PREFACE

IN presenting to the public the second issue of THE MADRAS DIRECTORY & WHO'S WHO, we have great pleasure in acquainting our numerous readers with the fact, that this edition is of a more comprehensive and informative nature in that, we have taken great efforts to add considerable details about the whole of the Madras Presidency including the Indian States of Cochin, Travancore, Mysore and Banganapalle. Whilst our last edition confined itself to the City of Madras proper, our ambition to make the scope of the Directory cover the whole of the Presidency was, we are pleased to say, well rewarded.

THE readers will, doubtless, appreciate our having increased the number of pages with more detailed information in the Commercial Section, List of Trades & Professions, etc in spite of the disabilities we had to contend with owing to the provisions of the Paper Control (Economy) Order 1944. We do hope that ere long these restrictions would be appreciably relaxed, if not totally removed, thus enabling us to release our next edition in a more complete from.

MUCH as we would have liked to include the details of a good many more notable personalities in the Who's Who Section, which in all fairness to the reading public, must find a place in the Directory, we regret that the response to our appeal for details, was not very encouraging. We are no doubt deeply greatful to those who have furnished us with these details, and we hope the elite public will not ignore our call for details in furture years.

IT is possible that some discrepancies might have crept in certain Sections; and if such is the case, we can assure our readers that the same was not due to want of any vigilance on our part, but to the rapid changes during the months, the Directory was in the Press.

WE record our gratitude to the various Departments of the Government of India and the Government of Madras, for the valuable help rendered to us in the compiling of this volume. We are also thankful for the patronage extended to us by the Advertisers in this Directory as also to our friends and well-wishers. Our thanks are also due to the Commercial Printing & Publishing House and the Liberty Press, for the appreciable aid they gave us in executing the printing of the Directory as quickly as possible.

IN conclusion, we would deem it an act of appreciation on the part of our readers, if they would communicate to us any valuable suggestions they can offer, or honest criticisms they can make which would result in the improvement of the Directory.

ECLIPSES

There will appear on the face of the Globe three Eclipses—two of the Sun and one of the Moon—Of these the Lunar Eclipse alone will be visible in Asia. Its circumstances are as follows :—

June 4th, Wednesday—A partial Eclipse of the Moon. Visible in India.

		H.	M.
Moon enters Umbra	... ...	0	26	I. S. T.
Middle of the Eclipse	... ...	0	45
Moon leaves Umbra	... ...	1	4

Magnitude 0·024

The first contact occurs at 22° from the north point of the Moon's limb towards the East and the last at 4°. A very powerful telescope may with advantage be used to see the Eclipse.

VARA SULAI—(from Sunrise)

Sunday and Friday towards the West till 15 Ghatikas.
Monday and Saturday towards the East till 8 Ghatikas.
Tuesday and Wednesday towards the North till 12 Ghatikas.
Thursday towards the South till 22 Ghatikas.

On these days one should not travel towards the directions specified, but can do so in cases of emergency after the expiry of the said periods. (These are generally observed only by Hindus).

(An hour = 2½ Goatikas)

BRITISH WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

Avoirdupois Weight.

Drachm...dr. 27⅓ grains = (27·3437*5*).

Ounce...oz. 16 drachms = 437·5 grains = 28·350 grams.

Pound...lb. 16 = oz., 256 dr. 7,000 grains = 0·445359243 Kilogarams.

Customary Stone. st. = Butcher's Meat = 8 lb.

Legal Stone. st. = Horseman's weight = 14 lb. = 6.350 Kflograms.

Quarter.....qr. 28 lb. 12.70 Kilograms

Cental or Quintal, cent. = 100 lb. = 45·359243 Kilograms.

Hundered weight, cwt. = 4 qr. = 112 lbs. = 50·80 Kilograms,

Ton.....T. = 20 cwt. = 2,240 lb = 1.016 Kilograms.

N. B.—The Grain Troy is the same as the Grain Avoirdupois.

Avoirdupois weight is used in almost all Commercial transacitions and comemon dealings, but in addition to the above, there are special weights for various articles the chief of which are—

A quarter loaf.....	=	4 lb.
A Peck of Flour.2 Gallons.	=	14 ,,
A Firkin of Butter.....	=	56 ,,
A Firkin of Soft Soap.....	=	64 ,,
A box of fish, about.....	=	90 ,,
A Barrel of Gunpowder...	=	100 ,,
A Barrel of Raitins.....	=	112 ,,

A Seam of Glass 24 stones of 5 lb. = 120 lb.
A barrel of Butter—4 firkins = 224 lb
A barrel (or pack) of Soft Soap = 255 lb.
A Faggot of Steel..... = 120 lb.
A Pig of ballest..... = 56 lb.
A Fodder of Lead, London &
,, Hull	= 19½	cwt.
,, Derby	= 22½	,,
,, New Castle	= 21½	,,
A cask of blacklead..... = 11½		,,

A Sack—Flour, 280 lb ; Coals, 224 lb. ton of Coals, 10 sacks.

Troy Weight (Cold and Silver.)

Carat..... = 4 grains.

Pennyweight...dwt = 24 grains.

Troy Ounce.....oz. = 20 dwt., 480 gr.

Troy Pound...lb....12 oz. 240 cwt. 5 d. 760 grs.

Hundred weight. cwt. = 100 lb.

N.B.—The grain troy is the same as the grain avoirdupois.

Troy is the weight used by goldsmiths and jewellers. The grains Troy, Apothecaries' and Avoirdupois are equal, and the same in England, France, the United States, Holland and in most other countries: but the carat varies; in France it is 3·18 grains, in Holland 3·0 gr., and in the U. S. 3·2 gr. In the U. K., the jewellery ounce is divided into 151½ carats or 600 pearl grains.

The oz. Troy and Apothecaries' = 1·09714 oz. Avoirdupois; but the lb. Troy and lb. Apothecaries' only 4·88286 lb, avoirdupois; while 175 lb. Troy and Apothecaries' = 144 lb. avoirdupois.

For gold and silver the ounce, divided decimally and not into grains, is the sole unit or weight. The Troy ounce is the same as the Apothecaries' ounce—480 Avoirdupois grains in weight. There is no Troy pound.

Apothecaries' Weight.

Scruple	℈	= 20 Grains ...	= 20 grs.
Drachm	ʒ	3 Scrupples...	60 ,,
Ounce	℥	8 Drachms...	48 ,,
Pound	lb.	12 Ounces	= 5·760 ,.

The avoirdupois oz. of 437½ grains, and the lb. of 7,000 grains, are the weights named in the British Pharmacopœia: drugs are purchased by avoirdupois, but compounded by Apothecaries weight. The Apothecaries oz. and lb. may now be considered obsolete.

Apothecaries Fluid Measure.

60 Minims m. (drops)	= 1 Fluid Drach *f*ʒ
8 Fluid Drachms	= 1 Fluid Ounce f ℥
20 Fluid Ounces	= 1 Pint.
28 Pint ...	= 1 Gallon

A table-spoon = ½ Fluid oz. A tea-spoonful = ⅛ Fluid oz. A dessert-spoonful = ¼ Fluid oz. A tumlerful = 8 ozs. A tea-cupful = 4 to 5 ozs. A wine-glassful = 2 ozs. An egg cupful = 1 ounce.

1 Drachm = 1 tea-spoonful, 2 Drachms = 1 Dessert-spoonful. 2 Drachms = 1 table-spoonful. 2 Ounces = 1 wine-glassful, 3 Ounces = 1 tea cupful.

The Apothecaries' grain is the Avoirdupois grain and the Apothecaries' ounce is the Troy ounce of 480 grains. The Apothecaries drachm is not the same of the Avoirdupois dram and is spelt differently. A fluid ounce of distilled water at a temperature of 62° Fahrenheit is equal in weight to the Avoirdupois ounce. A fluid drachm is equal in weight two Avoidnpois drams.

Prescribing medicine by the spoon, glass or cupful, is unsafe, as all those vessels vary in size. Graduated glass measures may be purchased for a few Annas.

Hay and Straw.

Truss of Straw 36 lb. Truss of Old Hay, 56 lb. Truss of New Hay (to September 1st), 60 lb. Local of Lax or

Measure of Length—(contd.)

A cricket pitch is 22 yards between the stumps.

A Lawn Tennis Court in 78×36 feet (double) and 78×27 feet (single). A croquet lawn is 105×84 feet (full size) or a smaller multiple of 5×4 feet.

A Badminton Court is 44×20 feet with net, 3 inches deep and 5 feet high at centre.

A Polo ground is 300×160 yards.

A Food Ball ground (Association) is 120×80 yards (full size), Rugby, 110×75 yds. full size).

Square Surface or Land Measure.

The Square Foot contains 144 Sq Ins.
Sq. Yard=9 sq. feet=1,296sq. inches.
Rod, Pole or Perch=30¼ sq. yds.=272¼ ft.

100 sq. feet=1 sq. of flooring.

272¼ sq. feet=1 Rod of brickwork.

1 sq. chain=16 sq. yds.
484 yds.=4,356 sq. ft. 16 sq. poles.

Rood=40 perches=1,210 sq.. yds.=10,800 sq. ft.

Acre=4 roods=160 sq. Rods=4,840 sq yards.

1 Yard of land=30 acres 120 roods.
1 Hide=100 acres=400 roods.
10 sq chains=1 acre.
1 sq. mile=640 acres=2,500 rods=6,400 chains=102,400 rods, poles or perches, or 3,079,000 square yards.

Dimensions of an acre.—The Acre is 4,840 sq. yards or 220×23 yards. The length of a side of sq. Acre is 60·57 yards; an area 110×22 yards or (220×11 yards) would be half an acre; an area 55×22 yards or (110×11 yd.) would be one quarter of an acre and so on.

An Acre roughly stated has four equal sides of 69½ yards; accurate measurement gives each side 208·71 feet.

The sides of a square half-acre, would be 147·581 feet, and of a square quarter-acre. 104·355 feet.

The above Imperial Land Measure is now employed as the standard in the United Kingdom, in Canada, Australia, and the Colonies. generally also in the United States; but occasionally older measurements are referred to.

The Lancashire and Irish Acre. each of 160 perches, contains 7·840 sq. yards, equal to 1·619835 Status 1 Status=0·617347 Lancashire or Irish Acre.

The Cheshire Acre of 160 perches, each containing 64 square yards=10,240 yards.

The Cunningham Acre, equal to 1·91322 Statute or 1 Statute Acre is equal to 0·7744 Cunningham.

The Scottish Acre=1·261183 Statute (nearly 6, 104 square yards.)

Units of Area.

A square meter (m2) is a unit of area equivalent to the area of a square the sides of which are 1 meter.

A square yard (sq. yard) is a unit of area equivalent to the area of a square the sides of which are 1 yard.

1 square kilometer (km2)—10,000 square meters.

1 hectare (ha), or square hectometer (hm2)—10,000 square meters.

1 are (a), or square dekameter (dkm2) 100 square meters.

1 centare (ca)—1 square meter.

1 square decimeter (dm2)—0·01 square meter.

1 square centimeter (cm 2)—0·0001 sq. meter.

1 square millimeter (mm2)—0·00001 or square meter—0·001 square centimeter.

1 square foot (sq. ft.)—1·6 squares yard

1 square inch (sq. in.)—1·1296 square yard—1·144 square feet.

1 square link (sq. li.)—0·0484 square yard—62·7264 square inches.

1 square rod (sq. rd.)—30·25 sq. yds.—272·25 sq. feet—625 square links.

1 square chain (sq. ch.)—484 square yards—16 square rods—100,000 sq. links.

1 acre (a)—4,840 square yards—160 square rods—10 square chains.

1 square mile (sq. mi.)—8,097,600 sq. yards—640 acres.

Units of Volume.

A cubic meter (m3) is a unit of volume equivalent to a cube, the edges of which are 1 meter.

1 cubic yd. (c. yd.) is a unit of volume equivalent to a cube the edges of which are one yard.

1 cubic kilometer (km3)–1,000,000,000 cubic meters.

1 cubic hecto meter (hm2)—1,000,000 cubicmeters.

1 cubic dekametre (dkm)—1,000 cubic meters.

1 stere (s)—1 cubic meter.

1 cubic decimeter (dm3)—0·001 cubic meter

1 cubic centi meter (cm3)—0·000001 cubic meter—0·001 cubic centimeter.

1 cubic millimeter (mm3)·0·000,000,001 cubic meter—0·001 cubic centimeter.

1 cubic foot (cu. ft.)—1·27 cubic yard.

1 cubic inch (cu. in.)—11·46656 cubic yard—1·1728 cubic ft.

1 board foot—144 cubic inches—1/12 cubic foot.

1 cord (cd)—128 cubic feet.

Measures of Energy.

In Physics, the unit of force is the dyne, the amount that acting for one second on the gramme mass, gives it a velocity of one centimetre per second. The British unit is the poundal, which in one second gives one pound a velocity of one foot, per second. One poundal=13,825·5 dynes. In Meteorology the unit of atmospheric pressure is the Bar, equal to the pressure of 100,000 dynes (1 megadyne) per square centimetre. The Meteorological Bar is thus 1,00,00,00 Chemical Bars.

Horse-power is energy exerted at the rate of 550 foot pounds per second an alternative unit is the kilowatt (102 kilogram-meters per second)—737·59. foot pounds per second.

Thermal Unit.—The British Thermal Unit B Th..U. is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one pound of water through one degree Farenheit. The gas Therm=100,000 B. Th. U. V=cu. ft. If consumed, H=declared heat value of the Company's gas (in B. Th. U. per 1 cu. ft.) P=cost of therm in pence, B=total bill in pence—then B=V×H×P—100,000 whence equivalent cost (in pence) per 1,000 cu. ft= B×1,000—V=H×P—1000.

Practically the only measures in use are gallons, quarts, pints and gills, the others are merely nominal, e.g., the hogshead of 34 gallons, old measures, contains but 52 gallons, 1 qart, 1 pint, and 3·55 gills imperial measure; and of wine, six nominal quart bottles go to the gallon. Of wines imported in cask-the following are the usual measures ments.

Pipe of Port or Masdon ...	115	gallons.

Wheat and other cereals are commonly sold by weight, the bushel being thus reckoned:—

Wheat, English 63 lb. Foreign, 62 lb. Barley, English, 52 and 56 lb. French, 52½ lb. Mediterranean 50 lb. Oats, English, 40 and 42 lb. Foreign, 38 and 40 lb. Rye and Maize, 60 lb. Buckwheat, 52 lb. to the bushel. Grain of all kinds is frequently sold by the stone of 14 lb. Coke, apples, potatoes, and some other goods are sold by heaped measures and the sack of three bushels; of coke, four bushels are usual, FRUIT.—The Covent Garden bushel basket is 17½ inches in diameter at top. 10 inches at the bottom, and is 10 inches deep. The smaller market baskets are said to vary in size according to the sesson and the supply.

Definitions of Units—(contd.)

It is equivalent in volume to1·000427 cubic decimeters.

A gallon (gal.) is a unit of capacity equivalent to the volume of 231 cubic inches. It is used for the measurement of liquid commodities only.

A bushel (bu.) is a unit of capacity equivalent to the volume of 2150·42 c.inches. It is used in the measurement of dry commodities only.

This bushel is the so-called stricken or struck bushels many dry commodities are sold by heaped bushels, which is generally specified in the State Laws to be the usual stricken bushel measure "duly heaped in the form of a cone as high as the article will admit", "or heaped as high as may be without special effort or design." The heaped bushel was originally intended to be 25 per cent. greater than the stricken bushel,

1 dry pint (dry pt)—1/54 bushel—½ dry quart—33·6003,125 cubic inches,

1 barrel (for fruit, vegetables and other dry commodities) 3 — 7056 cubic inches—105 dry quarts' as fixed by United States Statute. approved on March 4, 1915.

DEFINITIONS OF UNIT OF MASS.

A kilogram (kg.) is a unit of mass equivalent to the mass of the international Prototype kilegram at the International Bureau of Weights and Measures.

An avoirdupois pound (lb. av.) is a unit of mass equivalent to 0·453,5924,277 kilogram.

A gram (g) is a unit of mass equivalent to one thousandth of mass of the international prototype kilogram at the International Bureau of Weights and Measures.

A troy pound (lb—t) is a unit of mass equivalent to 5760/7000 of that of the avoirdupois pound.

1 metric ton (t)—1,000 kilograms.

1 hectogram (hg)—100 grams—(0·01 kilogram.

1 dekagram (dkg) — 10 grams — 0·0 kilogram.

1 decigram (dg)—0·1 gram.

1 centigram (cg)—0·01 gram.

1 milligram (mg)—0·0001 gram.

Angular Measures.

The Earth rotates at a velocity of 15 degrees an hour about 17·366 miles a minute, at the Equator 1° is, therefore...equal to 4 minutes.

Circular Measures.

Diameter of a Circle × 3·1416 gives Circumference.

Diameter Squared × ·7854 gives Area of Circle.

Diameter Squared × 3·1416 gives Surface of Sphere.

Diameter Cubed × ·5236 gives Solidity of Sphere,

One Degree of Circumference × 57·3 gives Radius.

Diameter of Cylinder × 3·1416. and product by its length, or height gives the Surface.

Diameter Squared × ·7854 and product by the length. or height gives Solid content.

Circular Acre is 235·504 feet, a Circular Rood, 117·752 feet in diameter. The Circumference of the Globe is about 24,855 miles and, the Diameter about 7,900 miles.

Note:—A circle of 7 yards diameter has in practice a circumference of 22 yards—1 chain.

Electrical Measures.

Electrical measurements are expressed in tetms of the centimetre, the gramm, and the second (C.G.S. units) and the value of the units has been fixed by international agreement. The principal units are as follows—

Unit of resistance, the international Ohm which is based upon the ohm equal to 169 units of resistance of the C.G.S. system of electro-magnetic units and represented by the resistance offered to an unvarying electric current by a column of mercury at the temperature of melting ice, 14·4521 grammes in mass, of a constant cross sectionel area, and of a length of 106·3 centimetres.

Unit of current, the international Ampere, which is one-tenth of the unit of current of the C. G. S. system of electro-magnetic units and which is represented sufficiently well for practical use by the unvarying current which when passed through a solution of nitrate of silver in water in accordanee with a certain specification, deposits silver at the rate of 0·001118 of a gramme per second.

Unit of electro motive force, the international Volt which is the E.M.F. that, steadily aupplied to a conductor whose resistance is one international ohm, will produce a current of one international ampere, and which is represented sufficiently well for practical use by 1000/1434 of the E. M. F. between the poles of clectrodes of the voltaic cell known as Clark's cell at a temperature of 15° C, and prepared in the manner described in a certain specification.

Unit of quantity, the international Coulomb, which is the quantity of electricty transferred by a current of one inrernational ampere in one second.

Unit of capacity, the international Farad which is the capacity of a conductor charged to a potential of one international coulomb. The unit generally used in practice is one millionth part of this, or the microgard.

Unit of work, the Joule, which is 107 units of work in the C. G. S. system, and which is represented sufficiently well for practical use by the energy expended in one second by an international ampere in an internatlonal ohm. In practice the watt-hour is usually employed. It represents the work done by such a current in an hour, and equals 3,600 joules.

Unit of power, the Watt, which is 107 units of power in the C. G. S. system, and which is represented sufficiently well for practical use by the work done at the rate of one joule per second. 746 watts—1 horse-power and the value of a Board of Trade unit (B.O.T.U.) is 1,000 watt hours or 3,600,000 joules or 1⅓ horse power hours.

