WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the preservation and management of Forests in the District of Hazara; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.—PRELIMINARY.

1. This Regulation may be called "The Hazara Forest Regulation, 1879".
- It applies to the whole of the Hazara District, with the exception—

- (1)—of the hereditary territory of the Nawab of Amb, and
- (2)—of such ilaqas and villages in Hazara as the Local Government may from time to time exempt from the operation of it

It shall come into force on the first day of August, 1879.

On and from that day the Hazara Forest Regulation, No. II of 1873, and the Hazara Forest Regulation, No. V of 1874, shall be repealed.

2. In this Regulation, unless otherwise expressly stated,—

"Deputy Commissioner" means the Deputy Commissioner of Hazara.

"Government Forest Officer" means any officer of the Government Forest Department.

"Village Forest Officer" means any person entrusted by the Deputy Commissioner with any function or charge in the village forests.

"Waste land" includes all uncultivated hill land excepting public ways, grave-yards, sacred places, the banks and corners of fields, inhabited sites, with the land immediately attached to those sites, and fallow land.

Explanation.—Land is "fallow" within the meaning of this definition when it has been cultivated within three years preceding the date of this Regulation.

"Reserved Forest" means waste land which has been declared as reserved forest at settlement or by any subsequent order of competent authority.

"Village Forest" means such waste land as has been set apart under section 8 or section 9.

CHAPTER II.—OF RESERVED FORESTS.

3. The management of the reserved forests is vested in the Government Forest Officers.

4. No rights or privileges shall be recognized in any reserved forest except such as have been defined and recorded at settlement, or have been or may be hereafter defined and recorded in favour of individuals or communities by the Local Government.

No such right or privilege, and no produce obtained by its exercise, shall be alienated by sale, lease or otherwise except to Government, unless such alienation is expressly permitted in the order defining and recording such right: provided that when any such right or privilege is annexed to any land it may be sold or otherwise alienated with such land.

5. No person shall have a claim as of right to have a permit issued to him to cut trees or brushwood, to graze cattle or cut grass, to collect dead or fallen wood or any other produce of the forest, or to burn lime, surkhi or charcoal; but all utilization of the produce of the reserved forest shall be effected according to the orders of the Conservator of Forests, subject to the general instructions of the Local Government.

Nothing in this section shall affect any right recorded at settlement or by the Local Government after settlement.

6. Whenever the limits of any reserved forest are not sufficiently indicated by natural marks or other permanent and conspicuous marks; and the limits of tracts assigned for the exercise of recorded rights (where such exist) within the reserved forest should be conspicuously demarcated also.

Acts prohibited. 7. The following acts are prohibited in reserved forests:—

- (a). The setting fire to the grass or forest, the carrying or kindling of any fire in the forest, the neglect to extinguish camp or other fires in the vicinity of a reserved forest.
- (b). The grazing or driving of cattle.
- (c). The cutting, lopping, tapping or burning any tree or shrub, the stripping off the bark or leaves of any tree or shrub.
- (d). The collection or removal of any produce of forest or its soil.
- (e). The clearing or breaking up of land for cultivation or for any other purpose.
- (f). The erecting of any building, or the making of any enclosure.
- (g). Any entry into fenced enclosures.

Nothing in this section shall prevent any act done by permission in writing of the Government Forest Officer, or the exercise of any right recorded at settlement or by the Local Government after settlement, or acquired by grant or contract made by or on behalf of the Local Government.

CHAPTER III.—OF VILLAGE FORESTS.

8. Saving existing rights in land already lawfully appropriated for cultivation, waste land within the limits specified below, not being reserved forest, may, subject to the orders of the Local Government, be set apart by the Deputy Commissioner as "village forest," and shall be brought and maintained under wood or turf, or partly under wood and partly under turf, as far as the nature of the ground may allow or the circumstances of the case require. Such limits are the following:—

- (1). The crests and slopes immediately below the crest of hills (within the limits of tree vegetation).
- (2). Catchment-basins of rivers, streams, torrents, ravines and their feeders.
- (3). The banks and beds of such rivers, streams, torrents and ravines.
- (4). All steep or rocky slopes.
- (5). Waste lands which, though not situated in any of the above positions, are nevertheless of such value or utility for the supply of material or otherwise that their clearance would in the judgment of the Deputy Commissioner be inadvisable.

