Provided that the Court may, subject to the control of the Local Government, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, declare that any of the said portions of the said Code shall not extend and be applied to the Small Cause Court, or that any of such portions shall so extend and be applied with such modifications as the Court, subject to the control aforesaid, may think fit.

24. Except in cases of set-off under the Code of Civil Procedure, section 111, no written statement shall be received unless required by the Court.

No written statement except in cases of set-off.

25. When a period of eight days from the decision of a suit has expired without any application for a new trial or re-hearing of such suit having been made, or when any such application has been made within such period and such application has been refused, or the new trial or re-hearing (as the case may be) has ended, any person, whether a party to the suit or not, desirous of receiving back any document produced by him in the suit and placed on the record, shall, unless the document is impounded under section 143 of the Code of Civil Procedure, be entitled to receive back the same:

26. In any suit in which the defendant appears and does not admit the claim, and the plaintiff does not obtain a decree for the full amount of his claim, the Small Cause Court may in its discretion order the plaintiff to pay to the defendant, by way of satisfaction for his trouble and attendance, such sum as it thinks fit.

Compensation payable by plaintiff to defendant in certain cases.

When any claim preferred, or objection made, under section 278 of the Code of Civil Procedure is disallowed, the Small Cause Court may in its discretion order the person preferring or making such claim or objection to pay to the decree-holder, or to the judgment-debtor, or to both, by way of satisfaction as aforesaid, such sum or sums as it thinks fit.

Any order under this section may, in default of payment of the amount payable thereunder, be enforced by the person in whose favour it is made against the person against whom it is made as if it were a decree of the Court.

Things attached to immoveable property and removeable by tenant to be deemed moveable in execution.

29. Whenever any judgment-debtor, who has been arrested or whose property has been seized in execution of a decree of the Small Cause Court, offers security to the satisfaction of such Court for payment of the amount which he has been ordered to pay and the costs, the Court may order him to be discharged or the property to be released.

Discharge of judgment-debtor on sufficient security.

30. Whenever it appears to the Small Cause Court that any judgment-debtor under its decree is unable, from sickness, poverty or other sufficient cause, to pay the amount of the decree, or, if such Court has ordered the same to be paid in instalments, the amount of any instalment thereof, it may, from time to time, for such time and upon such terms as it thinks fit, suspend the execution of such decree and discharge the debtor, or make such order as it thinks fit.

The High Court may, from time to time, by rule declare what shall be deemed to be non-judicial and quasi-judicial acts within the meaning of this section.

34. The suits cognizable by the Registrar under section fourteen shall be heard and determined by him in like manner in all respects as a Judge of the Court might hear and determine the same:

CHAPTER VI.

NEW TRIALS AND RE-HEARING.

37. Save as is herein specially provided, every decree and order of the Small Cause Court in a suit shall be final and conclusive; but the Court may, on application of either party, made within eight days from the date of the decree or order in any suit (not being a decree passed under section 522 of the Code of Civil Procedure), order a new trial to be held, or alter, set aside or reverse the decree or order, upon such terms as it thinks reasonable, and may, in the meantime, stay the proceedings.

Judgments and orders of Court final.

Power to order new trial in Small Cause Court.

38. Any party may, within eight days after the judgment in any suit in the Small Cause Court in which the amount or value of the subject-matter exceeds one thousand rupees, apply to the High Court for an order that such suit may be re-heard in the High Court.

Such application shall be supported by affidavits, and, in case the applicant has appeared in the Small Cause Court by advocate, vakil, attorney or pleader, by a certificate from such advocate, vakil, attorney or pleader that in his opinion there are good grounds for re-hearing the suit, and if, on hearing such application, the High Court is of opinion that there has been a miscarriage or failure of justice, or that there are other good grounds for such re-hearing, the Court shall make an order ex parte, on such terms as it thinks fit, for such re-hearing, and fix a day for the same, whereof notice shall be given to the opposite party.

Application for re-hearing in High Court.

The rules contained in sections 545, 546 and 547 of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to staying and executing decrees under appeal, shall apply in the case of applications under this section as if such applications were appeals from the decisions of the Small Cause Court.

39. On the day fixed under section thirty-eight or on any other day to which the re-hearing may be adjourned, the High Court, or some Judge thereof, shall proceed to re-hear and determine the case as if the same were a suit brought in such High Court in its ordinary original civil jurisdiction, in which the plaintiff in the Small Cause Court was plaintiff, and the defendant in such Court was defendant, and in which written statements had not been ordered to be filed; and, except as herein otherwise provided, all the practice and procedure of such High Court in respect of suits brought in its ordinary original civil jurisdiction shall be followed in suits re-heard under this section: Provided that there shall not be any appeal from any judgment, decree or order under this section.

CHAPTER VII.

RECOVERY OF POSSESSION OF IMMOVEABLE PROPERTY.

41. When any person has had possession of any immoveable property situate within the local limits of the Small Cause Court's jurisdiction and of which the annual value at a rack-rent does not exceed one thousand rupees, as the tenant, or by permission, of another person, or of some person through whom such other person claims, and such tenancy or permission has determined or been withdrawn, and such tenant or occupier or any person holding under or by assignment from him (hereinafter called the occupant) refuses to deliver up such property in compliance with a request made to him in this behalf by such other person, such other person (hereinafter called the applicant) may apply to the Small Cause Court for a summons against the occupant, calling upon him to show cause, on a day therein appointed, why he should not be compelled to deliver up the property.

Service of summons.

42. The summons shall be served on the occupant in the manner provided by the Code of Civil Procedure for the service of a summons on a defendant.

Order for possession.

43. If the occupant does not appear at the time appointed and show cause to the contrary, the applicant shall, if the Small Cause Court is satisfied that he is entitled to apply under section forty-one, be entitled to an order addressed to a bailiff of the Court directing him to give possession of the property to the applicant on such day as the Court thinks fit to name in such order.

Explanation.—If the occupant proves that the tenancy was created or permission granted by virtue of a title which determined previous to the date of the application, he shall be deemed to have shown cause within the meaning of this section.

Such order to justify bailiff entering on property and giving possession.

44. Any such order shall justify the bailiff to whom it is addressed in entering after the hour of six in the morning and before the hour of six in the afternoon upon the property named therein, with such assistants as he thinks necessary, and giving possession of such property to the applicant: and no suit or prosecution shall be maintainable against any Judge or officer of the Small Cause Court by whom any such order as aforesaid was issued, or against any bailiff or other person by whom the same was executed, or by whom any such summons as aforesaid was served, for the issue, execution or service of any such order or summons, by reason only that the applicant was not entitled to the possession of the property.

Bar to proceedings against Judge or officer for issuing, &c., order or summons.

Applicant, if entitled to possession, not to be deemed trespasser for any error in proceedings.

45. When the applicant, at the time of applying for any such order as aforesaid, was entitled to the possession of such property, neither he nor any person acting in his behalf shall be deemed, on account of any error, defect or irregularity in the mode of proceeding to obtain possession thereunder, to be a trespasser; but any person aggrieved may bring a suit for the recovery of compensation for any damage which he has sustained by reason of such error, defect or irregularity:

Occupant may sue for compensation.

when no such damage is proved, the suit shall be dismissed; and when such damage is proved but the amount of the compensation assessed by the Court does not exceed ten rupees, the Court shall award to the plaintiff no more costs than compensation, unless the Judge who tries the case certifies that in his opinion full costs should be awarded to the plaintiff.

Liability of applicant obtaining order when not entitled.

46. Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to protect any applicant obtaining possession of any property under this chapter from a suit by any person deeming himself aggrieved thereby, when such applicant was not at the time of applying for such order as aforesaid entitled to the possession of such property.

Application for order in such case an act of trespass.

And when the applicant was not, at the time of applying for any such order as aforesaid, entitled to the possession of such property, the application for such order, though no possession is taken thereunder, shall be deemed to be an act of trespass committed by the applicant against the occupant.

Stay of proceedings on occupant giving security to bring a suit against the applicant.

47. Whenever on an application being made under section forty-one the occupant binds himself, with two sureties, in a bond for such amount as the Small Cause Court thinks reasonable, having regard to the value of the property and the probable costs of the suit next hereinafter mentioned, to institute without delay a suit in the High Court against the applicant for compensation for trespass and to pay all the costs of such suit in case he does not prosecute the same or in case judgment therein is given for the applicant, the Small Cause Court shall stay the proceedings on such application until such suit is disposed of.

If the occupant obtains a decree in any such suit against the applicant, such decree shall supersede the order (if any) made under section forty-three.

Nothing contained in section twenty-two shall apply to suits under this section.

The application shall be supported by an affidavit or affirmation to the effect of the form (marked A) in the third schedule hereto annexed.

and any of the Judges of the said Court may in his discretion give reasonable time to the debtor to pay the rent due from him.

Upon any such application, the costs attending it and attending the issue and execution of the warrant shall be in the discretion of the Judge, and shall be paid as he directs.

Claim to goods distrained made by a stranger.

61. If any claim is made to, or in respect of, any property seized under this chapter, or in respect of the proceeds or value thereof, by any person not being the debtor, the Registrar of the Small Cause Court, upon the application of the bailiff who seized the property, may issue a summons calling before the Court the claimant and the person who obtained the warrant.

And thereupon any suit which may have been brought in the High Court in respect of such claim shall be stayed, and any Judge of the High Court, on proof of the issue of such summons and that the property was so distrained, may order the plaintiff to pay the costs of all proceedings in such suit after the issue of such summons.

Every application under this section shall be made within seven days from the date of the seizure of the subject-matter in dispute.

In granting applications under this section, the High Court may impose such terms as to payment of, or giving security for, costs or otherwise as it thinks fit.

CHAPTER XI.

MISCONDUCT OF INFERIOR MINISTERIAL OFFICERS.

Power to fine officers.

78. The Chief Judge may, by order, fine, in an amount not exceeding one month's salary, any clerk, bailiff or other inferior ministerial officer of the Court who is guilty of misconduct or neglect in the performance of the duties of his office, and such fine may be deducted from his salary.

Default of bailiff or other officer in execution of order or warrant.

79. If any clerk, bailiff or other inferior ministerial officer of the Small Cause Court who is employed as such in the execution of any order or warrant, loses, by neglect, connivance or omission, an opportunity of executing such order or warrant, he shall be liable, by order of the Chief Judge, on the application of the person injured by such neglect, connivance or omission, to pay such sum, not exceeding in any case the sum for which the said order or warrant was issued, as, in the opinion of the Chief Judge, represents the amount of the damage sustained by such person thereby.

Extortion or default of officers.

80. If any clerk, bailiff or other inferior ministerial officer of the Small Cause Court is charged with extortion or misconduct while acting under colour of its process, or with not duly paying or accounting for any money levied by him under its authority, the Court may inquire into such charge, and may make such order for the repayment or payment of any money so extorted, or of any money so levied as aforesaid, and of damages and costs, by such officer, as it thinks fit.

81. For the purposes of any inquiry under this chapter, the Small Cause Court shall have all the powers of summoning and enforcing the attendance of witnesses and compelling the production of documents which it possesses in suits under this Act.

Enforcement of order.

82. Any order under this chapter for the payment or repayment of money may, in default of payment of the amount payable thereunder, be enforced by the person to whom such amount is payable as if the same were a decree of the Small Cause Court in his favour.

CHAPTER XII.

CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Procedure of Court in certain cases of contempt.

83. When any such offence as is described in section 175, 178, 179, 180 or 228 of the Indian Penal Code is committed in the view or presence of the Small Cause Court, the Court may cause the offender to be detained in custody; and, at any time before the rising of the Court on the same day, may, if it thinks fit, take cognizance of the offence, and punish the offender with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, and in default of payment of such fine with imprisonment in the civil jail for a term which may extend to one month unless such fine is sooner paid.

Record in such cases.

84. In every such case the Court shall record the facts constituting the offence, the statement (if any) made by the offender, and the finding and sentence.

If the offence is under section 228 of the Indian Penal Code, the record must show the nature and stage of the judicial proceeding in which the Court when interrupted or insulted was sitting, and the nature of the interruption or insult offered.

