POLICE.

The 31st December 1875.

No. 367.—The provisions of Act VIII of 1870 (for the prevention of the murder of female infants) having been made applicable to the clans and localities in the Jaunpur District detailed in the subjoined list, by the Notification of the Government of the North-Western Provinces, No. 223 A, dated the 7th instant, the following rules made by that Government in exercise of the power conferred on it by Section 2 of the said Act, and confirmed by the Governor-General in Council, are hereby published for general information :—

Rules for the suppression of Female Infanticide.

I.—A nominal Register (A) of all proclaimed families shall be drawn up by the Police under the orders of the Magistrate of the district. In this register recognized heads of families or masters of separate households shall be entered as the heads of families, and every member of the family habitually resident in the village shall be entered by name. All persons under twelve shall be entered as children, except married female children living with their husbands, who shall, for the purposes of these Rules, be deemed to be adult females.

II.—All villages in which the proportion of female children to children on a proclaimed population of not less than 25 children, is less than 25 per cent., shall be called "specially guilty" villages, and shall also be entered in a separate Register (B), which shall be called the "Private register of proclaimed families in specially guilty villages." This register shall not be open to inspection except by the officers of the district.

III.—The person who is registered as the head of a proclaimed family shall report immediately the occurrence of every birth and death, and the illness of any female child in his family to the chaukidar of the village. He shall also produce all children in his family for the inspection of a Police officer visiting the village when required to produce them.

IV.—Every midwife knowing of, or having reason to believe in, the occurrence in a proclaimed family in the village in which she resides of a birth, or of the illness of a new-born child, shall at once report the fact to the chaukidar of the village. And if the village is one entered in Register B, she shall also report the occurrence of a pregnancy.

V.—If in a given time after proclamation [to be determined for each village or locality by the Local Government] the proportion of female children in a village entered in Register B does not rise to more than 25 per cent., the Lieutenant-Governor may direct that every person registered as the head of a proclaimed family in that village shall be personally bound to report to the officer in charge of the Police Station every pregnancy in his family at some period before the seventh month.

VI.—The chaukidar of the village shall immediately report to the officer in charge of the Police Station the occurrence of a birth, whether male or female, in a proclaimed family; the death of a female infant under six months old; the illness of a female child; and the removal of a pregnant woman to another village. He shall also report, on the occasion of his periodical visit to the Police Station, other deaths, removals and arrivals; and pregnancies reported to him if the village is entered in Register B.

VII.—The zemindars of the villages shall give assistance to the police in drawing up Register A, and in obtaining information regarding all births, marriages, and deaths occurring, or about to occur, among proclaimed families.

VIII.—All expenses incurred in working the system sanctioned by Act VIII of 1870 shall be borne by the proclaimed clans and families, and shall be recoverable as arrears of land revenue; provided that, when the percentage of female children to children of any proclaimed class in any village exceeds forty, such class shall be exempted from any share in such expenses, unless in the opinion of the Magistrate there be other grounds of suspicion.

IX.—Where the crime is so prevalent, and the number of the proclaimed villages so great, that the ordinary establishment of the district cannot cope successfully with it, the Local Government may, at its discretion, appoint a force of special Police for the purpose of carrying out measures of prevention and detection. All expenses incurred for the payment of such Police, or under Rule VIII, may be met by a rate leviable under the orders of the Local Government, from the heads of families entered in the nominal register of proclaimed persons. Such rate will ordinarily be imposed so as to fall more heavily on specially guilty than on guilty families; but the amount of the rate to be levied will be fixed in every case by the special orders of the Local Government.

X.—No proclaimed village or family shall be exempted from the operation of these Rules except by the order of the Local Government, or in virtue of authority to that effect vested by Government in any officer. A village or family so exempted will then be struck out of Register A, and the erasure initialled by the Magistrate of the District, or by the District Superintendent of Police.

FOREIGN DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.—POLITICAL.

Fort William, the 31st December 1875.

No. 3414 P.—HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES arrived at Calcutta on Thursday, the 23rd December 1875, at 2 P. M., under a Royal Salute fired from the Ramparts of Fort William.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, with his Personal Staff and two Officers of the Government of Bengal, proceeded to Diamond Harbour to meet HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS and accompanied the PRINCE to Calcutta.

At 2-30 P. M., His Excellency the Viceroy visited HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES on board Her Majesty's Steamer Serapis.

At 4 P. M., a deputation from the Government of India, consisting of the Secretaries to the Government of India in the Home, Public Works, and Military Departments, and the Military Secretary and two Aides-de-Camp to the Viceroy, waited upon the PRINCE OF WALES.

At 4-30 P. M., HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS accompanied by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal and attended by HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS' Suite embarked in the Royal barge under the usual Naval honors. The Members of the deputation from the Government of India and the Officers of the Lieutenant-Governor's Suite preceded HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS to the shore.

The PRINCE OF WALES landed at Prinsep's Ghât under a Salute of 21 guns from the Ramparts of Fort William, which commenced as HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS stepped ashore.

A Guard of Honor, furnished by the Calcutta Volunteers, was drawn up at Prinsep's Ghât.

The Viceroy, attended by his Personal Staff, received HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS on the Pontoon, where the PRINCE received the following address from the City of Calcutta:—

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS,

"WE, the Corporation of Justices of the Peace, and the undersigned Citizens of Calcutta, approach YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS with a most respectful and heartfelt welcome on this joyous occasion of the visit of YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS to this great Dependency of the British Crown, to express to YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS, and through YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS to our beloved QUEEN, the earnest assurance of our allegiance, loyalty and devotion to Her Most Gracious Majesty's Person and Throne.

"2. The advent of the Heir of our Gracious Sovereign to this country is a source of universal rejoicing and gratification to the people. The occasion awakens associations connected with the many mighty and ancient dynasties of this vast Empire, now so happily centred in the Royal Throne of England; and we hail with no ordinary enthusiasm the presence of the Heir to that Throne in the Capital City of Her Majesty's Indian Empire.

"3. We doubt not that this visit of YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS will be for ever remembered as a great and prominent event in Indian history—an event which, while strengthening and cementing with fresh bonds the loyalty and attachment of the people to their Sovereign, affords them an additional pledge of Her Majesty's unceasing interest in their welfare and advancement.

"4. In this City YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS will meet with abundant indications of the moral and material progress, and of the prosperity, which everywhere follow on British rule. In its numerous structures and works of public utility, in its extensive trade, and in the spread of education and intelligence amongst its citizens will be found all the signs of a prosperous and contented people.

"5. The only regret, mingling with the universal enthusiasm evoked by the intelligence of the projected visit of YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS, was caused by the intimation that the PRINCESS OF WALES would not accompany the Royal Progress through India. We respectfully beg YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS to convey to Your Royal Consort the sincere expression of our regret that we have thus been unable to prove to HER ROYAL HIGHNESS our loyal devotion and attachment by welcoming with acclamation Her bright and gracious presence among us.

"6. Respectfully wishing YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS the fullest enjoyment in Your interesting Tour, and earnestly hoping that YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS will bear away pleasing impressions of the country and its people,

We remain, with the highest respect,
YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS'
Most dutiful and most obedient Servants."

To this address HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS returned the following reply:—

"Gentlemen,—I thank you for your welcome to the Capital of British India.

"It is a great personal pleasure to me to find myself in a city so full of historical associations connected with our Empire in the East.

"It is a still greater gratification to be received with such demonstrations of loyalty to the British Crown, and to see on every side the marks of prosperity and contentment, of intelligence and progress.

"I will convey to the QUEEN your expressions of loyalty and gratitude to Her Majesty, and to the PRINCESS OF WALES what you so kindly say of your regret that she was unable to visit India.

"The PRINCESS, I can assure you, very sincerely shares this feeling. She would most gladly have accompanied me, had not the fatigues of such a long journey, and the necessity for watching over our children at home, proved insuperable obstacles.

"I feel certain that every day I remain in India will deepen and strengthen the impressions of interest in the country and its people which I have always felt, and will thus realise your anticipations of increased pleasure from my longer stay among you."

No. 1316 of 1875.—Under instructions from H. M.'s Government, the Right Hon'ble the Governor-General in Council is pleased to publish the following revised furlough and leave rules applicable to the Staff Corps and Indian Local and Medical Services:—

FURLOUGH AND LEAVE RULES.

1. Officers included in Schedule A may receive, after five years' service in India or under the Government of India, one year's furlough, and an additional year for each subsequent five years' service. Furlough not taken at the time it becomes due is not lost, and can, subject to these rules, be taken later.
2. An Officer may receive at any time any portion of the furlough to which he is entitled. But, except under Rule 8, he may not be absent from duty on any ground for more than three years consecutively; nor, on return from furlough, may he receive, except under Rule 6, any further portion of the furlough to which he is entitled until after the interval of two years.
3. It must be distinctly understood that furlough is subject to the exigencies of the public service. Officers commanding regiments, and Heads of Departments, will forward no application for furlough unless able to satisfy the superior authorities that the Officer's services can be spared without any inconvenience to the public service.
4. Furlough does not involve forfeiture of appointment, may be spent anywhere, and counts as service for pension.
5. An Officer on furlough receives (up to, but not beyond, the sum of 1,000*l.* a year) half the emoluments of his office, computed according to a rate of exchange to be fixed in each year by the Secretary of State: but in any case he does not receive less than 250*l.* a year. The emoluments of his office include all pay, staff corps pay, staff salary, and Indian allowances he would receive in respect to it if he were on duty, and for the purpose of each payment his office is the office he fills on the day when that payment becomes due.
6. Upon certificate of a Medical Board, an Officer not entitled to furlough, if he has served not less than two years in India, may receive it for any period not exceeding two years; but such furlough will be deducted from his next accruing furlough until it is paid off. An Officer will not be allowed to anticipate furlough under this rule to an aggregate amount of more than two years.
7. An Officer who has exhausted the furlough obtainable under these rules, and who may be certified by a Medical Board to be still unfit for duty, will be placed temporarily or permanently on half-pay, according to the circumstances of the case.
8. Under very urgent circumstances special furlough may be granted for private affairs, which need not be paid back; but it will be in all cases without any kind of pay, and will not count for pension.
9. Advances for passage money, on need shown, will be granted to Officers on furlough, to be recovered in manner specified at the time of the grant: in India, at the discretion of the local Government; and in England, at the discretion of the Secretary of State.

10. Leave may be granted for any period not exceeding six months at a time, and may not, except for very urgent reasons, to be specially reported to the Government of India, be renewed till after six months have elapsed from its expiration. It must be spent at some place east of the 40th degree of east longitude. Subject to these conditions, it may be granted or refused entirely at the discretion of the local authorities, who in granting it shall fix its duration, and may fix the limits within which it shall be spent, and whether during its continuance half pay and allowances are to be deducted for the payment of a substitute; and they may grant it as preparatory to furlough or for the purpose of a medical examination. Leave counts as service for pension and furlough. The local authorities shall be defined for the purpose of this rule by the Government of India.

11. Leave and furlough are reckoned from and to the close of the days named in the order granting them.

12. The position of Officers not included in Schedule A will be unchanged as respects leave or furlough.

13. Officers now in the service placing themselves, from a given date, under these rules shall count service for pension up to that date under the rules to which they were then subject.

SCHEDULE A.

Officers entering the Staff Corps or Indian Medical Service, and Warrant Officers attaining that rank, after the 31st December 1875; and

Any other Officers, Commissioned or Warrant, belonging to the Indian Army or Medical Service, or Officers of the Staff Corps, who, after the 31st of December 1875, shall, before asking for leave or furlough, apply in writing to their local Governments to be placed definitively upon this Schedule: but their service for furlough under Rule 1 shall commence from the date of such entry or such application respectively.

Any Officers in Civil employment declared by the Government of India to be under Civil Leave Rules shall not be under these Rules.

 The last-pay certificate issued to an Officer to whom furlough or leave has been granted shall state the pay to which, under Rule 5, he is at that date entitled in respect to the office he is holding, noticing the date, if any fixed, at which he will vacate it.

With advertence to the foregoing rules, the Right Hon'ble the Governor-General in Council is pleased to notify—

I. That no "extra or special allowances" drawn by an Officer, which are now excluded from the account in calculating furlough pay under the Rules of 1868, can be reckoned in calculating furlough pay under these rules (Rule 5).

II. That the Governments of the three Presidencies, or their Excellencies the Commanders-in-Chief in regard to officers serving directly under them, shall be held to be the "local authorities" named in Rule 10.

III. That, pending further orders, a Staff Officer granted leave under Rule 10 shall receive, as heretofore, the pay or staff corps pay of his rank and half the staff salary of his appointment during such leave: but full staff salary may be allowed him for the first two months (as now during privilege leave) when he makes approved arrangements for the performance of his duties during that period. In such cases the G. O. granting the leave must state that the first two months are to be on full staff pay.

N. B.—It is distinctly to be understood that the rule regarding the pay to be drawn on leave under para. 10 is liable to be modified at any time in any way that the Government of India may deem expedient.

IV. Pending further orders, these rules are not applicable to any Officer in civil employ.

No. 1 of 1876.—With reference to the G. G. Os. noted in the margin, and with the sanction of Her Majesty's Government, the Right Hon'ble the Governor General in Council is pleased to notify that:—

No. 656, dated the 25th June 1874.
No. 1, dated the 1st January 1875.
No. 294, dated the 15th March 1875.

I. During the year 1876 ninety (90) Officers of the Staff Corps, and Cavalry and Infantry of the Indian Army, will be permitted to retire from the service, receiving, in addition to the pension to which they may be entitled by length of service under existing regulations, not exceeding the full-pay pension of a Colonel (£456-5-0 per annum), an annuity representing the estimated value of their prospective claim to the Colonel's allowance, or its capitalized value as they may prefer.

II. This offer is restricted to substantive Lieutenant-Colonels who shall have completed 28 years' service, from the date of first commission, on or before the date from which they apply to retire, who may either, 1st, have been appointed to one of the Staff Corps on or before the 12th September 1866, and can claim the Colonel's allowance under the provisions of G. G. O. No. 808* of the 26th September 1866, or 2ndly, may be entitled, under G. O. G. G.* of the 12th September 1862, to the Colonel's allowance after 12 years' service in the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel.

III. The number allowed to retire under these conditions will be distributed as follows:—

For Bengal	...	40
„ Madras	...	30
„ Bombay	...	20
TOTAL	...	90

In the event of the whole of the retirements allotted to a particular Presidency not being taken up in that Presidency, those remaining will be distributed in such manner as may be determined by the Government of India.

IV. Applications to retire will be considered and disposed of successively according to priority of proposed dates of retirement until the number of retirements allotted to the service shall have been accomplished, when retirements under this order will cease for the year. In the event of its becoming necessary to select one from among two or three applicants for retirement on the same day, preference will be given according to seniority from the date of first commission.

V. Officers wishing to retire under the terms of this order must, whether in or out of India, submit their applications to the Office of the Adjutant-General of their respective Presidencies, naming prospective dates for their retirements, such date not to be earlier than the 1st April 1876.

VI. Officers whose applications are accepted, will be gazetted out from the dates named by themselves, but will continue to perform their duties and receive the pay and allowances of their positions until officially informed of their removal from the effective list, either by direct communication, or by publication of the Gazette at the station at which they may be serving.

VII. Officers retiring under this arrangement will forego both the good service pension, if they are in receipt thereof, and all claim to bonus compensation under the terms of the despatch of the 8th of August 1866,* No. 160.

*G. G. O. No. 808 of 26th September 1866.

VIII. Applicants to retire must state—

1*st.*—Their rank and service.

2*nd.*—Their age (supported by certificate of birth, or in its absence, by a formal declaration).

3*rd.*—Whether they wish to receive commutation for their prospective allowances in the shape of an annuity, or to capitalize its value. Officers who desire to receive the capitalized value of the annuity must attach to their applications a certificate in the form given in Appendix A. In the case of Officers retiring out of India, the health certificate required will be called for and furnished under instructions from the India Office in London.

4*th.*—Whether they desire to receive payment, wholly, or in part, in India, or in England.

IX. The Table given in Appendix B shows the rates at which the expectation of the Colonel's allowance will be calculated in carrying this order into effect in the case of Officers of various ages and service.

X. For the purpose of arriving at the amount payable in each case, whether as an annuity or in a single payment, Officers' ages will be calculated from their birthday next succeeding the date from which they propose to retire, and the number of years they have to serve before becoming entitled to the Colonel's allowance will be calculated from the date of the proposed retirement. When the period to serve contains a fraction of a year, the fraction, if it be six months or under six months, will be excluded altogether; if it exceeds six months, it will be reckoned as a complete year.

XI. Payments of the capitalized value of the annuity made in India under this order will be at the rate of 1*s.* 10½*d.* for the rupee.

XII. Officers who elect to receive an annuity in preference to the capital sum, will not, after their retirements have appeared in the Gazette, be allowed to capitalize such annuity under the provisions of this order; and it is to be understood that no separate applications of individual Officers to retire after the present retirements have been allotted will be entertained on the basis of this order.

XIII. Officers of the half-pay list of the Staff Corps will be permitted, if disposed to retire from the service, to avail themselves of this scheme of retirement, provided they are eligible thereto by the fulfilment, previously to their transfer to the half-pay list, of all the conditions required. The time passed by an Officer on the half-pay list of the Staff Corps will not count towards the 12 years in the grade of Lieutenant-Colonel required to qualify for promotion to the Colonel's allowance.

XIV. No application from Officers to cancel their retirement or to change the date of such retirement will be entertained after it has been announced in the official Gazette of the Presidency to which they belong.

On the plain in front of the Fort were drawn up in order of precedence the feudatory Chiefs, named in the margin, mounted upon elephants, attended by their Sardars and retinues, and accompanied by the Political Officers in charge; and the road was lined with their troops.

His Highness the Nawáb of Bahawalpur.	The Rája of Chamba.

From the Museum to the east gate of the Accountant-General's Office, the road was lined by school children.

Along the Mall and up to the Anárkalí gate of Government House, the road was lined by the troops of the Meean Meer Garrison.

Immediately on arrival HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS was pleased to receive from the Municipal Committee of Lahore an address of welcome, of which the following is a translation:—

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS,

"On behalf of the Citizens of Lahore, with deep respect we bid YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS welcome to the Capital of the Punjab.

"We beg humbly to express our thanks that it has pleased the Heir-Apparent of the Throne to honor with his presence this distant portion of Her Majesty's dominions; for we see in this auspicious visit, following that of His Royal Highness the Duke of Edinburgh, another proof of the warm interest taken in our welfare by our Gracious Sovereign and the Members of the Royal Family.

"Though distant from the Capital of England, and among the youngest sons of her Great Empire, we claim, in common with our countrymen, a foremost rank among the loyal subjects of the Crown, for placed at the north-western door of India on the borders of regions untraversed by Europeans, and mindful of our own past history, we are in a position to appreciate, even more than others, the benefits of British rule.

"For those great benefits we hope ever to evince in act, as we now express in words, the gratitude of a faithful people.

"We earnestly trust that YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS may enjoy a long life of health and happiness, and ever retain a pleasant recollection of your visit to the Punjab."

To the address HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS was pleased to give the following reply:—

"GENTLEMEN,

"I AM glad to find myself at Lahore, the Capital of this important frontier division of the Indian Empire, and to be so cordially welcomed by its inhabitants.

"I will, with pleasure, communicate to the QUEEN your assurance of loyal attachment and gratitude, and I very sincerely thank you for the warmth of your good wishes for my health and prosperous journey, which, hitherto, I have so much enjoyed."

OBSERVATIONS.—The Governor General in Council takes the occasion of the appointment of Colonel Sir Richard Meade, K.C.S.I., as Officiating Resident at Hyderabad, to place on record the high sense which the Government of India entertains of the services rendered by that Officer during his recent employment as Agent to the Viceroy and Governor General at Baroda.

When Sir Richard Meade took charge of the Agency at Baroda from Sir Lewis Pelly, on the 10th April 1875, there were many and most important matters in hand; the choice of a successor to Mulhar Rao, and the adoption of suitable measures for giving the youthful Prince selected a sound and wholesome training; the re-establishment of the Native Government; revenue and fiscal reforms, particularly those relating to the incidence of the land revenue; the re-organization of the regular and irregular troops of the State; the investigation into, and adjustment of, the long-standing claims of the sirdars and hereditary retainers of the Gaekwar: these are some of the most important subjects with which the Agent to the Governor General and Special Commissioner was called upon to deal, and with which, with the cordial co-operation of the able Minister, Sir T. Madava Rao, he has dealt to the complete satisfaction of His Excellency in Council.

To the arrangements made by Sir Richard Meade for the preservation of order, whether in the city of Baroda itself or in outlying districts, the Gaekwar State is indebted for the peace and prosperity now reigning in those territories: the benefits to be expected from the measures of sound administration, which have been introduced into the State in accordance with Sir Richard Meade's advice, are not less important, and as the Government of India is deeply concerned in the welfare of the Baroda people, and of His Highness the Gaekwar, the cordial thanks and acknowledgments of His Excellency in Council are due to the Officer through whose successful exertions that welfare has been promoted.

ORDER.—Ordered, that the above Resolution be published in the Government of India Gazette, and that a copy be sent to Colonel Sir Richard Meade, K.C.S.I., and to the Agent to the Governor General at Baroda, for information.

EXTRACT from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Home Department (Public), under date Fort William, the 18th February 1876.

RESOLUTION.—A pamphlet purporting to give a "Verbatim Report of "the Debate on the Indian Civil Service in the House of Commons, June "29th, 1875," printed in London in August last, has been circulated in India, and contains a speech attributed to Mr. Robert Lowe.

2. The subject of the discussion was the position of certain members of the Bengal Civil Service employed in the North-Western Provinces as regards their salaries and prospects of promotion.

3. The Governor General in Council is fully aware that a serious block has arisen in the promotion of the junior Civil Servants in the North-Western Provinces. The remedy which should be applied to meet the case has been considered by a Committee composed of the highest officers of the Government, before whom those who are interested have had an opportunity of stating their case; and the Government of India have made certain recommendations on the subject to the Secretary of State.

Those who have paid attention to the matter are agreed that this block has arisen from the excessive number of Civil Servants allotted to the North-Western Provinces in certain years prior to 1863. Mr. Lowe has not been content with this explanation, and has endeavoured to show that the block has been caused by the improper distribution of patronage in India since the year 1861. The Government of India feel called upon to take notice of these grave charges against themselves and their predecessors which the publication of Mr. Lowe's speech has introduced into the discussion.

4. The following extracts from the pamphlet show the nature of these charges. Quoting from a speech made by Lord Macaulay in 1853 when discussing a different subject, Mr. Lowe is reported to have read these words—

"Before long when a son or a brother of some active member of the House went out to "Calcutta carrying with him a strong letter of recommendation from the Prime Minister to "the Governor General, that letter would be really a bill of exchange drawn on the revenues "of India for value received in Parliamentary support in this House." * * and added—

"I beg the House to remember these words, because making some allowance for times "and circumstances they really are prophetic of what has actually taken place in India."*

Further on, Mr. Lowe observed—

* * * "You have selected men by competition, tested them in every way "you could, and then you have set them aside in favor of some untried man. It entirely bears "out all that Lord Macaulay said on the subject."

"The Government of India," Mr. Lowe said, "has taken Military men and others "possessed of good influence, possessed of friends among those who had the distribution of the "patronage or of influence among those who had it—men of good family and connections in "India; and these men have been placed in the Civil Service to the exclusion of those "for whom Lord Dalhousie by resolution declared that the service should be reserved."

and again—

"And that is not all. These gentlemen when once put into the service, where they had no "right to be, having good interest and being well befriended rose rapidly in the service. "Civilians, as a general rule, who went out to India by merit, and were men not so well be-"friended, and who had not the same command of patronage, found that over and over again "others were put over their heads until almost all the best posts in the Civil Service in these "Provinces were filled, and the Civilians were kept in the lowest grade."

Again—

"For the Government of India to select their own friends and relations and put them into the "best places while they say to the men to whom they are pledged,* 'your salaries must be reduced "'one-half, and you must be kept in positions in which you will be mere subordinates instead "'of rulers and governors;' and to be allowed to do this with impunity seems to me to be "contrary to every principle of justice." * * * "In these Non-Regulation Provinces it "has been one great job from beginning to end."

There is more language of the same description scattered throughout Mr. Lowe's speech; but these extracts are sufficient to show that he does not accuse the Government of India of mere errors of judgment, but of wilful misconduct. In support of his accusations Mr. Lowe has brought forward certain particular appointments which he considers to have been improper. A list of these appointments is placed in the margin.

5. The Governor General in Council will endeavour to examine upon what foundation these charges rest. With respect to those passages quoted from Mr. Lowe's speech which, must, if any meaning is to be attached to the words used, be held to imply that the Governor General of the day is habitually impelled by pressure from the Home Government to make improper appointments and that patronage in India is made subservient to English party considerations, the Governor General in Council is satisfied that no foundation in fact exists for any such imputations. His Excellency the Viceroy is certain from his personal knowledge of the conduct of three Secretaries of State for India—Lord Halifax, the Duke of Argyll, and Lord Salisbury—whose term of office together extends over a period of 14 years out of the 17 years that have expired since the Government of India was transferred from the East India Company to the Crown, that no such pressure has been exercised by them upon the distribution of patronage in India. In his own case His Excellency desires to say that no appointments whatever have been pressed upon him by the Duke of Argyll or Lord Salisbury, who have filled the office of Secretary of State during the four years that he has been in India; and he has every reason to believe that other Secretaries of State have similarly abstained from exerting any such pressure. The blame then, if any be justly due for the manner in which patronage has been exercised in India, must rest upon the Indian authorities alone, and this is the sense in which the charges advanced by Mr. Lowe will be examined.

6. The appointments to which the charges refer may be divided into three classes—

1*st.*—Appointments made to certain offices under the Imperial Act of 1861 (24 and 25 Vic., C. 54).

2*nd.*—Appointments made to the Punjab and Oudh Commissions, and to the other Provinces commonly called "Non-Regulation."

3*rd.*—Certain appointments not included under the two preceding classes.

The distinction between these classes of appointments is well known to those who are conversant with the law of India. The offices placed in the first class were, previous to the Act of 1861, reserved by law to members of the Civil Service, and were only opened to others under the provisions of that Act. The offices comprised under the second and third classes have never been, and are not now, reserved by law to members of the Civil Service. In the words of Sir Charles Wood's despatch to the Government of India of the 9th of August 1861—

"For all other situations without any restriction, Europeans and Natives, subjects of Her "Majesty, are equally eligible under the general rules laid down by the several Governments in "India for the supply of those offices which the law does not require to be filled by members "of the Civil Service."

7. It would be difficult, if not impossible, to ascertain after a considerable lapse of time the precise reasons for every appointment which has been made in India during a series of years; but the charges made by Mr. Lowe are capable of some examination in detail, and for this purpose the three classes of appointments will be considered successively, and the particular appointments of which Mr. Lowe has complained will be noticed in their proper places.