Explanation.—Nothing in this section shall be held to prevent the ultimate clearance of land originally maintained as forest under the fifth condition of this section when the circumstances are such that, in the opinion of the Deputy Commissioner and the Forest Officer, the reason for maintaining the lands as forests no longer exists.

9. In any case in which such proportion of the owners of any land, other than land referred to in section 8, as pay not less than two-thirds of the revenue due on such land apply to the Deputy Commissioner in this behalf, the Deputy Commissioner may set apart the land as "village forest."

The arrangement so made shall hold good for the period of settlement, or for such shorter period as may be desired by the applicants.

10. The limits of tracts set apart as village forest, when not sufficiently indicated by natural marks or other existing boundaries shall be demarcated in such manner as the Deputy Commissioner may direct; and the limits of the forest shall in all cases be indicated in the village map.

11. In any tract referred to in section 8, the felling of trees required for domestic and agricultural requirements and the breaking up of land for cultivation shall, until such time as the limits of such tract are indicated or demarcated in the map provided by section 10, be effected pursuant to written permits issued by the Deputy Commissioner as heretofore; but permits to break up land shall be refused, if it appear that the land applied for is in one or other of the positions or conditions declared in section 8.

12. When the Deputy Commissioner declares that the demarcation of the forests in the area of any village is completed, all such waste lands in such area as are not included in reserved or village forest may be cleared for cultivation without reference to the Deputy Commissioner or other authority:

Provided always that before commencing such cultivation sufficient notice, in writing, of the intention to cultivate be given by the owner of the waste land to the lamardar and village patwari, who shall forward the notice to the Deputy Commissioner.

13. The management of the "village forest" is vested in the village Forest Officers, subject to the control of the Deputy Commissioner.

The Government Forest Officers shall give such assistance and advice as may be required by the Local Government, and may, under the orders of the Local Government, inspect and report on the working of the rules herein contained.

14. The village forests shall be managed pursuant to written "General Management Orders" which may from time to time be issued by the Deputy Commissioner under the general instructions of the Local Government.

15. The "General Management Orders" shall, among other matters, provide for the following:—

- (a).—The number of trees of each kind which may be felled, and the area on which coppice or brushwood may be cut during each year, the situation of such trees, and the limits of such areas.

Explanation.—The cuttings assigned to several persons may be allowed to accumulate, but shall never be anticipated or exceeded.

(b).—The thinnings or other works of improvement to be made during each year.

(c).—The portions of the forest in which grazing or grass-cutting, or collection of any produce from the forest, is to be restricted or prohibited in order to promote the reproduction and growth of the forest.

(d).—The kinds of trees and portion of the forest in which trees of such kinds may be lopped for fodder.

(e).—The places where and conditions under which lime, "surkhí" or charcoal may be burnt.

Explanation.—Such "General Management Orders" may be annual or for a term of years.

The village patwári shall be furnished with a copy of such "General Management Orders," together with any additions thereto or alterations herein that may have been duly made, and shall be responsible for keeping and allowing free inspection of such orders as may be in force for the time being.

16. The following acts are always prohibited in village forests:—

Acts prohibited.

1st.—Squatting, or building or breaking up and for cultivation.

Exception.—Such sheds as are put up to shelter graziers during the grazing seasons.

2nd.—Cutting trees or brushwood, or collecting any produce of the forest or its soil, contrary to the terms of the "General Management Orders."

3rd.—Lopping trees of the kinds not specified by, or trees of the kind specified but not in the parts of the forest authorized by, the "General Management Orders."

4th.—Barking, boring for turpentine, or otherwise injuring trees or brushwood not allowed to be felled within the current year by the "General Management Orders."

5th.—Grazing or driving of cattle contrary to the terms of the "General Management Orders."

6th.—Removing dead leaves or surface soil from the forest.

7th.—Kindling fire in the forest, negligently allowing camp fires to remain unextinguished in the vicinity of the forest, and negligently allowing fire to extend thereto; also any breach of the "General Management Orders" regarding burning of lime or "surkhí."

Exception.—Nothing in this clause shall be held to prevent the firing of lands producing grass only, and which shall be indicated every year by the Deputy Commissioner as lands which in his opinion may be safely fired without risk of damage to the stability of the soil, of the lands themselves or risk of the fire extending to any forest or to trees and brushwood in the vicinity.