Unit of induction, the Henry, which is the induction in the circuit when the E.M.F. induced in the circuit is one international volt while the inducing current varies at the rate of one international ampere per second.

For practical and commercial purposes, the chief units are the—

VOLT—Electromotive force = about 22·6% of that given by one Daniall's battery cell.

OHM—Resistance=the resistance offered to the passage of a current of electricity by a thread of mercury 105 cm. long, and 1 mm. cross section at the temperature of melting ice.

AMPERE.—Current=the current 1 volt will drive through 1 ohm.

COULOMB.—Quantity=1 ampere flowing in 1 second of time.

MICROFARAD—Capacity = ·000001 coulomb at 1 volt pressure.

WATT.—Power=44 ft. lb per minute.

Board of Trade Unit = 1,000 watts 1 hour, 746 watts=1 horse-power.

In incandescent lamps of 16 candle. power, (nominal) about four watts are required, per candle power to give good economical results for domestic purposes.

One Board of Trade unit wil keep a I6 candle incandescent lamp a light for about 16 hours.

METRIC WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

The Metric System is based upon the (assumed) length of the direct distance from the Equator to the North Pole. The ten millionth part of this distance, as calcutated in 1795, was adopted by the French Government as the unit of length and called a metre. All other measurements are derived from this unit; the cube of the tenth part of the metre is the unit of capacity, called a litre, and the weight of a little of water, at a certain temperature is the unit of weight, called a kilogramme. The unit of land measurement is 100,000 sq. metres, called a hectare. The above terms are now used in this country under the English names of meter, litre, kilogramme and hectare.

The Metric System is used in Belgium, France, Germany. Italy, Portugal, Spain, Sweden and Norway, and some other countries, the unit of which is the Gramme=15·432 grains; the chief multiple of the Gramme is the Kilogramme=2·2046 lb.: in practical use this is found inconvenient for small purchases, and nearly all commodities are sold by the demi or half kilo. The Centner of 50 kilos=110¼ lb., very nearly represents the English cwt; but heavy goods are sold by the Tonneau of 2204·621 lb.; about 19 cwt. 77 lb., the Myriagramme being ignored.

In the United States and in Canada the cwt. is generally reckoned as 100 lb. and the ton of 20 cwt.=2,000 lbs. (one Short Ton).

In Russia the Pood of 36 lb. is the commercial weight; 622 Poods=1 English ton.

BRITISH WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

The Unit of the British Indian Ponderary System is called the Tola. It weighs 180 grains English troy Weight, as does the Rupee. From it upwards are derived the heavy weights, viz., Chattack, Seer and Maund; and by its subdivision, the small or jewellers' weights called Mashas Ruttees and Dhans.

Weight (Precious Stones.)

4 grains—296 milligrams—1 carat—3·16831 grains (troy and avoirdupois).

METRICAL STANDARDS AND EQUIVALENTS.

The following equivalents of metric weights and measures in terms of imperial weights and measures for use in trade were sanctioned by an order in Council on the 19th May 1898:—

LINEAR MEASURE.

1	inch	... ·2·54 centimetres.
1	foot	... 30·4799 centimetres.
1	yard	... ·914399 metre.
1	mile	... 1·6093 kilometres—5280 ft.
1	chain	... 20·1168 metres 22 yards.
1	metre	39·370113 inches. / 3·28084 feet. / 1·093614 yards.
1	centimetre	... ·39370113 inch.
1	kilometre	... ·62137 mile.
1	radion	... 57·206 degrees (angular measure).

SQUARE MEASURE.

1	sq. inch	... 6·4516 sq. centimetres.
1	sq. foot	... 9·2903 sq. decimetres.
1	rood	... 0·836126sq. metre.
1	acre	... 10·117 acres — 40 perches.
1	sq. mile	... 0·40468 hectare.
1	sq. centimetre	... 259 hectare.
1	sq. metre	... 0·155 sq. inch.
1	acre ...	10·7639 sq. feet. / 1·1960 sq. yards.
1	hectare	... 119·60 sq. yards—100 sq, metres.
1	sq. yard	... 2·3711 acres—10,000 sq, metres.

CUBIC MEASURE.

1	c. inch	... 16·387 c. centi-metres.
1	c. foot	... 0·028317 c. metre —28·317 litres.
1	c. yard	... 0·7633353 c. metre—763·553 litres.
1	gallon	... 4·545963 —resilt 0·1605 c. foot.
U. S. A.	gallon	... 231 c. inches —0·83254 imperial gall.
		... 1·7598 pints — ·2200 gallon,

1	c. centimetre	... ·061 c. inch.
1	c. decimetre	... 61·024 c. inches.
1000	c. centimetres	... 1 litre—0·0275 bushel.
1	c. metre	... 35·3148 c. feet—1·307954 c. yards.

WEIGHIT.

1	grain(avoirdupois) and troy)	... ·0648 grame.
	penny weight	... 1·5552 grams.
1	dram (avoirdupois).	1.772 grams.
1	ounce (16 drams)	... 28·350 grams.
1	ounce (troy and apothecary)	... 31·1035 grams.
1	pound (16 ounces).	0·45359 kilogram.
1	hundred weight	... 112pounds—50·8 kilograms,
1	British ton	... 2240 pounds—1016 kilograms —1·016 tonnes.
1	American	... 2000 pounds — 0·908 tonne.
1	Miligram	... ·015 grain.
1	gram	... 15·32 grains—Weight of 1 c. cm. of water as 4 deg. Centigrade
1	kilograme	... 2.20462 lbs.
11	quintal	... 100 kilograms—1·968 cwts.
1	tonne	... ·9843 British ton 1000 kilograms.

Definitions of Units of Length

A meter (m) is a unit of length equivalent to the distance between the defining lines on the international prototype meter at the international Bureau of Weights and Measures when this standard is at the temperature of melting ice (O deg. C.)

A yard (yd) is unit of length equivalent to 3600·3937 of a meter.

1 Kilometer (km)—1000 meters
1 hectometer (hm)—100 meters
1 dekameter (dkm)—10 meters
1 decimeter (dm)—0·1 meter
1 centimeter (cm)—0·01 meter
1 millimeter (mm)—0·001 meter—0·1 centimeter.
1 micron (u)—0·000001 meter—0·001 millimeter.
1 millimicron (mu)—0·000000001 meter—0·001 micron.
1 foot (ft) 1⅓ yard—1200·3937 meter.
1 inch (in)— 1/36 yard—1/12 foot—10·03937 meter.
1 link (li)—022 yards—7·92 inches
1 rod (rd) —5½ yards—16 feet.
1 chain (ch)—22 yards—100 links—66 feet—4 rods.
1 furlong (fur)—220 yards 40 rods—10 chains.
1 statute mile (mi)—1760 yards 5280 feet—320 rods.
1 hand—4 inches.
1 Point—1·72 inch.
1 mil—0·001 inch.
1 fathom—6 feet.
1 span—9 inches—1·8th fathom.
1 nautical mile } United States.
1 see mile. }
1 geographical mile 6080·20 feet—1,151,1853·259 meters.
553 statute miles—1853259 meters.

Jeweller's Weight

The Metric carat of 200 milegrammes is the legal standard of weight for precious stones and pears.

Grain Measures

5 Chataks Koonkee.
4 Koonkees 1 Raik.
2 Raiks 1 Palle.
16 Pallies 1 Maund.
2½ Maunds 1 Sali.

Nautical Measure

6 feet 1 fathom.
100 fathoms 1 cable length.
10 cables 1 nautical miles 1 degree.
60 nautical miles 1 degree.

The assumed length of the cable is 600. The conventional Nautical mile (the knot in speed measurements) is 10 cables assumed at 6,080 feet but the Nautical mile is strictly the length of a minute of the meridian and differs according to latitude.

NOTE.—Books are usally bound up in sheets of 16 or 32 pages. Octavo books are generally printed 64 pages at a time (32 pages on each side of a sheet of quad); a crown of octavo book of 320 pages will therefore require 5 sheets of quad crown and a ream will provide 100 books the odd 16 sheets being reckoned as waste. News papers (and books circulating in large numbers) are printed on Rotary Presses for which the paper is supplied on reels (and not in cut reams.

Sizes of Type.

All Founders cast their type to one uniform height ("type high") which is 11/12 inch. Individual letters vary in breadth but the "body" of each character is of uniform depth throughout the alphabet in each fount. The unit of breadth is the Pica M (Em)' of which, side by side, occupy one inch of space. The unit of depth is the Point (72 Points—1 inch) so that 6 lines of 12 Point occupy 1 inch in depth. The names and sizes of the various founts are:—

Useful Memoranda and measurement Rates.

1. Water—One cubic foot weights approximately 1,000 oz. Avoirdupois = 62·4 lbs.—·557 cwts.—0·28 tons and contains 6 253 gallons.
2. One cubic yard weights 14·905 cwts—75·034 tons, contains 27 cubic feet—168·8 gallons.
3. One cubic metre weights, 215, 888 cwts—approximately 1 ton.
4. One ton equals 224 gallons—35·98 c. feet cube.
5. One gallon imperial at 62·0. Fahrenheit weights 70·000 grains approximately 10 lbs. and contains 8 pins = ·1604 cubic teet.
6. One foot ahead—48,335 lbs. pressure per square inch.
7. One pound pressure per square inch—27·71 inches head 2·3093 feet head.
8. One cubic foot ice weights 57·2 lbs.; specific gravity—·9715.
9. Water expands 1·12th in becoming ice.
10. Water compresses 1·16th of an inch for each atmosphere 15 lbs. per square inch.
11. Water boils at 212° Fahrenheit at sea level and at 10° less for every 520 feet of elevation.
12. Sea water weights 1¾ lbs. per cubic foot more than fresh water.
13. Water power: 8·814 cubic feet falling 1 foot per second.—528,840 cubic feet, falling 1 foot per minute — 33,000 feet pounds per minute-one horse power (theoretical.)
14. 62·4 by cubic feet falling per second by height in feet—Horse-power.
15. Rainfall—one inch per hour per acre—nearly 1 cubic foot per second per acre—22·622 gallons or 107 tons per acre per hour.
16. One inch per hour on a square mile—64·632 cubic feet per second per square mile.
17. Single cart—25 cubic feet. Ash cart—16 cubic feet.
18. Useful number—

MADRAS PRESIDENCY

A Short Summary

The Madras Presidency is the Southernmost of the Indian Provinces. The Coast Line extends from Orissa in Bengal to Cape Comorin. On the West are the Indian States of Travancore and Cochin. After that Madras Presidency again extends till the Bombay Presidency at the northern extremity of the South Canara District. In the centre of the Peninsula are the Nagpur Country and Berar, the territories of the Nizam, generally known as the Deccan, and the Province of Mysore; but all the country south and east of Mysore belongs to the Madras Presidency.

The Presidency occupies an area of 142,260 square miles; excluding the area occupied by five Indian States of Sandur, Banganapalle, Pudukottah, Cochin and Travancore.

The Presidency has a Coast Line of about 1700 miles, and there is a large area of country but little elevated above the sea level. Mountain ranges run northward from Cape Comorin along the Western Coast, attaining an elevation in some parts of from 4000 to nearly 9000 feet. Ranges of hills follow also the general line of the East Coast. The Anaimudi Mountain in the Annamalai Range is the highest in Southern India, its summit being 8837 feet above the sea level. The drainage of the Peninsula is for the most part from West to East into the Bay of Bengal. The Country slopes from the Eastern base of the Western Mountain chain down to the Coromandel Coast, while the fall is sudden and precipitous on the western side of the mountains. The centre of the Peninsula consists of undulating tablelands from 1000 to 3000 feet above the level of the sea.

Where the mountain range is of great height, as between Malabar and Coimbatore, the rain clouds are almost entirely diverted from the districts immediately below the mountains on the eastern side, and while the annual rainfall on the western side may be 150 inches, not more than 20 inches will be registered on the eastern side immediately within the influence of the mountain ranges. Where the mountain chain is of lower elevation, the rain clouds pass over the hills, and rain is precipitated in uncertain and varying amount over the peninsula to the east of the Western Ghauts, but except in the northern districts where the rainy season approximates to that of Bengal, the heaviest rainfall of the Southern portion of the eastern division of the peninsula occurs during the period of the north-west monsoon. During the continuance of the monsoon, the western ranges of the mountains have a similar effect in arresting the rainclouds so that at the season of the year, when the Carnatic is deluged by heavy rain, the Western Coast Districts enjoy clear weather.

To the physical barrier of the Western Ghauts must be attributed, not only the vast difference of climate but also those in the nature of the productions in the eastern and western divisions of the peninsula. In the former the uncertain and capricious character of the rainfall has taught the cultivators of the soil the necessity of making provision for the storage of water for irrigation purposes, and the existence of innumerable tanks or reservoirs scattered all over the country, testify to the fact that from periods of remotest antiquity, the inhabitants of the tracts of country, which receive an irregular rainfall have exercised great ingenuity and readiness of resource in the construction of public works for the artificial irrigation of the soil. On the western side, the periodical rains fall with great regularity, although in certain exceptional years there may be partial failures of crops, absolute famine as a result of bad seasons. Only three districts in the Madras Presidency lie within the influence of the never failing rains of the South-west monsoon.

The chief staples of Madras Presidency are rice, cholum, cumboo, ragi and varagu amongst food grains; gingelly amongst oil-seeds; and chillies, tobacco, sugarcane, plantains and betel-leaf amongst garden crops. Cotton is cultivated to an extent almost equalling that of ragi. The trees most grown for their fruits are: Cocoanuts, arecanut, jack, tamarind and mango. Rice is produced in largest quantities in the alluvial and highly-irrigated districts of Tanjore, East and West Godavari Kistna and Guntur, Malabar and Kanara where the rainfall is abundan,t cholum is plenty in Bellary and Kurnool while cumboo and ragi are extensively grown in the Districts of Salem and Coimbatore. Cocoanut trees are grown in the Districts of Malabar and Kanara and arecanut palms in the lower slope of the Western Ghuts.

The Madras Presidency consists of five linguistic boundaries. Telugu language is spoken by the people of the Northern Circars, and in a portion of the Nizam's country, Kurnool, Cuddapah, part of North Arcot, Nellore and some part of Bellary. Tamil is the languages of the Districts from a few miles north of Madras to the extreme south of the eastern division of the peninsula. Malayalam is the language of Travancore, Cochin and the Malabar Districts. Tulu is spoken in a limited portion of the South Canara District, and Canarese in certain portions of the Bellary Coimbatore, Salem and South Kanara Districts. Besides these five Dravidian languages the hill tribes of certain districts have dialects of their own. People from the Maharatta have settled in the South and in all the large towns there are colonies of silk weavers from Gujaret who still speak a language of their own There is no instance of the Tamil people pushing their colonies up towards the north. The migrations appear to have been always from north to South. In the large military cantonments of Secunderabad and Bangalore, there are Tamil speaking populations..

The earliest inhabitants of Southern India were the pre-historic builders of the cairns, barrows and kistvens and dolmens found in many districts; the makers of the rude stone weapons discovered in considerable quantities on the tops of the hills of the Deccan, and the authors of the more finished utensils and implements now in course of excavation at the burial ground discovered in Adichanallur and other places in Tinnevelly. The earliest historical evidence is that furnished by the edicts of the Buddhist Emperor Asoka which have been discovered at Jaugada in Ganjam and in a village in Mysore close to the border of Bellary. These perhaps go to show that about 250 B. C. at least the northern half of the Presidency formed part of the Mauryan dominions. The south of it was divided between the Pandyas of Madura, who governed the extreme south, the Cholas who hold the country north and east of them, and the Cheras (Keralas), who ruled the West Coast.

In the north, Mauryans were succeeded by the Andhras. They were Buddhists, and by them were erected the splendid marble Stupa at Amaravati and the other Budhist buildings of which ruins occur in Kistna and Guntur Districts. Their curios are still found in some of those parts. About the 5th Century after Christ the Chalukyas, who were immigrants from more northern parts, began to grow in importance in Western Deccan. In the seventh century they divided into two branches, a Western and an Eastern.

The latter conquered the Pullava kings of the Vengi country, the tract detween the Kistna and Godavari rivers and south of Kalinga—and settled in that locality. Alongside it, in the south-west of the Deccan and the north of Mysore, the Kadambas, whose capital was at Bhavanas in North Kanara, now rose to power. They defeated the Pallavas of Conjeevaram and continuously harrassed the western Chalukyas.

At the end of this period the Western Chalukyas rose to prominence and maintained their position until A. D. 1189, when they were finally overthrown by two of their own feudatories, the Yadavas of Deogiri and the Hoysalas of Dorasamudra, the modern Helebid in Mysore. Meanwhile, in the South and the East, the Cholas of Tanjore were extending their boundaries. By 999 they acquired the whole of the Coast possessions of the Eastern Chalukyas. These events form the first great landmarks in the history of Southern India.

At the end of the thirteenth century, the three dynasties of Southern India were the Hoysalas, the Cholas and the Pandyas. At the beginning of the 14th century, the Mussalmans of Delhi appeared suddenly. In 1303, the ruling King of the Khilji dynasty of Delhi sent his first expedition into the Deccan and seven years later, the armies of his general Malik Kafur, swept like; torrent down the peninsula. The Yadavas, Hoysalas, Ganapathis, Cholas and Pandyas were defeated and suppressed. There were Mussalman Governors, representatives of the said ruling families and local chiefs struggling for supremacy, until out of the confusion rose the Kingdom of Vijayanagar, which from its capital at Humpi in the Bellary District for the next two centuries and a hafa checked the southward expansion of Mohammedan power.

The Hindu chieftains admitted its sovereignty more willingly, and from chiefs, its rulers quickly grew into kings and from kings into Emperors. Within a century and a half from the foundation of the capital at Vijayanagar they governed the whole of the peninsula from the Kistna to Cape Comorin. The Empire reached the height of its power under Kistna Deva (1509-1530).

In 1686 Aurangzeb the Moghul Emperor of Delhi, marched South to reduce Bijapur and Golconda. He took Bijapur in that year and Golconda in the next and the territories which had been won by these two kingdoms from the Hindu, thus became a portion of the Moghul Empire.

In 1724, Asaf Jah, the Viceroy whom the Moghul Emperor had appointed to govern his conquests in the South and who bore the title of Nizam-ul-Mulk threw off all real allegiance to his suzerain and made himself virtually independent. He and his successors are known in history as Nizams or Subhadars of the Deccan and their chief subordinate in the South was the Nawab of the Carnatic, otherwise called the Nawab of Arcot.

Meanwhile, the Hindu Kingdom of Mysore had become more powerful owing largely to the exploits of a soldier of fortune in its army named Haidar Ali. He rapidly gained authority in the kingdom, and in 1761, he usurped its throne.

The Portuguese were the first nation to form a settlement here.

By the beginning of the sixteenth century, they had occupied Calicut and Goa on the West Coast. Vasco-da Gama had visited that part as early as 1498. For a century they prospered; but they were feebly supported at home after the union of Portugal with Spain and eventually before the progress of the Dutch.

From the beginning of the seventeeth century the Dutch, who had long been powerful in the Eastern Archipelago, settled at Pulicat, Sadras and other places along the East and West Coasts. They ousted the Portuguese, but because of the remoteness of their headquarters at Batavia, they soon dropped out of the race. Another European Nation came on to India; and in 1674, Francis Martin founded and fortified the town of Pondicherry which has since been the French Head quarters in the Peninsula. In 1742 the famous Dupleix succeeded to the Governorship of the place, and rendered it the one European settlement in the South.