8. It is first alleged that the Act of 1861 has been abused. Mr. Lowe is reported to have said that there was—

"a point up to which everything went fair with the Civil Service. * * The period in which "the decline of the system took place was 1861. In that year an Act was passed enabling "the Indian Government, under certain very stringent safeguards, as they were considered, to "appoint persons other than Civil Servants to offices which had hitherto been appropriated to "members of the Civil Service of India." * * * "Those evil consequences which I am "about to describe as having taken place in India did occur in consequence of this Act."

Mr. Lowe then quoted extracts from opinions given before the Act was passed by Mr. Ross Donelly Mangles and Lord Lawrence stating their apprehensions that the Act would be abused. These opinions, Mr. Lowe added,—

"seem to me to be absolutely prophetic when one comes to consider what has happened."

9. The object of the Act was correctly stated by Mr. Lowe, and was briefly described by Sir Charles Wood in his despatch to the Government of India of the 9th of August 1861 to be—

"to make such provision for the future that, whilst due regard was paid to the claims of the "Covenanted Servants of the Government, no absolute bar should remain against the employ-"ment of any person who might be the best fitted to fill any particular situation."

The question for present consideration is, whether the experience of 15 years shows that the securities provided in the Act against improper appointments have been sufficient, or Mr. Lowe's assertion that the powers given to the Government of India and the Home Government conjointly have been abused is correct.

10. The appointments that have been made under the provisions of the Act of 1861 up to the present time are—

(1.)—Colonel (afterwards Sir Henry) Durand was appointed in 1861 Secretary to the Government of India in the Foreign Department. Colonel Durand's qualifications for this post are well known.

(2.)—Mr. Wylie was appointed in 1862 Deputy Secretary to the Government of India in the Legislative Branch of the Home Department. Mr. Wylie was the Clerk of the Legislative Council constituted under the 16th and 17th Vic., Cap. 95, and was selected for that office by reason of his legal training and experience. When the constitution of the Legislative Council was changed by the Act of 1861, his services were retained in the discharge of similar duties under a different title.

(3.)—Captain St. George was appointed in 1862 Assistant Secretary to the Government of India in the Legislative Branch of the Home Department. Captain St. George was selected for this office in consequence of his qualifications as an Orientalist, it being the special duty of the Assistant Secretary to explain papers to the Native Members of the Council who are unacquainted with the English language, and otherwise to assist them in such manner as they may require.

(4.)—Mr. A. G. Macpherson (Barrister-at-Law) was appointed in 1862 to be Secretary to the Government of Bengal in the Legislative Department. In this office, as in the corresponding office under the Government of India, special qualifications as a draughtsman are required.

The three last mentioned appointments only technically came under the provisions of the Act.

(5.)—Baboo Tarucknath Sen was appointed in 1862 to officiate for six months as Additional Judge of the 24-Pergunnahs, because there was no Covenanted Civil Servant whose services could be spared.

(6.)—Mr. H. L. Thompson, Judge of the Small Cause Court in Nuddea, was appointed in 1862 to officiate for eight months as Additional Judge at Backergunge, because there was no Covenanted Civil Servant available.

(7.)—Mr. Whitley Stokes was appointed in 1870 Secretary to the Government of India in the Legislative Department. The post is one demanding the qualifications and experience of a draughtsman of Acts of Parliament, which no members of the Civil Service had then acquired.

(8.)—Captain Henderson was appointed in 1872 Under-Secretary to the Government of India in the Foreign Department. Captain Henderson's advancement was entirely due to his ability, especially in Oriental languages. He is an officer of the Madras Army, and possessed no other interest than the strong recommendations of the officers under whom he had served, and the personal experience of the Viceroy in regard to his qualifications.

(9.)—Mr. Gay was appointed in 1869 to officiate as Accountant-General in Bengal. Mr. Gay was a Clerk in the Treasury in England, and was selected for service in the Indian Financial Department in consequence of his knowledge of accounts.

11. Besides the above, 11 Uncovenanted Officers of the Financial Department have since the year 1861 been appointed from time to time to perform the duties of Accountants-General for short periods varying from 1 to 8 months, whilst the permanent incumbents were on leave. It was not considered that these latter appointments came under the Act of 1861. Whether this was a correct construction of the Act may be open to question; but the Government of India of the time acted under the most competent advice, and the appointments themselves were both justifiable and necessary. It would have been improper to have placed an untrained Civilian to perform the duty of Accountant-General, which requires special training. Moreover, the short periods for which the appointments were made render them of slight importance in so far as the interests of the Civil Service are concerned. One of these temporary appointments, that of Mr. Kiernander, was alluded to by Mr. Lowe, who stated that Mr. Kiernander was gazetted—

"to be in charge of the Office of Accountant-General instead of being Accountant-"General, although he draws the full pay and performs all the duties."

The facts are that the appointment was only an officiating one for 35 days, and that the pay Mr. Kiernander drew was not much more than half that of the Civil Servant who held the permanent appointment.

12. The appointments made under the Act of 1861 show that the safeguards against its abuse have been amply sufficient. When only six permanent appointments have been made under that Act in 15 years, the interests of the Civil Service can hardly have been seriously prejudiced. The imputation that advantage has been taken of the Act to make improper appointments falls to the ground by the mere statement of the names and qualifications of the officers who have been appointed under its provisions.

13. The Government of India will next examine the charges which are contained in Mr. Lowe's speech against the appointments which have been made to the Punjab and Oudh Commissions. These charges are based upon a Resolution issued by the Government of India in 1856, which will be found among the papers presented to Parliament previous to Mr. Lowe's motion. When that Resolution was issued, the pay of the higher appointments in the Punjab and Oudh was much lower than the pay of similar appointments in the North-Western Provinces; and the Civil Servants employed in the Punjab and Oudh, who had originally been taken from the North-Western Provinces, complained that they had been treated hardly, and that all the more lucrative appointments fell to the share of their fellows who had remained in the North-West. The main object of the Resolution, as explained in the correspondence laid before Parliament and as appears upon the face of the Resolution itself, was to secure for the officers serving in the Punjab and Oudh a proper share of the more lucrative appointments of the North-Western Provinces, and it was laid down that the claims of those officers should always be taken into consideration when vacancies occurred in such appointments. The Resolution therefore was primarily intended to withdraw Civilians from the Punjab and Oudh as their length of service increased, and to bring them back to the North-Western Provinces; and it actually had that effect.

14. Lord Dalhousie, as a supplement to these orders, desiring that the military element should not predominate in the Non-Regulation Provinces, directed—(1) that first appointments to the Punjab and Oudh should be so filled as gradually to secure an equal number of Civilians to that of Military and Uncovenanted Officers; and (2)—

"that when a Civilian was promoted out of the Punjab and Oudh to the North-Western "Provinces, a Civilian should be selected by the Government of India from the North-Western "Provinces and posted to either Commission as an Assistant Commissioner or as a Deputy "Commissioner of any grade, as the Government might think fit, such vacancies being "considered as exceptional and the consequent arrangements discretionary with the Gov-"ernment."

It was not intended that these orders should be injurious to the Military Officers serving on the Commissions; it is expressly stated in the letter written under Lord Dalhousie's instructions to the Punjab Government in explanation of the Resolution that—

"it is obvious that the promotions of the Civilians to Collectorships in the North-"Western Provinces will open the way for the promotion in the Commission of the Military "men no less than of the Civilians remaining in it, so that the former will have no cause "of complaint; they will have the same chances of advancement to the higher posts of the "Commission as the Civil Servants belonging to it;"

and this was repeated by Lord Lawrence in 1864, when he carried Lord Dalhousie's orders further, and decided that two-thirds of the appointments in those provinces should be filled by Civil Servants. Lord Lawrence said that it was—

"not desired that any Military Officer now in civil employ in the Punjab, who is entitled "to promotion, should in any case be superseded by a Covenanted Civil Servant, who is junior "in the Commission, and who has not otherwise stronger claim for promotion, merely for the "object of restoring the prescribed proportion of Civil and Military Officers in the upper "grades."

15. Mr. Lowe says that up to the year 1861 no complaint can be brought against the manner in which appointments were made in India, but he complains in the strongest language of the appointments and promotions that have been made since that time, describing them as "one great job from beginning to end."

16. It is, however, to the appointments made before 1861 that the present condition of the higher ranks of those Commissions is almost entirely due. Owing to the loss of life in the Mutiny and other causes, there was not up to the year 1862 a sufficient number of Civil Servants available to fill the vacancies caused by the promotion of Civil Servants from the Punjab and Oudh into the North-Western Provinces, or to supply enough Civil Servants to secure the proper proportion in filling first appointments to the Punjab and Oudh Commissions. This is proved by the correspondence of the time, and it appears from the papers which were presented to Parliament previous to Mr. Lowe's motion, in which it will be found that the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces in May 1862 declined to spare Civilians from those Provinces. The Government of India requested the Home Government then and before to reinforce the ranks of the Civil Service; but in the meantime it was impossible to arrive at the proportion contemplated in the Resolution of 1856 between Civil Servants and Military and Uncovenanted Officers. The failure did not arise from favoritism, or from neglect of the interests of the Civil Servants, but simply because their numbers were not sufficient to fill the vacancies. It was not until an increased supply of Civilians had arrived in India in 1861 and afterwards, and they had qualified themselves for service, that there were enough Civilians to admit of their extensive employment in the Non-Regulation Provinces.

17. So much misconception has existed upon this subject that the history and condition of the Punjab and Oudh Commissions will be more fully explained.

18. In the Punjab, when junior Civilians were available, the higher ranks of the Commission had gradually by the force of circumstances become filled by a large proportion of Military Officers. This was mainly owing to the fact that many Civilians left the Punjab in order to secure the comparatively high rates of pay which obtained in the Regulation Provinces. The Government of India would have been guilty of injustice if they had superseded the Military Officers who remained by young Civil Servants. Mr. Lowe does not suggest that this should have been done, and the Civil Servants of the North-Western Provinces in their memorial expressly state that they do not advocate any such measure. Yet this was the only way in which the proportion of Civilians in the higher ranks contemplated in the resolution of 1856 could have been secured.

19. The present condition of the Punjab Commission is as follows:—

There are 10 Commissioners, of whom 6 are Military Officers and 4 are Civil Servants. All these Officers, both Civil and Military, were posted to the Province between the years 1846 and 1855, that is to say, before the issue of Lord Dalhousie's Resolution in 1856.

There are 11 Deputy Commissioners of the 1st class, of whom 8 are Military Officers, 2 are Civil Servants, and 1 is an Uncovenanted Officer. All these Officers were appointed before 1856.

There are 11 Deputy Commissioners of the 2nd class. Of these, 7 are Military Officers, and 4 are Civil Servants. Of the 7 Military Officers, 5 were appointed to the Punjab Commission before the issue of Lord Dalhousie's Resolution of 1856; the other 2 Military Officers and the 4 Civil Servants were appointed in the years 1857-58-59.

There are 10 Deputy Commissioners of the 3rd class. Of these, 2 are Civil Servants appointed after 1856, one is an Uncovenanted Officer, and 7 are Military Officers. Of these, the Uncovenanted Officer and one of the Military Officers were appointed before the issue of the Resolution of 1856; the remaining 6 Military Officers were appointed in the years 1858-59-60—all were appointed before 1861, up to which date Mr. Lowe has no complaint to make.

20. In these ranks, therefore, which constitute all the higher grades of the Punjab Commission, no ground exists to support Mr. Lowe's assertion that—

"men of good family and connections have been placed in the Civil Service to the exclu- "sion of those for whom Lord Dalhousie's Resolution declared that the service should be "reserved;"

and Mr. Lowe has made no attempt to support by proofs his further assertion that "over and over again" Civilians found—

"others put over their heads until almost all the best posts in these Provinces were filled, "and the Civilians were kept in the lowest grades."

It is almost unnecessary to say that there is no foundation whatever for this assertion.

21. From returns received from the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, it appears that the following appointments have been made to the Punjab Commission in and after the year 1862:—

69 Civilians.
30 Military Officers.
5 Uncovenanted Officers.

TOTAL 104

The proportion of Civilians appointed has been considerably more than that laid down by Lord Dalhousie, and equal to that laid down by Lord Lawrence.

22. In order to understand the causes of the present condition of the Oudh Commission, it is necessary to remember its history. It was first constituted early in the year 1856. The Mutiny broke out in 1857, and the Commission was re-constituted in April 1858, after the Province had been re-occupied.

23. Up to the outbreak of the mutiny in 1857, 50 appointments had been made to the Commission, comprising 25 Civil Servants, 20 Officers of the Army, and 5 Uncovenanted Officers.

Of the 25 Civil Servants, 11 were killed or died during the Mutiny, and 12 had left Oudh before the Commission was re-constituted. So that only two Officers, Sir George Couper and Mr. Capper, out of the 25 Civil Servants who had been appointed since 1856, actually took their place upon the Commission of 1858.

Of the 20 Officers of the Army, 6 were killed or died during the Mutiny, and 7 had left Oudh, so that 7 Officers of the Army who belonged to the old Commission took their places upon the Commission of 1858.

Of the 5 Uncovenanted Officers, 2 died or were killed during the mutiny, one had left Oudh, and 2 took their places upon the Commission of 1858.

24. Thus it arose that in the early days of the re-constituted Commission, the number of the Military and Uncovenanted Officers who had belonged to the old Commission exceeded that of the Civilians. At that time, owing to the loss of life in the Mutiny, there was a great want of Civil Servants in Upper India; it was necessary to fill the ranks of the Oudh Commission, and the deficiency of Civil Servants was supplied from Officers of the Army, many of whom owing to the mutiny of the regiments to which they belonged were available, and from Uncovenanted Officers some of whom had distinguished themselves in the Mutiny while others had filled subordinate situations in the Administration.

25. It has thus occurred that in the higher grades of the Commission the number of Military and Uncovenanted Officers is now unduly large as compared with that of Civil Servants. This has arisen not only from the dearth of Civil Servants before the year 1861, but also because, as in the case of the Punjab, many of the Civil Servants who were appointed to Oudh have chosen to leave the Province in order to take advantage of the better prospects which were then open to them in the North-Western Provinces and elsewhere. Of the 16 Civil Servants appointed to Oudh on the re-constitution of the Commission, only 4 now remain in Oudh; the remaining 12 left for their own advantage at a time when it was difficult, if not impossible, to replace them by other Civil Servants of experience.

26. From returns received from the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, it appears that the following appointments have been made to the Oudh Commission in and after 1862:—

42	Civilians.
33	Military Officers.
10	Uncovenanted Officers.
TOTAL 85

The proportion of Civilians appointed has been equal to that laid down by Lord Dalhousie, but is less than that laid down by Lord Lawrence. It is impossible to say precisely what led to a larger proportion of Military and Uncovenanted Officers having been appointed in Oudh than in the Punjab. But it is obvious, from 13 Civilians having been appointed in 1865, that as soon as young Civil Servants were available they were freely appointed to the junior ranks. As in the case of the Punjab, it would have been both unjust and contrary to the public interests to have placed young Civil Servants in the higher ranks over the heads of Officers who had done good service on the Commission. The present condition of the Oudh Commission is, that while in the lower ranks the proportion of Civil Servants is ample, the higher ranks have, by the force of circumstances, become filled in more than due proportion with Officers of the Army and Uncovenanted Officers who, especially the latter, found it to be to their interest to remain in Oudh.

27. Mr. Lowe has alluded to two appointments of Uncovenanted Officers to the Oudh Commission which he considered to have been improper—those of Mr. Gibson and Mr. Butts. He complains that Mr. Gibson

"was appointed to the post of Assistant Commissioner in 1864, when 240 Civilians had just "been sent to India in the three preceding years, and there was a surplus of them in "every province."

The facts are that Mr. Gibson having served in 1857 as a volunteer in the Meerut Light Horse was appointed Adjutant of the Moradabad Battalion. That appointment was abolished in 1861, when he was appointed an Assistant Superintendent of the Oudh Police. In 1864 he was permitted to exchange his appointment with Major (now Colonel) MacGregor, who was then an Assistant Commissioner in Oudh, and whose place Mr. Gibson occupies on the Commission. The arrangement was obviously one which did not affect the prospects of employment of young Civilians. Mr. Butts was one of the Officers engaged upon the Oudh settlement operations who were absorbed in the Oudh Commission in 1873, when he was appointed an Assistant Commissioner of the 3rd grade, his position on the list being determined by the same rules that were applied to other Settlement Officers. The following notice of his service and appointment is taken from the letter of the Chief Commissioner of Oudh of the 9th of January 1873:—

"Mr. Butts was appointed to be an Extra Assistant Commissioner, 3rd grade, on "Rs. 250 on the 3rd July 1863, and stood 5th in this grade, when, in November 1865, "he was transferred to the Settlement Department as an Assistant Settlement Officer on "Rs. 600; his name has therefore been entered in the list of 3rd grade Assistant Commissioners from the date of his transfer."

28. Mr. Lowe has also referred to the appointment in 1872 of Major James, who was then serving in the Central India Horse, to a Deputy Commissionership of the 4th class in the Central Provinces. This appointment was made by Lord Mayo on the recommendation of Sir Henry Daly, the Agent to the Governor General for Central India, entirely upon public grounds, which are described by him in a letter annexed to this Resolution.

29. One other particular appointment to a Non-Regulation Province has been complained of by Mr. Lowe—that of Mr. P. J. White, who is Assistant Commissioner of Jhansie. This gentleman, who had been for some time in the Government service, was appointed to the Jhansie Commission by Mr. Edmonstone, then Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, to do some settlement work of importance, for which

"no Civil Servant of sufficient experience was available, who, looking to the scale of the "allowances and the unpopularity of the district, could be expected to go there."

This was placed on record at the time in a Minute of the Board of Revenue of the North-Western Provinces.

30. Sufficient has been said to show that there is no foundation for Mr. Lowe's charges against the Government of India in regard to the second class of appointments upon which he has commented, viz., those made to the Punjab and Oudh Commissions; and that the assertion attributed to him that promotion in the Non-Regulation Provinces has been "one great job from beginning to end" is grossly incorrect. These appointments are not reserved by law to the Civil Service; the policy of the Government of India has been to preserve, so far as is practicable and just, a due proportion of Civil Servants in all ranks of the Non-Regulation Commissions, and when the facts are fully set forth it will be obvious that neither in their general treatment of the Punjab and Oudh Commissions, nor in the particular instances cited by Mr. Lowe, are the authorities in India open to the grave charges that have been brought against them.

31. It only remains to notice the third class of appointments to which Mr. Lowe has referred, namely, those which, equally with the last class, are not reserved by law to members of the Civil Service, but which do not belong to the Non-Regulation Provinces. They are of a miscellaneous character, and most of them appertain to branches of the Administration in which special departments have been created, manned by Military or Uncovenanted Officers upon a lower scale of pay than that enjoyed by Civil Servants. In the majority of these appointments it would be unjust to pass over the claims of men who have served long in the departments in favour of a Civil Servant.

32. Mr. Lowe has mentioned three cases, in which he conceives that improper appointments of this kind have been made:—

1*st*, that of Mr. Kempson, who was appointed Director of Public Instruction; 2*nd*, that of Mr. R. A. Lloyd, who was appointed a Professor of Literature and an Inspector of Schools; and 3*rd*, that of Mr. Macdonald, who was appointed to be Assistant Superintendent of the Terai Pergunnahs. All these appointments were made in the North-Western Provinces.

33. As regards the two appointments in the Educational Department, Mr. Lowe is reported to have stated that his attention had been directed to the claims of the Civil Servants of the North-Western Provinces in consequence of his having filled the office of Secretary to the Board of Control in the years from 1853 to 1855. He might before attacking these appointments at least have recalled to his recollection the educational policy which was adopted at that time. The well known Educational despatch of 1854 from the Court of Directors contains the following passage:—

"It may, perhaps, be advisable that the first Heads of the Educational Department, "as well as some of the Inspectors, should be members of our Civil Service, as such appoint"ments, in the first instance, would tend to raise the estimation in which these offices "will be held, and to show the importance we attach to the subject of education, and also "as amongst them you will probably find the persons best qualified for the performance of the "duty. But we desire that neither these offices, nor any others connected with education, "shall be considered as necessarily to be filled by members of that service to the exclusion "of others, Europeans or Natives, who may be better fitted for them."

Again, in a despatch from the Secretary of State of April 7th, 1859, the following passage occurs:—

"After a full consideration of the grounds on which the Court of Directors formerly "gave their sanction, as a temporary arrangement, to the employment of Covenanted Civil "Servants in the Department of Education, Her Majesty's Government are, on the whole, "of opinion that, as a general rule, all appointments in the Department of Education should "be filled by individuals unconnected with the service of Government, either Civil or "Military."

34. It will be seen from these despatches that the appointment of Uncovenanted Officers to the two educational posts in question was in complete accord with the policy laid down by the Secretary of State. This policy is well known in India: only two years ago a Civil Servant in Bengal was appointed to an educational post. The Officers of the Educational Department memorialised the Viceroy, protesting against the appointment as unfair to them. Sir George Campbell, then Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, justified the appointment on the ground that there did not happen to be an Officer of the Educational Department qualified for the particular post in question. The Government of India supported the Lieutenant-Governor, but at the same time fully recognised

"the preferential claim of the Officers of the Educational Department to all posts in their "Department."

35. The third appointment, that of Mr. Macdonald, only remains. Mr. Macdonald was engaged from 1855 to 1858 in the Railway Survey Department at Melbourne; from 1858 to 1860 he was employed in Kumaon, when the appointment he held was reduced; in 1861 he was appointed to be Assistant Magistrate in the Terai; and in 1871 he was promoted to be Superintendent of the Terai. The principal duty he has had to perform has been to carry out the admirable system of irrigation which Major-General Ramsay has introduced into the pestilential tract below the Kumaon Mountains. For this purpose the qualifications of an Engineer which Mr. Macdonald possessed were necessary, and no young Civil Servant could have suitably filled the appointment.

36. These observations will suffice to show with how little consideration grave charges have been brought by Mr. Lowe against appointments of this class made by the Local Governments. The Government of India entirely concur with the following observations which have been made by Sir John Strachey, Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, on this subject:—

"Mr. Lowe, in bringing the case of the Civilians before Parliament on the 29th June 1875 "spoke as if these grievances had arisen from deliberate misconduct and breach of faith on "the part of the Government of India and the Local Governments. With the first part of "this charge, the Government of India will deal as it thinks right. The Lieutenant-"Governor will say nothing regarding it except this, that he knows that it is unfounded. "But he cannot remain silent on the latter part of the charge, which concerns Local "Governments, and this Government in particular.

"'The whole cause of the matter,' Mr. Lowe said, 'is simply this, that the Local "'Governments have taken the patronage and appropriated it to themselves, instead of "'giving it to those to whom by law it belonged. Here you have the most complete ad-"'mission that the rules of the Government have been broken, and that it has been done "'through the misconduct of the Local Governments.'

"Sir John Strachey has no personal interest in this question. He has never, he be-"lieves, been charged with taking away from the Civil Service a single appointment which "properly belonged to it, and it is in justice to his predecessors in this Government, and not to "himself, that he notices these statements.

"The Lieutenant-Governor does not assert that the best possible course was followed "in every case during the last ten or fifteen years in which an appointment which might "have been given by the Local Government to a Civilian was given to a Military or "an Uncovenanted Officer. But this he asserts, as a fact which cannot be contradicted, "that if every appointment of the kind made during the last fifteen years by this Gov-"ernment had been given to a Civilian, the present difficulty would, for all practical "purposes, have been exactly what it is now. The grievances of the Civilians in these "Provinces are too real and serious to require to be bolstered up by charges of favouritism "and jobbery. Jobs are of course perpetrated occasionally in India as elsewhere, but "jobbery is not one of the ordinary sins of Indian Governments.

"The real cause of the existing difficulties in regard to promotion is obvious. In "1856, 1857, 1861, 1862, 1863, and 1864, a far larger number of men were appointed to the "service than was actually required. Other causes have undoubtedly tended to aggravate "the evil, but in comparison with this main cause they have been of quite secondary "importance."

37. To conclude. The appointments made under the Act of 1861 have been so few in number that they cannot have had any prejudicial effect on the prospects of Civil Servants, and none of them are open to the imputation of improper motives on the part of the Government of India. It has not been found possible to give full effect to the intentions of Lord Dalhousie and of Lord Lawrence with regard to appointments in the Non-Regulation Provinces, because the dearth of Civilians rendered it impossible for a considerable time to establish the prescribed proportions in the higher ranks. The instances brought forward by Mr. Lowe to support his allegation that improper appointments have been made to the Non-Regulation Provinces or elsewhere entirely fail when the facts are examined.

38. The Government of India desire to repeat that, in dealing with the statements attributed to Mr. Lowe in the publication which has been circulated in India, they have abstained altogether from discussing the present position of the Civil Servants of the North-Western Provinces or elsewhere. They have confined themselves to examining whether there is any foundation for the charges of breach of faith, corruption and favouritism, brought by Mr. Lowe against the authorities in India; and they believe that the facts described in this Resolution will suffice to show that these grave charges are entirely destitute of foundation. It is a matter of great regret to the Governor General in Council that a statesman of Mr. Lowe's distinction and abilities should have been misled into making statements calculated to bring into undeserved discredit the character of Her Majesty's servants who have formerly been and now are employed in the administration of Her Majesty's Indian Territories.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

(True Extract.)

ARTHUR HOWELL,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of India.

APPENDIX.

No. $\frac{8G.}{14}$, dated 7th February 1876.

From—MAJOR-GENL. SIR H. D. DALY, K. C. S. I., Agent to the Governor General for Central India,

To—C. U. AITCHISON, ESQ., C. S. I., Secy. to the Govt. of India, Foreign Department.

I HAVE the honor to submit, in reply to your No. 2566 of 21st ultimo, respecting the appointment by the late Viceroy of Major James, Central India Horse, to a Deputy Commissionership, Central Provinces, the following.

2. The Central India Horse was embodied in 1858-59 under the orders of the Government of India to supply the place of the Cavalry of the Gwalior, Malwa, and Bhopal Contingents swept away during the Mutiny. As the force was for service within Native States without defined boundaries and with daily conflicting interests, it was essential that its officers should be linguists and men of tact. Application in this spirit was made by Government to each Presidency for two or three selected officers. Major (then Lieutenant) James was one thus sent by the Commander-in-Chief of Madras (Sir P. Grant).

3. My own connection with the Central India Horse began in 1861, when I was appointed Commandant by Lord Canning. On joining I found Lieutenant James, Staff Officer of the force and Assistant in charge of the civil duties at Goona, the head-quarters.

4. In 1863-64 application was made to me for the services of an officer for boundary settlement work in Bundlekund,—questions of intricacy between Native States themselves and between the British Government and Native States. I selected Captain James, knowing that he was a rare linguist and possessed of the patient temper and knowledge requisite in dealing with points of custom and tradition.

5. Captain James so successfully fulfilled the task that during two years' labor there was not, I believe, a single appeal from his decisions. After completion of the duty Captain James resumed his place in the Central India Horse.