17. Subject to the provisions of sections 13 to 16 (both inclusive) the use of the produce of the village forests and of the produce thereof shall continue to be enjoyed by such inhabitants of the village and other persons as may under the settlement orders be entitled thereto; and all such persons may dispose of such produce in any manner they please:

Provided that nothing in this section shall be held to exempt any person from payment of any seigniorage or other charge to which he may be liable.

CHAPTER IV.—GENERAL.

18. The Local Government may prohibit notification in the official gazette the felling of, or any kind of injury to, plane trees and groves in certain places. other kinds of trees growing in groves, near villages, along roads, at burying places or siana or near springs and streams.

19. So long as any individuals or communities who may under existing orders and terms of settlement be entitled to receive from Government seigniorage fees in respect of trees felled in reserved forests, and bound to pay fees in respect of trees felled outside the reserved forests, shall not have consented in writing, the abolition of such payment, on either side, shall be placed such written consent on record in the office of the Deputy Commissioner, the list of seigniorage fees (in force on the date on which this Regulation comes into force) shall be maintained for the purposes of such payments:

Provided that the Local Government may revise the rates in such list not oftener than once in five years, and may at any time add trees to or exclude trees from it.

The rates may be uniform throughout the district, or varied in different parts thereof.

Whenever the list of seigniorage rates has been revised, the Local Government shall publish notification in the Government Gazette which shall set forth the rates of seigniorage payable, the circumstances under which trees are exempt from charge, and such other matters connected with seigniorage payments as the Local Government may see fit to regulate.

20. In the case of existing cultivation on the sides, the Deputy Commissioner may require the owner of such land to protect it by a retaining wall or to take such other precaution to ensure the stability of the soil as he may deem necessary.

21. When in any case the head or banks of any stream are being dangerously eroded, or there is danger of the formation of torrents or the occurrence of landslips, the Deputy Commissioner may enclose the area necessary to prevent or remedy the danger, and may cause such area to be planted. The enclosure may be permanent or for such period as may be necessary to secure the removal of the danger.

Land enclosed under this section shall, while enclosed, be subject to all the prohibitions provided in regard to reserved forests.

As far as is necessary for this purpose, the Deputy Commissioner may restrict all rights and privileges in such area. For all rights and privileges so restricted compensation shall be payable and be awarded as nearly as may be in manner provided by the law for the expropriation of land:

Provided that no compensation shall be claimable for any right or privilege to the exercise of which the necessity for the enclosure is primarily attributable.

22. The Local Government may from time to time make rules to regulate the transport of timber or other forest produce by rivers and streams within the district affected by this Regulation, the custody thereof during transit, the levy of fees in respect of timber or other forest produce transported by such rivers or streams, and the disposal of waif and unowned timber or other produce.

23. No Civil Court shall exercise jurisdiction over any of the following matters:—

(a).—Any matter provided for in sections 3 to 15 (both inclusive) and in sections 20 and 21.

(b).—Any matter provided for in sections 29 and 30.

In the above cases jurisdiction shall rest with the revenue officers only, and all proceedings shall be governed by the procedure prescribed for the time being under clauses 1, 2 and 3 of section 66 of Act No. XXXIII of 1871.

Costs and expenses arising out of such proceedings recoverable from any of the parties thereto shall be recovered in the manner provided for arrears of revenue by section 64 of that Act.

CHAPTER V.—OF LIABILITIES, OFFENCES AND PENALTIES.

24. It shall be the duty of all land-owners, occupants of land and all persons enjoying the user of any reserved or village forest to aid in the prevention and prosecution of offences against this Regulation, and in extinguishing all forest fires prohibited by it, whether called upon to do so by a public servant or not.

Contractors and other persons employed by them in any forest, and persons holding any permit or lease in such forest, have the same duty as regards the forest in which their employment, or permit, or lease subsists.

25. Any person who commits or (within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code) abets the commission of any act prohibited in or under chapters II and III and sections 18 and 21 of this Regulation, or who breaks any rule made under section 22, or who voluntarily neglects the duties imposed on him by section 24, shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be punished with fine which may amount to Rs. 100, or ten times the value of the forest produce (if any) injured or illicitly taken; and, in default of payment, to rigorous or simple imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months.

In case of a second conviction, rigorous or simple imprisonment not exceeding six months may be awarded in addition to the above penalty.