The earliest settlements of the English within the Presidency were at Vizampatam and Masulipatam at which place Capt. Hippon of the ship Globe landed in 1611 and founded factories. Five years later, settlements were planted on the West Coast at Cranganur and Calicut by the permission of the Zamorin. In 1619 another settlement was effected at Pulicat, but the jealousies of the Dutch compelled its abandonment. In 1865 two years after the massacre of the English by the Dutch at Amboyna, the Company's Agents at Bantam in Java despatched a vessel to Armagon in the present Nellore District and set up a small trading establishment there.

In 1639, Francis Day, the chief Official of Armagon, sought for and obtained through a subordinate of the last representative of the Vijayanagar dynasty, who was then living at Chandragiri in North Arcot, the grant of the land on which Fort St George now stands. A small Fort was at once erected, and two years later, the place became the Company's headquarters on the Coromandel Coast. In 1653, Fort St. George was raised to the rank of a Presidency, independent of Bantam, and in 1658 the factories in Bengal were placed under its orders. In 1690 the Company purchased from the Marathas the land on which Fort St. David, near Cuddalore, now stands. And at the end of the century, there were also English Factories within the present limits of the Madras Presidency at Porto Novo, Madapollam, Vizagapatam, Anjengo, Tellicherry and Calicut. In 1741, the War of the Austrian Succession lit the first flame of a conflict between them and the French which lasted until the capture of Pondicherry in 1761, followed by the Peace of Paris in 1763.

In 1757, news reached India that War again had broken out in Europe between England and France and the forces of the two nations in the South were once more at each other's throats. The advantage at first lay with the French. They captured the English Forts of Vizagapatam, Fort St. David & Devicottai, and in 1758, they besieged Madras. Col. Ford who had been despatched by Clive from Bengal to the Northern Circars had signally defeated them at Condore and captured Masulipatam. Farther South, the struggle culminated in the battle of Wandivash in which Eyre Coote utterly defeated the French under Lally. Gingee, Arcot and other minor French settlements fell in quick succession, and in May 1760, the English were in a position to attack Pondicherry itself. Pondicherry surrendered in January 1761. With the other French possessions it was restored by the peace of Paris in 1763 that the power of the French in Southern India was never again formidable and it was thus in the Madras Presidency that question was decided which of the European nations should be supreme in India.

We have now reached the middle of the 18th century, when the native powers were the Mussalmans under the Nizam of the Deccan and the Nawab of the Carnatic, Mysore under Hyder Ali and the Mahrattas. The only European Force was that of the English, and between these four were the struggle for possession of the peninsula. The Nizam and the Mahrattas invited the English to assist them in clipping the wings of Haidar who was encroaching upon their territories. Haidar however bought off both Mussalmans and Mahrattas, and then made a descent upon the English possessions in the Carnatic. Warren Hastings, then Governor General of Bengal despatched Sir Eyre Coote to Madras with reinforcements; six years later, war once more ensued with Mysore, Tippu having provoked hostilities by raiding the native state of Travancore, which was in alliance with the British, Lord Cornwallis, the Governor - General, commanded forces in the field in person, and this time the British were assisted by the Nizam and the Marattas. After two years' fighting Seringapatam, the Mysore capital, was beseiged; and thereupon Tippu, in 1792, agreed to cede to the Allies, one half of his territories and to pay an indemnity of three crores and fifty lakhs of rupees; The British share of the territory thus ceded included the country round Dindigul and the Districts of Salem and Malabar. Lord Morningtn, the new Governor-General, realised the danger to British supremacy in India and came South to deal with the situtation. The Nizam and the Mahrattas again joined the British. Tippu after a terrible resistance in the field, retired to Seringapatam. The fortress was stormed on May 4th, 1799, and Tippu's body was found among the slain. A representative of Hindu dynasty, whose rights had been usurped by Haidar in 1761, was placed upon the throne of Mysore proper and the rest of Tippu's territories were divided between the allies. The share of the British included Kanara, Coimbatore and Wynaad.

In the same year 1799, the Mahratta Rajah of the principality at Tanjore, in return for aid received in gaining the throne, executed a treaty resigning the administration of his kingdom to the Company in consideration of an annual payment. In 1800, the Nizam ceded to the Company, in return for a subsidiary force to be established in his dominions, all the territories he had acquired from Mysore at the partitions of 1792 and 1799. These tracts included the present Districts of Bellary, Anantapur, Caddapah and part of Kurnool, which are still known as the "Ceded Districts". When Seringapatam fell in 1799, a reasonable corespondence had been discovered between Tippu and the Nawab of Carnatic, who was nominally the ally of the Company. In consequence, after many negotiations a treaty was concluded with the Nawab in 1801, under which he resigned the Government of his country to the Company, but retained the titular dignity and received a considerable stipend. The existing representative of the family bears the title of Prince of Arcot and has the position of the first native nobleman of Madras.

The Company had thus obtained possession of the whole of the Madras Presidency from Cape Comorin to the Northern Circars, except part of the Kurnool District, the Danish Station of Tranquebar, the exsting French settlements at Pondicherry and other places and the territories of the five Native States still in subordination to the Madras Government.

The territories thns rapidly acquired at the end of the 18th and the beginning of the 19th century were in most cases reduced to order with little trouble. The poligars in the Ceded Districts had to be suppressed by an armed force and the turbulance of those in the extreme south necessitated more than one regular campaign. In the Northern Circars, the Hill Chiefs gave trouble as late as 1836. The last occasion on which the employment of regular troops was necessary was the rebellion in the Rampa Hill tracts of the Godavari Agency in 1879.

The chief remains of the historic times consist (beside coins) of incriptions, temples and forts. During the last thrity years, much has been done to survey, describe and preserve these links with the past. In 1882 the first list of antiquities in the Presidency was published and about the same time, archaeological survey in charge of a specialist was set on foot, while a few years later, a Government Epigraphist was appointed. These two officers make annual reports of the results of their works and also publish the more important of their discoveries in the Imperial series of Reports of the Archaeological Survey of India and in South Indian Inscriptions, the Epigraphia Indica and elsewhere. Madras Museum contains the well-known collection made in the Nilgiris by Mr. Breeks,

The Madras Presidency, according to existing boundary divisions, is made up of 26 districts, namely Northern, Vizagapatam, East Godavari, West Godavari, Kistna and Guntur; East Central, including Nellore, Madras, Chingleput, Chittoor, North Arcot and South Arcot; Ceded Districts including Kurnool, Bellary, Cuddappah and Anantapur; West Central including Salem, Coimbatore and the Nilgiris; Southern including Tanjore, Trichinopoly, Madura, Ramnad and Tinnelvelly; West Coast including South Kanara and Malabar.

The first six districts are known as the "Northern Circars". Prio to 1859 and 1860, these Circars consisted of five districts, but in that year the three districts of Rajamundry, Masulipatam and Guntur were divided to form the Godavari and Kistna districts, with effect from 1st October, 1904, the latter have been again spilt up into three distaicts known as: Godavari, Kistna and Guntur. The Northern districts were formerly under the Nizam's Government, and in that time, the divisions were as follows: Guntur, Condapally, Ellore, Rajamundry and Chicacole. They came finally into British possession in the year 1823 by payment to the Nizam's Government of Rs. 11,66,666 in lieu of an annual tribute. When these districts fell into the hands of the East India Company, they consisted chiefly of large estates held by renters or zemindars of lands called "Havelly" which were the old "demesnes" or private estates of former rulers and of tracts near the principal towns which had been resumed by the Mohammedan Governors of the districts, and appropriated for the support of their numerous bands of soldiers and public establishments. For some years prior to 1855-56, these Northern Ciscars were under the charge of a separate Commissioner, but each district had then also its own revenue and judicial establishments. The appointment of Commissioner of the Northern Circars was abolished in June 1856. The Kistna District was split up into the districts of West Godavari and Kistna.

In the year 1859-60 the two districts of Madras town and Chingleput were amalgamated into a single district, the collection of Sea Customs revenue being separately provided for; in the year 1870, the Chingleput district was again divided as before, leaving the administraction of the Madras Town in the hands of the Sea Customs Collector. The Chingleput district was obtained from the Nawab of Arcot in 1763 in return for services rendered to him and his father by the Company. The grant was confirmed by the Great Moghul in 1765, and for a long time, the district was known as the "Jaghire" of the East India Company. The site of the town of Madras was obtained in the year 1640 by a grant from the descendants of Vijianagar rulers subsequently confirmed by the Moghul Government.

The districts of Bellary and Cuddapah were ceded to the English by the Nizam in 1800 for the maintenance in perpetuity of a body of troops known as the Hyderabad subsidiary force and as payment for troops furnished during the Mysore Wars. The territories so made over are still known as the Ceded Districts.

In 1800 the rights of sovereignty exercised by the Nizam over the Kurnool country as Subadhar of the Deccan became vested in East India Company. The Nizam, in the treaty of partition, gave over to the British all his possessions south of Tungabhadra and Kistna rivers below their junction. At this time, the rulers of the Kurnool country paid an yearly tribute of one lakh of rupees to the Nizam. In 1839, the Kurnool District through the rebellion of then the ruler of the country, was placed under British Administration.

The districts of Salem and Coimbatore came into British possession, the former in 1792 by the treaty of Seringapatam, and the latter in 1799 after the final defeat of Tippu and the partition of his territory between the British, the Nizam and the legitimate successor to the Mysore Government—the Maharajah of Mysore.

The Nilgiri Hills, formerly a Taluk of the Coimbatore District, was constituted a separate District under Act 1 of 1868.

The two districts of Malabar and Kanara, on the western side of the Ghats fell into the possession of the British in 1792 and 1799 respectively. Kanara was in 1850 divided into North and South Kanara for administrative purposes, and in 1860 North Kanara was transferred, for convenience af administration, from the Madras to the Bombay Presidency. The Taluk of Coondapoor, which formerly belonged to North Kanara, is now attached to South Kanara.

South Indian Federation of Agricultural Workers' Union. 1929.—8, Westcott Road, Madras, 14. Originally started as "Betterment League" in Karur and Kulitalai; later on formed into Agricultural Labour Unions from 1939; were affiliated to the All-India Trade Congress till 1942; later finding that this body mainly represented industrial labour, formed a separate organization in May 1941 for Tamil Nad. An Association was started in 1937 for Zamindari Ryots. This developed in two years to the 'Tamil Nad Zamin Ryots' Association'; in view of the starting of independent Kisan organizations by the Communists from the latter half of 1943, it was considered necessary to consolidate the strength of the Associations working on peaceful parliamentary democratic and trade union methods, it was decided to form one Tamil Nad Agricultural Workers' Union from August 1943 with three sections; for cultivating tenants and agricultural labour; for cultivating owners; and for ryots in Zamindari areas. In January 1946 the jurisdiction of the Association was expanded to the whole province of Madras and the name changed into "South Indian Federation of Agricultural Workers' Unions"; mainly working in Kulitalai, Karur, Musiri, and Musiri Taluks, the Taluks of North Vizag. A SHORT NOTE ON THE UNIVERSITY

The University of Madras was founded under the Act of Incorporation XXVII of 1857. Indian University Act VIII of 1904 was passed with the intention of reoganizing the Universities in India and supervising the Colleges affilated to the University. This Act again has been superseded by the Madras University Act VII of 1923, which was passed by the Legislative Council of Madras early in 1923, and came into force on lst May, 1923, This act was amended in 1929.

This new Act was passed so as to reorganize the University "with a view to establish a teaching and residential University at Madras while enabling the University to continue to exercise due control over the colleges affiliated to it." The Chancellor, the Pro-Chancellor, the Vice. Chancellor, the Senate, Syndicate, and the Academic Council constitute the body corporate of the University. The visitor of the University is the Governor-General; the Chancellor is the Governor of Madras, the Pro-Chancellor is the Minister for Education: the Vice-Chancellor is a whole-time officer, to whom a salary may be paid. He holds office ordinarily for three years, and is appointed by the Chancellor from among three persons recommended by the Senate. The authorities of the University under this Act are (1) the Senate, (2) the Syndicate, (3) the Academic Council, 4) the Faculties. (5) the Boards of Studies, and (6) such other authorities as may be declared by the Statutes to the Authorities of the University.

The present Senate under the new Act consists of 210 members made up of Class II—4 Life members, Class III—other members consisting of 30 members elected by Registered Graduates, 20 members by the Academic Council, 12 members by the non-official members of the Legislative Council from among their own body, 5 members elected by the Principals of second grade colleges, 3 members by Headmasters of Secondary Schools, 4 members by the Corporation of Madras from among their own body, 36 members by the District Boards and Municiplitis from among themselves, 2 members by the Madras Chamber of Commerce, 2 members elected by the Madras Landhosders' Association and by Muhammadan Educational Association of Southern India; 30 members nominated by the Chancellor and 6 members representing the chief vernacular languages in the Presidency. The Senate is the supreme governing body of the University having power to reveiw the action of the Syndicate and the Academic Council.

The Syndicate consists of the Vice-Chancellor and the Director of Public Instruction as ex-officio members, 8 members elected by the Senate from among its members, 6 members elected by the Academic Council from among its members, and 3 members nominated by the Chancellor. The Syndicate is the chief executive authority of the University having powers to administer the property and funds of the University and to regulate and determine all matters concerning the Universiy in accordance with the Act, Statutes and Ordinances.

The Academic Council consists of about 190 members and has power io advise the Syndicate on all Academic matters, to make regulations regarding the admission of students to the University and relating to courses of study and examinations to make proposal to the Syndicate for the institution of professorship, readerships, lectureships, etc., and to control and manage University Libraries.

The University has no direct control over high school education in the Presidency, but recognizes for University purposes the High Schools under the control of the Department of Education. Under the new Act the Intermediate Examination in Arts and Science is the admission test to the University Degree courses.

Under the new Act, colleges are either constituent or affiliated; Constituent Colleges are those which are maintained or recognized by the University in accordance with the provisions of the Act and which are situated within the "limits of the University" which means the territory within a radius of ten miles from Fort St, George. Affiliated colleges are those which are situated outside the limits of the University and affiliated to the University as consituted prior to the commencement or the new Act or admitted to the privileges of affiliation under conditions prescribed in this behalf.

Under the new Act the Government have undertaken to contribute annually under section 44—2 (a) "a sum equal to the amount of contribution by the Local Government in the financial year prior to the coming into force of this Act towards the recurring expenditure of the University". The Government have also under section 44—2 (b) sanctioned a sum equal to the salary of the Vice-Chancellor.

The University Library is located in the spacious new buildings immediately north of the Senate House.

A Short History of Madras City

Madras is in lat. 139 N. Long. 80·16 E. The area included within the municipal boundary limits is some thirty square miles; the extreme length of the city from north to south is about nine miles, the greatest breadth at any one point about four miles. The city presents in the foreground a magnificent line of noble edifices on a level sandy shore made pleasing to the eye by green clumps of trees at intervals. The placid blue sea breaks in surf along the line, and the whole scene is dominated by the flag which floats in the tropical air from the flagstaff of Fort St. George. In the distant background are seen some low hills, the Buildings on which may be visible even to the naked eye on a clear day. The general pleasing aspect of the city from the sea has been the same during the three centuries nearly since the old Fort of Cogan and Day was built. "It is, without exception, the prettiest place I ever saw", wrote Mrs. Kindersley, a young and adventurous lady, who travelled alone to India to meet her husband in 1765.

Madras was first a fisherman settlement called Madraspatam. Two miles south of it was the Portuguese trading settlement. The English merchants at Masulipatam wished to have a more suitable place and after several attempts at settlement, Francis Day landed at Madraspatam, and decided to found a settlement here.. In South India, the first factory established by the English was the one at Masulipatam, but the first fortified settlement of the English, was at Armagon. Francis Day, the Chief of Armagon, went Southwards in search of a new settlement. He received overtures from Damarla Venkatadri the Naick of Poonamallee, to establish an English settlement at Madras and it is also stated the Naick desired that town should be named after his father, Chennappa Naick. Day selected a site in Madraspatam and obtained from the Naick in 1639 a grant of the site and a cowle to build a fort on it. Francis Day and his chief, Andrew Cogan, dismantled the fort at Armagon and erected a fort on the site of Madraspatam and called it Fort St. George. Of this fort only the name and the site now remains.

Francis Day in the beginning found the territory around cut in three big pieces known as Cooum and the the Cochrane Canal, the Triplicane River ran through the Villages of Chetput, Nungumbaukam and Triplicane. The North River flowed parallel to and about a mile distant from the coast. At the present General-Hospital site it turned to the east, and when near the sea, turned southwards again and met the Triplicane River There was besides a small stream whose course was along Popham's Broadway, across the present Esplanade to near the second bend of the North River. Day selected the strip of the land between the sea and the North River, with the Cooum on the south and the village of Madraspatam very close to it on the north. On this strip there existed a village known as Chennakuppam. Before Day's settlement there were two villages called Chinaikupam (or Chinapatam) and Madraspatam (or Madras). On the site of this hamlet Cogan and Day's Fort St. George was built, the name Chennapatam being given to the native town which grew around. The name Madraspatam persisted in use. As the village which went by that name continued to exist, the native population showed a preference to the name Chennapatam, while the English preferred the name Madraspatam (or Madras), for the combined towns of Chennapatam and Madraspatam.

Cogan and Day's fort measured on the outside 108 yards from north to south and 100 yards from east to west. The construction was begun in 1640, and completed in 1653. A promise of exemption from taxes for 30 years attracted nearly 400 weaver families from the neighbourhood and many Portuguese from San Thom an earlier European settlement.

In 1653 the Agent, Aaron Baker, Began to build outworks, and completed in 1666. The other fort was the basis of the Fort St. George. For a long time the inner fort was called Fort St. George, the area within the walls of the outer fort where the European population owned houses and lived, being called the Christian or White Town. To the north of it and separated from its northern wall by a wide street, called the Bazaar or Market, lay the Black Town where the Indian population lived. The perimeter of this old Black Town was 3,000 yards. There were seven main streets running north to south and two main streets running east to west. The Hindus had a Temple known as the Town Temple or the Chennakesava Perumal Temple and Moors a mosque. To the west of the Town flowed the stream from Popham's Broadway, which has now degenerated into a drinage channel. Being the "out town" of the company's Fort, the Black Town was inhabited by the Company's Indian merchants, weavers and other settlers whose protection as well as the better defence of the Fort, required the erection of a rampart around the Black Town. An earthen rampart was begun by Agent Ivie about 1644. Governor Yale erected a turf bulwark, which fell down during the rains. Permanent fortification, in brick and chunam, were however begun in 1700 and finished in 1707. The total length of this wall was 1,500 yards and it was 17 ft. thick. During the French occupation of Madras (1746-49) the southern half of this town and all its walls were demolished for the better defence of the Fort. In 1757 the Hindu temple was transferred to its present site near the Flower Bazaar. The remaining half of the old town was demolished in 1758.

Benjamin Robina was sent here in 1751 with a special commission to erect a wall around George Town but was not started till 1764, when Engineer Call pointed out its urgency and it was completed in 1770. In the name of the street lying within the line of the west wall, which bears the name "Wall Tax Road," we have a memorial of this piece of fortification. The Government have put up a memorial tablet on the remains of this wall near Royapuram; and the rooms under the northern wall served as a jail; hence the street adjacent to it is even now known as Old Jail Street.