6. In 1865-66 Major James (he had now become Major) was offered by the Agent, Governor General, Central India, the appointment of Officiating First Assistant, a position of much responsibility, in consequence of his success in settlement work. Between 1866 and 1870 Major James on several occasions officiated as Political Agent in Western Malwa, and was employed from time to time on boundary work. His substantive appointment in the Central India Horse was Squadron Officer and 2nd in Command, though he had repeatedly held temporary command of a Corps. It was on the ground of Major James's special fitness for civil employment thus established that I submitted a recommendation to Lord Mayo for his transfer from the Military Branch.

7. Lord Mayo had no acquaintance of any sort with Major James, nor with Captain Buller, 2nd Squadron Officer in 11th Bengal Cavalry, appointed to succeed him in the Central India Horse. The late Viceroy had seen neither officer. Bearing in mind the peculiarity of services required of officers in the Central India Horse to maintain the force in the efficiency which has won special acknowledgments from the Commander-in-Chief, Lord Napier, on occasions when regiments have been associated with the army, a roll of eligible officers was submitted to Lord Mayo through his Military Secretary.

8. He selected Captain Buller. Captain Buller was not even aware of his nomination, which was solely on the grounds of his merits as an officer.

9. So far from the appointment being wanted for any one officer, there were doubts of Captain Buller's acceptance, and as events have turned out, it would have been better for him had he remained with the 11th Bengal Cavalry: he would now have been Commandant.

Major James received a Deputy Commissionership, 4th class, Rs. 1,000 per mensem, in 1871, after 25 years' service. In emolument there was little difference between his appointment in the Central India Horse and the Deputy Commissionership. In 1872 he became Lieutenant-Colonel, when, without advancement in the grade of Deputy Commissioner, in income he became a loser.

It is with great satisfaction that the Goverpor General in Council has received this report testifying, as it does, to the good conduct and high efficiency of the troops assembled at Delhi; and it has been peculiarly gratifying to the Government of India, as well as to the Commander-in-Chief, that Field Marshal His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales should have had the opportunity of inspecting and witnessing the movements of so fine a body of Her Majesty's Army in India.

The Governor General in Council desires to convey to Lord Napier of Magdala, the cordial thanks of the Government of India, for his unceasing efforts to advance the welfare and efficiency of the Army and for the measures which he has taken to make this and former Camps of Exercise useful for the instruction of Officers and men. The Government of India congratulate the Commander-in-Chief on the fine appearance and efficient condition of the troops assembled at the Camp, and upon the approbation which His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has been pleased to convey through His Excellency to the Army.

During the operations Lord Napier of Magdala met with a severe accident; but with that devotion to duty which is so characteristic of His Lordship, this did not interfere with his continued personal command of the troops.

The Governor General in Council further desires to convey the thanks of the Government of India to all those Officers and Departments mentioned by His Excellency Lord Napier of Magdala, for the exertions which have contributed to the gratifying results which have been brought to the notice of the Government.

Camps of Exercise.

I AM directed by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief in India to report, for the information of the Right Hon'ble the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council, that the troops assembled to take part in the Camp of Exercise left Delhi for their respective stations by the 2nd February 1876.

2. Out of the 22 Regiments of British and Native Infantry under the orders of the Commander-in-Chief collected at Delhi, 13 were arrested in their route of relief, and it was desirable to release them in time to admit of their reaching their destinations before the setting in of the hot weather.

3. The distribution of the force and its strength in detail are given in G. O. C. C., dated 14th October 1875, and Camp G. O. No. 173, dated 31st January 1876, copies of which are attached.

4. With the exceptions marginally noted, the assembly of the Infantry in divisions and of the Artillery and Cavalry under their respective Commanders was completed by the 15th December.

2nd Battalion 12th foot, detained at Ferozepore on account of cholera, arrived in Camp 20th December 1875.
A. Battery, 19th Brigade Royal Artillery, detained at Agra on account of glanders, arrived in Camp 23rd December 1875.
F. Battery, 19th Brigade Royal Artillery, delayed on account of dengue fever, arrived in Camp 18th December 1875.

5. The Camps were formed at the following places in the vicinity of Delhi, vide map annexed.—

1st Infantry Division	...	Old Cantonment.
2nd "	"	... Naryna.
3rd "	"	... Bussai.
4th "	"	... Sufdar Jung.
Artillery	...	... Bussunt.
Cavalry	...	... Near the old cantonment.

The Camp of Army Head Quarters was established in the old cantonment.

6. From the dates of arrival of the several corps until 22nd December, the Infantry regiments were distributed in four camps under Generals Sir C. Reid, Hardinge, Macdonnell and Stewart, each of whom had two full brigades with a company of Sappers and Miners, an Electric Telegraph and Signalling party.

In the first period the Brigadiers instructed their brigades in Infantry tactics; during the 2nd period the brigades of the several divisions were united under the Generals in Command for more extended infantry manœuvres.

7. During the whole of this time the Cavalry and Artillery were exercised under Colonel Watson, Central India Horse, and Colonel Light, Royal Horse Artillery, first in Brigades under their respective Brigadiers, and subsequently en masse under the superior Commanders in the special tactics of their respective arms. 73 guns were manœuvred and practised under Colonel Light, and 39 Squadrons of Cavalry under Colonel Watson.

8. This preliminary period is very valuable for bringing the several regiments to work harmoniously in Brigade together, and for accustoming the troops, as well as the superior officers, to the movements of much larger bodies than can ever be found in the ordinary cantonments.

9. On the 22nd and 23rd December the Cavalry and Artillery were distributed among the Divisions, so as to give the Divisional Commanders opportunities of exercising the three arms together. This could be practised only on a limited scale at the largest military stations, and the advantages afforded by the Camp of giving complete Divisional Commands was specially valuable.

10. His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief was summoned to Calcutta on 19th December, and did not return to Camp till the 3rd January 1876.

11. On the 3rd January the troops marginally detailed were moved with light equipment to the neighbourhood of the Kootub, Major-General D. M. Stewart, C. B., being in Command, in view to the attack of a carefully selected position with live shell and ball cartridge. As far as practicable, the troops and guns which would have held the ground marked out for defence were represented by screens and dummies made up under the superintendence of Colonel Gordon, Chief Inspector of Musketry: the shelter trenches and batteries being constructed by the Sappers and Miners and 32nd Pioneers, under the orders of Colonel Maunsell, C.B., Royal Engineers.

Infantry. 2-12th Regt. 15th N. I. 45th N. I.	Brigdr. Appleyard, C.B.
8th Regt. 85th "	Brigdr. Basden.
62nd Regiment 28th N. I. 31st N. I.	Brigdr. Genl. Payne, C.B.
6th Regiment 5th Punjab I. 26th N. I.	Brigdr. Genl. Ross.

12. As Government will hereafter learn from the full reports now being compiled, the result of this experiment has been most instructive in elucidating to such portions of the force as have never actually been under fire, the practical application of the modern system of attack, and the cover which even the slightest shelter affords from the heaviest fire which can be brought by direct attack to bear upon any given point.

13. On the 6th January the 1st and 2nd divisions, as detailed in Camp General Order No. 67, copy annexed, representing the advanced guard of an army destined to effect a passage from the west to the east bank of the Jumna, were placed under the orders of Major-General Macdonnell, C. B.; the operation was carried out, under the idea that the passage of the river would be opposed by a force advancing from the north-east.

14. On the 7th a concentration of the entire force north of the ridge was effected, the camps extending from Daheerpore near the Jumna across the Kurnaul road towards the Western Jumna Canal.

15. On the 8th His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief reviewed the troops.

16. Field Marshal His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales reached Delhi at 9 A. M. on the 11th January, and rode in procession from the railway station through the principal streets of the city, and along the ridge to His Royal Highness' camp on the parade ground in front of the old cantonment, the entire route being lined by troops.

17. The 2nd Battalion, 60th Rifles, the 2nd Goorkhas and the 1st Punjab Infantry were drawn up on the ridge, the position so gallantly held during the siege by the force, of which these Regiments formed a part. On reaching Hindoo Rao's house His Royal Highness was pleased to compliment the 2nd Goorkhas for its good service at Delhi in 1857.

18. His Royal Highness afterwards held a levee when the European and native officers of the army assembled at Delhi were presented.

19. On the 12th January the Field Marshal reviewed the force under the Command of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, and afterwards presented new colors to the 11th Regiment of Native Infantry.

20. The general idea of the field manœuvre in which the troops were engaged on the 14th and 15th January is given in the annexed Camp General Order No. 78A. of the 3rd ultimo. The manner in which the manœuvre was executed could leave no doubt as to the excellent marching powers of the Infantry of the Army, while the freedom and intelligence exhibited by the troops, both in the attack and defence, in taking up ground, elicited special commendation from His Royal Highness.

21. On the 17th January the Prince of Wales inspected the 10th Hussars and then attended a parade of the Cavalry force under the command of Colonel Watson, C. B., V. C. His Royal Highness afterwards minutely inspected 6-13 Royal Artillery, Mountain Battery.

22. On the afternoon of the 17th there was an assault at arms at which His Royal Highness was pleased to be present.

23. The Prince of Wales left Delhi for Lahore by special train at 9-30 P. M. on the same day.

24. Previous to His Royal Highness' departure, the Prince of Wales was pleased to convey his complete satisfaction with the appearance, discipline and efficiency of the troops reviewed by His Royal Highness in the accompanying order* which the Commander-in-Chief has had the honor of publishing to the force.

* No. 135.

25. The Government of India will be gratified by the expression of His Royal Highness' approbation, which will be ever regarded with pride and pleasure by the Commander-in-Chief and the troops under his command.

26. Subsequent field manœuvres are detailed in Camp General Orders Nos. 130 of the 18th and 156 of 22nd January; on both of the occasions referred to, the command of the attack was entrusted to Major General D. M. Stewart, C. B., and of the defence to Brigadier General Sir Charles Brownlow, K. C. B., the general idea was carried out by these two officers to the satisfaction of His Excellency, while the handling of Brigades in the attack and the careful defences prepared, indicated that close attention had been paid by the Commanders of Brigades and Regiments engaged to the instructions issued since the formation of the Camp of Exercise.

27. Previous to the manœuvres last noticed, some of the troops and officers in command and on the staff had been ordered to their respective cantonments. The 10th Hussars, A and F Batteries, 19th Brigade, Royal Artillery, with the Band and 100 men of the Rifle Brigade, had been forwarded by rail to Agra, in anticipation of His Royal Highness' visit to that station. A-C Royal Horse Artillery had proceeded to the same place by route march with the 7th Bengal Cavalry, the latter being destined to escort His Royal Highness from Agra to Morar.

28. During the time that the troops have been assembled in camp, opportunity has been found for the consideration of the following various questions in connection with equipment:—

1st.—The carriage of reserve ammunition upon mules with Infantry in the field has been tested, and the reports on this subject will be duly submitted.

2nd.—The question of supplying a proportion of light entrenching tools with Cavalry for pioneering purposes has been considered and tried by experiment. The result, while showing slight alteration to be necessary, was very satisfactory as regards the value of the measure.

3rd.—The important question of the best description of boots and shoes for the Native Army; and 4th.—The carriage of the valises of British Cavalry and the value of the best kind of lassoes have been considered and reported on by competent officers.

5th.—A field telegraph, carried on mules, has for the first time, it is believed, accompanied troops in the field. This invaluable equipment worked extremely well and was able to keep pace with the troops in their advance; it has been brought to its state of efficiency through the intelligence and zeal of Lieutenant Savage, Royal Engineers.

6th.—Ambulances of the new standard pattern have been made use of, and doolies submitted for trial have been thoroughly tried.

7th.—Valuable suggestions have been made regarding the improvement of pontoon and light bridging equipment. This latter subject, as well as the general question of transport for the Sappers and Miners, are now being reported on by a Committee whose proceedings will, on receipt, be forwarded for the consideration and orders of Government.

29. The Special Committee, of which Sir Charles Reid is President, is till engaged in considering the best means of rendering railway stock in India available both for civil and military transport, but His Excellency is sanguine that the result of the Committee will enable the Government of India to determine what steps it may be desirable to adopt in this important matter.

30. The civil authorities at Delhi have throughout cordially co-operated in all matters connected with the camp; the Commander-in-Chief feels much indebted to them, especially to Colonel Cracroft, the Commissioner and Superintendent, whose intimate acquaintance with the country and active assistance have tended materially to the general success of the Camp of Exercise.

31. His Excellency desires to acknowledge the valuable aid afforded to him by Colonel Thuillier, C. S. I., the Surveyor General of India, and also by Captain Waterhouse, in charge of the Photo-zincographic Branch of that Office, both these officers responded most willingly to the heavy demand for maps.

32. General hospitals were established in the fort for British, and at Hindoo Rao's house for Native troops, and the Commander-in-Chief gladly avails himself of this opportunity of recording his appreciation of the arrangements made for the comfort of the sick by the Administrative Medical Department in the several hospitals and camps.

33. The health of the troops has from the first been excellent, but as the previous season had been somewhat sickly, it was necessary to adopt very stringent sanitary precautions.

34. The Commander-in-Chief has the greatest pleasure in stating that the conduct of the troops has been admirable, there has been virtually a total absence of crime, and the relations between the camp and the civil population have been especially satisfactory. Much credit is due to the Provost Marshal Major P. FitzRoy, Her Majesty's 5th Fusiliers, for the judicious and effective manner in which his duties have been carried out.

35. It is due to the Police Department under Colonel Baillie to acknowledge the good arrangements by which theft has been almost unknown.

36. The Postal Service under Mr. LeBreton has been carried out most satisfactorily.

37. The Telegraph Department established a line connecting Army Head Quarters with the Telegraph Station at Delhi, while the several divisions were connected with each other and with the Head Quarters Camp by lines laid down by Lieutenant Bagot, R. E., under the direction of Colonel Maunsell, C. B. The employment of soldier-signallers has thoroughly answered.

In addition to the electric signalling, communication was from the first established between the several camps by means of flags and heliographs.

38. The Commissariat arrangements under Colonel A. D. Dickens, C. B., Deputy Commissary General, and Colonel G. R. Roberts, Principal Executive Commissariat Officer, have left nothing to be desired.

39. Conductor Burns, in charge of the Ordnance Department at Delhi, deserves credit for the manner in which his duties have been performed under difficulties regarding establishment.

40. The officers of the Madras and Bombay armies deputed to attend the camp were good enough to join the umpire staff, and to all of these officers the Commander-in-Chief is much indebted for the manner in which they performed their rather difficult duties.

41. In conclusion, Lord Napier of Magdāla would desire to record his opinion of the great advantages derived by officers and men from Camps of Exercise, similar to this which has now been brought to conclusion. His Excellency observes with satisfaction that a very remarkable advance has been made in the efficiency of the troops and manœuvres generally since the camp at Delhi in 1871-72.

42. It is not only that the superior officers and the rank and file learn lessons that they cannot often learn in cantonments, but every department has in some degree to exercise the functions that would devolve on it in real warfare.

The 25th February 1876.

The 1st March 1876.

No. 215 of 1876.—In G. G. O. No. 154 of 1869, the offices of Military Pay and Accounts in the three Presidencies were formed into one Department in direct subordination to the Government of India—the Departmental officers being placed on one roster for promotion, and for employment wherever they might be required in the interests of the public service.

2. His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General in Council has now resolved to reorganize the Department in grades, and to make the staff salary personal, so that each officer will receive the salary of his grade wherever and however he may be employed.

3. As a general rule, promotions will be made with due regard to seniority, and the Department will ordinarily be recruited by young officers in the grade of Assistant Military Accountants. But the Government of India reserves to itself the discretion, which it has always exercised, of making promotions on public grounds irrespective of seniority, and (when desirable) of admitting officers into the Department otherwise than in the lowest grade.

4. The Department of Military Accounts will accordingly be graded as follows, with effect from the 1st April 1876, but without injuriously affecting the substantive allowances of present incumbents :—

No. of each Grade and Class.	Salary. Rs.
1 Senior Controller of Military Accounts ...	2,500	Consolidated salary.
1 Controller of Military Accounts ...	2,250
1 Ditto ditto ...	2,250
3 Military Accountants, 1st Class, 1st Grade, each	1,000	Staff salary.
5 Military Accountants, 1st Class, 2nd Grade	800	Ditto.
5 Military Accountants, 2nd Class, 1st Grade	600	Ditto.
5 Military Accountants, 2nd Class, 2nd Grade	500	Ditto.
4 Military Accountants, 3rd Class...	300	Ditto.
6 Assistant Military Accountants on Rs. 100 a month, and after passing the final examination Rs. 150, and when at a Presidency town Rs. 200 a month.

5. The sixth grade of Assistant Military Accountant being regarded as a reserve, no appointment will be made to it, in the place of officers who may be officiating in the higher grades.

6. The offices of payment, examination, and account in the Department of Military Accounts will, from time to time, be classified in a separate schedule. Whilst departmental promotion may carry with it higher grade pay without necessarily involving any change of duties, the more important posts will, as a rule, be held by officers in the higher classes.

SEPARATE REVENUE—POST OFFICE.

The 10th March 1876.

No. 1405.—Notice is hereby given that an arrangement has been concluded for the exchange of parcels between India and the Austro-Hungarian monarchy.

On and after the 1*st April* 1876 parcels can be sent to places in Austria-Hungary under the same rates and conditions as apply to Germany.

The following detailed rules for the despatch of parcels from India to the United Kingdom and Foreign Europe will supersede those issued under the Notification by this Department, No. 2377, dated 12th November 1875:—

Overland Parcel Post.

(1).—Parcels are received at any Post Office in India under the conditions and rates of charge mentioned below for transmission to the following countries, viz.:—

COUNTRY.	Rate of charge per lb. or fraction thereof. Prepayment compulsory.	Remarks respecting special conditions, &c., applicable to particular Countries.
	Annas.
United Kingdom ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel as far as London, any additional charge which may become due on account of British custom duty or carriage beyond London being realised from the addressee. The attention of the public is invited to the fact that the British Post Office has no connection with the Overland Parcel Post; all arrangements out of India are made by the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Company, and enquiries proceeding from the United Kingdom should be addressed to that Company's Office, 122, Leadenhall Street, London, E. C. The British Post Office, however, has consented to exhibit in every Post Office of the United Kingdom a notice containing information on the subject of the Indian Parcel Post. Parcels must not exceed £50 in value. Any parcel which on examination of the declaration at Bombay may be found to exceed this value will, instead of being forwarded by the Overland Parcel Post, be transferred to the Bombay Agency of the P. & O. S. N. Company for transmission independently of the Post Office, and subject to such regulations and charges on delivery as may be applicable thereto under the Company's regulations. (NOTE.—The Company's present charge is an ad valorem rate of 2 per cent., which does not include Marine or other Insurance.)
Germany ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to destination. Should any custom duty become due, the amount will be charged on delivery. See also Rule 9 respecting compensation for damage or loss.
Austria-Hungary ...
Denmark ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to the limit of German conveyance, a separate charge being made on delivery for conveyance beyond the German frontier, as well as for custom duty, should any become due. See also Rule 9 respecting compensation for damage or loss.
Sweden ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to the limit of German conveyance, a separate charge being made on delivery for conveyance beyond the German frontier, as well as for custom duty, should any become due. From Rule 3 it will be seen that there must be also a second or duplicate declaration of contents and value. See also Rule 9 respecting compensation for damage or loss.
Norway ...
Switzerland ...
France ...	8	The prepayment carries the parcel to the limit of German conveyance, a separate charge being made on delivery for conveyance beyond the German frontier, as well as for custom duty, should any become due. From Rule 3 it will be seen that there must be also a second or duplicate declaration of contents and value, and that the second or duplicate declaration should contain a statement of the weight (lbs. and ozs. or tolas) of the contents, and should, if possible, be written in the French language. See also Rule 9 respecting compensation for damage or loss.
The Netherlands (Holland).
Belgium ...

(2).—Every parcel should be securely packed in a closed cover or case, and should bear the name and address of the person in the United Kingdom or foreign country for whom it is intended.

N. B.—The public are specially warned against the use of flimsy covers for articles transmitted by the Parcel Post. Heavy articles are sometimes sent with only paper covering insecurely tied with string: friction in transit detaches this cover, and damage and loss ensue. A covering of stout cloth or wax cloth, sewn at the edges, is recommended; but if the contents are liable to suffer from pressure, boxes of wood or tin should be used.

(3).—Every parcel should be accompanied by a separate paper headed with the address of the parcel and containing a declaration of its contents and value under the signature of the sender. Below the signature the address of the sender should be given.

For the parcels addressed to—

The United Kingdom ...	Only one declaration as above described is required.
Germany
Austria-Hungary ...
Denmark
Sweden	A second or duplicate declaration is also required.
Norway
Switzerland
France	A second or duplicate declaration is also required, and the sender is requested to enter in the declaration a statement of the weight (lbs. and ozs. or tolas) of the contents, and to write the second or duplicate declaration, if possible, in the French language. Should he be unable to do so, the Bombay Post Office will attach to the second or duplicate English declaration a French rendering thereof, but the sender is warned of the delay which may result from this.
The Netherlands (Holland)
Belgium

It is not deemed necessary to require exact adherence to any particular form of declaration, but the following specimen form may be useful to the senders of parcels:—

Specimen form of declaration.

THOMAS B. SMITH,
114, Piccadilly,
L[redacted]ON.

CONTENTS— Value.

1 Piece Puttoo Cloth	2	0	0
1 Rampore Chudder	2	10	0
TOTAL ...	4	10	0

I declare the above to be a true statement of the contents and value.

(Sd.) A. R. ROBINSON,
Amritsar.

N. B.—Declarations for parcels intended for France, the Netherlands or Belgium should, in addition to the above, contain a statement of the weight (lbs. and ozs. or tolas) of the contents.

(4).—The parcel so addressed and the separate paper or papers above referred to should then be enclosed in a substantial outer cover. This outer cover should be superscribed and addressed as follows:—

Overland Parcel Post.
To
The Post Master, Bombay.

(5).—The parcel so made up must be fully prepaid by means of postage stamps at the rate of 8 annas per lb. (40 tolas) or fraction of a lb., care being taken that the stamps adhere firmly to the cover.

(6).—The parcel so made up must not exceed 50lbs. (25 seers) in weight, or 2 feet in length by 1 foot in breadth or depth. It will be received at any Post Office at the hours fixed for the receipt of ordinary banghy parcels, the usual receipt being given to the sender without reference to the mode of packing prescribed in the case of inland parcels for which receipts are claimed.

(7).—On arrival at Bombay, the Post Master will take off the outer covering, and forward the inside parcel and the accompanying declaration or declarations to the country of inside address.

(8).—It is forbidden to send in these parcels opium or any liquid or any substance or material of a dangerous, damaging, or offensive kind.

(9).—In the case of parcels for or from Germany or Austria-Hungary and the foreign countries served through Germany, compensation will be given by the responsible Post Office to the sender for loss or damage sustained in transit (cases of sea risk or of vis major or of the own negligence of the sender in respect of packing or otherwise excepted). Such compensation will in no case exceed 1½ rupee for each lb. weight or fraction thereof in respect of parcels forwarded from India, and 3 marks or 1½ florins for each 500 grammes or fraction thereof in respect of parcels from Germany or Austria-Hungary. Should the sender desire it, the compensation will be paid to the addressee instead of to himself.

The Governor General in Council has received with the deepest regret the intelligence of the death at Ráwalpindi in the Punjab, on the morning of the 15th instant, of the Right Reverend Robert Milman, D.D., Lord Bishop of Calcutta.

The Governor General in Council desires to place on record the sense which he entertains of the late Bishop Milman's indefatigable energy in the discharge of the high functions of his office;—of his charity and munificence;—of his zeal in promoting all good works—especially the education of the poorer classes of Europeans in India—and of his broad and benevolent sympathy with all classes of the community. The Bishop has devoted his health and strength to the conscientious fulfilment of his arduous duties in ministering to the spiritual and temporal welfare of his diocese; and he has now died in the midst of his labours, doubtless in consequence of them.

The Governor General in Council is sure that Bishop Milman's untimely death will be felt as a personal loss, and that his memory will be affectionately cherished by Her Majesty's subjects in India.

The Flag of Fort William will be hoisted half-mast high to-day, which is the day of the funeral.

His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General has the satisfaction of publishing for general information the following letter which he has had the honour of receiving from His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales :—

H.M.S. "Serapis,"
Bombay, the 13*th March* 1876.

My Dear Lord Northbrook,

I cannot leave India without expressing to you, as the QUEEN'S Representative of this vast Empire, the sincere pleasure and the deep interest with which I have visited this great and wonderful country.

As you are aware, it has been my hope and intention for some years past to see India, with a view to become more intimately acquainted with the QUEEN'S subjects in this distant part of Her Empire, and to examine for myself those objects of interest which have always had so great an attraction for travellers.

I may candidly say that my expectations have been more than realized by what I have witnessed, so that I return to my native country most deeply impressed with all I have seen and heard. The information I have gained will, I am confident, be of the greatest value to me, and will form a useful foundation for much that I hope hereafter to acquire.

The reception I have met with from the Princes and Chiefs and from the native population at large is most gratifying to me; as the evidence of loyalty thus manifested shows an attachment to the QUEEN and to the Throne which I trust will be made every year more and more lasting. It is my earnest hope that the many millions of the QUEEN'S Indian subjects may daily become more convinced of the advantages of British rule, and that they may realize more fully that the Sovereign and the Government of England have the interests and well-being of India very sincerely at heart.

I have had frequent opportunities of seeing Native Troops of all branches of the Service, and I cannot withhold my opinion that they constitute an Army of which we may feel justly proud. The "march past" at Delhi of so many distinguished officers and of such highly disciplined troops was a most impressive sight, and one which I shall not easily forget.

I wish also to state my high appreciation of the Civil Service; and I feel assured that the manner in which their arduous duties are performed tends greatly to the prosperity and the contentment of all classes of the community.

I cannot conclude without thanking you, and all those in authority, for the facilities which have enabled me to traverse so rapidly so large an extent of country; and rest assured I shall ever retain a grateful memory of the hospitality tendered by yourself and by others who have so kindly received me.

Believe me, my dear Lord Northbrook,

Yours very sincerely,

ALBERT EDWARD.

FINANCIAL. (Military Funds.) No. 10.

INDIA OFFICE, LONDON, 6*th January* 1876.

To His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council.

MY LORD,—I have considered in Council your Military Letter, dated 12th November 1875, No. 278, in which you submit for my consideration the question whether it would be competent to an officer who has exchanged from a purchase Corps into the Staff Corps, and who may retire from the service by the sale of his commission before being entitled to Indian pension, to continue his subscription to the Indian Service Family Pension Fund for the benefit of his wife and family after such retirement.

2. In reply I have to inform you that an officer so situated would not be entitled to continue his subscription to the Fund.

3. Such cases are not, however, likely to be of frequent occurrence, and I see no objection to the return on retirement of contributions in excess of the risk borne by the Fund during membership.

I have, &c.,

ARTICULO XI.