26. The penalty provided in the last preceding section may, in the discretion of the adjudicating Magistrate, be accompanied by the forfeiture of all implements, cattle or conveyances used in the commission or furtherance of the offence adjudicated; and all wood or other forest produce illicitly obtained shall be restored to the Government Forest Department or to the Deputy Commissioner as the case may be.

27. In all cases when in the opinion of the Magistrate the restoration of the produce would be an insufficient compensation for injury done, the whole or any portion of the fine levied, and the whole or any portion of the proceeds of implements, cattle or conveyances forfeited, may be awarded as such compensation.

The Magistrate may, in his discretion, award a portion (not exceeding half) of the fine to the person (not being a public servant) by whose information or exertions the offender was brought to justice.

Nothing in this section shall be held to bar the rights of the Government and the owners of the forest to a civil suit for damages in respect of any injury sustained.

28. In cases of illicit burning of forests, or in any case in which it may appear that any community of villagers, land-owners, or occupants of land, or section of such community, has neglected to render reasonable assistance in the prevention and prosecution of any forest offence, it shall be lawful for the Deputy Commissioner or any first class Magistrate to treat all the villagers, land-owners or occupants of land in whose vicinity the burning has occurred, or the default has been made, as liable for such burning or default, and to sentence each individual to the fine provided in section 25, and, in default of payment, to imprisonment as therein provided.

29. In cases of illicit firing of any forest, it shall be lawful for the Deputy Commissioner or any first class Magistrate to direct that the lands burnt be reserved from all user of private right-holders for two years, or such longer time as may be necessary to restore the land to the condition in which it was before the burning. The order may also direct that such expenses of protection and watching and of works for reproduction as cannot be met by the proceeds of the produce of such forest shall be recovered from the persons whose act or neglect caused or contributed to the burning, or from the village community or section thereof which had the right of grazing cattle in the forest.

30. In all cases of illicit cultivation of any forest (whether or not any punishment has been inflicted under section 25), the Deputy Commissioner may enclose the land so cultivated, and may suspend the exercise of all rights for two years, or for such longer time as may be necessary to reproduce any trees, brush-wood or turf that may have been destroyed in order to its cultivation.

31. All cattle found straying or unlawfully grazing in any reserved forest or in any portion of an unreserved forest in which grazing is prohibited under section 16, or in any land closed under the provision of section 21, 29 or 30, may be seized by any Police, Revenue, Government Forest or Village Forest Officer; and, when so seized, shall be driven forthwith to the nearest pound or police station to be there dealt with according to the law provided for "cattle trespass":

Provided that, when cultivation closely adjoins the boundary of a forest, no cattle straying from such cultivation or its neighbourhood shall be liable to seizure under this section unless the forest in that part adjoining the said cultivation has been efficiently fenced.

No cattle shall be liable to seizure which are being lawfully driven along a road or track on which a right of way exists, even though they stray from such road or track: provided that the driver uses reasonable care and diligence to prevent his cattle from so straying, and drive back such as stray.

32. All proceedings relating to offences and criminal liabilities under this Regulation shall (except as otherwise provided) be governed by the Code of Criminal Procedure for the time being in force.

33. Any Revenue, Police or Forest Officer may arrest any person committing within his sight an offence punishable under this Regulation. The person so arrested shall be taken to the nearest Magistrate or police station, there to be released on bail or personal recognizance pending the trial of the case.

34. Any Revenue, Police or Forest Officer may seize any timber or other produce of a forest or forest produce unlawfully removed, its soil which he has reason to believe has been obtained, or is being transported, contrary to the provisions of this Regulation, or of the rules or orders issued under it. Such seizure shall be reported forthwith to the nearest Magistrate having jurisdiction in respect of such offences.

35. The Local Government may invest any Forest Officer with the powers with which an Assistant Commissioner may be invested under section 5 of Act No. XXXIII of 1871.

Such powers shall be exercised only in cases arising out of this Regulation, and subject to the control of the Deputy Commissioner in the manner provided in the second clause of the said fifth section.

* The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholar-like knowledge of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

Hitherto it has been the practice to affix postage stamps to parcels which the sender desires to prepay, but serious inconvenience has been found to arise from the stamps so affixed adhering imperfectly to the cloth, wax-cloth, tin, or other materials commonly used by the public for covering parcels. Fraud has also been found to result from the re-use of stamps which have become detached from the parcels to which they were affixed.

With effect from the 1st July 1879, prepayment of parcel postage may be made only in cash tendered with the parcel at the Post Office window within the prescribed hours.