Improvement of the defences and fortifications of Madras was taken in hand in 1756 and completed in 1788. Fort St. George is connected with a long roll of distinguished Engineers. By the close of the eighteenth century Fort St. George had passed through four phases of development. The first was Cogan and Day's castle; the second the quadrangular bastioned enclosure of the White Town which converted the original castle into a citadel; the third development of the walled town into a fortress planned as a half decagon; and the fourth the entire reconstruction of the fort as a half octagon on Vauhan's system with ample outworks and a wide glacis and Esplanade.

The buildings of historical interest in the present Fort St. George are St. Mary's Church, the Secretariat Office and the Council Room, the office of the Accountant-General and the Government Treasury and Officers' Mess. The oldest structure in the Fort is St. Mary's Church. The foundation of the Church was laid on Easter Monday the 1st of April 1678. The construction took place in October 1860. Church in the Fort for the Companys officers is the oldest Protestant place of worship in India. Among the articles of interest there are old registers, an almsdish presented by Elish Yale, and Streynsham Master's Bible printed in 1660, which was presented by Mr. C. G. Master of the Civil Service. The sanctuary contains a large altar-piece, a copy of Raphael's Painting of the last Supper. It contains the grave of Governor Nicholas Morse, a great great grandson of Oliver Cromwell; of Lord Pigot who defended the Fort against Lally in 1759 and was afterwards arrested and imprisoned by his own Council; of the famous Missionary diplomat Swartz; of Sir Thomas Munro, the popular Collector of the Ceded Districts and afterwards Governor of Madras and of many other marks of Madras history. Lord Pigo's was the first intramural burial in this church.

The new Council Chamber was built quite recently, The Secretariat Building contains the old Council Room. In the Fort of Cogan and Day there was in the centre a turretted structure known as the Fort House. It was built in 1643 and used as the Agent's residence and consultation or Council Room. Being very defective and unfit for use it was demolished and a new one built in 1694-95. Its sides were parallel to the curtain of the inner fort but nearer to the eastern face of it. Lockpeare, who was in Madras in 1702, says "The Consultation Room was curiously adorned with fire arms in several figures imitating those in the armoury of the Tower of London," The Consultation Room and the Governor's quarters were on the second floor, the Fort Hall which accommodated the 'General Table' was on the first floor and the ground floor was used for officers. This Fort House, it is believed, exists still as the middle portion of the Secretariat building, the wings of which were added only in 1824. The present Accountant-General's Office was the Admiralty House of old days. It served as the Town Residence of the Governor. The Court of Admiralty and State functions were held in it. It was for sometime appropriated as the Guests' House of the Governor. The history of the Officers' Mess is as follows: The Sea Gate and the Colonade of the old Banquetting Hall in the Fort were for long the general resort of merchants trafficking in seaborne goods. It was an inconvenient place. Peter Massey Cassim, a free merchant of Madras, came forward in 1787 with a scheme for providing the town, with a special building to serve as an Exchange. The land occupied by Mr. Hughes' house which lay at the south end of the easternmost line of buildings north of the Sea Gate was acquired and the old house was replaced by a new structure. It had warehouses and offices on the ground floor, and the first floor the Exchange or place of public and free, open and uncontrolled resort for all merchants, dealers, commanders of ships or others having any concern in trade together with a Broker's Office, a committee room for the Managers of the Exchange Company and a Public Coffee room. Mrs. Fay, who visited Madras in 1796, described it as a "noble building" ornamented with whole-length pictures of Lord Cornwallis, Sir Eyre Coote, and General Meadows. The Exchange Hall was used for public meetings, lottery drawings and occasionally for entertainments. There was also a Public Subscription Library on the ground floor. The old Madras Bank was located on the ground floor in 1897. The Exchange Tavern occupied for sometime a portion of the building. In 1801, St. Andrew's Day was celebrated in the Exchange. The valuable Muhammadans and Adi-Dravidas. The Madras Reserve Police is quartered here. Egmore is considered the healthiest place in Madras. It was granted to Governor Higginson by the Mughal general Assad Khan in 1695. The S. I. Railway buildings have been built in the popular Indo-Saracenic style. The Presidency Training School for Mistresses is situated in this suburb. The Victoria Technical Institute, the Government Central Museum, the Connemara Public Library and the Government Maternity Hospital are in the Pantheon Road, which separates Egmore from Pudupet. The Museum was founded in 1851 with a collection of geological specimens presented by the Madras Literary Society. Its habitation then went by the name of "The Pantheon."

The Pantheon was built about the year 1778 by Hall Plumer. It was used a few years later as "Public Rooms" or "Assembly Rooms." It was purchased in 1793 by a Committee to regulate the amusements of the settlement called "The Madras Assembly". An Armenian merchant (Mount) purchased the building in 1821, from whom the Government took it in 1830. It was allotted as the Collector's Cutcherry, and its still known to the common people more as the "Colleotors' Cutcherry', than as the Museum.

The Museum contains an archaelogical section of much value Sculptured marbles from the railings of the Buddist stupa at Amaravati, a fragment of Budha's bones, a collection of arms and armour from the Fort St. George Arsenal and the Tanjore Palace, and a valuable collection of coins which some years ago suffered a loss by theft. The Connemara Public Library was opened in 1896 and attached to the Museum. The marble statue of Lord Cornwallis, which stood in the Fort since 1800 was renovated by Mhatre and transferred to the interior of Connemara Library. The semi-circular building in the front is a theatre, designed to seat about 400 persons provided with a stage adapted for lectures, conferences and charitable entertainment by amateurs. The Victoria Technical Institute owes its origin to the public demonstrations of loyalty and love to the Queen-Mother Victoria. South Indian industrial products and art may be seen exhibited there. It is under the control of a committee. The Government Maternity Hospital was founded in 1844 by public subscription and managed by a committee with State aid. In 1847 the Government assumed charge of it and in 1881 transferred it to its present building.

The imaginary visitor leaving Mount Road at the mile end. resumes his walk and finds on his left Christ Church and the Cosmopolitan Club, and on the right the Mount Road Post Office, and the Bosottos. Then if he takes the road on his left, General Patter's Road, he will be in five minutes at the Madras Club. It is eighty years old and is now a place occupied by high European officers. Pycroft's Road crosses Peter's Road next to the Club. If he goes straight there is the red-plastered Wesley College, Royapettah. Gopal Baugh comes next. The road passes through Royapettah by the Royapettah Hospital which was maintained by the Corporation of Madras upto October 1919 and afterwards handed over to the Government. At the Royapettah Police Station there is a turning on the left which takes the visitors to Lloyds Road, the Edward Elliot Road and to the Luz Church Road crossing. These three roads now contain the residence of Indians. Edward Elliot Road owes its origin to Edward Francis Elliot who was Private Secretary to his father, who was Governor of Madras from 1814 to 1820. The road contains an excellent avenue and connects the Cathedral Road and the South Beach. Near the road are the sheds of the Madras Electric Tramways, the Electric Supply sub-station and on the road the Shell Petrol Depot. The Luz Church is about the middle of Luz Church Road. Evidence points to the date of its erection between 1540 and 1532. Some storm-tossed mariners vowed to build a church to the Virgin if they were delivered from the fury of the elements. Forth with a guiding light flashed out. They steed towards it and came to shore. Pursuing their way for a mile, into the interior they at length reached th at spot whence the brilliance shone, only to find the light extinguished. On the spot was erected the Church of our Lady of Light.. There is a garden-house or bungalow named Luz House. Close to it in the Luz (suburb) but included in Teynampet is the "Grove" which was the residence of the Governor Alexander Davidson and which is now owned and occupied by Sir C. P. Ramaswamy Ayyar. From the Luz Church, begins the suburb of Mylapore. Brodies Road goes along the west side of the Mylapore Temple Tank. Mylapore is a town of much antiquity. The deity worshipped is Siva as Kapaliswara. In 1672, the temple was occupied by the French during the siege of San Thome.

Leaving Mylapore, southwards along Brodies Road, he will get to the suburb of Adyar. It importance comes from its being a large fashionable European residential suburb. Some of the oldest garden houses here are built by the Company's servants. The Rajah of Chettinad has built a palace here with outhouses. The Beachborough, Brodie Castle, Bruntun Villa, Mowbray's Garden, (the premises of the Adyar Club) Pugh's Gardens, Searleis Gardens, Gambier's Gardens are here. Outside the Municipal toll gates is Elphinstone Bridge over the Adyar which leads to the spacious compound of the Theosphical Society, a small colony in itself laid out in a delightfully oriental style. Fowler's Gardens and Elliot's Beach are so called after E. F. Elliot, son of the Right Hon. Hugh Elliot.

Returning to the Mount Road you will notice the Government Press Branch build in the Indo-Saracenic style, and Automobile dealers.

The Cathedral Road is one of the beautiful highways of Madras. It separates Teynampet from Mylapore and Luz. The Adyar Club (Mowbrey's Gardens) marks its termination. If at the Cathedral he had turned off into Nungambakkam High Road on the right within a furlong he would pass the Trunk Road from Bangalore. A small road on the left gets him into the village of Nungambakkam, a suburb of Madras to the south-west of Egmore. The village was granted to the English in 1708. The Loyola College is situated at the end of the Sterling Road in Nungambakkam.

The other important buildings in the suburb are the Mansion. Doveton House, Mackay's Garden, Pycroft's Garden and Tulloch's Garden. The last two are portions of Dr. Anderson's famous Botanic Garden which covered an area of about 111 acres. His name still survives in Anderson's Bridge and Road.

At the junction of the Mount Road and the Cathedral Road you will find the Agri-Horticultural Gardens of Madras, With about 22 acres and it contains fine flower beds and tanks. An Annual Flower Show is held here in February.

Passing south along the Mount Road from the Gardens, you come to the newly developed suburb known as Tyagarayanagar with the Panagal Park in the centre. This is the quarters of the aristocratic and conservative crown jewells of Tippu Sultan were sold by public auction at the Exchange in 1862. On the roof of the Exchange, a light-house was erected by the Exchange Committee in 1796. It was a framed iron structure, carrying a lantern reflector and twelve lamps burning cocoanut oil. The light was 99 feet above the sea level at high water; it could be seen from the decks of ships about 17 miles and from their mastheads nearly 26 miles. This building is now the Officers' Mess of the regiment quartered in Fort St. George.

The enlargement of the Legislative Council in 1910 as a consequence of the introduction of the Morley-Minto Reforms made a new Council Chamber necessary and the present building was constructed on the eastern side of the Secretariat. The black pillars in the building are of historical interest. In the beginning of the 18th century, Governor Thomas Pitt constructed handsome colonnade from the Fort square to the Sea Gate roofed over and lined with 32 pillars of Pallavaram geneiss. When the French captured Madras in 1746, they carried off these columns to Pondicherry. There they remained until 1771, in which year the British stormed the place and restored the pillars to their former position in Pitt's Arcade. The best preserved of these columns were added to the new Council Chamber in 1910 and retained in the present structure.

The Fort has four gates usually open to the public. The South Sea Gate is on the east and leads to the Beach Road. It has now been superseded by the two ornamental wrought iron gates leading to the Legislative Council, one on either side. The North Gate leads to the China Bazaar Road and High Court but closed to traffic. St. George's gate is opened always and is the way into the Fort. The Wallajah Gate is on the west; from where the Mount Road begins and is the egress out of the Fort. The main gate, St. George's Gate opens, on the north-west and leads to the General Hospital, Peddunaickpettah and Poonamallee Road.

The Mount Road, the Poonamallee Road and the Beach Road are the three main high ways in Madras. The first two are Military Roads. They divide the city into three big areas. In 1714—15 a bridge, which does not now exist, was constructed from the north bank of the River where the Governor's Garden-House was connected to the Island. Governor Pitt had laid out north to south a "great walk on the Island." The statue of Sir Thomas Munro is more or less in the centre of that "great walk." The road to Triplicane was from that bridge over the Island and the Government House. Willingdon-Bridge was then called Triplicane Bridge. The famous Madras Garden House began to appear on the Choultry plain (an open expanse which stretched south west of the Fort from Triplicane or the Government House Bridge as far as Mylapore and the Long Tank). In 1756 the Wallajah Bridge was constructed. It was widened and improved in 1820. The Mount Road from that time ran from the Fort. It was reformed in 1795—96. It passes over the Wallajah Bridge to the Island which still maintains its old reputation as a recreation ground. The Gymkhana grounds and Pavillion are on the east side of the road and on the other side are the Body Guard Lines, St. Andrew's Cemetery, St. Mary's Cemetery, and an open plain used for football by students and the soldiers of the garrison. In the centre is the statue of Sir Thomas Munro who arrived in Madras as Governor in 1820. He held office for seven years and on the eve of his retirement he was struck down by cholera near Gooty. His statue was erected by public subscription at a cost of £ 8,000. The Island is also the Brigade Parade ground. The road then takes you over the Government House Bridge to the old Choultry plain but now a most busy centre of trade. The Government House Bridge (St. George's Bridge) spans the Cooum River, replaced an older structure which date the first quarter of the 18th century and was extended in 1923 to admit the passage of the tramway and has now become popular under the name of Willingdon Bridge. On the right before approaching Willingdon Bridge is a statue of the late Mr. Justice Boddam of the Madras High Court erected in 1911. There is a statue of Lord Willingdon, Viceroy of India and ex-Governor of Madras on the eastern side on the road leading to the Gymkhana Club. On the left is Government House. In 1681 a Garden House was completed for the use of the Governor on the site now occupied by the General Hospital and Medical College. The house was destroyed by Labourdonnais, when he occupied Madras in 1746. In 1753 a new Garden House in Triplicane was acquired from the Executors of Mr. Luis de Madeiros. The house was a large one with a frontage of 130 feet and stood in a rectangular compound laid down in the Italian style measuring about 400 by 85 yards. The house was the nucleus of the present Government House. The Triplicane High Road ran north without deviation up to the Government House Bridge. Addition, were made to the compound and park from time to time. In 1758 the Government House was occupied by the Franch Count-de-Lally when besieging Madras. He pulled down its verandahs, destroyed private houses near it and burned the village of Chepauk. The house was put in order again in 1762 and was much improved between 1786 and 1789 when Sir Achibald Campbell was Governor. The second Lord Clive Carried out extensive alterations and improvements in the house between 1800 and 1802 and the banqueting Hall which stands by the side of the main House was formally opened in 1802, in Commemoration of the vicotories of Seringapatam and Plassy. The compound was extended to the Beach by including part of the Chepauk gardens which had lately been taken over from the Nawab of the Carnatic. The present Government House has a frontage of 250 feet. The Park is 70 acres in extent. During 1920 to 1924 Her Excellency Lady Willingdon effected vast improvements in adding several out-buildings for the occupation of the offices and officers attached to the Government House and excellent frontage was a most welcome and necessary addition due to Her excellency's keen sagacity.

On the right is Napier Park laid out in 1871. Behind it is Chintadripet. The village was founded in 1735 by George Morton Pitt in order to develop the supply of calicos and to encourage manufacture in Madras being the best fitted in point of having shade trees for the artficers to work under. Before reaching the mile-end on the Mount Road there are the newspaper offices, the "Mail" "Hindu" "Indian Express" etc.

Triplicane is a purely Hindu suburb with an ancient Vishnu Temple which in September 1672, was occupied by the Moslems and in March 1673, by the French, and in September of the same year by the Dutch. It barely escaped demolition that year. Chepauk is inhabited mostly by Muhammadans who were dependent on the Chepauk Palace. It contains a big mosque. Tiruvateeswaranpet is to the north-west of Triplicane with a temple of Siva. Amir Mahal, the residence of the Prince of Arcot, is in Pudupakum. Komaleswaranpetta is a neat little suburb where a few respectable Hindu houses have been built. The Harris Bridge is a recent construction. Pudupet, further to the south west on the Harris Bridge Road, is inhabited by Indian Christians, Hindus of Madras. There are good roads and excellent specimens of big and small buildings in attractive compounds.

Along the same road is the Training College for Teachers which is situated at Saidapet, a few minutes drive. Adjoining it is a red-bricked building which was once the Madras Agricultural College and Government Experimental Farm. Pass the Richards Park. The Marmalong Bridge, which spans the Adyar, next to the Agricultural College buildings, was rebuilt by a rich Armenian merchant Petrua Uscan, in 1726. He has left a fund for its maintenance also. The palacious Governor's House here was built very recently at an enormous cost. The new Eegineeriug College Buildings costing over 20 lakhs of rupees is located here. The King Institute of Preventive Medicine and the Race Club buildings are also here. The Guindy Race Club has been in existence for more than a century and the present Government has ordered abolishing racing in the Province. St. Thomas Mount, which is about 3 miles from the Marmalong Bridge, can be seen on the right hand side as the bridge is crossed. It is about 220 feet above the area level. On its summit is an old Portuguese Church called the "the Blessed Virgin of Expectation," The Church was built in 1547 and belongs to the Armenian Catholics.

From Fort St. George you will pass through the overbridge and get into the Poonamalle Road, where you first notice the Medical College on the left; on the right is the Memorial Hall, erected in commemoration of the escape of Madras from thh horrors of the Indian Mutiny. The Bible-Society and the Christian Literature Society have their premises there. The Mint Street has its southern end here. The squalid quarters John Pereira's has been cleared, and Railway offices have been built on the spot. Next to the Medical College is the General Hospital constructed in 1772 by John Sullivan. The hospital originated as an amalgamation of two formerly existing hospitals, the Garrison Hospital and old Naval Hospital. Facing the General Hospital and turning south to north is the Wall Tax Road. Opposite to the General Hospital is the Central Station, the principal terminus of the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway. The building was designed by R. F. Chisholm, Consulting Architect to the Government, and was built in 1873. A handsome clock-tower, rising to an altitude of 136 feet, surmounds the edifice—but the clock was removed in 1940, when the II World War started. To the east of the Central Station are the offices of the M. & S. M. Railway recently built Here the road passes over the bridge which crosses Cochrane's Canal (formerly the north River). To the North of the road and along the western bank of this Canal is the People's Park.

It is a great relief to turn to the Ripon Buildings, the office of the Corporation in white plaster. This new office of the Madras Corporation was opened by Lord Hardings in 1913. The southern side of the road is occupied by Sir Salavai Ramaswami Mudaliar's Choultry and the Park Station of the S. I. Railway. The Madras Penetentiary is situated to the south of these and extends as far as the cut connecting the Cooum and Cochrane's Canal. The Penitentiary faces east and opens on a small road connecting the Poonamallee Road and the Island. Going westwards along the Poonamalee Road you get to Periamet, where, in former days, the Moors collected land Custom. The principal inhabitants are Muhammadans dealing in skins and hides. The Naval Hospital Road where the Madras Land Custom House formerly stood is north and south. Madras Medical Store which now occupies the buildings of the Carriage Factory opens into this road. At the end of this road is the Government

Veterinary Hospital. The Dovetent Protestant College is very near. The portion of the City is Vepery a residential suburb. It was granted to the English in 1642 by Nawab Mahammad Syed. Vepery was the scene of an engagement between the French and the English in February 1759. The S. P. C. K. established a printing press here. This Society began its educational work about the year 1717. Petrus Uscan of Marmalong Bridge fame had built a chapel at his own cost in Vepery, which the Company handed over to the Danish Mission to put down the influence of Catholics in Madras. On the sight of this chapel St. Matthias Church has been built. The S. P. G. maintains a School in Vepery.