En el examen que tienen que hacer de conformidad con las precedentes estipulaciones, las autoridades del Estado á quien se haga la peticion, admitirán como prueba plena el testimonio y declaraciones bajo juramento recibidas de testigos en el otro Estado, ó cópias de los mismos, como igualmente los autos de prision y sentencias dadas en él, siempre que tales documentos estén firmados ó certificados por un Juez, Magistrado ú oficial de dicho Estado, y estén autenticados por algun testigo juramentado, ó que estén sellados con el sello oficial del Ministro de la Justicia ó algun otro Ministro ne Estado.

ARTICLE XIII.

All articles seized which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension shall, if the competent authority of the State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery thereof, be given up when the extradition takes place; and the said delivery shall extend, not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything that may serve as a proof of the crime.

ARTICLE XIV.

The High Contracting Parties renounce any claim for the reimbursement of the expenses incurred by them in the arrest and maintenance of the person to be surrendered and his conveyance till placed on board ship; they reciprocally agree to bear such expenses themselves.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal from any Colony or foreign Possession of Her Britannic Majesty shall be governed by the rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XVI.

The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication, in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties, but shall remain in force for six months after notice has been given for its termination.

The Treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at Guatemala, in twelve months counted from this day.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and have affixed thereto the seal of their arms.

Done at Guatemala, the sixth day of the month of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four.

ARTICLE III.

Aucun Haïtien ne sera livré par le Gouvernement d'Haïti au Gouvernement du Royaume Uni, et aucun sujet du Royaume Uni ne sera livré par ce dernier au Gouvernement d'Haïti.

ARTICLE IV.

L'extradition n'aura pas lieu si la personne réclamée de la part du Gouvernement du Royaume Uni, ou la personne réclamée de la part du Gouvernement de la République d'Haïti, a déjà été jugée et acquittée ou condamnée, ou si elle est encore en jugement, soit en Haïti soit dans le Royaume Uni respectivement, et ce pour le crime en raison duquel son extradition est demandée.

Si la personne réclamée de la part du Gouvernement du Royaume Uni, ou si la personne réclamée de la part du Gouvernement de la République d'Haïti est sous le coup d'un interrogatoire judiciaire, soit en Haïti soit dans le Royaume Uni respectivement, pour tout autre crime que celui en raison duquel elle est réclamée, il sera différé à l'extradition jusqu'à ce que ce jugement soit prononcé, et, s'il y a condamnation, jusqu' à ce que la peine infligée soit entièrement subie.

Un criminal fugitif ne sera pas livré si l'offense en raison de laquelle son extradition est demandée est d'un caractère politique, ou s'il prouve que cette extradition n'a récellement été reclamé que dans le but de le juger ou de le punir pour une cause d'un caractère politique.

ARTICLE VII.

Une personne rendue ne peut, en acun cas, être détenue ou jugée dans l'Etat auquel son extradition the surrender has been made, for any other crime or on account of any other matters than those for which the extradition shall have taken place.

This stipulation does not apply to crimes committed after the extradition.

ARTICLE VIII.

The requisition for extradition shall be made through the Diplomatic Agents of the High Contracting Parties respectively.

The requisition for the extradition of an accused person must be accompanied by a warrant of arrest issued by the competent authority of the State requiring the extradition, and by such evidence as, according to the laws of the place where the accused is found, would justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by the sentence of condemnation passed against the convicted person by the competent Court of the State that makes the requisition for extradition.

A requisition for extradition cannot be founded on sentences passed in contumaciam.

ARTICLE IX.

If the requisition for extradition be in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the competent authorities of the State applied to shall proceed to the arrest of the fugitive.

The prisoner is then to be brought before a competent magistrate, who is to examine him, and to conduct the preliminary investigation of the case, just as if the apprehension had taken place for a crime committed in the same country.

ARTICLE X.

The extradition shall not take place before the expiration of fifteen days from the apprehension, and then only if the evidence be found sufficient, according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial, in case the crime had been committed in the territory of the said State, or to prove that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition.

ARTICLE XI.

In the examinations which they have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the authorities of the State applied to shall admit as entirely valid evidence the sworn depositions or statements of witnesses taken in the other State, or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, provided such documents are signed or certified by a Judge, magistrate, or officer of such State, and are authenticated by the oath of some witnesses, or by being sealed with the official seal of the Minister of Justice or some other Minister of State.

ARTICLE XII.

If sufficient evidence for the extradition be not produced within two months from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, he shall be set at liberty.

ARTICLE XIII.

All articles seized, which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension, shall, if the competent authority a été accordée pour un autre crime, ou pour d'autres causes, que ceux qui ont motivé cette extradition.

Cette stipulation ne s'applique pas aux crimes commis postérieurement à l'extradition.

ARTICLE VIII.

Toute demande d'extradition sera faite par l'entremise des Agents Diplomatiques des deux Hautes Parties Contractantes respectivement.

La requisition de l'extradition d'une personne accusée doit être accompagnée d'un ordre d'arrestation émané de l'autorité compétente de l'Etat que fait la demande d'extradition, et par les preuves qui établissent que, si la personne réclamée avait commis le même crime dont elle est prévenue dans l'Etat où elle est réfugiée, son arrestation serait ordonnée en vertu des lois du dit Etat.

Si la réquisition porte sur une personne déjà condamnée, elle doit être accompagnée du jugement rendu contre la dite personne par un Tribunal compétent de l'Etat qui réclame l'extradition.

Aucune demande d'extradition ne peut être basée sur les jugement rendus contre les personnes en état de contumace.

ARTICLE IX.

Si la réquisition d'extradition est conforme aux stipulations énoncées ci-dessus, les autorités compétentes de l'Etat auquel elle est adressée procéderont à l'arrestation du fugitif.

Alors le prisonnier est amené par devant un magistrat compétent, qui l'interroge et fait toutes les investigations qui auraient lieu si l'arrestation était faite en raison d'un crime commis dans le pays même où s'opère l'arrestation.

ARTICLE X.

L'extradition ne s'effectuera qu'après un délai de quinze jours à partir du jour de l'arrestation, et alors seulement si les preuves relevées par l'instruction préliminaire sont suffisantes pour justifier la détention des prisonnier, et le placer sous le coup des lois du pays où il est arrêté dans le cas où le crime dont il est prévenu y aurait été commis. Il faudra aussi que son identité soit prouvée, et qu'elle soit bien reconnu être celle qui est condamnée par les Tribunaux de l'Etat qui demande son extradition.

ARTICLE XI.

Dans les interrogatoires qu'elles ont à faire conformément aux stipulations ci-dessus les autorités de l'Etat auquel une demande d'extradition est faite admettront comme preuves entièrement valides toutes les dépositions ou déclarations de temoins assermentés provenant de l'autre Etat, ou copies de ces dernières, ainsi que tous les ordres et jugements qui auraient été publiés sur l'affaire relative à la personne réclamée, pourvu que tous les documents dont il est fait mention ci-dessus seront certifiés et signés par un Juge, un magistrat, ou un officier compétent de l'Etat qui fait la demande d'extradition. Ils seront déclarés authentiqués sous la foi du serment prêté par des témoins, ou scellés du sceau officiel du Ministre de la Justice ou de tout autre Ministre d'Etat.

ARTICLE XII.

Si les preuves requises pour l'admission d'une demande d'extradition ne sont pas établies deux mois après la date du jour de l'arrestation du fugitif réclamé, ce dernier sera mis en liberté.

ARTICLE XIII.

Lorsqu'une personne devra être rendue, tous les objets qui auraient été trouvés on sa possession, et qui auraient été saisis au moment de son arresta-of the State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery thereof, be given up when the extradition takes place, and the said delivery shall extend not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything which may serve as a proof of the crime.

ARTICLE XIV.

The High Contracting Parties renounce any claim for the reimbursement of the expenses incurred by them in the arrest and maintenance of the person to be surrendered, and his conveyance till placed on boardship: they reciprocally agree to bear such expenses themselves.

ARTICLE XV.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the Colonies and foreign possessions of Her Britannic Majesty.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign possessions shall be made to the Governor or chief authority of such Colony or possession by the chief Consular Officer of Hayti in such Colony or possession.

Such requisitions may be disposed of, subject always, as nearly as may be, to the provisions of this Treaty, by the said Governor or chief authority, who, however, shall be at liberty either to grant the surrender, or to refer the matter to his Government.

Her Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign possessions for the surrender of Haytian criminals, who may take refuge within such Colonies and foreign possessions, on the basis, as nearly as may be, of the provisions of the present Treaty.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal from any Colony or foreign possession of Her Britannic Majesty shall be governed by the rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XVI.

The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication, in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties, but shall remain in force for six months after notice has been given for its termination.

The President of the Republic of Hayti engages to apply to the Senate for the necessary authorization to give effect to the present Treaty, immediately after its meeting.

The present Treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged as soon as possible.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and have affixed thereto the seals of their arms.

(L.S.) SURVILLE TOUSSAINT.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Treaty were exchanged at Port au Prince on the second day of September last:

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to Her by the said recited Acts, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the twenty-first day of February, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six, the said Acts shall apply in the case of the said Treaty with the President of the Republic of Hayti.

tian, seront remis à la partie qui fait la demande d'extradition si l'autorité qui l'accorde en a décidé ainsi, et dans ce cas la remise comprendra non-seulement les objets volés, mais encore tout objet qui pourra servir à établir la conviction du criminel.

ARTICLE XIV.

Les Hautes Parties Contractantes renoncent réciproquement à toute réclamation ayant pour but le remboursement des frais qu'elles feront pour l'arrestation et la détention de toute personne rendue jusqu' à la mise à bord d'un navire: elles subiront réciproquement toutes les dépenses de cette nature.

ARTICLE XV.

Les stipulations du présent Traité sont applicables aux Colonies et possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté Britannique.

Toute demande d'extradition relative à un criminel réfugié dans une des Colonies ou possessions étrangères dont il s'agit sera adressée au Gouverneur ou à la principale autorité de la dite Colonie ou possession par l'entremise du principal Officier Consulaire d'Haïti en la dite Colonie ou possession.

Les réquisitions de la catégorie ci-dessus indiquée se feront toujours, autant que possible, conformément aux règles établies dans le présent Traité, par le Gouverneur ou par la principale autorité, qui sera libre toutefois d'accorder l'extradition ou d'en référer à son Gouvernement.

Toutefois Sa Majesté Britannique sera libre de faire des arrangements spéciaux dans ses Colonies et possessions étrangères pour l'extradition des criminels Haïtiens, qui s'y refugieront, et ces arrangements, autant que possible, auraient pour base les règles établies par ce présent Traité.

La réquisition de l'extradition d'un criminel fugitif d'une des Colonies ou possessions étrangères de Sa Majesté Britannique sera assujetitie aux règles consignées dans les Articles précédents du présent Traité.

ARTICLE XVI.

Le présent Traité sera en vigueur dix jours après qu'il aura été publié conformément aux prescriptions des lois des Hautes Parties Contractantes. Il pourra prendre fin par la volonté de l'une oude l'autre des Hautes Parties Contractantes, mais dans ce dernier cas il continuera à rester en vigeur pendant six mois à partir du jour où l'une ou l'autre aura déclaré vouloir en faire cesser les effets.

Le Président de la République d'Haïti s'engage à demander au Sénat, immédiatement après son ouverture, l'autorisation nécessaire pour faire exécuter le dit Traité.

Le présent Traité sera ratifié, et les ratifications en seront échangées le plus tôt que faire se pourra.

En foi de quoi les Plénipotentiaires respectifs l'ont signé, et y ont apposé le cachet de leurs armes.

All the Civil and Military Officers of Government at the Presidency will be in attendance upon the grand staircase of Government House. Consular Officers and other representatives of Foreign Governments at Calcutta, and all non-official gentlemen, are invited to be present upon the grand staircase.

A Royal Salute will then be fired from the ramparts of Fort William in honour of Lord Lytton upon his assumption of the office of Viceroy and Governor-General of India.

The troops may then be withdrawn.

Full dress will be worn by all Officers, Civil and Military, on this occasion, and evening dress by all gentlemen not entitled to wear uniform.

The date and hour for Lord Lytton's arrival at Howrah will be notified hereafter.

BUDGET OF 1876-77,

CONTAINING THE BUDGET FOR THAT YEAR, WITH A REVIEW OF THE BUDGETS OF 1874-75 AND 1875-76.

STATEMENT BY THE HON'BLE SIR WILLIAM MUIR, K.C.S.I.

In the following Statement are embodied the Imperial Budget for 1876-77, the Regular estimate for 1875-76, and the Accounts as finally closed for 1874-75.

Accounts of 1874-75.

We shall begin as usual with the accounts of the year 1874-75, and compare the actual results as finally adjusted with the Regular estimate of the same, formed last year. These results will be found throughout highly satisfactory.

The budget as presented in 1874 gave the estimated revenue at £48,984,000. At the close of the year the Regular estimate gave ground for expecting £50,070,000. The sum actually realized was £50,570,177, that is to say, it was better than the Regular estimate by £500,177.

The ordinary expenditure was taken in the budget at £47,792,000. In the Regular estimate it was raised to £48,181,000. The actual charge stands at £48,013,187, or less than the Regular estimate by £167,813.

Thus, taking the whole account, the actual figures are better than the Regular estimate formed at the close of last year, by £667,990. It follows that the surplus then anticipated of £1,889,000 turned out actually to be a surplus of £2,556,990.

This large and gratifying surplus is irrespective of the Famine expenditure in Bengal. The famine charges of the year 1874-75 were £2,237,860; and if we include them in the account, the surplus is reduced from £2,556,990 to £319,130.

	Receipts.	Expenditure.	Surplus.
Ordinary Account—
Regular ...	50,070,000	48,181,000	1,889,000
Actuals ...	50,570,177	48,013,187	2,556,990
Famine charges added—
Actuals ...	50,570,177	50,251,047	319,130

In estimating the normal surplus of 1874-75, it is proper to add that the Famine caused an increase of guaranteed-railway earnings of about £170,000, and that the loan of Five millions taken at home, diminished the entry of "Loss by exchange" by about £400,000; but even deducting these items, it will still be seen that the surplus, but for the Famine, would have been nearly Two millions sterling.

The improvement of the actual figures for the year over those of the Regular estimate is mainly due to the Land Revenue collections towards its close having been better than was expected in Madras, Oudh, and Bombay by £213,793. On the other hand, the Famine expenditure was below the sum estimated by £204,140.

For the rest, the Army receipts were better than estimated by £19,845; and the Opium Revenue by £36,629. Customs and Salt were also more productive by £75,780 than anticipated. The "Miscellaneous" entry shews an advance on the Revenue side of £53,144, owing to a large amount of lapsed deposits credited in Bombay; and an improvement also on the expenditure side of £12,963, due chiefly to the call for payments on the Government shares in the Bank of Bombay being adjusted under Debt. These shares having been since sold, it was thought better to adjust the account of both transactions under Debt, than to swell the Revenue of 1875-76 by the price of shares. Marine shows an excess of charge, £88,046, mainly owing to the Duffla expedition and also to the relief operations in Bengal. None of the other variations are of sufficient magnitude to call for remark.

The Extraordinary expenditure on reproductive works was put by the Regular estimate at £1,035,000; the amount actually expended was £1,249,566.

Regular Estimate, 1875-76.

REGULAR ESTIMATE, 1875-76.—We proceed to the accounts of the year about to expire. Of these we have the actual figures for at least ten months; in some of the entries for eleven months; and in a few we have the returns by telegraph almost to the close of the year. Thus the Regular estimate gives actual figures for by far the greater part of the year, and the conclusions shewn by it may be accepted as a fair approximation to what the facts will eventually prove.

The Budget and Regular estimates of ordinary revenue and expenditure shew the following results: The income was estimated at £49,820,000. It is expected to be £50,991,000; that is, it will probably be better than the estimate by £1,171,000.

The charges were estimated at £49,314,000. They will probably amount to £49,088,000; that is, they will be less than the estimate by £226,000.

The surplus was estimated at £506,000; it is expected to be £1,903,000.

But these figures, as before, are irrespective of Famine charges. Including them, the surplus falls from £1,903,000 to £1,247,000.

	Receipts.	Expenditure.	Surplus.
Ordinary Account, Budget ...	49,820,000	49,314,000	506,000
Regular estimate	50,991,000	49,088,000	1,903,000
Add Famine charges	50,991,000	49,744,000	1,247,000

Apart, therefore, from the Bengal famine, nothing could be more assuring than the manner in which thus far the finance of the current year has answered to the expectations of the budget; and the improvement, especially on the Revenue side, has been spread over almost every head of the Account; while on the expenditure side the causes of increase will be satisfactorily accounted for below.

Bengal Famine Expenditure.

The Famine charge of £656,000 has fallen upon the year 1875-76 instead of having been settled before in consequence of the difficulty found in adjusting the accounts of expenditure between the Local and Provincial accounts of the Bengal Government.

The following figures shew the estimates and expenditure for famine charges for each year:—

	Estimate.	Expenditure.
1873-74	3,920,000	3,861,673
1874-75	2,580,000	2,237,860
1875-76	.....	656,000
	6,500,000	6,758,533

There is a set-off of about £170,000 from this sum for increased traffic receipts for Railways; the net charge to Imperial revenues being £6,588,533. The estimate given in the budget for 1874-75 was 6½ millions. In the budget for last year it was hoped that the charge would have been somewhat less; this expectation has not been realized, but it is creditable to Sir Richard Temple that the estimates framed at first have proved to be so accurate.

We shall now explain the chief variations in detail between the budget and the estimate as now revised.

Opium Revenue, 1875-76.

As heretofore, the greatest disturbing cause has been Opium, which gives us a probable increase over the budget estimate of £483,000.* And this result has been attained notwithstanding that in framing the budget, the net estimate for Opium was raised a quarter of a million in excess of the estimates of previous years; and notwithstanding also that certain drawbacks, such as a deficient stock in Malwa and some combination there for a time to stop the export of opium, have militated against the revenue. It is clear that this branch of income may with safety be dealt with at a still higher estimate than that of the expiring year.

Opium.		£
* Revenue above estimate	...	399,000
Charges below estimate	...	84,000
TOTAL	...	483,000

Putting now aside the Famine charges and Opium surplus, the net improvement in the income of the year amounts to £914,000, which is attributable to the following causes:—

Improvement on Budget receipts for 1875-76.

First as to income. The estimates have proved insufficient but in a very few cases.

DEFICIENCIES AS COMPARED WITH ESTIMATE, FEW.

Land Revenue shews £7,000 less than was estimated. This is entirely due to losses from drought in Madras, which were at first estimated by the Local Government at no less a sum than £120,000. The general improvement throughout the empire is, however, so sure and steady that it is not improbable the full estimate may, notwithstanding this drawback, be yet attained.

EXCESS UPON THE ESTIMATES.

Tributes.—The increase of £23,000 is due to an under-estimate of the contribution from the Maharaja of Jodhpur, and to certain unexpected succession fees.

Forest, £52,000; general improvement.

Excise, £118,000. This branch of the revenue is steadily rising.

Customs.—Increased receipts £35,000; increased expenditure £8,000; net increase £27,000. The changes in duty effected by the Tariff Act were calculated at a total loss on the budget estimate of £366,000 (including the altered valuations), to be recouped by compensatory duties on spirits and a few other articles, in a sum amounting to about £100,000; or a net loss (exclusive of £42,000 allowed for in the budget by anticipation for lowered valuations) of £266,000. But the Customs Revenue has been peculiarly productive this year. In the beginning of August, when the measure was enacted, the income had already risen £117,000 above the estimate for the first four months, and we then looked for a loss on the estimate of this year of about £70,000. But the growth of income has been so successfully maintained that, instead of a deficit, we now not only find the loss of the revenue for the last 8 months, which was estimated at £177,000, entirely recouped, but we actually look for a surplus over the estimate, as well as over the revenue of the previous year, of £27,000 net.

Salt.—The administration of this department has been highly successful, and the revenue is steadily advancing. The gross income of 1874-75 was £6,227,301. The budget estimate for 1875-76 was £6,208,000; we now expect £6,286,000, that is, an improvement of £78,000; or, deducting increased charges, £62,000 net.

Stamps shew an increase over the estimate of £31,000, and a saving in expenditure of £17,000, being a total improvement of £48,000. This source of revenue, taken in conjunction with Law and Justice (from which much revenue has recently been transferred to the head of Stamps), is advancing though slowly yet steadily.

The Mints give a surplus over the estimate of £34,000, or net £17,000, mainly due to an unexpected coinage of copper.

The Post Office, estimated to yield £735,000, is expected to give £759,000, that is, an increase of £24,000, or net £23,000.

Telegraph.—Receipts estimated at £290,000; will yield probably £303,000, or an increase of £13,000, owing chiefly to the failure of the Red Sea Cable, which threw an extra amount of traffic on the Indo-European Lines. As there is an increase of expenditure of £9,000, the net improvement is £4,000. This is notwithstanding the purchase of the lines of the Bombay, Baroda, and Central India Railway Company for £26,000. The gross revenue from Telegraph is increasing.

Receipts in aid of Superannuation and other allowances.—There is an increase in this year's apparent receipts of £116,000, caused by the retirement from the Bengal Medical Fund of above one hundred subscribers whose accumulated subscriptions £145,000 had to be repaid. To meet this charge, the whole balance at credit of the Fund was transferred in account, thus swelling the estimate; and it was insufficient to cover the expenditure. The Fund has accordingly become exhausted, and there will be a consequent deficit in the account for the ensuing year.

Gain by exchange, £49,000, will be found partly counterbalanced by loss on the opposite side of the sheet.

Miscellaneous.—Here the improvement of £92,000 is due mainly to the sale of the shares belonging to Government in the Bank of Bombay,—a transaction not contemplated when the budget was drawn up.

Army.—There is an improvement of £104,000 under this head.

Public Works shew a failure of £23,000, which is due to the Wurôra Colliery not having been brought into operation during the year, and also to decreased fees at Cooper's Hill.

State Railways increased their receipts from £130,986 in 1874-75, to £277,000, or by £146,000. The growth will be nearly as rapid in the coming year.

Improvement in Expenditure, 1875-76.

Proceeding now to the expenditure for 1875-76: the saving of £35,000 in Interest is owing to the Loan of this year having been taken later than was at first anticipated, and to the whole interest due in the year not having been drawn.

Refunds, £18,000 better than estimate.

Opium.—A saving of £84,000. The expenditure depends on the season; but £2,200,000 seems to be about the normal figure.

Stamps, £17,000; a saving in supplies from England.

Guaranteed Railway Interest.—This heading shews the large improvement of £581,000. The chief part of the improvement is caused by a transfer in account; £330,000 expended on repairs to damages occasioned by flood, were in a former year charged against Revenue. This has now been debited against Capital and a corresponding credit has been made to Revenue. But there has been also a large real growth of £251,000 in the revenue of the year, being partly normal increase of traffic, and partly increase of traffic due to the stimulus to travelling caused by the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

The following are the most noticeable excesses of expenditure over the budget estimate:—

Interest on Service Funds and other accounts, £15,000. Increase in Savings Bank balances.

Salt, £16,000. Increase of stock at Madras covered by increased revenue.

Administration, £87,000, caused by unusual demands for stationery from England.

Minor Departments, £10,000, arising from the payment to the Asiatic Society of Bengal of £15,000 as compensation for their claim to accommodation in the new building constructed for the Indian Museum.

Marine, £67,000. The excess is caused by the necessity to provide a Light-ship for the Sandheads, and a Dredger for Cochin.

Allowances and Assignments, £10,000; an advance to meet the marriage expenses of daughters of the King of Oudh.

Superannuation allowances, £128,000; due to the repayment of £145,000 to retiring members of the Bengal Medical Fund, as already explained.

Loss by exchange.—The rate taken in the budget was 1*s.* 9·87*d.* In the earlier months the drawings of the Secretary of State were not unfavourable; but as the year advanced, the rate rapidly fell, and for the last two months the Home Government ceased to sell any bills on India. To the end of January £12,976,000 had been raised at the cost of Rs. 14,38,62,000; so that the loss amounted to £1,410,000 calculated at the rate of 2*s.* per rupee, to which £15,000 must be added for miscellaneous items. The loss estimated in the budget was £1,390,000; and the increased charge is £35,000. It would, of course, have been very much greater had the full amount estimated (£14,300,000) been negotiated in the ordinary way.

Provincial allotments.—There is an advance on the estimates of £85,000 mainly in consequence of grants to Madras in aid of repairing damages by flood in Nellore, an additional grant to Burmah of £50,000, and a similar grant to Assam of £13,000.

Public Works Ordinary cost more than the estimate by £88,000. Additions had to be made to the grant during the year, amounting to £78,000; and £10,000 were added by the Secretary of State by transfer from the Army on account of furlough allowances.

State Railways shew an excess of £41,000; but this is more than covered by increased income.

Land and Supervision for Railways.—The over-expenditure of £4,000 is on account of land required for a Church and recreation ground at Parell for the employés of the Bombay Railways.

The expenditure for Public Works extraordinary, (i. e., reproductive) was estimated at £4,300,000. It is now expected to be £4,143,000.

Budget of 1876-77

BUDGET OF 1876-77.—Having now explained the Regular estimate of 1875-76, and shown the circumstances under which the expected charges vary from those of the budget as framed last year, we proceed to consider the budget for the ensuing year 1876-77.

Affected by the fall in the value of Silver.

In approaching the budget of 1876-77, we are met at the threshold by the depreciation of silver in relation to gold and the fall in the rate of exchange, and by the consequent excess in the cost of supplying the Home Treasury with funds to meet the expenditure in England. Last year a fair and reasonable rate to be sustained as an average was assumed at 1*s.* 9·87 for the rupee, giving a debit against India (on £14,300,000 at the rate of 2*s.* per rupee) of £1,390,000. But during the year, an unexpected disturbance has depressed the silver market, and after many sudden and spasmodic fluctuations, we can hardly at the present moment calculate on a rate which shall not be largely below what was considered last year to be safe. Now, a fall to such an extent, when calculated on the Fifteen millions sterling to be remitted by India to England, is equivalent to an additional charge of above a Crore of rupees. Consequently, if our estimates had been framed, with the same rate of exchange as last year, to yield the surplus of even a Million sterling, the whole of that surplus would be swallowed up by this single item of Exchange.

This, stated broadly, is very much what has actually happened in our budget estimates for the coming year. Apart from the sudden depression in the exchange, a satisfactory growth in every branch of the revenue would have enabled us to shew the surplus of a Million sterling. Before considering the cause which not only threatens the loss of this surplus, but hangs heavily upon our future, it will be advisable to review as usual the details of Revenue and Expenditure, and to explain the nature, extent, and reasons of the gain or loss apparent under the several heads of account.

Estimate of Receipts for 1876-77.