Receipts will be given to the senders for all parcels tendered at the window during the prescribed hours, whether prepaid in cash or unpaid, the amount of prepayment, if any, being specified on the receipt.

This order applies to all parcels (inland, overland, insured, or value-payable), except those sent on the public service, which, if prepaid, must as heretofore be prepaid with service stamps.

A. M. MONTEATH,
Dir. Genl. of the Post Office of India.

The 29th May 1879.

The public are informed that, with effect from the 1st July 1879, the rules appertaining to value-payable parcels (see Postal Guide of 1st April 1879, page 14), will be applicable to registered book packets: that is, the sender of a registered book packet may, at the time of posting it, declare the value of the contents for realization from the addressee and payment to him.

Asst. Dir. Genl. of the Post Office of India.

The 31st May 1879.

Hitherto it has been the practice to affix postage stamps to parcels which the sender desires to prepay, but serious inconvenience has been found to arise from the stamps so affixed adhering imperfectly to the cloth, wax-cloth, tin, or other materials commonly used by the public for covering parcels. Fraud has also been found to result from the re-use of stamps which have become detached from the parcels to which they were affixed.

With effect from the 1st July 1879, prepayment of parcel postage may be made only in cash tendered with the parcel at the Post Office window within the prescribed hours.

Receipts will be given to the senders for all parcels tendered at the window during the prescribed hours, whether prepaid in cash or unpaid, the amount of prepayment, if any, being specified on the receipt.

This order applies to all parcels (inland, overland, insured, or value-payable), except those sent on the public service, which, if prepaid, must as heretofore be prepaid with service stamps.

The 9th June 1879.

It is expected that Foreign Postcards bearing stamps of the value of 1½ anna each for correspondence with Great Britain and other countries of the Universal Postal Union, as well as Inland Postcards bearing stamps of the value of ½ anna each for correspondence within the limits of British India, will be available for purchase on and after the 1st July 1879.

2. The Postcards will be purchasable by the public under the same conditions as embossed envelopes, those sold by the Post Office being sold either in bundles of sixteen or singly at the value of the stamps borne by them.

3. Particular attention is drawn to the rule printed on each Postcard to the effect that the address only is to be written on the front or stamp side of the Postcard.

4. Any Foreign Postcards intended for transmission via Brindisi to Great Britain, or a country served through it, must have a ½ anna adhesive postage label affixed to it near the embossed stamp, in payment of the additional postage prescribed for that route.

5. Inland Postcards may not be sent to foreign countries except under the ordinary conditions applicable to letters.

A. M. MONTEATH,

Dir. Genl. of the Post Office of India.

The 29th May 1879.

The public are informed that, with effect from the 1st July 1879, the rules appertaining to value-payable parcels (see Postal Guide of 1st April 1879, page 14), will be applicable to registered book packets: that is, the sender of a registered book packet may, at the time of posting it, declare the value of the contents for realization from the addressee and payment to him.

The 31st May 1879.

Hitherto it has been the practice to affix postage stamps to parcels which the sender desires to prepay, but serious inconvenience has been found to arise from the stamps so affixed adhering imperfectly to the cloth, wax-cloth, tin, or other materials commonly used by the public for covering parcels. Fraud has also been found to result from the re-use of stamps which have become detached from the parcels to which they were affixed.

With effect from the 1st July 1879, prepayment of parcel postage may be made only in cash tendered with the parcel at the Post Office window within the prescribed hours.

Receipts will be given to the senders for all parcels tendered at the window during the prescribed hours, whether prepaid in cash or unpaid, the amount of prepayment, if any, being specified on the receipt.

This order applies to all parcels (inland, overland, insured, or value-payable), except those sent on the public service, which, if prepaid, must as heretofore be prepaid with service stamps.

The 9th June 1879.

It is expected that Foreign Postcards bearing stamps of the value of 1½ anna each for correspondence with Great Britain and other countries of the Universal Postal Union, as well as Inland Postcards bearing stamps of the value of ½ anna each for correspondence within the limits of British India, will be available for purchase on and after the 1st July 1879.

2. The Postcards will be purchasable by the public under the same conditions as embossed envelopes, those sold by the Post Office being sold either in bundles of sixteen or singly at the value of the stamps borne by them.

3. Particular attention is drawn to the rule printed on each Postcard to the effect that the address only is to be written on the front or stamp side of the Postcard.