The Madras School of Arts and Crafts established about the middle of the last century is on the south side of Poonamallee Road; to the west of it is the Scotch Kirk It was built by the famous Engineer De.Havilland in 1821. The Church is of much architectural importance. Opposite to the Kirk and on the northern side of the road are the headquarters of the Madras Volunteer Guards! Rundall's Road is on the west of this building. The Young Women's Christian Association is in the Poonamallee Road. The Madras Electric Tramway Company has its power station and shed on the Poonamallee Road. For the greater part of the last century Poonamallee Road was one of the favourite residential quarters of Europeans in Madras. Indians are also now moving to this ground.

Passing the Church Missionary Society's Headquarters, you come to the crossing of the road from the Harris Bridge, which leads to Purasawalkam. This suburb was granted to Governor Higginson in 1693. It had a fine redoubt of which there is no trace now.

A little further off on the Poonamallee Road is "Ramamandiram" the residence of Rajah Sir Ramaswami Mudaliar family, Landon's Garden and Dare's Garden are on this road, which here passes through Kilpauk, another popular and healthy residential suburb Then the road goes out of the Municipal limits on to the military station of Poonamallee.

The Governor's Garden house was the southern end of it on the site of which the present General Hospital has been erected. The Company's washing garden was situated in the north of this town. It was also called Comerpetta from the colony of potters in the west of it near the canal. In 1774, there were 139 streets and 5,542 houses. The main street is Mint Street, which runs through the whole length of the town. The southtrn portion of the street is occupied by the Beri Chettis. Linga Chetty's castemen. Marwaris and Guzarati's live in the middle portion of it which is hence known as Sowcarpet. The northern portion is occupied by various other castes. At the end of the street is the Government Printing Press in the building once occupied by the Madras Mint. The "Seven Wells" which supplied water to the garrison and the Europeans in the Fort is there. Govindappa Naick Street belongs to Komity Chetties. The trade of Madras may be said to lie in these two streets. The Godown Street and Bunder street are occupied by piece-goods merchants—mostly Muhammadans —and petty cloth mechants. The Y.M.C.A., building fronts the Esplanade. It is a superb stucture built entirely of the beautiful sandlelstone brought from a quarry forty miles north of Madras. The Armenian Street contains the Roman Catholics Cathedral which was erected by the Capuchins in 1775, and the Armenian Church. Many commercial firms have their offices in this street. The two Chetti streets which are now being occupied by hardware merchants, lawyers and students go up to old north wall of Black Town. The enterprising Nattukottai Chettys have their quarters in the Coral Merchant Street midway between the two streets towards the north end. This is surmised to be the site of an old pettah. Pagadala-pettah or Coral town. The merchants of those days traded in corals. Between Armenian Street and Thambu Chetty Street rise the grand building of the late Agra Bank (now owned by the Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China). Facing the College on the Esplanade is the statue of Dr. William Miller, C.I.E., the popular Missionary Educationalist of Southern India.

On the Esplanade Maidan rise the grand pile of buildings of the High Court with the Madras Lighthouse erected on the Central cupola; the old Lighthouse built of granite, a high column chaste in design and execution, erected in 1844; the newly built Law College, and the Small Causes Courts, The High Court was completed in 1892 and is a specimen of a Hindu Saracenic style of Architecture. On the north side is the Rev. Dr. Miller's statue facing the old Christian College. The Christian College, a large missionary institution, was founded in 1837 and is now at Tambaram. Adjoining the High Court buildings is the Law-College which was occupied in 1899. On the Esplanade has also been recently constructed the Central Exchange and offices of the Madras Telephone Company and the Corporation Fruit Market, nearly there has risen the pylonic structure, the Burman Shell Buildings. To the north is situated the suburb of Royapuram. A large community of Roman Catholic boatmen have long been living here. The shipping trade of the port of Madras has had to suffer not a little in the past by the opposition of this community. These Christians have built a Church out of their funds. The Madras Railway had its terminus in Royapuram some years ago, During the siege of Madras by the French in 1758-59, the enemy had erected-work in Muthialpettah, one at Parry's Corner and the other south of it; and the place was practically occupied by them. In 1775, there were in Muthialpettah 16 streets and 3,208 houses according to Popham's computation.

The Madras Beach is divided by the Fort St. George fortification and Military zone into two big divisions. The north beach is the busiest portion of the city. The Madras harbour and its works and the premises of Oil Companies cover even the sands. Clive's Battery was previously to the north of the harbour. Facing the sea on the Road are Parry & Co., the National Bank, the Imperial Bank of India, the General Post Office, Best & Co., Mercantile Bank buildings, the Bentinck Buildings of the Indian Bank, the Sea Custom Office, the Bidden Home and a number of Commercial firms. South of this range of big buildings come to the High Court, and the Lighthouse and the old Lighthouse column, then the Fort with the steeple of St. Mary's Church and the flagstaff; passing the Fort, you get to the old Band stand which was the favourite resort in the evenings before the South Beach Road was formed. On this site there existed in Pitt's time a fihermen's hamlet. Napier Bridge, reconstructed quite recently, spans the Cooum at its mouth. Except during the rainy season a bar of sand forms itself there and closes the mouth of the river. whose current is not strong enough to force its way through the bar into the sea. To prevent the strench from the silvery Cooum becoming a nuisance during the hot season, the bar is opened artificially and the sea water is let in by the tidal action. The recently constructed Cenotaph in commemoration of Victory in the Great War (1914-18) stands on this road to the north of Iron Bridge at the place where the Beach divides itself into two Branches, one leading to the new Railway over-bridge and the other to the Parry's Corner. The Marina on the South Beach is a creation of the Governor, Sir M. E. Grant Duff. He himself described it as "one of the most beautiful promenades in the world." It runs along the sea front to the suburb of San Thome. The Octoganal Marine Villa, which has been replaced by the Madras University Library and Administrative Building, is constructed, the Senate House designed by Chisholm and Queen Victoria's statue by its side, the Chepauk Palace of the Nawab of Arcot (now used as the offices of the Board of Revenue) which was constructed, about 1768, the Public Works Offices, the Presidency College designed by R. F. Chisholm the recently built University Examination Hall; the Ice House built in 1840 to store natural ice which came from America (now the Widows Home), the Queen Mary's College, the Capper House (now part of the Queen Mary's College for Women), the old Masonic temple (now the office of the Inspector-General of Police) and the San Thome Cathedral are on the sea front on the South Beach Road and give to the city grandeur and architectural richness. Opposite the Presidency College, on the beach, is the old Aquarium, building which contained an interesting and representative collection of the fish found in Madras waters, now having been shifted to the Museum.

In the compound of the Senate House and facing the sea are the statues of three great Indian statesmen, Mr. V. Krishnaswami Aiyar Mr. G. K. Gokhale and Sir S. Subramanya Iyer.

The Senate House, offices of the Board of Revenue, the Chief Engineer's Office and the Presidency College all situate in the Chepauk Park, which is divided into two halves by the Buckingham Canal running north and south the whole length of Madras. Portions of the offices of the Board of Revenue formed the Old Chepauk Palace built by the Nawab Wallajah in 1770 and became attached to the Government on the death of the last titular, Nawab of the Carnatic in 1855. The other and western portion is occupied by the Madras Cricket Club Ground and Pavilion, the Victoria Hostel for students erected by public subscriptions and managed by a committee and the Government Hospital for Women, which was built by the Raja of Venkatagiri and public subscriptions and opened in 1890 and taken over by the Government recently.

San Thome was founded by the Portuguese about 1522. Roman Catholic Christians have long associated this town with the Apostle, St. Thomas. Tradition assets that he was buried in San Thome and his tomb is still shown. Leaving this as a debatable matter not peritinent to the founding of the town and its growth an examination of the records of the 16th and 17th centuries and the contemporary accounts of European travellers point to 1522 as the probable date of its founding. A Church was at first built with a small monastery attached to it. It is the oldest European structure in India. Gradually a town grew around it. In 1558 Rama Raya of Vijayanagar came here in great hopes of plunder; not finding it—as he had expected it—he left the place in peace. It rose to importance between 1567 and 1582. The fame and popularity of the place increased. More churches were built. It enjoyed a large trade. Master Caesar Fredrick described it in 1567 as "the fairest in all that part of the Indies." Balbi, a Venetian dealer in gems, who visited the place in 1582, refers to its fortifications. Then began its decline. In 1646, the inhabitants were found to be killing one another without any regard for human or divine laws or any shame, so that even the Moors and Gentiles abominated their wickedness. The occasion was what they call Points of Honour. De Rezend's account (1625) refers to the being continually harrassed by the Hollanders ' with the rusult that it was reduced both in population and commerce. When the English establishe their settlement at Madras the Portuguese readily accepted the English invitation to settlein their place. Its power had waned so much that in 1662 when it was threatened by the Dutch and besieged by Golconda, it yielded to the Moslem power who held it for 11 years. Dominic Navarette, a Spanish priest who in 1662 came to San Thome, Madras says: "We went to see the city of St. Thomas; the Moors, would not let us in. From the gate we saw some good buildings; the walls were very high. A gentleman that was with us lamented that loss very much. The English are not so strong at Madraspatnam yet they hold it and are likely to do so. What signifies walls and bulwarks where there is no Government." How pathetic and true this remark! In 1672, the Moslems were ousted by the French who occupied it till August, 1674. The two years of French occupation was a period of a prolonged and continuous blockade by the Dutch and Moslem. The Ducth and the English fearing French designs to regain San Thome suggested to Moslem the destruction of the whole town. But the Moslem Governor of the town would not entertain any proposal to destroy "so fine a town." Its fortifications, however, were partly demolished in 1675. The King of Golconda leased the place to Cassa Verona. But the Portuguese. in August 1688, resettled it and took on lease from the Mogul. In 1697 its fortifications were pulled down by Muhammadans. An earthen rampart was built by them in 1702. The towu was granted to the English by Muhammad Ali and English colours were hoisted there on 2nd October, 1744. Benjamin Robins planned a redoubt at San Thome in the house now called Leith Castle. The redoubt is now a ruined building with massive walls of brick. The old St. Thomas Cathedral has been recently replaced by a new structure. Owing to its convenient distance from Fort St. George, St. Thomas offered to the enemies of the English and deserters a safe retreat before the town came in of English possession. In San Thome are St. Bede's European High School for Boys and St. Raphæl' High School for both European and Indian girls There are good boarding houses attached to both institutions.

It is now more than 273 years since the English formed a settlement in Fort St. George. Their possession was only interrupted for about three years (Sept. 10, 1746 to Aug. 13, 1749) when the French occupied it. From 1782 up till 1914 it had not been attacked from outside by enemies, though there were times of anxiety during Tippu's Wars, the Mahratta Wars, Pindari Incursions and the Great Indian Mutiny. Before that the fort was frequently threatened. The proximity of San Thome was the source of trouble with the Portuguese in the earlier years, Between the years 1655 and 1657 Fort St. George sufferred from Muhammadan incursions and the siege of Madras by Krishnappa Naik. In 1570 Madras was blockaded by a General of Nawab Necknam Khan. The blockade of Madras by the Dutch during the second seige of San Thome in 1673 extended even to Fort St. George. Lingappa, Governor of Poonamallee, Stopped all provisions and ordered a street blockade of the Fort in 1678.

Daud Khan was hovering round the place in 1700 and started a regular blockade which lasted for four months in 1702. The French attacked and took Madras in 1746 and again besieged the Fort in December 1758, the siege continuing up to the middle of the following February. Tippu at the head of his cavarly approached so near as Chintadripettah and raided the suburbs in 1767. Early in 1769 Hyder Ali came to the Mount with no friendly intentions and Madras was saved from an attack by the peace which was at once concluded by Dupleix at St. Thomas' Mount. Again in 1770 Hyder raided St. Thome, Triplicane and the Choultry plain. For the last time the Fort was threatened by Hyder's horsemen in 1782, when San Thome was plundered. These incursions and raids always resulted in making the fort stronger and better fortified.

The climate of Madras has been well described as three months hot and nine months hotter. Thomas Bowrey, who visited Madras, in 1669, described it as "not at any time very cold or on the contrary, very hot having the full benefit of all sea breezes of wind, but in these following months, May and June, although there be for the most part fresh gales, yet it is something sulphurous, which may most of all be alleged to the wind itself more than to the heat of the sun." The mean temperature for the whole year is 85°9 for the cooler months of December and January, 76°0 and for the hottest months of May and June 90°. The extremes are 64° in January and 110° in June. The annual rainfall based on the figures for 85 years is 49 inches. Like other places, the Bay of Bengal, Madras, is liable to severe, cyclones. The cyclone of October 1746 damaged the French fleet severely, that of 1782 deprived the town of rice and created a famine. The City cannot boast that it is healthy to native life, though to Europeans it is salubrious enough. European travellers have all praised its healthiness. Captain Roger Middleton described it as "a place healthful, using all kinds of recreation save hounds." Mrs. Kindersley wrote in 1765: 'the heat here is excessive, but the climate of India is esteemed healthy and people frequently come here for recovery of their health from Bengal for the soil is dry, and the benefit of the sea breeze which constantly blows from between twelve and one of noon till the same time at night is a great advantage. Mr. Stanhope in 1774 quoted with approval the description of Madras as "the Montpelier of the East." These impressions were formed in the cool garden house of Madras. Quite a different impression will be formed by a visit to the Indian quarters of the City. The tanks to the west and the rice fields within its limits keep the sub-soil water at a high level. About the sanitary condition of George town, Mr. Popham wrote in 1872. "There are no regular drains to carry off water or any well or sewer or other provision made to carry off the dour etc, of each house. The consquence is that exclusive of the effect of the monsoon on the street each day's consumption in every family renders them disagreeble to passengers, and the digestion of the day is thrown on the first rubbish spot where the menial servants can empty, with impunity." Things had not improved in the early years of the last century, for sanitation was not practised by the people nor by the authorities of the day. Presentment of the Grand Jury refers to the very defective condition of the drainage of the town. But for the warning given by stenches and effluvia, people would not have attended to the improvement of drains. What Popham said of his time is true even to day in some of the small streets of Madras: The utilisation of the Cooum as a darinage channel is a contributory cause the bad health of the town. Now that sanitation had been recognised as a science, Madras may soon hope to see an improvement in its public health.

The internal administration of the city is in the hands of the municipal Corporation, which consists of a Mayor elected by the members of the Corporation. The Mayor is assisted in his executive work by a Commissioner, an Engineer, a Health Officer and a Revenue Officer. Its working is governed by a legislative enactment. The history of this Municipal Government is full of interest and very much resembles that of any English

Municipal institution with some features of Indian Village Government. The Municipal Act was recently modified.

The drainage of the City consisted in the beginning of a few open drains with a sewer constructed later on. That system, modified and improved, continued very long, The underground system gave hopes in the beginning. The city is enjoying the good it has done. The Seven Wells supplied water to the Port and the shipping and to a few residents who chose to have the benefit of good water by paying for it. The Red Hills water supply scheme intended to supply water to the whole City was begun only in 1868 and completed in 1872. From 1880 onwards a number of legislative enactments have slowly improved the Municipal Government of the City and brought it to the present state. The City of Madras has an area of 27 square miles and the improvement of the extensive City means large expenditure of money which the City is not able to bear. The extent of the town, the sea breeze, the many large open spaces within it and the marina, the park like residences of its richer inhabitants, the absence of large mills and industries, and Red Hills water-supply, all contribute to minimise the evils due to defective sanitary arrangements. The death rate average. 40 per thousand per annum. It usually increases during the cold and rainy reasons, and is at its minimum during the dry hot months of April, May and June. The population is liable to periodical visitations of cholera and small-pox. Elephantiasis and leprosy are epdemic diseases on the coastline, the former is generally seen in the form know as "Cochin" or "elephant leg" (Elephantiasis). The land rises slightly as the distance from the sea increases but in no part of the Municipal limits is the elevation more than 24 feet above the sea, while in many thickly populated neighbourhoods the levels are so low as to offer serious obstacles to drainage. The new drainage works are expected to do much for the sanitation of the City. The chief outlets for the discharge of excessive rainfull are the Cooum River, the main drain of George Town and two minor channels between the Cooum and San Thome. The heaviest rainfall usually occurs during the north-east monsoon, as much as 18 inches having been known to fall within 24 hours. The locality of the town is liable to prolonged periods of draught as well as to heavy floods.

This short history of Madras would hardly be complete without alluding to the fact that it is the only city in India that has actually been under bombardment during Great War. On the evening of September 22nd, 1914, the German cruiser "Emden" visited Madras and opened fire on the City. Several people were killed and injured and much damage was done to the large oil installation in the Harbour Premises. A commemoration stone has been placed in the High Court wall in North Beach Road, in the spot where a large shell from one of the "Emden's" guns exploded.

BUCKINGHAM CANAL.

A navigable canal was first cut from Madras northwards to the Ennore lake as long ago as the year 1806. This was known as 'Cochrane's Canal.' The Extension of this short length of 15 miles of canal was soon afterwards made to the Public at lake, thus extending it to a length of 25 miles north of Madras Town. In 1837 this canal, which was the property of Mr. Cochrane, was taken over by Government. By the year 1857 the canal had been extended to Dugarazapatnam, 69 miles north of Madras. Then it was named the "East Coast Canal".

An entirely new canal has also been excavated by the year 1857 from the Adyar River in the town of Madras, southwards to Sadras a total length of 35 miles. Though north of the Cooum river in Madras, for 60 miles and south of the Adyar River in the same town for 35 miles canals existed in 1847, there was no junction between both these for a distance of about 5 miles for 20 years afterwards.

By 1876, the canal had been extended from Dugarazapatnam to Kishnapatnam, 92 miles north of Madras, thereby connecting Madras with Nellore. The then famine works extended this canal to, the Pennar River in 1877 for a distance of 114 miles north of Madras. In 1871 it reached the northern limit (i.e.) the Junction at Pedda Ganjam, 196 miles north of Madras terminating in the Kistna delta system. This length of 196 miles of canal north of the Cooum River, has since been known as the 'North Canal' being one of the two sections into which the whole canal is divided.

About 1877, the connecting cut the "Junction Canal" between the Cooum and Adyar Rivers in the town of Madras thus completed. It is in 1878, the present name Buckingham Canal was given to it. By 1882, the canal south of Madras had been cut through from Sadras, 40 miles from St. Mary's Bridge in Madras town, to its southern limit in the Mercanum backwater. This canal of 66 miles, south of Madras, was known as the 'South Canal.'

The Buckingham Canal is a salt water canal, 262 miles in length, running 196 miles north and 66 miles south of Madras City along the east coast. Its southern terminus is the large Marcanum backwater in the District of South Arcot and the northern limit Pedda Ganjam in the district of Kistna, passing through South Arcot District, Chingleput District, Madras Town, Nellore District and Kistna District. The Kistna canal has communicated with the Godavari delta. The canal throughout its length, usually runs less than half-a-mile from the sea and in a few places so close to the sea that the tide washes the east bank.

CORPORATION OF MADRAS

History of the Corporation with a survey of legislations relating to it

The idea of establishing a Corporation for the City of Madras was first suggested by the Court of Directors. King James II granted a Charter and it was issued under The East India Company's Seal on the 30th December, 1687. The Corporation was inaugurated on Saturday, the 29th September, 1688. There were 8 Aldermen presided over by the Mayor. Though the Charter authorized the levy of rates, no direct municipal tax was imposed, owing to the troublous condition of the times. The President and the Council of Fort St. George were requested in the year 1689 to assign over to the Corporation the petty dues of Bank Sall Toll, measuring of grain and weighing of goods as was usual in all the Corporations of England. To secure better administration, the original charter was renewed from time to time and the last one was granted directly by the Crown in the year 1753.