Procedure where Court considers that the case should not be dealt with under section 83.

85. If the Court considers that a person accused of any offence referred to in section eighty-three and committed in its view or presence should be imprisoned otherwise than in default of payment of fine, or that a fine exceeding two hundred rupees should be imposed upon him, or if the Court is for any other reason of opinion that the case should not be disposed of under section eighty-three, the Court, after recording the facts constituting the offence and the statement of the accused as hereinbefore provided, may forward the case to a Presidency Magistrate, and may require security to be given for the appearance of such accused person before such Magistrate, or, if sufficient security is not given, may forward him under custody to such Magistrate.

Such Magistrate shall deal with the accused person in the manner provided by the Presidency Magistrates Act, 1877; and may sentence the offender to punishment as provided in the section of the Indian Penal Code under which he is charged.

Discharge of offender on submission or apology.

86. When the Court has, under section eighty-three or section eighty-five, punished an offender, or forwarded him to a Presidency Magistrate for trial, for refusing or omitting to do anything which he was lawfully required to do, or for any intentional insult or interruption, the Court may in its discretion discharge the offender or remit the punishment on his submission to the order or requisition of the Court, or on apology being made to its satisfaction.

Imprisonment or committal of person refusing to answer or produce document.

87. If any witness before the Small Cause Court refuses to answer such questions as are put to him, or to produce any document in his possession or power which the Court requires him to produce, and does not offer any reasonable excuse for such refusal, the Court may sentence him to simple imprisonment, or commit him to the custody of an officer of the Court, for any term not exceeding seven days, unless in the meantime such person consents to answer such questions or to produce such document, as the case may be, after which, in the event of his persisting in his refusal, he may be dealt with according to the provisions of section eighty-three or section eighty-five.

Appeal from orders under sections 83 and 87.

88. Any person deeming himself aggrieved by an order under section eighty-three or section eighty-seven may appeal to the High Court, and the provisions of the Presidency Magistrates Act, 1877, relating to appeals shall, so far as may be, apply to appeals under this section.

CHAPTER III.

Application for benefit of Act. 4. (1) At any time within twelve months after a special Judge is appointed for any local area, any zamíndár owning land in that area may apply, in writing, to the Commissioner of the Jhánsí Division, stating that the zamíndár is subject to, or that his immoveable property or any part thereof is encumbered with, private debts, and requesting that the provisions of this Act be applied to him.

(2) The like application may be made with respect to any such zamíndár by an officer appointed for the purpose by the Local Government:

(3) Provided that, where the zamíndár is a disqualified proprietor within the meaning of section 194 of the North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, the application shall be made—

(1) the zamíndár shall be incompetent to sell, mortgage, exchange, give, or, without the consent of the Commissioner, lease his proprietary rights in land or any part thereof; and

(2) no proceeding, process, execution or attachment shall be instituted in, or issued by, any civil or revenue Court in British India against those rights, in respect of any private debt contracted by the zamíndár after the publication of the notice.

Claim to contain full particulars. 9. (1) Every claimant referred to in section seven shall, in the written statement of his claim, present full particulars thereof.

Documents to be given up. (2) Every document on which the claimant founds his claim, or on which he relies in support thereof, shall be delivered to the special Judge along with the written statement.

Entries in books. (3) If the document is an entry in any book, the claimant shall produce the book to the special Judge together with a copy of the entry on which he relies. The special Judge shall mark the book for the purpose of identification, and, after examining and comparing the copy with the original, shall return the book to the claimant.

Exclusion of documents not produced. (4) If any document in the possession or under the control of the claimant is not delivered or produced by him, as required by this section, the special Judge may refuse to receive that document in evidence on the claimant's behalf at the investigation of the case.

Claim not duly notified to be deemed discharged. 10. Every claim against the zamíndár in respect of a private debt shall, unless made within the time and in the manner required by this Act, be deemed, for all purposes, and on all occasions, to have been duly discharged.

Order appointing time for inquiry. 11. The special Judge shall, by an order in writing, appoint a time for inquiring into each claim made as aforesaid, and a copy of that order shall be served on the claimant and on the zamíndár, or, when the application has been made on behalf of a disqualified proprietor, on the manager of his property, or the Deputy Commissioner, as the case may be.

History of transactions with zamíndár to be investigated. At the time so appointed, or at any subsequent time to which the proceedings may be adjourned, the special Judge shall hear such of the parties as appear, and, if the amount of any claim (other than a claim decreed by a competent Court) is disputed, shall inquire into the history and merits of that claim from the commencement of the transactions between the parties, and shall, as hereinafter provided, determine the amount (if any) justly due to the claimant.

Explanation.—Subject to the right of appeal and power of revision hereinafter conferred, the effect of this determination is to extinguish the previously existing right (if any) of the claimant, together with all rights (if any) of mortgage or lien by which the same is secured, and, where any amount is determined to be due to him, to substitute for those rights a right to recover that amount in the manner and to the extent hereinafter prescribed, and not otherwise.

Mode of taking account.

12. When the special Judge inquires, under section eleven, into the history and merits of a claim, he shall—notwithstanding any agreement between the zamíndár and the claimant, or the persons (if any) through whom they claim, as to allowing compound interest, or as to setting off the profits of mortgaged property in lieu of interest without an account, or otherwise determining the manner of taking the account, and notwithstanding any statement or settlement of account, or any contract purporting to close previous dealings and create a new obligation, open the account from the commencement of the transactions between the parties, and take that account according to the following rules (that is to say) :—

(a) separate accounts of principal and interest shall be taken;

(b) in the account of principal, there shall be debited to the zamíndár such money as may, from time to time, have been actually received by him, or on his account, from the claimant, and the price of goods (if any) sold to him by the claimant as part of the transactions between them;

(d) in the account of principal, there shall not be debited to the zamíndár any accumulated interest which has been converted into principal at any statement or settlement of account, or by any contract made in the course of the transactions, unless the special Judge, for reasons to be recorded by him in writing, deems such debit to be reasonable;

(e) in the account of interest, there shall be debited to the zamíndár, monthly, simple interest on the balance of principal for the time being outstanding, at the rate allowed by the special Judge as hereinafter provided;

(f) all money paid by, or on account of, the zamíndár to the claimant, or on his account, and all profits, service or other advantages of every description received by the claimant in the course of the transactions, shall be credited first in the account of interest, and, when any payment is more than sufficient to discharge the balance of interest due at the time it is made, the residue of that payment shall be credited to the zamíndár in the account of principal:

Explanation.—The advantages mentioned in this clause shall be estimated, if necessary, at such money-value as the special Judge may determine in his discretion, or with the aid of arbitrators appointed by him;

(g) the accounts of principal and interest shall be made up to the date of making the claim; and the aggregate of the balances (if any) appearing due on both the accounts against the zamíndár at that date shall be deemed to be the amount due at that date, except when the balance appearing due on the account of interest exceeds that appearing due on the account of principal, in which case double the latter balance shall be deemed to be the amount then due.

Interest to be allowed.

13. The interest to be awarded in taking an account, according to the rules set forth in section twelve, shall be—

(a) the rate (if any) agreed upon between the zamíndár and the claimant, or the persons (if any) through whom they respectively claim, unless that rate is deemed by the special Judge to be unreasonable; or

(b) if that rate is deemed by the special Judge unreasonable, or if no rate was agreed upon, or, when any agreement to set off profits in lieu of interest without an account, entered into between the zamíndár and the claimant, or the persons (if any) through whom they respectively claim, has been set aside by the special Judge, such rate as the special Judge deems reasonable.

Proceedings when amount determined to be due is paid into court.

14. If, on the termination of the inquiries by the special Judge, the zamíndár forthwith pays into court the aggregate amount of the claims determined to be due, together with the aggregate of such costs (if any) as the special Judge may in each case award against the zamíndár, the special Judge shall submit a report of his proceedings to the Commissioner, and shall, on the application of each claimant, pay to him such portions (if any) of the said aggregate amounts as may be due to him.

Power to rank debts and fix future interest.

15. If the zamíndár does not pay the said amounts under section fourteen, and these amounts cannot, in the opinion of the special Judge, be paid from the proceeds of the sale of the zamíndár's property (exclusive of his proprietary rights in land and of the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure), the special Judge shall make an order ranking the claims and costs according to the order in which they shall be paid or discharged, and fixing the interest (if any) to be paid on the amounts thereof respectively from the date of the final decision thereon to the date of the payment or discharge thereof.

Power to eject mortgagee, &c.

16. When any person whose claim has been determined by the special Judge, or whose claim is, under section ten, to be deemed to be discharged, has, as mortgagee or otherwise, obtained possession of any land of the zamíndár as security for his claim and continues in possession of that land, the special Judge may order him to be ejected therefrom.

Any order passed under this section shall be executed as nearly as may be in accordance with the rules prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure for the execution of decrees.

Report to be submitted by special Judge in certain cases.

17. When the proceedings hereinbefore prescribed have been concluded otherwise than under section fourteen, the special Judge shall submit a report to the Commissioner, showing the nature and amount of the claims and costs as determined and awarded by him, the nature and amount of all the zamíndár's property (exclusive of his proprietary rights in land and of the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure) which may be available for the payment or discharge of the same, and, when an order has been made under section fifteen, the particulars of such order.

CHAPTER V.

PROCEDURE OF COMMISSIONER AND MODE OF LIQUIDATION.

On report of special Judge, Commissioner to sell property reported by special Judge, and, if necessary, to direct valuation of proprietary rights.

18. On receiving a report under section seventeen, the Commissioner shall direct that the property reported by the special Judge as available for the payment or discharge of the claims and costs determined and awarded by him, or any specified portion of that property, be sold by public auction, and, from the proceeds thereof, shall pay or discharge, so far as practicable, the amount of the said claims and costs.

If those proceeds are not sufficient to pay or discharge in full that amount, the Commissioner shall direct the value of the zamíndár's proprietary rights in land to be ascertained in the manner following :—

For the purposes of a loan, the value of those rights shall be estimated to be a sum amounting to six times the nett annual profits of the zamíndár.

For the purposes of purchase by Government, the value of those rights shall be estimated to be a sum amounting to ten times those nett annual profits.

"Nett annual profits."

Explanation.—The expression "nett annual profits" means the balance left, after deducting the amount of the annual Government revenue and the rates payable annually by the zamíndár under the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1878, or any other Act for the time being in force, from the aggregate amount of—

(a) the rents which he is entitled to receive annually from his tenants;

(b) the rent which he would have to pay annually for his sír-land (if any), if he were an ex-proprietary tenant thereof;

(c) all other profits annually receivable by him as zamíndár; and

(d) in the case of profits occasionally receivable or varying in amount from year to year, the average annual amount of such profits during the ten years next preceding the valuation.

Proceedings in liquidation.

19. When the value of the zamíndár's proprietary rights has been ascertained as directed in section eighteen, the Commissioner shall proceed as follows :—

(a) If the sum at which the rights have been valued for the purposes of a loan is sufficient to pay or discharge the unpaid balance of the claims and costs determined and awarded by the special Judge, together with the zamíndár's public debts, the Commissioner may, with the consent of the zamíndár, direct such sum as may be necessary, not being more than the amount of such valuation, to be advanced from the public treasury as a loan to the zamíndár, repayable, with interest thereon at the rate of five per cent. per annum, by instalments, within a term not exceeding ten years, and shall, from the sum so advanced, pay or discharge in full the said balance and the said public debts.

(b) If the zamíndár does not consent to accept such loan, or if the sum at which his proprietary rights in land have been valued for the purposes of a loan is not sufficient to discharge the said balance and the said public debts, the Commissioner may order that any portion, or, if necessary, the whole, of those rights shall be sold in the manner hereinafter prescribed in order to discharge such balance and debts.

Attachment of proprietary rights.

20. When an order for the sale of the proprietary rights of any zamíndár has been made under section nineteen, the Commissioner may order those rights to be attached and taken under the management of the Deputy Commissioner, who shall have, for this purpose, the same powers as are conferred, for the management of a mahál, on a Collector by the North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, section 155.

The management shall continue until the rights are sold under this Act.

Mode of selling proprietary rights.