4. Any Foreign Postcards intended for transmission via Brindisi to Great Britain, or a country served through it, must have a ½ anna adhesive postage label affixed to it near the embossed stamp, in payment of the additional postage prescribed for that route.

5. Inland Postcards may not be sent to foreign countries except under the ordinary conditions applicable to letters.

* * * The Rig-Veda, the oldest book of Indian literature, has very properly been made one of the principal class-books for those who study Sanskrit in the schools and colleges in India, and though at present a scholar-like knowledge of the Vedic hymns is in the examinations required of the more advanced students only, yet, as soon as editions, translations, grammars, and dictionaries shall have rendered the study of these ancient documents more accessible, I doubt not that the time will come when no one in India will call himself a Sanskrit scholar who cannot construe the hymns of the ancient Rishis of his country.—Extract from Preface.

HIGH COURT—Original Side.

NOTIFICATION.

Calcutta, the 30th May 1879.

The following Rules passed by the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal are published for general information:

By Order,
R. BELCHAMBERS,
Registrar.

The following Rules are to come into effect as Rules of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal in its Original Civil Jurisdiction from the 16th day of June 1879:—

1. Unless otherwise ordered, suits and proceedings shall be entered in the proper cause list as follows:—

Suits instituted in this Court in its Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction, in its Testamentary and Intestate Jurisdiction, and its Matrimonial Jurisdiction, or in which a claim has been stated under Section 527 of Act X of 1877, after service of the summons to appear and answer; suits instituted in this Court in its Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty Jurisdiction; if in personam, after service of the citation to appear and defend, or, if in rem, after execution of the warrant of arrest; suits transferred to this Court under Section 13 of the Letters Patent, on the arrival of the record; suits in which a case has been stated under Section 517 of Act X of 1877, or in which a claim has been made under Section 332 or Section 335, or which stands for judgment upon an award, after the usual notice has been issued; suits which stand for further directions upon the report of a Judge, or an Officer, or other referee, on the requisition in writing of the Attorney for any party, or of any party acting in person; applications under Section 403, or Section 523, or Section 525, of Act X of 1877, after the usual notice has been issued; rules or alternative orders under Section 46 of the "Specific Relief Act, 1877," on the production of such rules or orders.

2. Two general cause lists shall be kept in the Registrar's Office, one headed "General list of causes," the other headed "General list of suits for liquidated claims."
3. Any suit in which the claim is only for a debt or liquidated demand in money may, on the requisition in writing of the Attorney of any party, or of any party acting in person, be entered in the list of suits for liquidated claims.
4. Any suit which has already been entered in the General list of causes, whether before or after these Rules come into operation, may, on like application, be transferred to the General list of suits for liquidated claims.
5. Suits entered in the General list of causes on or before the 23rd of June 1879, and on or before that day transferred to the General list of suits for liquidated claims, shall have priority over suits subsequently entered, and shall be entered in the order in which they stand in the General list of causes. In all other cases a suit entered in or transferred to the General list of suits for liquidated claims shall be placed at the bottom of the list.
6. If a suit not being a suit only for a debt or liquidated demand in money be entered in the General list of suits for liquidated claims, a Judge may, upon the application of any party by summons in Chambers, or the Judge at the trial may, whether applied to by any party for that purpose or not, order the suit to be transferred to the General list of causes, and in either case may make such order as to costs and otherwise as he shall think fit.
7. All suits and proceedings, other than those mentioned in Rules 3 and 4, shall be entered in the General list of causes.
8. Whenever two Courts shall sit concurrently in the exercise of Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction, two peremptory lists of defended causes shall be prepared for every working day; and, unless otherwise ordered, one of such lists shall be supplied with cases from the General list of causes; the other with cases from the General list of suits for liquidated claims, and also, when necessary, from the General list of causes.
9. When only one Court shall sit in the exercise of Ordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction, one peremptory list of defended causes shall be prepared for every working day, and shall, unless otherwise ordered by a Judge, be supplied, first with cases from the General list of suits for liquidated claims and next with cases from the General list of causes.
10. From the supply of cases to be obtained for each of the peremptory lists under the last two preceding Rules, shall, unless otherwise ordered by a Judge, be excluded every case required by the 20th or 21st of these Rules to be placed in other lists.
11. Unless otherwise ordered by a Judge, every peremptory list of defended causes shall contain for each day not less than six cases from the General list of causes, or not less than twelve cases from the General list of suits for liquidated claims, or, if supplied partly from one list and partly from the other, not less than twelve cases.