On the Revenue side, the first point to be noticed is that we have taken opium at Six millions sterling net. It was mentioned in the last Financial Statement, that for several years the estimate for opium had never been put above Five and a half millions net, notwithstanding that the actual revenue year by year would have justified a much higher estimate; an increase of a quarter of a million was taken accordingly for 1875-76, placing the estimated net revenue for that year at Five millions and three quarters. The Regular estimate justifies us in expecting a net revenue of £6,233,000, and this, as has already been shewn, in the face of some drawbacks. The average net revenue from opium during the past eight years has been £6,524,000,* and it has never in any one year fallen as low as Six millions; consequently we have felt no hesitation in taking the budget estimate for the coming year at Six millions net. The increase has been taken by raising the receipts by £150,000, and diminishing the expenditure by £100,000. As opium is one means by which China is paid for the tea it gives to England, the difficulty in the exchange transactions with the East will probably tend to quicken the export of opium in the coming year; and this may be held an additional reason for taking a fuller estimate than hitherto. Looking to the past there is every reason to anticipate that even this estimate will be exceeded; but as we are taking a quarter of a million more than we did last year, the excess on the estimate, whatever it may turn out, will of course be, by so much, less;—a point which must not be left out of view in judging of the margin on the entire budget.

* 1868-69	6,731,000
1869-70	6,131,000
1870-71	6,032,000
1871-72	7,657,000
1872-73	6,871,000
1873-74	6,324,000
1874-75	6,215,000
1875-76 (Regular estimate) ...	6,233,000
Average ...	£6,524,000

Land Revenue shews an increase of £9,000, notwithstanding that a loss of about £40,000 is anticipated from drought in Madras. This branch of the revenue grows slowly but surely.

Tributes.—Here there is a falling off of £23,000 partly from the capitalization of the Indore tribute having been completed, and the consequent cessation of income from that quarter; and partly from certain succession fees realized in 1875-76 not being likely to recur next year.

Forest shews a small net decrease in the estimates; but we hope to reach at least the same net revenue as in the current year.

Excise.—The revenue under this head is rising rapidly; the income of 1875-76 shews, as we have seen, a net increase of £117,000, and we look for a further advance in the coming year of £35,000. This increase, if realized, will be obtained, not from increased consumption, but, as we trust, from a more effective administration of the department and from the increase of the duty on spirit (from Rs. 3 to Rs. 4 per gallon), which, if illicit dealings be suppressed, should tend materially towards the lessening of consumption.

Customs.—The Customs Revenue of the expiring year is so prosperous (being the highest, in point of fact, since 1861-62), that we have hesitated to take it as the standard for next year. Commerce has no doubt been stimulated to some perceptible extent by the relief granted in the Tariff Act; but we are yet too near the event to calculate with confidence what will be the permanent rebound of trade from that cause. On the other hand, there was a loss of about £308,000 from reduction of tariff duties and values; and as this did not take effect till one-third of the year had passed, we must reduce the present year's estimate by £85,000, or say from £2,705,000 to £2,620,000. In refraining from a higher estimate, the possible effect of the exchange in deranging trade has not been lost sight of.

1875-76	... ...	2,705,000

Salt.—The revenue under this head is in a highly prosperous condition, as well in Madras and Bombay as on the Inland line. In Bengal the receipts have fallen considerably (by about £100,000); this is attributable partly to duty formerly levied at Calcutta on salt imported from Bombay, being now taken prior to export at Bombay; the cheaper salt of Madras has also been pushing its way towards Orissa; and similarly the measures in progress for cheapening the western salts are believed to be producing a corresponding result by displacing sea-borne salt on the confines of Behar and the North-Western Provinces. The sum realized in all India for salt in 1874-75 was £6,227,300; in 1875-76 we expect £6,286,000. For 1876-77 we have not thought it prudent to take the estimate higher than £6,300,000.

Stamps.—There is here a steady growth of about £25,000 per annum; and we have ventured, though against the practice of previous budgets, to calculate upon the greater part of this increase for next year. The revenue of 1874-75 was £2,758,000—we expect £2,815,000 in 1875-76; and we have taken £2,837,000 for next year. Every effort will be made to render this branch of the revenue, which suffers to some extent from fraud and evasion, more effective. To secure these objects, certain revisions of the existing law are now under consideration.

The Mints are estimated to bring a somewhat larger income than in the current year, and the charges are also decreased.

The Post Office, which yielded £739,400 in 1874-75, is expected to give £759,000 in the present year, and £778,000 in the next. The increase of charge, as will be seen from the opposite sheet, is £26,000, so that there will be a net decrease of £7,000. There would have been a considerable net improvement but for the intended reduction of English postage from 8 to 6 annas. Considering, however, the value of the concession in reduced English postage to the public, this small loss need not be grudged, and it will indeed probably, in the course of time, be recouped by increased correspondence.

Telegraph.—As before explained, the increase of receipts in the expiring year was caused by the stoppage of the Red Sea line, which stimulated the business of the Indo-European lines. The Red Sea line being now repaired, the increase in 1874-75 of £13,000 must be foregone in the coming year; and it appears, therefore, as a falling off.

Law and Justice.—This head remains unaltered. Such improvement as is possible has been considered under Stamps, to which, as already observed, there have been of late from this head considerable transfers.

Marine shews little change.

Interest.—The falling off of £50,000 is caused chiefly by the sale of the Government shares in the Presidency banks.

Receipts in aid of Superannuation and other allowances.—The large falling off under this head of £156,000 has been explained in the remarks for 1875-76. It arises from the retirement from the Bengal Medical Fund of above 100 subscribers, and the exhaustion of the balances at the credit of that fund. But there is a corresponding reduction of £148,000 on the opposite page, so that the net decrease is only £8,000.

Gain by exchange.—There was an improvement in 1875-76 of £49,000. The gain in the coming year is estimated at £27,000 less than that.

Miscellaneous.—There was an increase on the estimate for 1875-76 of £92,000, arising from certain unforeseen credits not likely to recur. The estimate for next year accordingly anticipates that the income will be less than in this year by £13,000.

Army.—The receipts are estimated to fall short of the budget figures of the current year by £29,000, and of the Revised estimate for the same by £133,000. This is partly due to the exclusion of certain transfer adjustments from both sides of the account.

Public Works.—The receipts are estimated at more than those of the expiring year by £12,000.

Irrigation shews an estimated decrease in income of £2,000. The revenue is growing; but it is subject to fluctuations, as the water is more in demand in some seasons than in others; for example, favorable rain has limited the necessity for irrigation in the Punjab during the present year.

State Railways.—Here we have a rapidly growing revenue. In 1874-75 the gross income was £130,986; in 1875-76 we expect £277,000; and in the coming year the receipts are estimated at £415,000, being an advance of £138,000. Putting the charges at £297,000, we expect from this source a net return of no less than £118,000.

Review of receipts from all Civil Departments.

We have now gone over all the heads of income, and may review the entire result. We find, then, that the Civil Departments as a whole (omitting the four last heads which belong to the Army and Public Works) promise to yield us in the coming year £48,577,000. The budget estimate of the same departments for the expiring year was £48,057,000; so that the estimated income of the coming year is better than that of the current, by £520,000; or, if we deduct the increase taken on the opium estimate, by £370,000.

Same receipts, adding Army and Public Works.

Adding now the remaining four heads, we find that the aggregate of all our receipts amounts to £50,480,000, compared with the corresponding entry in the budget for 1875-76 of £49,820,000; that is, it is better by £660,000 than last year's estimate; or, making allowance for the Opium increment, by £510,000.

As most of the improvement is the out-come of a progressive advance in the leading branches of the revenue, it may be safely concluded that the sources of Imperial income are in a sound condition; and indeed, that they never gave better promise of prosperity.

Estimates of Expenditure in 1876-77.

Turning now to the expenditure of the coming year, we shall find that, apart from the question of exchange, the estimates are upon the whole not less satisfactory than those of the revenue.

Interest.—Here the estimate is a growing one, in consequence of the amount borrowed last year, and also of the arrangements proposed for the present year, as will be further explained below. The excess over the Revised estimate of the expiring year is £187,000.

The funded debt at the close of 1875-76 is estimated as follows:—

Rate of interest.	In rupees.	In sterling.	Total sterling (£1 = Rs. 10).	Interest.
5½ ...	10,20,06,700	..	10,200,670	561,037
5 ...	1,09,59,000	17,200,000	18,295,900	914,795
4½ ...	16,02,65,700	...	16,026,570	721,196
4 ...	45,31,20,415	32,380,116	77,692,157	3,107,686
3½ ...	6,52,000	...	65,200	2,282
Nil ...	6,09,300	25,167	86,097	...
TOTAL ...	72,76,13,115	49,605,283	122,366,594	5,306,996

Thus the total funded debt of India (irrespective of £96,000,000 the capital of Guaranteed Railways) is £122,366,594, and the average interest 4·33696 per cent. Provision is made in 1876-77 for a full year's interest on the existing debt and for interest on the sum which may be borrowed in the coming year.

The sum of £2,500,000 was raised in India by loan in 1875 at an average premium of Rs. 2-4-1⅗ per cent.; £110,000 was received from the Maharaja Holkar, and £250,000 is in course of receipt from Maharaja Sindhia; £60,000 was received from the Maharaja of Punnah, and £20,000 from the Raja of Dhenkanal.

The premium received in 1875-76 (credited under debt) was £58,268.

The following statement will prove of interest as shewing the proportion of the registered rupee debt which is held by Europeans and by natives of the country respectively:—

Interest on Service Funds, &c., remains steady.

Refunds.—£300,000 is found to be the sum that must ordinarily be provided under this head, which cannot be closely estimated in detail. It is £18,000 in excess of the Revised estimate for the current year.

Land Revenue.—A small decrease of £29,000, chiefly in consequence of reduced Settlement establishments.

Forest also shews a slight reduction.

Excise, Customs, Salt, and Stamps, show variations so small as to require no special remark.

Mint.—A decrease of £13,000 already touched upon; as also the increase of £26,000 in Post Office and decrease of £5,000 in Telegraphs.

Administration affords the considerable decrease of £107,000 in consequence of a smaller demand for stationery, and also of the transfer of the Indian Museum in London to "Minor Departments."

Minor Departments.—This head, notwithstanding the above transfer, gives a decrease of £22,000 from retrenchments in Surveys and other savings.

Law and Justice.—The expenditure under this head, which tends constantly to grow, has increased in the coming year's estimate by £32,000. This is due to an improvement in the position of the Punjab Judicial Establishments, and also to measures for raising the salaries of ministerial establishments in the Bombay presidency and Scinde.

Marine gives a saving over the Regular estimate for 1875-76 of £80,000, owing to the extra charges for that year already explained not having been repeated in the present.

Ecclesiastical and Medical call for no remarks.

Allowances and Assignments are less by £9,000, the charges for the Ex-King of Oudh's family before explained, not recurring in 1876-77.

Superannuation allowances.—The decreased charge has been explained under the corresponding head on the opposite page.

Loss by exchange.—Reserved for further explanation.

Allotments for Provincial Services.—The extra grants of 1875-76 will not be repeated in the coming year, thus giving a retrenchment of £84,000.

Famine relief.—There will be no charge on this account next year.

The Army.—We have here a large increase on the budget estimate for 1875-76 of £296,000, and on the Regular estimate of no less than £654,000. It occurs almost entirely on account of Home charges for European troops and supplies for the same. But it is to a considerable extent nominal,—payments expected to occur in 1875-76 having been postponed to 1876-77.

Public Works.—The Government have been obliged, with much regret, to reduce the grant by £122,000 from the amount assigned in 1875-76 for Military works and other buildings; hence the improvement under this head.

State Railways.—As the system rapidly extends, and new lengths are being opened for traffic, increased establishments and working charges become necessary; and these are represented by the enhancement in charge of £76,000. But, as we have seen, the expenditure will be amply recouped by a growing revenue.

Guaranteed Interest less net traffic receipts.—The net charge for interest will be very much the same as in 1874-75, although the receipts were in that year swelled by increased traffic in grain caused by the famine. Compared with 1875-76, however, there is an increase of net charge for interest, amounting to £258,000, which arises from the transfer in 1875-76 of a considerable sum from Revenue to Capital, as before explained. The following are the estimated net traffic-receipts, compared with those of the two previous years; and when we take into account the special receipts of the Railways, in 1874-75 owing to the Famine, and in 1875-76 in consequence of the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, the prospect may be held encouraging.

REVIEW OF THE TOTAL EXPENDITURE IN THE CIVIL DEPARTMENTS.

Reviewing, as before, the expenditure for the purely Civil Departments, we shall first compare the charges, omitting the two heads of Famine and Loss by exchange, with those of former years. In 1874-75 the expenditure was £27,752,000. The budget estimate for 1875-76 was £27,733,000; and the Regular estimate is £28,278,000. The budget estimate for the coming year is £27,843,000; so that we have an estimated decrease in the charges of £435,000.

THE SAME, ADDING ARMY AND PUBLIC WORKS.

If to this account we add the remaining heads for Army and Public Works, we find the results still favorable. The budget estimate for the current year on all these heads was £47,924,000; and the Regular is £47,663,000. The estimate for 1876-77 is £48,004,000, being little more than the amount in the current year, notwithstanding the largely increased charge for the present budget for the Army. It is clear, therefore, that our expenditure is well in hand; and that, upon the whole, credit may be claimed for the budget estimates having been generally prepared and checked with great care and a due advertence to economy.

EFFECT ON BUDGET OF FALL IN EXCHANGE.

Let us now consider what the surplus would have been, taking the "Loss by exchange" at no greater amount than the estimates of former years. If we had had the same charge under this head as in 1874-75, (viz., a remittance of £10,841,614 at an exchange of 1*s.* 10·22*d.* per rupee), our present budget would have shewn a surplus of £1,578,122; and if we could even have taken the same charge as in the current year, when £1,390,000 were estimated for "Loss by exchange," (at the rate of 1*s.* 9·87*d.* per rupee), we should still have had a surplus of £1,086,000. Nothing can more fully establish the sound and satisfactory condition of the finances, apart from the remittances to England, than do these figures.

The change which has since come over the money market, however, has left us no option but to assume a rate so greatly below that which was adopted last year that it would entirely swallow up the surplus just mentioned, and more than that surplus, if taken upon a remittance of Fifteen millions which is the anticipated requirement for the coming year of the Indian Government in England. But if any part of this sum were borrowed in England, the cost of providing for the charge would be proportionately diminished. It becomes necessary, then, at this stage of the Financial Statement, to anticipate the question of Ways and Means in general, and of a Loan in particular, with the view of explaining the conclusions which, after due communication with Her Majesty's Government, have been adopted in respect of the loan transactions of the year.

POLICY OF BORROWING FOR REPRODUCTIVE WORKS HOW AFFECTED.

The sudden depreciation of silver, and the consequent enhancement of charge to the Government of India in laying down yearly the sum required in England of about Fifteen millions sterling, without doubt cast a grave shadow on the future. In truth, it may be said that the danger, from whatever point of view considered, is the gravest which has yet threatened the finances of India. War, famine, and drought have often inflicted losses on the Exchequer far greater than the charge which threatens us in the present year. But such calamities pass away; the loss is known and limited; and when it has been provided for, the finances again stand on sure and stable ground. This is not the case with the present cause of anxiety. Its immediate effects are serious enough, as has been already shewn. But that which adds significance to it is that the end cannot be seen; the future is involved in uncertainty. It may be that in the course of time the difficulty will be lessened or removed; it may be that the depreciation will continue, and involve the Government of India in embarrassments more serious even than those it now contemplates. It would at the present moment be unwise to speculate on either of these alternatives.

Accepting, then, the situation as grave and anxious, and the future as uncertain, the Government of India feels bound to review its position in respect of the considerable expenditure hitherto made year by year on Reproductive works from funds raised, as found necessary, by public loan. With a sudden loss in the year's estimate of a Million sterling, and with no assurance that the loss may not, for a time at least, assume still larger dimensions, the Government has felt that it is not now justified in adding to our future obligations by incurring any avoidable debt, even for the construction of works admitted to be beneficial to the country and in themselves remunerative. The Government of India would therefore, if it had been practicable, have altogether refrained, under the present aspect of affairs, from borrowing money for this purpose.

But such a course could not have been taken in the present year without great loss. The public works under construction are well in hand for gradual completion and eventual reduction of expenditure. But it will be evident that a sudden and extensive check would be both highly wasteful and on its merits inexpedient. Material has been provided; and it would be a spendthrift policy leaving it unused, if not even leaving it to deteriorate. Establishments have been entertained on a large scale for the rapid completion of the works; and these establishments cannot now be thrown adrift, or even at once materially diminished, without an expenditure in compensation that would swallow up the saving. It is also of much importance at the earliest possible period to complete the projects which are in course of construction, in order that the capital already expended on them may speedily bring in a return of revenue. This consideration applies both to Canals and Railways, but especially to the latter. It has been shewn in a former part of this Statement how productive the State railways are every year becoming; it would be a mistaken policy, therefore, not to press to completion those which are now in hand. But the Government of India, though thus unable immediately to stop the expenditure from borrowed funds, are resolved at once to contract the sphere of operations so far as it can be done with a due advertence to the considerations just advanced. In the programme of work for the coming year, an expenditure was contemplated of Four millions sterling. The estimate has been reduced (mainly by retrenchments from the irrigation budget) to £3,759,000. And so long as the present adverse prospects continue, this class of expenditure will be gradually diminished, so as in the end, if need be, entirely to obviate borrowing for the purpose. Speaking broadly, the works in hand, both for Irrigation and State Railways, are estimated at a further cost of Fourteen millions, or deducting the sum to be spent in 1876-77, Ten millions and a quarter.* This is the limit of our present liability.

The same considerations must weigh with the Government of India in contracting as far as possible the loans which it has heretofore freely made to municipalities and native states. So long as the cash balances were overflowing, this was one of the most useful ways in which they could be employed. But a strain will now be put upon our reserves, and consequently the resources hitherto used for the purpose will no longer be available, except in cases of unusual urgency.

LOAN OF £3,000,000. It has been shewn that the Extraordinary expenditure for Reproductive works is estimated at £3,759,000. In order to provide this, and still to leave a sufficient closing balance, it is necessary that a sum of £3,000,000 be raised on loan. With this assistance, it is calculated that we may end the year with an aggregate cash balance of £15,228,540; of which £13,552,614 would be in the Treasuries in India, and £1,675,926 in the Home Treasury.

Of the loan of Three millions, it is expected that £360,000 will be received from the Maharajas Scindia and Holkar in aid of the Railways under construction in their States; and this will leave £2,640,000 to be borrowed by Her Majesty's Secretary of State in England. It would obviously, with the present uncertainty hanging over silver, and the disturbed condition of the money-market in India, have been contrary to good policy to raise the loan in India.

To the extent, then, of £2,640,000, the Home Treasury will be provided by loan in England, and the Secretary of State's drawings upon India will be by so much diminished. Instead of being Fifteen millions, with the additional sum of a Million and a half to make up for short drawings in the current year, they will be reduced to £13,660,000; and on this sum we estimate the loss by exchange at £2,332,000. The estimate has been framed on the best assumptions which it is in the power of the Government at the present moment to make; but in view of the instability of the Exchange-market and the violent oscillations that have recently occurred, it is impossible to foretell results, or to say that the loss may not be much greater. The effect of borrowing, as proposed, in England will be to diminish in our accounts the "Loss by exchange" by £450,000.

WHOLE EXPENDITURE, 1876-77. We are now in a position to estimate the entire expenditure for the coming year, including the sum which we have taken for Loss by exchange, and we find the grand total of ordinary charge to be £50,336,000. The budget estimate for the expiring year was £49,314,000; the excess of £1,022,000, as has been explained, is almost wholly attributable to Loss by exchange.

It has been seen that we look for an income of £50,480,000; consequently the budget shews the surplus of £144,000.

The position, then, of the Government of India is this: Owing to our great remittances to England, the future of our finance, and the success even of the present budget, will essentially depend upon the course of exchange, seeing that at the point to which the rates have become depressed, the variation of even a farthing involves a gain or loss of nearly Two hundred thousand pounds. But the future is enveloped in obscurity. While things remain in the uncertainty which now prevails, it has been deemed sufficient to frame the present budget so that it shall provide equilibrium between expenditure and income; and for the rest, until the problem of the eventual value of silver shall further unfold itself, to economize expenditure, develope every improvable source of revenue, and avoid fresh liabilities. It is at the least satisfactory to know that this misfortune, coming upon us as it has so suddenly and from so unexpected a quarter, finds all the springs of our revenue sound and prosperous;—a conclusion fully established by the present budget.

* In the Irrigation Department the works in hand are estimated at a total cost of £14,336,000. Of this it is estimated that £8,639,000 will have been spent to the close of 1875-76; leaving the Government liable for the completion of these works in a sum of £6,697,000.

Similarly, the total outlay for State Railways now in hand is estimated at £18,100,000: of which £10,780,000 will have been spent to the close of this year; leaving £7,320,000 to be met for their completion.

Or combining both classes of works, the liability of Government would be discharged for their completion by an estimated expenditure of £14,017,000. And as the canal series will not be completed till 1883, this expenditure will be spread over several years.

Cash balances.—What has gone before may supersede the necessity for any detailed explanation of the treasury balances. The closing balance of 1874-75 was taken in the Revised estimate at £18,386,198; it turned out actually to be £17,974,140, the balance in India having been less than was expected. For the current year it was estimated that we should end with the balance of £17,096,593; we expect now that the balance will be only £16,990,840. The combined balance would have been, as a result of the increased surplus, considerably more than this, but for the stoppage of drawings by the Secretary of State during the two last months of the year, and the consequent depletion of the Home Treasury to a greater extent than the Indian Treasuries have benefited by the surplus left in them. CASH BALANCES.

The balance at the close of 1876-77 is now estimated at £15,228,540, viz., £13,552,614 in the Indian and £1,675,926 in the Home Treasury. These are lower reserves than have heretofore been deemed necessary. But in the present state of things, the Government of India would rather undergo some inconvenience from the inadequacy of its working balance, than borrow more than it can possibly avoid.

Loans to Native States, Municipalities, &c.—The following statement of these loans shews that in the five years ending with 1875-76 the net amount advanced has exceeded £2,200,000. LOANS.

1876-77 (Budget Estimate)	448,000

The Army.—The following comparison of the expenditure for the Army during the previous eight years with the estimates of 1875-76 and 1876-77 will be read with interest:— THE ARMY.

1876-77, Budget Estimate	4,121,000	10,980,000	15,101,000

On this statement, Mr. Kellner, Accountant General, Military Department, makes the following remarks: "The expenditure of the first four years ended in 1870-71 included a charge of £90,000 for the Hazara Campaign. The expenditure of the next four years included the following extraordinary charges:—

The Looshai and Duffla Expeditions ...	259,000
Camps of Exercise	90,000
Capitalized value of annuities to retired officers ...	195,000
TOTAL	544,000

"If these extraordinary charges be deducted from the net expenditure of the two periods, the remainder will give an average normal expenditure of £15,187,632 per annum for the first four years, and of £14,347,935 for the four years ended in 1874-75, being a reduction of £839,697 per annum.

"An examination of the returns of the effective strength of British and Indian troops during the same period brings out the following result:—

	British Troops.	Indian Troops.	Total.
Average effective strength from 1867-68 to 1870-71	56,989	122,270	179,259
Average effective strength from 1871-72 to 1874-75	59,993	119,379	179,372

"There were thus 3,000 British troops more, and a like number of Indian troops less, in the later period, the excess being explained by the fact that the effective strength of British troops in the country was considerably below the complement between the years 1867-68 and 1870-71, and the deficiency in the other case by the absorption of supernumerary Native soldiers entertained for the Abyssinian Expedition, and by the recent suspension of recruiting operations in the Madras Native Cavalry. If the average annual expenditure be divided by the average effective strength of British and Indian troops during the two periods (assuming that one British soldier is financially equal to [illegible] Indian soldiers), the rate of expenditure for each man will be found to be £143·4 for the first four years, and £133·1 for the four years ended in 1874-75. And this reduction of expense has been effected simultaneously with considerable improvements in the pay, instruction, and equipment of the soldier."

TRADE STATISTICS, 1874-75.

Trade.—The foreign trade of India on which the prosperity of the Revenue, no less than of the country at large, must so greatly depend, continues to exhibit a steady and satisfactory advance. The imports (excluding stores and treasure on behalf of Government) increased from £37,437,000 in 1873-74, to £42,786,000 in 1874-75; and the exports from £56,840,000 to £57,904,000. The total trade thus rose from £94,277,000 to £100,690,000. The aggregate trade of the four years preceding 1873-74 stood at an average of £98,640,000, the average imports being £40,760,000, and the average exports £57,880,000, indicating a slow but steady increase in both the import and export trade.

Of the imports, the main articles of increase in 1874-75, as compared with 1873-74, were the following: Cotton goods in Bengal shewed an advance of above Two millions; Metals an increase of £384,000, and Liquors of £93,000. In Bombay, Metals shew an advance of £380,000, and Machinery of £166,000.

In regard to exports; in Bengal, Raw Hides and Skins gave an increase of £274,000; Tea of £193,000, and Oil seeds of £543,000. Bombay shews an advance in Raw Cotton of £1,951,000, and Madras a similar increase of £331,000; balanced, however, by a falling off in Bengal to the extent of £253,000. In Seeds, Bombay also gives an increase of £195,000. In Bengal there was a falling off in Indigo to the value of £646,400, and £190,000 in Raw Jute. In Madras also Indigo fell off by £309,000.

The statistics of Tea for the last fourteen years are highly encouraging. The average yearly quantity and value of the stock exported were as follows:—

	lbs.	£
1861-62 to 1863-64	2,215,758	176,231
1864-65 to 1868-69	6,378,869	506,843
1869-70 to 1873-74	16,057,545	1,386,800

FIRST TEN MONTHS OF 1875-76 COMPARED WITH PAST YEARS.

So much for the course of trade to the close of March 1875. The improved arrangements for the compilation of statistics in the Department of Commerce enable us to give the continued progress of commerce to the end of January last, that is, for the first ten months of the official year 1875-76. The following comparison is taken from a memorandum prepared for the purpose in the Statistical Branch of that Department.

In the first ten months of 1873-74, the value of imports was £28,600,000; during the same period of 1874-75 (treasure being about three and a half millions in excess of the previous year), they were £34,800,000; and in the first ten months of 1875-76, £33,800,000. The exports for the same months are valued for 1873-74 at £44,700,000; for 1874-75 at £45,700,000; and for 1875-76 at £47,900,000. Total for 1873-74 £73,300,000; for 1874-75 £80,500,000; for 1875-76 £81,700,000. The advance is thus very marked and well sustained.

Among the items of increasing imports the most striking are these: Machinery, chiefly in Bombay, rose from £750,000 in 1873-74, to £1,200,000. Metals advanced similarly from £1,300,000 to £2,500,000; there is still, however, great room for improvement under this head; for in the two years 1868-69 and 1869-70, the average value annually imported was not less than Three millions and a half. The recent tariff arrangements will no doubt aid this trade.

Turning to exports, we find that Raw Cotton has maintained its position well, rising from 3,440,000 cwts. in 1873-74, to 4,300,000 cwts. in 1875-76. There is also an increase in the export of Cotton Twist and Yarn, which advanced from £105,000 to £197,000.