21. (1) All sales under this Act of proprietary rights in land shall be made by public auction in the manner prescribed by the said North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, for the sale of immoveable property for arrears of land-revenue.

(2) If, at the public auction of any zamíndár's proprietary rights in land, any bid is made for those rights above the sum at which they have been valued for the purposes of purchase by Government, the rights shall be sold to the highest bidder; and the proceeds of the sale shall be paid to the Deputy Commissioner or such officer as the Commissioner may direct.

(3) If no such bid is made, the Commissioner shall direct a sum of money equal to the amount of that valuation to be paid from the public treasury to the Deputy Commissioner or such officer.

Duty of Deputy Commissioner.

22. The Deputy Commissioner or such officer, as the case may be, shall thereupon, subject to the control of the Commissioner,— first, pay, from the money which he has received under section twenty-one, the zamíndár's public debts;

secondly, out of the balance of that money, pay or discharge, so far as may be practicable, the unpaid balances of the claims and costs determined and awarded by the special Judge, in the order in which they are ranked under section fifteen by that Judge;

thirdly, pay the surplus (if any) to the zamíndár.

When the whole of a zamíndár's proprietary rights in land have been sold in execution of an order passed under section nineteen, clause (b), and the proceeds of the sale are insufficient to discharge in full the amounts referred to in this section, the unpaid balance of those amounts shall nevertheless be deemed to have been duly discharged.

Consequences of loan.

23. When a sum of money has been lent, under section nineteen, clause (a), to a zamíndár, and applied as provided in that clause, and he fails to pay any instalment of principal or interest on the day fixed for the payment thereof, the whole sum remaining unpaid on account of principal or interest, or both, shall be recoverable at once as if it were an arrear of land-revenue due by him in respect of the land comprised in the valuation made under section eighteen.

Conditions of purchase by Government.

24. When a sum of money has been paid from the public treasury in respect of any proprietary rights of a zamíndár as provided in section twenty-one, and has been applied as provided in section twenty-two, the following consequences shall ensue (namely) :—

(a) all such proprietary rights shall vest in Her Majesty;

(b) in respect of any of his sír-land, the proprietary rights in which are, under this section, vested in Her Majesty, the zamíndár shall be deemed to be an ex-proprietary tenant holding the land directly under the Government.

Power to declare that zamíndár has ceased to be subject to disabilities.

25. In each of the following cases (namely),—

(a) when a report has been submitted to the Commissioner under section fourteen, or

(b) when the claims and costs determined and awarded by the special Judge have been paid or discharged in full under section eighteen, or

(c) when the amount lent, under section nineteen, to a zamíndár has been repaid, together with the interest due thereon, or

(e) when the whole, or, where it is necessary to sell only a portion, that portion, of his proprietary rights in land has been sold under this Act to the highest bidder, or those rights have vested in Her Majesty under section twenty-four,

the Commissioner shall declare that the zamíndár has ceased to be subject to the disabilities mentioned in section eight, clause (c) :

Provided that, in cases coming under clause (d) of this section, no such declaration shall be made without the previous sanction of the Local Government.

CHAPTER VI.

OF APPEAL AND REVISION.

Appeals.

26. An appeal against any decision or order of the special Judge, under this Act, shall lie to the Commissioner if preferred within one month from the date of the decision or order, and not later, unless the appellant satisfies the Commissioner that he had sufficient cause for not presenting the appeal within that period.

Subject to the power of revision next hereinafter provided, the decision of the Commissioner on an appeal under this section shall be final.

Power to call for proceedings and pass order thereon.

27. The Board of Revenue or the Commissioner may, of its or his own motion, or on the application of any person concerned, call for and revise the proceedings in any case under this Act, and pass such order thereon, consistent with the provisions herein contained, as it or he thinks fit :

Provided that nothing in this section shall empower the Commissioner to pass any order reversing or modifying an order passed by the Board of Revenue.

CHAPTER VII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Death of zamíndár during proceedings.

28. If a zamíndár with regard to whom a notice has been published under section seven dies before a declaration has been made in respect of him under section twenty-five,

(a) the proceedings under this Act shall be continued as nearly as may be possible in all respects as if the zamíndár were still living; and

(b) any person succeeding to the whole or any portion of the zamíndár's proprietary rights in land shall become subject in respect of those rights to the disabilities imposed by section eight, clause (c), and shall continue so subject until a declaration has been made in respect of him under section twenty-five.

Investigation to be deemed a judicial proceeding.

29. Every investigation conducted by the special Judge with reference to any claim made to him under this Act, or to any matter connected with any such claim, shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code; and the special Judge shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of that Code.

Special Judge deemed public servant within meaning of Indian Penal Code.

Power to summon witnesses, compel production of documents and award costs.

30. For the purposes of compelling the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents, and of awarding costs, the special Judge shall have the powers conferred on a Civil Court by the Code of Civil Procedure.

Bar of suits.

31. No suit or other proceeding shall be maintained against any person in respect of anything done by him in good faith pursuant to this Act.

Power to make rules.

32. The Local Government may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act—

(a) to regulate the procedure in all cases under this Act;

(b) to declare what shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the vernacular language of any specified district; and

(c) generally to carry out the provisions of this Act.

Such rules shall be published in the official Gazette, and, when so published, shall have the force of law.

Power to appoint a special Judge.

3. The Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint, for any local area in the Jhánsí Division, a special Judge, who shall exercise the powers conferred, and perform the duties imposed, on him by this Act.

Power to suspend or remove special Judge.

The Local Government may, at any time, by a like notification, suspend or remove any special Judge so appointed.

CHAPTER III.

OF THE APPLICATION AND PRELIMINARY INQUIRY.

Application for benefit of Act.

4. (1) At any time within twelve months after a special Judge is appointed for any local area, any zamíndár owning land in that area may apply, in writing, to the Commissioner of the Jhánsí Division, stating that the zamíndár is subject to, or that his immoveable property or any part thereof is encumbered with, private debts, and requesting that the provisions of this Act be applied to him.

(2) The like application may be made with respect to any such zamíndár by an officer appointed for the purpose by the Local Government:

(3) Provided that, where the zamíndár is a disqualified proprietor within the meaning of section 194 of the North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, the application shall be made—

(a) if his property is under the superintendence of the Court of Wards—by the manager of his property, with the consent of that Court; and

(b) if his property is not under such superintendence—by the Deputy Commissioner of the district in which the property is situate.

Power to extend time for making applications.

(4) The Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, extend the time prescribed for making applications under this section.

Order to inquire.

5. When any such application is made in the case of any zamíndár, the Commissioner shall direct an inquiry to be made by the special Judge—

(a) into the nature and amount of the zamíndár's private debts, and

(b) into the sufficiency of his property, whether moveable or immoveable (exclusive of his proprietary rights in land and of the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure), to discharge his private debts.

Written statement to be submitted.

6. (1) When an inquiry has been directed under section five, the applicant shall, within a period to be fixed by the Commissioner, submit to the special Judge a written statement containing, so far as may be practicable,—

(a) such particulars as the special Judge may require respecting the private debts to which the zamíndár is subject, or with which his immoveable property or any part thereof is encumbered;

(b) the nature and value of the zamíndár's property (exclusive of his proprietary rights in land and of the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure); and

(c) the names and residences of his creditors, so far as they are known to, or can be ascertained by, the zamíndár.

Verification of statement.

(2) The statement must be verified by the applicant or by some other competent person, in the manner required by law for the verification of plaints; and if it contains any averment which the person making the verification knows or believes to be false, or does not know or believe to be true, he shall be deemed to have intentionally given false evidence within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code:

Proviso.

(3) Provided that, when the application is made by an officer appointed under section four, clause (2), or by the Deputy Commissioner, it shall not be necessary to verify the statement; but the zamíndár shall, so far as may be practicable, within a period to be fixed by the special Judge, furnish such information regarding the matters mentioned in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of this section, as the Judge may require.

CHAPTER IV.

PROOF OF DEBTS AND PROCEDURE OF SPECIAL JUDGE.

Publication of notice to claimants against zamíndár.

7. (1) When the statement or information referred to in section six has been submitted or furnished, the special Judge shall publish in the official Gazette a notice in the vernacular language of the district, calling upon all persons having claims against the person or the property of the zamíndár by or with respect to whom the application was made under section four, to present to the special Judge, within two months from the date of the publication, a written statement of their claims.

Copies of notice to be exhibited.

(2) The special Judge shall also cause copies of the notice to be exhibited at his own office, at the offices of the Commissioner of the Jhánsí Division and the Deputy Commissioner of the district in which the land of the zamíndár is situate, and at some conspicuous place in the village where the zamíndár resides.

Provision for admission of claims within further period of two months.

(3) The statement must be presented within the period specified in the notice, unless the claimant satisfies the special Judge that he had sufficient cause for not presenting the statement within that period, in which case the special Judge may receive the statement within a further period of two months from the expiration of the period so specified.

Consequences of notice.

8. After the publication of the notice, the following consequences shall ensue (namely):—

(a) all proceedings pending at the date of the publication, in any civil or revenue Court in British India in respect of any private debt to which the zamíndár is subject, or with which his immoveable property is encumbered, shall be for ever stayed; and all processes, executions and attachments issued by any such Court, and then in force, in respect of any such debt shall become null and void;

(b) in respect of any such debt no fresh proceeding, process, execution or attachment shall, except as hereinafter provided, be instituted in, or issued by, any civil or revenue Court in British India;

(c) until the Commissioner has declared, as hereinafter provided, that the zamíndár has ceased to be subject to the disabilities mentioned in this clause—

(1) the zamíndár shall be incompetent to sell, mortgage, exchange, give, or, without the consent of the Commissioner, lease his proprietary rights in land or any part thereof; and

(2) no proceeding, process, execution or attachment shall be instituted in, or issued by, any civil or revenue Court in British India against those rights, in respect of any private debt contracted by the zamíndár after the publication of the notice.

Claim to contain full particulars.

9. (1) Every claimant referred to in section seven shall, in the written statement of his claim, present full particulars thereof.

Documents to be given up.

(2) Every document on which the claimant founds his claim, or on which he relies in support thereof, shall be delivered to the special Judge along with the written statement.

Entries in books.

(3) If the document is an entry in any book, the claimant shall produce the book to the special Judge together with a copy of the entry on which he relies. The special Judge shall mark the book for the purpose of identification, and, after examining and comparing the copy with the original, shall return the book to the claimant.

Exclusion of documents not produced.

(4) If any document in the possession or under the control of the claimant is not delivered or produced by him, as required by this section, the special Judge may refuse to receive that document in evidence on the claimant's behalf at the investigation of the case.

Claim not duly notified to be deemed discharged.

10. Every claim against the zamíndár in respect of a private debt shall, unless made within the time and in the manner required by this Act, be deemed, for all purposes, and on all occasions, to have been duly discharged.

Order appointing time for inquiry.

11. The special Judge shall, by an order in writing, appoint a time for inquiring into each claim made as aforesaid, and a copy of that order shall be served on the claimant and on the zamíndár, or, when the application has been made on behalf of a disqualified proprietor, on the manager of his property, or the Deputy Commissioner, as the case may be.

History of transactions with zamíndár to be investigated.

At the time so appointed, or at any subsequent time to which the proceedings may be adjourned, the special Judge shall hear such of the parties as appear and, if the amount of any claim (other than a claim decreed by a competent Court) is disputed, shall inquire into the history and merits of that claim from the commencement of the transactions between the parties, and shall, as hereinafter provided, determine the amount (if any) justly due to the claimant.

Explanation.—Subject to the right of appeal and power of revision hereinafter conferred, the effect of this determination is to extinguish the previously existing right (if any) of the claimant, together with all rights (if any) of mortgage or lien by which the same is secured, and, where any amount is determined to be due to him, to substitute for those rights a right to recover that amount in the manner and to the extent hereinafter prescribed, and not otherwise.

Mode of taking account.