A Parliamentary Act of 1792 finally gave the Company the power to levy municipal taxes in the City. A subsequent Act of 1836 of the Government of India imposed the condition that the Municipal assessment should have the approval of the Governor in Council. The Act of 1841 which modified the Acts of 1792 and 1836 gave a greater latitude of action and reality of self Government. The 1856 Act was passed for the proper conservancy and improvement of the City. The Act of 1865 gave larger taxing powers to the Corporation. It was the Madras Act IX of 1867 that first divided the City into 8 wards each represented by 4 Commissioners. The Madras Act V of 1871 and Act V of 1878 enabled election of representatives of the peoples as Commisioners in addition to Commissioners appointed by Government. The scheme of protected water supply was begun in 1866 and finished in 1872. The water supply to the City is drawn from the Red Hills Lake since then. The Municipal Law of the City was again revised in 1884-1889. The supplementary Act of 1892 crated the posts of Revenue Officer.

Health Officer and Engineer.

The Madras Act III of 1904 raised the number of Commissioners from 32 to 36 and allowed the Madras Chamber of Commerce and other bodies to elect eight Commissioners. It provided for the formation of a Standing Committee, converted the water tax into a water and drainage tax Act IV of 1919 divided the City into 30 divisions, raised the number of Commissioners, now designated as Councillors from 36 to 50 and increased the number of elected Councillors from 20 to 30, one Councillor for each division. It also raised the number of Standing Committees from one to four and created a new post styled "Commissioner". The Amendment Act 1933 changed the designation of 'President' as 'Mayor'. By the Madras City Municipal Amendment Act of 1936 the City was divided into 40 divisions and the number of Councillors was raised from 50 to 60. The election of five Aldermen of whom one should be a woman was provided for the first time. Provision for the appointment of Special Councillors, not exceeding 3 at a time, by the Provincial Government was made.

This Act increased the number of Standing Committees from 4 to 6 and also provided for the formation of a Committee for dealing with Taxation Appeals. The amended Act also provided for the appointment by the Council of a Water Works Engineer, an Electrical Engineer and an Educational Officer as Heads of Departments to work along with the other satatutory Heads of Departments under the control of the Commissioner.

Administration.

The Municipal authorities charged with carrying out the provisions of the Act are :—

1. The Council.
2. The Standing Committees of the Council.
3. The Commissioner.

The Council consists of 65 elected Councillers as per details below :—

45 elected divisional Councillors, of whom 40 shall be persons elected to general seats, 3 to seats specially reserved for the members of the scheduled castes and 2 to seats specially reserved for labour.

3 Councillors elected by the Madras Chamber of Commerce.

3 Councillors elected by the Madras Trades Association.

One each by the Southern India Chamber of Commerce, the Andhra Chamber of Commerce, the Nattukottai Nagarathars' Association, the Southern India Skins and Hides Merchants' Association, the Piecegoods Merchants Association, the Madras Port Trust, the University of Madras, the Anglo-Indian Association, the South Indian Railway and M. & S. M. Ry., Cos. and 5 Aldermen, of whom one should be a woman.

In addition to the above, the Government may appoint special Councillors having special knowledge or experience of any subject relating to the Municipal Administration, but there should not be more than 3 such Councillors on the Council.

All Councillors hold office for a period of 3 years; under the procedure prescribed in Section 411 (c) of the Act, 15 of the 45 divisional Councillors should vacate their seats every year.

Under Section 23 of the Madras City Municipal Act, the Municipal Government of the city vests in the Council, but it is not entitled to exercise the functions expressly assigned to a Standing Committee or the Commissioner. At its first meeting in November every year, the Council elects one of its member as the Mayor and one other than the Mayor as the Deputy Mayor. There are six Standing Committees dealing respectively with (1) Taxation and Finance, (2) Works, (3) Health, (4) Education, (5) Accounts and (6) Town Planning and Improvements.

General Transaction of Business.

The Commissioner, appointed by the Government, holds office for a renewable period of 3 years. The executive power to carry out the provisions of the Madras City Municipal Act vests in him. He prescribes the duties of the Corporation establishment and exercises supervision and control over their acts and proceedings. He has the right to attend meetings of the Council or of a Standing Committee and take part in the discussions but not to vote. He is assisted in his work by a Deputy Commissioner, a post newly created by Government. The principal officers of the Corporation are the Revenue Officers, Health Officer, Engineer, Special Engineer, Water Works Engineer, Electrical Engineer, Educational Officer and the Chief Accounts Officer. Besides, there is a Lady Superintendent in charge of the Child Welfare Scheme section. Each of these officers is the head of a particular department and is assisted by a staff consisting of Assistant Officers or other ministerial officers in the performance of their respective duties. The General Department which forms an important link between the Commissioner and other executive heads of departments is directly under the control of the Deputy Commissioner.

Drainage.

The City of Madras is so situated that the sewage of the City cannot be drained by gravitation and the method of disposal adopted therefore is by a pumping scheme. The City is divided into a number of areas for drainage purposes and each drainage area is served by a pumping station. There are 17 Pumping Stations for the City. Sewage from the houses flows into the street sewers and by the force of gravity it is carried to the nearest pumping station. At the pumping station the sewage of the whole area is lifted up by pumps into a cast iron pumping main. The sewage is conveyed in this manner to the north-east of the city where it is let into the sea. The total length of sewers laid is 320.12 miles.

The storm water of the city is disposed of mostly through masonry surface drains constructed to a depth of 3 to 12 feet. The drains are covered over wherever necessary in the interest of safety of the public. The storm-water drains are connected to the City Waterways which ultimately reach the sea. The total length of storm water drains constructed is 57.59 miles.

At important places in the City Public Conveniences of the improved type with modern sanitary appliances have been constructed to serve the needs of the public. Besides this, the installation of Flushout latrines in private houses in the place of the existing dry and insanitary latrines is rapidly progressing.

Water Supply.

Water supply for the Madras City is drawn from the Kortaliar River. A masonry weir built across the river at Thamarapakkam about 17 miles north-west of Madras diverts the river excluding the greater flood discharges into a supply channel leading to Cholavaram and Red Hills storage lakes. Besides the supply to the city, water from both the lakes is also used to irrigate an area of about 7,600 acres of paddy fields. Water supply to the Madras City is drawn from the Red Hills Lake through a covered masonry under-ground conduit about 7 miles long. At the Kilpauk Water Works the water is filtered through seventeen slow sand filters and chlorinated properly before it is pumped into the distribution system. The average quantity of water supplied to the city each day is 24 million gallons.

The construction of a dam across the Kortaliar River at Poondi about 13 miles north of Thamrapakkam Anicut and the necessary works connected with the Poondi Reservoir were completed in 1944. This Reservoir was financed by the Corporation by way of loans and grants obtained from the Government and it is mainly intended to impound the greater flood discharges of the river and send it down to Cholavaram and Red Hills as and when required. The storage of water at Red Hills, Cholavaram and Poondi is intended to meet the supply for a population of about one million at the rate of 30 gallons per head per day even if there were to be succesive failures of the monsoon for two years subject to slight restrictions in the third year.

Lighting.

Until the year 1910 the lighting of the city was done by means of oil lights. Electric lighting was first introduced in the city in the year 1910. There was marked improvement in lighting since then. The number of elecrtric lights was gradually increased till the year 1924-25, when all the oil lights were completely replaced by electric lights.

At present, there are 22 Electric Sub-Stations and one main station for the whole street lighting of the city. Electric current is received in bulk at the Corporation Electric main controlling station from the M.E.S.C. Ltd., and supplied to all Electric Sub-Stations in various parts of the city through low and high tension cables for street lighting purposes.

All the sub-stations are controlled by the main station and each sub-station is controlling the street light of the respective areas. During the month of April 1946, Government have passed orders to include Saidapet and Sembiam areas within the City limits. Each of the newly included areas has its own independent electric sub-station having direct connection with the M.E.S.C. Ltd.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

Vaccinators' Offices in the City.

The Vaccination Department was originally administered by the Government Inspector of Vaccination and was transferred to the Corporation in 1878. Compulsory Vaccination was introduced in 1884 and is now worked as per the bye-laws framed under the City Municipal Act. The Vaccination of all children who are more than six months of age and re-vaccinations once in seven years is compulsory. Vaccination is done free of cost on certain specified days and hours. Re-vaccination is done at the depots on all ordinary days. On application to the Health Officer vaccination is done free of cost at private residences. Till the year 1909, the Corporation was preparing its own lymph for vaccination purposes, the King's Institute at Guindy has been supplying glycerinated lymph since then.

A list of Vacciuation Depots in all the 40 Divisions and extended areas have been given separately.

Poor House.

This home for beggars was opened in November, 1926 and is under the immediate supervision of the Sub-Assistant Surgeon under the control of the Health Officer. There is accommodation for more than 100 beggars in this home. A Work-House for able-bodied beggars and a Special Home for infirm and diseased beggars have now been opened at Royapuram and Krishnampet.

Nuisances.

Nuisances arising from the accumulation of refuse or nightsoil or from defective drains or privies etc., should be reported to the Health Officer, Corporation of Madras. To prevent commital of nuisance in the streets the provisions of the Public Health Act are being enforced.

Maternity And Child Welfare Scheme:—This scheme was inaugurated by the Coporation of Madras in 1917. The object of the scheme was to reduce the maternal and infantile mortality rates in the City of Madras which was appallingly high by providing skilled midwifery treatment to the women of the poorer classes free of cost. It was first started in Triplicane with a staff of four midwives and one lady doctor. Two additional Centres, one in Washermanpet and the other in Purasawalkam, were opened in 1919. More centres were opened gradually and at present there are 21 centres and 12 maternity wards.

Superintendent:—Mrs. H. V. Kamalammal, 19, Conran Smith Rd. Royapettah, Madras. Phone No. 8002. The activities of the centre are:—

(1) Pre-maternity advice and treatment, (2) Free midwifefy attendance on poor women (3) Dispensary treatmothers and children upto the age of 5. (4) Milk Depots in all the Centres for supply of milk to needy infants under 1 year of age, expectant nursing mothers whose family income is less than Rs. 50. per mensem and between 2 to 5 years:

GENERAL INFORMATION

The following diseases are notifiable under the Muncipal Act by Medical Practioners, Hakims and Vaidyans:—Plague, Cholera, Small-pox, Tuberculosis, Diphtheria, Entric Fever, Measles, Relapsing Fever, Acute Influenza and Pneumonia.

Notification of any of the above diseases should be made to the Helath Officer at once.

Information of cases of Small-pox, cholera, etc., in any dwelling place should be made to the Health Officer with the least practicable delay by the head of the family to which the patient belongs or occupier or person in charge of such place.

Infectious Diseases Hospital

There is an Infectious Diseases Hospital provided by the Corporation at Tondiarpet (Phone No. 3117) intended for those suffering from Infectious diseases, such as Plague, Cholera, Small-pox, Measles, etc.

The Hospital is located at Thiruvathiyur High Road in a spacious ground walled off from the surroundings. It is within a few yards from the sea front enjoying abundance of light and fresh sea breeze.

All the necessary clothing, food and medical care for patients are provided by the institution. Special needs of different classes as far as possible. Ambulance cars are provided to convey patients.

Ambulance.

Two Motor Ambulance cars for the removal of cases of infectious diseases are stationed at the Isolation Hospital. They can be had free of charge at any time during the 24 hours of the day by telephoning No. 3117 for removal of patients to the above hospital. Any complaint about the Ambulance service should be made to the Health Officer. For the convenience of the public another Ambulance car is in use for conveying maternity cases.

Disinfection.

Disinfection of the premises in cases of infectious diseases is done free of charge on application to the Health Officer or to the Sanitary Inspector of the Division.

Anti-Typhoid Inoculation.

Medical Practitioners in the City are supplied free of charge with anti-typhoid vaccine for the inoculation of of inmates of typhoid infected houses provided they are prepared to do the inoculation and furnish the Health Department with full particulars of the cases inoculated. Willing contacts of infected houses are also inculated freely by the Medical Officer of the nearest Corporation Dispensary or the Medical Officer, Registration and Vaccination; and in cases of necessity, by the Health Officer or his Assistants.

Medical Relief.

There are 29 Dispensaries of which 21 are Allopathic, 4 Unani, 3 Siddha & 1 Ayurvedic. Each is in charge of a qualified Medical Officer. Medical aid can be obtained free between 7. a. m. to 10 a. m. and 3 p. m. to 5 p. m. every day. The Dispensaries will remain closed in the afternoon on Sundays. Besides, there are 5 special clinics: 1 for tuberculosis; 1 for leprosy; 1 for venereal diseases and 2 for skin affections.

EDUCATION

Prior to the year 1910 the Corporation was only disbursing from its its funds teaching grants to Elementary Schools in the City under private management. It was also maintaining an elementary school at Chetput started in 1906. In 1908, Government, while reviewing the Administration Report of the Corporation of Madras, suggested the advisability of the Corparation utilising its funds for the spread of education. The Corporation approached the Government to appoint a committee to consider the question of providing school buildings free of rent for aided elementary schools in the City. On the recommendations of the Committee appointed by the Government the Corporation agreed to construct and maintain forty Elementary Model Schools within a period of ten years. In view of the heavy outlay involved in this scheme the Corporation was relieved of the liability to make teaching grants to elementary schools in the city for a peried of ten years. The Corporation was able to construct only 26 schools and to maintain four other schools in rented buildings within the prescribed period.

In 1921, a beginning was made towards starting elementary schools exclusively for girls. During 1921-24 the number of schools maintained by the Corporation for boys and girls increased to 38 and 4 respectively.

In 1924, the Corporation resolved to introduce Compulsory Elementary Education in divisions 24 to 27 as an experimental measure. There are at present 173 schools (137 boys and 36 girls) maintained by the Corporation including those in the extended areas. (List of schools elsewhere).

Works Department.

This department is in charge of all works connected with the construction and maintenance of roads, buildings, bridges, culverts, parks, etc., and regulates the construction of private buildings and structures by scrutinising and sanctioning the plans. It is also in charge of the preparation and execution of schemes in respect of Town Planning, Land Development, Improvement to slums, Housing, Removal of encroachments, etc. The Pallavaram quarries, the General Workshops and Stores and the Lorry Station are under the control of this Department, Pallavaram Quarries.

The Corporation gets its supply of metal for road works from its qnarries at Pallavaram. The establishment at the Quarries consists of a Superintendent, a clerk Store-keeper, a Medical Officer and four watchmen. In addition to blue-granite and grit second class metal and gravel are also produced at the Quarries,

HISTORY OF CERTAIN IMPORTANT PARKS

People's Park

In the year 1866, the entire management of People's Park was transferred to the municipality. The Madras Fair was held in this park for the first time 1878. In the year 1883 the plot of land on which the Victoria Hall now stands was leased to the Town Hall Committee for a term of 99 years. The Zoo has been the main attraction from the start. The wild animals were at the beginning scattered about the park and gradually one after another was moved within the enclosure of the zoo. In the year 1909 10, a portion of land in the north-eastern side was leased for theatrical pandal (Royal Theatre) where the Home for Homeless has since been built up. Another portion on the south-eastern side of the Peoples Park leased to S.I.A.A. is now occupied by the Military rest camp and Hope Club. The centre portion of the People's Park was levelled with the bull dozers and a sports arena formed with the help of military mechanical equipments. The ground is made attractive where in future years matches of much importance may be witnessed by the citizens of Madras.

From the beginning the administrative control of the parks was under the direct charge of the President (now termed as Commissioner) and it was transferred to the city Engineer on 19th May 1921.

Napier Park

In the year 1869, this plot of land was handed over to the Municipal Commissioner for the formation of a park and the park was formed in 1879. This serves as a lung to the crowded locality of Chintadripet. The Park is named after Lord Napier, the then Governor of Madras. A swimming pool has been constructed inside the park for the use of children and this is functioning satisfactorily.

Robinson Park

On 1-2-1819, the management of the park was transferred to the Municipality when it was under the direct charge of the President and latterly under the Engineer in 1921.

Bible Standard Mission of India

In 1930 the Right Rev. J. G. Peters, D.D. Bishop of Ambur, founded a Society for the improvement of Social, Physical and Spiritual uplift of the "Untouchables" and "Depressed" classes of all castes and creeds under the name of Ambur Bible Church. Later this was affiliated to the Bible Standard Conference in the United States of America. The Mission of India is a missionary and evangelistic movement built on strong orthodox and biblical basis. In the province of God the Society had been mightly effective in the villages of India and in the city of Madras, through preaching distribution of Gospel literature, personal work and aggressive evangelism. The India for Christ Crusade Inc., has been affiliated to this Mission in 1945. This is entirely a Faith Mission every worker of the faith being committed to a life of faith in God for his personol support. At Bishopston, Gudiyattam, India, an Industrial School to give free training in Agriculture, combined with the most practical handicrafts such as Printing, Carpentry, Weaving, Poultry Farming, Mat-making, Tailoring, to orphans, widows and destitutes of all castes and creeds who could not afford to pay for their training to earn their livelihood is now in prospect. Address: The Right Rev. J. G. Peters. D. D. Bishop of Ambur, India.

THE ALLEPPEY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE, ALLEPPEY

(Inc. in Travancore)

The primary object of the Chamber of Commerce is to promote and protect trade, Commerce and manufacture of the State, District or Colony in which it is established. The Alleppey Chamber of Commerce, incorporated under special license issued by the Government of Travancore, has been from its very inception in 1929 endeavouring to do its utmost to serve the best interests of the mercantile community of Travancore in general and of Alleppey in particular. Membership is open to all bona fide merchants established and doing business in Travancore without any distinction of class, creed or nationality. All members have equal privileges and equal rights in all matters relating to the adminis. tration of the Chamber. The membership fee is also fixed at a reasonably low level so as to enable all members of the commercial community to co-operate in the common cause. It requires no great stretch of imagination to realise that the need for united effort on the part of the commercial community has never been so important as it is today. If business will only realise this most vital factor necessary for ensuring success in career, then perhaps the Chamber of Commerce would occupy its proper position at the head of the commercial community.

Besides attending to the multifarious functions of a Chamber of Commerce, as publication of statistics issuing certificates of origin and rendering all possible assistance to members in establishing trade connections abroad, the Alleppey Chamber of Commerce is also publishing a monthly Trade Journal "The Commercial Review." The Review is the only one of its kind in South India, and commands a wide circulation among Chambers of Commerce, Commercial Houses and Institutions throughout India and the Empire and other parts of the world and thus serves as the "Link" between the producer and his markets.

TRUNK CALLS

PARTICULAR PERSON CALLS.—

For effective calls.—The appropriate trunk call charge plus 25 per cent, of the full charge for an Ordinary call.

For ineffective calls.—25 per cent, of the full charge for an Ordinary trunk call.

URGENT PRIVATE INLAND TRUNK CALLS—

The charges for such urgent calls will be double the corresponding rate for Ordinary calls applicable at the time the call is put through.

FIXED TIME TRUNK CALLS.—

An extra charge of 25 per cent. of the normal charge will be made for each Fixed Time Call with a minimum of 6 annas and a maximum of Rs. 2.

REVERSED CHARGE CALLS.—

Newspaper offices and Mercantile firms desiring to authorize their correspondents or agents to send trunk calls to the head office without prepayment of charge should apply to the Accounts Officer, Telephone Revenue, NewDelhi

REDUCED CHARGES FOR CERTAIN HOURS.—

Half rates are chargeable for trunk calls made between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. on week days and throughout the 24 hours on Sundays and the six principal Telegraph Holidays, subject to a minimum of 6 annas, fraction of an anna being counted as a whole anna. Full rates are charged in cases where the standard rates are 6 annas or under, and also in certain special cases which are mentioned in the Trunk Call Rate Book.