Wheat shews a great improvement; having been 998,000 cwts. in 1874-75, it rose in 1875-76 to 2,156,000 cwts.; that is to say, the export in the first ten months exceeded considerably the export for the whole year 1873-74, which is the highest on record.

A falling off in Raw Hides and Skins is compensated by a rise in the export of Prepared Hides and Skins from a value of £541,000 in 1874-75 to £988,000; —to which latter result the new tariff, by entirely freeing this article, no doubt materially contributed.

Raw Jute fell off from an export of 5,222,000 cwts. in 1873-74, to 4,159,000 cwts. in 1875-76. But the loss is partly met by the growth in the export of Manufactured Jute, chiefly in the shape of bags for Australia, which advanced from a value of £189,000 in 1873-74 and £182,000 in 1874-75, to £369,000.

Vegetable Oils increased from £197,000 in 1873-74, to £311,000.

But the most marked prosperity has been shewn in the export of Seeds, which increased from 4,632,000 cwts. in the first ten months of 1874-75, to above Eight and a half millions cwts. in the same period of 1875-76;—a success for which to a very great extent the late tariff measure by altogether freeing the trade may justly receive the credit.

Raw Silk declined from £673,000 in 1874-75, to £331,000.

Tea continues its steady advance, having in these ten months improved from a value of £1,591,000 in 1874-75, to £1,900,000 in 1875-76, the quantity being 17,230,000 lbs and 21,250,000 lbs in the two years respectively. This staple is rapidly establishing its character with the English public; while in 1869 the proportion of Indian tea to Chinese in the English market was but one-eleventh, the Statistical Department now estimates the proportion at one-sixth.

Guaranteed Railways—During the year a section of the Southern India line was opened, to which it is chiefly due that the open length of Railway increased from 5,592 miles at the close of 1874, to 5,693 at the close of 1875. The bridge at Cawnpore was also completed, thus establishing through communication between Lucknow and Cawnpore. At the end of this year 334 miles were under construction, of which 117 have since been opened.

The train mileage was less in 1875 than in the preceding year, in consequence of the cessation of grain traffic for the famine.

But passengers increased from 22,783,258, paying £2,127,320, to 24,445,400, paying £2,335,135, an improvement attributable in great measure to the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. The goods traffic, for the cause already specified, fell off from 5,220,740 tons to 4,404,848; and the receipts from £5,143,064 to £4,488,478. The aggregate receipts amounted to £7,061,980, against £7,669,815 in the previous year.

The total capital expended on Guaranteed Railways and the Madras Irrigation and Canal Company, is by the latest account £94,131,484. The gross earnings for 1875-76 were estimated at £7,450,500. They are now expected to reach £8,175,300. This amount has been swollen by the large addition of £330,000, a sum spent formerly on the repair of flood damages, and which has now by transfer been debited to Capital and credited to Revenue. The working expenses for 1875-76 were estimated at £4,107,000; they will probably be £4,291,000. The net traffic income to be appropriated to the guaranteed interest (after deducting £202,583 being moiety of profits payable to shareholders) was estimated at £3,141,000; it will now (after deducting £208,385 as moiety) be £3,685,000. The gross interest payable under guarantee is expected to be £4,687,000; and, as already explained, the net charge (after deducting traffic receipts) estimated at £1,583,000, will probably be not more than £1,002,000.

STATE RAILWAYS.

State Railways.—The length of State Railways open for traffic at the close of 1875 was 616 miles, against 446 at the close of 1874. The additions consisted of 88 miles Rajpootana line; 20 miles of the Holkar line; and 62 of the temporary Metre Railway laid upon the Punjab Northern line. The Rajpootana line has also been brought into through communication with the East Indian Railway by the completion of the Agra bridge. At the close of 1875 the length under construction was 1,184 miles, and that under survey but not commenced, 559 miles.

The total extraordinary expenditure to the close of 1874-75 was £8,522,376; the estimated expenditure in 1875-76, £3,021,550; and the estimate for coming year, £2,850,000, which will raise the entire expenditure, as estimated at the close of 1876-77, to £14,393,926. The marginal statement will shew how rapidly the traffic in the State Railways is increasing, and what excellent prospects exist of a good return to the capital expended. Besides all this, we have the vast advantage to the country in the development of its resources and the social improvement anticipated from the increased facilities given to travelling.

IRRIGATION CANALS.

Canals.—The following brief account of the state and prospects of Irrigation Works throughout India will prove of interest in connection with the expenditure and returns on this head.

North-Western Provinces ...	4,535,690
Punjab ...	2,977,494
Bengal ...	3,651,322
Madras ...	1,773,755

Burmah ...	227,487
Rajpootana ...	112,698
Oudh	44,125
Central Provinces ...	34,258
	£15,047,797

The aggregate capital outlay to the end of 1874-75 on canals for all India may be calculated, as in the margin, at Fifteen millions sterling; but this account is complete only in the Bengal Presidency and Burmah, the accounts of the expenditure in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies under the heads of Capital and Revenue never having been as yet completely adjusted.

The gross direct revenue from irrigation for 1875-76 is estimated at £529,000; but this return is imperfect, because excepting in the North-Western Provinces, the Punjab, and Bengal, the charge for water is are generally included in the Land Revenue in almost all the provinces, and in these three provinces the direct revenue amounts to £507,500, that is, to nearly the whole revenue just stated; so that it is in these three provinces alone that any trustworthy computation can be made as to the degree in which the State is receiving a direct return sufficient to compensate for the capital sunk. Steps are, however, being taken to secure a fair estimate of the proportion of the receipts in other provinces due to water but now credited under Land Revenue; and when these shall have been completed, it will then be possible to give a review of the returns yielded by the capital for all India.

The capital expended on the chief works of irrigation in the three provinces just named, is detailed below, together with the income and working expenses.

		Capital outlay to end of 1874-75.	Revenue of 1875-76. Direct.	Revenue of 1875-76. Indirect.	Working expenses.
		£	£	£	£
N. W. Provinces	Ganges Canal ...	2,767,721	217,010	56,100	104,892

	Tidal ...	179,819	4,400	...	3,008
	Soane ...	1,262,174	6,000	...	11,893

The gross expected direct revenue amounts to £489,155, and the working expenses to £264,512; leaving a net profit of £224,623, or 2·48 per cent. on the capital. Adding the indirect revenue (that is, the improvement in the land revenue attributable to canal irrigation) the total net profit will be £360,043 thus raising the return to 4 per cent. on the outlay. Two of the canals, the Agra and the Soane, yield revenue this year for the first time; but the inclusion of their capital in the above account, while irrigation from them is as yet only partially developed, has reduced the percentage of profit on the canals in use and yielding revenue, which was shewn in last Financial Statement at about 5 per cent. The prospect of rapid development of the revenue from these two canals is good. On the Agra Canal the cultivators are eager for water, although the rates demanded are higher than on any other canal in the North-Western Provinces. On the Soane Canal, in consequence of apprehended drought towards the end of last summer, water was allowed to be taken before the channels for its distribution had been fully constructed. Over a large tract of country the harvest was no doubt thus protected, but the completion of the canal and its distributaries was thereby delayed. It is calculated that the returns on this canal will eventually yield above 8 per cent. on the outlay.

Serious damage was sustained by the Baree Doab Canal in consequence of the unprecedented floods of last September; but the greater portion of the injuries will be repaired before the ensuing monsoon sets in.

The area irrigated in the three provinces by the canals above enumerated during the current year is as follows:—

	Acres.
North-Western Provinces	979,735
Punjab	466,679
Bengal	147,802
Total ...	1,594,216 acres.

This statement shews a very great decrease in the Punjab, arising from the heavy and wide-spread fall during last Rains, and the seasonable showers in the winter months, which enabled the cultivators to dispense to a great extent with artificial irrigation.

The expenditure from Extraordinary funds during the year was as follows:—

North-Western Provinces	350,000
Punjab	283,800
Bengal	418,715
Madras	67,745
Bombay	46,060

In the North-Western Provinces the chief expenditure was on the Lower Ganges Canal, which is making fair progress. The foundations of the great weir at Nurôra will, it is hoped, be completed before the Rains, and the excavation and masonry works are in good train. The remodelling of the Upper Ganges Canal is proceeding steadily; and the works connected with the Agra Canal approach completion.

In the Punjab the chief expenditure (over £260,000) was on the Sirhind Canal, including £80,000 contributed by the States of Puttiala, Jheend, and Nabha, which are sharers in the undertaking. The remainder was chiefly spent on the Baree Doab and Western Jumna Canals, for the latter of which a masonry dam, thrown across the Jumna, successfully withstood the great floods of the autumn.

In Bengal £277,800 were spent on the Soane Canal and the remainder on the Orissa and Midnapore projects.

In Madras the greater part of the money was expended on works connected with the Godavery and Kistna delta systems; and in Bombay on the Moota-moolla and Scinde Canals. These latter advance slowly owing to the difficulty of obtaining labor;—which is the more to be regretted as without canals the greater part of the country would be desert.

PAPER CURRENCY. Paper Currency.—From January to August 1875 the Paper Currency varied but little from Eleven millions. In October it rose above Twelve millions, as it did in the corresponding month of 1873. Since October the amount has continued between Eleven and Twelve millions. There has, however, been considerable activity in the use of the paper as a means of remittance; and this chiefly, as is indicated by the increase of the coin reserve in Upper India, from the interior to the presidency towns.

MONEY ORDERS. Money Orders.—Arrangements have been put in operation for the interchange of money orders with several European countries, but as yet little advantage has been taken of the accommodation thus offered.

SAVINGS BANKS. Savings Banks.—The number of depositors in Savings Banks has increased in the course of the year 1874-75 by about 6,000. It now stands at about 74,000, and the aggregate of deposits at about £1,900,000.

SUMMARY. Summary.—To sum up the most important information and conclusions set forth in this Financial Statement.

For 1874-75 the Regular estimate shewed an expected surplus of £1,889,000; the actual account shews a surplus of £2,556,990.

For 1875-76 we last year estimated for a surplus of £506,000. We now expect the surplus under the Regular estimate to be £1,903,000.

The above figures are exclusive of expenditure on the Famine and on Reproductive works.

In the budget of 1876-77 we estimate for an income of £50,480,000; and for an expenditure of £50,336,000; thus providing for a surplus of £144,000.

The expenditure on Reproductive works has been reduced to £3,759,000.

The budget is based on the expectation that £3,000,000 will be borrowed during the year, and of this £2,640,000 by Her Majesty's Secretary of State in England.

Under this arrangement it is estimated that the cash balance in India will on 31st March 1877 stand at £13,552,614.

The 27th March 1876.

No. 5 of 1876.—The following Notice is published for general information:—

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

INDIAN OCEAN.

VESSELS TRADING TO RÉUNION.

The following Notice has been published by the British Board of Trade:—

"The Board of Trade, in consequence of information which they have received, deem it their duty to caution Owners and Masters of British vessels employed in trading with Réunion, that vessels arriving in the roadstead off that place, between the months of November and March, incur great risk from hurricanes."

In reproducing the above Notice, Mariners are reminded that the island of Réunion possesses no safe ports where ships can be sheltered from bad weather. The attention of Owners and Masters of British vessels is drawn to the great risk incurred by accepting freights for that island to arrive during the hurricane months (November to March), and it is suggested that they should have it distinctly stated in the Charter-party, that the cargo shall be discharged only at the roadstead of St. Denis; as from this position a vessel can, in the event of a hurricane setting in, easily proceed to sea.

The members of His Royal Highness' suite appointed in India were also permitted to take their leave, and at 4 P.M. the Serapis weighed anchor and left for Aden accompanied by Her Majesty's Ship Raleigh and Her Majesty's Royal Yacht Osborne. Royal Salutes were fired from the shore batteries and from Her Majesty's vessels of war anchored in the harbour.

of the Native officers and soldiers who fell in the defence of Lucknow. Near this spot were assembled some of the surviving defenders of the Residency, headed by Sir George Couper, Bart., C.B.

On the arrival of His Royal Highness a Royal Salute was fired and arms were presented by the troops forming the Lucknow Division, who were drawn up in front of the Baillie Guard.

The Chief Commissioner then addressed His Royal Highness in the following words:—

"May it please YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS:

"We are assembled here to-day in honour of the memory of the Native officers and soldiers who fell in defence of the place the ruins of which we see around us.

"It is said by some that the natives of this country are deficient in personal courage and in the qualities of truth and fidelity. I cite the conduct of these men in refutation of these opinions, and I care not if it be replied that the many are not to be judged by the standard of the few. For the nation that could produce such men, only wants the training to produce others like them, and by their example the whole mass can, and will hereafter, assuredly, be lavened.

"I believe the behaviour of the sepoys of Lucknow was simply without a parallel in the annals of the world. The men under Clive at Arcot did, indeed, fight heroically, and voluntarily underwent great privations in order that their European comrades might benefit thereby. But, Sir, their fidelity was not tested like that of these men, who had only the watchword 'fidelity to salt' to sustain them during that period of trial; for not fifty yards off, by day and by night, for days and weeks, their own relations, fellow caste men, and former comrades, abjured them, by name, to save their religion, their race, and all that was dear to them by deserting the infidel alien whose aim was to subject them all to caste degradation, and thereby destroy their well-being in this life, and their hopes of a future. And over and over again have some of those now present heard these splendid fellows refute their assertions, deride their arguments, and defy them to come, in their thousands, and take the post committed to their charge.

"Nor is it only as an example of noble fidelity and self-devotion that the conduct of these men is worthy of commemoration. It had its effect upon the fortunes of the time. For it is certain that had they deserted us, Lucknow must have fallen, and the fall of Lucknow would have set free thousands of trained soldiers to march on Delhi; and I need not say that so large a reinforcement to the ranks of the rebel army would have added enormously to the dangers and difficulties of the matchless handful who held the Ridge.

"Less distinguished services, I think, have been commemorated at the cost of the nation; but it is at his own expense that the illustrious Nobleman who represents Your Royal Highness' Imperial Mother in the government of her Eastern Dominions has directed the erection of the monument of which I am now commissioned respectfully to request Your Royal Highness to be pleased to lay the foundation stone. Your Royal Highness has already taken part, and will hereafter take part, in more conspicuous proceedings than these during your stay in the East, but when Your Royal Highness' visit is over, I would fain hope that the part which you have condescended to take on this spot, consecrated as it is by the blood of the truest and bravest of England and of India, will not occupy the lowest place in your recollections. It will, at least, be historical. For this monument to Indian fidelity and bravery and worth will stand as a memento of Your Royal Highness' presence here when splendid pageants and their attendant ceremonies will have been forgotten. And when it is completed, the Asiatic and the Englishman will alike regard it with national pride. The Englishman, because the deeds of the devoted, though humble, few to whom his country owes so much, have been redeemed from undeserved oblivion by the thoughtful generosity of His Excellency the Viceroy, and by the gracious and kindly aid of Your Royal Highness; and the Asiatic, at the thought that Your Royal Highness, the Heir of Britain and of Hindostan, has done a lasting honour to the memory of the bravest and best of his race."

His Royal Highness replied:—

"That he had received from the Viceroy a request that he would lay the foundation stone of the monument Lord Northbrook proposed to erect to those soldiers of the Native Army who fell in the ever memorable defence of the Residency. His Royal Highness had great pleasure in assenting to the Viceroy's request. He was glad to have a share in doing honour to the memory of these brave men who had set such a noble example of devotion to their duty. After what Sir George Couper had said it was not necessary for him (His Royal Highness) to dwell on the details of deeds of courage and fidelity which had become historically so celebrated.

"But he would express his conviction, that the act of Lord Northbrook in erecting this monument would be most acceptable to all classes of Her Majesty's Army. As they passed it on the way to their Camp, it would be one more memorial of a great military achievement. The Europeans would feel that they had in such men as were here commemorated fellow-soldiers every way worthy to take part in the defence of the empire, and the Native sepoy would feel proud of the men whose deeds of valour and fidelity had reflected such honour on their race and country."

The Prince of Wales then laid the stone in due form, and the troops presented arms.

His Royal Highness was then pleased to receive all the surviving Native officers and soldiers who served during the siege, who were in attendance. These veterans were presented by Major Cubitt, V.C. The Europeans and East Indians who had belonged to the Garrison were also presented to His Royal Highness. On the Prince's departure the troops presented arms, and a Royal Salute was fired. His Royal Highness after visiting the Machi Bhawan Fort returned to Government House.

In the evening His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales attended a fête given in his honour by the Talookdars of Oudh.

As the Prince of Wales entered the north gate of the Kaisar Bagh, a Royal Salute was fired by a Battery stationed on the place. A Guard of Honour was drawn up opposite the staircase of the Baradari.

A deputation of the Talookdars, composed of the President, Vice-President, and Honorary Secretary of the Talookdars' Association, received the Prince of Wales at the foot of the stairs, and conducted His Royal Highness to the dais in the central hall.

The deputation then submitted the following address, and offered for His Royal Highness' acceptance a jewelled head-dress of Lucknow manufacture:—

ADDRESS.

"May it please YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS: We, the Talookdars of Oudh, as faithful subjects of the Empress of India, most humbly and dutifully offer to Your Royal Highness, the illustrious representative of the Royal Family, a cordial welcome to this remote corner of Her Majesty's realm. That Your Royal Highness, after long travels by land and sea, should have deigned to honour us this evening with Your Royal Highness' presence, makes our hearts proud, as well as thankful, and the present occasion, when our eyes have been gladdened by the sight of our future Emperor, will ever remain with us a fond and honoured tradition.

"Although we have owed allegiance to the British Crown for the comparatively brief period of a score of years, we can assure Your Royal Highness that our fealty is as firmly established as if it had been handed down to us through a long succession of dynasties, and we humbly trust Your Royal Highness will convey to our august Empress the assurance that the Talookdars of Oudh, though the last to become Her Majesty's subjects in India, are second to none in the sincerity of their loyalty.

"Nay more, Your Royal Highness, we know that our loyalty to the British Government is both reasonable and right; for it is to the benign rule of Your Royal Mother that we owe the security of our rights and vested interests, as well as the permanence of our position, dignity, and rank as the landed aristocracy of Oudh.

"At the same time, we assure Your Royal Highness that we are grateful to the British Government for its efforts to improve the general condition of the people of the province. We are thankful that reforms are from time to time introduced into every branch of the administration, not abruptly, but gradually; and with that due regard to ancient rights and time-honoured customs, which alone can produce a useful and lasting reform.

"We would further entreat Your Royal Highness to convey to Your Royal Consort our humble assurance that though the boundless ocean prevents us from laying the tribute of our devotion at Her Highness' feet, it is none the less certain that the majesty of her presence reigns supreme in our hearts.

"In conclusion, we humbly approach Your Royal Highness with this modest tribute of our allegiance and gratitude, which we fondly hope Your Royal Highness will deign to accept as a fit emblem of the fealty of the Talookdars of Oudh to the British Crown."

His Royal Highness graciously replied as follows:—

"Talookdars of Oudh: It affords me much pleasure to have an opportunity of meeting you at this entertainment, and I heartily thank you for the warm welcome you have given me in the address now presented. The handsome head-dress which you have been good enough to offer me will ever be preserved as the memento of a visit to which I shall always look back with much pleasure. On my return to England I propose to send you a portrait of myself to be hung in the hall of this institution, and trust that you will accept it in remembrance of this interesting occasion."

No. 822 P.—The following Notification, regarding the arrival at Benares and Agra of His Royal Highness the PRINCE OF WALES, which appeared in a Gazette Extraordinary under orders of the Government of the North-Western Provinces, is re-published for general information :—

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES arrived at Benares on Tuesday, the 4th January 1876, by Special Train at 5-30 P.M. (Railway time.) On the arrival of the Train at the Benares (Rajghât) Railway Station, a Royal Salute was fired from the Fort on the Ganges, opposite the Railway Station.

The Secretaries to the Government of the North-Western Provinces and the Inspector-General of Police, with two of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor's Personal Staff, waited upon His Royal Highness at Buxar, and returned with His Royal Highness to Benares.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces, attended by his Personal Staff, received His Royal Highness on the platform of the Benares Railway Station, where a Guard of Honor was drawn up.

The Hon'ble the Chief Justice of the North-Western Provinces, the Hon'ble the Puisne Judges of the High Court, the Commissioner and Governor-General's Agent, Benares, and the Major-General Commanding the Allahabad Division, were in attendance on the Railway platform, and were presented to the Prince of Wales by the Lieutenant-Governor. The Officers noted in the margin were also in attendance on the Railway Station platform.

The Judge of Benares.
The Magistrate of Benares.
The Officer Commanding the Station.
Aide-de-Camp to the Major-General Commanding the Allahabad Division.

His Highness the Maharaja of Benares and His Highness the Maharaja of Vizianagram were introduced to His Royal Highness by the Lieutenant-Governor.

The PRINCE OF WALES, attended by the Lieutenant-Governor, North-Western Provinces, by His Royal Highness' Suite, and by the Lieutenant-Governor's Personal Staff, proceeded to the Lieutenant-Governor's Camp.

At the Levée held by the Prince of Wales on the 5th January 1876, after presentation of the Officers of Her Majesty's 13th Regiment Native Infantry (Shekawati Regiment), His Royal Highness was pleased to convey to Colonel King, Commanding the Regiment, an expression of regret at being unable to present Colours to the Regiment, as originally proposed, and of sympathy with the disappointment of the Officers and men of the 13th Native Infantry at the omission of the ceremony from the programme, owing to orders, issued in the interests of the public health, in consequence of the sickness in the Regiment.

The following address was delivered by Babu Futteh Narayan Sing on behalf of the Municipality after the Levée :—

"TO THE MOST ILLUSTRIOUS AND MOST PUISSANT PRINCE, ALBERT EDWARD, PRINCE OF WALES, &c., &c., &c.

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS,—We, the Municipal representatives of Benares, desire with profound respect and sincere joy to welcome Your Royal Highness to this ancient town, long justly regarded as the most sacred city of the Hindus, and famous as the seat of their religion, philosophy, and learning.

"This famous city from time immemorial has been associated in the minds of the Hindus with all that is pure and holy in their religion. Here many thousand devout persons of the Hindu faith annually assemble to worship at the sacred shrines and beautiful ghâts, while under British administration all its inhabitants maintain in fullest freedom the rites and ceremonies of their respective faiths.

"For this toleration the citizens of Benares feel deeply grateful to that empire-rule which is centred in the illustrious House whose heir and representative they welcome this day to their city.

"In the Mahabharata Benares is frequently mentioned; and many of its kings are celebrated for their high virtues.

"The traditions of the past are thus renewed in the present; and we recognize in Her Majesty Our Gracious Queen qualities great as those of former monarchs commemorated in the Hindu Epic.

"We humbly request you will convey to your august Mother, our Sovereign the Queen, our thanks for her goodness in permitting us the personal assurance of her interest in her Indian subjects conveyed by Your Royal Highness' presence. We, in common with all classes of the empire, watch with unflagging interest your progress throughout India.

"We pray Your Royal Highness may derive benefit and pleasure from your sojourn in this land, and may return to your family and to your illustrious Consort with health unimpaired.

"We respectfully solicit Your Royal Highness will accept for yourself and your Gracious Princess, and will convey to Her Majesty, our Empress and Queen, the assurance of our unabated loyalty and devotion."

After hearing the above address, His Royal Highness was pleased to reply in the following terms:—

"GENTLEMEN,—I thank you for your address and your welcome to Benares. It is a very sincere pleasure to me to be thus received in this the great centre of all the nations and people of Hindu origin under the British Crown.

"It is a great satisfaction to me to hear from you, who so well know the feelings of your countrymen in all parts of India, that under British administration you enjoy 'in fullest freedom' the right of worship according to the usages of your respective faiths, and that you so highly appreciate that perfect toleration which it has been the unvarying object of Her Majesty to maintain.

"I shall be careful to communicate to the Queen your expressions of loyalty and gratitude. I feel convinced that I may safely assure you it will give Her Majesty sincere pleasure to learn that you so highly estimate the peace, the contentment and general prosperity in which you live, and that you reckon them among the happy characteristics of Her reign.

"Let me also thank you on behalf of the Princess of Wales for your kind expressions regarding her, and for your good wishes for my health and safe return to my family."

At the laying of the foundation-stone of the Benares Subscription Hospital, the Maharaja of Benares presented to His Royal Highness, on behalf of the subscribers, an address in Sanskrit verse of which the following is a translation:—

I.

"Glorious is our Great and Gracious Queen, exalted by high virtues, whose commands Princes love to bear like crowns on their heads.

II.

"Whilst that mighty Empress rules over the earth with justice, the people, in the enjoyment of perpetual happiness, scarcely know what pain is.

III.

"Fostering all her subjects with wisdom, justice, and charity, under her benign rule the arts and sciences flourish with unprecedented vigour, and cast into the shade the fame of bygone monarchs.

IV. & V.

"That ancient Sanskrit language, free from faults and ennobled with many excellences, which loved of yore to dwell in our sacred city, and which, paralysed by the evil times, had almost died away—that language, as if sprinkled every moment with the water of life (amrit), under the benign influence of Her Majesty's rule, has now revived, and charming the ear of the learned like the sweet-voiced Vina, has crossed even the ocean and extended over all the earth.

VI.

"There has, indeed, risen this day a new sun in Kasi; for the flowers of our desires is blooming; all the land around, along with our hopes, is brightening; and like lotuses our hearts are expanded.

VII.

"Happy, indeed, do we deem our fortune as we in Benares see Your Royal Highness to-day—we whose hearts have long yearned in anxiety, never having seen Her Gracious Majesty, or her beloved son, your Royal self.

VIII.

"And now, O Royal Prince, that the reign of our Most Gracious Queen may long extend, and that Your Royal Highness may continue to enjoy the affections of Her devoted subjects, is our most fervent prayer."

On the conclusion of this address, Maulvi Saiad Ahmad Khan, C.S.I., presented to His Royal Highness the following memorandum, showing how the scheme for the hospital first originated:—

"YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS,—This hospital owes its origin to the desire of the native inhabitants of Benares to provide suitable relief for the large number of persons afflicted with many forms of disease in this city and neighbourhood; and they conceive that no more auspicious time for the establishment of such an important and beneficent institution could possibly be selected than that of Your Royal Highness' visit to Benares. As we feel confident that Your Royal Highness has graciously condescended to honor us with Your Royal presence prompted by the highest motives of regard and sympathy for us, so we are assured that Your Royal Highness' good-will could not be more significantly represented than by your Royal name being connected in perpetuity with an institution which has for its object the healing of the diseases and the removing of much of the misery to which the suffering poor of this city are exposed. The hospital will have eight grand divisions. The first, to be called the main building, will be in front, and will consist of two waiting-rooms, two consulting-rooms, two dispensaries for out-patients, and a lecture theatre. There will be five wards for in-patients under medical or surgical treatment—three for males and two for females. There will also be a lying-in ward, and a ward for patients attacked by contagious diseases. The seven wards will really be separate structures, connected, however, by a covered way. Each of the eight buildings will be erected through the generosity either of individuals or of families, and will bear their names, with the exception of one ward to be erected at the expense of the Muhammadan community. In addition, many sums of money, large and small, have been given by native noblemen and gentlemen towards the general expenses of the hospital.