12. When the special Judge inquires, under section eleven, into the history and merits of a claim, he shall—notwithstanding any agreement between the zamíndár and the claimant, or the persons (if any) through whom they claim, as to allowing compound interest, or as to setting off the profits of mortgaged property in lieu of interest without an account, or otherwise determining the manner of taking the account, and notwithstanding any statement or settlement of account, or any contract purporting to close previous dealings and create a new obligation,

open the account from the commencement of the transactions between the parties, and take that account according to the following rules (that is to say) :—

(a) separate accounts of principal and interest shall be taken;

(b) in the account of principal, there shall be debited to the zamíndár such money as may, from time to time, have been actually received by him, or on his account, from the claimant, and the price of goods (if any) sold to him by the claimant as part of the transactions between them;

(d) in the account of principal, there shall not be debited to the zamíndár any accumulated interest which has been converted into principal at any statement or settlement of account, or by any contract made in the course of the transactions, unless the special Judge, for reasons to be recorded by him in writing, deems such debit to be reasonable;

(e) in the account of interest, there shall be debited to the zamíndár, monthly, simple interest on the balance of principal for the time being outstanding, at the rate allowed by the special Judge as hereinafter provided;

(f) all money paid by, or on account of, the zamíndár to the claimant, or on his account, and all profits, service or other advantages of every description received by the claimant in the course of the transactions, shall be credited first in the account of interest, and, when any payment is more than sufficient to discharge the balance of interest due at the time it is made, the residue of that payment shall be credited to the zamíndár in the account of principal:

Explanation.—The advantages mentioned in this clause shall be estimated, if necessary, at such money-value as the special Judge may determine in his discretion, or with the aid of arbitrators appointed by him;

(g) the accounts of principal and interest shall be made up to the date of making the claim; and the aggregate of the balances (if any) appearing due on both the accounts against the zamíndár at that date shall be deemed to be the amount due at that date, except when the balance appearing due on the account of interest exceeds that appearing due on the account of principal, in which case double the latter balance shall be deemed to be the amount then due.

Interest to be allowed.

13. The interest to be awarded in taking an account, according to the rules set forth in section twelve, shall be—

(a) the rate (if any) agreed upon between the zamíndár and the claimant, or the persons (if any) through whom they respectively claim, unless that rate is deemed by the special Judge to be unreasonable; or

(b) if that rate is deemed by the special Judge unreasonable, or if no rate was agreed upon, or when any agreement to set off profits in lieu of interest without an account, entered into between the zamíndár and the claimant, or the persons (if any) through whom they respectively claim, has been set aside by the special Judge, such rate as the special Judge deems reasonable.

Proceedings when amount determined to be due is paid into court.

14. If, on the termination of the inquiries by the special Judge, the zamíndár forthwith pays into court the aggregate amount of the claims determined to be due, together with the aggregate of such costs (if any) as the special Judge may in each case award against the zamíndár, the special Judge shall submit a report of his proceedings to the Commissioner, and shall, on the application of each claimant, pay to him such portions (if any) of the said aggregate amounts as may be due to him.

Power to rank debts and fix future interest.

15. If the zamíndár does not pay the said amounts under section fourteen, and these amounts cannot, in the opinion of the special Judge, be paid from the proceeds of the sale of the zamíndár's property (exclusive of his proprietary rights in land and of the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure), the special Judge shall make an order ranking the claims and costs according to the order in which they shall be paid or discharged, and fixing the interest (if any) to be paid on the amounts thereof respectively from the date of the final decision thereon to the date of the payment or discharge thereof.

Power to eject mortgagee, &c.

16. When any person whose claim has been determined by the special Judge, or whose claim is, under section ten, to be deemed to be discharged, has, as mortgagee or otherwise, obtained possession of any land of the zamíndár as security for his claim and continues in possession of that land, the special Judge may order him to be ejected therefrom.

Any order passed under this section shall be executed as nearly as may be in accordance with the rules prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure for the execution of decrees.

Report to be submitted by special Judge in certain cases.

17. When the proceedings hereinbefore prescribed have been concluded otherwise than under section fourteen, the special Judge shall submit a report to the Commissioner, showing the nature and amount of the claims and costs as determined and awarded by him, the nature and amount of all the zamíndár's property (exclusive of his proprietary rights in land and of the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure) which may be available for the payment or discharge of the same, and, when an order has been made under section fifteen, the particulars of such order.

CHAPTER V.

PROCEDURE OF COMMISSIONER AND MODE OF LIQUIDATION.

On report of special Judge, Commissioner to sell property reported by special Judge, and, if necessary, to direct valuation of proprietary rights.

18. On receiving a report under section seventeen, the Commissioner shall direct that the property reported by the special Judge as available for the payment or discharge of the claims and costs determined and awarded by him, or any specified portion of that property, be sold by public auction, and, from the proceeds thereof, shall pay or discharge, so far as practicable, the amount of the said claims and costs.

If those proceeds are not sufficient to pay or discharge in full that amount, the Commissioner shall direct the value of the zamíndár's proprietary rights in land to be ascertained in the manner following :—

For the purposes of a loan, the value of those rights shall be estimated to be a sum amounting to six times the nett annual profits of the zamíndár.

For the purposes of purchase by Government, the value of those rights shall be estimated to be a sum amounting to ten times those nett annual profits.

"Nett annual profits."

Explanation.—The expression "nett annual profits" means the balance left, after deducting the amount of the annual Government revenue and the rates payable annually by the zamíndár under the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1878, or any other Act for the time being in force, from the aggregate amount of—

(a) the rents which he is entitled to receive annually from his tenants;

(b) the rent which he would have to pay annually for his sír-land (if any), if he were an ex-proprietary tenant thereof;

(c) all other profits annually receivable by him as zamíndár; and

(d) in the case of profits occasionally receivable or varying in amount from year to year, the average annual amount of such profits during the ten years next preceding the valuation.

Proceedings in liquidation.

19. When the value of the zamíndár's proprietary rights has been ascertained as directed in section eighteen, the Commissioner shall proceed as follows :—

(a) If the sum at which the rights have been valued for the purposes of a loan is sufficient to pay or discharge the unpaid balance of the claims and costs determined and awarded by the special Judge, together with the zamíndár's public debts, the Commissioner may, with the consent of the zamíndár, direct such sum as may be necessary, not being more than the amount of such valuation, to be advanced from the public treasury as a loan to the zamíndár, repayable, with interest thereon at the rate of five per cent. per annum, by instalments, within a term not exceeding ten years, and shall, from the sum so advanced, pay or discharge in full the said balance and the said public debts.

(b) If the zamíndár does not consent to accept such loan, or if the sum at which his proprietary rights in land have been valued for the purposes of a loan is not sufficient to discharge the said balance and the said public debts, the Commissioner may order that any portion, or, if necessary, the whole, of those rights shall be sold in the manner hereinafter prescribed in order to discharge such balance and debts.

Attachment of proprietary rights.

20. When an order for the sale of the proprietary rights of any zamíndár has been made under section nineteen, the Commissioner may order those rights to be attached and taken under the management of the Deputy Commissioner, who shall have, for this purpose, the same powers as are conferred, for the management of a mahál, on a Collector by the North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, section 155.

The management shall continue until the rights are sold under this Act.

Mode of selling proprietary rights.

21. (1) All sales under this Act of proprietary rights in land shall be made by public auction in the manner prescribed by the said North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, for the sale of immoveable property for arrears of land-revenue.

(2) If, at the public auction of any zamíndár's proprietary rights in land, any bid is made for those rights above the sum at which they have been valued for the purposes of purchase by Government, the rights shall be sold to the highest bidder; and the proceeds of the sale shall be paid to the Deputy Commissioner or such officer as the Commissioner may direct.

(3) If no such bid is made, the Commissioner shall direct a sum of money equal to the amount of that valuation to be paid from the public treasury to the Deputy Commissioner or such officer.

Duty of Deputy Commissioner.

22. The Deputy Commissioner or such officer, as the case may be, shall thereupon, subject to the control of the Commissioner,— first, pay, from the money which he has received under section twenty-one, the zamíndár's public debts;

secondly, out of the balance of that money, pay or discharge, so far as may be practicable, the unpaid balances of the claims and costs determined and awarded by the special Judge, in the order in which they are ranked under section fifteen by that Judge;

thirdly, pay the surplus (if any) to the zamíndár.

When the whole of a zamíndár's proprietary rights in land have been sold in execution of an order passed under section nineteen, clause (b), and the proceeds of the sale are insufficient to discharge in full the amounts referred to in this section, the unpaid balance of those amounts shall nevertheless be deemed to have been duly discharged.

Consequences of loan.

23. When a sum of money has been lent, under section nineteen, clause (a), to a zamíndár, and applied as provided in that clause, and he fails to pay any instalment of principal or interest on the day fixed for the payment thereof, the whole sum remaining unpaid on account of principal or interest, or both, shall be recoverable at once as if it were an arrear of land-revenue due by him in respect of the land comprised in the valuation made under section eighteen.

Conditions of purchase by Government.

24. When a sum of money has been paid from the public treasury in respect of any proprietary rights of a zamíndár as provided in section twenty-one, and has been applied as provided in section twenty-two, the following consequences shall ensue (namely) :—

(a) all such proprietary rights shall vest in Her Majesty ;

(b) in respect of any of his sír-land, the proprietary rights in which are, under this section, vested in Her Majesty, the zamíndár shall be deemed to be an ex-proprietary tenant holding the land directly under the Government.

Power to declare that zamíndár has ceased to be subject to disabilities.

25. In each of the following cases (namely),—

(a) when a report has been submitted to the Commissioner under section fourteen, or

(b) when the claims and costs determined and awarded by the special Judge have been paid or discharged in full under section eighteen, or

(c) when the amount lent, under section nineteen, to a zamíndár has been repaid, together with the interest due thereon, or

(e) when the whole, or, where it is necessary to sell only a portion, that portion, of his proprietary rights in land has been sold under this Act to the highest bidder, or those rights have vested in Her Majesty under section twenty-four,

the Commissioner shall declare that the zamíndár has ceased to be subject to the disabilities mentioned in section eight, clause (c) :

Provided that, in cases coming under clause (d) of this section, no such declaration shall be made without the previous sanction of the Local Government.

CHAPTER VI.

OF APPEAL AND REVISION.

Appeals.

26. An appeal against any decision or order of the special Judge, under this Act, shall lie to the Commissioner if preferred within one month from the date of the decision or order, and not later, unless the appellant satisfies the Commissioner that he had sufficient cause for not presenting the appeal within [illegible] period.

Subject to the power of revision next hereinafter provided, the decision of the Commissioner on an appeal under this section shall be final

Power to call for proceedings and pass order thereon.

27. The Board of Revenue or the Commissioner may, of its or his own motion, or on the application of any person concerned, call for and revise the proceedings in any case under this Act, and pass such order thereon, consistent with the provisions herein contained, as it or he thinks fit :

Provided that nothing in this section shall empower the Commissioner to pass any order reversing or modifying an order passed by the Board of Revenue.

CHAPTER VII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Death of zamíndár during proceedings.

28. If a zamíndár with regard to whom a notice has been published under section seven dies before a declaration has been made in respect of him under section twenty-five,

(a) the proceedings under this Act shall be continued as nearly as may be possible in all respects as if the zamíndár were still living ; and

(b) any person succeeding to the whole or any portion of the zamíndár's proprietary rights in land shall become subject in respect of those rights to the disabilities imposed by section eight, clause (c), and shall continue so subject until a declaration has been made in respect of him under section twenty-five.

Investigation to be deemed a judicial proceeding.

Special Judge deemed public servant within meaning of Indian Penal Code.

29. Every investigation conducted by the special Judge with reference to any claim made to him under this Act, or to any matter connected with any such claim, shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code ; and the special Judge shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of that Code.

Power to summon witnesses, compel production of documents and award costs.

30. For the purposes of compelling the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents, and of awarding costs, the special Judge shall have the powers conferred on a Civil Court by the Code of Civil Procedure.

Bar of suits.

31. No suit or other proceeding shall be maintained against any person in respect of anything done by him in good faith pursuant to this Act.

Power to make rules.

32. The Local Government may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act—

(a) to regulate the procedure in all cases under this Act ;

(b) to declare what shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the vernacular language of any specified district ; and

(c) generally to carry out the provisions of this Act.