Notes.—1. With effect from the 1st December 1940, a sur-charge of 10 per cent, is levied on all trunk call charges.

2. For conditions governing the use of Trunk lines and for trunk call rates which are not shown in this Directory, please ring up the Local Telephone Exchange.

3. The rates shown in this Directory are subject to revision from time to time.

The Weekly that is exclusively devoted to political economic and literary information

Edited by SIR SREENIVASA SARMA, KT., C.I.E.

- The WHIP gives you every week a "nut-shell survey of Indian and world politics, written in a detached and impartial manner.
- The WHIP gives you discussions on Indian and world economic problems without any bias.
- The WHIP tells you all about men and women who figure in the week's news, interesting extracts from politician's speeches on current problems and the press discussions on matters of the moment.
- The WHIP offers you comments on a strict and impartial basis, since the paper is an independent organ, free from any political party affiliation and therefore, never favouring or fearing any one. Truth and fairness guide our editorial policy.
- The WHIP has a circulation amongst men who matter in India, Ceylon, S. E. Asia, England, U.S., etc.

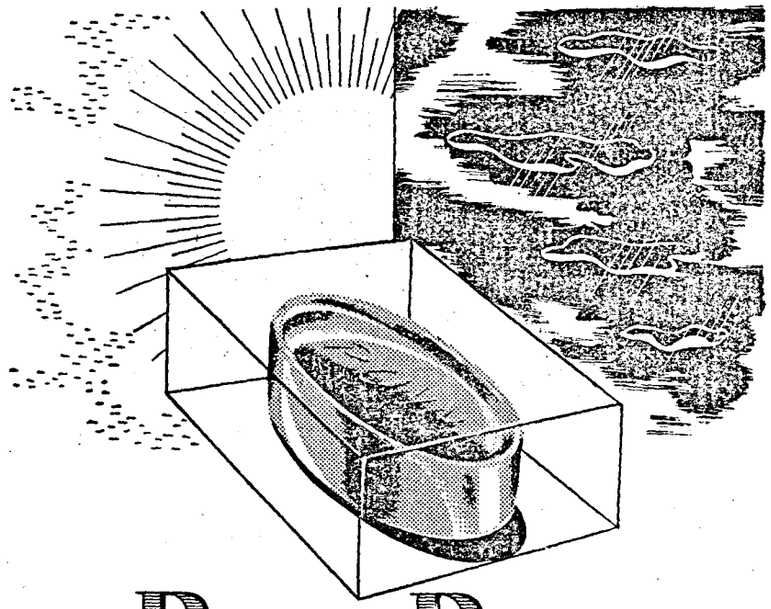

THERE IS STILL A LITTLE SPACE AVAILABLE FOR ADVERTISERS

Prodigious Businessmen prefer the WHIP for their Ads. An Ad. in the WHIP gives a fillip to your trade. You may not know what you are missing without the WHIP to read and advertise.

IT has been our constant endeavour not to put anything in the market until we are satisfied that the quality attained is of the very best. It is only fair that experimentation should be in our laboratories and not on the consumer. Having attained quality, we see to it that there is no watering down for the sake of short-term gains.

WE are aware that our position in Indian Industry should be reflected in a sense of social responsibility. During the Swadeshi movement it was our privilege to be amongst those who gave up voluntarily the manufacture of cloth which might pass for Khadi. We have not yielded to the temptation of making potable liquor out of molasses in our Sugar Factory. In order to track down the black market operator in our cloths and to ensure that the consumer got his cloth at controlled prices, we set up a system of numbering each piece and sent our inspectors to principal centres in India and supplied cloth only to our old merchants on a quota system, even before the introduction of the Textile Controller's Scheme.

WE can claim, without being immodest, to have made our contribution to pioneering in various fields. In 1923 the first complete Spinning and Weaving Mill with Combers, well-equipped Bleach and Dye House and Mercerising Plant was put up for the making of fine cloths and quality sewing threads. In the early days, mistakes were made and losses sustained in the face of foreign competition, but we carried on gamely. In 1937 we were the first to install a complete Plant for the manufacture of genuine Mosquito Nettings.

RECENTLY, a Central Research Laboratory has been set up to initiate new lines of manufactures, to improve existing processes and products and to utilize by-products.

OVER a period of many years we have recognised that all posts of responsibility should be filled by highly qualified men with good University education in India and abroad. From the head of a department down to the clerk, standards of educational qualifications have been laid down and recruitment is strictly on the basis of merit.

WE have recognised the need for social and welfare work among employees and have provided hospital facilities, gratuities on illness and old age, nursery schools, educational help up to graduation and co-operative societies. It is realised that working-class housing is very deficient in sanitation and the barest amenities of life. We plan to build houses for our workers as soon as conditions return to normal.

AND SISTER COMPANIES

THE CALICO MILLS - SWASTIK OIL MILLS
BEHAR SUGAR WORKS - SARABHAI CHEMICALS

PRINCIPAL FIELDS OF ACTIVITY

THE CALICO AND JUBILEE MILLS, Ahmedabad, make a variety of textiles from Blankets to the finest Series Dhoties, Mulls, Lawns, Voiles, Lenos, Suitings and other specialities such as genuine Mosquito Netting, Sewing Threads and Superior Shirtings, Turkish Towels, Printed Chintz, real Gold-thread fabrics, etc. Our colours are fast and the silk-like lustre on our cloth is permanent.

THE SWASTIK OIL MILLS, LTD., Bombay, make Refined Castor oil, Refined Groundnut Oil, Linseed Oil, Vegetable Product (Ghee), Turkey Red Oil, Stearic Acid, Washing Soap, Toilet Soaps, Hair Oils, Glycerine, Phenyle. They have their own wholesale and retail selling organization for South India and the Punjab.

THE BEHAR SUGAR WORKS Pachrukhi, has a crushing capacity of 1,100 tons sugarcane per day. The factory makes very high grade Sugar, Cube Sugar Coffee Crystals, etc. We are putting up a Power Alcohol Plant in conjunction with the Sugar Works.

SARABHAI CHEMICALS, Baroda. Our aim in entering this new field is not simply to add some more fancy and patent remedies to the existing supplies. We aspire to make Fine Chemicals and Pharmaceuticals for which India has to depend partially or wholly on imports. The importance of research is fully realised and a well-equipped Laboratory has been set up.

COTTON AND CLOTH, LTD., Bombay, import African and Egyptian Cottons. They also do wholesale and retail business in Cloth.

THE WESTERN INDIA PROSPECTING SYNDICATE, LTD., Ahmedabad. They have a wholesale and retail selling organisation for Swastik Products, Sugars, Fine Chemicals and Pharmaceuticals, etc., in Bombay, Gujarat, Kathiawar, and Sind.

KAWEMPE COTTON COMPANY, LTD., East Africa. The Company does Export business in East African Cotton.

BAKUBHAI AND AMBALAL, LTD., London. This Company does Export and Import business mainly in Oil-seeds and Cakes, Cotton, Machinery, Stores, etc.

Whether you are a CONFECTIONER, CATERER or PROVISION MERCHANT.

The SIX REASONS why you should buy your requirements of DRYFRUITS & NUTS from us only.

1. You expect very satisfactory goods for your good money, YOU CAN GET IT FROM US.
2. Times demand Fashionable PACKING. YOU ARE SURE TO BE SATISFIED WITH OUR WORK.
3. IF YOU ARE A CONFECTIONER, you naturally will have no time and convenience to clean the goods and use them. When you buy your requirements from us, you have no worry in this respect as everything leaves our godown fully cleaned.
4. IF YOU ARE A PROVISION MERCHANT, you cannot ask your customers at your counter to wait until you have opened the case and cleaned the goods. WITH FULL CONFIDENCE YOU CAN OPEN OUR CASES IN THEIR PRESENCE AND DELIVER THEIR REQUIREMENTS.
5. For X'MAS and BIRTHDAY PRESENTS, you cannot give anything better than our PRESENTATION BOXES.
6. For the quality goods we supply, OUR PRICE IS THE CHEAPEST.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF OUR SERVICE AND AVOID DISAPPOINTMENT.

The Nilgiris (Tamil)

A District and range of mountains in Madras lying between North Lat. 11° 12' and 11° 37'; East Long 76° 18' and 77° 5'; bounded on the north by the Mysore State; on the south by portions of Malabar and Coimbatore; on the east by the Coimbatore District and on the west by Malabar. Its extreme length from North to South is 29 miles; width from east to west 51 miles. Area 982 sq miles. Languages spoken:—Tamil, Kanarese, Badaga, Toda and Malayalam. Hd. Quarters: Ootacamund Civil Station. Stations in the Nilgiris: Aruvankadu, Coonoor, Kotagiri, Lovedale, Ootacamund and Wellington. There is an automatic telephone service in in Aruvankadu, Coonoor, Ootacamund and Wellington all interconnected.

Ootacamund.—The principal town in the Nilgiris, is about 7250 feet above sea level, and although the mornings, in Winter are frosty, snow is unknown. The average annual rainfall is about 52.14 inches. It is the summer headquarters of the Governor of Madras. Government house is an imposing structure in beautiful grounds. The Nilgiris Raiway runs from Mettupalayam, at the foot of the ghats to Ootacamund via Coonoor. There is a splendid motoring road from Mettupalayam to Ootacamund (32 miles via Coonoor, Wellington and Aruvankadu), which is kept in perfect order, and the scenery all along is magnificent. There is a regular motor bus service between Coonoor and Ootacamund; and buses plying every half hour. There is also a similar service between Coonoor and Mettupalayam where buses run every hour. All the main roads in the Nilgiris are exceedingly fine. The whole of Ootacamund is lit electrically and there is a good water supply.

Coonoor.—Comes next to Ooty in importance and is 6,000 feet above sea level. It is 22 miles from Mettupalayam and 10 miles from Ootacamund. The annual mean temperature is 60° with an extreme variation not exceeding 15° either way. Average rainfall is 65 inches, well distributed throughout the year but heaviest in the north-east monsoon. Flowers, fruits and vegetables grow in profusion all the year round, and sea fish come up from the coast by train daily. There is a municipal piped water supply. The town is lit electrically.

Yanaon—Godavari District.—(Under the Government of Pondicherry).

The French settlement of Yanaon is situated in the Godavari Dist. North Lat. 16° 43' and East Long 85° 5'. It stands at the point where the Koringa river issues from the Godavari and is bounded by these streams on the east and south.

Yercaud: (Sheyaroy Hills, Salem).

The Shevaroy Hills in the Salem dist. lying in North Lat. 10° 5'; East Long. 78° 20'; extends over an area of 156 sq. miles. Yercaud (elevation 4,500 feet) is the principal European settlement and is chosen by many as a sanatorium in preference to Nilgiris owing to its more genial and milder climate. The nearest Railway station Salem junction (Puramangalam) is 14 miles by road and bridle path, and by ghat road, 21 miles from Yercaud.

Tuticorin.

The terminus of the South Indian Railway, 446 miles from Madras and the chief Port of the district affording good shetler to small boats, but owing to the shallowness of the water, steamers of even moderate draught have to anchore some seven miles from the shore. Tuticorin is also a municipal town and of great commercial importance. It lies in the Srivaikuntam Taluk of the Tinnvelly District, and is situated on the west shore of the Gulf of Mannar, and between the mouths of the Tambraparni and the Vaippar. There are large cotton mills in the town and extensive salt factories. There is limited accommodation for travellers at the Railway Station. Languages spoken: English and Tamil. There is a Travellers' Rest House in the Town. The District Headquarters are at Tinnevelly.

MYSORE STATE

A PROGRESSIVE SURVEY (Contributed)

By reason of its notable achievements in Administration and industrialisation Mysore has earned the reputation of being a 'Model State'. Few places in India have a greater wealth of beauty spots than Mysore or are so high in picturesque scenery and places of historical interest. Mysore has an area of nearly 30,000 square miles, and has a population of about seven millions. Nearly three-fourths derive their livelihood from agricultural pursuits. It has a revenue amounting to Rs. 10 crores. The climate is healthy and without extremes, the average railfall being 30 inches a year. The three great dynasties that ruled Mysore also in the centuries that are gone, are the Kadambas, the Hossalas and the Kings of Vijayanagar. The Capital is the City of Mysore. Here His Highness the Maharaja resides. The Administrative Headquarters are in the City of Bangalore, which has a Civil and Military Station, at present administered by the British Resident in Mysore.

THE RULER AND ADMINISTRATION

The Ruler of Mysore State is His Highness Sri Jayachamaraja Wadiyar Bahadur, G.C.B., G.C.S.I., who maintains the high traditions of His Great Uncle, His late Highness the Maharaja

His Highness, widely travelled that he is, has visited every part of his State to study local conditions personally.

The present head of the adminstration is Dewan Bahadur Dr. Sir A. Ramaswami Mudaliar, K. C. S. I., D.C.L; the Dewan (Prime Minister) of Mysore. He is the first non-official to hold this post. The Dewan is assisted by a Council of five Ministers the majority of whom are also non-officials. There are two houses of Legislature, namely, the Representative Assembly and the Legitlative Council, with elected majorities. The latter House has an elected President.

For sight-seeing Mysore is unique. Whether it be carving or ivory, sandal or stone, whether it be colossal statues hewn out of boulders or magnificent buildings, whether it be the elephant, tiger or bison of the big game hunter, or the miniature relics of the curio collector, Mysore holds a high degree of facination to all. The garden city of Mysore and the capital of the State has been described as the cleanest City of India. Lying at the foot of the Chamundi Hills, the city is famous for its sandal oil and silk factories. Here are witnessed during the Birthday of His Highness the Maharaja (July) and the Dasara Festivities (September—October), sights of unsurpassed beauty and splendour. In Mysore are located the Palaces of His Highness the Maharaja, the University, the Krishnarajendra Hospital, the Chamarajendra Tecnnical Institute, the Oriental Library, the Zoo, the Jaganmohan Palace and the Art Gallery. Seringapatam by the side of eddy-eyed Cauvery, the Old Capital of Mysore, is ten miles from the present capital. Seringapatam with her antique architectural monuments, the Fort and the scenes of historic battle have gripped the imagination of visitors. It was here that the British army finally overcame Tippu Sultan. The dam at Krishnarajasagar, impounds the waters of the Cauvery, forming one of the largest artificial lake in the world. Below the reservoir, are the far-famed "Brindavan" Gardens playing the drama of technicolour water and light. One observer of note from the West described them "as among the most beautiful and interesting in the world."

Bangalore is an important industrial centre, the city. Its fine parks and public gardens, is imposing offices, arts and technical colleges and hospitals and its various factories have won for the City a foremost place in India. The Indian Institute of Science, founded by the late J. N. Tata, is situated here. Nandi Hill near Bangalore is a popular summer hill reson.

Mysore is the only place where gold is mined on a commercial scale in india. Mysore produces two per cent of the world production of gold. Two of the Mines in the Kolar Gold Field are as deep as the deepest mines in the world. Siwasamudram, 30 miles from Maddur on the Bangalore-Mysore Railway Line, where the Cauvery makes a descent of about 200 feet in a succession of rapids and cascades, is the premier hydro-electric station in the State.

Famous throughout India for its colossal 60-feet stone statue of Sri Gomateswara, Sravanabelagola, just lying off the Bangalore - Hassan Road, Sravananabelagola is the spiritual capital of all Jains in India. Belur and Halebid are famed for their temples built over nine hundred years ago, which, for fertility of design and perfection of finish, deeply impress the visitor. The serene Sringeri, the seat of his Holiness the Jagadguru, well.known centre for Hindu Culture.

The Gersoppa Falls, about 175 miles from Mysore City or Bangalore, are reached by car or by bus from Talaguppe, the terminus of the Birur-Shimoga-Talaguppe Railway Line. They are considered to be the highest waterfalls in the world. The River Sharavati falls over a tremendous charm about half a mile wide and 830 feet deep.

With its sound financial policy the State has been a pioneer in many fields of activity. The State is known for its gold and iron, silk, sandalwood soap, procelain, cement, paper, sugar, tobacco, fertilisers, vegetable oils, electrical batteries, and accumulators, coffee and pharmaceuticals. The State is now considered to develop the aeroplane, radio and rayon industrus.

Mysore is noted for hydro-electric and irrigation development. The hydro-electric works at Sivasamudram (the first of its kind in All-India) and Shimsha supply the State with cheap electric power which is available in the more remote parts. A scheme for harnessing the Jog Falls to cost over Rs. 8 crores and estimated to generate 120,000 k.w. is rapidly nearing completion. The first of the generators is expected to be serviced early in 1947. Other schemes for equal magnitude are under contemplation. With untold wealth in the shape of important mineral and forest resources, and with electric power available at cheap rates, Mysore stands happily situated in regard to the development of its industries. It is in this view also that many post-war plans are being actively considered. The advance made in recent year has been phenomenal, and the policy of the Government towards industry and agriculture has been well-defined and is developed on nation-building lines. Agricultural methodes and practices are being modernised to achieve ultimately self-sufficiency in food stuff requirements. Antiquated systems have given place to scientific methods,

It has been the policy of Government to devote special care to the extension and developement of education and care of the sick. The Mysore University is in the forefront of institutions of learning, and the principal towns are equipped with up-to-date colleges and schools. There are now nearly 9,000 primary schools, 524 Middle Schools, 90 High Schools and 13 Colleges. In the field of higher and technical educatlon Mysore stands prominent with its engineering schools and colleges technical and occupational institutions, besides the Medical and Agricultural Schools and Colleges.

It is recognised that the health of the people is of the utmost importance and medical advice is consequently available to all. The State is well-equipped with efficient hospitals and dispensaries. The average area served by each hospital or dispensary in the State is 73 square miles against 126 in Madras, 130 in Bombay, 510 in Bengal, 176 in United Provinces and 131 in Bihar and the average population served by each hospital works to about 19,000 as against the all India figure of 41,000.

Progress is being accelerated to make the State as self-sufficient as is possible. The Government Departments have achieved great industrial success. The Mysore Iron and Steel Works at Bhadravati is entirely State owned. This factory has the only charcoal blast-furnance in the East, produces pig-iron and a wide variety of steel products useful for house-holders and manufacturers. The cement plant of the work turns out over 25,000 tons of cement a year. Bhadravati is fast becoming the Birmingham of India. Another important industry is furnished by the Mysore Paper Mills, which manufacture paper of different grades and varieties.

The Government Sandal Oil Factory produce the first variety of oil much in demand from the medical and perfumery interests in many countries. The Mysore Chemicals and Fertilizers, Ltd., produce synthetic ammonia ond sulphuric acid. The Mysore Coffee Curing Factory is well known for the curing of the famous Mysore Coffee. The Mysore Vegetable Oil Factory is a modern Industrial concern manufacturing vegetable oil. The Mysore Glass and Enamel Works, Ltd., which has a large output of glass articles for the home, industries and the laboratories, and the Mysore Lamp Works, where electric bulbs are produced on a large scale, are located in Bangalore. Other industries established in Bangalore are the Industrial and Testing Laboratory producing may branded medical preparations. The Porcelain Factory which manufactures insulators for electrical undertakings and other porcelain articles the Government Electric Factory which produces switches, ceiling roses fuse-boxes, transformers, water meters, etc. The Government Soap Factory manufactures Mysore Sandal Soap and toilet goods. The Mysore Sugar Company, Ltd., manufactures Crystal Sugar and also produces rectified and denatured spirits. The Government Silk Weaving Factory at Mysore specialises in the production of Crepe-de-Chine, Crepe Georgette, Crepe Satin, lace sarees, silk handkerchiefs, ties, etc. For the duration of the war this Factory was manufacturing parachute silk. Near Bangalore is the Hindustan Aircraft Factory. The Mysore Plywood Company, which manufacture plywood and other industrial wood and plants is also located near Bangalore.