"In conclusion, I would, on the part of the committee of management, and of all the subscribers to the hospital, beg to return Your Royal Highness my most grateful thanks for the distinguished honor Your Royal Highness is conferring on us in presiding over this meeting and laying the foundation-stone of the Prince of Wales' Hospital."

HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS THE PRINCE OF WALES arrived by special train at the Fort Railway Station, Agra, at 4 P.M. on Tuesday, the 25th January 1876, where a Guard of Honor was in attendance.

The procession was closed by a Squadron of the 15th Bengal Cavalry.

A Royal Salute was fired as His Royal Highness entered the grand street of the Camp. At the first gun the Royal Standard was displayed at the Flag-staff, and the National Anthem was played. A Grand March was played as the Elephant Procession filed through the Camp.

His Royal Highness took up a position facing the Guard of Honor and Flag-staff.

The Lieutenant-Governor, North-Western Provinces, the Suite, and the Personal Staff, passed the Prince, and placed themselves on His Royal Highness' right hand.

The Chiefs and Officers who had taken part in the Procession then filed singly past, saluted His Royal Highness, and left the Camp by the grand street.

On Wednesday, the 26th January 1876, His Royal Highness received the following Address from the Agra Municipality at 11 A.M. :—

"MAY IT PLEASE YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS,—We, the Municipal Commissioners of Agra, on behalf of our fellow-citizens, beg permission respectfully to approach Your Royal Highness with a cordial address of welcome.

"We desire to express our fervent loyalty and devotion to Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria our Sovereign, and our great joy on the occasion of this visit with which Your Royal Highness has been pleased to honor our city.

"Within sight of the walls of that ancient fortress which bears witness to the magnificence of former Emperors, we welcome in Your Royal Highness the representative of a Sovereign whose empire extends far beyond the limits of the sway of the mightiest monarch ever enthroned at Agra.

"We gratefully recognize in the justice and tolerant impartiality of Our Empress Her Most Gracious Majesty's rule the imperial qualities which especially distinguished the wisest of the House of Timur, the founder of this city which welcomes you to-day, the Emperor Akbar.

"The joy and pride which we now feel would have been complete had it been possible for Her Royal Highness the Princess of Wales to honor us with her gracious presence on this auspicious occasion.

"We believe and trust that the tour of Your Royal Highness through India will tend to draw closer the ties which bind her to England, and will be a source of benefit to this country as well as of pleasure and interest to yourself, and especially we hope that all the remembrances which Your Royal Highness may carry away of your visit to Agra may be pleasing."

After hearing the Address, His Royal Highness was pleased to reply in the following terms :—

"GENTLEMEN,—I thank you for your Address of welcome to Agra.

"I am happy to find myself in a capital whose history recalls the memory of such illustrious sovereigns, and I am glad to receive from you the assurance that you recognize in the rule of the British Government those qualities of liberality and power of justice and toleration which distinguished the great monarchs of former ages.

"I shall not fail to communicate to the Queen your assurances of your loyalty, and I thank you for your kind expressions of regret that the Princess of Wales was unable to gratify her desire to be with me in visiting all that is so beautiful and so interesting in your famous city."

M., when the following address was read by Mr. Dosabhoy Framjee, the Chairman of the Municipal Corporation :—

"TO HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS ALBERT EDWARD, PRINCE OF WALES, K.G., &c., &c.

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR ROYAL HIGHNESS.—We the Chairman and Members of the Corporation of Bombay, who, in the name of this City, were the first public body to bid your Royal Highness welcome to India, feel ourselves now greatly honoured in being the last to bid you farewell.

We have followed with the deepest interest every step of Your Royal Highness' progress throughout India, from Ceylon northwards to Cashmere and Napaul, and we have seen with delight that it has been one continued triumph. Each Indian city, not only in the Provinces under the direct administration of the British Government, but in the Native States, has in its reception of Your Royal Highness striven to outdo Bombay in magnificence and popular enthusiasm; and princes and people have everywhere alike paid their willing homage to the Heir-Apparent to the Throne of the British Empire.

Her Majesty the Queen has already, in Her Speech from the Throne at the opening of Parliament, graciously declared that the hearty affection with which Your Royal Highness has been received by Her Majesty's Indian subjects of all classes and races, assures Her that they are happy under Her Rule and loyal to Her Throne; and we trust that Your Royal Highness' personal expectations of the pleasure and advantage to be derived from a visit to India have not been disappointed by experience, but that you will carry away the most agreeable recollections of the country, and will often, in future years, think kindly of its patient, industrious, and loyal people, who on their part will ever retain a lively remembrance of Your Royal Highness' gracious presence and winning courtesy.

We rejoice to know that Your Royal Highness' health, far from being impaired, has been invigorated by your Indian tour; and we hope that this expedition, hitherto marred by not one untoward incident, will be crowned with a safe, speedy, and prosperous voyage to your native land and a happy meeting with the Princess of Wales and Your Royal Highness' children. We beg that Your Royal Highness will convey to Her Majesty the Queen the assurance of our unalterable fidelity to Her Rule and of the personal attachment to Her family which Your Royal Highness' visit has done so much to strengthen among all Her Majesty's Indian subjects. And now, with all loyalty and affection, we wish Your Royal Highness farewell."

His Royal Highness replied as follows :—

"GENTLEMEN,—I thank you for your address and for your renewed expressions of loyalty to the Crown which marked your welcome when I first landed at Bombay.

I feel sincerely grateful for having been permitted to carry out my purpose in visiting so much of the widely extended Indian Empire. Amid all I have witnessed there is nothing which has impressed me more than the vast population of those whom you justly describe as the 'patient, industrious, and loyal people' of India; and if, as I trust, my visit has tended to brighten, even for a day, the lives of so many of the Queen's subjects, to strengthen their good will, and to confirm their loyalty to the Throne, I shall feel that my work has not been without a useful result.

I am not likely to forget the great and varied personal pleasure my visit has afforded me. The uniform kindliness with which I have been everywhere received by all classes has more than gratified me; and it has left permanent recollections which can never be effaced. I am confident the Queen will be sincerely pleased with your expressions of personal loyalty and attachment to the Crown, and that the Princess of Wales and the members of my family will be much touched by the cordial reception I have met with on my return to your Town.

Be assured of the interest I shall always feel in the welfare of Bombay, and with my best wishes for the permanent peace and prosperity of every part of this great Empire, I bid you, gentlemen, a very hearty farewell."

The 31st March 1876.

No. 1953.—The Governor General in Council directs that the following be published in the Gazette of India for general information:—

FINANCIAL. INDIA OFFICE, LONDON,
No. 48. 10th February 1876.

To His Excellency the Right Hon'ble the Governor General of India in Council.

MY LORD,

Para. 1. I have considered in Council your Financial letter dated the 29th January 1875, No. 39, on the subject of the Leave Rules of the Uncovenanted Service.

2. You therein state that you have some doubts as to the intentions of the Duke of Argyll, and as to the manner in which effect should be given to His Grace's instructions; that nearly all the offices in the Uncovenanted Service are such as may, under certain circumstances, be "fitly held by Natives," and that, consequently, if you were to adopt a principle of selection, which would be most in accordance with the instructions received by you, the logical conclusion would be that no members of the Service should be admitted to the favourable rules.

3. You consider that the rigid adoption of the principle that the present holders of offices to which Natives could fitly be appointed, should not be admitted to the benefits of the favourable rules, would cause not unreasonable dissatisfaction, and you are of opinion that some limit of a more or less arbitrary nature as to the position of those to whom those rules should be extended will have to be laid down.

4. You therefore forward nominal lists, which you state to be complete, of all those officers of the Uncovenanted Service who come within the category set forth in Schedule A of the Civil Leave Code, and request me to determine the principle on which admission to the favourable Leave Rules shall be regulated.

5. With your Financial letter dated the 30th September 1875, No. 346, you forwarded, in continuation of the list already referred to, a list of officers of the Accounts Branch of the Public Works Department whom you proposed to admit to the more favourable rules.

6. The instruction conveyed to your Government in the Financial despatches dated the 10th March 1870 and the 6th December 1871, appear to me to leave no doubt as to the intentions of the Duke of Argyll on this subject.

7. In the former despatch the Duke of Argyll assented to the favourable rules "proposed for holders of offices now held by English gentlemen," with certain modifications, and desired "that they be declared applicable from this date only to officers of the Education Department appointed from England, and to such others of those now actually in the Service as you may think fit to include in a nominal list for that purpose, to be submitted for my approval." His Grace also stated that the second set of Rules proposed "for all other classes of the Uncovenanted Service would, for the present, apply to all Uncovenanted Servants not entitled to the benefits of the first set of Rules, and hereafter to all Uncovenanted Servants who may not have been appointed from England."

8. In para. 7 of the latter Despatch, the Duke of Argyll extended the benefits of the first set of Rules to "those Uncovenanted Servants appointed in England to offices for which they had special qualifications," and "to those Europeans who for special reasons may have been, or, with my sanction, may be hereafter appointed in India to certain exceptional posts," and His Grace added "but, in order to confine these privileges within reasonable limits, I must again request that you will furnish me with a nominal list of the officers who appear to you to come within the description referred to in my Financial Despatch dated the 10th March 1870, No. 84."

9. The Duke of Argyll concluded*—"The principle which Her Majesty's Government have steadily kept in view throughout the discussion on these Furlough Rules is, that the Uncovenanted Service should be principally reserved for the Natives of the country, and that superior appointments, which require English training and experience should be made, as heretofore from England, and they look with great disfavour on the system, which appears to be growing up in India, of appointing Englishmen in India to situations that ought only, as a rule, to be filled by civilians who have gained their position by open competition. I trust that the views I have now expressed will put a stop to the above practice."

* Financial Despatch, 10th March 1870.

10. In the views expressed by the Duke of Argyll in those Despatches I concur.

11. In respect, therefore, to the future, I request that it may clearly be understood, that the less favourable Leave Rules will be applicable to all Uncovenanted Servants appointed after the year 1871, unless—

1. They have been appointed in England.
2. They have been appointed in India with the sanction of the Secretary of State.

It remains to specify in detail the reasonable concessions which, in accordance with the intimation made by the Duke of Argyll, I am willing to grant to certain of your Uncovenanted Servants who now hold, and, at the date of His Grace's Despatch, held appointments in the Uncovenanted Service. It is to be understood that the instructions contained in the remainder of this Despatch apply only to them.

12. I have not within my reach the information necessary to enable me to select individual officers according to their merit or according to the peculiar circumstances of their appointment. In the absence of any such principle of choice, it will be expedient to shape the proposed concessions in such a manner as to harmonise with the policy which has been laid down for the future. Without going so far as to assent to your Excellency's opinion that "if the whole of the classes enumerated in Schedule A are admitted to the new rules, the concession must be extended to the future." I am quite sensible of the difficulty which would attend any attempt to enforce, in respect to the future, a system contrasting violently with that which shall be adopted in respect to present incumbents. It will be, on this ground, expedient to apply a different mode of treatment to the present incumbents of those offices which will in future, so far as they are continued, certainly be filled up as a rule from England, and those which may possibly continue to be filled in India. The Uncovenanted Service of the Public Works Department,—except so far as it is recruited from students educated at the Indian Civil Engineering Colleges which were specially designed for the natives of the country,—will ordinarily in the future be supplied from Cooper's Hill. The forest service will, in like manner, and with possibly an analogous exception, consist of candidates prepared in Europe under the system established by Dr. Brandis. The limited opportunity which exists in India for obtaining men of scientific training furnishes an obvious reason for confining, as a general rule, to persons selected in England the higher grades of the Telegraph and Geological Survey Departments. It has already been determined that the higher Educational Officers shall be selected here. On the other hand, the officers on the present establishment at Mysore only exist for a temporary purpose. A similar consideration applies to the arrangement under which the small number of Uncovenanted Marine and Medical Officers are at present appointed. To all these officers, as occupying posts which, so far as they are filled up by Englishmen at all, will in the future be ordinarily filled up in England, I see no difficulty in extending without restriction the concessions contemplated by the Duke of Argyll.

13. The following Officers, therefore, named in the enclosure to your Despatch of 29th January 1875, may be immediately admitted to the more favourable Leave Rules:—

The 274 Officers, under the Government of India, included in Section D.

The 30 Officers, under the Government of India, included in Sub-sections 4 and 6 of Section E.

The 20 Officers, under the Government of Madras, included in Sub-section 2 of Section B.

The 19 Officers, under the Government of Bombay, included in Sub-section 2 of Section C and four Forest officers in Sub-section 1 of the same Section.

The 10 Officers, employed in Mysore, included in Section I.

The Educational Officers, the Officers of the Marine Department who have served in the Indian Navy or Bengal Marine, and the Medical Officers named in the lists transmitted by you.

The three Medical Officers of the Persian Telegraph Service, as recommended in your Financial letter dated the 26th February 1875, No. 79.

A nominal list of all the above Officers is annexed to this despatch.

14. Of the remaining Officers named in your lists, the greater part are filling posts which do not require preliminary technical education, and which, in future, if not held by Natives, will be occupied partly by Covenanted Civil Servants, or by Uncovenanted Servants specially selected, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, according to the principles adverted to in para. 11 of this despatch. Adopting therefore, with regard to this class of Officers, your suggestion that, as respects existing incumbents, an arbitrary limit must be, to some extent, applied to them, I sanction the extension of the more favorable rules to such of the above-mentioned Officers named in your lists as are now in the receipt of salaries of not less than Rs. 6,000 per annum, and I request that a list of the persons to whom this will apply may be forwarded for record in this office.

15. I observe that your lists do not include any of the Officers employed in the higher appointments of the Andamans. You may, perhaps, desire to correct the omission, and possibly other similar omissions; if so, I will gladly consider any recommendations you may make.

I have the honor to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obdt., humble Servant,

(Sd.) SALISBURY.

[Supplement to London Gazette, 18th February 1876.]

War Office, February 18, 1876.

The following despatch and enclosures have been received by the Secretary of State for War from the Major-General Commanding Her Majesty's Forces in China and the Straits Settlements:—

Camp, Qualla Kangsa,
SIR, January 5, 1876.

I have the honour to report that yesterday morning the force as per margin* was taken by me for the purpose of disarming the village of Kota Lama, 1½ miles distant, on the opposite side of the Perak River.

This village, in July last, was visited by Mr. Birch, when the inhabitants came down in considerable numbers, loading their arms, and warning him not to come near. Having no force with him, he was obliged to withdraw.

For long this village has been the haunt of all the worst disposed and turbulent Malays. The Queen's Commissioner, deeming it necessary to disarm the inhabitants and to destroy the houses of certain known leaders, I made the following arrangements—

The village of Kota Lama is on the left bank of the river. Lieutenant-Colonel Cox crossed with his party in boats, and moved up the bank a little more than a mile, when he extended the men, the left of the line keeping close to the river, and skirmished through the village.

Mr. Maxwell, Deputy Commissioner, accompanied Lieutenant-Colonel Cox.

Captain Young moved his party in a similar manner up the right bank to a village of the same name; his orders were to collect any arms, but not to destroy or injure houses or property, as the inhabitants have been well disposed.

Captain Speedy, Assistant Commissioner, accompanied Captain Young.

Major McNair, I, and my staff went with Captain Garforth's party of the Naval Brigade.

We landed on the left bank just above the village, and, leaving a few blue jackets in charge of the boats, we moved in the direction of the village, expecting there to find Lieutenant-Colonel Cox's party.

Twenty blue jackets landed with us, and we were joined by Lieutenant Hare, R.E., with 4 Goorkhas, who had been assisting him to measure the distance along the bank.

We proceeded some distance before we came to some houses which I desired should be searched for arms; they were, with few exceptions, deserted; after about an hour and a half we came upon several houses close to each other, the largest being occupied by women and children.

It being necessary to ascertain whether any men also were in it, Major McNair sent in two of his Malay followers, and himself looked in.

After satisfying himself that there were only women and children, he had just got down from the steps, telling those inside not to be alarmed as they would not be harmed, when we heard several shots, and from a jungle close by some 50 Malays rushed out upon us, a few with fire-arms and the rest with spears.

The attack was so sudden that we were almost surrounded and had to retire.

The conduct of the marines and sailors was deserving of all praise. If it had not been for their steadiness few, if any, of us would have escaped.

As it was I regret to say that our loss was heavy in proportion to the numbers engaged. A report with return of casualties is attached.

Just before this attack was made several officers moved away in the direction of the river, two hundred yards distant. Major Hawkins was, it is supposed, following them when he was fatally wounded with a spear. No one seems to have seen him fall, but Captain Garforth reports that William Sloper, A.B., came up to him on the ground, shot two Malays who were coming towards him, and stopped with him until Major Hawkins said "Save yourself; you can do me no good now."

* Left bank, under Lieutenant-Colonel Cox—Royal Artillery, 12 men and 1 gun; the Buffs, 10 men; 1st Goorkhas, 25 men.
Right bank, under Captain Young—The Buffs, 50 men; 1st Goorkhas, 20 men.
In three boats, under Captain Garforth—3 officers and 29 men.

Major Heathcoate, who with Captain Badcock, Lieutenant Preston, and Major Twigge, had gone on in front of Major Hawkins towards the river, turned back with these officers and tried to move them, but they had to fall back to the river, before the superior numbers who were getting round them.

Surgeon Townsend was the first to be assailed, he being a little advanced; three Malays assailed him with spears, the centre one he shot with his pistol, and the man falling forward upon him knocked him down. The other two Malays were driving at him when Harry Bennett, A.B., and William Thompson, A.B., rushed forward and killed them both.

The conduct of the three blue jackets above-named has been specially brought to my notice, but all behaved admirably in a very difficult position, and very great credit is due to the three officers, Captain Garforth, Lieutenant Wood, and Sub-Lieutenant Poar, who directed and led them.

Lieutenant-Colonel Cox's party had gone all over the ground on which this occurred, and it is supposed that our opponents must have made for the jungle on the approach of the skirmishers, and returned after they had passed. Lieutenant-Colonel Cox returned through the village in the same order, and having destroyed every house that he passed, arrived here about half-past two o'clock, without firing a shot.

Captain Young's party returned about the same time without having met with any opposition.

The bodies of five Malays were found, and I have reason to believe that their loss must have been greater.

The close and hand-to-hand nature of the engagement is shown by all the casualties having been caused by spear wounds.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) J. ROSS,
Brigadier-General, &c.

P.S.—A large quantity of arms, spears, muskets, and small wall-pieces were taken, and a large iron 12-pounder gun was spiked and thrown into the river. A list of arms taken shall be forwarded.

(Signed) J. ROSS,
Brigadier-General.

Major-General the Honourable F. Colborne, C.B., &c., &c.

Head Quarters, Camp, Qualla Kangsa,
SIR, January 4, 1876.

I have the honour to forward for your information a list of the killed and wounded at the assault on the village of Kota Lama:—

Killed.

Seaman Gunner William G. Loan, H.M.S. Philomel, spear wound of right side of spine transfixing chest, and having its exit five inches below the right nipple.

Wounded.

Surgeon Townsend, A.M.D., severe spear wound middle thira of right arm; slight spear wound of right leg.

Private Jasper Ball, R.M., double spear wound at epigastrum, protrusion of intestines and omentum, spear wound at middle of left arm, and another of left hand.

Serwick Sing Tappah, Sepoy, 1st Goorkhas, severe spear wound of right forearm.

The severity of the spear wounds, in all the fatal cases completely transfixing the body, and the fact of the men having been wounded in several places, show the close quarters that the force fought at, and the determined resistance of the Malay.

I have, &c.,
(Signed) WILLIAM COLLIS,
Surgeon-Major, the Buffs,
P. M. O. Larút Field Force.

To Brigadier-General Ross, C.B., Commanding Larút Field Force.

War Office, February 29, 1876.

The following Despatches and Enclosures have been received at the War Office from the Major-General Commanding Her Majesty's Forces in China and the Straits Settlements:—

Camp Srimananti,
December 25, 1875.

SIR,—I have the honour to report, for the information of Major-General Colborne, C.B., that I left Terrachee at 10 A.M. yesterday, having previously detailed a party of the same strength as detailed in my report of 24th instant, under Lieutenant-Colonel Hill, of my regiment. I passed Parit about 10-30, and halted there for some little time, the guides' information being so conflicting; at last I determined on marching through the hills as instructed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Penang, and arrived within sight of Srimananti at 4 P.M.

I discovered several of the Malays running away, and one shot was fired on our advance guard, who immediately replied and they knocked over one man.

My attention was then called to what appeared to be a strong redoubt on a small hill, I detached a party under Captain Channer and another under Captain Rankin to take the enemy in flank, while with the guns and part of the 10th Foot, I tried to find a range for the guns; this was difficult as it was all rice swamp in front.

I then proceeded along the side, covered by the jungle, and soon found myself in rear of the earth-work. I sent to warn Captains Rankin and Channer of my position and to keep out of the line of fire. I expended five rounds and sounded the advance. Two men had been observed on the position, but when the Goorkhas charged it there were none; I bivouacked for the night.

2. To-day I took possession of the enemy's guns, &c., numbering six, two that were burst already, and a lot of small arms, powder, &c.
3. Lieutenant-Colonel Hill reports that he "started from Terrachee on the 24th, at 9-30 A. M., and perceived the Malays on the hills, detached a flanking party to them, and about sixty of the enemy retired over the hills. Fired two 24-pounder rockets at them. Proceeded at 11-15 A. M., burning Gumatie on the way; arrived at Dato Moar's house at 1-15 noon, which he skirmished up to with the Goorkhas; a few shots were fired at the Malays, and they ran away; halted at Dato Moars for the night, distance from Terrachee about six miles, and on 25th December (to-day) I started at 7-30 A. M., arriving and forming a junction with Lieutenant-Colonel Clay; no opposition, and several Malays came in with white flags to sue for peace."

I have, &c,
E. BERTIE CLAY, Lieut.-Col.,
Commanding Malacca Column.

The Assistant Quartermaster-General,
Perak Field Force, Penang.

Camp Terrachee,
December 24, 1875

SIR,—I have the honour to report, for the information of Major-General Colborne, C. B., that I marched the whole force under my command from Rassa on the 18th instant, having previously detached the columns, as per margin,* under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Clay, and Lieutenant-Colonel Hill.

2. Lieutenant-Colonel Hill with his party marched as far as Datu Klana's house, distant from Rassa three miles; there the road branched off to Pantay; he halted that night and proceeded the next morning. A copy of his report is annexed.
3. I was detained the whole of that day at Datu Sultan's house (distant from Rassa 3½ miles) for want of coolies, and here I may mention that is the only difficulty I have experienced throughout during the whole of these arrangements, although I have been most ably assisted by Captain Murray, "Rassa," and by Mr. Kinnersly; but I am of opinion that had a properly organized transport corps been formed, all would have worked smoothly.
4. On the 20th I marched from Datu Sultan's to the foot of the Bukit Putas Pass, and the same afternoon I detailed a party of 50 men under Captain Channer as a reconnoitring party, Lieutenant North, Royal Engineers, accompanying.

After a delay of three hours Captain Channer wrote to me, that from the density of the jungle it was impossible to discover the correct position of the stockade; I then directed him to proceed as close as possible to the stockade as he could, and ascertain as to its whereabouts, and report if a range could be found for my guns and rockets. About five o'clock I heard some smart firing opened from where Captain Channer's party should be. I at once ordered the detachment, 10th Regiment, accompanied by Lieutenants Hinxman and Peyton, to fall in, and proceeded myself at their head up the pass, to within 40 yards of the stockade; but I found the road so blocked up by felled trees and bamboo brushwood that it was impenetrable. Here I must say that the party for a few moments were thrown into confusion by the Arah contingent firing a volley in our rear. I went back and enquired the cause, and learnt that they had not fired into the 10th, but into a party of Goorkhas who were above them, on the left. I then turned up to the left, up a very steep side of the hill, where I found the party of Goorkhas in support of Captain Channer's detachment, and found Captain Channer and his party had taken one stockade, and opened fire on others a little below them: copy of Captain Channer's report is annexed. Here I must mention the gallant conduct of Captain Channer: he proceeded cautiously with a party of 25 Goorkhas as if he were on a sporting expedition; he advanced himself to within a few yards of the stockade; the enemy had kept no look-out and they were cooking at the time; Captain Channer seized the opportunity, and followed immediately by two men named in the margin,* was the first to jump into the stockade. He found it occupied by 25 or 30 men: the first man Captain Channer shot dead with his revolver, and the two Goorkhas each shot his man; they were soon followed by the rest of Captain Channer's party. Having expelled the Malays, Captain Channer opened a smart fire on the other two (2) stockades, and soon emptied them. In this affair 6 were killed in the stockade, and doubtless some were wounded from that and the other stockades, but the Malays always carry off their dead and wounded (if they have time), but they must have suffered, as proved by the track of blood left behind.

All this was not accomplished without some small loss on our side, and I have to report the death of Naick Bukit Sing Raie, and Sepoy Duljeet Thappa dangerously wounded in the neck, and two sepoys wounded in the foot by native ranjons.

Of Captain Channer's gallantry, coolness, and intrepidity I cannot sufficiently express my approval, and a separate report will be submitted for the favourable consideration of Major General Colborne, C.B. The conduct of his men was equally good, and I trust the Major General may be urged to express his approval of their behaviour.

By the taking of these stockades most serious obstacles have been overcome, and great saving of life.

---

* Lieutenant-Colonel Clay's Column—1 gun and 1 mortar under Lieutenant Rigg, R.A. 100 and 72 rounds respectively, 22 Artillerymen and 36 9-pounder rockets.
Lieutenant North, R.E., with intrenching tools.
Lieutenant Hinxman and Lieutenant Peyton, 10th Foot, with 41 rank and file.
Captain Channer, Lieutenant Churchill, detachment 1st Goorkhas and 200 rounds per man.
70 Arah Contingent under Captain De Jantanse.
Lieutenant-Colonel Hill's Column—30 seamen H.M.S. "Thistle," under Captain Sterling and 2 officers with 83 24-pounder rockets.
Lieutenant Henriques, R.A.—1 gun and 100 rounds, and 10 Artillerymen, detachment 1st Goorkhas with 200 rounds per man, and Captain Mercer.

* Sepoy Buleer Ghurtie, and Sepoy Jeetman Thappa, B Company, 1st Goorkhas.

5. 21st December, 1875.—Marched to Bandole, distance 4½ miles, which was reported to be strongly stockaded. Coming out of the pass I burnt two stockades, evidently just erected, but spared houses that were not fortified, or where no offensive weapons were found.
6. 23rd December, 1875.—Terrachee, distant 7 miles, crossing a stream several times, through rice cultivation and swamp, effected a junction with Lieutenant-Colonel Hill's party all well.
7. In conclusion I must record my thanks to all officers and men for the cheerful and willing manner all have worked, being half rationed part of the time and wet through every day. To the 1st Goorkhas specially my thanks are due, for having borne the brunt of the hard work.