12. Every rule or alternative order granted or made under Section 64 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877, shall be placed on the peremptory list of defended causes for the day mentioned in such rule or order.
13. Unless otherwise ordered, a commission to examine witnesses issued in a suit or proceeding shall, until the return or expiration of the time for the return thereof, operate as a stay of such suit or proceeding.
14. No suit or proceeding, the hearing of which is stayed (a) by an injunction, or (b) until the performance of some act, or (c) by reason of a commission to examine witnesses having been issued, shall be placed on a peremptory list until after the dissolution of such injunction, or the performance of such act, or the return or expiration of the time for the return of such commission; unless in case (b) otherwise ordered by a Judge, or in case (c) otherwise ordered by a Judge or consented to by the parties.
15. Any suit or proceeding may, on the requisition in writing of the Attorneys for all the parties, or of the parties if acting in person, be omitted from the peremptory list: but in that case such suit or proceeding shall be transferred to the bottom of the general list on which it stands.
16. Except as provided in the last two preceding Rules, no suit or proceeding shall, unless otherwise ordered, be omitted from the peremptory list on which it ought to be placed.
17. When a case is ordered to be placed on a peremptory list out of its turn, it shall, unless otherwise ordered, be placed at the bottom of such peremptory list.
18. When a day is specially fixed for the hearing of a case, the day so fixed shall be noted in the margin of the general list in which it stands, and the case shall, unless otherwise specially ordered, be placed on the peremptory list for the day fixed for the hearing thereof, next after any part heard case in such list.
19. On motion days, two peremptory lists shall, unless otherwise ordered by a Judge, be prepared for each of those days, in addition to the daily peremptory lists of defended causes, one of which shall be numbered 1 and headed "Peremptory list of undefended causes," and the other of which shall be numbered 2 and headed "Special peremptory list."
20. Except as provided in Rule 21, every suit in the General list of causes, or in the General list of suits for liquidated claims, in which no appearance shall have been entered, and every application under Section 403 standing in either of such lists, shall, as regards such suit, be placed in the peremptory list of undefended causes for the first motion day after the expiration of the time allowed to the defendant for his appearance in Court, and shall, as regards such application, be placed in the peremptory list of undefended causes for the motion day mentioned in the notice issued by the Court.

21. Every suit in rem in the Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty Jurisdiction of the Court in which a first default shall have been pronounced, shall be placed on the top of the peremptory list of undefended causes for the day next after the expiration of two months from the return of the warrant of arrest, i.e., if such day shall be a motion day, otherwise on the top of the peremptory list of defended causes for the day.
 22. Every suit either in the General list of causes or in the General list of suits for liquidated claims, which stands for the settlement of issues, or in which a case has been stated under Section 517 or 527 of Act X of 1877, or in which a claim has been made under Section 332 or Section 335, or which stands for judgment upon an award, or for further directions on a report, and every application under Section 523 or Section 525 which stands in either of such general cause lists, shall be placed on the Special peremptory list.
 23. There shall also be kept in the Registrar's Office two general lists of appeals, one headed "List of appeals to the High Court," the other headed "List of appeals to the Privy Council."
 24. Every appeal from the Original Side of the Court, and every reference from the Calcutta Court of Small Causes, shall be entered in the General list of appeals to this Court.
 25. When a Bench is formed for the hearing of appeals from the Original Side, a peremptory list shall be prepared in which shall be entered, first such appeals from the Original Side as are ready for hearing, and next the references from the Calcutta Court of Small Causes in which the usual notice has been given to or waived by the parties.
 26. Unless otherwise ordered, such appeals from the Original Side as were not ready for hearing when the peremptory list of appeals was prepared, or were subsequently preferred, shall, when ready for hearing, either by the removal of any restriction to the hearing thereof or otherwise, be added to the cases on such peremptory list, at any time during the sitting of the Appellate Bench for the hearing of appeals from the Original Side.
 27. Every appeal to the Privy Council from a decision of the High Court in respect of a case on its Original Side shall, on the admission thereof, be entered in the list of appeals to the Privy Council. In such list shall be noted each stage of progress towards and up to the transmission of the record to England, as also the date on which the case is finally disposed of.