Such rules shall be published in the official Gazette, and, when so published, shall have the force of law.

CHAPTER II.

APPOINTMENT OF OFFICERS.

Power to appoint a special Judge. 3. The Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint, for any local area in the Jhánsí Division, a special Judge, who shall exercise the powers conferred, and perform the duties imposed, on him by this Act.

Power to suspend or remove special Judge. The Local Government may, at any time, by a like notification, suspend or remove any special Judge so appointed.

CHAPTER III.

OF THE APPLICATION AND PRELIMINARY INQUIRY.

Application for benefit of Act. 4. (1) At any time within twelve months after a special Judge is appointed for any local area, any zamíndár owning land in that area may apply, in writing, to the Commissioner of the Jhánsí Division, stating that the zamíndár is subject to, or that his immoveable property or any part thereof is encumbered with, private debts, and requesting that the provisions of this Act be applied to him.

(2) The like application may be made with respect to any such zamíndár by an officer appointed for the purpose by the Local Government:

(3) Provided that, where the zamíndár is a disqualified proprietor within the meaning of section 194 of the North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, the application shall be made—

(a) if his property is under the superintendence of the Court of Wards—by the manager of his property, with the consent of that Court; and

(b) if his property is not under such superintendence—by the Deputy Commissioner of the district in which the property is situate.

Power to extend time for making applications. (4) The Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, extend the time prescribed for making applications under this section.

Order to inquire. 5. When any such application is made in the case of any zamíndár, the Commissioner shall direct an inquiry to be made by the special Judge—

(a) into the nature and amount of the zamíndár's private debts, and

(b) into the sufficiency of his property, whether moveable or immoveable (exclusive of his proprietary rights in land and of the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure), to discharge his private debts.

Written statement to be submitted. 6. (1) When an inquiry has been directed under section five, the applicant shall, within a period to be fixed by the Commissioner, submit to the special Judge a written statement containing, so far as may be practicable,—

(a) such particulars as the special Judge may require respecting the private debts to which the zamíndár is subject, or with which his immoveable property or any part thereof is encumbered;

(b) the nature and value of the zamíndár's property (exclusive of his proprietary rights in land and of the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure); and

(c) the names and residences of his creditors, so far as they are known to, or can be ascertained by, the zamíndár.

Verification of statement. (2) The statement must be verified by the applicant or by some other competent person, in the manner required by law for the verification of plaints; and if it contains any averment which the person making the verification knows or believes to be false, or does not know or believe to be true, he shall be deemed to have intentionally given false evidence within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code:

Proviso. (3) Provided that, when the application is made by an officer appointed under section four, clause (2), or by the Deputy Commissioner, it shall not be necessary to verify the statement; but the zamíndár shall, so far as may be practicable, within a period to be fixed by the special Judge, furnish such information regarding the matters mentioned in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of this section, as the Judge may require.

CHAPTER IV.

PROOF OF DEBTS AND PROCEDURE OF SPECIAL JUDGE.

Publication of notice to claimants against zamíndár. 7. (1) When the statement or information referred to in section six has been submitted or furnished, the special Judge shall publish in the official Gazette a notice in the vernacular language of the district, calling upon all persons having claims against the person or the property of the zamíndár by or with respect to whom the application was made under section four, to present to the special Judge, within two months from the date of the publication, a written statement of their claims.

Copies of notice to be exhibited. (2) The special Judge shall also cause copies of the notice to be exhibited at his own office, at the offices of the Commissioner of the Jhánsí Division and the Deputy Commissioner of the district in which the land of the zamíndár is situate, and at some conspicuous place in the village where the zamíndár resides.

Provision for admission of claims within further period of two months. (3) The statement must be presented within the period specified in the notice, unless the claimant satisfies the special Judge that he had sufficient cause for not presenting the statement within that period, in which case the special Judge may receive the statement within a further period of two months from the expiration of the period so specified.

Consequences of notice. 8. After the publication of the notice, the following consequences shall ensue (namely):—

(a) all proceedings pending at the date of the publication, in any civil or revenue Court in British India in respect of any private debt to which the zamíndár is subject, or with which his immoveable property is encumbered, shall be for ever stayed; and all processes, executions and attachments issued by any such Court, and then in force, in respect of any such debt shall become null and void;

(b) in respect of any such debt no fresh proceeding, process, execution or attachment shall, except as hereinafter provided, be instituted in, or issued by, any civil or revenue Court in British India;

(c) until the Commissioner has declared, as hereinafter provided, that the zamíndár has ceased to be subject to the disabilities mentioned in this clause—

(1) the zamíndár shall be incompetent to sell, mortgage, exchange, give, or, without the consent of the Commissioner, lease his proprietary rights in land or any part thereof; and

(2) no proceeding, process, execution or attachment shall be instituted in, or issued by, any civil or revenue Court in British India against those rights, in respect of any private debt contracted by the zamíndár after the publication of the notice.

Claim to contain full particulars. 9. (1) Every claimant referred to in section seven shall, in the written statement of his claim, present full particulars thereof.

Documents to be given up. (2) Every document on which the claimant founds his claim, or on which he relies in support thereof, shall be delivered to the special Judge along with the written statement.

Entries in books. (3) If the document is an entry in any book, the claimant shall produce the book to the special Judge together with a copy of the entry on which he relies. The special Judge shall mark the book for the purpose of identification, and, after examining and comparing the copy with the original, shall return the book to the claimant.

Exclusion of documents not produced. (4) If any document in the possession or under the control of the claimant is not delivered or produced by him, as required by this section, the special Judge may refuse to receive that document in evidence on the claimant's behalf at the investigation of the case.

Claim not duly notified to be deemed discharged. 10. Every claim against the zamíndár in respect of a private debt shall, unless made within the time and in the manner required by this Act, be deemed, for all purposes, and on all occasions, to have been duly discharged.

Order appointing time for inquiry. 11. The special Judge shall, by an order in writing, appoint a time for inquiring into each claim made as aforesaid, and a copy of that order shall be served on the claimant and on the zamíndár, or, when the application has been made on behalf of a disqualified proprietor, on the manager of his property, or the Deputy Commissioner, as the case may be.

History of transactions with zamíndár to be investigated. At the time so appointed, or at any subsequent time to which the proceedings may be adjourned, the special Judge shall hear such of the parties as appear, and, if the amount of any claim (other than a claim decreed by a competent Court) is disputed, shall inquire into the history and merits of that claim from the commencement of the transactions between the parties, and shall, as hereinafter provided, determine the amount (if any) justly due to the claimant.

Explanation.—Subject to the right of appeal and power of revision hereinafter conferred, the effect of this determination is to extinguish the previously existing right (if any) of the claimant, together with all rights (if any) of mortgage or lien by which the same is secured, and, where any amount is determined to be due to him, to substitute for those rights a right to recover that amount in the manner and to the extent hereinafter prescribed, and not otherwise.

Mode of taking account.

12. When the special Judge inquires, under section eleven, into the history and merits of a claim, he shall—notwithstanding any agreement between the zamíndár and the claimant, or the persons (if any) through whom they claim, as to allowing compound interest, or as to setting off the profits of mortgaged property in lieu of interest without an account, or otherwise determining the manner of taking the account, and notwithstanding any statement or settlement of account, or any contract purporting to close previous dealings and create a new obligation,

open the account from the commencement of the transactions between the parties, and take that account according to the following rules (that is to say) :—

(a) separate accounts of principal and interest shall be taken;

(b) in the account of principal, there shall be debited to the zamíndár such money as may, from time to time, have been actually received by him, or on his account, from the claimant, and the price of goods (if any) sold to him by the claimant as part of the transactions between them;

(d) in the account of principal, there shall not be debited to the zamíndár any accumulated interest which has been converted into principal at any statement or settlement of account, or by any contract made in the course of the transactions, unless the special Judge, for reasons to be recorded by him in writing, deems such debit to be reasonable;

(e) in the account of interest, there shall be debited to the zamíndár, monthly, simple interest on the balance of principal for the time being outstanding, at the rate allowed by the special Judge as hereinafter provided;

(f) all money paid by, or on account of, the zamíndár to the claimant, or on his account, and all profits, service or other advantages of every description received by the claimant in the course of the transactions, shall be credited first in the account of interest, and, when any payment is more than sufficient to discharge the balance of interest due at the time it is made, the residue of that payment shall be credited to the zamíndár in the account of principal:

Explanation.—The advantages mentioned in this clause shall be estimated, if necessary, at such money-value as the special Judge may determine in his discretion, or with the aid of arbitrators appointed by him;

(g) the accounts of principal and interest shall be made up to the date of making the claim; and the aggregate of the balances (if any) appearing due on both the accounts against the zamíndár at that date shall be deemed to be the amount due at that date, except when the balance appearing due on the account of interest exceeds that appearing due on the account of principal, in which case double the latter balance shall be deemed to be the amount then due.

Interest to be allowed.

13. The interest to be awarded in taking an account, according to the rules set forth in section twelve, shall be—

(a) the rate (if any) agreed upon between the zamíndár and the claimant, or the persons (if any) through whom they respectively claim, unless that rate is deemed by the special Judge to be unreasonable; or

(b) if that rate is deemed by the special Judge unreasonable, or if no rate was agreed upon, or, when any agreement to set off profits in lieu of interest without an account, entered into between the zamíndár and the claimant, or the persons (if any) through whom they respectively claim, has been set aside by the special Judge, such rate as the special Judge deems reasonable.

Proceedings when amount determined to be due is paid into court.

14. If, on the termination of the inquiries by the special Judge, the zamíndár forthwith pays into court the aggregate amount of the claims determined to be due, together with the aggregate of such costs (if any) as the special Judge may in each case award against the zamíndár, the special Judge shall submit a report of his proceedings to the Commissioner, and shall, on the application of each claimant, pay to him such portions (if any) of the said aggregate amounts as may be due to him.

Power to rank debts and fix future interest.

15. If the zamíndár does not pay the said amounts under section fourteen, and these amounts cannot, in the opinion of the special Judge, be paid from the proceeds of the sale of the zamíndár's property (exclusive of his proprietary rights in land and of the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure), the special Judge shall make an order ranking the claims and costs according to the order in which they shall be paid or discharged, and fixing the interest (if any) to be paid on the amounts thereof respectively from the date of the final decision thereon to the date of the payment or discharge thereof.

Power to eject mortgagee, &c.

16. When any person whose claim has been determined by the special Judge, or whose claim is, under section ten, to be deemed to be discharged, has, as mortgagee or otherwise, obtained possession of any land of the zamíndár as security for his claim and continues in possession of that land, the special Judge may order him to be ejected therefrom.

Any order passed under this section shall be executed as nearly as may be in accordance with the rules prescribed by the Code of Civil Procedure for the execution of decrees.

Report to be submitted by special Judge in certain cases.

17. When the proceedings hereinbefore prescribed have been concluded otherwise than under section fourteen, the special Judge shall submit a report to the Commissioner, showing the nature and amount of the claims and costs as determined and awarded by him, the nature and amount of all the zamíndár's property (exclusive of his proprietary rights in land and of the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure) which may be available for the payment or discharge of the same, and, when an order has been made under section fifteen, the particulars of such order.

CHAPTER V.

PROCEDURE OF COMMISSIONER AND MODE OF LIQUIDATION.

On report of special Judge, Commissioner to sell property reported by special Judge, and, if necessary, to direct valuation of proprietary rights.

18. On receiving a report under section seventeen, the Commissioner shall direct that the property reported by the special Judge as available for the payment or discharge of the claims and costs determined and awarded by him, or any specified portion of that property, be sold by public auction, and, from the proceeds thereof, shall pay or discharge, so far as practicable, the amount of the said claims and costs.

If those proceeds are not sufficient to pay or discharge in full that amount, the Commissioner shall direct the value of the zamíndár's proprietary rights in land to be ascertained in the manner following :—

For the purposes of a loan, the value of those rights shall be estimated to be a sum amounting to six times the nett annual profits of the zamíndár.

For the purposes of purchase by Government, the value of those rights shall be estimated to be a sum amounting to ten times those nett annual profits.