Further, new industries are constantly being fostered. The manufacture of radios, textile machinery and other industrial tools are being taken up by newly floated companies. The possibilities of making rayon out of the abundantly available forest bamboo are under consideration.

There is a fully fledged Industries Department which vigilantly looks after the needs of the various rural cottage and home industries in the State. A number of industries, subsidiary to agriculture, have been introduced, while attempts are being made to improve other existing industries, such as handloom weaving, blacksmithy, manufacture of lacquerware, coir industry, flaying village tanning, leather stitching mat-weaving, paper manufacture by hand, corton rope-making, tile making and pottery. Mysore is almost the first among Indian Provinces and States to develop the Khadi industry as a State enterprise.

The monetary contributions made by His Highness the Maharaja and the State for war purposes amount to over Rs. 60 lakshs, including the public contribution of Rs. 10 lakhs. A sum of over Rs. 8·5 crores has been invested in Defence Loans. Other gifts include a vessel of the Royal Indian Navy, a Mysore Sqadron of Aircraft for the R. A. F, and a Mysore fighter plane for the R. A. F. The several industrial Concerns of the State whose reources were fully mobilished for purposes connected with the war have manufactured war supplies of the total value of over Rs. 14 crores. In view of the great war services rendered by the Mysore State, H.E. the Commander-in-Chief presented a Saluting Gun to His Highness the Maharaja at an impressive ceremony in Bangalore.

Finally, Mysore has been able through the years to develop the natural resources and provide for the well-being of the people in the way it has done has evoked general rapprobation. Mysore is not resting on its laurels. The urge to go forward is ever present. Mysore Economic Conference and its Constituent Comittees have submitted 171 Schemes involving a recurring cost of Rs. 6·75 crores and a non-recurring cost of Rs. 21·85 crorers relating to all spheres of nation-building activity in the State. These schemss are now under examination by Government. Other questions engaging attention are the development of the Bhatkal Harbour aud the Chamarajanagar-Satyamangalam Railway. Mysore, under the inspiration and guidance of its young and progressive Ruler is well set to attain the realisation of its potentiolities, and maintain its distinctive individuality, and thus contribute to the General progress of India.

TRADE PROBLEMS OF MYSORE (Contributed)

Mysore is an inland State and the bulk of its external trade is carried on with the adjoining districts of the Bombay and Madras Presidencies and also through the following principal ports viz., Madras, Marmugoa and Mangalore. The distinct feature of Mysore's foreign trade is that it has been exporting largely raw and semi-manufactured articles, as well as articles included under item "Food, Drink and Tobacco" in the Review of the Foreign Rail-borne and Road-borne Trade of the State, while importing manufactured articles from abroad. The total value of the merchandise imported into this State has been in excess of the value of merchandise exported. But this excess of import can be, however, set off against the deficit of exports and the Balance of trade maintained in favour of the State. To a considerable extent the export of gold from the Gold Mines in K. G. F. area contributes to this result. The value of gold exported by the Gold Mining Companies in the year 1945-46 was about Rs. 2,61 00 000.

The promotion of the trade and commerce of Mysore has been one of the chief activities of the Department of Industries and Commerce in Mysore from its inception. In addition to collecting and disseminating information relating to trade, the Department in interesting itself in trade problems and in assisting the creation of trade openings by putting in touch trade representatives of other parts of India and foreign countries with the local dealers of Mysore produce and manufactures, The Department also compiles and publishes statistics relating to the business condition in Mysore and the foreign rail-borne and road-borne trade of the State.

It is seen from the statistics collected that the pre-ponderating share of Mysore's exports trade is held by Madras aud Bombay Presidencies and Madras Ports. Out of the total quantity of about 5,700,000 Railway maunds exported by rail during the year 1945—46, the exports to the above Presidencies and ports amount to about 4,800,000 Railway maunds or 84 percent of the total exports. Though the bulk of the trade is carried on by rail, there is also considerable traffic passing through the frontier roads of the State, the value of which is estimated at about 5 crores of rupees per year.

Owing to its situation in the interior, Mysore has no sea port of its own with the result that the entire export trade has to pass over long distances through land frontiers before shipments are made to foreign countries through the Indian ports. The question of constructing a harbour at Bhatkal, which is situated at a distance of 30 miles from Mangalore on the west coast and 60 miles from Sagar (Shimoga District in Mysore), has been receiving the active consideration of the Government of Mysore for some years past and it is hoped that this harbour would serve as an entrepot for the trade of Mysore.

Among the more important of the articles of merchandise exported from the State, mention may be made of the following, viz., coffee, cardamom, cotton, groundnut, cocoanut and copra, betelnut, tanned hides and skins, woollen druggets and sandalwood oil. Of these, tanned hides and skins and wollen druggests are exported to foreign countries through the Madras port. Marmugoa is a distributing and shipping centre for groundnut and cotton, which are consigned chiefly from Chitaldrug and Davangere Railway Stations in the State. The total exports of the above commodities in 1945—46 amounted to about 105,000 railway maunds and 70,500 railway maunds, respectively. The bulk of coffee produced in the Kadur and Hassan Districts is consigned to Mangalore port for purposes of shipment abroad. Coffee is chiefly exportes to the United Kingdom, France, Germany and other continental countries in Europe. The exports in 1945—46 amounted to 281,803 railway maunds, valued at Rs. 277 lakhs. Caradamoms are exported mostly to the Southern Maharatta Districts of the Bombap Presidency, while cocoanuts and copra are exported to the Northern Indian markets, viz., Delhi, Lahore, Cawnpore, etc. The quantity of cocoanuts exported in 1945—46 was 504,115 railway maunds valued at about Rs. 51 lakhs while the quantity of copra exported was 283,841 railway mannds of the value of Rs. 129 lakhs. The trade in betelnut is carried on chiefly with the Madras Presidency. Sandalwood oil, which is produced in the Government Sandalwood Oil Factories of Mysore, is exported to overseas countries, the United Kingdom and Japan (before the War) being the principal recipients. The quantity exported in 1945—46 was 83,31 lbs. Lacquerware toys, sandalwood articles and rosewood articles inlaid with ivory are some of the other chief products of Mysore which find a market in foreign countries.

Considerable quantities of machinery were imported from the United Kingdnm, Germany and several other continental countries in Europe before the War. The annual imports of machinery before the War were valued at about a crore of rupees. During the war period, the imports of machinery from foreign countries suffered a very heavy fall. The necessity for the import of machinery from abroad both for replacement and expansion of the industrial concerns in the State is, however, keenly felt. Steps are being taken to import textile, chemical and engineering machinsry needed for the postwar expansion scheme of the Government.

Owing to the conditions created by the war, the foreign trade and commerce of the whole of India has been considerably affected. In so far as Mysore State is concerned, the reaction has been similar. Further the unfavourable seasonal conditions prevailing in recent years have not only reduced the available surplus for export of most kinds of agricultural produce, but have also brought about a shrinkage in the output of the chief articles of food, which is far below the actual requirements, while the supply position with regard to textiles, consumer goods, drugs and medicines, mechinery and mill stores etc., has been rendered acute owing to the absence of shipping facilities and the imposition of trate restrictions. With the cessation of War in Europe and the Far East in 1945 and the postwar reconstruction schemes which have now been taken on hand by the Government, the situation is, however, being brought under control and vigorous and systematic efforts are also being made to obtain increased supplies of food and other essential articles from other countries while augmenting the local output with the available resources. It is hoped that these measures will go a long way in easing the supply position with regard to many articles of merchandise and stabilising the trade and commerce of Mysore.

The Government of Mysore have appointed a Trade Commissioner in the United Kingdom for the purpose of improving the trade of the State in in Europe. Similarly, in the United States of America, an American representative has been appointed.

TRAVANCORE STATE

Lt. Col. His Highness Sri Padmanabha Dasa Vanchi Pala Rama Varma Kulasekhara Kiritapadi Manney Sultan Maharaja Rama-Raja Bahadur Shamsher Jang., G.C.S.I., G.C.I.E., D.Litt, Maharaja of Travancore.

HIS HIGHNESS THE MAHARAJAH OF TRAVANCORE

Born 7th Novr. 1912. Ascended the Musnad 1st Septr. 1924. Invested with Ruling Powers 6th Novr. 1931. Educated privately. Has travelled extensively in India, Europe, Ceylon and the East Indies. The Andhra and the Annamalai Universities have conferred the honorary degree of D. Litt. on His Highness. His Highness is the founder and chancellor of the Travancore University. His Highness is Colonel-in-chief of the Travancore State Forces, Honorary Colonel of the 12th Malabar Battalion and Honorary Colonel in the British Army.

The Ruler of Travancore is the source of all authority, legislative, judicial and administrative. For more than a century however Travancore has had a succession of constitutional Rulers who have striven ceaselessly for the welfare of the people; His Highness the present Maharaja sedulously upholds the lofty traditions of his House and readily responds to the legitimate aspirations of the people. The Legislature consists of an Upper House, Sri Chitra State Council and a Representative Assembly known as the Sri Mulam Assembly. Both Chambers are constituted with a decisive and predominantly elected non-official majority and possesses wide powers, legislative and financial.

In November 1936, His Highness issued a Proclamation throwing open all temples under his control and those of his Government to Hindus of all castes, including those, till then, regarded as untouchables. Affecting as it does, the whole social structure of Hindusm, the reform is generally acclaimed to be one of the most outstanding in the history of the Hindu faith. In November 1944 His Highness issued another proclamation abolishing the penalty of death provided for certain offences under the Travancore Penal Code.

His Highness at the very beginning of his reign decided upon a policy of planned industrialisation of the State. The founding of the Travancore University with an avowed bias in favour of technical studies and industrial research, the completion of the great Pallivasal Hydro-Electric scheme, the taking over by the Government of the Motor Transport system, and the starting of industrial concerns like "The Travancore Rubber Works", "The Travancore Sugars and Chemicals", the Aluminium, the Glass, the Plywood and the Toy Factories, The Travancore Fertilizers and Chemicals etc., mark distinctive stages in the steady and vigorous policy of industrialization pursued by His Highness' Government. The last mentioned concern has been started with a capital of 5 crores and the construction of a fertilizer factory at Alwaye for the manufacture of Ammonium Sulphate and other important Chemicals is proceeding apace. Schemes are in preparation for the establishment of factories for the manufacture of fertilisers, caustic soda, sulphuric acid, potassium chlorate, acetic acid and calcium carbide. Arrangements are also being made for the establishment of a Cane-sugar factory and a Rayons factory. Further, steps are being taken for the establishmsnt of factories for the manufacture of cement and also for starting of spinning mills all over the state. Refined salt is produced on a commercial scale, sufficient not only for local consumption but also for export. The Travancore Credit Bank has been established for providing long term loans to agriculturists and industrialists, and the notable Debt Relief legislation has gone a long way to alleviate the distress caused by the burden of widespread indebtedness. A major irrigation project, known as The Perunchani Irrigation Project, calculated to irrigate 60,000 acres of dry land in South Travancore, has been started.

A very comprehensive scheme of post-war reconstruction involving an outlay of nearly 10 crores of rupees is being implemented, designed to improve the agricultural and industrial position of the State. His Highness has inaugurated agcultural renaissance in the State by an establishment of an Art Gallery, A Music Academy, a classical Dance Centre and a Broadcasting Station.

On the outbreak of hosilities in 1939, His Highness placed the entire resources of the State at the disposal of His Majesty's Government. His Highness has presented at a cost of Rs. 6,50,000 the Mine-Sweeper "H. I. M. S. Travancore" to the Royal Indian Navy and two fighter planes at a cost of Rs. 1,50,000 to the Royal Air Force His Highness has, besides, contributed Rs. 14,30,350 to His Excellency the Viceroy's War Fund, Rs. 2,00,000 to His Excellency the Viceroy's Comfort Fund, Rs. 1 10,000 to the Red Cross, Rs. 1,50,000 for Women's War Work, Rs. 30,000 for King George's Fund for sailors and Rs 26,000 by way of other contributions. Her Highness Maharani Setu Parvati Bayi contributed Rs. 1,00,000 to the Viceroy's War Fund besides contributing. towards equipping a Field Ambulance Unit and to the Trinket Fund. The total financial contribution of the State including contributions by the public amounts to Rs. 33,05,601—1—3 up to the quarter ending September 1945.

His Highness has sent the First and Second Infantry Units of the Travancore State Forces on active service. His Highness' Government have also sent several units of labour for the construction of important military works and organised the business interests of the State so as to contribute large supplies of important war materials.

His Highness' benefactions include the gift of large sums of money for the relief of earthpuake victims and for the fight against tuberculosis, annual donations to various philanthropic and scientific bodies and the establishment of a Home for the Infirm and tne Destitute. His Highness' hobbies are tennis, photography, riding and motoring. Address: Kaudiar Palace, Trivandrum.

Travancore is one of the most populous and important of Indian States and occupies the south west corner of the Indian Peninsula. Among the Indian states it is next only to Hyderabad and Mysore both in point of population and revenue. It is foremost among the Indian States and the Provinces in point of literacy, both among men and women. It is bounded on the North by the State of Cochin and the District of Coimbatore; on the east by the Districts of Madura, Ramnad and Tinnevelly and on the South and West by the Indian Ocean and the Arabian Sea. It is one of the most picturesque portions of India, with green-clad hills and forests, numerous rivers and extensive backwaters.

Trivandrum, the capital Travancore, is the terminus of the South Indian Railway. The whole State is covered by a network of roads and canals with a well regulated system of road and water transport. There exists also a weekly airmail service between Bombay and Trivandram. This has been extended to Trichinopoly which is on the Madras-Colombo Air Mail Route.

Area of the State 7,661·75 sq. miles. Population: 6,070,018 according to the 1941 census. The total population of the City of Trivandrum 128 365. COCHIN STATE

His Highness Sri Kerala Varma
(Maharaja of Cochin)

HIS HIGHNESS THE MAHARAJAH

His Highness Sri Kerala Varma who ascended the musnad on the 31st January 1946 was born in July 1870. After his early education in Sanskrit under the guidance and guardianship of his father, he joined the Patsala at Tripunithura where he continued his Sanskrit studies and commenced the study of English and other subjects under erudite teachers. He passed the B A degree examination of the Madras University in 1895. He is the first member of the Cochin Ruling Family to take the B A Degree. After his academic career he widened his knowledge by extensive reading and kept abreast with the times by reading regularly the daily newspapers and periodicals. He was made an examiner in History and Sanskrit for the niddle School Examination, in Sanskrit and Malayalam for the Cochin School Leaving Certificate Examination and in Malayalam for the Madras University Examination. During his leisure hours, he coached up young Princes in English, Algebra and other subjects.

For more than four years, His Highness was the Warden of the Residential Palace for young Princes. His attainments in oriental languages received recognition at the hands of the Madras Government who appointed him as Translator to the Government of Madras in 1914. He remained in active service only for three and half years. He left Madras in 1918.

His Highness has visited many important places of pilgrimage in South India, the most important being Rameswaram which he visited twice. Unlike his predecessors, he has the great advantage of University education and administrative experience. His outlook is progressive and democratic and possesses in abundance all the noble qualities of the Cochin Ruling Family, such as piety, devotion to duty and genuine and anxious concern for the welfare and happiness of his people.

His Highness' first Consort Sreemathi Pottayil Narayani Amma died in 1916. After her death, he married Sreemathi Kunjikavutty Amma of the Paliyam Family She died in 1927. By the first wife, he has two sons and three daughters, and by his second wife, one son and one daughter.

For the effective prosecution of the war, the entire resources of the State were placed at the disposal of the Imperial Government. Nearly 20,000 men joined the Defence Services. 1,285 War technicians were trained in the State and 116 labour units were sent out to Assam and Ceylon. Thousands of tons of timber were supplied. Contributions to various war purposes came to nearly 17 lakhs. Investments in Defence bonds to 25 lakhs and in National Savings 65 and odd lakhs. Various articles were also supplied to meet the needs of India's Defence Services.

Post war Plans prepared by the Government for the development of agriculture, animal, husbandry, fisheries, forests, industries, electricity, irrigation, public health, medical aid, communication and transport, town improvement, rural reconstruction and re-settlement and re-employment of de-mobilised service personnel are now being scrutinised by subject committees consisting of both officials and non-officials.

Administration

The administration of the State is carried on by and in the name of His Highness the Maharaja acting through the Dewan in respect of reserved subjects, and through four Ministers appointed by the Maharajah and among the elected representatives of the people in respect of the transferred subjects. Legislation in the State rests with the Legislative Council but without prejudice to the rights of the Maharaja to make laws. Cochin is the first Indian State to give to the elected representatives of the people a share in the administration by transferring certain nation building departments to the control of a popular minister responsible to the Legislative Council. As the head of the Judicial administration in the State is the High Court. The income of the last financial year was Rs. 2,66,57,419 and the expenditure Rs. 2,42,77,123. Budget estimates for the year 1945. 46 under Receipts and Expenditure stand at Rs. 294 and Rs. 287 lakhs respectively. There are 714 educational institutions in the State including five first grade Colleges and a training college with a total strength of 210,104 students (119,645 boys and 90,459 girls) Besides these there are 286 unrecognised indigenous schools with a strength of nearly 7,000 students. Every encouragement is given by the Government for the extension and development of agriculture, for the establishment and expansion of industries, for rural reconstruction, for the starting of co-operative credit societies and for the establishment of Ayurvedic institutions. There are 15 General Hospitals, 16 dispensaries, 18 rural dispensaries, one leper asylum, 7 itinerary dispensaries, 7 Ayurvedic hospitals, 34 Government Vydyasalas, 8 taluk visha vydyasalas, and 41 grant-in-aid visha vydyasalas. Apart from libraries attached to educational institutions and public libraries in municipal areas and important towns, there are 203 rural libraries in the State. The State Railway runs along the entire length of the State beginning from the Cochin Harbour and connecting the State with British India. The Forest areas are tapped by a Steam Tramway which is 50 miles in length.

As soon as import of rice from Burma stopped, a food production drive was started and a rigid control was exercised over the procurement and distribution of essential foodstuffs. Rationing of food and control of prices were introduced in Febry. 1943 and the food problem was tackled with thoroughness, foresight and remarkable efficiency. Cochin was the first to introduce rationing on a ccountry wide basis. Cochin Restaurants modelled after the famous British Restaurants have been opened in various parts of the State. There are 77 such Restaurants and 12 Standard Meals Hotels. Mid-day non-rice meals for children attending primary schools are given in 406 schools.

Partners in Progress . . .

Standing on the threshold of a new epoch, we face great changes in the India of today. The nation we envisage will be strong, united, better housed better fed . . . and better clad. And the knowledge that tomorrow, as in the past, India will find ready use for the hard-wearing, attractive quality fabrics made by the Buckingham & Carnatic Mills, affords us confidence in our own future besides.

70 years of tradition and experience passed on from generation to generation and combined with modern research lie behind the high reputation for quality and value enjoyed by the Drills, Twills, Longcloth, Shirtings and Tussores which carry these famous trade-marks:
