme for reorganising the superior services on the state-managed Railways, the principal features of which were the institution of a separate cadre for each of the State-managed Railways; the provision of a suitable reserve for leave and deputations; the abolition of the Provincial Engineering and Local Traffic services; and the constitution of a new Gazetted service to which deserving subordinates may be promoted. The scheme was sanctioned by the Secretary of State in February 1930 and considerable progress has already been made towards putting its provisions into effect. The Indianisation of the Railway service in the superior or Gazetted ranks has been largely accelerated in recent years.

A Railway Staff College has been recently put into working at Dehra Dun. The building has cost over 24 lakhs of rupees and was opened in April 1930 by the Governor of the United Provinces. The College building has a frontage of 360 feet and is surmounted by a clock tower 90 feet high. It consists of a large hall containing a complete model Railway, another model room where principally rolling stock models are exhibited, lecture rooms, and offices. Hostels for 64 officers and senior subordinates and residences for the College staff are provided in the College premises. The Walton Training School at Lahore trains students for Railway service. It was improved and reorganised in 1930.

ROADS IN INDIA.

There exist four great trunk roads, stretching diagonally across the country, which form the framework with which most of the important subsidiary roads are linked. These trunk roads have been in existence for an immense period and are rich in historical association. These roads run from the Khyber to Calcutta, from Calcutta to Madras, from Madras to Bombay and from Bombay to Delhi and cover nearly 5,000 out of the 60,000 miles of metalled road in British India.

SECTION III.

MADRAS PRESIDENCY.

SHORT HISTORICAL SUMMARY

The territory included within the Presidency of Fort St. George, or the Madras Presidency, is the southernmost of the Indian Provinces. The coast line extends on the east of the Peninsula from Orissa in Bengal to Cape Comorin. On the west, the narrow strip of country formed by the Indian States of Travancore and Cochin gives the coast line from Cape Comorin as far as the town of Cochin. After that Madras territory again forms the coast line until the Bombay Presidency is reached at the northern extremity of the South Kanara District. In the centre of the Peninsula, thus enclosed, are the Nagpore country and Berar, the territories of the Nizam, known generally as the Deccan, and the Province of Mysore; but all the country south and east of Mysore belongs to the Madras Presidency.

The Presidency occupies an area of 1,43,870 square miles; including the area occupied by three Madras States of Sandur, Banganapalle, and Pudukottah.

The Presidency has a coast line of about 1,700 miles and consequently there is a large area of country but little elevated above the level of the sea. Mountain ranges run northward from Cape Comorin along the Western coast, attaining an elevation, in some parts, of from 4,000, to nearly 9,000 feet. Ranges of hills follow also the general line of the East Coast; but these, as a rule, are of lower elevation than the Western Ghats. The Anaimudi mountain in the Annamalai range is now known to be the highest in Southern India, its summit being 8,837 feet above the level of the sea. The drainage of the Peninsula is for the most part from west to east into the Bay of Bengal, the area of country drained by rivers running westward being only the narrow strip of territory between the Western Ghats and the sea. As a rule, the country slopes gradually from the eastern base of the western mountain chain down to the Coromandel Coast, while the fall is sudden and precipitous on the western side of the mountains. The centre of the Peninsula consists generally of undulating tablelands from 1,000 to 3,000 feet above the level of the sea.

The peculiar physical geography of the peninsula of India, with a huge mountain chain running from north to south along its western boundary, is of importance in regard to climate and the production of the various districts. These hills have the effect of arresting the lower strata of rain clouds brought up from the Indian Ocean by the periodical winds of the south-west monsoon, and of causing excessive rain precipitation on the narrow strip of coast line on the western side of the peninsula. Where the mountain range is of great height, as between Malabar and Coimbatore, the rain clouds are almost entirely diverted from the districts immediately below the mountains on the eastern side, and while the annual rainfall on the western side may be 150 inches, not more than 20 inches will be registered on the eastern side, immediately within the influence of the mountain ranges. Where the mountain chain is of lower elevation, the rain clouds pass over the hills, and rain is precipitated in uncertain and varying amount over the peninsula to the east of the Western Ghats; but, except in the northern districts, where the rainy season approximates to that of Bengal, the heaviest rainfall of the southern portion of the eastern division of the peninsula occurs during the period of the north-east monsoon. During the continuance of this monsoon, the western ranges of mountains have a similar effect in arresting the rain clouds so that at the season of the year when the Carnatic is deluged by heavy rain, the Western Coast districts enjoy fine clear weather.

To the physical barrier of the Western Ghats must be attributed, not only the vast differences of climate but also those in the nature of the productions, in the eastern and western divisions of the peninsula. In the former the uncertainty and capricious character of the rainfall has taught the cultivators of the soil, the necessity of making provision for the storage of water for irrigation purposes, and the existence of innumerable tanks or reservoirs, scattered all over the country, testify to the fact that from periods of the remotest antiquity, the inhabitants of the tracts of country, which receive an irregular rainfall have exercised great ingenuity and readiness of resource in the construction of public works for the artificial irrigation of the soil. On the western side of the mountains, however, the necessity for such work has never arisen. There the periodical rainfall, with great regularity as to time and quantity, and the earth yields her fruits so abundantly that, although in certain exceptional years there may be partial failures of crops, absolute famine, as a result of bad seasons, is unknown. Only three of the 26 districts of which the Madras Presidency is composed lie within the influence of the never failing rains of the south-west monsoon. In the remaining 23 districts nature demands the assistances of art in the collection, storage, and distribution of the condensed moisture of the heavens. In some of these 23 districts, however, as in the northern coast area, the periodic rains fall more regularly than in others, while in several of them the rivers running eastward, swelled by the south-west monsoon rains, are utilized in the fertilization of districts in which the natural moisture is defective.

The chief staples of the Presidency are rice, cholam (a kind of maize), camboo (a kind of millet) ragi and varagu amongst food-grains; gingelly amongst oil-seed; and chillies, tobacco, sugar-cane, plantains and betel leaf amongst garden crops. Cotton, as a special crop, is cultivated to an extent almost equalling that of ragi. The trees most grown for their fruits are coconuts, areca-nut, jack, tamarind and mango. Rice, as might be expected, is produced in largest quantities in the alluvial and highly-irrigated Districts of Tanjore, East and West Godavari, Kistna and Guntur on the East Coast, and in Malabar and Kanara on the West Coast, where the rainfall is so abundant as to render irrigation by artificial means almost unnecessary. Cholum is most abundant in the table-land Districts of Bellary and Kurnool, while cumboo and ragi are most extensively grown in the other inland, but less elevated, Districts, such as Salem and Coimbatore. Coconut palms flourish most luxuriantly on the banks of the estuaries and backwaters or salt water lagoons of the western Districts of Malabar and Kanara and arecanut palms in the valleys intersecting the lower slopes of the Western Ghats.

Within the Madras Presidency there are six well defined linguistic boundaries. In the northernmost District of Ganjam is included a portion of the Oriya-speaking population. The Telugu language is commonly spoken by the people of the Northern Circars, and in a portion of the Nizam's country, Kurnool, Cuddapah, part of the North Arcot, Nellore and some parts of Bellary. Tamil is the common language of the Districts from a few miles north of Madras to the extreme south of the eastern division of the peninsula. Malayalam is the language of the Indian States of Travancore, Cochin and the Malabar Districts. Tulu is spoken in a limited portion of the South Kanara District, and Kanarese in certain portions of the Bellary, Coimbatore, Salem and South Kanara Districts. Besides these six Dravidian languages, the hill tribes of certain districts have dialects of their own, also of a Dravidian type. From time to time colonies of Telugu and Kanarese speaking people have found their way down to the southern or Tamil country. In some cases they have been invited to settle as cultivators in localities where waste lands are available. In others they followed probably in the train of invading armies. In the same way people from the Mahratta country have settled in the south, and in all the large towns there are colonies of silk weavers from Gujarat, who still speak a language of their own amongst themselves. Along the border lines, of the prevailing languages, two or more languages are indifferently spoken by the people. There is no instance of the Tamil people pushing their colonies up towards the north. The migrations appear to have been always from north to south. In the large military cantonments of Secunderabad and Bangalore there are Tamil speaking populations, but these people have settled as camp followers.

The earliest inhabitants of Southern India of whom any traces now remain were the prehistoric builders of the cairns, borrows, kistvans and dalmens found in many districts; the makers of the rude stone weapons, discovered in considerable quantities on the tops of the rocky hills of the Deccan; and the authors of the more finished utensils and implements now in course of excavation at the wonderful burial ground which have recently been discovered in Adichanallur and other places in Tinnevely. Except that they may be declared to have passed from a Palolithic through a Neolithic to an Iron age, little is known or can be conjectured regarding these ancient people. Presumably they were of the stock named Dravidian, which is distinguished from more northern ethnic families by its comparatively low stature, its dark skin, its high nasal index, and its use of the language, so prominent in the Presidency, were known as the Dravidian family.

The big gulf which yawns between them and the earliest historical data is vaguely bridged by legends and traditions, such as the story of Rama's expedition through the Deccan and across Adam's Bridge to Ceylon in quest of his wife Sita, whom Ravana, the ten-headed king of that island had carried off, and the many local puranas which remain in the keeping of the temple priests. Some of these legends have been held to refer to the great immigration of conquerors and settlers from Northern India which undoubtedly took place at an early period; but they are scarcely serious history, and not until the Muhammadans appear upon the scene is the literature of the country of any real value to the analyst.

The gap is filled to some extent by the many inscriptions on stone which record gifts to temples, by coins, and by grants of bygone dynasties, engraved on copper. The transcription and examination of these is now proceeding under expert supervision in a systematic fashion, but the work has not yet proceeded far enough to enable any final account to be written, of the early history of the South of India.

The earliest historical evidence is that furnished by the edicts of the Buddhist Emperor, Asoka, which have been discovered at Jangada in Ganjam and at a village in Mysore, close to the border of Bellary. These perhaps go to show that about 250 B. C., at least the northern half of the Presidency formed part of the Mauryan dominions.

The south of it was divided between the Pandyas of Madura, who governed in the extreme south; the Cholas, who held the country north and east of them; and the Cheras (Keralas), who ruled in the West Coast. At some period subsequent to Asoka, the dynasty of the Pallavas of Conjeevaram rose into prominence and extended its sway along the East Coast as far north as Orissa.

In the north, Mauryans were succeeded by the Andhras. They were Buddhists, and by them were erected the splendid marble stupa at Amaravati and the other Buddhist buildings of which the ruins occur in Kistna and Guntur Districts. Their curious leaden coins are still found in some numbers in those parts. About the fifth century after Christ, the Chalukyas, who were immigrants from more northern parts, began to grow in importance in the Western Deccan. In the seventh century they divided into two branches, Western and Eastern. The latter conquered the Pallava Kings of the Vengi country—the tract between the Kistna and Godavari rivers and south of Kalinga—and settled in that locality, while the former remained in its original home.

Alongside of it, in the south-west of the Deccan and the north of Mysore, the Kadambas, whose capital was at Bhavanas in North Kanara, now rose to power. They defeated the Pallavas of Conjeevaram and continually harassed the Western Chalukyas.

The latter were also vigorously opposed by the Rastrakutas of Malkhed in the present Nizam's Dominions, who eventually overthrew them and were supreme in the Western Deccan from about A. D. 750 to 950.

At the end of this period the Western Chalukyas once more rose to prominence and maintained their position until A. D. 1189, when they were finally overthrown by two of their own feudatories, the Yadavas of Deogiri and the Hoysalas of Darasamudra, the modern Halebid in Mysore.

Meanwhile in the south and the east, the Cholas of Tanjore were rapidly extending their boundaries. By 999 A. D. they had acquired by conquest the whole of the coast possessions of the Eastern Chalukyas. They had already subverted both the Pallavas and the Pandyas, annexing the dominions of the former and controlling the destinies of the latter. These events form the first great landmark in the History of Southern India. But the Chola expansion westwards was checked by the Hoysalas, and towards the end of the twelfth century their territory in the north was taken from them by the Ganapathis of Warangal (Orangal.)

Thus at the end of the thirteenth century the three big dynasties of Southern India were the Hoysalas, the Cholas and the Pandyas. At the beginning of the 14th century, however, a new power—the Mussalmans of Delhi—appeared suddenly upon the scene. In 1303 the ruling king of the Khilji dynasty of Delhi sent his first expedition into the Deccan; and seven years later, a date which makes the second landmark in the history of Southern India, the armies of his general, Malik Kafur, swept down the peninsula like a torrent. The Yadavas, Hoysalas, Ganapathis, Cholas and Pandyas were in turn defeated and suppressed. Anarchy followed over the whole south—Mussalman Governors, representatives of the old ruling families, and local chiefs struggling for supremacy, until out of the confusion arose the kingdom of Vijayanagar, which with its capital at Hampi in the Bellary District, checked for the next two centuries and a half the southward expansion of the Muhammadan power.

The rise of this dynasty was dramatically rapid. The several Hindu chieftains everywhere admitted its sovereignty willingly, for, the only alternative was the despotism of the Mussalmans; and from chiefs its rulers quickly grew into kings, and from kings into Emperors. Within a century and a half from the foundation of the kingdom at Vijayanagar, they governed the whole of the peninsula from the Kistna to Cape Comorin. The empire reached the zenith of its power under Kistna Deva Raya (1509–1530), the greatest of monarchs, and contemporary with Henry VIII of England.

The chief opponents of Vijayanagar had been the Sultans of the Bhamini dynasty, founded in 1347 by a rebellious subordinate of Delhi, whose capital was Gulbarga in what is now the Nizam's Dominions. This line crumbled to pieces at the end of the fifteenth century and was followed by five separate Mussalman kingdoms. For many years the mutual jealousies and animosities of these rendered it easy for the Vijayanagar kings to play off one against the other; but at length they combined, and in 1535, at the great battle of Talikota, the third historical landmark, they utterly defeated the Hindu forces and followed up their victory by razing the city of Vijayanagar to the ground and forcing its king to flee. The empire never recovered from the blow. One by one, its local governors threw off their allegiance, and established themselves as independent rulers, and Southern India passed through a second period of anarchy, during which all local powers fell, in many places into the hands of small chieftains called Naiks or Poligars, who usually harassed their subjects mercilessly.

The only governors of the fallen empire who established themselves in any permanency were the Naiks of Madura, and the suzerainty of the rest of the country fell gradually into the hands of the Sultans of Bijapur and Golconda. The former marched upon the country directly south of the Tungabhadra river and the latter took a line further to the eastward. By the middle of the seventeenth century the Bijapur Sultans had possessed themselves of most of the Carnatic which lay above the Ghats and of most territory, below.

It was under this dynasty that the Mahrattas first came into prominence. Serving first as military vassals, they eventually, in 1641, revolted openly against them and under the famous Shivaji established their independence.

In 1696, Aurangzeb, the Mughal Emperor of Delhi marched south to reduce Bijapur and Golconda and crush the growing power of the Mahrattas. He took Bijapur in that year and Golconda in the next, and the territories which had been won by these two kingdoms from the Hindus, thus became a portion of the Mughal Empire. But with the Mahrattas he was less successful. He seized Shivaji's son, Sambhaji, and put him to death in 1689, but the power of the race increased rather than declined, and they levied tribute throughout the Deccan and in other parts of the South as well, and did not disappear from South Indian history until the beginning of the nineteenth century.

In 1724, Asaf Jah, the Viceroy whom the Mughal Emperor had appointed to govern his conquests in the South and who bore the title of Nizam-ul-mulk, threw off all real allegiance to his suzerain and made himself virtually independent. He and his successors are known in history as the Nizams or Subahdars of the Deccan; and their chief subordinate in the South was the Nawab of the Carnatic otherwise called the Nawab of Arcot.

Meanwhile the Hindu Kingdom of Mysore, which had risen from small beginnings on the ruins of the Vijayanagar Empire, had become more and more powerful, owing largely to the exploits of a soldier of fortune in its army named Haider Ali. By methods which were none too scrupulous he rapidly gained supreme authority in the kingdom, and in 1761, he usurped the throne and began with more energy than ever, to extend the possessions.

In the middle of the eighteenth century, therefore, the native powers in the south, which had to be reckoned with were, the Mussalmans under the Nizam, Mysore under Haider Ali, and the Mahrattas. Meanwhile, however, various European powers had begun to establish a footing within its limits.

The Portuguese were the first nation to form a settlement. By the beginning of the sixteenth century they had occupied Calicut and Goa on the West Coast. Vasco da Gama, the pioneer of maritime adventure, had visited that part of the country as early as 1498. For a century they prospered; but they were feebly supported at home after the union of Portugal with Spain, and eventually fell off against the progress of the Dutch.

From the beginning of the seventeenth century, the Dutch, who had long been powerful in the Eastern Archipelago, settled at Pulicat, Sadras and other places along the East and West Coasts. They rapidly ousted the Portuguese; but their ideas were commercial rather than imperial, the remoteness of their headquarters at Batavia hampered them, and they soon dropped out of the race.

Another European nation attracted by the wealth of the East was the French. Their original settlement had been in Madagascar. This they abandoned in 1672 in favour of Mauritius and Bourbon. Later they came on to India; and in 1674 Francois Martin founded and fortified the town of Pondicherry, which has since been the French headquarters in the peninsula. In 1743 the famous Dupleix succeeded to the Governorship of the place, and rendered it the one European settlement in the South which was capable of offering any real resistance to the East India Company.

The earliest settlements of the English within the Presidency were at Nizampatnam and Masulipatnam, at which place Captain Hippon of the ship Globe landed in 1611 and founded factories. Five years later, settlements were planted on the West Coast at Cranganur and Calicut by the permission of the Zamorin. In 1619 another settlement was effected at Pulicat, but the jealousies of the Dutch compelled its abandonment. In 1665, two years after the massacre of the English by the Dutch at Amboyna, the Company's agents at Bantam in Java despatched a vessel to Armagon in the present Nellore District and set up a small trading establishment there.

In 1639, owing partly due to annoyances, caused to the Company's officers at Masulipatnam, by the subordinates of the Sultan of the Golkonda, within whose territories that place lay, and partly to the desire to possess a factory nearer to the real centres of the weaving and dyeing industries of the country, Francis Day, the chief official of Armagon, sought for and obtained, through a subordinate of the last representative of the old Vijayanagar dynasty, who was then living at Chandragiri in North Arcot, the grant of the land on which Fort St. George now stands. A small fort was at once erected, and two years later the place became the Company's headquarters on the Coromandel Coast. In 1653 Fort St. George was raised to the rank of a Presidency, independent of Bantam, and in 1658 the factories in Bengal were placed under its orders. In 1690 the Company purchased from the Mahrattas the land on which Fort St. David, near Cuddalore, now stands; and at the end of the century there were also English factories within the present limit of the Madras Presidency at Porto Novo, Madapollam, Visagapatnam, Anjengo, Tellicherry and Calicut.

Up to 1740 the Company's agents had managed to keep themselves clear of the wars between the various native governments which were going on around them, and free from serious trouble with the other European powers who had stations in the South. But in 1741 the War of the Austrian Succession lit the first flame of a conflict between them and the French, which lasted until the capture of Pondicherry in 1761, followed by the Peace of Paris in 1763.

The first notable event in this contest was the capture of Madras by La Bourdonnais in 1746. Under the orders of Dupleix, who was then in command of the French possessions, the Governor and the chief merchants were taken prisoners to Pondicherry. Fort St. David became for the time the Company's headquarters in the south. Madras was, however, restored to the English under the Treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle in 1749, and the company set themselves vigorously to work to render it more defensible than it had been at the time of the French attack.

Peace being declared between the two nations, the forces which each of them had collected in the South were engaged on opposite sides in the struggles between the native powers. Each espoused the cause of different claimant for the Nawabship of the Carnatic, and each supported its own candidate for the office of Nizam of the Deccan. The stirring details of the severe conflicts which ensued fill many pages in the histories of the period and concern themselves with the exploits of many English men—Clive and Eyre Coote among the number—whose names will for ever be famous.

In 1757 news reached India that war had again broken out in Europe between England and France and the forces of the two nations in the South were once more at each other's grips. The advantages at first lay with the French. They captured successively the English Forts of Visagapatnam Fort St. David and Devicottai (which last had been granted to the Company by the Mahrattas of Tanjore) and in 1758 they besieged Madras. Here, however, they were unsuccessful and eventually withdrew and meanwhile Col. Ford, who had been despatched by Clive, from Bengal to the Northern Circars, had signally defeated them at Condore and captured Masulipatnam. This victory resulted in the cession to the Company of a considerable tract round about the latter town which led eventually, after many vicissitudes to the whole of the Northern Circars being granted to the British by the Mughal Emperor in 1765. Farther south, the struggle culminated in the battle of Wandiwash in which Eyre Coote utterly routed the French, under Lally. Gingee, Arcot and other minor French settlements fell in quick succession; and in May 1760, the English were in a position to attack Pondicherry itself. Lally called in the help of Haidar Ali of Mysore, but events in his own territory prevented the latter from taking any important part in the contest. Pondicherry surrendered in January 1761. With the other French possessions, it was restored by the Peace of Paris in 1763. But the power of the French in Southern India was never again formidable; and it was thus in the Madras Presidency that the question was decided as to which of the European nations should be supreme in India.

We have now reached the middle of the 18th century, when, as has been said, the native powers which had to be reckoned with, were the Mussalmans under the Nizam of the Deccan and the Nawab of the Carnatic, Mysore under Haidar Ali, and the Mahrattas. Between these four the struggle for the possession of the peninsula now lay and the only European force of any consequence was that of the English. The Nizam and the Mahrattas invited the English to assist them in clipping the wings of Haidar who was encroaching upon their territories. Haidar, however, brought off both the Mussalmans and the Mahrattas, to his side and then made a descent upon the English possessions in the Carnatic. Fighting followed on both coasts of the Peninsula; but the operations were indecisive and peace was eventually concluded in 1769 by a treaty based on mutual restitution of conquests.

In 1780 broke out the next war with Haidar, who was again befriended by both the Mussalmans and the Mahrattas. He descended upon the plains of the Carnatic in July of that year, burning crops and devastating villages, so that a stretch of blackened desert was formed all around the town of Madras from Pulicat on the north, to Pondicherry on the South, and extending 50 miles inland.

Warren Hastings, then Governor-General of Bengal despatched Sir Eyre Coote to Madras with reinforcements. His ability soon caused the tide of fortune to return; but age had sapped his old energy and it was not until after three years of severe fighting in every part of the peninsula that peace was at length made in 1784. As before, the basis of the treaty was a mutual restoration of conquests. Haidar Ali had died during the operations in 1782, and was succeeded by his son, Tippu Sultan, a man in every way his inferior.

Six years later, war once more ensued with Mysore, Tippu having provoked hostilities by raiding the Native State of Travancore, which was in alliance with the British. Lord Cornwallis, the Governor-General, commanded the forces in the field in person, and this time, the British were assisted by the Nizam and the Mahrattas. After two years' fighting, Seringapatam, the Mysore capital, was besieged; and thereupon Tippu, in 1792, agreed to cede to the allies one-half of his territories, and to pay an indemnity of three crores and fifty lakhs of rupees. The British share of the territory thus ceded included the country round Dindigul and the districts of Salem and Malabar.

Tippu then began to intrigue to draw to his own side the allies of the British, and even sent an embassy to Mauritius to invoke the aid of the French. Lord Mornington, now Governor-General, realised the danger to British supremacy in India which such action involved, and came south to deal with the situation. The Nizam and the Mahrattas again joined the British. Tippu, after a feeble resistance in the field, retired to Seringapatam. The fortress was stormed on May 4th, 1799, and Tippu's body was found among the slain. A representative of the Hindu dynasty, whose rights had been usurped by Haidar in 1761, was placed upon the throne of Mysore proper, and the rest of Tippu's territories was divided between the allies. The share of the British included Kanara, Coimbatore and Wynad.

In the same year, 1799, the Mahratta Raja of the principality at Tanjore, in return for the aid received in gaining the throne, executed a treaty resigning the administration of his kingdom to the Company in consideration of an annual payment. In 1800, the Nizam ceded to the Company, in return for a subsidiary force to be established in his dominions, all the territories he had required from Mysore at the partitions of 1792 and 1799. These tracts included the present Districts of Bellary, Anantapur, Cuddapah, and part of Kurnool which are still known as the "Ceded Districts." When Seringapatam fell in 1799 a reasonable correspondence was discovered between Tippu and the Nawab of Carnatic, who was nominally the ally of the Company. In consequence, after many negotiations, a treaty was concluded with the Nawab in 1801, under which he resigned the Government of his domain to the Company, but retained the titular dignity and received a considerable stipend. The existing representative of the family bears the title of Prince of Arcot and has the position of the first native nobleman of Madras.