"Nett annual profits."

Explanation.—The expression "nett annual profits" means the balance left, after deducting the amount of the annual Government revenue and the rates payable annually by the zamíndár under the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1878, or any other Act for the time being in force, from the aggregate amount of—

(a) the rents which he is entitled to receive annually from his tenants;

(b) the rent which he would have to pay annually for his sír-land (if any), if he were an ex-proprietary tenant thereof;

(c) all other profits annually receivable by him as zamíndár; and

(d) in the case of profits occasionally receivable or varying in amount from year to year, the average annual amount of such profits during the ten years next preceding the valuation.

Proceedings in liquidation.

19. When the value of the zamíndár's proprietary rights has been ascertained as directed in section eighteen, the Commissioner shall proceed as follows :—

(a) If the sum at which the rights have been valued for the purposes of a loan is sufficient to pay or discharge the unpaid balance of the claims and costs determined and awarded by the special Judge, together with the zamíndár's public debts, the Commissioner may, with the consent of the zamíndár, direct such sum as may be necessary, not being more than the amount of such valuation, to be advanced from the public treasury as a loan to the zamíndár, repayable, with interest thereon at the rate of five per cent. per annum, by instalments, within a term not exceeding ten years, and shall, from the sum so advanced, pay or discharge in full the said balance and the said public debts.

(b) If the zamíndár does not consent to accept such loan, or if the sum at which his proprietary rights in land have been valued for the purposes of a loan is not sufficient to discharge the said balance and the said public debts, the Commissioner may order that any portion, or, if necessary, the whole, of those rights shall be sold in the manner hereinafter prescribed in order to discharge such balance and debts.

Attachment of proprietary rights.

20. When an order for the sale of the proprietary rights of any zamíndár has been made under section nineteen, the Commissioner may order those rights to be attached and taken under the management of the Deputy Commissioner, who shall have, for this purpose, the same powers as are conferred, for the management of a mahál, on a Collector by the North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, section 155.

The management shall continue until the rights are sold under this Act.

Mode of selling proprietary rights.

21. (1) All sales under this Act of proprietary rights in land shall be made by public auction in the manner prescribed by the said North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, for the sale of immoveable property for arrears of land-revenue.

(2) If, at the public auction of any zamíndár's proprietary rights in land, any bid is made for those rights above the sum at which they have been valued for the purposes of purchase by Government, the rights shall be sold to the highest bidder; and the proceeds of the sale shall be paid to the Deputy Commissioner or such officer as the Commissioner may direct.

(3) If no such bid is made, the Commissioner shall direct a sum of money equal to the amount of that valuation to be paid from the public treasury to the Deputy Commissioner or such officer.

Duty of Deputy Commissioner.

22. The Deputy Commissioner or such officer, as the case may be, shall thereupon, subject to the control of the Commissioner,— first, pay, from the money which he has received under section twenty-one, the zamíndár's public debts;

secondly, out of the balance of that money, pay or discharge, so far as may be practicable, the unpaid balances of the claims and costs determined and awarded by the special Judge, in the order in which they are ranked under section fifteen by that Judge;

thirdly, pay the surplus (if any) to the zamíndár.

When the whole of a zamíndár's proprietary rights in land have been sold in execution of an order passed under section nineteen, clause (b), and the proceeds of the sale are insufficient to discharge in full the amounts referred to in this section, the unpaid balance of those amounts shall nevertheless be deemed to have been duly discharged.

Consequences of loan.

23. When a sum of money has been lent, under section nineteen, clause (a), to a zamíndár, and applied as provided in that clause, and he fails to pay any instalment of principal or interest on the day fixed for the payment thereof, the whole sum remaining unpaid on account of principal or interest, or both, shall be recoverable at once as if it were an arrear of land-revenue due by him in respect of the land comprised in the valuation made under section eighteen.

Conditions of purchase by Government.

24. When a sum of money has been paid from the public treasury in respect of any proprietary rights of a zamíndár as provided in section twenty-one, and has been applied as provided in section twenty-two, the following consequences shall ensue (namely) :—

(a) all such proprietary rights shall vest in Her Majesty ;

(b) in respect of any of his sír-land, the proprietary rights in which are, under this section, vested in Her Majesty, the zamíndár shall be deemed to be an ex-proprietary tenant holding the land directly under the Government.

Power to declare that zamíndár has ceased to be subject to disabilities.

25. In each of the following cases (namely),—

(a) when a report has been submitted to the Commissioner under section fourteen, or

(b) when the claims and costs determined and awarded by the special Judge have been paid or discharged in full under section eighteen, or

(c) when the amount lent, under section nineteen, to a zamíndár has been repaid, together with the interest due thereon, or

(e) when the whole, or, where it is necessary to sell only a portion, that portion, of his proprietary rights in land has been sold under this Act to the highest bidder, or those rights have vested in Her Majesty under section twenty-four,

the Commissioner shall declare that the zamíndár has ceased to be subject to the disabilities mentioned in section eight, clause (c) :

Provided that, in cases coming under clause (d) of this section, no such declaration shall be made without the previous sanction of the Local Government.

CHAPTER VI.

OF APPEAL AND REVISION.

Appeals.

26. An appeal against any decision or order of the special Judge, under this Act, shall lie to the Commissioner if preferred within one month from the date of the decision or order, and not later, unless the appellant satisfies the Commissioner that he had sufficient cause for not presenting the appeal within that period.

Subject to the power of revision next hereinafter provided, the decision of the Commissioner on an appeal under this section shall be final.

Power to call for proceedings and pass order thereon.

27. The Board of Revenue or the Commissioner may, of its or his own motion, or on the application of any person concerned, call for and revise the proceedings in any case under this Act, and pass such order thereon, consistent with the provisions herein contained, as it or he thinks fit :

Provided that nothing in this section shall empower the Commissioner to pass any order reversing or modifying an order passed by the Board of Revenue.

CHAPTER VII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Death of zamíndár during proceedings.

28. If a zamíndár with regard to whom a notice has been published under section seven dies before a declaration has been made in respect of him under section twenty-five,

(a) the proceedings under this Act shall be continued as nearly as may be possible in all respects as if the zamíndár were still living ; and

(b) any person succeeding to the whole or any portion of the zamíndár's proprietary rights in land shall become subject in respect of those rights to the disabilities imposed by section eight, clause (c), and shall continue so subject until a declaration has been made in respect of him under section twenty-five.

Investigation to be deemed a judicial proceeding.

29. Every investigation conducted by the special Judge with reference to any claim made to him under this Act, or to any matter connected with any such claim, shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code ;

Special Judge deemed public servant within meaning of Indian Penal Code.

and the special Judge shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of that Code.

Power to summon witnesses, compel production of documents and award costs.

30. For the purposes of compelling the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents, and of awarding costs, the special Judge shall have the powers conferred on a Civil Court by the Code of Civil Procedure.

Bar of suits.

31. No suit or other proceeding shall be maintained against any person in respect of anything done by him in good faith pursuant to this Act.

Power to make rules.

32. The Local Government may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act—

(a) to regulate the procedure in all cases under this Act ;

(b) to declare what shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the vernacular language of any specified district ; and

(c) generally to carry out the provisions of this Act.

Such rules shall be published in the official Gazette, and, when so published, shall have the force of law.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 5th January, 1882, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 1 OF 1882.

Commencement.

II.—Assessment.

Sec. 4, Act III of 1878.

Such rate shall be paid by the landlord of such estate in addition to any land-revenue for the time being assessed thereon.

The officer assessing such rate on any estate shall determine what for the purposes of this section shall be deemed to be the gross rental of such estate; Provided that if the Chief Commissioner so directs, the gross rental of any estate shall for such purposes be deemed to be—

(a) in cases in which the settlement of the land-revenue is liable to periodical revision, double the amount of the land-revenue for the time being assessed on such estate;

(b) in cases in which the land-revenue has been wholly or in part released, double the amount which if the settlement were liable to such revision would be assessable as land-revenue on such estate.

3. The proceeds of all rates levied under this Act shall be carried to the credit of a general provincial fund.

Rates to be carried to general fund.

Sec. 11, Act III of 1878, modified.

4. The Chief Commissioner may, from time to time, allot from such fund such amounts as he thinks fit, to be applied for the benefit of each district for expenditure on all or any of the following purposes, namely:—

Provided that the amounts so allotted in any year for the benefit of any district shall not be less than nine-tenths of the total sum levied under this Act in such district for such year.

6. Any portion of such allotment remaining unexpended at the end of the year in which the allotment was made may, at the discretion of the Chief Commissioner, be re-allotted for expenditure for the benefit of the same district, or may be expended for all or any of the purposes mentioned in section four in such district as the Chief Commissioner directs.

Unexpended portion of assignment.

Sec. 14, Act III of 1878, modified.

7. Accounts of the receipts in respect of all rates levied under this Act and of the receipts and expenditure of such allotment shall be kept in each district in such manner as the Chief Commissioner may from time to time direct.

Sec. 19, Act III of 1878.

11. All sums due on account of any rate imposed under this Act shall be recoverable as if they were arrears of land-revenue payable directly to Government and due on the land on which the rate is payable.

Recovery of rates.

12. All cesses which before this Act comes into force have been imposed on land for the maintenance of roads, schools or the district-post and which are now payable, shall be deemed to be rates imposed hereunder.

Saving of existing cesses.

13. The Chief Commissioner may, by notification in the official Gazette, from time to time—

Act III of 1878, sec. 1

Supplementary powers of Chief Commissioner.

(a) prescribe by what instalments and at what times rates imposed hereunder shall be payable, and by whom they shall be respectively assessed, collected and paid;

(b) prescribe the manner in which the members of any Committee under section eight shall be appointed or removed, and define consistently with this Act the functions and authority of such Committee:

(c) make rules consistent with this Act for the guidance of officers in matters connected with its enforcement; and

(d) exempt any portion of the territories under his administration from the operation of this Act; or exempt any land from liability to pay the whole or any part of any rate under this Act; and vary or cancel such exemptions.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN the Central Provinces Land-revenue Bill provision was made for the levy of rates on land in the Central Provinces. The Select Committee, however, were of opinion that it was not expedient to make such a provision in an enactment relating to the assessment and collection of land-revenue, and that it was better to dissociate the local rates from land-revenue, and to provide for their assessment by a separate enactment.

2. The present Bill has accordingly been prepared on the lines of the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1878. It provides for the assessment and collection of local rates on land in the Central Provinces, and for the expenditure of the receipts from those rates on works of public utility in those Provinces. No change is made by the Bill in the rates at present payable by the owners of land. Such rates are maintained and made leviable under the Bill, but they cannot be altered until the period of the existing settlement expires.

2. To the saving clause of section 1 of the Bill, we have added a provision that the Act shall not affect the rights or liabilities of any person under any decree passed before the Act comes into force.

3. In section 9, we have given the Small Cause Court power, with the previous sanction of the High Court, to make rules providing, for all matters not specially provided for by the Act.

4. It has been represented that petty claims in respect of collisions occurring in the harbour are brought in the Bombay Small Cause Court, and that it will cause inconvenience to the public if the jurisdiction of the Court in such cases is held to be excluded by section 19, clause (m). We have therefore made that clause run thus:—"Suits for compensation in respect of collisions on the high seas."

5. It is, we think, inexpedient to permit a defendant to oust the jurisdiction of the Small Cause Court by raising questions as to religious rites or ceremonies, and we have therefore omitted clause (l) of section 9 of the Bill as re-published.

6. The provisions of section 23 of the Bill, which extend certain portions of the Code of Civil Procedure to the Small Cause Courts, have been generally objected to. It is said that the procedure thus applied will cause delay in the trial of suits and defeat the object for which those Courts are established. We consider that the procedure prescribed in the section is not requisite in suits for an amount or value not exceeding one thousand rupees, but that it is expedient that it should be followed in suits for a greater amount or value. We have therefore added a clause giving the Court power, subject to the control of the Local Government, to declare that, in the case of suits for an amount or value not exceeding one thousand rupees, the whole or any part of that procedure shall not extend and be applied to the Small Cause Court, or that it shall extend and be applied with such modifications as the Court, subject to such control, may think fit. We have also omitted Chapter X of the Code of Civil Procedure (Discovery and Admission of Documents) from the second schedule, as its provisions do not appear to us to be suitable for a Small Cause Court.