To Lieutenant-Colonel Hill and his party my earnest thanks are due, for although they met with no active opposition, still they were not to be deterred, and made a flank march viâ Pantay under most unfavourable circumstances, meeting with the Moar River (which they crossed seventeen times), swamps, and the most dense jungle. There is but little doubt that their march has had a good moral effect.

8. I forgot to mention that Captain Channer took an iron gun—about a 4-pounder—in the stockade which he attacked.

I have, &c.,
E. BERTIE CLAY,
Lieutenant-Colonel, Commanding
Malacca Column.

To the Assistant Quartermaster-General,
Perak Field Force, Penang.

Terrachee,
22nd December, 1875.

SIR,—I have the honour to report that in accordance with orders received I started from the Datu Klana's house near Rassa, on 19th December, at 10-30 A. M., with instructions to make a flank march on Tertutchie, viâ Pantay, with a force as per margin.*

1. The force reached a small mountain stream called Sunjie Ramie (leaving Pantay on the left), the last water on this side of the range at 2-30 P. M., about seven miles; a fair jungle track with several streams to cross; made a clearing in the wood to encamp, rear guard arriving at 5 P. M.

On 20th started at 9 A. M., crossed the dividing range about 14 0 feet above level of sea, arriving at Moar River flowing east at 3 P. M. —distance about 7 miles; very bad jungle track, rear guard arriving at 6 o'clock.

On 21st started at 7-30 A. M., made 5 miles, arriving at valley Teratchie, crossing and re-crossing Moar River; an almost imperceptible jungle track. At 10 A. M. found a steep hill obstructed with felled trees, the bed of the Moar River being staken with ranjons. With great difficulty and labour circumvented these difficulties; at 12 noon came across a stockade or Kubo; skirmished up to it, taking it in rear with the Goorkhas, and bringing the 7-pounder gun to bear upon it. A few Malays occupied the place but evacuated without firing a shot. Entered the Teratchie valley at 3 P. M., several of the enemy retreating eastward toward Sriminanti, where I am informed there are two stockades; cleared the valley, and force took up position for night. Before doing so I sent out a force under Captain Stirling, R. N., to reconnoitre towards Bukit Putas, and cut off the enemy who were said to be retreating, but he was unable to interrupt them as they took to the jungle on the hills bounding valley.

On the 22nd formed junction with column under Colonel Clay, marching out at 7 A. M., returning to position at 10 A. M.

2. I have the honour to state that the conduct of the troops under my command was most excellent under circumstances the most trying any force could have encountered; progressing through an almost imperceptible jungle track over high hills, crossing and recrossing mountain streams and swampy dense forest under torrents of rain, and having every night to clear dense jungle to enable the troops to bivouac.
3. I am indebted to Mr. Daly, Survey Department, for information regarding distances noted by him at the time.

The march would have been impossible without the intelligence obtained from Malay scouts by Captain Murray, Resident at Rassa, who accompanied the force, and to this officer's indefatigable exertions with regard to the Chinese coolies who formed our transport, and one of our greatest difficulties, we are entirely indebted for the success of this harassing march. To Captain Stirling and officers R.N., Captain Mercer, Goorkhas, and Lieutenant Henriques, R.A., I owe hearty thanks for their assistance and aid rendered to me at all times.

I have, &c.,
R. SALE HILL, Lieut.-Col.,
Officer Commanding 1st Goorkhas, L. I.

To the Staff Officer,
Malacca Column.

Camp Tarrachee,
December 22, 1875.

SIR,—I have the honour to report that agreeably to orders received on 20th December 1875, from Officer Commanding Malacca Column, I reconnoitred the ground towards Bukit Pass, with the view of ascertaining the practicability of a good position for guns and the situation of enemy's stockades. I was accompanied by Lieutenant North, R. E., and A Company 1st Goorkhas, numbering fifty rank and file. I started from Camp, Dato Pando, at 10 A. M., and after proceeding a mile towards pass turned up to left and proceeded up a mountain side and along ridge through dense tree jungle for three miles. As the guides with me evidently knew nothing of the position of the enemy I returned, and then proceeded straight up towards the pass. At 4 P. M.,

* 123 Goorkhas—120 rounds ammunition, 17-pounder steel gun, 10 Artillerymen, 100 rounds; 30 seamen and marines, H. M. S. "Thistle," 36 24-pounder rockets. Goorkhas.—Commander, Captain Mercer.—Party from H. M. S. "Thistle," Captain Stirling, Mr. Harrison, Mr. Beattie.—Artillery, Lieutenant Henrique, R. A.

after marching a mile along the bed of a torrent, I found the road completely blocked up by felled trees. I threw out flanking parties, and leaving a rear guard with Lieutenant North to cut through the tree jungle, I saw one of the enemy's log stockades; a palisade enclosed it, and the ground was covered with ranjons (crows' feet of sharp bamboos). I jumped over and heard the Malays talking inside, and taking the opportunity of their careless look-out, I rushed in with two or three men, and took the stockade, which was held by 25 or 30 Malays. A fire was at once opened on me from a lower stockade 80 yards off, and from one on my right 160 yards across the pass; getting the men under cover, I kept up a steady fire on both stockades. The enemy, after half an hour's firing, evacuated the lower stockade, and shortly afterwards the one on the right. Reinforcements from camp and my rear guard came up at sunset, when the lower stockade was occupied. The enemy lost five killed, four in the first stockade taken. Of the first Goorkhas, one Naick was killed, and one Sepoy severely wounded, two others slightly with ranjons; it was impossible to ascertain the number of the enemy killed or wounded in the other stockades.

The stockades were strongly built of logs, loopholed, and the jungle between each was almost impassable. All these commanded the entrance to the pass. I have to thank Lieutenant North, R.E., for the assistance he afforded throughout. The Goorkhas behaved steadily and well.

I have, &c.,

G. N. CHANNER, Captain,
1st Goorkhas.

When a person is desirous of transporting any such articles from any place in British India other than the sea-ports or stations referred to in the last preceding rule, to any place in British India within the territories of another Local Government or Administration, he must apply for a pass to the Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department, or to the Secretary to the Local Government of the territory out of which he desires to convey the articles, or to the Magistrate or Deputy Commissioner or other chief Executive Officer of the District out of which he desires to convey the articles, or to such other officer as the Government of India may have authorized by notification to grant such a pass.

4. The application must in either case be in writing; it must specify the town, station, or other place into which the articles are intended to be transported, and must contain full information as to the quantity, quality and description of the articles and the purpose for which they are respectively designed. Where the articles have been imported from abroad, the license under which they have been imported must be appended.

5. It will be within the discretion of the officer authorized in this behalf to grant the pass if from the information thus given and otherwise obtained he considers that such pass may be safely granted. A register shall be kept of all passes so granted, and a copy of each pass shall be sent to the Magistrate of the district within which the place to which the articles are to be transported is situated.

6. The articles covered by such pass shall be taken direct to the place of destination mentioned in the pass without being sold or made use of at any intermediate place.

7. On the articles reaching their destination the person in charge thereof must deliver the pass to the Magistrate of the district within six days. It will be the duty of that officer to satisfy himself that the articles transported correspond with the entries in the pass, and to see that any deficiency that may exist is satisfactorily accounted for. The pass shall then be endorsed and returned to the holder if he may lawfully keep in his possession the articles of which it covers the transport.

Resolution No. 3116, dated 18th December 1871, laying down rules for the selection of candidates for admission to the Financial Department, and for the exmaination of officers of the Fifth and Sixth Classes of the Department.

Read again—

Report No. 207, dated 26th May 1874, from the Comptroller and Deputy Comptroller General, recommending certain modifications in the arrangement of subjects and detailed rules for conducting the Departmental Examinations founded on their experience as examiners.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor General in Council is pleased to approve of the proposed alterations in the rules.

2. The subject of "Algebra to Quadratic Equations inclusive" will be transferred to the examination for admission; the marks assigned to it will be as before 250, raising the total marks obtainable to 1,250: no further change will be made in this examination.

3. The rules for the examination of candidates for admission to the service of the Government of India in the Financial Department, and of officers in the Financial Department, will henceforward be as follows :—

ENTRANCE EXAMINATION.

I.—Candidates for admission to the Department are selected from time to time according to the requirements of the service, three being named for each expected vacancy.

II.—The age of a candidate, when examined, must not exceed twenty-five years, and he must produce a certificate by a Government medical officer of physical fitness for service in the plains of India.

III.—The nominated candidates are examined in the subjects described in the first schedule attached to this resolution, and (subject to the condition hereinafter stated), the candidate who obtains the highest marks is appointed to the first vacancy in the sixth class of the Department, the candidate who obtains the second place to the second vacancy, if there be more than one vacancy to be filled, and so on. No candidate is admitted to the Department who obtains less than 600 marks in all, or less than half marks in Arithmetic and Algebra.

IV.—A candidate is not allowed to compete at the entrance examinations more than twice.

V.—The examination is by written questions and answers; the questions being prepared in such manner as the Governor General in Council from time to time directs.

VI.—A candidate may be examined at any place where arrangements can be made to secure the integrity of the examination.

DEPARTMENTAL EXAMINATIONS.

VII.—A half-yearly examination is held for officers in the fifth and sixth classes of the Department (on the Mondays next after the 10th May and 10th November, and following days) in the subjects detailed in schedules II and III annexed to this Resolution. These examinations are styled the Lower and Higher Departmental Examinations respectively.

VIII.—An officer who shows, at any departmental examination, a competent knowledge of all the prescribed subjects and obtains half marks in the aggregate, is held to have passed the examination. An officer is, however, permitted to pass each of the departmental examinations in two instalments, if he notifies his intention beforehand, and specifies the subjects in which he is prepared for examination. In such case a higher standard of knowledge is required.

IX.—As a rule, a candidate failing in one of the subjects specified is re-examined in the whole; but, in case of marked excellence in a subject, the examiners may exempt the candidate from re-examination in such subject, even although he may have failed in others.

X.—An officer who does not pass the Lower Departmental Exmination at the fourth or some earlier examination, and the Higher Department Examination at the eighth or some earlier examination, after he joins the Department, ceases, without further orders, to belong to the Department from the date on which the result of the examination is declared. Provided that if, before the said fourth or eighth examination (as the case may be), the officer have obtained leave of absence on medical certificate for more than three months, he is allowed to remain in the service for six months longer, in order to present himself at one more examination.

XI.—Upon passing each departmental examination, the pay of an officer of the sixth class is increased, from the date on which the examination ends, by Rs. 50 a month. The pay of an officer of the sixth class who has passed the Lower Examination is Rs. 250, and that of an officer of the sixth class who has passed the Higher Departmental Examination Rs. 300 a month.

XII.—An officer is not promoted substantively to the fifth class until he has passed the Lower Departmental Examination, and to the fourth class until he has passed the Higher Departmental Examination.

XIII.—Officiating appointments to the fourth and fifth classes are made after consideration of the order in which officers have passed the departmental examinations.

XIV.—The departmental examinations are conducted at the local account offices, in the presence of the Accountant General, and under the direction of the Comptroller General and Deputy Comptroller General, who decide upon the marks to be awarded to each examinee. If these officers differ as to the marks to be assigned to any answer, the Secretary to the Government of India in the Financial Department decides finally between them.

GENERAL RULES.

XV.—The rules for conducting all the examinations are as follows :—

(1.) The examination papers are sent in a sealed packet, not to be opened till the examination begins, each cover containing a separate sealed envelope for each paper set; these envelopes must not be opened until the papers are required for distribution. An index number is assigned to each candidate. This index number is to be entered by the candidate on each of his papers, instead of his name, which is nowhere to appear on the proceedings.

(2.) The several papers should be given out singly, and the hour at which each paper is given out and received back is to be mentioned in the presiding officer's report. The exercises are to be worked out by the candidate in presence of the presiding officer.

(3). The questions need not be written out by the candidate, but only the answers and solutions in full, with the number of the question prefixed. The answers may be first worked out on waste paper. The neatness of the candidate's papers is taken into consideration by the examiners in assigning values to his work. The paper should be of foolscap size, with the candidate's index number and the date, and the title of each subject at the head of the paper. The solutions as first written out fair are to be transmitted to the Comptroller General, without alteration or correction, immediately after the close of the examination.

(4). The time occupied by the candidate in answering each set of questions i. e., the interval between receiving the examination paper and returning his papers to the presiding officer, is to be stated on the back of his paper of solutions. The time allowed for a paper is in no case to be exceeded.

(5). The presiding officer must certify that the above rules have been strictly followed by signing the certificate below, and explain any accidental or unavoidable deviations :—

Certified that the examination of the candidates whose index numbers are , has been conducted strictly according to the Rules contained in the Resolution of the Financial Department No. 2273, dated the 18th April 1876, as below :—

Conducting the Examination.

13.—Candidates for the Lower Examination who are now in the Department and who have not passed in Algebra, will be examined in that subject; and those who have already passed the Lower but not the Higher Departmental examination, will be examined in annuities, compound interest, and the use of logarithms of numbers.

14.—In order to avoid misapprehension, the Governor-General in Council declares that nothing in this Resolution is to be understood as limiting the powers which the Government has, throughout, expressly retained, of appointing gentlemen not in the Department, to any office in any class of the Department whenever the interests of the public service require it. The Government will always appoint an officer belonging to the Department to a vacancy, if there is such an officer of sufficient standing and experience and qualified for the office in every respect. But it must be emphatically understood that the officers in the Classified List have no monopoly of the departmental service other than that which the opportunities of their position, diligently improved, may secure to them.

15.—The first consideration, when a vacancy occurs in the Department, will always be the efficiency of the public service; and no claim on the part of the officers of the Department will ever be allowed to stand in the way of the enlistment, in the higher offices of the Department, of officers of the Covenanted Civil Service, or even of gentlemen not in the service of the Government at all, whenever it is thought that the public interests require, or will be promoted by, such enlistment.

16.—Moreover, His Excellency in Council deems it proper to declare that the Government of India holds itself free, not only to appoint to any office in the Finance Department any one not an enrolled officer of the Department whose appointment is considered necessary in the public interest, but also to pay to the person selected for such appointment such remuneration as may be required in order to secure his services.

17.—As regards Departmental Examination this resolution will take effect from the examination to be held in November 1876.

ORDERED, that the foregoing Resolution be published in the Gazette of India and communicated to the Comptroller General, the Accountants General, and the Deputy Accountants General in independent charge, and to each candidate nominated to compete for admission to the Department, and to each officer on his appointment to the Department.

MINT AND CURRENCY.

The 18th May 1876.

No. 247.—The following Resolution is published for general information :—

READ—

A despatch from Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 81 (Financial), dated 2nd March 1876.

RESOLUTION.—Since the abolition of the Madras Mint, the duty of providing the entire coinage of British India has been left to the Mints at Bombay and Calcutta, and the importance of the Bombay Mint relatively to that at Calcutta has been much increased by the opening of the Suez Canal.

2. The Mint at Bombay has hitherto been under the immediate supervision of the Government of Bombay, while the Calcutta Mint is under the Government of India. The management of the Mints is intimately connected with the administration of the finances, the distribution of the cash balances and the currency reserve, and the movement of the public funds generally. Occasions arise when it is important for the Government of India to be in a position to issue prompt orders to either Mint. It is also expedient that the two Mints should be brought into closer relations with each other, so as to benefit to the utmost by each others experience: but this cannot be fully accomplished while they are under different administrations.

3. Moreover, whatever of local character the Bombay Mint may formerly have had, has long ago ceased; its functions are now imperial and affect the interests of all India. There does not, therefore, seem any advantage in the interposition of the local Government between the Master of the Bombay Mint and the Government of India, to compensate for the disadvantages involved in the delays and other inconveniences inseparable from such interposition.

4. Upon these considerations, and on the motion of the Government of India with the concurrence of the Government of Bombay, Her Majesty's Secretary of State has now sanctioned the administration of the Bombay Mint being brought under the direct management of the Government of India like the Mint at Calcutta, the Masters of the two Mints being placed on an equal footing.

5. The pay of the Master of the Mint at Calcutta has recently been Rs. 3,000, and that of the Master of the Mint at Bombay Rs. 2,000, a month. The Secretary of State has sanctioned the recommendation of the Government of India, that hereafter the senior of the two Masters shall receive the higher, and the junior the lower, pay, of whichever Mint he may have charge, it being understood that a Junior Master promoted to the pay of Senior Master may, at the option of the Governor General in Council, be transferred to Bombay or Calcutta, as the case may be.

6. The Governor General in Council is accordingly pleased to declare that the Bombay Mint shall be henceforth under the direct administration of the Government of India. In making this declaration the Governor General in Council desires cordially to acknowledge the success with which the administration of the Mint at Bombay has been uniformly conducted by His Excellency the Governor in Council at Bombay.

R. B. CHAPMAN,
Secy. to the Govt. of India.

WAR OFFICE,
April 12, 1876.

The Queen has been graciously pleased to signify her intention to confer the decoration of the Victoria Cross on the undermentioned officer, whose claim to the same has been submitted for Her Majesty's approval, for his gallant conduct during the recent operations against the Malays in Perak as recorded against his name, viz. :—

Corps.	Rank and Name.	Act of bravery for which recommended.
Bengal Staff Corps.	Captain (now Brevet Major) George Nicholas Channer.	For having with the greatest gallantry been the first to jump into the enemy's stockade, to which he had been despatched with a small party of the 1st Goorkha Light Infantry on the afternoon of the 20th December 1875 by the Officer Commanding the Malacca Column, to procure intelligence as to its strength, position, &c. Major Channer got completely in rear of the enemy's position, and finding himself so close that he could hear the voices of the men inside who were cooking at the time and keeping no look-out, he beckoned to his men, and the whole party stole quietly forward to within a few paces of the stockade. On jumping in he shot the first man dead with his revolver and his party then came up and entered the stockade which was of a most formidable nature, surrounded by a bamboo palisade; about seven yards within was a log-house loop-holed with two narrow entrances and trees laid latitudinally to the thickness of two feet. The Officer Commanding reports that if Major Channer by his foresight, coolness and intrepidity had not taken this stockade, a great loss of life must have occurred, as from the fact of his being unable to bring guns to bear on it from the steepness of the hill and the density of the jungle, it must have been taken at the point of the bayonet.

POLICE.

The 15th June 1876.

No. 162.—The provisions of Act VIII of 1870 (for the prevention of the murder of female infants) having been made applicable to the clans and localities in the Jalan District detailed in the subjoined list by the Notification of the Government of the North-Western Provinces No. 39A., dated the 18th ultimo, the following Rules made by that Government in exercise of the power conferred on it by Section 2 of the said Act, and confirmed by the Governor General in Council, are hereby published for general information:—

Rules for the suppression of female infanticide.

I.—A nominal Register (A) of all proclaimed families shall be drawn up by the Police under the orders of the Magistrate of the district. In this register recognised heads of families or masters of separate households shall be entered as the heads of families, and every member of the family habitually resident in the village shall be entered by name. All persons under twelve shall be entered as children, except married female children living with their husbands, who shall, for the purposes of these Rules, be deemed to be adult females.

II.—All villages in which the proportion of female children to children on a proclaimed population of not less than 25 children is less than 25 per cent. shall be called "specially guilty" villages, and shall also be entered in a separate Register (B), which shall be called the "Private register of proclaimed families in specially guilty villages." This register shall not be open to inspection except by the officers of the district.

III.—The person who is registered as the head of a proclaimed family shall report immediately the occurrence of every birth and death and the illness of any female child in his family to the chaukidar of the village. He shall also produce all children in his family for the inspection of a Police officer visiting the village when required to produce them.

IV.—Every midwife knowing of, or having reason to believe in, the occurrence in a proclaimed family in the village in which she resides of a birth or of the illness of a new-born child shall at once report the fact to the chaukidar of the village. And if the village is one entered in Register B, she shall also report the occurrence of a pregnancy.

V.—If in a given time after proclamation [to be determined for each village or locality by the Local Government] the proportion of female children in a village entered in Register B does not rise to more than 25 per cent., the Lieutenant-Governor may direct that every person registered as the head of a proclaimed family in that village shall be personally bound to report to the officer in charge of the Police station every pregnancy in his family at some period before the seventh month.

VI.—The chaukidar of the village shall immediately report to the officer in charge of the Police station the occurrence of a birth, whether male or female, in a proclaimed family; the death of a female infant under six months old; the illness of a female child; and the removal of a pregnant woman to another village. He shall also report, on the occasion of his periodical visit to the Police station, other deaths, removals and arrivals, and pregnancies reported to him if the village is entered in Register B.

VII.—The zemindars of the villages shall give assistance to the Police in drawing up Register A, and in obtaining information regarding all births, marriages, and deaths occurring, or about to occur, among proclaimed families.

VIII.—All expenses incurred in working the system sanctioned by Act VIII of 1870 shall be borne by the proclaimed clans and families, and shall be recoverable as arrears of land revenue; provided that, when the percentage of female children to children of any proclaimed class in any village exceeds forty, such class shall be exempted from any share in such expenses, unless in the opinion of the Magistrate there be other grounds of suspicion.

IX.—Where the crime is so prevalent, and the number of the proclaimed villages so great, that the ordinary establishment of the district cannot cope successfully with it, the Local Government may, at its discretion, appoint a force of special Police for the purpose of carrying out measures of prevention and detection. All expenses incurred for the payment of such Police, or under Rule VIII, may be met by a rate leviable under the orders of the Local Government from the heads of families entered in the nominal register of proclaimed persons. Such rate will ordinarily be imposed so as to fall more heavily on specially guilty than on guilty families; but the amount of the rate to be levied will be fixed in every case by the special orders of the Local Government.

X.—No proclaimed village or family shall be exempted from the operation of these Rules except by the order of the Local Government, or in virtue of authority to that effect vested by Government in any officer. A village or family so exempted will then be struck out of Register A, and the erasure initialled by the Magistrate of the District or by the District Superintendent of Police.

SEPARATE REVENUE.—POST OFFICE.

The 16th June 1876.

No. 1070.—British India having been admitted to the General Postal Union, with effect from the 1st July 1876, the Governor General in Council is pleased, in exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian Post Office Act, 1866, to direct that, on and after the 1st July 1876, the following postage-duties shall be chargeable on letters and other articles hereinafter specified, sent through the post from any place in British India to any of the countries mentioned in the Schedule hereunto annexed; and that the transmission through the post of the said other articles shall be subject to the following rules and conditions; and to make the following orders and directions:—

Postage-duties chargeable upon letters and other articles sent through the post from any part of British India to any country belonging to the General Postal Union.

	Each letter per ½ oz.	Printed Papers, Legal and Commercial Documents, and Patterns.
		Each newspaper, per 4 ozs.	Each packet of printed papers, &c., per 2 ozs.
Upon letters sent through the post from any place in British India—	Annas.	Annas.	Annas. to the United Kingdom and countries belonging to the Union served through the United Kingdom—
viâ Brindisi	6	2	2½
viâ Southampton	5	1	1½
to Aden, Malta and Gibraltar	4	1	1½
to any country belonging to the Union not coming under the foregoing heads.	5	1	1½

2. The higher rates thus prescribed for correspondence sent viâ Brindisi to the United Kingdom and countries served through it result from the conveyance of such mails by special train through Italy and France: and the lower rates of letter postage for Aden, Malta and Gibraltar are those hitherto in force, which it is not the object of the present arrangement to increase.

3. The annexed Schedule shows in detail the countries coming under the foregoing heads, as well as the routes and other particulars connected with the transmission of correspondence to them.

Printed Papers and Legal and Commercial Documents.

(N.B.—Attention is drawn to the limit of weight, viz., 2 lbs., fixed for a packet of printed papers or legal and commercial documents. See Schedule.)

4. Under the head of "Printed Papers" are included newspapers, stitched or bound books, pamphlets, music, visiting cards, catalogues, prospectuses, announcements and notices of various kinds, whether printed, engraved or lithographed and photographs. Under the head of "Legal and Commercial Documents" are included acts or deeds of all kinds drawn up by public functionaries, invoices, policies of insurance, copies or extracts of deeds under private seal, written upon stamped or unstamped paper, scores or sheets of manuscript music, and in general all manuscript papers and documents which have not the character of an actual and personal correspondence.

5. Articles posted as "Printed Papers" or as "Legal and Commercial Documents" must be placed under bands or simply folded, so as to admit of the contents being easily examined, and, excepting as follows, "Printed Papers" must contain no manuscript writing, figure or mark whatever:—

(a.) Proofs of printing or of music may bear corrections made with a pen, relating exclusively to the text or to the execution of the work. Manuscript may be annexed to such proofs.

(b.) Circulars, Notices, &c., may bear the signature of the sender, with his trade or profession, and may also show the place of origin and the date.

(d.) Passages in the text to which it is desired to call attention may be marked with a simple stroke.

(e.) Prices may be added in manuscript or otherwise on printed or lithographed stock and share lists, prices current, and market reports.

(f.) No other manuscript additions may be made; nor are typographical additions allowed, if they tend to take from the packet its general character.

6. Articles posted as "Printed Papers" or "Legal and Commercial Documents" which do not fulfil the foregoing conditions, or are not fully pre-paid, will be treated as unpaid letters, with the sole exception of newspapers and printed papers such as circulars, notices, &c., which will, in such cases, not be forwarded.

Patterns of Merchandise.

(N.B.—Attention is drawn to the limit of weight, viz., 8 ounces, fixed for a packet of patterns. See Schedule.)

7. Patterns of merchandise are chargeable with the reduced postage under the following conditions:—

(a.) They must be placed in bags, or in boxes, or envelopes removeable so as to admit of an easy examination of their contents.

(b.) They must not have any saleable value, or bear any manuscript writing other than the name or the trade or profession of the sender, the address of the person for whom the packet is intended, a manufacturer's or trade mark, numbers and prices.

8. Patterns of merchandise may not be introduced into a letter, or into a packet of any other kind, unless they form an integral part of a particular work.

9. Patterns not packed in accordance with these conditions, or not fully prepaid, will be treated as unpaid letters, except those which are valuable. The latter will not be forwarded, nor any of which the conveyance would be attended with risk or danger.

Money, Jewels, &c., and articles liable to customs duty.

10. No letter or packet containing gold or silver money, jewels or precious articles, or any article liable to customs duty may be sent through the post under this Notification.

Correspondence received from countries belonging to the Union.

11. Although post cards are not among the classes of correspondence, for the transmission of which by post from India provision has been made, those received from other countries of the Union will be delivered in India as paid letters.

12. Letters received from any country of the Union as unpaid or insufficiently paid will be charged, on delivery, at the rate which would be chargeable on a letter posted in India for that country by the same route, together with an additional rate of two and a half annas per half ounce. The value of any stamps (as marked by the country of origin) which may be affixed to an insufficiently paid letter will be deducted from the amount thus chargeable, fractions of an anna in the remainder being raised to one anna.

13. No additional postage will henceforth be charged for the re-direction of letters or other articles sent through the post from any foreign country, whether belonging to the General Postal Union or not, to any place in British India.