The Company had thus obtained possession of the whole of the present Madras Presidency from Cape Comorin to the Northern Circars, except part of the Kurnool District, the Danish station of Tranquebar, the existing French settlement at Pondicherry and other places, and the territories of the five Native States still in subordination to the Madras Government, the history of which will be found in separate articles regarding them.

In 1839 internal mismanagement and treasonable intrigue on the part of the Nawab of Kurnool led to the annexation of his country. Tranquebar was purchased from the Danes in 1845. In 1862 the District of North Kanara was transferred to Bombay. Since then no alterations of importance in the limits of the Presidency have occurred.

The territories thus rapidly acquired at the end of the 18th and beginning of the 19th century were in most cases reduced to order with little trouble. The Poligars in the Ceded Districts had to be suppressed by an armed force, and the turbulence of those in the extreme south necessitated more than one regular campaign. In the Northern Circars, the hill chiefs gave trouble till 1836. The last occasion on which the employment of regular troops was necessary, was the rebellion in the Rampa Hill tracts of the Godavari Agency in 1879.

After the palaeolithic and neolithic implements which have been discovered in scattered sites, the oldest objects of archaeological interest in the Presidency are the pre-historic barrows, cairns, kists, vases and dolmens found in almost all districts the first three of which frequently contains pottery, ashes, arms, implements, personal ornaments, etc. The chief remains of historic times consist (beside coins) of inscriptions, temples and forts. During the last twenty years much has been done to survey, describe, and preserve these links with the past. In 1892 the first list of antiquities in the Presidency was published and about the same time Archaeological Survey in charge of a specialist was set on foot, while a few years later a Government Epigraphist was appointed. These two officers make annual reports of the results of their works and also publish the more important of their discoveries in the Imperial Series of Report of the Archaeological Survey of India and in South Indian Inscriptions the Epigraphia Indica and elsewhere. The Epigraphist is systematically translating and publishing the countless inscriptions on the thousands of temples in the Presidency, and his work is doing much to eliminate the existing darkness of its early history. The Archaeological Survey embraces both pre-historic and historic remains. Such pre-historic antiquities as the Madras Museum contains including the well-known collection made in the Nilgiris by Mr. Brecks, have been catalogued and described by Mr. Bruce Foote and lately some extensive burial places have been discovered at Adichanallur in Tinnevely, the extraordinary variety and richness of the finds made in which are referred to in the notice of that place.

The Madras Presidency, according to existing boundary divisions, is made up of 25 districts namely.—Northern, including Ganjam, Vizagapatam, East Godavari, West Godavari, Kistna and Guntur; East Central, including Nellore, Madras, Chingleput, Chittoor, North Arcot and South Arcot; Ceded Districts, including Kurnool, Bellary, Cuddapah and Anantapur. West Central, including Salem, Coimbatore and the Nilgiris; Southern, including Tanjore, Trichinopoly, Madura, Ramnad and Tinnevely; West Coast, including South Kanara and Malabar.

The first six Districts are known as the "Northern Circars." Prior to 1859 and 1860 these Circars consisted of five districts, but in that year the three districts of Rajahmundry, Masulipatam, and Guntur were divided to form the Godavari and Kistna Districts. With effect from 1st October, 1904, the latter have been again split up into three districts, known as Godavari, Kistna and Guntur. To the first have been added the Nagur, Alakatcheria Taluks of the Sironcha Tahsil of the Chanda District in the Central Provinces and to the last, the Ongole Taluk which belonged to the Nellore District. The Northern Districts were formerly under the Nizam's Government, and in that time the divisions were as follows: Guntur, Condapally, Ellore, Rajahmundry and Chicacole. They came finally into British possession in the year 1823, by the payment to the Nizam's Government of Rs. 11,66,665 in lieu of an annual tribute. When these Districts fell into the hands of the East India Company they consisted chiefly of large estates, held by renters or Zamindars, of lands called "Havelly," which were the old demesnes, or private estates, of former rulers; and of tracts near the principal towns which had been resumed by the Mohammedan Governors of the Districts, and appropriated for the support of their numerous bands of soldiers and public establishments. For some years prior to 1855-56 these Northern Circars were under the charge of a separate Commissioner, but each district had then also its own revenue and judicial establishments. The appointment of Commissioner of the Northern Circars was abolished in June, 1856. The Kistna District was split up into the districts of West Godavari and Kistna.

The part of the Presidency, usually known as the Carnatic, appears to have been originally formed of three divisions, namely, Northern, extending from the river Pennar to the river Gundegama, and consisting of a portion of the Nellore District. Central, extending from the Coleroon to the Pennar river, and containing a portion of Trichinopoly, Chingleput, North Arcot, South Arcot, Madras and Nellore Districts; and Southern, consisting of a portion of the Trichinopoly and the whole of Tanjore, Tinnevely and Madura Districts. These districts came into the possession of the British between the years 1799 and 1801.

In the year 1859-60 the two districts of Madras Town and Chingleput were amalgamated into a single district, the collection of Sea Customs revenue being separately provided for. In the year 1870 the Chingleput District was again divided as before, leaving the administration of the Madras Town district in the hands of the Sea Customs Collector. The Chingleput District was obtained from the Nawab of Arcot in 1768 in return for services rendered to him and his father by the Company. The grant was confirmed by the Great Moghul in 1785, and for a long time the district was known as the "Jaghire" of the East India Company. The site of the Town of Madras was obtained in the year 1640, by a grant from the descendants of the Vijayanagar rulers, subsequently confirmed by the Moghul Government.

The districts of Bellary and Cuddapah were ceded to the English by the Nizam in the year 1800 for the maintenance, in perpetuity, of a body of troops known as the Hyderabad Subsidiary Force, and as payment for troops furnished during the Mysore Wars. The territories so made over are still known as the Ceded Districts.

In 1800 the rights of sovereignty exercised by the Nizam over the Kurnool country as Subadar of the Deccan became vested in East India Company. The Nizam, in the treaty of partition gave over to the British all his possessions south of the Tungabhadra and the Kistna rivers below their junction. At this time the rulers of the Kurnool country paid an yearly tribute of one lakh of rupees to the Nizam. In 1839 the Kurnool District, through the rebellion of the then ruler of the country, was placed under the British Administration.

The Districts of Salem and Coimbatore came into the British possession, the former in 1793 by the Treaty of Seringapatam, and the latter in 1799 after the final defeat of Tippu and the partition of his territory between the British, the Nizam and the legitimate successor to the Mysore Government—the Maharajah of Mysore.

The Nilgiri Hills, formerly a Taluk of the Coimbatore District, was constituted as a separate district under Act I of 1863.

The two districts of Malabar and Kanara on the Western side of the Ghats, fell into the possession of the British in 1792 and 1899 respectively. Kanara was in 1819 divided into North and South Kanara for administrative purposes and in 1860 North Kanara was transferred, for convenience of administration from the Madras to the Bombay Presidency. The Taluk of Coondapoor, which formerly belonged to North Kanara, is now attached to South Kanara.

THE GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

HISTORY OF THE ADMINISTRATION.

The Executive Civil Government of the Madras Presidency is subject to the superintendence, direction and control of the Governor-General in Council. Under the Government of India Act, 1915, as amended by the Government of India Act, 1919, rules have been framed under which certain subjects have been declared to be provincial and these again have been divided into reserved and transferred subjects; the administration in respect of reserved subjects is in the hands of the Governor-in-Council and in respect of transferred subjects in those of the Governor acting with his ministers. The term "Local Government" means the Governor in Council or the Governor acting with his ministers as the case may be. The Council includes the Governor, who is the President, and four members of whom one is appointed by the Governor as the Vice-President; one of the members at least, must be a person, who, at the time of his appointment, has been for at least twelve years in the service of the Crown in India. The Governor and the members of the Executive Council are appointed by the Crown. The terms for which they may hold office are not limited by any legal enactment. The Secretary of State has directed that a member of the Executive Council should hold office for five years exclusive of any time during which he draws less than full pay, not having himself been granted leave. The ministers are appointed by the Governor and hold office during his pleasure; but they must not be members of the Executive Council or officials, and no minister can hold office for a longer period than six months unless he is or becomes an elected member of the local legislature. When a vacancy occurs in the office of the Governor and there is no successor on the spot to supply the vacancy, the Vice-President or, if he is absent, the Senior member of the Executive Council assumes office as acting Governor. If a vacancy occurs in the office of a member of the Executive Council and there is no successor present on the spot, it may be filled by the Governor in Council by the appointment as temporary member, of any person qualified for such appointment. The Governor may make rules and orders for the transaction of business in his Executive Council and with his ministers. On questions brought before the Executive Council the opinion of the majority ordinarily prevails, the Governor or other presiding member having a second or casting vote in the event of an equal division of opinion; but when any measure is proposed, which, in his judgment, affects the safety, tranquillity or interests of the province or any part thereof, and he differs from the opinion of the majority of the members of the Executive Council, the Governor has power to act on his own authority and responsibility. The Governor in Council is not empowered to declare war or to make treaties and has no immediate control over the military administration of the Presidency. He corresponds directly with the Secretary of State except in certain cases. The authority of the Local Government is not superseded by the presence in its province of the Governor-General. The Local Government is empowered to undertake works of public utility, not being railways, which are not expected to cost more than fifty lakhs of rupees. The Governor in Council, or the Governor acting with the ministers, possesses all the civil patronages of the Presidency which is not retained by the Secretary of State or delegated to subordinate members of the administration. Despatches to the Secretary of State in the reserved departments are signed by the Governor and all the members of the Executive Council; despatches in the transferred departments are signed by His Excellency alone. Letters addressed to the Government of India and all orders of the Local Government are signed by an officer of the Secretariat. All correspondence regarding public business reaches Government through the Secretariat.

The year 1921 witnessed the introduction of the Reforms, which brought about a complete change in the financial relations between the Central and Provincial Governments, involving important changes in the general form of accounts and in the prescribed major heads. Till then the Provincial Governments had no separate revenues of their own, their resources being obtained mainly from a share of divided heads of revenue and from lump assignments from Imperial revenues. The transactions of the Imperial and Provincial sections were accordingly combined, but shown under distinct divisions, against each major head of revenue and expenditure, in the general accounts and estimates. Now, however, definite sources of revenue have been allocated to the Provincial Government and there has been a complete separation between the revenues and the expenditure of the Central and Provincial Governments, though all monies received from sources of provincial revenue are paid to the public account of which the Governor-General in Council continues to be the custodian. The estimates and accounts of the Government of India now embrace the transactions of the Central Government only under each head of account, the transactions of the Provincial Government appearing in them merely as a net addition to or withdrawal from their banking account with the Central Government. The Provincial Government is concerned with central subjects only in so far as they act as agents of the Government of India in their administration and in such capacity are vested with certain financial powers.

Prior to 1921-22 all items of receipts and expenditure which were creditable or debitable to Government were either Imperial or Provincial according as they appertained to the Supreme or to the Local Government. This classification had no statutory basis and depended upon the terms of the TOURIST AGENCY, Cheapest and Reliable House for Sweep Tickets.

"Provincial Settlement," as the administrative arrangements made between the Government of India and the Local Government and approved by the Secretary of State for the distribution of revenues and expenditure between these two Governments were designated. The history of these provincial settlements which may be divided into five periods, represents a succession of expedients by which the Central Government secured from local sources of revenue such share as added to the profits of commercial departments and revenue the local of which was no guide to its true incidence, was necessary to enable them to carry on the services which they must of necessity administer.

The permanent settlement was in force until 1921-22, when the complete separation between the finances of the Central Government and those of the Provincial Governments, which was found to be an essential corollary of the constitutional reforms, took shape in the system now prevailing. Divided heads were abolished and each source of revenue became either wholly central or wholly provincial, land revenue, excise and stamps being made to contribute the major part of the provincial income; but the resource left to the Central Government under this arrangement being insufficient to enable it to balance its budget, contributions are levied from the provinces to diminish the deficit. Under the statutory rule governing the matter, out of a total of 983 lakhs of rupees contributed to the Central Government by all the provinces the initial contribution of the Madras Presidency was fixed at Rs. 348 lakhs. The rule provides that the total of the contributions shall not exceed Rs. 983 lakhs and that if it is reduced below that figure the reduction shall be in the contributions of those provinces only which are now called upon to pay more than a certain specified proportion. Any reduction would therefore benefit Madras whose payment is now most in excess of the proportion to be aimed at; but there has hitherto been no reduction and the levy of such a large contribution as Rs. 348 lakhs has been the subject of strong and continued protests.

The power of borrowing was never conceded to provincial Governments prior to the Reforms. That power has now been conferred by Section 30 (1) (a) of the Government of India Act under which a Local Government may, on behalf and in the name of the Secretary of State in Council, raise money on the security of the revenues allocated to it under the Act, and make proper assurances for that purpose. The only restriction on the powers of Local Government to raise loans is that no loan shall be raised, in the case of loans to be raised in India, without the sanction of the Governor General in Council, or, in the case of loans to be raised outside India of the Secretary of State in Council, and after sanctioning the raising of the loan, the Governor-General in Council, or the Secretary of State may specify the amount of the issue and any or all of the conditions under which the loan shall be raised. In practice it has been found more convenient for the Local Government to borrow from the Government of India than to go into the open market.

In the pre-reform period, the Government of India completely controlled the imposition of any taxation in British India, apart from local taxes which were raised by Local Bodies. The scheduled tax rules framed under Section 80-A (3) (a) of the Government of India Act have for the first time, given local legislative powers of taxation without the previous sanction of the Governor-General in respect of certain specified matters. Prior to the introduction of the Reforms, capital expenditure on major irrigation works was provided entirely by the Imperial Government either from revenues or from loans. The financing of famine expenditure has also been placed on a new basis under the Reforms.

Revenue.—The principal sources of revenue and the objects on which provincial funds are expended can be learnt from an examination of the Provincial accounts for the year. The total revenue (excluding opening balance) received during the financial year, 1st April, 1921 to 31st March, 1922 amounted to Rs. 2,465.05 lakhs of which the amounts credited to "Central" and "Provincial" respectively, Rs. 1,591.63 lakhs and Rs. 1,173.42 lakhs. These figures have been arrived at after adding to "Central" and deducting "Provincial" the Provincial contribution of Rs. 348 lakhs to the Government of India and the assignments to the Government of India of Rs. 35.81 lakhs on account of income-tax adjustments. The amount expended from Provincial funds was Rs. 1,290.24 lakhs, leaving a deficit of Rs. 106.82 lakhs. Nearly two-thirds of the Provincial revenue was derived from Land Revenue which amounted to Rs. 726.63 lakhs. The next important source of revenue was Excise which yielded Rs. 488.16 lakhs. Other important items of revenue were Stamps, Rs. 189.85 lakhs, Forests, Rs. 48.57 lakhs and Registration, Rs. 32.56 lakhs.

Expenditure.—The principal items of expenditure were Land Revenue, Rs. 129.04 lakhs. General Administration, Rs. 134.01 lakhs. Police, Rs. 196.67 lakhs. Education, Rs. 142.30 lakhs. Civil Works, Rs. 129.73 lakhs. Administration of Justice, Rs. 94.18 lakhs. Forests, Rs. 51.94 lakhs. Medical, Rs. 54.46 lakhs. Excise, Rs. 30.83 lakhs. Superannuation Allowances and Pensions, Rs. 45.67 lakhs. Stationery and Printing, Rs. 21.26 lakhs. Public Health, Rs. 26.63 lakhs and Agriculture, Rs. 25.18 lakhs.

Budget.—The procedure in connection with the frames of Provincial budgets and their passage through the Legislative Council has, under the recent Reforms, been materially changed in certain respects. For example, the sanction of the Government of India is no longer required. The procedure laid down in full in the Legislative Council rules is briefly summarised below. A statement of the estimated annual expenditure revenues of the Provinces, referred to as the "budgets" is presented to the Council on a day appointed by the Governor. A separate demand has to be made in respect of the grant proposed by each department of the Government, and this demand should first contain a statement of the total grant proposed and then a statement of the detailed estimate under each grant divided into items. The budget is then dealt with by the Council in two stages, a general discussion and the voting of demands for grants. The general discussion begins on a day appointed by the Governor subsequent to the day on which the budget was presented, and it continues for such time as the Governor may allot for this purpose. The discussion may concern the budget as a whole, or any question of principle involved therein, but no motion may be moved at this stage, nor may the budget be voted upon. Then, after an interval during which motions for the reduction or omission of grants are submitted discussion of demands follows for which a maximum of 12 days may be allotted. If the Legislative Council votes a reduction or omission of a demand relating to a reserved subject, it is open to His Excellency the Governor to restore the provision by giving a certificate that the expenditure provided for by the demand is essential to the discharge of his responsibility for the subject, but no such action can be taken when a demand pertaining to a transferred department is affected.

Committees.—Under statutory rule, a Committee on Public Accounts has been established to scrutinize the audit and appropriation accounts of the province, and to satisfy itself that the money voted by the Council has been spent within the scope of the demand granted by the Council. It is its duty to bring to the notice of the Council every re-appropriation from one grant to another grant, every re-appropriation with a grant which is not made in accordance with the rules regulating the functions of the Finance Department or which has the effect of increasing the expenditure on an item, the provision for which has been specially reduced by a vote of the council, and expenditure which the Finance Department wishes to bring to the notice of the Council. An advisory Finance Committee has also been constituted to examine all proposals for the new expenditure before they are placed before the Council.

The control of the Local Government over the funds at their disposal is limited by certain rules which prescribe that the sanction of the Secretary of State in Council is necessary before expenditure can be incurred on certain accounts. In this matter, a clear distinction has been drawn between powers to sanction and incur expenditure on transferred subjects and powers in relation to expenditure on reserved subjects. The Joint Parliamentary Committee appointed to revise the draft rules, made under the Government of India Act of 1919, have stated that it is the intention of that Act that expenditure on transferred subject should, with the narrowest possible reservations, be within the exclusive control of the provincial legislature. The main reservations laid down are that the Secretary of State must retain control over expenditure on transferred subjects which is likely to affect the prospects or rights of the All-India services, which he recruits, and, will continue to control and that he should also retain power to control the purchase of stores in the United Kingdom.

The recognized privilege, under which a person aggrieved by the action of any Government official may ordinarily appeal to the next higher authority by means of a petition and receive back a written reply, either refusing or promising redress, is of much importance in all branches of the administration, but especially in matters dealing with the land revenue, owing to the number of small holdings or land under the ryotwari tenure and the consequent multiplication of details in the administration of the land revenue. An aggrieved person may generally appeal in succession to the officers representing each grade in the department concerned, and may finally address in turn the Local Government, the Government of India and the Secretary of State. The three last named authorities have prescribed certain rules to check the indiscriminate presentation of petitions; in some cases, a period is fixed within which the appeal must be filed, in others a restriction is imposed upon the number of authorities an aggrieved official may invoke, with reference to the status of such official, but there is, in general, no check except where a legal enactment or regulation provides for the appeal and imposes limits on its presentation. The Government do not act as a channel of communication for memorials addressed to Parliament.

The Civil Service.—The Executive and, outside the Presidency town, the Judicial administration are in the hands of the Civil Service in which are included both the Imperial branch called the Indian Civil Service and the provincial branch now known as the Madras Civil Service. The Indian Civil Service, designated until 1930 the "Covenanted Civil Service of India," is the modern representative for the merchants, factors and writers who were employed under covenant by the East India Company. Until 1919 this service recruited only by a competitive examination in London. During the War, however, there were few recruits and to fill up vacancies, power was taken for a limited period under the Indian Civil Service (Temporary Provisions) Act, 1915, to select candidates by nomination both in England and in India, and further changes have been introduced after the amendment of the Government of India Act in 1919, mainly with a view to provide fresh avenues of recruitment, whereby, effect may be given to the recommendation made by the Royal Commission on the Public Service in India (1912-1915) and amplified in the Report on Indian Constitutional Reforms, that Indians should be appointed more extensively in the Public services. The five methods of recruitment now are open competitive examination in London, separate competitive examination in India, nomination in India, appointment from the Indian bar and promotion from the Provincial Civil Service. The Provincial or Madras Civil Service was constituted in 1892 as a result of the recommendations of the Public Service Commission (1886-87) to fill vacancies, some of which had till then been reserved for the Indian Civil Service, while others had been held by what was then called, the Uncovenanted Civil Service. It comprises on the Judicial side, Subordinate Judges and District Munsifs, recruited for the most part direct to the lower of these ranks from the legal profession and engaged in dealing with the civil litigation and on the executive side, Deputy Collectors and Magistrates, a few of whom had been recruited by competitive examination or direct nomination, but the majority by promotion from the Subordinate Civil Service. The lower administrative appointments above the ministerial grade form the Subordinate Civil Service.

At least one of the Members of the Executive Council of the Governor of Fort St. George must be a person who at the time of his appointment has been in the service of the Crown in India for at least 12 years and not less than one-third of the Judges of the High Court of Judicature at Madras must be members of the Indian Civil Service, as also subject to certain exceptions which are noticed below must be officers holding appointments of the following classes; (a) Secretaries to Government, except in the Public Works Department, (b) Members of and Secretaries to the Board of Revenues, (c) District and Sessions Judges and (d) Collectors and District Magistrates. There are a certain number of appointments of Sub-Collectors classed as "superior", the "inferior" appointments being regarded as posts in which officers are trained for positions of independent responsibility. The Cadre of the Indian Civil Service also provides for certain other appointments which are not reserved by statute, such as those of the Commissioner of Coorg, the Registrar of Co-operative Societies, the Registrar of the High Court, the Private Secretary to His Excellency the Governor, and the Collector of the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore. The Director of Industries and the Provincial Superintendent of Census Operation are usually members of the Indian Civil Service. In special circumstance a person not belonging to the Indian Civil Service, may be appointed to one of the posts reserved by statute for that service, but every such appointment must be reported to the Secretary of State with the special reasons for making it, and it is only provisional until it has been approved by the Secretary of State in Council. Statutory rules were framed, however as far back as 1892 under which a certain number of appointments ordinarily so reserved were scheduled as thrown open to members of the Provincial Civil Service and other persons domiciled in India. In the first instance fifteen appointments were thus thrown open to the members of the then newly formed Provincial Civil Service, including two posts of Collector and District Magistrate, four of District and Sessions Judges, one of Secretary to the Board of Revenue and eight of lower rank which have, since been assimilated to the corresponding grades of the Provincial Civil Service, i.e. the Deputy Collector's cadre. Additions have subsequently been made to these "listed" appointments and there are now eleven superior appointments listed, including five in the executive service and six posts of District and Sessions Judges of which, two have recently been filled by direct nomination from the bar, while several "inferior" appointments such as those of Under Secretaries to Government, which were formerly held by members of the Indian Civil Service, are occasionally filled otherwise.

Besides the Indian Civil Service, the Imperial Service of the Public Works Department, is now included in the Indian Service of Engineers, which is divided into two branches, consisting of officers recruited in Europe and in India. All appointments to the Indian Service of Engineers are made by the Secretary of State. Appointments to the Europe-recruited branch are made on the advice of a selection committee including at least one eminent representative of the Engineering profession. Candidates for this branch must produce evidence that they have obtained one of the University degrees prescribed by the Secretary of State or that they have passed sections A and B of the A.M.I.C.E. examination, or obtained such other diploma or distinction in engineering or general and technical, (theoretical and practical) education as the Secretary of State may decide to accept in any particular case. Appointments to the India-recruited branch are made from two sources—graduates of the College of Engineering, Madras, and selected officers of the Provincial Engineering Service. Officers for the Indian Police Service are recruited by competitive examination in England and in India on the nomination of a selection committee, followed by a competitive examination among the nominees. Officers for the Imperial Agricultural Service are recruited in England and in India on the advice of a selection committee. Special qualifications of a practical and scientific nature are essential both for administrative and for research and instructional posts. Officers for the Imperial Veterinary Service are appointed by the Secretary of State. They must hold a diploma of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons. Officers of the Imperial Forest Service are recruited both in England and in India on the advice of a selection committee and are required to pass through the forestry course at one of the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge or Edinburgh.

Educational qualifications for admission to the Public Service.—Admission to Government Service in this Presidency is not as a rule dependent on success in a competitive examination, but no person can in general be appointed to a post, the sanctioned pay of which is Rs. 35 per mensem in the mofussil or Rs. 40 per mensem in the Madras City or more unless he possesses the minimum educational qualifications laid down. Various examinations, public or departmental—are also prescribed for various posts in each department. Admission to the service is now done by the Madras services commission and the rules relating to the admission to the different services will be found in the Madras services manual.

Secretariat.—There are eight Secretaries to Government, each of whom has ordinarily an Under-Secretary and one or more Assistant Secretaries, though the exact arrangements differ in different departments; and at times of pressure, a Deputy Secretary may be appointed to assist any one of them. The Chief Secretary deals with the correspondence relating to the Public, Judicial, Political and Ecclesiastical Department; the Second Secretary to Government, Revenue Department, with the administration of the Land Revenue, the Agency tracts and the Laccadives, the Court of Wards and Amindars, Excise and Stamps; the Secretary in the Law Department, with Civil Justice, Jails, Legislation, Elections, Education and Registration; the Finance Secretary, besides Finance, with Customs, and Central subjects, viz., Archaeology and Epigraphy, Customs, Income-tax, Marine, Meteorology, Opium, and Salt; the Secretary in the Development Department, with Agriculture, Co-operation, Forestry, Factories, Industries, Fisheries and Veterinary and the Secretary to Government, Local Self-Government with matters concerning Local Boards, Municipal Councils, the Medical Department, Public Health, Religious and Charitable Endowments, Tramways and Town-Planning. The Secretary to Government, Public Works Department, deals with Irrigation, all other Government Public Works, Emigration, Post Office, Depressed Classes and Labour.

The Collectors of Trichinopoly, Bellary and Kurnool are ex-officio Political Agents for the Indian States of Pudukottah, Sandur and Banganapalle, respectively, and the Collectors of South Arcot, Tanjore, Malabar and Godavari are ex-officio Political Agents for the French Settlements of Pondicherry, Karikal, Mahe and Yanam. A Consul is appointed for Pondicherry and Karikal. The Collector of Madras is ex-officio paymaster of Carnatic Stipends and in that capacity is under the official Department of the Government. Officers in the service of Government, are occasionally employed in the Indian States with the sanction of the Government.

Administration.—For purposes of general administration the Presidency is divided into 26 districts under the executive administration of a District Collector and Magistrate, who is generally a member of the Indian Civil Service. Each District, with the exception of Madras contains two or more divisions or sub-divisions; a division or sub-division again comprises one or more taluks, each of which is under the jurisdiction of a Tahsildar. Some of the Divisional Officers are members of the Indian Civil Service; the majority are, however, Deputy Collectors, who are members of the Provincial Civil Service. The Collectors as Revenue Officers are subject directly to the control of the Board of Revenue which consists of the senior officers of the Revenue Department, usually Members of the Indian Civil Service. There are no officers corresponding to Commissioners of Divisions in other provinces who have charge of a number of districts. The revenue jurisdiction of each member of the Board of Revenue extends over the whole Presidency, and the work of the Board is distributed among the members under Madras Act I of 1894. But orders on important matters are passed by the full Board. Two members of the Board are Commissioners of Land Revenue; and one of these is also Commissioner of Revenue Settlement; the third is Commissioner of Salt and Inam Commissioner. Under the Commissioner of Land Revenue Settlement are the Director of Survey, five Settlement Officers in charge of Settlement Parties and thirteen Special Assistant Settlement Officers. The Land Revenue and Settlement Offices of the Board which were till recently separate have been amalgamated into one and the combined office in charge of a Secretary, a member of the Indian Civil Service, who is assisted by two assistant Secretaries, both of whom belong to the Provincial Service.

Criminal Law.—The Superior court for civil and criminal judicial work is the High Court at Madras. The High Court may consist of a Chief Justice and as many Judges not exceeding 20, as His Majesty may from time to time think fit and appoint. At present, in addition to the Chief Justice, there are 11 Puisne Judges. The Judges must be Barristers of five years' standing or members of the Indian Civil Service of ten years' standing, who have exercised the powers of a District Judge or like powers for at least three years, or persons who have held judicial office, not inferior to that of a Subordinate Judge, or a Judge of a Small Cause Court, for five years or Pleader of the High Court of ten years' standing; one-third of the Judges, including the Chief Justice, must be Barristers and one-third must be members of the Indian Civil Service. A Judge holds office during His Majesty's pleasure, but, has power to resign. The Governor-in-Council may make temporary arrangements if a vacancy occurs in the High Court. A High Court Bench may consist of one or more Judges, a Full Bench being a bench of not less than three of the Judges, for the time being present, as Judges of the Court. The High Court has framed rules showing what class of work may be disposed of by the various Benches; certain matters may be disposed of by a Judge in Chambers: A list showing the sittings of the various courts during the following week is published every Friday. For the administration of Criminal Justice, there are 23 Sessions Judges in the mofussil, the High Court being the Sessions Court, for the Presidency town. Additional and Assistant Sessions Judges are sometimes appointed to assist courts in which the work is heavy. Sessions are held once a month at the headquarters of each Judge, but, once a quarter, in the High Court. Magistrates are of three classes—first, second and third. The powers of a first class Magistrate are more extensive than those of a second-class Magistrate: for instance, a first class Magistrate can pass a sentence of imprisonment for two years, while the longest terms for which second and third class Magistrates can pass sentences of imprisonment are six months and one month respectively. Village Magistrates are not included in these three classes of Magistrates; they may try persons charged with petty thefts when the value of the property stolen does not exceed one rupee and certain other cases of a trivial nature; they may sentence such persons, if found guilty, to be confined in the village choultry, for a time, not exceeding twelve hours. The Collector is always District Magistrate except in the Presidency town, where there are three Presidency Magistrates (including the Chief Presidency Magistrate). There are also four benches of Honorary Presidency Magistrates for the trial of petty cases. Divisional Officers are also Sub-Divisional Magistrates. These Magistrates generally exercise all the powers of a first class Magistrate, as well as, certain other special powers. The bulk of the Magisterial work as far as the trial of original cases is concerned, is disposed of by second-class Magistrates. In taluks, where the work is light the Tahsildar and Serishtadars—head of the taluk office under the Tahsildar—exercise the powers of Magistrates including the power to try cases and to commit accused persons for trial before the Sessions Courts, but in other taluks Stationary Sub-Magistrates are appointed for this purpose. Tahsildars are Magistrates of the second-class, ex-officio and Deputy Tahsildars and Sub-Magistrates and taluk Serishtadars are Magistrates of the third-class, ex-officio. In important mofussil stations, retired Government officers, with judicial experience, are appointed Honorary Magistrates and exercise the ordinary and certain special powers of stipendiary first class Magistrates. Benches of Magistrates are sometimes appointed in the mofussil municipalities, and other mofussil towns and villages with powers to try regularly cases under certain special Law and with summary powers to dispose of certain other classes of petty cases. Special third-class Magistrates, chiefly selected from among Sub-Registrars, are appointed to try such petty cases in mofussil towns and villages not within easy reach of a regular Magistrate's court. District Magistrates rarely take cases on their own file. Divisional Magistrates dispose of cases triable by a first class but not by a second-class Magistrate and of other cases which are of special importance for any reason or in which it is probable that a heavier sentence should be awarded than a subordinate Magistrate is competent to pronounce in view of the previous history of the accused or of the value of the property stolen, etc. The District and Divisional Magistrates closely supervise the work of Subordinate Magistrates. The Judgments of Divisional Magistrates are perused by District Magistrate and Sessions Judges. District Magistrates and Sessions Judges transmit to the High Court copies of their Judgments in certain cases. In three cantonments in the Presidency, station staff officers are appointed Magistrates of the third class and also Cantonment Magistrates, under the Cantonment Act, to try petty cases, including breaches of cantonment rules. In 1930, a Juvenile Court has been established in the City of Madras, under the Madras Children's Act. The Court consists of one salaried Magistrate and an Honorary Magistrate, usually a woman.

Police.—The Inspector-General is the head of the Police Department. The Presidency is divided into four ranges, each of which is under a Deputy Inspector-General of Police. A Superintendent of Police is stationed at the head-quarters of each district and in most districts there are Assistant Superintendents or Deputy Superintendents, who are subordinate to the Superintendent and have either district or local charges or are employed as personal Assistants to the Superintendent. The superior service is divided into two kinds—Indian (Imperial) and Madras (Provincial). Recruitment for the former is, as a rule, made both in England and in India, on the results of competitive examinations, open to European British subjects and to such Indians as are admitted by the Secretary of State in exceptional circumstances and to statutory natives of India respectively. Recruitment for the latter (Madras Police) is made partly by the promotion of Inspectors and partly by direct appointment. Under them are the Inspectors, the Sub-Inspectors and the Subordinate Police Establishment. The railways form two separate districts for the purposes of the police Department, a special force known as Railway Police being employed under two Superintendents for the detection of offences within the railway limits and for the maintenance of order at Railway stations. A Criminal Investigation Department is constituted to deal with crime of a special character and criminal organizations of more than local importance. To enable old offenders to be recognized, the finger prints of all convicts are taken and sent to the finger-print Bureau at Madras. The Railway Police, the Criminal Investigation Department and the Finger-Print Bureau are under the control of a separate Deputy Inspector-General. A provincial Training School has been established at Vellore for the training of probationary and Assistant Deputy Superintendents, Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors. General recruits schools for the training of the constabulary have also been established at Vellore, Vizianagaram, Coimbatore and Anantapur. The Magistracy exercise a limited control over the work of the Police but have no power to inflict departmental punishments or to interfere directly in the internal administration of the Department. Madras City Police is controlled by a Commissioner assisted by two Deputy Commissioners and two Assistant Commissioners. The Commissioner is subject to limited control by the Inspector-General. In each village one or more village watchmen or talaiyaris are employed; they are under the orders of the Village Magistrates and are appointed by Divisional Officers; they are not ordinarily under the control of officers of the Police Department but the Local Government may allow the powers of punishing them, usually vested in a Divisional Officer, to be exercised by a Superintendent, or Assistant Superintendent of Police in a specified area. Among other duties, they have to patrol the village at night, to carry the village Magistrate's reports regarding crime and criminals to the nearest police station and Sub-Magistrate, to watch the cattle pounds and to assist in tracing offenders and detecting crime; they have no uniform but in some districts they are supplied with badges of office. In special localities talaiyaris, enlisted and controlled by the Police Department, are employed to supplement the police in guarding roads. Such additional police are commonly spoken of as punitive police.

Prisons.—The Inspector-General of Prisons controls the Jail Department. There are ten central jails (nine permanent and one temporary) and four district jails. The temporary jail was opened to ease the pressure in existing jails caused by the influx of Maripilla prisoners, due to the Maripilla rebellion. There are also two special jails—the Borstal School, Tanjore for the confinement of prisoners of ages between 15 and 23, and the Civil Jail, Madras, for civil prisoners admitted within the City of Madras. Central Jails are those in which prisoners sentenced to rigorous imprisonment for one year and upwards and prisoners sentenced to transportation are confined; they also serve the purpose of District Jails for the Districts in which they are situated. Two Central Jails, one for the Tamil and the other for the Telugu Districts, have been set apart for the confinement of habitual offenders. Each of the Central and district jails except one of the latter class which is managed by the District Medical Officers, is under the charge of a Superintendent. The appointment of Inspector-General of Prisons and four Superintendentships of Central Jails are reserved for commissioned Medical Officers of the Indian Medical Service. The Surgeon-General, the Director of Public Health, the Deputy Director of Public Health, all Presidency Magistrates, the Commissioner of Police, Sessions Judges, District Magistrates, Sub-Divisional Magistrates and Inspector of Schools are ex-officio visitors of jails within their jurisdiction. Non-official visitors are appointed by the Government for the Jails in the City of Madras and by District Magistrates for the Mofussil Jails. Remissions of sentence are granted for good conduct and diligence, the days gained being liable to forfeiture for prison offences. A diligent and well behaved convict may ordinarily earn three days' remission in a month. Selected casual convicts may be employed as night watchmen, overseers and convict warders; they earn money gratuities and are granted special remission and other privileges. Elementary education is imparted in all jails to prisoners under 30 years of age by a paid teaching staff. Lectures on moral and religious subjects are delivered by honorary lecturers and on sanitary matters by the medical subordinates attached to jails. Technical instruction is given to convicts employed in the various industrial departments to enable them to earn their livelihood on release. Each jail is provided with a library and the prisoners are given facilities for reading and study. Recreation is provided for well-behaved prisoners in association-wards between lock-up and sleeping time. A Central Discharged Prisoners' Aid Society has been organized at Madras and several district committees have been formed at various centres. At the head-quarters of each Sub-Magistrate is a subsidiary jail, in which remanded or under-trial prisoners and convicts sentenced to imprisonment for not more than one month are generally confined; these subsidiary jails are superintended by Sub-Magistrates and inspected periodically by District Medical Officers. In 1930 was opened a special jail for women at Vellore and this is the only jail specially set apart for women in the Presidency. In the previous year was opened a special jail at Bellary called the Wellesley Sanatorium jail. In 1930 the Government of India ordered that convicted prisoners should be divided into three divisions or classes A, B & C. The classification is mostly dependent on the social status, education or habit of life to which the prisoner was accustomed.

To deal with juvenile delinquency the children's Act applying to juveniles of both sexes below the age of 16 has been passed and certified schools have been established at Chingleput, Ranipet and Bellary.

Civil Law.—The administration of civil justice is carried on by 26 District Judges, 62 Subordinate Judges, 3 Special Small Cause Judges and 167 District Munsiffs. In addition there are at present on temporary basis some District Judges, Subordinate Judges and District Munsiffs. In the Presidency Town there are City Civil Courts consisting of one Judge and Small Cause Court consisting of a Chief Judge and two other Judges. The heads of villages may be appointed village Munsifs, with power to hear petty suits of a value not exceeding Rs. 50 (or with the written consent of both parties, Rs. 200) or, alternatively, a Panchayat Court with similar powers may be constituted, in which case the village munsif ceases to exercise jurisdiction.

Registration.—Registration Officer for the Registration of documents have been established at convenient centres throughout the Presidency which for this purpose is divided into districts and sub-districts. The latter are under sub-registrars of whom there are 626, including 7 officers working as clerks in the Inspector-General's Office, 5 temporary and 5 ex-officio officers. Excluding the temporary and ex-officio officers, the remaining officers are divided into two grades, a lower and an upper, on time-scales of pay. The upper grade consists of 20 per cent. of the total number. The districts are presided over by District Registrars, 28 in number, also on a time-scale of pay. This number includes the two appointments of Personal Assistant to the Inspector-General of Registration and Assistant to the Registrar of Joint-Stock Companies. The head of the department is the Inspector-General of Registration, who is also ex-officio Registrar of Joint-Stock Companies and Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages. The Assistant to the Registrar of Joint-Stock Companies is the Assistant Registrar of Joint Stock Companies for the Madras City and ex-officio Registrar of Provident Insurance Societies and Life Assurance Companies. All District Registrars are ex-officio Assistant Registrars of Joint Stock Companies within their jurisdiction. All registering officers are Registrar of Births and Deaths under the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1884. One hundred and ninety-five officers are also notaries public. Several of them exercise magisterial powers of the third class for the trial of offences punishable under the local laws and some of them are members of local bodies. Sub-Registrars stationed at the head-quarters of Deputy Tahsildars are placed in charge of the sub-treasury during the absence of the Deputy Tahsildar on tour. At taluk stations, they are in charge of the double lock chests during the absence of the Tahsildar on tour if there is no Sub-Magistrate at the station, or when both the Tahsildar and the Sub-Magistrate are absent on duty simultaneously.

Local Boards.—A district board has been formed for every district. Taluk boards exist at all districts except the Nilgiris. Union boards have been established in areas which though more or less urban are not yet fit to become Municipalities. The area under a district board is ordinarily the revenue district excluding all Municipalities, while that under a taluk board is usually coterminous with a revenue divisional charge, but in some districts, taluk boards have been constituted for single revenue taluks. The Madras Local Boards Act, 1920, gives each class of local board (district, taluk and union) an independent status and distinguished their funds and functions. Not less than three-fourths of the members should be elected; the President of a Union Board should invariably be elected; the President of a Taluk Board should be elected unless the Government otherwise direct; and the President of a District Board may be appointed or elected at the discretion of the Government. The privileges of electing their president has been conceded to eight district boards; and official presidents have been replaced by non-official presidents in all districts but the Nilgiris. The Revenue Divisional Officer is no longer an ex-officio member of the district board or the ex-officio president of the taluk board and the privilege of electing its president has been conceded to all except 14 taluk boards. The total number of members of a district board is subject to a maximum of 52 and a minimum of 21. The President of every taluk board in the district is an ex-officio member of the district board. One-fourth of the members of the district board are appointed by Government and the rest are elected by the taluk boards in all districts except in the Nilgiris where the two planters' associations and the tax-payers and inhabitants of the district elect the members. The total number of members of a taluk board is subject to a maximum of 24 and a minimum of 12. Three-fourths of the total number of members of taluk boards are elected by the tax-payers and inhabitants of the taluk, and the rest are appointed by the presidents of a district board. The qualifications of voters have been considerably lowered and women are no longer debarred from voting or from standing as candidates at elections. Presidents, Vice-Presidents and members of local boards do not ordinarily receive any remuneration but they may be paid their travelling expenses. Presidents are responsible for seeing that the resolutions of their boards are carried into effect. Under the Madras Local Boards Act, 1920, no village can be constituted into a union unless it has a population of 5,000. The total number of members of a union board is subject to a maximum of 16 and a minimum of 7. Three-fourths of the members are elected by the tax-payers and inhabitants of the union and the rest are appointed by the president of the taluk board. Union boards exist in all districts except the Nilgiris and South Kanara. The main source of income of district and taluk boards is a tax of one anna in the rupee on the annual rent value of all occupied lands in the district. The district board can levy an extra tax not exceeding 3 pies in the rupee on the annual rent value of occupied lands and the taluk board can levy another tax of three pies in the rupee. The levy of a railway cess had been abolished. The income of union boards is derived chiefly from a tax on houses. Local boards also derive an income from tolls and ferries, profession and companies taxes, pilgrim-tax and fees for the use of markets, cart-stands and slaughter houses. A consolidated budget of all the local boards in the district has to be submitted to the Government but the local boards have a free hand in framing their budgets. Government cannot interfere in this matter unless a budget fails to provide for the due discharge of all liabilities in respect of loans or for the maintenance of a working balance. The main ordinary duties of local boards are the construction and maintenance of roads, bridges, avenues, hospitals, dispensaries, markets, water-works, wells, drains, latrines, the training of nurses, midwives, and vaccinators, the supervision of sanitation and the diffusion of education. District and taluk boards, employ engineering establishments for the construction and maintenance of public works vested in them or under their control, but services of officers of the Public Works Department are occasionally utilized, with the permission of Government, for the execution of special works, considered to be beyond the powers of the ordinary local fund staff. The District Collector, the Surgeon-General, the Director of Public Health and his assistants, the Sanitary Engineer and his deputies, the District Medical Officer, the District Health Officer, the Chief Engineer, the Superintending Engineer of the Circle, the Director of Public Instruction and the Inspector of Schools may, with the permission of the president, address a local board on any matter affecting the general administration, sanitation, public works or public instruction. By an act of 1930, Panchayats have now become the units of Local Fund Administration. Taluk Boards have been re-arranged (Revenue Taluk being the normal unit), the members of every Local Board are elected but seats are reserved for certain communities and women, members of District Boards are to be chosen by Direct Election, the franchise has been extended, all offices of Presidents of Local Boards are made elective, and other changes made, including provisions for appointment of a District Panchayat Officer and the formation of a Village Development Fund.

Since 1st April 1931, the levy of all tolls within the Presidency and the levy of taxes on motor vehicles by local bodies, have been abolished and a provincial tax on motor vehicles substituted. Compensation is being paid to Local Bodies.

In 1930-31, there were 25 District Boards with 1005 members, 130 Taluk Boards with 2479 members and 415 Union Boards with 5114 members. The receipts of Local Boards in 1929-30 were Rs. 648,94,993 while the expenditure was Rs. 53,917,926 leaving a balance of Rs. 199,77,067.

Municipalities.—The duties, devolving on local boards are discharged in municipal areas by independent bodies, styled municipal councils. Each council consists of not less than 16 and more than 36 members. Under the Act, the elective strength should not be less than three-fourths; the rest of the members are appointed by Government. The Revenue Divisional Officer is no longer an ex-officio member of the Council and official supervision has been largely relaxed. The property-tax leviable on buildings and lands comprises a tax for general purposes and it may also comprise a water and drainage tax, lighting tax and railway tax. The rate of this tax is fixed by such council, independently. Other sources of Municipal income are professional tax, tolls, taxes on vehicles and animals, companies tax and in some cases a pilgrim tax. In hill stations a tax on private menial and domestic servants may in addition be levied. Unless a municipal council is indebted, it has a free hand as to the taxes to be levied and the rates at which they should be levied. The registration of births and deaths is compulsory in all municipalities and the vaccination of children is also obligatory. Some councils employ paid chairmen, while others have paid secretaries to assist their honorary chairman. Every rate-payer is given a vote and is eligible for election to the council. Women can also vote at municipal elections but cannot at present stand as candidates at elections. They may, however, serve on special committees of the council. By an act of 1930 the disqualification of women to stand for election has been removed and seats may be reserved for specified minority communities and women. The franchise has been extended. The Office of Chairman has been made elective without any exception. In 1930-31 there were 81 municipalities with a total strength of 1,989 Councillors, the receipts during that year were Rs. 2,09,31,575 while the expenditure was Rs. 218,01,802.

Madras Corporation.—The municipal affairs of the City of Madras are administered by a council and a commissioner. The council consists of 50 councillors of whom 30 are elected by the rate-payers and inhabitants of the 30 municipal divisions, three elected by the Madras Chamber of Commerce, three by the Madras Trades Association, two by the South Indian Southern India, and one by the Port Trust Board, one by the Anglo-Indian Association of the Government. There are four standing committees, of seven members each, dealing with taxation and finance, works, health and education. The Commissioner, who is appointed by the Government, is a paid officer and is the head of the executive. He can attend meetings of the council or of any standing committee and take part in the discussion, but he has no right to move any resolution or to vote. At the first meeting after the first day of November in each year the council elects one of its members to be its mayor. The taxes leviable in the City of Madras are in general similar to those in the mofussil municipalities, but the Corporation levies also tax on timber brought into the city and a duty on transfers of property in the shape of an additional stamp duty. The council can itself fix the rate at which the property tax is to be levied. The present rate is 1½ per cent. of the annual value of buildings and land. The three principal officers of the municipal corporation are the Revenue Officer, the Health Officer and the Engineer who are appointed by the council subject to confirmation by the Government. A special Engineer has also been appointed by the council with the approval of the Government to carry out the extensive water and drainage scheme now in hand. Subject to confirmation by the Government, the council has power in the event of any unusual mortality or the prevalence of any dangerous disease within the city, to appoint a special Health Officer to investigate the causes thereof and to suggest remedies and to appoint a special Revenue Officer for the purpose of carrying out a periodical revision of assessment, introducing a new tax or discharging any extraordinary duty connected with the revenue administration of the Corporation. But no necessity for either of these appointments has so far arisen. The Corporation collects an entertainments tax from 15th January 1929. Compulsory Elementary Education Scheme is now working in all divisions of the City.

A line here lasts for one full year and more.

Marine.—The Marine Department includes the Presidency Port Officer and the Deputy Conservator of the Port of Madras, who are officers of the Royal Indian Marine, and 12 other Port Officers, one of whom is Personal Assistant to the Presidency Port Officer and Agent for Government Consignments, Madras, while the others are stationed at minor ports. The Port of Madras is under the control of a body of trustees constituted under the Madras Port Trust Act II of 1905.

Civil Veterinary.—The Civil Veterinary Department has an executive and an educational branch. At the head of the executive branch is the Director of Veterinary Service who is a member of the Indian Civil Veterinary Department, with 12 District Veterinary Officers each in charge of a circle, 268 Veterinary Assistant Surgeons and 97 touring officers. The College is presided over by another member of the Indian Civil Veterinary Department under whom are 7 lecturers.

Horticulture.—Botanic gardens are maintained on the hills immediate in the charge of the Curator of the Government gardens and parks, the Nilgiris, who works under the orders of the Director of Agriculture.

Cinchona and Quinine.—The Government have large cinchona plantations in the Nilgiris and a factory at Naduvattu for the manufacture of quinine. Quinine produced at the factory is supplied to the Medical Departments of Madras and Bombay and to hospitals and dispensaries throughout the Madras Presidency and elsewhere in India. It is also sold to the public in packet form through the agency of post offices. The plantations and factory are under the Deputy Director of Agriculture. (Cinchona).

Public Works.—The Public Works Department is responsible for the construction and maintenance of buildings belonging to a Government (except certain buildings in charge of the Forest, Salt, Excise and separate Revenue Departments), navigable canals and irrigation works which are ordinarily capable of irrigating more than two hundred acres of land; it does not as a rule maintain roads though a few important roads are in its charge. At the head of the Public Works Department are two Chief Engineers, the senior of whom is the Secretary to Government and the junior Joint Secretary; one controls the general roads and buildings branch and the other the irrigation branch of the business of the department. No railways in the Presidency are worked by the State, but the Government are kept in touch with the Railway Administrations by the senior Government Inspector of Railways who for this purpose, is also a Secretary to Government. The Presidency is divided into five circles, over each of which there is a Superintending Engineer, who controls the district staff of executive and assistant executive engineers. These are employed both on irrigation and other public works. The superior officers belong to the Indian Service of Engineers and in addition a new provincial service was constituted in 1920 under the style of the "Madras Engineering Service" to include the bulk of the officers required for the charge of permanent sub-division and equivalent posts. There are, besides, specialist appointments, including the Sanitary Engineers to Government, the Consulting Architect and his assistant—and temporarily also a special Consulting Architect—The Electrical Inspector and the Electrical Engineer. A special Harbour Engineer was appointed in 1920 to advise the Government on important harbour works, but he and his staff were transferred in 1921 to the Marine Department. The Boiler Inspectors are under the control of the Public Works Department, which deals with questions relating to the working of the Steam Boilers and Prime Movers Act. The accounts of the department are audited by the Accountant-General. Payments are made by means of cheques drawn by officers on Government Treasuries of the Imperial Bank of India, the expenditure being limited to the amount of budget allotments. A separate administrative Department for Electricity has been recently constituted, with the Chief Engineer, Hydro-Electric Development, as Chief Engineer, for Electricity. The Electrical Engineer and the Electrical Inspector to Government were placed under the control of the Chief Engineer for Electricity. Of the irrigation schemes, the Polavaram project designed to irrigate 17,500 acres was recently completed. The whole of the Vadavur and Vadavur extension canal was also completed. The Pykara Scheme is in full working commercial operation.

Audit.—Under the Reforms the audit of the transactions of both the Central and Provincial Governments is a central subject, while that of local funds is a provincial subject. The audit of the former is entrusted to the Accountant-General, who is an officer of the Government of India under the direct orders of the Auditor-General in India. The audit of local funds is conducted by the Examiner of Local Fund Accounts working under the administrative control of the Local Government. The Accountant-General is also ex-officio Deputy Controller of the Currency and is assisted by a currency officer of the rank of Assistant Accountant-General who is in immediate charge of the Currency Office. In this capacity as principal Audit Officer, the Accountant-General is assisted by two Deputy and three Assistant Accountants-General besides four Assistant Accounts Officers. One of the Deputies is in charge of the civil audit and the other in charge of the public works audit. Each year the Accountant-General reviews the result of the audit conducted by him during the past official year in his audit and appropriation reports which are transmitted, through the Auditor-General in India, to the Finance Department to be placed before the Committee on Public Accounts for scrutiny and report to the Legislative Council.

Salt, Abkari and Separate Revenue.—The manufacture and sale of salt and of intoxicating liquor and drugs including opium are controlled by the Salt, Abkari and Separate Revenue Department. The head of the department is the Commissioner who is a Member of the Board of Revenue. There are three Deputy Commissioners, who have charge of the Northern, Southern and Central territorial divisions, and an Assistant Commissioner of Distilleries who is responsible for the supervision of distilleries. One Deputy Commissioner and the Secretary to the Commissioner are usually Members of the Indian Civil Service. There are 11 Assistant Commissioners and 85 Inspectors. The manufacture of salt is a Government monopoly and one of the principal duties of the officers of the department is the prevention of the unauthorized manufacture of salt. The factories are of two classes; in factories for the manufacture of salt for sale to Government, salt is manufactured by ryots who are paid for their salt by Government, as soon as it is stored, and this salt is again sold by Government.

normally at fixed rates and occasionally in public auction; in factories for the manufacture of salt for general sale, private persons are permitted not only to carry on manufacture subject to the conditions of their licences but also to dispose of their salt at their own price and discretion. Salt which has been sold by Government and salt which is the property of licensees or of purchasers from them, may not be removed from the factories until duty at the rate fixed by the Government of India has been paid.

The manufacture and sale of any intoxicating liquor or drug except under due authority are prohibited by law. In the case of imported liquors, the duties leviable under the tariff for the time being in force are credited to Customs and the excise revenue therefrom is derived only from licences for the privilege of vending. The right of sale in taverns, licensed for the retail sale of liquor on and off the premises, is sold in public auction; in other cases, fixed fees are charged for licences. A brewer must take out a licence and comply with certain rules; duty which is at present fixed at 8 annas per imperial gallon, must be paid once in a quarter on total quantity of beer brewed during the quarter less 5 per cent. allowed for wastage.

The revenue derived from country spirit is levied partly by means of a still-head duty and partly by licence fees and the sale of the right of vending country spirit is arrack which is generally distilled from jaggery or molasses. Under the "contract distillery system," which is now in force throughout the whole Presidency with an exception of the Major portion of the Agency division where the central distillery and outstill system are in force, the exclusive privilege of manufacture and supply of country spirit throughout a district or other specified area is disposed of, by tender to approved individuals and firms. Tenderers are required to state at what rate over and above the still-head duty they are prepared to supply spirits of specified strengths from a central source of supply (distillery and warehouse) in each contract area. The successful tenderer has the monopoly of supply of liquor of his own manufacture to retail tenders within the area of his contract and rates which are fixed by Government, and he must generally establish wholesale depots at convenient places for his purpose; he must also pay the still-head duty at the rate fixed by Government on all liquor so issued. The duty, except in certain low duty areas, varies from Rs. 6-14-0 to Rs. 8-7-7 per proof gallon, except in Madras City and the Saidapet Taluk of the Chingleput District where it is Rs. 10-10-0 per proof gallon; the annual fee for a licence to establish and maintain a distillery is Rs. 100 and licences for warehouses are issued free. If a distiller himself establishes a wholesale depot, no fee is charged, but to facilitate the supply of spirits to retail vendors in tracts, which are not within easy reach of a distillery or a warehouse licences are issued at the instance of the contractor to persons who are not distillers, on payment of a fee of Rs. 15 for the wholesale sale of country spirits, the licensees being allowed to sell only to other wholesale depot keepers and independent arrack shopkeepers in the districts or other tracts to which the licence applies. The manufacture is separated from the sale of liquor. The right of retail vending of country spirits is sold annually in public auction by separate shops. The rates of still-head duty are fixed by the Governor-in-Council and may vary from year to year. Liquor may be issued and sold only at certain special strengths, viz., 37.8 or 69.3 under-proof, except in the low-duty area round Pondicherry in the South Arcot District and the Attapadi Valley, where liquor of strength 40.0 under-proof may be sold.

Unfermented or "sweet" toddy—the tap of a coconut, sago, palmyra, date or dadasal palm—is not subject to any taxation, but it must be drawn in pots freshly coated internally with lime or containing sufficient lime to prevent fermentation. Fermented toddy is taxed by means of rents payable for the right of retail vending and also, throughout the greater part of the Presidency, by means of the tree-tax system under which a fixed fee is charged for every tree, from which it is intended to draw fermented toddy. The right of retail vending is sold in public auction. Under the tree tax system, no palm tree may be tapped for the purpose of producing fermented toddy without licence, upon the issue of which the tree is given a distinguishing mark. The fees for licences to tap coconut and sago palms are Rs. 4-8-0 and Rs. 9-0-0 a tree for each half-year and the fee for a licence to tap a palmyra or date palm is Rs. 3 a year in the major portion of the Presidency; in some districts fees are levied at five-sixths of these rates and in some at 25 per cent. in excess of these rates. Special rates are in force in the Agency.

An excise licensing board has been appointed for the City of Madras with power to determine the number and location of shops for the sale of intoxicants of all kinds. In district municipalities and unions of an urban character special local committees are appointed to advise the Collectors in respect of the number and location of shops. In other areas, the number and sites of shops are determined by the Collector in consultation with the District Superintendent of Police. Representations made by District or Taluk Boards, village panchayats and other public bodies are duly considered and weight is attached to local opinion and the opinion of persons special interest, e.g., railway authorities and large employers of labour. Lists of shops proposed for any lease within the jurisdiction of municipal councils and districts and taluk boards are placed before the body concerned three months before the date fixed for the auction sale and their views are taken into consideration. Instructions have been issued to collectors that, as a rule, rural shops must not be located without permission within a furlong of a metalled road, that when shops on a road side are auctioned in rural areas the minimum distance between such shops should ordinarily be five miles, that sites selected should be so public that persons entering shops do not escape observation but not so prominent as to compel attention and that where possible, the shops should be located on Government land. The general rule is that shop licences are issued for a single year and the number and sites of shops are determined beforehand and are not altered except for very special reasons. Maximum number of shops to be opened in each district has been fixed according to requirements.

The cultivation of poppy is prohibited, and the whole of the opium required for the Presidency is supplied by the Government factory at Ghazipur and stocked in district treasuries in the first instance and thence distributed to taluk cutcherris. It is issued to licensed vendors from taluk cutcherris at a price fixed from time to time. Import of opium or intoxicating drugs other than those used for smoking is permitted only—

(a) In the case of imports by sea by licensed dealers in opium for medicinal purposes or by licensed chemist, or

(b) under special orders of the Board of Revenue to be obtained in each case.

The privilege of the retail vend of opium and of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating drugs (other than smoking preparations) prepared therefrom is sold in auction by shops.

Licences for the cultivation of the hemp plant are issued only in the Bapatla Taluk of the Guntur District and in the Polur Taluk of the North Arcot District; elsewhere, its cultivation is absolutely prohibited. In tracts where it is licensed, the cultivators are required to convey the produce to public storehouses whence removals are allowed only on pre-payment of excise duty at Rs. 20 per seer of ganja and Rs. 3 per seer of bhanga. Licences for the vend of those intoxicating drugs are sold in public auction.

Salt and Excise.—With effect from the 1st April, 1921 the combined Salt and Abkari Department was bifurcated into Salt and Excise Departments with a separate staff for each. The Salt Department is in charge of an officer designated the Collector of Salt Revenue. For purposes of administration; the Presidency is divided into two Assistant Commissioners' Divisions. The Excise Department is now placed under the control of an Excise Commissioner who is a member of the Board of Revenue. There are 9 Assistant Commissioners, 63 Inspectors and 29 Assistant Inspectors.

Income-tax.—The assessment and collection of income-tax are controlled by the Commissioner of Income-tax, appointed by the Governor-General-in-Council; under the Commissioner there are Assistant Commissioners.

Stamps.—The Collector of Madras is also the Superintendent of Stamps and Stationery and has under him an Assistant Superintendent who is a Deputy Collector. The net revenue from stamps during the year 1922-23 was Rs. 21,983,332. The charges were Rs. 6,01,333.

Customs.—The sea and land customs establishments are controlled by the Collector of Customs, Madras he is assisted by two Assistant Collectors who are members of the Imperial Customs Service and eight inspectors.

Registration of Births and Deaths.—The registration of births and deaths is compulsory in municipalities and may be made compulsory in rural areas by the Local Government under the Madras Registration of Births and Deaths Act (11 of 1899); during the year 1921 this Act was in force in 2,726 towns and villages. In rural tracts the registers of births and deaths are maintained by railway station-masters or by headmen of villages according as the tracts are within or outside railway limits; where registration is not compulsory, the headman has to ascertain by careful enquiries, the occurrence of births and deaths outside railway limits. The registers are inspected and checked by officers of the Land Revenue, Medical and Vaccination Departments and by chairmen of municipalities and unions; but the officer responsible for the compilation of statistics for the whole Presidency is the Director of Public Health. The birth rate in 1932 is estimated at 35.1 per mille and the death rate at 19.7 per mille. There were 5255 deaths from Cholera.

Labour.—A new Department of Labour was temporarily constituted in the year 1920 under a Commissioner of Labour who is an officer of the Indian Civil Service. This department deals with questions concerning the welfare of labourers and the depressed classes, the administration of the Factories Act, the management and control of criminal tribes settlements, and the emigration of labour. In his administration of the Factories Act, the Commissioner of Labour is assisted by one Chief Inspector, three Inspectors and one Assistant Inspector.

The duties of the Commissioner of Labour are now entrusted to a member of the Board of Revenue temporarily and Collectors of Districts are now exercising the Commissioner's powers in the work of ameliorating the condition of the Depressed Classes.

Over thirty thousand house-sites have been provided till now for the Depressed Classes and 342,611 acres of land assigned for cultivation. The total number of public institutions chiefly intended for this community was 11,324 in 1930—31 with a strength of 35,424 pupils.

Medical, Sanitation and Vaccination.—The higher appointments in the Medical Department are usually held by commissioned officers of Indian Medical Service. The head of the departments is the Surgeon-General with the Government, who also superintends the Medical Colleges, at Madras, and the Vizagapatnam, and the Medical Schools at Royapuram, Tanjore, Calicut and Madurai. The branch of the department which deals with sanitation, vaccination and epidemics is superintended by the Director of Public Health and his assistants. The Government maintains all the important hospitals in Madras City and all the district head-quarter hospitals. The staff of the General Hospital includes three surgeons, four physicians and a Resident Medical Officer; one of the surgeons or physicians is also the Superintendent of the hospital and draws an extra allowance on that account, and all the seven are usually professors of the college; one of the professors of the college is also Principal and draws an extra allowance. The professor of chemistry is also the Chemical Examiner to Government. Four medical officers are stationed in Madras town which is divided into four departmental districts; the Presidency Surgeon, First District is Inspector of Emigrants and Superintendent of the Medical School, Royapuram. A District Medical and Sanitary Officer is stationed at the head-quarters of each mofussil district and Civil Surgeons are stationed in seven other towns. The District Medical and Sanitary Officers, Tanjore, Vizagapatam, Malabar and Madras, are also the Superintendents of the Medical Schools in the respective districts. Medical Officers receive special fees for the inspection of hospitals. Mental Hospitals are maintained by the Government at Madras, Calicut and Vizagapatam. There is a separate Superintendent for the Asylum at Madras, but at Calicut and Vizagapatam the District Medical and Sanitary Officer and the Medical Superintendent of the Central Jail, respectively, are the Superintendents. A Leper Hospital is maintained by Government at Madras in charge of an assistant surgeon working under the control of the Presidency Surgeon, First District. The Public Health Board advises Local Boards, Municipal Councils and the Government itself, on all matters of public health administration; a Sanitary Engineer is employed to investigate and report on sanitary projects. The salaries of officers in the subordinate grades, including sub-assistant surgeons, vaccinators and Sanitary Inspectors, are paid wholly or mainly by Local Boards and Municipal Councils who maintain hospitals and dispensaries throughout the Presidency. Deputy Inspectors of Vaccination are paid wholly by Government.

Scientific Departments.—Appointments, in connection with science include the Superintendent Government Central Museum, who is also Librarian of the Connemara Public Library, the Superintendent, Archaeological Survey, and the Assistant Archaeological Superintendent for Epigraphy for the Madras Presidency, the last two of whom have, under the Reforms, become officers of the Imperial Department.

Legislative Council.—When first constituted by the Indian Councils Act of 1861, the Legislative Council of Madras consisted of the ordinary members of the Governor's Executive Council and a number of additional members besides the Advocate-General, of whom not less than half were to be non-officials nominated by the Governor. The number of nominated members, exclusive of the Advocate-General was fixed at not less than four and not more than eight and thus the strength of the whole Council was so small that the Council could be described as "a mere committee for the purpose of making laws, a committee by means of which the Executive Government obtained advice and assistance in their legislation and the public derived the advantage of full publicity at every stage of the law-making process." The Council could not inquire into grievances, call for information or examine the conduct of the executive; and even its legislative function consisted merely in registering the orders of the Government in a manner which ensured publicity and discussion. By the Councils Act of 1892, the minimum and maximum numbers of additional members, exclusive of the Advocate-General, were raised to 8 and 20, respectively. The Governor had power to nominate all of them, but he was to do so, subject to certain regulations made by the Governor-General-in-Council, and generally approved those nominated by various local, commercial and learned bodies. Technically the function of the nominating bodies was to be that of mere recommendation, but, in practice, the nomination was always accepted and thus, in course of time, the system of election came to be firmly established. The Council was to contain an official majority, but it had the right of asking questions and of discussing, though not voting upon the budget. The next stage in the development of the Council was marked by the Indian Councils Act, 1909. (The "Minto-Morley Reforms"). The salient features of which were (1) a great expansion in the strength of the Council—the Council consisted of 42 additional members, besides the ordinary members of the Governor's Council; (2) the legal recognition of the elective principle—21 members out of the 42 additional members were elected; (3) the abandonment of the official majority, though a combination of officials and nominated non-officials could obtain a majority over the elected members; (4) the grant of rights (a) to move resolutions on the budget and divide upon them, (b) to move resolutions upon matters of general public importance and (c) to ask supplementary questions.

The Government of India Act of 1919 made still further change in composition and function of the Local Legislative Council. The Council is no longer the Governor's Executive Council, supplemented by a number of additional members for the purpose of legislation, but is a separate body consisting of members nominated or elected, as provided by the Act, and having an independent existence of its own. The members of the Executive Council are ex-officio members of the Legislature but the Council contains in addition 93 elected and 30 nominated members. The Ministers are appointed by the Governor but must not be officials and must be at the time of appointment or become within six months elected members of the Council. Of the nominated members not more than 18 may be officials; 10 are nominated to represent backward communities which are unlikely in any other way to secure representation and one to represent the inhabitants of the Agency Division, which has been declared a backward tract. The Governor is not a member of the Legislative Council but has the right to address the Council and may for that purpose require the attendance of the members. Until the expiration of a period of four years from the first meeting of the Council, as constituted under the Act, the President is to be a person appointed by the Governor, as he is a person elected by the Council from among the members and thereafter The Deputy President is a member of the Council elected by the Council and approved by the Governor. Of the 93 elected members 13 represent Muhammadan and 5 Indian Christian Constituencies; the Europeans and Anglo-Indians of the Presidency each have one representative, as also the Madras University and the planting community; commercial bodies have 5 and the larger landholders 6; and the remaining are elected by general non-Muhammadan constituencies. Twenty-eight of these seats are reserved for non-Brahmans, though at the elections held at the end of 1920 considerably more than this number were actually secured by non-Brahmans. For the rural constituencies, the general qualification for a vote is the payment of Rs. 10 per annum in rent or revenue; for urban constituencies the payment of taxes at the minimum rate, or in Madras, the occupation of a house of an annual value of not less than Rs. 60; irrespective of these qualifications, retired, pensioned or discharged officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers of His Majesty's regular forces are entitled to vote; generally speaking, a voter must be a British subject, not of unsound mind, and not under 21 years of age; the sex disqualification which formed part of the original rules has since been removed. The total number of voters on the first electoral rolls was over a million and a quarter; and though this is a small proportion of the population of the Presidency, the enfranchisement of this number must be recognized as a great advance on the former system of indirect election. The number that actually went to the polls was 8,03,558.

The general qualifications for election to the Council run on the same lines as the qualifications for the franchise, with certain additions. The age minimum is raised to 25; conviction for a serious offence in a criminal court becomes a disqualification; and no person who is already a member of any legislative body, constituted under the Act, is eligible for election. Government servants are debarred from election and the acceptance of any Crown office must be followed by resignation, except in the case of Ministers. The rules provide for the settlement of election disputes by a court of three commissioners, of high judicial standing. New members are required to take an oath of allegiance to the Crown. On any failure to take this oath, the seat is declared vacant by the Governor, who may also declare vacant, the seat of any member, who is absent from India for a long period.

Powers of the Council.—Generally speaking, the Legislative Council has power, subject to the provisions of the Act, to make laws for the peace and good government of the province; but no legislation which affects any Act of Parliament is permissible. Considerable latitude is now allowed in respect of legislation for the imposition of taxation. Previous to the passing of the Act, the consent of the Governor-General had to be obtained for all such legislation. This restriction has been removed in the case of certain scheduled taxes, such as those on non-agricultural land and luxuries. Under the concurrent powers of legislation now granted to the Central and Provincial Legislatures, it is open to the provincial Council to amend, in its application to their own province, certain forms of legislation passed by the Central Legislatures. But it is obvious that, to ensure uniformity in India and to safeguard the observance of the general policy of the country, a large measure of control over matters affecting broader issues must be retained in the hands of the Central Legislature. This precaution is ensured by the scheduled limitation of the powers of the local Council; thus the following forms of legislation are not within the province of the provincial Council:—

- (a) Laws imposing new taxation, except such laws as are permitted by schedule (vide supra).
- (b) Laws affecting the public debt of India or customs or taxes imposed by the authority of the Central Government;
- (c) Laws affecting the Imperial forces or relations with foreign princes or States.
- (d) Laws regulating central subjects;
- (e) Laws affecting provincial subjects which are declared to be subject to the legislation of the Central Government, or affecting the powers of the Governor-General, or such laws as aim at repealing or altering legislation, which, according to the rules provided under the Act, can only be altered or repealed with previous sanction.

Powers of the Governor.—In pre-Reform days it was generally possible for the Government to pass any measure, which, it considered necessary, and to prevent the passage of any measure, which it regarded as injurious or unsound. With a large non-official majority, these powers no longer remain and any other safeguards for use in emergencies have had to be provided by the Government of India Act and the rules framed thereunder. Where any Bill has been introduced or is proposed to be introduced or any amendment to a Bill is moved or proposed to be moved, the Governor may certify that the Bill or any clause of it or the amendment affects the safety or tranquillity of the Province or any part of it, or of another province and may direct that no further proceedings shall be taken in connection with it. Similarly, where the Council has refused leave to introduce, or has failed to pass in a form recommended by the Governor any Bill relating to a reserved subject, the Governor may certify that the passage of the Bill is essential for the discharge of his responsibility for the subject, and thereupon the Bill is deemed to have been passed. A measure, so passed, must ordinarily be reserved for the signification of His Majesty's pleasure, though, where, in the opinion of the Governor-General, a state of emergency justifies such action, he may immediately signify his assent and the Act will come into force subject to subsequent disallowance by His Majesty in Council; and Act passed under these provisions must be laid before both Houses of Parliament. It is further open to the Governor, or the Governor-General, when a Bill has been passed by the Legislative Council, to withhold his assent; or the Governor may, instead of declaring that he assents to, or withholds his assent from the Bill, return the Bill to the Council for reconsideration, in whole or in part, together with any amendments which he may recommend; or, in certain cases for which provision is made in the rules, he may, or must, reserve the Bill for the consideration of the Governor-General. A Bill so reserved, if it does not receive the assent of the Governor-General within six months, lapses unless within that period the Governor has returned, or notified his intention to return it, to the Council for further consideration.

Financial procedure.—The annual budget of the province is presented to the Council yearly on a day appointed by the Governor. There are two stages in the passage of the financial programme—a general discussion and the voting of demands for grants. But the following heads of expenditure are not subject to submission to the vote of the Council:—

- (a) contributions payable by the Local Government to the Governor-General-in-Council;
- (b) interest and sinking fund charges on loans;
- (c) expenditure, the amount of which is prescribed by law;
- (d) salaries or pensions of persons, appointed by or with the approval of, His Majesty or by the Secretary of State in Council; and
- (e) salaries of the High Court Judges and of the Advocate-General.

Normally, a separate demand made in respect of the grant is required for each department, but the Finance Member may unite the grants of two or more departments in one demand. On the appointed day, a motion for the granting of each demand is made by the responsible Member of Council or Minister. The members of the Legislative Council are then free to bring forward motions for the omission or reduction of a grant; but it is not open to them to move for the increase of any grant or for the alteration of its destination. There is statutory provision for excess grants and for supplementary grants. As in the case of ordinary legislation, the Governor has power to carry through demands in respect of reserved subjects, when he is of opinion that such expenditure is essential for the proper discharge of his responsibilities, and in the case of all subjects, to enforce such expenditure as he considers essential for the safety of the province.

Resolutions.—Members have a right to move resolutions on matters of general public importance for which fifteen days' notice must be given. Every resolution must be in the form of a recommendation to the Government, and no resolution may be moved on matters affecting relations with foreign States, relations with, or the administration of, Princes or Chiefs under the suzerainty of His Majesty, or on any matter which is subjudice. The Governor may disallow any resolution, before it is placed on the agenda, on the ground that the public interests would suffer thereby, or that it relates to a matter which is not primarily the concern of the Local Government. The standing orders of the Council forbid the moving of a resolution which covers the same ground as a previous resolution of the same session.

Questions.—On giving seven days' notice, a member may put a question on any matter of public concern, with the object of obtaining information from the member of the Government within whose special cognizance the subject-matter lies. The limitations on resolutions mentioned above, apply equally to questions, and questions regarding controversies with higher authorities and the answers thereto, are confined to matter and statements of fact. Any member who is dissatisfied with the answer given to his own or another member's question may follow up the question with supplementary questions.

Motion for adjournment.—It is open to any member to move for the adjournment of the business of the council for the purpose of the discussion of a definite matter of urgent public importance. But the Governor may disallow such a motion on any of the grounds mentioned in the case of resolutions.

Education.—Public Instruction is controlled by the Educational Department of Government. The control which Government exercise over the University of Madras is very slight and consists chiefly, in an annual audit of accounts and in the statutory rule whereby all changes in the bye-laws of the University have to receive the sanction of the Governor-in-Council. Colleges may be affiliated to the university in compliance with certain regulations. Certain institutions are maintained and managed by Government directly; they include at present 10 Colleges for general Education and 9 Colleges for special branches of Education, of which 4 are not under the Educational Department, 36 secondary schools, 789 Primary Schools and 89 Training Schools for special Education. Other institutions are aided by Government by money grants for various purposes under prescribed conditions. Government, local boards and municipalities make grants in-aid to 3,62,22,839 schools, respectively, of the secondary and primary grade and to 201 other institutions under private management. Local boards and municipalities maintain in addition 2 colleges, 194 secondary schools and 9,708 elementary schools. Over these schools Government exercise considerable control by their scrutiny and sanction of the budgets of local bodies; the budget grants are made on the recommendation of the officers of the Educational Department. District boards and municipalities are subsidised by Government for the maintenance of secondary schools under their control, the net cost of those opened in 1918 and subsequent years being fully or partly met from Provincial Funds. The Madras Elementary Education Act of 1920 requires taluk boards and municipalities to constitute "Elementary Education Funds" under their control and the Budget estimate relating to such funds are subject to the approval of the Local Government. The Government further grant secondary school leaving certificates to pupils of recognized schools, i.e., schools which are managed in accordance with certain conditions laid down by Government. The Government notify from time to time the text books which may be used in aided and recognized institutions. Scholarships are awarded annually by Government in recognized schools and colleges, some of them being reserved for females or members of the backward classes. In order to maintain a supply of competent teachers, Government maintain 89 training schools and 3 training colleges for teachers, grant stipends to a large number of their students and, after examination, issue teaching certificates; the staff of a recognized or aided schools must consist of teachers holding such certificates or having some equivalent professional qualifications. There are 20 training schools for masters and 15 for mistresses under private (mission) management. Sex does not affect a candidate's eligibility to appear for the public and University Examination, and women can obtain degrees on the same terms as men; girls may, as girls; only 4 colleges for women are affiliated to the University. The education of backward and indigent classes is specially encouraged by the maintenance of schools and the grant of assistance in money to schools for such classes under private management at increased rates and on conditions tenacious of technical colleges affiliated to the University, by a system of technical examinations, by the inclusion in the secondary school-leaving certificate scheme of technical subjects and by the award of scholarships to be held in technical schools and colleges. In elementary schools the pupils are usually taught in their own vernacular, but English is the medium of instruction and examination in the high school departments of all high schools except a few vernacular high schools for girls and in all colleges affiliated to the University. Physical education is practically compulsory in all recognized schools. Four classes for the training of physical training instructors are maintained 2 by Government and 2 by aided high schools. The examinations for the higher grade teachers' certificates include questions on moral training. Religious instruction is not included in any of the prescribed courses of instruction; but while Government does not provide religious instruction in its own institutions with the exception of the Madras-i-Azam, teachers in recognized schools may impart religious instruction at any time provided that secular instruction is given for the prescribed number of hours.

The Director of Public Instruction is the head of the Educational Department. The department is broadly divided into (a) the superior service and (b) the subordinate service. The former consists of the Indian Educational Service and the Madras Educational Service. The Indian Educational Service consists of 66 posts, 13 of which are included in the Women's Branch. These posts are filled by persons appointed in England or in India with the approval of the Secretary of State. The Madras Educational Service consists of 62 posts, 19 of which are included in the Women's Branch. These posts are filled by recruitment in India. There are also certain special posts, not included in the Indian Educational Service but recruited from England, and others not included in the Madras Educational Service to which appointments are made by the Local Government. The pay of officers in the Indian Educational Service ranges from Rs. 400 to Rs. 1,755 per mensem, with allowances in special cases, while that of persons in the Women's Branch ranges from Rs. 400 to Rs. 1,050. In the Madras Educational Service the minimum and maximum pay are Rs. 250 and Rs. 800 and in the Women's Branch Rs. 200 and Rs. 600.

For the purpose of the administration of the education of boys the Presidency is divided into 16 circles and for that of girls into 5 circles, each of which is under an Inspector or Inspectress of schools. There is an Inspector of European Schools belonging to the Indian Educational Service with provincial assistant Inspectors and Inspectresses who are members of the Madras Educational Service. Where Inspector's circles include more than one district, each district has an assistant Inspector. Under these are 181 sub-assistant inspectors; there are also 14 sub-assistant inspectors of Muhammadan and Mappilla schools and one sub-assistant Inspector for Bangalore. There are one Superintendent and 2 supervisors of Sanskrit Schools. For the supervision of Girls' Schools there are 3 provincial assistant inspectresses and 18 sub-assistants of the subordinate service. Except in the Agency and in connection with Sanskrit schools, the cadre of supervisors of boys' elementary schools was recently abolished. An adviser with an assistant and 3 touring demonstrators supervise physical training.

The Text-book Committee was appointed to take into consideration such books as may be referred to it by the Director of Public Instruction and to advise him on their suitability, to advise the Educational Department on the steps to be taken for the preparation and publication of new text-books when necessary and to help in forming under the control of the Director of Public Instruction (1) an educational library containing copies of all text-books approved from time to time by the department, copies of text-books approved or prescribed in other provinces of India and in other countries and copies of works on the theory, practice and history of education and (2) an educational museum containing plans and models of school buildings and specimens of maps, diagrams apparatus and appliances suitable for schools. The committee consists of 40 members appointed by the Director of Public Instruction, who is the ex-officio president. The committee submits, half-yearly, to the Director, a list of books considered, with its recommendations. The Director publishes lists of books approved for use in institutions under public management and approved for use in recognized institutions under private management.

Educational institutions are classified independently in three ways. First they are classified as private institutions and public institutions. All indigenous schools which have not accepted the departmental standard of instruction and all others in which the course of instruction, however advanced does not conform to the standards prescribed or accepted by the University or by the department are private institutions. Public institutions include all other institutions. Whether under public management (i.e., managed by Government, by local boards or by municipalities or under private management; the latter may be either aided by Government, by local boards or by municipalities or financially independent.

Schools not managed by Government are divided into "recognized" and "unrecognized." The conditions of recognition (vide the Madras Educational Rules) deal with the general educational qualifications of the staff, the prohibition of political activities among managers, teachers and pupils, the proportion of teachers to pupils, the accommodation and appliances, sanitary inspection, fees, the admission, promotion and withdrawal of pupils, discipline and registers.

Secondly, public institutions are classified, according to the standard of instruction provided into elementary schools (lower and higher), secondary schools, special schools (art, law, etc.), arts colleges (second grade and first grade) affiliated to the University of Madras and professional colleges law (etc.) also affiliated to the University. In second grade colleges the highest instruction is that required for the intermediate examination in arts and science, while in first grade colleges students are educated for the B.A., Honours degree, or pass examination. In each of the professional colleges instruction or the corresponding degree examination is given.

Lastly, schools may be divided into "English" and "Vernacular." English schools include all schools in which English is used as the general medium of instruction either throughout the schools or in one or more of the higher classes or forms. Other schools are vernacular schools.

Examinations are held annually to test the teaching qualifications of the candidates and certificates are granted on the results of these examinations. They are of three kinds:—general teachers' certificates, of ability to teach the subjects that are ordinarily contained in the curricula of schools for general instructions; technical teachers certificates, certificates of ability to teach in any one of the subjects included in the Government Technical Examinations scheme; and physical training instructors' certificates. Teachers' certificates are of three grades.—Collegiate, granted only to persons who have taken the degree of Licentiate in Teaching in the University, secondary and elementary. There are two grades of technical teachers' certificates, namely, lower and higher. In each grade, certificates are divided into first and second classes. Examinations for secondary and elementary certificates are held at different centres by the Commissioner for Government Examinations. The examination for the teachers' certificates comprises a written test in pedagogy for the secondary grade and in some subjects of general education also for the elementary grade. Successful candidates are called probationary certificated teachers. After not less than 18 months of satisfactory teaching work in a recognized school probationers are if suitable, confirmed after a further test. No candidate is admitted to the test for a technical teachers' certificate unless he has passed the lower and higher technical examination, as the case may be, in the subject in which he desires to be tested or an equivalent examination. The nature of the examination varies with the subject, but must include a practical test in teaching a class in the subject.

Training institutions are divided into three classes, training colleges and secondary and elementary training schools, according to the grade of teachers' certificate for which the pupils are trained. In addition to the college at Suidapet and Rajahmundry, Government maintain at present 29 training schools for masters, 15 training schools for mistresses, and 2 for physical training instruction. Government also maintain in full the L. T. Class attached to the St. Joseph's College, Trichinopoly and aided secondary training classes attached to the Pithapur Raja's College, Cocanada, C. M. S. Noble College, Masulipatam, S. P. G. High School, Nandyal and Thirupathi High School, Ambasamudram. Local boards from time to time run seasonal schools for sessions of a few months; teachers specially appointed for this work move from place to place, their object being to improve the general education of local teachers who have not secured the secondary school leaving certificate and not to give instruction in the theory and art of teaching. Students from the Madras Presidency are admitted to the Government training institutions free; but outsiders are called upon to pay fees. A course usually occupies two years, but for the L. T. degree it occupies only one year. Stipends are granted by Government to the great majority of the students. Local Boards also may grant stipends.

Schools are classified, according to the aims and character of the instruction given in them into secondary and elementary. Secondary schools prepare their pupils for the University and for professional, commercial and industrial careers. Elementary schools aim more at providing a foundation of general useful knowledge than at preparing children specially for a course of secondary education; but the education in the three lowest standards is such as to constitute a common foundation for both elementary and secondary education. A much higher standard of staff, buildings and equipment is expected of secondary than of elementary schools and the fees are correspondingly higher.

This simplification of classification and the change in the relations between the secondary and elementary schools have made public examinations marking the transition from one grade of education to another unnecessary and the old primary and lower and upper secondary examinations have been abolished. The University matriculation examination is still held, but the schools have universally taken up the secondary school-leaving certificate scheme, and the number of candidates for matriculation from this Presidency has become negligible.

The need for school leaving certificates as evidence of a course of education having been satisfactorily accomplished was, however, recognized. These certificates are of two grades; elementary and secondary. The first are granted on the result of an examination in the ordinary school subjects held in the elementary schools itself by an officer not lower in rank than a sub-assistant inspector. The second are granted by a board of which the Director is the president in accordance with the following scheme. The list of subjects includes all those now studied in schools and any others which seem useful.

With a view to enabling pupils of promise to prosecute their studies, the Government award certain scholarships annually. Particulars regarding them are published annually in the Fort St. George Gazette.

Special scholarships, tenable for one year, are awarded to deserving Mappilla pupils in the Ernad and Walluvanad Taluks in Malabar with a view to subduing, by the spread of education, the ignorant fanaticism of the masses of this community. General scholarships are awarded annually to pupils reading in the higher standards of elementary schools. Special scholarships are given to encourage the education of the children of aboriginal, backward and criminal tribes and classes such as the Koyas, Savaras, Valayas and Koravars; Muhammadans and Adi-Dravidas and Adi-Andhras in secondary schools also have their allotted scholarships. Industrial Schools are under the control of the Director of Industries. There are 41 aided institutions providing instruction to persons of both sexes in various industrial subjects. These institutions are scattered throughout the Presidency and are under the immediate charge of special inspectors. In addition to the aided institutions, there are four Government institutions, three of which are situated in Madras and the fourth at Madura. The Madras Trades School aims at supplying the industrial public with intelligent and skilled mechanics, electricians and plumbers equipped with a sound theoretical and practical training. Admission to the school is restricted to bona fide apprentices and workmen who are actually engaged in the trade which they wish to study.

Technical examinations are held annually under the control of the Commissioner of Government Examinations in 83 subjects under the following heads:—civil engineering, mechanical engineering, electrical engineering, physical sciences, geology, biology, sanitary science, pharmacy, tertiary science, commerce, vernacular shorthand, drawing, jeweler's work, printing, book-binding, type-founding, leather work, textile fabrics, glass and pottery, tailoring and dress-making cookery.

With a view to providing facilities to men of suitable age and skill possessing exceptional talent in any branch of industry and who seem likely to add considerably to their usefulness by a special training in Europe, eight State Technical Scholarships of the value of £ 200 plus 25 per cent. bonus have been instituted. These scholarships are awarded for not less than two nor more than five years. The nominations are made by a Board specially constituted for the purpose. Fifteen scholarships of the value of Rs. 60 per mensem tenable at the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore, have been instituted with a view to providing adequate facilities for the technical training of intending chemists. The scholarships are awarded for study in the departments of applied chemistry, bio-chemistry and electrical technology. Six scholarships per annum of the monthly value of Rs. 60 tenable at the Victoria Institute, Bombay, are awarded to students of this presidency. The minimum educational qualifications required of the applicants is a completed Secondary School-leaving Certificate. The scholarships are tenable for a period of four years, and are awarded for the study of applied chemistry, sanitary engineering, and plumbing, and textile manufacture. Sixty scholarships tenable for five years are awarded annually by the Director of Industries to pupils learning a trade or profession in recognized industrial schools, or to selected apprentices (boys or girls) serving properly arranged apprenticeship for a specified term of training in workshops or mills where suitable provision is made for class instruction. The aim of these scholarships is to encourage deserving apprentices and pupils to complete their whole apprenticeship or period of training at one institution or workshop and so to some extent to check the present tendency of apprentices to move from workshop to workshop in search of a few annas increase in wages to the detriment of their training and the autonomy of their employers. These scholarships which are ordinarily awarded to the members of the artisan class or to others whose families are already engaged in the trade, rise in value from Re. 1-8-0 in the first year to Rs. 7-8-0 in the fifth year and a yearly bonus is given for good work.

The Local Government exerts considerable influence over education not only directly by the maintenance of institutions from provincial funds and by the exercise of the extensive powers of control vested in them over local boards and municipal councils by the Acts relating to those bodies, but also indirectly by making grants to managers of institutions under private management on condition of compliance with certain regulations and by allowing local boards and municipal council to make similar grants towards the cost of maintenance of elementary schools on the recommendation of officers of the Educational Department. If aid is sought on behalf of an institution, the conditions of recognition must be fulfilled unless the institution has been exempted from their operation. The recognition of secondary schools vests in the Director of Public Instruction, while the recognition of elementary schools vests in the District Educational Councils formed under the Madras Elementary Education Act. Text-Books which are not included in the authorised list of text-books may not be used in aided institutions without the express sanction of the Director. The whole income of an aided school must be devoted to educational purposes.

The systems of distributing grants differ in elementary schools for Indians, secondary schools for Indians, colleges and special schools and European schools. Teaching grants in elementary schools are given on the basis of the number of teachers and vary according to the grade of instruction given and the teachers' qualifications. The grants may be reduced or suspended in cases where there has been falsification of the registers or misrepresentation regarding the employment of teachers or the attendance of the pupils, or violation of any of the conditions of recognition and aid or any other irregularity. They may also be increased by 50 per cent. for any improvement in efficiency, more especially for the introduction of any method of teaching calculated to train the children's faculties and powers of expression and observation, proper attention to physical exercise and generally any attempt to fit the children to their position in life and diminished by 50 per cent. for inefficiency. These grants are paid by District Educational Councils out of funds placed at their disposal by Government.

In secondary schools teaching grants are intended to supplement equally the income guaranteed from endowments, subscriptions, donations and other private sources and in practice the sum assigned usually amounts to half the net cost of the schools, excluding expenditure on account of which grants can otherwise be given, such as on new building, furniture and apparatus, and assuming that fees are received from all pupils at rate fixed by government and called the Standard rates.

The grants for colleges and special schools are fixed by the Director after taking into consideration all the facts of the case.

Grants for European schools are fixed for three years by the Director on general considerations. Grants are also made towards stipends, to managers of training institutions, to students in technical schools, for the maintenance of European children, for school buildings, for hostels or boarding houses for students for furniture, books and appliances required for schools public libraries and reading rooms. In many cases the amount of grants depends on the sums contributed by managers of institutions or private persons. Full details regarding grants will be found in the Grant-in-Aid Code.

The Law College, Madras is at present the only educational institution in the Presidency which affords facilities for the study of law. It was founded in 1891 as it was found that the law classes formerly attached to the Presidency College were unwieldy and the course of instruction was inadequate. The ostensible aim of the College is instruction in the theory of law; practically it is intended to afford instruction to students preparing for the various examinations in law. It is affiliated to the Madras University. The rules regulating its constitution and working are sanctioned by the Local Government. The staff has been reorganized with effect from the beginning of 1925. The general management of the college is vested in a council, subject to the general control of the Director of Public Instruction; the council consists of two or more Judges of the High Court, the Principal, the Advocate-General, two professors and such other members as may be appointed by Government; the executive management of the College is vested in the Principal who is independent of the council in all matters of discipline. The college contains three kinds of classes; (1) M. L. classes; (2) B. L. classes; (3) Special classes for students attending the college but not preparing for the University or Flandership Examinations. Fees are levied at half rates for Muhammadans and Oriyas. There are three terms in a year. Lending and consulting libraries are attached to the college.

The Medical School established by Government in 1835 became a college in 1851. The control of the college was transferred in 1855 from the Medical Board to the Director of Public Instruction and in 1911, from him, to the Surgeon-General; in 1857 the College was affiliated to the University of Madras. The control of the college is, subject to the general control of Surgeon-General, now vested in the Principal, who is aided by a consultative council composed of all the professors and of any other members who may be appointed by Government. The staff consist of a principal, twelve professors, two lecturers, twenty-three assistant professors and a physical training instructor. The college contains four department. (i) the college department, in which students are prepared for the M. B. & B. S. and the L. M. & S. degrees; (ii) the Assistant Surgeons' department consisting only of military pupils selected by the Director-General, Indian Medical Service, for qualifying as military Assistant Surgeons and of female pupils; (iii) the Chemist and Druggist department; and (iv) the Sanitary Inspector's department. Attendance at the lectures given in the Medical College is recognized in Great Britain as partial qualification for degrees and diplomas granted in that country. Numerous scholarships, medals and prizes are awarded to students of the college. Museums, a library and a gymnasium are attached to the college. Students have also the advantage of attending classes held in the General Hospital, the Ophthalmic Hospital, the Maternity Hospital and the Mental Hospital. A Second Medical College has recently been established at Vizagapatam.

In the year 1876 a School of Agriculture was established at Saidapet. Prior to this date instruction of an elementary character had been given to a few apprentices. In 1878 the name of the institution was changed into that of "Agricultural College." The principal of the college was then also the Superintendent of the Government Farm at Saidapet. The educational side of his work was controlled by the Director of Public Instruction, while his practical administration was under the control of the Board of Revenue. In 1885 the farm was abolished and the college came under the sole control of the Educational Department. The growth of agricultural science and research led to the moving of the college to its present site at Coimbatore in 1906; the first batch of students entered the college in June 1908 and diplomas were first awarded in March 1911. Attached to the college are a hostel for students and quarters for the staff. The general farm and college estate occupy about 500 acres, of which about 840 acres are under cultivation. In addition to ordinary farm buildings there are a dairy workshop and a veterinary hospital, and three plant breeding stations for cotton, paddy and sugarcane. The responsibility for the discipline and management of the college is vested in the Principal subject to the control of the Director of Agriculture. There are a number of scientific sections of an instructional or scientific nature in the college, each in charge of a member of the Indian Agricultural Service under the direct control of the Director of Agriculture. The instruction given at the college, is designed to be a practical and scientific training for those who intend to make agriculture their profession. The college was affiliated to Madras University early in 1922 when the University degree of B. Sc. Ag. was instituted. The courses of instruction provided are (1) a two year's course of a practical nature in which scientific instruction, as such, plays no part; a certificate proficiency is awarded to competent students and (2) a three years' course leading up to the degree of B. Sc. (Ag.) in which a thorough training in the practice and theory of scientific agriculture is given. Students are required to have passed completely the intermediate examination in arts of the Madras University and should be qualified in group I or II. Free tuition and lodging are given to students of the Presidency and of Coorg. A certain number of Government scholarships of the value of Rs. 25 per mensem are offered to students entering the degree course and there is one private scholarship of Rs. 110 per annum for which students from Malabar are eligible. Successful students have the prospect of employment, as managers or agents to Zamindars, planters and estate owners and in the Government Agricultural Department.

In 1908 the Veterinary College at Vepery, Madras, was instituted, in connection with the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals infirmary, to meet the pressing demand for subordinates trained in veterinary duties. The College affords theoretical and practical instruction with the object of training men for service under Government, municipalities, local boards or private employers. The present staff of the college consists of a principal, two other Imperial officers an assistant principal, three lecturers and two assistant lecturers. The responsibility for the discipline and management of the college is vested in the principal who is under the direct control of Government in the development Department. A veterinary hospital, a bacteriological laboratory, a shoeing forge and a hostel are attached to the College. The age limits for admission to the college are from 18 to 22 years. Except in the case of Europeans and Anglo-Indians, educational qualifications of a school final examination standard are demanded. All students are on probation for the first two months of the three years' course. During the first year students are given practical instruction in nursing, dressing, handling, casting and securing animals as well as in the names of the instruments and appliances used in ordinary practice. In the second year they attend hospital practice and receive clinical instruction. They also attend at the forge and pharmacy, carry out dissections and perform operations on dead subjects. During the third year they perform the duties of clinical clerks and dressers, perform operations on dead subjects and afterwards on living animals, conduct post-mortem examinations and carry out practically all the duties appertaining to their profession. The tuition is free to all students who execute an agreement binding themselves to serve Government for five years, if required, after completing their course in the college satisfactorily. All others are required to pay tuition fees in advance at the rate of Rs. 400 per annum. Forty students are admitted to the college each year and all are awarded scholarships; five of the forty scholarships are reserved for Muhammadans. Students who are in the enjoyment of Government scholarship are required to refund the amount they have received as stipends and to pay tuition fees if they leave the college without sanction or are expelled for misconduct. A diploma of graduation in veterinary science is awarded to students who pass the final examination on the completion of their course. Graduates of the college are eligible for appointment to posts in the Provincial and subordinate services in this Presidency, but Government are under no obligation to find employment for them.

The Engineering College at Guindy, Madras, established in the year 1794 as a Survey School developed into a Civil Engineering College in 1857. It received official recognition in 1886 and was affiliated to the Madras University in 1877. It affords theoretical and practical instruction in the professional duties of engineers and subordinate engineers. The responsibility for the discipline and management of the college is vested in the principal, under the control of the Director of Public Instruction. The full staff consists of a principal, six professors, a number of instructors and assistants who are recruited from the cadre of the Department of Public Works, a workshop instructor and an instructor in physical training. The college contains two classes, a five years' Engineer class for training civil and mechanical engineers and a four years' course subordinate class for training subordinates for the Public Works Department, Revenue Department, Local Boards and Municipalities. Casual students are also admitted to the Engineer class. Students in the higher course of engineering are prepared for the B. E. degree examination of the Madras University. Government awards scholarships tenable in the college and there are also certain endowed scholarships. Some of the students of the engineering class who proceed to the Perambur Workshops of the Madras Southern Maharashtra Railway, the central power station of the Madras Electric Supply Corporation, the Madras Harbour Works, or the Madras water-supply and drainage works, receive a refund of half the premium charged, if their subsequent work gives satisfaction. Four stipends are awarded annually to persons to be trained as teachers in technical or industrial schools. On his successful completion of a course in either of the two classes a student is granted a diploma, and this diploma gives him a prior claim to certain appointments in the Public Works Department and under Local Boards.

The Teachers' College, established as the Government Normal School in 1858, was converted into a college and affiliated to the University in 1886. The staff consists of a principal, a vice-principal, five lecturers and instructors for manual training, drawing and physical training and a number of assistants. The College is intended primarily for the training of graduate teachers from the Presidency, but if accommodation is available students from Native States are admitted. A secondary training class is attached to the college. The students, who receive stipends from Government ranging from Rs. 14 to Rs. 20 per mensem, according to their qualifications, are trained for the L. T. degree examination of the Madras University. Instruction is also given to the students in physical training, drawing and manual training and they may appear for public examinations in these subjects. A model school of the secondary standard is attached to the college and as an independent staff of teachers. There is also a kindergarten department presided over by an European Lady. The college has a large library and an educational museum. Connected with the college are a Teachers' Association, of which all the students are members, a reading room, recreation club and a hostel. The college accommodation is extensive and is provided with a well-equipped laboratory for physical and natural science.

The Training College, Rajahmundry which was abolished in 1911, was reopened in 1917 with a view to providing for the training of graduate teachers in Telugu districts. The staff consists of a principal, a junior professor of education, three lecturers and instructors in drawing and physical and manual training. The college prepares students for the L. T. degree examination but has not been affiliated to the University. Attached to the College are a model school of the secondary standard, with an independent staff of teachers and a secondary training section.

In the year 1856 Sir Henry Lawrence, K.C.B., offered a donation of Rs. 5,000 and a subscription of Rs. 1,000 a year, so long as he might be in India, for the establishment at some hill station in the Presidency of an institution on the lines of the Lawrence Asylums of Sonawar and at Mount Abu, for the benefit of children of Soldiers of the British Army who were serving or had served in Madras. The Lawrence Asylum was accordingly established in 1853 at Ootacamund with the aid of the foundation money and of subscriptions raised in the army and in England. It was amalgamated with the Madras Military Male Orphan Asylum in 1871 on the completion of new buildings at Lovedale near Ootacamund. Though the Asylum does not belong to Government, it is largely controlled by Government, who have sanctioned, a code of rules relating to its management and constitution and two fixed annual grants-in-aid amounting to Rs. 54,000. The institution consists of branches for boys and for girls, the maximum strength of the branches, being 300 and 185. It is intended for European and Eurasian children especially the orphan children of Military Officers and soldiers. The management of the Asylum is vested in a committee of which the General Officer Commanding, Madras

District is ex-officio chairman and the principal is ordinarily the secretary. The staff consists of a principal, a headmaster in the branch for boys, headmistress in the branch for girls and several assistant teachers in each branch. Instruction in literary subjects is given to boys, up to the standard of the European schools' high school examination, but, only such pupils, as would clearly benefit by a High School education are allowed to go beyond the middle school. Instruction is also given in technical subjects such as shorthand, typewriting and telegraphy and special classes are held for pupils preparing for the medical and railway examinations. Religious instruction of a non-sectarian character is given, but visits from clergymen of the various denominations are permitted. Scholarships are awarded to pupils of promise to enable them to complete a course in arts or a technical college or industrial training in some well-known firm or institution. Stipends are also given to girls to enable them to be trained as teachers.

No person can be appointed in this Presidency to a Government post carrying a salary of Rs. 35 per mensem in the mofussil or Rs. 40 per mensem in Madras City or more, unless he has passed with success through the secondary stage of education. Government accept as evidence of this standard, pass in the matriculation examination of any Indian University, in a school final examination, in the European schools, high school examination, or, in certain examinations held in Great Britain, or a Madras secondary school leaving certificate showing knowledge in English, elementary mathematics and vernacular composition and translation and in at least one of the other subjects selected by the candidate. Persons in the public service have to pass certain special tests before they can hold some of the higher appointments; these include translation, accounts, civil judicial, criminal judicial, revenue and jail tests.

For the conduct of examinations held by Government, the office of Commissioner for the Unconvenanted Civil Service examinations; or as the office is now called, Commissioner for Government Examinations, was instituted in 1860. It was entrusted at first to the Director of Public Instruction, subsequently to a member of the Board of Revenue, and finally in 1889 to the Director of Public Instruction. Examiners are appointed by the Commissioner and are paid out of the fees realized from the candidates. Most of the examinations prescribed for entry into or promotion in the various departments of the public service are conducted by the Commissioner. The examinations are held at a large number of centres in the Presidency, and in some cases in the Native States.

The junior officers of the various Government departments are required to pass tests in such subject as languages, law, and departmental rules, and high proficiency in the vernacular is encouraged by the granting of rewards after examination. To conduct these examinations, the Board of Examiners has been constituted and the president selects examiners from the Board. The present Board consists of a president who is usually a member of the Board of Revenue, certain ex-officio members, and a varying number of special members appointed by Government from time to time. The present Board consists of Inspector-General of Police, certain Conservators of Forests, the Chief Presidency Magistrate, Professor of Medical Jurisprudence in the Medical College, the Registrar of the High Court and the Translators to Government are ex-officio members of the Board. The Officers, who are examined by the Board include members of the Indian Civil Service, Police Officers, Forest Officers, Cantonment Magistrates, Officers of the Provincial Service, Officers of the Agricultural, Veterinary and Fishery Departments, European and Anglo-Indian Officers of the Educational Department, and European and Anglo-Indian Officers of other Civil Departments in the Presidency. Military Officers including commissioned Medical Officers who are District Medical and Sanitary Officers are examined only in the Vernacular languages. Ladies related to European Officers in the employment of Government, the railways, the Imperial Bank of India and certain firms are eligible for examination in the vernacular languages and for the rewards granted for proficiency. The examinations are usually held twice a year (in January and July at Madras, but may, in some cases, be held simultaneously at other centres). The test for Officers of the Salt and Customs Departments are also conducted by this Board through examiners appointed from the department.

Town-planning.—Under Section 7 of the Town-planning Act, 1920, Government appointed a Director of Town planning with effect from December 1921, to advise the Government and direct and assist the several local bodies, viz. (Municipalities), District, Taluk and Union Boards, on all matters concerning Town-planning and improvement schemes and housing schemes for the poor and working classes. He is to investigate and report from time to time; on Town-planning projects in the Presidency. He is to guide the Municipalities in the preparation of an important report the (Civil Survey). He is assisted by another provincial officer with high engineering qualifications who is designated as Personal Assistant.

MADRAS PRESIDENCY IN 1932.

His Excellency Lieutenant-Colonel the Right Hon'ble Sir George Frederick Stanley, K.C., M.C., was Governor. There was no change in the Executive Council, and the Hon'ble Khan Bahadur Sir Mahomed Usman Sahib Bahadur, K.C., M.C., was Vice-President.

His Excellency accepted the resignation of their offices of Minister tendered by Mr. P. T. Rajan, Diwan Bahadur S. Kumaraswami Reddiyar and Diwan Bahadur B. Muniswami Nayudu. The Hon'ble the Raja of Bobbili, was appointed Minister and the first two were reappointed Ministers.

The effects of the economic depression pervaded the province in common with the rest of the world, and the course of trade and finance has experienced the same vicissitudes as in other countries. The agricultural season was favourable, and public health was better than it had ever been. After heavy falls in the two previous years the total value of the foreign trade in the first eleven months of 1932 was practically unchanged from the corresponding period in 1931. Although this was due largely to abnormal exports of gold, the figures of trade contained hopeful features, such as a revival in traffic in some important articles of merchandise and an all-round increase in the coasting trade. There was an increase in the number of new companies registered and in the amount of their capital, indicating, possibly, a greater fluidity in the money market. The two most hopeful features are, however, the quieter internal conditions and the satisfactory state of public finances. The Government were obliged to take measures of retrenchment in order to secure their finances.

Throughout the year the prices of food-grains remained at a very low level, and the contraction of credit, which had become marked in 1931, continued. But the shortage of ready money among agriculturists was not so serious as to cause any difficulty in the collection of land revenue. In the district of Bellary, however, where the north-east monsoon of 1931 had been a failure, there were indications at the beginning of the year that some distress was to be expected among the agricultural population. In the early months relief was afforded by the expansion of road and water-supply works under the direction of the District Board with special allotments from the Government. The Government sanctioned the remission and suspension of revenue for the current and previous fisals in the areas affected and postponed the collection of loans advanced under the Loans Acts. By the month of May the situation had so developed that it was decided to open test works under the Famine Code; seven such works were opened and they attracted a large number of agricultural labourers. Further serious developments were averted by favourable rains in July and August, and with the continuance of rains in September the necessity for test works disappeared, the last work being closed on the last day of September.

After an early but temporary advance in the second half of May the south-west monsoon strengthened at the beginning of July and brought heavy rains in the West Coast and considerable falls in the Circars. In the second half of August thunderstorms brought general rain throughout the Presidency. Although the total rain from June to September was below the average for all the districts except West Godavari, Bellary, Coimbatore, Trichinopoly, and the South (except Tanjore) the early setting in of the monsoon resulted in a favourable season. The total extent both under dry crops and wet crops was considerably above the average and the previous year's extent.

The north-east monsoon was ushered in by unusually heavy thunderstorms, especially on the West Coast and in the Central and Southern districts. The rainfall was above the average throughout the Presidency except in Kurnool, Cuddapah, Nellore and Chittoor. At the close of the year agricultural prospects were satisfactory.

The heavy rains in the last week of November caused floods in various parts of the Tanjore district. A number of tanks and channels were breached and a considerable extent of wet land was submerged but no serious loss of crops resulted. Breaches in the District Board railway line occurred at several places but the damage was soon repaired.

The Legislative Council sat on thirty days during the year. Twenty-one days were allotted for official business and nine for non-official business.

Five official bills were passed during the year. The Madras Local Boards (Amendment) Act provided for the continuance of the existing district boards without altering the limits of their jurisdiction in spite of certain alterations in the limits of revenue districts which were contemplated by Government as a measure of retrenchment. It also permitted the constitution in special circumstances of a district board for two or more revenue taluks of a district. The object of the Madras Cotton Control Act was to maintain the quality and reputation of the cotton grown in the Presidency by preventing the cultivation of the "pulichai" variety, whose admixture with other cotton has injurious effects. The Local Government was empowered to prohibit by notification the cultivation of, or trade in, "pulichai" cotton in any specified local area and for any specified period. The Madras Motor Vehicles Taxation (Amendment) Act was passed to facilitate the prompt collection of the tax imposed on motor-vehicles by the original Act. With this object in view, public officers were empowered to stop motor-vehicles for the purpose of verifying whether they had been licensed. The Act also, among other provisions, made failure to exhibit the licence in a conspicuous place on the vehicle a punishable offence. The Madras Co-operative Societies Act embodied the suggestions of the Townsend Committee on Co-operation which had been appointed by the Government of Madras in September 1927. It is a consolidating and amending Act and during its passage through the Legislative Council was scrutinized by a representative select committee consisting of as many as fifty-nine members of the Council. The Madras Services Commission (Amendment) Act vested the power of appointing and removing members of the Madras Services Commission in the Governor instead of in the Local Government as before. It also made members of the Commission ineligible for any other appointment than membership of the All-India Public Services Commission or any other Public Services Commission established under the Act.

Among non-official bills the Madras Medical Registration (Amendment) Act, became law. This Act removed the disability against a registered practitioner associating himself in a professional capacity with a qualified practitioner of Indian medicine.

There were eleven notices of motions for the adjournment of the business of the Council for the purpose of discussing matters of urgent public importance. Leave was given for two of these notices and one of them dealing with the question of the high rate of water-cess levied in Tanjore districts was carried, while the second motion regarding the policy of the Government in using force against picketers was talked out. Among non-official motions on matters of general public interest discussed in the Council was one urging the Government to take measures for the removal of disabilities imposed by usage on certain classes of the Hindu community in regard to admission into Hindu temples. It was passed unanimously, official members remaining neutral. Seven hundred and twenty-four motions on the budget were tabled, of which 36 were discussed, but none of them was carried. The number of questions received was 1,155, 1073 being starred questions. Of these, 896 questions were answered in Council.

In the Police Department a special staff was appointed in Madras City to assist in the collection of taxes under the Motor Vehicles Taxation Act. Crime decreased both in Madras City and in the districts. Murders, housebreakings, thefts and cattle-thefts all decreased, while cases of dacoity and robbery increased in number. More use was made of the security sections of the Criminal Procedure Code and cases under these sections increased by 7.33 per cent. Serious communal riots occurred at nineteen different places in the Presidency. There were also two disturbances due to Congress picketing, while agrarian disturbances took place in three estates. In all these cases the police rose to the occasion satisfactorily. In Madras City the Madras Suppression of Immoral Traffic Act, 1930, came into force on the 1st of April 1932. A number of brothels were raided and the inmates rescued. There was an outbreak of incendiarism in the city directed against foreign cloth shops and Post Office pillar boxes.

A number of labour disputes occurred during the year, of which the chief was the strike in the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway Workshops at Perambur and Arakonam. None of the disputes were marked by disorder or violence.

In Madras seven Honorary Presidency Magistrates, empowered to sit singly, were appointed in order to afford relief to the stipendiary magistrates. There were a large number of prosecutions under the Food Adulteration Act and a few under the suppression of Immoral Traffic Act.

Six additional District Munsifs and an additional Sub-Judge were appointed during the year and a temporary sub-court was opened. One permanent sub-court and three additional Sub-Judges and five additional District Munsifs were abolished.

The release of a large number of Mappilla rebellion prisoners rendered possible the closure of the Alipuram Central Jail at Bellary. Sixteen sub-jails were also abolished during the year while one new sub-jail was opened. The large influx of prisoners concerned in the civil disobedience movement was responsible for a rise in the daily average number of convicts and under-trials confined, and in some jails caused temporary overcrowding. Health in the prisons improved, the number of deaths and of admissions to hospital both showing a decline.

185 prisoners were conditionally released on the recommendation of the Advisory Boards and 49 on medical grounds. As many as 1,269 prisoners were released under the scheme for the premature release of Mappilla rebellion prisoners. Forty-one prisoners who volunteered were sent to the Andamans under the colonisation scheme. 426 civil disobedience movement prisoners were released on tender of apology.

The two borstal schools continued to work satisfactorily. It has been decided to adopt the "cottage system" in the certified schools for enhancing accommodation and training facilities.

Another year's good work was done by the Madras Discharged Prisoners' Aid Society.

In spite of the general trade depression the number of registrations was larger than in 1931, and the income therefrom increased by Rs. 4.44 lakhs or 13 per cent. During the year land mortgage banks, which previously had to pay half-fees to the department for work done on their behalf, were exempted from the payment of all fees under the law of registration. Some amalgamations of charges resulted in a decrease in expenditure by the department.

The number of registered companies increased from 934 to 993. The number of new registrations was 121—the largest recorded in recent years. Of the new registrations 53 were banking and loan companies and 46 trading and manufacturing concerns. The largest flotation during the year was the Madras United Bank, Limited, with an authorized capital of Rs. 25 lakhs. Eleven other companies had each an authorized capital of Rs. 5 lakhs or more. Registrations under the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912, rose to the record figure of 24.

Members of co-operative societies found difficulty in the repayment of debts incurred in more prosperous days. Overdues both from members to the societies and from societies to the central banks remained at a high figure and two central banks defaulted in their payments to the Provincial Co-operative Bank. However members, realizing that their repaying capacity had become limited, wisely restricted their borrowings and consequently most of the financing banks, including the Provincial Bank, finished the year with surplus funds. The policy of caution in registering new societies was continued during the year. While only 92 societies were registered, as many as 701 had societies were cancelled. The Co-operative Department took over most of the societies which were previously managed by the Labour Department.

The Central Land Mortgage Bank, which experienced a difficult year in 1931, worked successfully. In consequence of the Government's granting permission to district boards to invest their surplus funds in the Bank's debentures there was no shortage of funds. The chief impediment to progress was the difficulty in securing sound applications for ten-year loans. The South India Co-operative Insurance Society, Limited, was registered in January. Its aim is, by enlisting the support of the co-operative organization, to carry the benefits of insurance to the middle and poorer classes in rural areas. Life assurance policies of all varieties ranging between Rs. 100 and Rs. 5,000 are offered. The first year of the Society's working was highly satisfactory, 361 policies having been issued. No claim arose during the year. The vexed question of the part to be played by the district federations was set at rest at the Bankers' Conference held in April, the substance of the decision reached being that where a federation exists the work of consolidation and rectification should be entrusted to it provided it works in harmony with the central bank.

The Madras Co-operative Societies Act (VI of 1932) came into force in July, repealing the Government of India Co-operative Societies Act of 1912.

The aggregate value of the private trade of the Presidency during the first eleven months of 1932 increased from Rs. 67.95 crores to Rs. 65.83 crores. The foreign trade dropped by Rs. 33 lakhs whereas the coasting trade improved by Rs. 1.21 crores. The figures for foreign trade were largely affected by a phenomenal export of gold which was however partly set off by reduced imports of gold and silver. However the imports of foreign merchandise increased slightly owing to larger arrivals of cotton twist and yarn, cotton manufactures, raw silk and silk manufactures, dyeing and tanning substances and artificial silk, counterbalanced by smaller receipts of vehicles, machinery, sugar, provisions and oils. Exports of Indian merchandise declined by Rs. 2.81 crores, the only important item to show an increase being tea. In the coasting trade imports and exports of Indian merchandise both increased.

The gross revenue receipts of the Madras Port Trust declined by Rs. 8.8 lakhs, but thanks to a reduction in working expenses a net profit of Rs. 1.23 lakhs was earned in the year. The total tonnage of goods handled in the port declined by about 14 per cent. No new works were taken up and only certain minor works were completed. The port was affected by cyclonic weather on two occasions in the month of November but no damage was done.

The receipts from port dues, landing and shipping dues and pilotage fees at Cochin Port decreased slightly and there was also a decrease in the number and tonnage of the vessels entering the port during the first eleven months of the year. The gross revenue of the Tuticorin Port Trust increased again and both imports and exports also increased slightly in the first eleven months of the year. The passenger traffic, however, was depressed. Only indispensable minor repairs were carried out.

The tonnage and receipts at ten minor ports increased slightly while at the remainder they decreased. The passenger traffic to the Straits Settlements and Rangoon was dull. At Calicut both piers were repaired and at Tellicherry the work of constructing a new decking of cement concrete and mild steel trough plates was completed. No works of importance were done at the other ports beyond the usual dredging and maintenance works.

The new University regulations came into force at the Agricultural College, Coimbatore, under which students are required to pass in three University examinations, one at the end of each year, before taking the B.Sc. (Ag.) degree. Forty-five students were admitted to the college. The agricultural middle school at Taliparamba was closed as a measure of economy. The school at Usilampatti and three farm labourers' schools continued to work.

Government Veterinary Institutions declined in number by 5 to 118. 23 temporary institutions were also closed by their managements. The number of posts held by touring officers remained at 97. Each District Veterinary Officer was supplied with a complete set of 200 Magic Lantern slides for the purposes of propaganda.

A Serum Institute at Madras was sanctioned temporarily for a period of three years for the manufacture of serum required for inoculating cattle against rinderpest. The work of producing rinderpest virus was also transferred to this Institute. The Institute opened in April and commenced the supply of serum in August. At the Madras Veterinary College laboratory experimental studies were made of the diseases of anthrax, black-quarter, carcinoma and nasal granuloma among cattle and the so-called "Ranikhet" or "Newcastle" disease among fowls. The Special Rinderpest Officer made an interim report on his investigations which has been forwarded to the Imperial Council of Agricultural Research for publication.

Forty-four students were selected for admission to the Madras Veterinary College. On the recommendation of the Retrenchment Committee free tuition and stipends to students were abolished and a tuition fee of Rs. 90 per annum was fixed for students belonging to the Presidency.

FISHERIES.

The fishing season was poor on the West Coast, normal on the East Coast in the South and highly favourable in the North.

The social and moral condition of the fishing population, which it is the object of the Fisheries Department to ameliorate, improved or deteriorated coincidently with their economic status.

Research work was continued at the Biological Stations at West Hill, Calicut and Kurusadai near Pamban. At the former the Assistant Biologist was engaged in an exhaustive study of the West Coast sardine. At the latter the East Coast sardine was studied and chanks were marked and liberated with the object of observing their movements. An unsuccessful attempt was made to rear pearl oysters at the station but a further trial will be made.

Experiments in the use of a seine net were made at the Mopad reservoir. The artificial prawn drier has been improved and the use of this appliance, which requires no expensive mechanical aids, will prove a boon to curers. Experiments with the Japanese diving apparatus and the Yorksh re-coble could not be taken up.

In inland fisheries remarkable success has been obtained in the cultural treatment of catla, the North Indian carp. This fish reaches a length of two feet in the course of six months and at this stage it is much esteemed as an article of diet. A large number of catla was stocked in the Cauvery river above the Mettur dam which provides an excellent breeding ground for them. Record catches were obtained at Mopad.

All the pearl banks inspected during the year were found barren. The chank fisheries on the East Coast were affected by the dislocation of the jute trade in Bengal, which is practically the only customer in the market.

The present area of reserved forests is 18,977 square miles, of which 3,338 square miles are managed by Panchayats under the control of the Revenue department. The working plans section made good progress during the year in preparing plans for some of the important timber forests in the Presidency.

Regeneration, both natural and artificial, was on the whole successful. Initial work on regeneration in mixed teak forest on the selection method gave encouraging results. Attempts were made in evergreen areas to restock with the more valuable species gaps resulting from the selection felling, and the results, except in respect of one species, have been satisfactory. New plantations were formed in various places, the results, as in 1931, being particularly good at Nilambur. Casuarina was planted in Lower Godavari and in Nellore. Altogether an area of 660 acres was afforested during the year. The experiments in the cultivation of lac were unsuccessful in Coimbatore, while success was only achieved in Madras at a prohibitive cost. As the market for lac is depressed it has been decided to restrict its cultivation to areas where it is well established.

As the price of timber did not show any improvement during the year steps were taken to curtail the output so as to avoid accumulation of timber stocks. All the saw-mills, with one exception, have now been sold, and timber is either sold in the log or hand-sawn in the forests. The usual supplies of sleepers were made to the railways.

The ceramic survey of the Presidency was completed in all but three districts. In pursuance of its scheme for developing sugar manufacture in the Presidency the Industries department gave demonstrations of the manufacture of white sugar with centrifugals. The possibilities of other minor cottage industries were also investigated and some domestic appliances were designed by officers of the department. The most interesting is a cooking range for burning paddy and groundnut husks of which large quantities are normally wasted.

The encouragement of domestic textile industries is one of the department's important activities. The Textile Institute provided instruction to students on the usual lines, and in addition a new section was opened for demonstrating the reeling of eri silk. The Government sanctioned a system by which departmental textile appliances are hired to small capitalists. The culture of silk worms was successfully continued at the Government Silk Farms at Hosur and Palmaner and work in hybridization was done at the Coonoor Silk Farm. The peripatetic rearing party supervised the work of the rearers, testing layings of seed and supplying mulberry cuttings. Five demonstrators were engaged in developing sericulture in five widely separated parts of the Presidency. In all these areas mulberry has been successfully planted and one of them has become an important producing centre of seed cocoons. The introduction and wide demonstration of eri culture is a new feature. The eri worm is hardier than the ordinary silk worm and as it feeds on the leaf of the castor plant, which is already abundant in the Presidency, the possibilities of its culture are great.

Assistance to the tanning industry was given at the Leather Trades Institute, Madras. It was decided to retain the Government Industrial Institute, Madras, as a purely educational institution and to restrict the expenditure on it. Eighty-five apprentices were under training in the school during the year. The Industrial Institute, Madras, was closed down in view of the need for economy. Retrenchment was also effected by the re-organization of the Industrial Schools at Calicut and Ellery and the Trade School at Mangalore. There was a rush of applications for admissions into the School of Arts and Crafts, Madras, and only 74 out of 216 who applied could be admitted. Sixty-eight industrial schools were recognized by the department, of which all but five were in receipt of grants-in aid.

Seven trade unions were registered during the year bringing the total number of unions to 29.

Emigration was again affected by the difficulties of the planting industries in Ceylon and Malaya. Licences for recruitment to Ceylon were issued to a limited extent, but kangany recruitment to Malaya was suspended. Emigrants continued to return to India in large numbers from both countries, both at their own and at Government expense, while the outward flow was by comparison small. The Ceylon Government sanctioned a new scheme for repatriating labourers from tea estates, but not much use has yet been made of its benefits. An increase in the number of Indians assisted to return from South Africa under the assisted emigration scheme reflects the lack of employment in South Africa and the tendency to replace Indian by Dutch labour. The Special Officer continued to help repatriates to find employment and to take up agriculture.

The activities of the Labour Department in improving the conditions of the depressed classes were considerably restricted during the year. It was decided to entrust the duties of the Commissioner of Labour to a Member of the Board of Revenue temporarily for a period of two years and to delegate to the Collectors of districts the Commissioner's powers in the work of ameliorating the condition of the depressed classes. A large portion of the special staff in the mufassal had to be disbanded, and in six districts it was abolished completely. Expenditure on land acquisition, construction of wells and on schools was also reduced. The ameliorative work was confined to communities falling strictly within the category of "depressed classes." The control of co-operative societies organised for the depressed classes was transferred to the Co-operative department.

A separate administrative department for electricity was constituted, with the Chief Engineer, Hydro-Electric Development, as Chief Engineer for Electricity. The Electrical Engineer who had previously been under the control of the Chief Engineer, Public Works Department, and the Electrical Inspector to Government were placed under the control of the Chief Engineer for Electricity.

Of the irrigation schemes which were in execution during the year the Polavaram project, designed to irrigate 17,500 acres, was completed and 12 miles of the Girisola channel were opened for irrigation. Progress was made in the Kattalai scheme. The execution of the Thippayapalaiyam project was put in hand.

In the Cauvery-Mettur project, the excavation of foundations for the main dam was completed throughout the length of the dam and 86 per cent. of the dam masonry has been built. Of the subsidiary works, the construction of the low level sluices and masonry works in the low level channel, the erection of hydro-electric sluices including the fixing of needle valves, and the Ellis Saddle cutting have been completed; the construction of the high level sluices and the surplus sluice bridge and barrage gates are nearing completion. The whole of the Vadavar and Vadavar extension canal was completed and handed over to the charge of the regular division in July. Irrigation under the Vadavar extension actually commenced in August, 1932. In the Grand Anicut canal system most of the major channels have been completed.

As a result of a satisfactory year's work, the Pykara scheme was in commercial operation before the end of the year. The diversion weir was completed and water was admitted from the river into the canal or main flume in January. All the work on the flume, headworks and pipe line was finished before September, and that on the upper bund at the forebay in June. Some work still remains to be done on the lower bund, but this has not delayed the commencement of supply of electricity to Coimbatore and Tiruppur Municipalities, which was begun during the year. The penstocks, through which water is led to the power-house, and the power-house itself have both been finished, but the erection of the electrical machinery has not progressed as speedily as was expected. Two generator units were put on load in September and in November, and the third is expected to be ready at an early date. The Glen Morgan project, which was auxiliary to the main Pykara project, was closed and all the load transferred to the Pykara power-house in November. Transmission lines from Pykara to Coimbatore and from Coimbatore to Erode were completed and other transmission lines are under construction. Salem and Erode received electrical supply derived from the Sivasamudram power-house in Mysore during the year, and it is expected that the load will be changed over to Pykara in April of the current year.

Six towns commenced the supply of electricity during the year, of which two came within the scope of the Pykara scheme.

Expenditure in the year 1930-31 exceeded revenue by Rs. 105.75 lakhs, and at the end of the year the closing balance of the revenue account was Rs. 223.28 lakhs. The budget estimate for the year 1931-32 anticipated a surplus of Rs. 7.57 lakhs in the revenue account. The actual transactions showed a surplus of Rs. 5.43 lakhs, but this result was achieved by drastic economies in expenditure, including an emergency abatement of salaries from the 1st December, 1931 to meet the large fall in revenue of Rs. 147.18 lakhs, especially under "Excise," caused by the economic depression. The closing balance of the revenue account for 1931-32 would have been Rs. 228.71 lakhs; but a sum of Rs. 56.41 lakhs was utilized for capital expenditure, leaving Rs. 172.30 lakhs as the closing balance for 1931-32 and the opening balance for 1932-33.

The budget for 1932-33 allowed for neither a surplus nor a deficit, but the preliminary revised estimates indicate that, owing chiefly to an improvement in the excise revenue, there will be a surplus.

The year on the whole was a healthy one. Cholera was prevalent in the earlier months but in the latter half of the year the Presidency was practically free from the disease. It is not yet possible to say whether this is due to a general reduction in the disease throughout the whole of India or to the special preventive measures which have been taken. The new method of treating drinking water with bacteriophage was used, but as this is still in its experimental stage nothing definite can yet be claimed to its credit. Bili vaccine was administered in single doses in infected villages instead of on three successive days as is usually the practice, and an examination of the results proved the innovation to be a success. The Godavari Pushkaram festival, which occurs once in twelve years, fell in 1932 and attracted over a million pilgrims to Rajahmundry and other centres in East and West Godavari. As past statistics had shown that each of the previous five festivals had been responsible for an outbreak of cholera in the neighbouring districts, elaborate precautions were taken to prevent such an occurrence. Special attention was paid to the provision of protected water-supplies and facilities for detecting and isolating cases of cholera. It was highly creditable that in the event not a single case of cholera was reported either during or after the large festival.

Although financial stringency had a cramping effect on medical development, it was possible to meet the demands of economy without reducing the number of medical institutions. A new Government dispensary was opened at Boipariguda in Vizagapatam Agency, while three new institutions including two dispensaries for women and children were opened by local bodies. On the other hand two dispensaries under the control of local bodies were closed. Ten new subsidised rural dispensaries were opened and an equal number was closed; one institution of this type was converted into a regular dispensary. The separate police hospitals at Rajahmundry and Salem were amalgamated with the Government rural hospitals at those places. The appointment of medical practitioners and midwives to subsidised rural dispensaries, which had been sanctioned but not opened, was held in abeyance as a measure of economy and a number of non-medical appointments were abolished. Government decided to stop the recruitment of sub-assistant surgeons to the Madras Medical Subordinate Service and to throw open the vacancies occurring in the cadre to local bodies for employing local fund sub-assistant surgeons in non taluk headquarters institutions. No medical officers were given training in special subjects, with the exception of four lady sub-assistant surgeons, who were trained in midwifery and gynaecology.

The Madras Elementary Education Act, 1920, was amended by Act II of 1932 permitting the levy of fees in aided schools in compulsory areas. New rules for the supplemental recognition of elementary schools were framed and certain amendments to the rules under the Elementary Education Act were made. Teachers with no educational qualifications were disqualified from receiving teaching grants. A revised scheme of compulsory education was sanctioned for the Saidapet Taluk Board. In passing orders on the recommendations of the Madras Playgrounds Committee the Government agreed to make assignments of land, where available, for playgrounds to educational institutions in the City.

Certain branches of study in Government colleges were abolished and with them the teaching posts concerned. The rates of tuition fees were also increased. A reduction in the staffs of Government training schools was effected and four Government training schools were amalgamated and two closed. The commercial schools at Vizagapatam and Calicut and the Government Engineering School at Vizagapatam were also closed.

Provided that the Commissioners may direct that any evidence already recorded may remain upon the record, in which case it shall not be necessary to re-examine those witnesses who have already been examined and discharged.

- (3) When an application for withdrawal is made to the Commissioners notice thereof fixing a date for the hearing of the application shall be given to all other parties to the petition and shall be published in the Gazette.

- (4) No application for withdrawal shall be granted if in the opinion of the Governor or of the Commissioners as the case may be such application has been induced by any bargain or consideration which ought not to be allowed.

- (5) If the application is granted—

- (a) the petitioner shall, where the application has been made to the Commissioner, be ordered to pay the costs of the respondent therefor incurred or such portion thereof as the Commissioners may think fit;

40. (1) An election petition shall abate only on the death of a sole petitioner or of the survivor of several petitioners:

Provided that, where such sole petitioner was an officer empowered under clause (b) of sub-rule (1) of rule 32, the proceedings may be continued by any other officer empowered in this behalf by the Local Government.

- (2) Notice of the abatement of an election petition shall be published in the Gazette by the Commissioners or if the petition abates before any Commissioner has been appointed, by the Governor.

Recrimination when seat claimed.

42. (1) Where at an inquiry into an election petition any candidate, other than the returned candidate, claims the seat for himself, the returned candidate or any other party may give evidence prove that the election of such candidate would have been void if he had been a returned candidate and a petition had been presented complaining of his election:

Provided that the returned candidate or such other party as aforesaid shall not be entitled to give such evidence unless he has, within fourteen days from the date of the publication of the election petition under clause (b) of sub-rule (2) of rule 34, given notice of his intention to the Commissioners and made the deposit and procured the execution of the bond referred to in rules 35 and 36 respectively.

- the election of a returned candidate has been procured or induced or the result of the election has been materially affected, by a corrupt practice, or
- any corrupt practice specified in Part I of Schedule V has been committed, or
- the result of the election has been materially affected by the improper acceptance or refusal of any nomination or by the improper reception or refusal of a vote, or the reception of any vote which is void or by any non-compliance with the provisions of the Act or the rules or regulations made thereunder, or by any mistake in the use of any form annexed thereto, or
- the election has not been a free election by reason of the large number of cases in which undue influence or bribery, within the meaning either of Part I or Part II of Schedule V has been exercised or committed, the election of the returned candidate shall be void.

(2) If the Commissioners report that a returned candidate has been guilty by an agent (other than his election agent) of any corrupt practice specified in Part I of Schedule V which does not amount to any form of bribery other than treating as hereinafter explained or to the procuring or abetment of personation, and if the Commissioners further report that the candidate has satisfied them that—

- no corrupt practice was committed at such election by the candidate or his election agent, and the corrupt practices mentioned in the report were committed contrary to the orders and without the sanction or connivance of such candidate or his election agent, and
- such candidate and his election agent took all reasonable means for preventing the commission of corrupt practices at such election, and
- the corrupt practices mentioned in the said report were of a trivial, unimportant and limited character, and
- in all other respects election was free from any corrupt practice on the part of such candidate or any of his agents, then the commissioners may find that the election of such a candidate is not void.

Explanation.—For the purpose of this sub-rule “treating” means the incurring in whole or in part by any person of the expense of giving or providing any food, drink, entertainment or provision to any person with the object, directly or indirectly, of inducing him or any other person to vote or refrain from voting or as a reward for having voted or refrained from voting.

Report of Commissioners and procedure thereon.

45. (1) At the conclusion of the inquiry, the Commissioners shall report whether the returned candidate or any other party to the petition who has under the provisions of these rules claimed the seat has been duly elected, and in so reporting shall have regard to the provisions of rule 44.

(2) The report shall further include a recommendation by the commissioners as to the total amount of costs which are payable and the persons by and to whom such costs should be paid. Such recommendation may include a recommendation for the payment of costs to the Advocate-General or a person acting under his instructions attending in pursuance of an order made under rule 43.

(3) The report shall be in writing and shall be signed by all the Commissioners. The Commissioner shall forthwith forward their report to the Governor who, on receipt thereof, shall issue orders in accordance with the report and publish the report in the Gazette, and the orders of the Governor shall be final.

Form of reports.

46. If either in their report or upon any other matter there is a difference of opinion among the Commissioners, the opinion of the majority shall prevail, and their report shall be expressed in the terms of the views of the majority.

Findings as to corrupt practices and persons guilty thereof.

47. Where any charge is made in an election petition of any corrupt practice, the Commissioners shall record in their report—

- a finding whether a corrupt practice has or has not been proved to have been committed by any candidate or his agent, or with the connivance of any candidate or his agent, and the nature of such corrupt practice, and

(b) the names of all persons (if any) who have been proved at the inquiry to have been guilty of any corrupt practice and the nature of such corrupt practice with any such recommendations, as they may desire to make for the exemption of any such persons from any disqualifications they may have incurred in this connection under these rules:

Provided that no person shall be so named in the report unless he has been given a reasonable opportunity of showing cause why his name should not be recorded.

PART VIII.

SPECIAL PROVISION.

48. Interpretation in case of doubt.—If question arises as to the interpretation of these rules otherwise than in connection with an election inquiry held thereunder, the question shall be referred for the decision of the Governor and his decision shall be final.

26. If a person representing himself to be a particular elector named on the electoral roll applies for a ballot paper after another person has voted as such elector, the applicant shall after duly answering such questions as the presiding officer may ask, be entitled to receive a ballot paper in the same manner as another elector. Such ballot paper (hereinafter referred to as a tendered ballot paper) shall be of a colour different from the other ballot papers, and, instead of being put into the ballot box shall be given to the presiding officer and endorsed by him with the name of the elector and his number on the electoral roll and the name or number of the electoral area to which the roll relates and shall be set aside in a separate packet and shall not be counted by the Returning Officer. 46. On the day and at the time appointed under Regulation 14 the Returning Officer shall, before he commences to count the votes, read the provisions of section 14 of the Indian Election Offences and Inquiries Act 1920, to such persons as may be present, and shall then proceed as follows:—

(ii) If the constituency is one in which postal voting is allowed, the covers received from or deposited by electors under the proviso to Regulation 40 shall be opened one after another and the envelopes and declaration papers taken out therefrom. If a cover should contain no declaration paper outside the envelope, the envelope enclosed in such cover shall be rejected and the Returning Officer shall endorse the word "rejected" on the envelope. If a cover contains a declaration paper, the Returning Officer shall examine whether the declaration paper is the one sent out by him and whether the declaration and attestation are prima facie regular. If he is not satisfied that a declaration paper is the one sent out by him to the elector concerned or if the declaration or attestation is not in order he shall endorse the word "rejected" on the back of the declaration paper, and keep it with the connected envelope in a separate bundle. If more than one declaration paper or more than one envelope is enclosed in one and the same cover, all the declaration papers and envelopes contained in the cover shall be rejected and the Returning Officer shall endorse the word "rejected" on the back of each declaration paper, and keep the declaration papers so rejected and the envelopes contained in the cover in the same bundle of rejected papers. He shall file the other declaration papers and the envelopes containing the corresponding ballot papers in a separate heap. These envelopes shall then be opened, the ballot papers enclosed therein taken out, and counted, and the total thereof recorded by the Returning Officer in a statement.

(b) The Returning Officer shall then mix together all the ballot papers so counted and totalled up and distribute them in convenient bundles to the persons appointed to assist in counting the votes.

(c) When the ballot papers have been so distributed but not before, the Returning Officer shall allow the candidates and their agents, reasonable opportunity to inspect, without handling, all ballot papers which in his opinion are liable to be rejected and shall, on every ballot paper, which is wholly or partially rejected, endorse the word "rejected". If any candidate or agent presents questions the correctness of the rejection, he shall also record on the ballot paper the grounds for the rejection. No candidate or agent shall be allowed to see the serial number on the back of any ballot paper.

(d) The Returning Officer shall, as far as practicable, proceed continuously with the counting of the votes, and shall, during any necessary intervals during which the counting has to be suspended, place the ballot papers, packets and other documents relating to the election under his own seal and the seals of such candidates or agents as may desire to affix them, and shall cause adequate precautions to be taken for their custody.

(d) it bears any mark by which the elector can be identified; and in the case of personal vote constituencies;

(e) it does not bear the initials of the presiding officer on its back, and in the case of Postal vote constituencies—

N.P.—This shall not apply to a postal vote.

(f) (i) the cover, enclosing the elector's declaration paper and the envelope containing his ballot paper has neither been sent by registered post so as to reach the Returning Officer not later than the day and the latest hour fixed for the poll nor deposited in the ballot box provided in the Office of the Returning Officer on the day and during the hours fixed for the poll,

(iii) more than one declaration paper or envelope containing ballot paper have been enclosed in one and the same cover;

(iv) the declaration paper is not the one sent out by the Returning Officer to the elector the declaration or attestation is not in order;

Provided that in a case where more than one vote can be given on the same ballot paper, if one of the marks is so placed as to render it doubtful to which candidate it was intended to apply the vote concerned but not the whole ballot paper shall be invalid on that account.

(2) Except on the above-mentioned grounds a ballot paper shall not be rejected.

(3) The decision of the Returning Officer as to the validity of a ballot paper shall be final, subject only to reversal on an election petition.

48. The following procedure shall apply to constituencies other than those for which postal voting is allowed:—

The Returning Officer shall not open the sealed packets of the tendered votes the marked copy of the electoral roll or the counterfoils of the ballot papers. He shall verify the statement submitted by the presiding officer under Regulation 32 by comparing it with the number of accepted ballot papers and of rejected ballot papers, the unused ballot papers in his possession and the tendered votes list, shall then reclose and reseal each packet which has been opened by him, and shall record on each packet a description of its contents and the date of the election to which it refers.

SINGLE TRANSFERABLE VOTE FOR NON-MUHAMMADAN CONSTITUENCY.

Example of an Election conducted on the system of the single transferable vote.

Let it be assumed that there are five members to be elected, and that there are ten candidates A, B, C, D, E, F, G, H, I and K.

The ballot papers are examined, and the valid papers are arranged in separate parcels under the names of the candidates marked with the figures.

FIRST COUNT.

Each separate parcel is counted, and each candidate is credited with one vote in respect of each paper on which a first preference has been recorded for him.

The result of the count may be supposed to be as follows:—

	Votes.		Votes.		Votes.		Votes.
A	2,009	D	746	G	157	K	93
B	952	E	493	H	154
C	939	F	341	I	118
						Total	6,000

It is found that the total of all the valid votes is 6,000. This total is divided by six (i.e., the number which exceeds by one the number of vacancies to be filled and 1,001 (i.e., the quotient 1,000 increased by one is the "quota" or the number of votes sufficient to elect a member.

A's votes exceed the quota, and he is declared elected.

First transfer.

A has 1,008 surplus votes (i.e., A's total 2,009 less the quota 1,001), and it is necessary to transfer this surplus Regulation 47 (1).

All A's 2,009 papers are examined and arranged in separate sub-parcels, according to the second preference indicated thereon [Regulation 47 (2) (a).]

A separate sub-parcel is also formed of those papers on which no further available preference, i.e., no further preference for any continuing candidate, is shown, and which are therefore not transferable [Regulation 47 (2) (c).]

The result is found to be as follows:—

A next available preference is shown—

	257 papers.
" for D on	11 "
" for E on	28 "
" for F on	1,708 "
" for G on	2,004 "
Total of transferable papers	5
Total of non-transferable papers	2,004
Total of A's papers	2,008

Since the total number of transferable papers (2004) exceeds the surplus (1008), only a portion of each sub-parcel can be transferred, and the number of papers to be transferred from each sub-parcel, must bear the same proportion to the total number of papers in the sub-parcel as that which the surplus bears to the total number of transferable papers.

In other words, the number of papers to be transferred from each sub-parcel is ascertained by multiplying the number of papers in the sub-parcel by 1008 (the surplus), and dividing the result by 2004 (the total number of transferable papers.)

The process is as follows:—

D's sub-parcel contains 257 papers, and his share of the surplus is therefore:—

$$257 \times \frac{1008}{2004} \text{ or } 129 \frac{540}{2004}$$

E's sub-parcel contains 11 papers, and his share of the surplus is therefore:—

$$11 \times \frac{1008}{2004} \text{ or } 5 \frac{1068}{2004}$$

F's sub-parcel contains 28 papers, and his share of the surplus is therefore:—

$$28 \times \frac{1008}{2004} \text{ or } 14 \frac{168}{2004}$$

G's sub-parcel contains 1708 papers, and his share of the surplus is therefore:—

$$1708 \times \frac{1008}{2004} \text{ or } 859 \frac{228}{2004}$$

Total ... 1008

The number of papers to be transferred as determined by the preceding process contain fractions and since only whole papers can be transferred, so many of the largest of these fractions, taken in order of their magnitude, as will make the total number of papers to be transferred equal to the surplus are reckoned as the value of unity.

Thus, as the whole numbers determined above amount to only 1007 viz., (129+5+14+859) 1016, or one short of the surplus 1008 the largest fraction $\frac{1016}{2004}$ is reckoned as unity, and the numbers of papers to be transferred are as follows:—

To D	129 papers.	To F	14 papers.
To E	6 "	To G	859 "
Total	135	Grand Total being, A's surplus...	1008

The particular papers to be transferred to D, E, F and G are those last filed in their respective sub-parcels, and therefore, at the top of the sub-parcels. The papers to be transferred are to be marked so as to indicate the candidates from and to whom the transfer is made.

These papers are added in separate sub-parcels of D, E, F and G.

The totals of the votes credited to these candidates then become:—

	Votes.		Votes.
D	746 + 129 = 875	F	341 + 14 = 355
E	493 + 6 = 499	G	157 + 859 = 1016

The remainders of the papers in the sub-parcels (i.e., those papers not transferred), together with the papers on which no further available preferences were marked, are collected together and formed into one parcel, representing A's quota of votes (1001) and these papers are set aside as finally dealt with. The parcel is made up as follows:—

The remainder of D's sub-parcel, 257 less 129 :	128
The remainder of E's sub-parcel, 11 less 6 :	5
The remainder of F's sub-parcel, 28 less 14 :	14
The remainder of G's sub-parcel, 1708 less 859 :	849
Non-transferable papers	5
Total, being A's quota	1001

The operations involved in this transfer are summarized in the following table:—

TRANSFER OF A'S SURPLUS.
Surplus ...	...	...	1008
Number of transferable papers ...	...	...	2004
Surplus
Proportion to be transferred—	{1008
No. of transferable papers	{2004

B ...	...	...	...

Total number of transferable papers...	2004	1008	996
Number of non-transferable papers ...	5	...	5
Total ...	2009	1008	1001

The state of the poll on the conclusion of the poll on the transfer is as follows:—

A	Votes.	C	Votes.	F	Votes.	K	Votes.
...	1001 elected.	...	139 elected.	...	355 elected.	...	93 elected.
G ...	1076 "	D ...	875 "	H ...	152 "	...	...
B ...	952 "	E ...	499 "	I ...	118 "	Total...	6000 "

G now has 1016 votes, a number which is more than the quota. He is accordingly declared elected.

Second Transfer.

G's surplus (1016 less 1001, or 15) would have to be transferred were it not for the provision of regulation 47 (5) (c). Under the latter rule the Returning Officer need not transfer a surplus which is less than the difference between the two lowest candidates on the poll, and where, therefore, the transfer could not alter the relative position of these two candidates, even if the whole surplus were transferred to the lowest candidate. In this case the difference between I and K, the two lowest candidates, is 25 (118 less 93), and therefore G's surplus need not be transferred. The Returning Officer proceeds to distribute the papers of the candidate with the smallest total of votes.

K's parcel of 93 papers is therefore examined. It is found to contain 89 papers on which F is the next preference, and 4 on which C is the next preference.

Therefore 89 papers are transferred to F and 4 to C.

The poll now stands as follows:—

A	Votes.	C	Votes.	F	Votes.
...	1001 elected.	...	943 elected.	...	444 elected.
G ...	1016 "	D ...	875 "	H ...	152 "
B ...	952 "	E ...	499 "	I ...	118 "
				Total ...	6000

Third Transfer.

The poll shows that as a result of the second transfer no further candidate obtained the quota which would entitle him to election, and the next operation has to be determined upon.

The difference between I and H (152 less 118, i.e., 34) exceeds G's surplus (15), which therefore, is still allowed to remain untransferred [Regulation 47 (5) (c)].

Candidate I is lowest on the poll and his papers have to be distributed in the same manner as K's. Rule 48 (1). But as the combined totals of H and I together with G's surplus (152 + 118 + 15 = 285) are less than 444, the total of F, the next highest candidate, the Returning Officer avails himself of regulation 48 (2), and distributes the papers of both H and I in one operation.

The papers (152 + 118, or 270 in all) in the parcels of H and I are examined in one operation and it is found that—

	Papers.
B is marked next preference on ...	...
D is marked next preference on ...	119
Non-transferable paper ...	107
	44
Total...	270

It should be stated that on some papers some or one of the candidates A, G, I, H and K may have been marked as next in order of preference on the papers examined, but, as all these candidates are already either elected or excluded, any papers so marked pass to those of the other candidates for whom the next available preferences have been recorded.

The operation is completed by the transfer of 119 papers to B, and 107 to D whilst the 44 non-transferable papers are set aside as finally dealt with [Regulation 40 (1)].

The poll now stands as follows:—

A	Votes.	D	Votes.	F	Votes.
...	1001 elected.	...	982 elected.	...	444 elected.
G ...	1016 "	C ...	943 "	Non-transferable papers ...	44
B ...	1071 "	E ...	499 "	Total ...	6000

B has now 1071 votes, a number which exceeds the quota, and is accordingly declared elected.

Fourth Transfer.

B's surplus (70) exceeds the difference (55) between E and F, the two candidates lowest on the poll, and it is, therefore, necessary to distribute it.

For this purpose, the only sub-parcel of papers last transferred, containing 119 papers, is taken into account.

These are examined and arranged in sub-parcel in the same manner as A's papers were examined and arranged with the following result:—

No further preference is shown on 35 papers.

The total number of transferable papers (84) is thus greater than the surplus (70), and the proportion to the transferred is 70 : 84. But there is only one candidate, E, entitled to participate in the transfer. E accordingly receives the whole of the surplus, and the 70 papers last filed in E's sub-parcel are therefore transferred to him, after being marked so as to indicate their transfer from B to E [Regulation 47 (4) (c)].

The remainder of the papers in E's sub-parcel, together with the non-transferable papers, are placed with B's original parcel. The whole constitutes B's quota, and these papers are set aside as finally dealt with [Regulation 49 (1)].

B's quota is made up as follows:—

Original parcel	...	952
Remainder of E's sub-parcel	...	14
Non-transferable papers	...	35
Total ...		1001

The poll now stands as follows:—

A	Votes.	D	Votes.	F	Votes.
...	1001 elected.	...	982 elected.	...	444 elected.
G ...	1016 "	C ...	943 "	Non-transferable papers	44
B ...	1001 "	E ...	569 "	Total ...	6000

Fifth Transfer.

No candidate is elected as the result of the transfer, and the next operation has to be determined upon.

G's surplus is still not distributable, being smaller than the difference between the totals of E and F, the two lowest candidates [Regulation 47 (5) (c)].

F is lowest and his papers have to be distributed.

On examination it is found that of F's 444 papers, 353 show a next preference for C, and the remainder 91, contain no further preference.

The operation is completed by the transfer of 353 papers to C, whilst the 91 non-transferable papers are set aside finally dealt with [Regulation 49 (1)].

The poll now stands as follows:—

A	Votes.	C	Votes.	Non-transferable papers	Votes.
...	1001 elected.	...	2196 elected.	...	135
G ...	1016 "	D ...	82 "	Total ...	6000
B ...	1001 "	E ...	569 "

(2) Any member may at any time submit a point of order for the decision of the President, but in doing so shall confine himself to stating the point.

16. The President, after having called the attention of the Council to the conduct of a member who persists in irrelevance or in tedious repetition either of his own arguments or of the arguments used by other members in debate, may direct him to discontinue his speech.

17. (1) The President shall preserve order and have all powers necessary for the purpose of enforcing his decisions on all points of order.

(2) He may direct any member whose conduct is in his opinion grossly disorderly to withdraw immediately from the Council, and any member so ordered to withdraw shall do so forthwith and shall absent himself during the remainder of the day's meeting. If any member is ordered to withdraw a second time in the same session, the President may direct the member to absent himself from the meetings of the Council for any period not longer than the remainder of the session, and the member so directed shall absent himself accordingly.

(3) The President may in the case of grave disorder arising in the Council suspend any sitting for a time to be named by him.

18. The Governor may order the publication of any bill (together with the Statement of Objects and Reasons accompanying it) in the Gazette, although no motion has been made for leave to introduce the Bill. In that case it shall not be necessary to move for leave to introduce the Bill, and, if the Bill is afterwards introduced, it shall not be necessary to publish it again.

19. (1) Any member, other than a member of the Government desiring to move for leave to introduce a Bill shall give notice of his intention, and shall, together with the notice, submit a copy of the Bill and a full Statement of Objects and Reasons.

(2) If the Bill is a Bill which under the Government of India Act requires sanction, the member shall annex to the notice a copy of such sanction, and the notice shall not be valid until this requirement is complied with.

(3) If any question arises whether a Bill is or is not a Bill which requires sanction under the Government of India Act, the question shall be referred to the authority which would have power to grant the sanction if it were necessary, and the decision of that authority on the question shall be final.

(4) The period of notice of a motion for leave to introduce a Bill under this rule shall be as follows, namely:—

(a) if the Bill relates to a transferred subject—fifteen days; and

(b) if the Bill relates to a reserved subject—one month or, if the Governor so directs, a further period not exceeding in all two months.

20. As soon as may be after a Bill has been introduced, the Bill, unless it has already been published, shall be published in the Gazette.

20-A. (1) No motion that a Bill be taken into consideration or be passed shall be made by any member other than the member in charge of the Bill and no motion that a Bill be referred to a Select Committee or be circulated or re-circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon shall be made by any member other than the member in charge except by way of amendment to a motion made by the member in charge.

(2) For the purposes of this rule 'member in charge of the Bill' means, in the case of a Government Bill, any member acting on behalf of the Government and, in any other case, the member who has introduced the Bill.

20-B. (1) Where—

(a) a dilatory motion has been carried in respect of a Government Bill, or

(b) the Council refuses to take into consideration or to refer to a Select Committee or to pass any Government Bill, and thereafter the Governor recommends that the Bill be passed in a particular form, a motion may be made for leave to introduce the Bill in that form, and, where such recommendation has been made in the case referred to in clause (2), the Bill in respect of which the dilatory motion has been made shall be deemed to have been withdrawn.

(2) Where a Bill has been introduced after a recommendation under sub-rule (1) any motion may, subject to the provisions of these rules, be made in respect of the Bill notwithstanding that such motion raises a question substantially identical with one on which the Council has already given a decision in the same session.

(3) For the purposes of this rule and of rule 20-C, "a dilatory motion" means a motion that a Bill be referred to a Select Committee or that it be circulated for the purpose of eliciting opinion thereon or any other motion the effect of the carrying of which will be to delay the passage of a Bill.

20-C. (1) A recommendation or certification in respect of any Bill by the Governor under section 72-E of the Government of India Act may be made by message and shall be communicated to the Council by the President and shall be endorsed on the Bill.

(2) No dilatory motion shall be made in connexion with a Bill in respect of which a recommendation has been made (hereinafter referred to as a recommended Bill) without the consent of the member in charge of the Bill, and, if any such motion has been made but has not been carried prior to the communication to the Council of the recommendation, such motion shall not be put to the Council.

(3) Where during the passage of a Bill the Governor makes a recommendation in respect thereof, and any clause of the Bill has been agreed to, or any amendment has been made, in a form inconsistent with the form recommended, the member in charge of the Bill may move any amendment which, if accepted, would bring the Bill into the form recommended.

(4) Where the Council refuses to take a recommended Bill into consideration, or makes any alteration therein which is inconsistent with the form recommended or refuses to agree to any alteration or amendment which, if accepted, would bring the Bill into the form recommended, the President shall, if so requested by the member in charge of the Bill, endorse on the Bill a certificate to the effect that the Council has failed to pass the Bill in the form recommended.

(5) Subject to the provisions of this rule and of rule 20-B, the ordinary procedure of the Council in regard to Bills shall, so far as may be, apply in regard to recommended Bills.

21. If the Governor certifies that a Bill or any clause of a Bill or any amendment to a Bill affects the safety or tranquillity of a Province or any part thereof, and directs that no proceedings or no further proceedings shall be taken thereon, all notices of motions in connexion with the subject-matter of the certificate shall lapse, and if any such motion has not already been set down on the list of business it shall not be so set down. If any such motion has been set down on the list of business, the President shall, when the motion is reached, inform the Council of the Governor's action, and the Council shall forthwith without debate proceed to the next item of business.

21-A. On the dissolution of the Council every Bill which has been introduced in the Council and has not been passed by the Council shall lapse.

22. (1) The Governor may within the period of notice disallow any resolution or any part of a resolution on the ground that it cannot be moved without detriment to the public interest, or on the ground that it relates to a matter which is not primarily the concern of the Local Government, and if he does so the resolution or part of the resolution shall not be placed on the list of business.

(2) The Governor may disallow on grounds as aforesaid any motion for adjournment under rule 11, notwithstanding the consent of the President, and if he does so the adjournment shall not be permitted by the President and no further discussion of the motion shall take place.

23. (1) Every resolution shall be in the form of a specific recommendation addressed to the Government, and no resolution shall be moved in regard to any of the following subjects, namely:—

(i) any matter affecting the relations of His Majesty's Government, or of the Government of India, or of the Governor or the Governor-in-Council, with any foreign State;

(ii) any matter affecting the relations of any of the foregoing authorities with any Prince or Chief under the suzerainty of His Majesty, or relating to the affairs of any such Prince or Chief or to the administration of the territory of any such Prince or Chief; and

(iii) any matter which is under adjudication by a Court of Law having jurisdiction in any part of His Majesty's Dominions.

(2) The decision of the Governor on the point whether any resolution is or is not within the restrictions imposed by sub-rule (1) shall be final.

24. A copy of every resolution which has been passed by the Council shall be forwarded to the Government but any such resolution shall have effect only as a recommendation to the Government.

24-A. (1) Save in so far as is otherwise provided by these rules or in any case in which a communication is to be made to the Governor under any provision of the Government of India Act or of these rules, no discussion of a matter of general public interest shall take place otherwise than on a resolution moved in accordance with the rules governing the moving of resolutions except with the consent of the President and of the Member of the Government to whose department the motion relates.

(2) It shall not be permissible to the President or to the Member of the Government concerned to give his consent to the moving of any motion in regard to any of the subjects in regard to which a resolution cannot be moved and the decision of the Governor on the point whether any motion is or is not within the restrictions imposed by sub-rule (1) of rule 23 shall be final.

(3) The Governor may disallow any motion or part of a motion on the ground that it cannot be moved without detriment to the public interest or on the ground that it relates to a matter which is not primarily the concern of the local Government and if he does so the motion shall not be placed on the list of business.

25. A statement of the estimated annual expenditure and revenue of the Province (hereinafter referred to as "the Budget") shall be presented to the Council on such day as the Governor may appoint.

26. (1) A separate demand shall ordinarily be made in respect of the grants proposed for each department of the Government, provided that the Finance Member may in his discretion include in one demand grants proposed for two or more departments, or make a demand in respect of expenditure, such as Famine Relief and Insurance and Interest, which cannot readily be classified under particular departments. Demands affecting reserved and transferred subjects shall, so far as may be possible, be kept distinct.

(2) Each demand shall contain, first, a statement of the total grant proposed, and then a statement of the detailed estimate under each grant divided into items.

(3) Subject to these rules, the Budget shall be presented in such a form as the Finance Member may consider best fitted for its consideration by the Council.

27. The Budget shall be dealt with by the Council in two stages, namely :—

- (i) a general discussion; and
- (ii) the voting of demands for grants.

28. (1) On a day to be appointed by the Governor subsequent to the day on which the Budget is presented and for such time as the Governor may allot for this purpose, the Council shall be at liberty to discuss the Budget as a whole or any question of principle involved therein, but no motion shall be moved at this stage, nor shall the Budget be submitted to the vote of the Council.

(2) The Finance Member shall have a general right of reply at the end of the discussion.

(3) The President may, if he thinks fit, prescribe a time-limit for speeches.

29. (1) Not more than twelve days shall be allotted by the Governor for the discussion of demands of the Local Government for grants.

(2) Of the days so allotted, not more than two days shall be allotted by the Governor, to the discussion of any one demand. As soon as the maximum limit of time for discussion is reached, the President shall forthwith put every question necessary to dispose of the demand under discussion.

(3) On the last day of the allotted days at 5 o'clock, the President shall forthwith put every question necessary to dispose of all the outstanding matters in connexion with the demands for grants.

30. (1) No motion for appropriation can be made except on the recommendation of the Governor communicated to the Council.

(2) Motions may be moved at this stage to reduce any grant or to omit or reduce any item in a grant, but not to increase or alter the destination of a grant.

(3) When several motions relating to the same demand are offered, they shall be discussed in the order in which the heads to which they relate appear in the Budget.

(4) No motion shall be made for the reduction of a grant as a whole until all motions for the commission or reduction of definite items within that grant have been discussed.

31. When money has been spent in any service for which the vote of Council is necessary during any financial year in excess of the amount granted for that service and for that year, a demand for the excess shall be presented to the Council by the Finance Member and shall be dealt with in the same way by the Council as if it were a demand for a grant.

32. (1) An estimate shall be presented to the Council for a supplementary or additional grant when—

(i) the amount voted in the Budget of a grant is found to be insufficient for the purposes of the current year, or

(ii) a need arises during the current year for expenditure for which the vote of the Council is necessary upon some new service not contemplated in the Budget for that year; provided that when funds to meet proposed expenditure on a new service can be made available by reappropriation, a demand for the grant of a token sum may be submitted to the vote of the Council and if the Council assents to the demand, funds may be so made available.

(2) An estimate may be presented to the Council for an additional or supplementary grant in respect of any demand to which the Council has previously refused its assent or the amount of which the Council has reduced either by a reduction of the whole grant or by the omission or reduction of any of the items of expenditure of which the grant is composed.

(3) Supplementary or additional estimates shall be dealt with in the same way by the Council as if they were demands for grants.

33. (1) As soon as may be after the commencement of each financial year, a Committee on Public Accounts shall be constituted for the purpose of dealing with the appropriation accounts of the Province and the report of the Audit Officer thereon and such other matters as the Finance Department may refer to the Committee.

(2) The Committee on Public Accounts shall consist of such number of members as the Governor may direct, of whom not less than two-thirds shall be elected by the non-official members of the Council according to the principle of proportionate representation by means of the single transferable vote. The remaining members shall be nominated by the Governor.

(3) The Finance Member shall be Chairman of the Committee, and in the case of an equality of votes, on any matter, shall have a second or casting vote.

34. (1) In scrutinising the appropriation accounts of the Province and the report of the Audit Officer thereon it shall be the duty of the Committee to satisfy itself that the money voted by the Council has been spent within the scope of the demand granted by the Council.

(2) It shall be the duty of the Committee to bring to the notice of the Council :—

(i) every re-appropriation from one grant to another grant;

(ii) every re-appropriation within a grant which is not made in accordance with the rules regulating the functions of the Finance Department, or which has the effect of increasing the expenditure on an item the provision for which has been specifically reduced by a vote of the Council; and

(iii) all expenditure which the Finance Department has requested should be brought to the notice of the Council.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED BY THE MADRAS IV LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL (1930-1932.)

No.	When passed by the Council.	Subject of resolution.	Nature of action taken by the Government.
First Session.
1	24-1-1930	Formation of a Committee to report on the best way of giving relief to the destitute orphans and persons physically or mentally defective.	It has been decided to constitute the Committee contemplated by the resolution; but a supplementary grant has first to be obtained from the Council for expenditure connected with the Committee and this will be done at its next meeting.
2	29-1-1931	That this Council recommends to the Government, that, with reference to the recommendations of the Economic Enquiry Committee, the proposed re-settlement in Kistna and East and West Godavari Districts be not given effect to.	The Government have decided not to accept the recommendation of the Economic Enquiry Committee that the re-settlement proposals should not be given effect to, and in G.O. No. 1483 (21-s) Revenue, dated the 11th July, 1931, have directed that the revised rates proposed by the Special Settlement Officer should be introduced in the three districts with effect from 1st July 1931. The Government Order has been made available to the Press.
Second Session.
1	4-8-1931	This Council recommends to the Government to make an immediate enquiry and if necessary to appoint a Committee of both officials and non-officials to investigate into, and to report on, the ill-treatment of the depressed classes in the Devakottai subdivision of the Ramnad district as alleged in the Memorandum submitted to Government by the President of the Ramnad District Adi-Dravida Mahajana Sabha.	The Government did not consider it necessary to appoint a committee. As promised by the hon. the Home Member in the Council copies of the speeches made in the Council on the subject were forwarded to the District Magistrate, Ramnad, and he was asked to bring together the leading members of both communities, the Kallars and the Adi-Dravidas, and to endeavour to arrive at a restoration of amicable relations between the two classes. The District Magistrate reported in November 1931, that the trouble had subsided and that the advice of Government had been noted for future guidance should there be similar disturbances in the neighbourhood.
2	"	Construction of an anicut across the river Ponnai (South Pennar) to divert the excess of flood and other water of the river for irrigation in Tiruvannamalai and Chengam taluks, North Arcot district.	Two schemes which were considered and dropped were referred to by the hon. the Revenue Member in his speech on the resolution. As regards the other schemes mentioned, several sites for the construction of an anicut across the Ponnai were examined in 1933 and a proposal came up in 1903 for the construction of an anicut with a main channel to take off from the right bank at Kurumapattu village. The proposal was dropped as it was found that it would affect adversely the Tirukkoyilur Anicut system and irrigation lower down. Two suggestions made by M.R.Ry. Diwan Bahadur Arogyaswami Mudaliyar were: (1) Construction of a reservoir on the Upper Gadilam at Puttanandal with a supply channel from the Tirukkoyilur anicut and (2) Construction of a storage reservoir with a capacity of 1,000 million cubic feet at Agaram Pallipattu for extension of irrigation under the system. It was decided that the supply of water was inadequate for a successful scheme under either of these proposals.

No.	When passed by the Council.	Subject of resolution.	Nature of action taken by the Government.
Second Session.—Contd.
			In all these cases, the chief reason for abandoning the projects suggested has been that there is not sufficient supply of water available in a very large proportion of years for a new scheme without detriment to the existing irrigation under the Tirukkoyilur anicut and below, and after supplying the needs of the area irrigated by the Nedungal anicut above. In these circumstances the Government are unable to give effect to the resolution.
3	5-8-1931	Condition of the Madras in Burma and the urgent need for taking necessary steps to safeguard their personal property, etc.	The proceedings of the Council were forwarded to the Government of India and the Government of Burma.
4	"	Raising of certain Madras infantry battalions.	A copy of the proceedings of the Legislative Council on the resolution was forwarded to the Government of India, Army Department.
5	2-11-1931	This Council recommends to the Government that the consideration of the proposal of the Special Settlement Officer as approved by the Board of Revenue for enhancement of assessment in Malabar be postponed until normal conditions are restored.	The Government on an examination of all the circumstances came to the conclusion that there was no justification for postponing the introduction of re-settlement in the district. Orders were accordingly issued in G.O. No. 2717, Revenue, dated the 23rd December 1931, and the order was made available to the Press.
6	2-11-1931	Committee to enquire into the incidence of taxation on Motor Vehicles in the Madras Presidency.	In accordance with the resolution of the Legislative Council the Government appointed in G.O. No. 34 L. & M., dated 6th January 1932, a committee consisting of seven members. The Government Order was placed on the table of the House. The interim report of the Committee was also placed on the table of the House on the 24th March 1932. Of the four recommendations made by the Committee one has been approved by the Government and given effect to. The other recommendations are under consideration.
7	"	This Council recommends to the Government that the collection of land revenue be extended over six instalments of equal amounts.	The question is under consideration.
8	28-1-1932	Introduction of graded cut in salaries of Government servants.	No action was taken on the resolution for the reasons given by the hon. the Finance Member during the discussion.

It now has 70 branches in all parts of India and nearly 3,000 members. The official magazine of the Association is called Stri Dharma, mainly in English, with Hindi, Tamil and Telugu sections. Through correspondence with the Head-quarters Secretary and through the official magazine, the branches and members are linked into a unified sisterhood with a sense of strength, courage and inspiration which could not be got by entirely independent isolated educational centres. The political policy of the Association is to work for reforms through the Legislative Council. The aims, ideals and work of the Association are on a religious basis.

Objects.—To present to women their responsibility as daughters of India; to help them to realise that the future of India lies largely in their hands; to secure for women the vote for Municipal and Legislative Council as it is or may be granted to men; to secure for women the right to be

The sick poor of all races and castes are treated free either as in-patients or out-patients excepting those who can afford to pay hospital stoppages. There are 551 beds. There are special arrangements for the treatment of Ear, Nose and Throat diseases, X-Ray Institute, Orthopaedic and Skin Departments, and a special Department for venereal and urinary diseases. There is a Fund known as the "General Hospital Patients' Aid Fund" the interest accruing from which is utilized for the benefit of indigent patients in the General Hospital. There is a training school for nurses named the Madras Government Hospitals' Training School for Nurses attached to the hospital and rules regarding admission, etc., can be had from the Matron Superintendent, Government General Hospital, Madras. The General Hospital Madras, originated as an amalgamation of two formerly existing hospitals, viz., the "Garrison Hospital" and the "Old Naval Hospital." It was used as a Military Garrison Hospital but sick sailors of Her Majesty's Fleet and of the Honourable East India Company's ships were also treated there. In course of time the building was reconstructed and a portion was allotted to the troops in the Fort and this was subsequently styled as the Station Hospital. Later on a block for infectious diseases was built and also a new out-patient dispensary. It has undergone several modifications in its structure and since 1899 the whole block of buildings became a purely civil institution. The Hospital is at present being remodelled at a cost of Rs. 40 lakhs.

The Pasteur Institute

(COONOR).

The Pasteur Institute of Southern India, for the treatment of persons bitten by rabid animals, was rendered possible by the allotment by His Excellency the Viceroy (Lord Curzon) of one lakh of rupees out of the sum placed at his disposal by Mr. Henry Phipps of the United States.

Accommodation.—There are several hotels and boarding-houses which are open all the year round and also a residential club.

Europeans and Anglo-Indians are not accommodated at the Institute, but must make their own arrangements for boarding and lodging about which there is no difficulty. Persons who cannot afford hotel rates can find inexpensive lodgings in the town within three-quarters of a mile of the Institute.

Well-to-do Indians can find houses in convenient situations and others can arrange for lodging and meals in the town. Four quarters are provided in the Institute compound for patients who can afford to pay the rent of annas Twelve per day. Indigent patients are accommodated in the free quarters in the Institute compound and will be provided with blankets and cooking pots.

Patients who are sent by or at the expense of private employers, friends or other private persons or associations should be provided by them with the cost of their return journey and also with sufficient money to pay for their food during the course of treatment, which lasts 14 days. If desired, money for these purposes may be sent to the Director of the Institute and this course is strongly recommended in the case of menial servants and illiterate or other irresponsible people.

Treatment.—All persons who desire to proceed to Coonoor for anti-rabic treatment at the Pasteur Institute may do so at their own expense. Those who do not desire to do so and all indigent persons may obtain anti-rabic treatment at the Head quarter Hospital of the District and in Madras City at the General Hospital and at the Government Hospitals at Cochin, Tellicherry, Negapatam, Kodikunil, Bhadrachalam, Palghat, Koraput and Tuticorin. Treatment at the General Hospital and at the Head-quarter Hospital will be free only to indigent persons. All others will be charged Rs. 10 for the course of treatment; if they are admitted as in-patients, the usual nursing and dieting charges will be levied in addition.

Veterinary Officers who have to undergo anti-rabic treatment as a result of infection incurred while discharging their official duties shall be exempted from payment of the charge for anti-rabic treatment.

Arrangements have been made to send out the anti-rabic Vaccine to the Superintendents of Government Head-quarter Hospitals, and some Mission Hospitals in Southern India so that the treatment may be given at local centres and the bulk of the patients saved from the necessity of having to travel to Coonoor for treatment.