7. We have also modified section 24, which declares what shall be deemed to be a res judicata. We have limited the application of the section to Courts other than the Small Cause Court, and have omitted the illustrations.

8. Section 28 of the Bill as re-published, which bars applications for the execution of decrees if presented after three years from the date of the decree, contained the rule in force in the Calcutta Small Cause Court. We consider that a special enactment on this subject is unnecessary, and we have accordingly omitted the section, and left the period of limitation in the case of such applications to be determined by the Indian Limitation Act, 1877.

9. It is objected that the provisions of section 40 of the Bill as re-published (now section 39), which allow an application for re-hearing to be made to the High Court, will deprive the decisions of the Small Cause Court of their finality, and give rise to increased litigation and expense. We think that in the case of suits for an amount or value exceeding one thousand rupees the judgment of the Small Cause Court should not be absolutely final. There should be no appeal in such cases, but the parties should have the power, on certain conditions, of obtaining a re-hearing. In suits for a lesser amount, we think the judgment should be final as it is at present, and we have therefore amended the section so as to permit applications under it to be made only in suits for an amount or value exceeding one thousand rupees.

10. We think that it will be convenient to have all the law peculiar to the Presidency Small Cause Courts within the compass of a single enactment, and we have therefore repealed the Distress Act, 1875, and re-enacted it with such amendments as seemed necessary to make it harmonize with the rest of the measure.

11. Section 72 of the Bill as re-published now section 90) prohibited attornies of the High Court from addressing the Court or examining witnesses in suits for an amount or value exceeding one thousand rupees. This prohibition has been very generally objected to and we have withdrawn it. At the same time we see no reason for giving this privilege to pleaders of the Small Cause Court. The Small Cause Court never had jurisdiction in such suits before, and the pleaders consequently never have had the privilege of addressing a Court in cases of such importance.

12. The Bill has been duly published, and we consider that the amendments now made are of sufficient importance to require its re-publication. We have accordingly altered the date of its commencement from the first of January, 1882, to the first of March, 1882, and recommend that it now be re-published.

W. STOKES.
J. GIBBS.
JOTÍNDRA MOHAN TAGORE.

I agree that the amendments and changes made by the Select Committee are improvements, and I agree that the Bill should be re-published, but I am not prepared to vote for its being passed.

II.—Assessment.

Sec. 4. Act III of 1878.

2. When the term of settlement of any estate expires, such estate shall be liable to the payment of such rate, not exceeding five per cent. on its gross rental, as the Chief Commissioner, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, from time to time imposes. Assessment of rate on expiry of settlement.

Such rate shall be paid by the landlord of such estate in addition to any land-revenue for the time being assessed thereon.

The officer assessing such rate on any estate shall determine what for the purposes of this section shall be deemed to be the gross rental of such estate; Provided that if the Chief Commissioner so directs, the gross rental of any estate shall for such purposes be deemed to be—

(a) in cases in which the settlement of the land-revenue is liable to periodical revision, double the amount of the land-revenue for the time being assessed on such estate;

(b) in cases in which the land-revenue has been wholly or in part released, double the amount which if the settlement were liable to such revision would be assessable as land-revenue on such estate.

3. The proceeds of all rates levied under this Act shall be carried to the credit of a general provincial fund. Rates to be carried to general fund. Sec. 10, Act III of 1878, modified.

4. The Chief Commissioner may, from time to time, allot from such fund such amounts as he thinks fit, to be applied for the benefit of each district for expenditure on all or any of the following purposes, namely:— Allotments from general fund. Sec. 11, Act III of 1878, modified.

Provided that the amounts so allotted in any year for the benefit of any district shall not be less than nine-tenths of the total sum levied under this Act in such district for such year.

Sec. 12, Act III of 1878.

5. In the case of works which benefit more districts than one, the Chief Commissioner may determine what proportion of the expense of the work shall be borne by each of the districts benefited thereby; and such proportion shall be payable out of the allotments made as aforesaid for the benefit of such districts respectively.

Sec. 13, Act III of 1878, modified.

6. Any portion of such allotment remaining unexpended at the end of the year in which the allotment was made may, at the discretion of the Chief Commissioner, be re-allotted for expenditure for the benefit of the same district, or may be expended for all or any of the purposes mentioned in section four in such district as the Chief Commissioner directs.

Unexpended portion of assignment.

Sec. 14, Act III of 1878, modified.

7. Accounts of the receipts in respect of all rates levied under this Act and of the receipts and expenditure of such allotment shall be kept in each district in such manner as the Chief Commissioner may from time to time direct.

Limitation of appeals.

Sec. 19, Act III of 1878.

11. All sums due on account of any rate imposed under this Act shall be recoverable as if they were arrears of land-revenue payable directly to Government and due on the land on which the rate is payable.

Recovery of rates.

12. All cesses which before this Act comes into force have been imposed on land for the maintenance of roads, schools or the district-post and which are now payable, shall be deemed to be rates imposed hereunder.

Saving of existing cesses.

13. The Chief Commissioner may, by notification in the official Gazette, from time to time—

Supplementary powers of Chief Commissioner.

Act III of 1878, sec. 2

(a) prescribe by what instalments and at what times rates imposed hereunder shall be payable, and by whom they shall be respectively assessed, collected and paid;

(b) prescribe the manner in which the members of any Committee under section eight shall be appointed or removed, and define consistently with this Act the functions and authority of such Committee:

(c) make rules consistent with this Act for the guidance of officers in matters connected with its enforcement; and

(d) exempt any portion of the territories under his administration from the operation of this Act; or exempt any land from liability to pay the whole or any part of any rate under this Act; and vary or cancel such exemptions.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN the Central Provinces Land-revenue Bill provision was made for the levy of rates on land in the Central Provinces. The Select Committee, however, were of opinion that it was not expedient to make such a provision in an enactment relating to the assessment and collection of land-revenue, and that it was better to dissociate the local rates from land-revenue, and to provide for their assessment by a separate enactment.

2. The present Bill has accordingly been prepared on the lines of the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1878. It provides for the assessment and collection of local rates on land in the Central Provinces, and for the expenditure of the receipts from those rates on works of public utility in those Provinces. No change is made by the Bill in the rates at present payable by the owners of land. Such rates are maintained and made leviable under the Bill, but they cannot be altered until the period of the existing settlement expires.

2. To the saving clause of section 1 of the Bill, we have added a provision that the Act shall not affect the rights or liabilities of any person under any decree passed before the Act comes into force.

3. In section 9, we have given the Small Cause Court power, with the previous sanction of the High Court, to make rules providing for all matters not specially provided for by the Act.

4. It has been represented that petty claims in respect of collisions occurring in the harbour are brought in the Bombay Small Cause Court, and that it will cause inconvenience to the public if the jurisdiction of the Court in such cases is held to be excluded by section 19, clause (m). We have therefore made that clause run thus :—" Suits for compensation in respect of collisions on the high seas."

5. It is, we think, inexpedient to permit a defendant to oust the jurisdiction of the Small Cause Court by raising questions as to religious rites or ceremonies, and we have therefore omitted clause (t) of section 9 of the Bill as re-published.

6. The provisions of section 23 of the Bill, which extend certain portions of the Code of Civil Procedure to the Small Cause Courts, have been generally objected to. It is said that the procedure thus applied will cause delay in the trial of suits and defeat the object for which those Courts are established. We consider that the procedure prescribed in the section is not requisite in suits for an amount or value not exceeding one thousand rupees, but that it is expedient that it should be followed in suits for a greater amount or value. We have therefore added a clause giving the Court power, subject to the control of the Local Government, to declare that, in the case of suits for an amount or value not exceeding one thousand rupees, the whole or any part of that procedure shall not extend and be applied to the Small Cause Court, or that it shall extend and be applied with such modifications as the Court, subject to such control, may think fit. We have also omitted Chapter X of the Code of Civil Procedure (Discovery and Admission of Documents) from the second schedule, as its provisions do not appear to us to be suitable for a Small Cause Court.

7. We have also modified section 24, which declares what shall be deemed to be a res judicata. We have limited the application of the section to Courts other than the Small Cause Court, and have omitted the illustrations.

8. Section 28 of the Bill as re-published, which bars applications for the execution of decrees if presented after three years from the date of the decree, contained the rule in force in the Calcutta Small Cause Court. We consider that a special enactment on this subject is unnecessary and we have accordingly omitted the section, and left the period of limitation in the case of such applications to be determined by the Indian Limitation Act, 1877.

9. It is objected that the provisions of section 40 of the Bill as re-published (now section 39), which allow an application for re-hearing to be made to the High Court, will deprive the decisions of the Small Cause Court of their finality, and give rise to increased litigation and expense. We think that in the case of suits for an amount or value exceeding one thousand rupees the judgment of the Small Cause Court should not be absolutely final. There should be no appeal in such cases, but the parties should have the power, on certain conditions, of obtaining a re-hearing. In suits for a lesser amount, we think the judgment should be final as it is at present, and we have therefore amended the section so as to permit applications under it to be made only in suits for an amount or value exceeding one thousand rupees.

10. We think that it will be convenient to have all the law peculiar to the Presidency Small Cause Courts within the compass of a single enactment, and we have therefore repealed the Distress Act, 1875, and re-enacted it with such amendments as seemed necessary to make it harmonize with the rest of the measure.

11. Section 72 of the Bill as re-published (now section 96) prohibited attornies of the High Court from addressing the Court or examining witnesses in suits for an amount or value exceeding one thousand rupees. This prohibition has been very generally objected to and we have withdrawn it. At the same time we see no reason for giving this privilege to pleaders of the Small Cause Court. The Small Cause Court never had jurisdiction in such suits before, and the pleaders consequently never have had the privilege of addressing a Court in cases of such importance.

12. The Bill has been duly published, and we consider that the amendments now made are of sufficient importance to require its re-publication. We have accordingly altered the date of its commencement from the first of January, 1882, to the first of March, 1882, and recommend that it now be re-published.

W. STOKES.
J. GIBBS.
JOTÍNDRA MOHAN TAGORE.

I agree that the amendments and changes made by the Select Committee are improvements, and I agree that the Bill should be re-published, but I am not prepared to vote for its being passed.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 12th January, 1882, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 2 OF 1882.

A Bill to exempt certain vessels from the Indian Ports Act, 1875, section 38.

Preamble. WHEREAS it is enacted by the Indian Ports Act, 1875, section thirty-eight, that no vessel of the burden of two hundred tons or upwards shall be moved in any port to which the said section has been specially extended without having a Pilot, Harbour-master or Assistant of the Master Attendant or Harbour-master on board; and that no vessel of any burden less than two hundred tons and exceeding one hundred tons shall be moved in any such port without having on board a Pilot, Harbour-master or Assistant of the Master Attendant or Harbour-master, unless authority in writing so to do has been obtained from the Conservator or some officer empowered by him to give such authority;

And whereas the said recited section has been specially extended to the Port of Bombay;

and whereas it is expedient to exempt Native vessels when moved in the said Port from the provisions of the said recited section; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Addition to section 38 of Act XII of 1875. 1. To the said section the following shall be added:—

Native vessels in the Port of Bombay exempted from the provisions of the section. "Nothing in this section shall be deemed to apply to Native vessels when they are moved in the Port of Bombay.

Cf. Act XI of 1881, s. 1, para. 2. "If any question arises as to whether any vessel is a Native vessel within the meaning of this section, the decision thereon of such authority as the Governor of Bombay in Council may from time to time appoint in this behalf shall be conclusive."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 38 of the Indian Ports Act, 1875, which has been extended to the Port of Bombay, provides that no vessel of the burden of one hundred tons or upwards shall be moved in port without having a Pilot, Harbour-master or other officer on board. The Trustees of the Port and the Government of Bombay are of opinion that the pilotage of Native vessels in that port is both undesirable and impossible; and the Government of India has therefore decided to legislate so as to exempt such vessels, when moved in the Port of Bombay, from the prohibition contained in section 38 of the Indian Ports Act, 1875. With this object the present Bill has been prepared.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Third Publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 5th January, 1882, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 1 OF 1882.

A Bill to provide for the levy of Rates on Land in the Central Provinces.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide in the territories administered by the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces for the levy on land of rates to be applied to local purposes; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

I.—Preliminary.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called "The Central Provinces Local Rates Act, 1882":

Local extent.

It extends only to the territories administered by the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces:

Commencement.

And it shall come into force on such date as the Chief Commissioner, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may by notification in the local official Gazette direct.

II.—Assessment.

Sec. 4, Act III of 1878.

Assessment of rate on expiry of settlement.

2. When the term of settlement of any estate expires, such estate shall be liable to the payment of such rate, not exceeding five per cent. on its gross rental, as the Chief Commissioner, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, from time to time imposes.

Such rate shall be paid by the landlord of such estate in addition to any land-revenue for the time being assessed thereon.

The officer assessing such rate on any estate shall determine what for the purposes of this section shall be deemed to be the gross rental of such estate; Provided that if the Chief Commissioner so directs, the gross rental of any estate shall for such purposes be deemed to be—

(a) in cases in which the settlement of the land-revenue is liable to periodical revision, double the amount of the land-revenue for the time being assessed on such estate;

(b) in cases in which the land-revenue has been wholly or in part released, double the amount which if the settlement were liable to such revision would be assessable as land-revenue on such estate.

Sec. 10, Act III of 1878, modified.

Rates to be carried to general fund.

3. The proceeds of all rates levied under this Act shall be carried to the credit of a general provincial fund.

Sec. 11, Act III of 1878, modified.

Allotments from general fund.

4. The Chief Commissioner may, from time to time, allot from such fund such amounts as he thinks fit, to be applied for the benefit of each district for expenditure on all or any of the following purposes, namely:—

(a) The construction, repair and maintenance of roads and other means of communication:

(b) The construction and repair of school-houses, the maintenance and inspection of schools, the training of teachers and the establishment of scholarships:

(c) The maintenance of the rural police and district-post:

(d) The construction and repair of hospitals, dispensaries, lunatic asylums, markets, wells and tanks, the payment of all charges connected with the purposes for which such buildings or works have been constructed, and

(e) any other local works likely to promote the public health, comfort or convenience:

Provided that the amounts so allotted in any year for the benefit of any district shall not be less than nine-tenths of the total sum levied under this Act in such district for such year.

Sec. 12, Act III of 1878.

Works benefiting several districts.

5. In the case of works which benefit more districts than one, the Chief Commissioner may determine what proportion of the expense of the work shall be borne by each of the districts benefited thereby; and such proportion shall be payable out of the allotments made as aforesaid for the benefit of such districts respectively.

Sec. 13, Act III of 1878, modified.

Unexpended portion of assignment.

6. Any portion of such allotment remaining unexpended at the end of the year in which the allotment was made may, at the discretion of the Chief Commissioner, be re-allotted for expenditure for the benefit of the same district, or may be expended for all or any of the purposes mentioned in section four in such district as the Chief Commissioner directs.

Sec. 14, Act III of 1878, modified.

Accounts.

7. Accounts of the receipts in respect of all rates levied under this Act and of the receipts and expenditure of such allotment shall be kept in each district in such manner as the Chief Commissioner may from time to time direct.

Local Committees.

8. The Chief Commissioner shall appoint in any district a Committee of not less than six persons for the purpose of determining how the allotment mentioned in section four shall be applied, and for the supervision and control of the expenditure of such allotment.

Not less than one-half of the members of such Committee shall be persons not in the service of Government, who own or occupy land in such district and reside therein.

III.—Miscellaneous.

Appeals from orders of assessment.

9. In all matters connected with the assessment and collection of any rate leviable under this Act, an appeal shall lie to the Commissioner from the order of the officer assessing or collecting such rate.

The Commissioner's decision on such appeal shall be final; but may be reviewed by the Chief Commissioner.

Limitation of appeals.

10. No appeal shall lie after the expiration of ninety days from the date of the order complained of; and in computing such period of limitation the provisions of the Indian Limitation Act, 1877, shall apply.

Recovery of rates.

11. All sums due on account of any rate imposed under this Act shall be recoverable as if they were arrears of land-revenue payable directly to Government and due on the land on which the rate is payable.

Saving of existing cesses.

12. All cesses which before this Act comes into force have been imposed on land for the maintenance of roads, schools or the district-post and which are now payable, shall be deemed to be rates imposed hereunder.

Act III of 1878, sec. 1

Supplementary powers of Chief Commissioner.

13. The Chief Commissioner may, by notification in the official Gazette, from time to time—

(a) prescribe by what instalments and at what times rates imposed hereunder shall be payable, and by whom they shall be respectively assessed, collected and paid;

(b) prescribe the manner in which the members of any Committee under section eight shall be appointed or removed, and define consistently with this Act the functions and authority of such Committee:

(c) make rules consistent with this Act for the guidance of officers in matters connected with its enforcement; and

(d) exempt any portion of the territories under his administration from the operation of this Act; or exempt any land from liability to pay the whole or any part of any rate under this Act; and vary or cancel such exemptions.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN the Central Provinces Land-revenue Bill provision was made for the levy of rates on land in the Central Provinces. The Select Committee, however, were of opinion that it was not expedient to make such a provision in an enactment relating to the assessment and collection of land-revenue, and that it was better to dissociate the local rates from land-revenue, and to provide for their assessment by a separate enactment.

2. The present Bill has accordingly been prepared on the lines of the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1878. It provides for the assessment and collection of local rates on land in the Central Provinces, and for the expenditure of the receipts from those rates on works of public utility in those Provinces. No change is made by the Bill in the rates at present payable by the owners of land. Such rates are maintained and made leviable under the Bill, but they cannot be altered until the period of the existing settlement expires.

2. To the saving clause of section 1 of the Bill, we have added a provision that the Act shall not affect the rights or liabilities of any person under any decree passed before the Act comes into force.

3. In section 9, we have given the Small Cause Court power, with the previous sanction of the High Court, to make rules providing for all matters not specially provided for by the Act.

4. It has been represented that petty claims in respect of collisions occurring in the harbour are brought in the Bombay Small Cause Court, and that it will cause inconvenience to the public if the jurisdiction of the Court in such cases is held to be excluded by section 19, clause (m). We have therefore made that clause run thus:—"Suits for compensation in respect of collisions on the high seas."

5. It is, we think, inexpedient to permit a defendant to oust the jurisdiction of the Small Cause Court by raising questions as to religious rites or ceremonies, and we have therefore omitted clause (t) of section 9 of the Bill as re-published.

6. The provisions of section 23 of the Bill, which extend certain portions of the Code of Civil Procedure to the Small Cause Courts, have been generally objected to. It is said that the procedure thus applied will cause delay in the trial of suits and defeat the object for which those Courts are established. We consider that the procedure prescribed in the section is not requisite in suits for an amount or value not exceeding one thousand rupees, but that it is expedient that it should be followed in suits for a greater amount or value. We have therefore added a clause giving the Court power, subject to the control of the Local Government, to declare that, in the case of suits for an amount or value not exceeding one thousand rupees, the whole or any part of that procedure shall not extend and be applied to the Small Cause Court, or that it shall extend and be applied with such modifications as the Court, subject to such control, may think fit. We have also omitted Chapter X of the Code of Civil Procedure (Discovery and Admission of Documents) from the second schedule, as its provisions do not appear to us to be suitable for a Small Cause Court.

7. We have also modified section 24, which declares what shall be deemed to be a res judicata. We have limited the application of the section to Courts other than the Small Cause Court, and have omitted the illustrations.

8. Section 28 of the Bill as re-published, which bars applications for the execution of decrees if presented after three years from the date of the decree, contained the rule in force in the Calcutta Small Cause Court. We consider that a special enactment on this subject is unnecessary and we have accordingly omitted the section, and left the period of limitation in the case of such applications to be determined by the Indian Limitation Act, 1877.

9. It is objected that the provisions of section 40 of the Bill as re-published (now section 39), which allow an application for re-hearing to be made to the High Court, will deprive the decisions of the Small Cause Court of their finality, and give rise to increased litigation and expense. We think that in the case of suits for an amount or value exceeding one thousand rupees the judgment of the Small Cause Court should not be absolutely final. There should be no appeal in such cases, but the parties should have the power, on certain conditions, of obtaining a re-hearing. In suits for a lesser amount, we think the judgment should be final as it is at present, and we have therefore amended the section so as to permit applications under it to be made only in suits for an amount or value exceeding one thousand rupees.

10. We think that it will be convenient to have all the law peculiar to the Presidency Small Cause Courts within the compass of a single enactment, and we have therefore repealed the Distress Act, 1875, and re-enacted it with such amendments as seemed necessary to make it harmonize with the rest of the measure.

11. Section 72 of the Bill as re-published (now section 90) prohibited attornies of the High Court from addressing the Court or examining witnesses in suits for an amount or value exceeding one thousand rupees. This prohibition has been very generally objected to and we have withdrawn it. At the same time we see no reason for giving this privilege to pleaders of the Small Cause Court. The Small Cause Court never had jurisdiction in such suits before, and the pleaders consequently never have had the privilege of addressing a Court in cases of such importance.

12. The Bill has been duly published, and we consider that the amendments now made are of sufficient importance to require its re-publication. We have accordingly altered the date of its commencement from the first of January, 1882, to the first of March, 1882, and recommend that it now be re-published.

I agree that the amendments and changes made by the Select Committee are improvements, and I agree that the Bill should be re-published, but I am not prepared to vote for its being passed.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 12th January, 1882, and was referred to a Select Committee:—

No. 2 OF 1882.

A Bill to exempt certain vessels from the Indian Ports Act, 1875, section 38.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is enacted by the Indian Ports Act, 1875, section thirty-eight, that no vessel of the burden of two hundred tons or upwards shall be moved in any port to which the said section has been specially extended without having a Pilot, Harbour-master or Assistant of the Master Attendant or Harbour-master on board; and that no vessel of any burden less than two hundred tons and exceeding one hundred tons shall be moved in any such port without having on board a Pilot, Harbour-master or Assistant of the Master Attendant or Harbour-master, unless authority in writing so to do has been obtained from the Conservator or some officer empowered by him to give such authority;

And whereas the said recited section has been specially extended to the Port of Bombay;

and whereas it is expedient to exempt Native vessels when moved in the said Port from the provisions of the said recited section; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Addition to section 38 of Act XII of 1875.

1. To the said section the following shall be added:—

Native vessels in the Port of Bombay exempted from the provisions of the section.

"Nothing in this section shall be deemed to apply to Native vessels when they are moved in the Port of Bombay.

Cf. Act XI of 1881, s. 1, para. 2.

"If any question arises as to whether any vessel is a Native vessel within the meaning of this section, the decision thereon of such authority as the Governor of Bombay in Council may from time to time appoint in this behalf shall be conclusive."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Section 38 of the Indian Ports Act, 1875, which has been extended to the Port of Bombay, provides that no vessel of the burden of one hundred tons or upwards shall be moved in port without having a Pilot, Harbour-master or other officer on board. The Trustees of the Port and the Government of Bombay are of opinion that the pilotage of Native vessels in that port is both undesirable and impossible; and the Government of India has therefore decided to legislate so as to exempt such vessels, when moved in the Port of Bombay, from the prohibition contained in section 38 of the Indian Ports Act, 1875. With this object the present Bill has been prepared.

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 19th January, 1882, and was referred to a Select Committee :—

No. 3 OF 1882.

A Bill to amend the Code of Civil Procedure.

Preamble.

For the purpose of amending the Code of Civil Procedure; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Amendment of section 266.

1. In the proviso to section 266 of the said Code, for clause (h), the following shall be substituted, namely :—"(h) the salary of a public officer, or of any servant of a railway company, when such salary does not exceed twelve rupees per mensem, and one moiety of the salary of any such officer or servant, when his salary exceeds that amount;"

Amendment of sections 434 and 650A.

2. In section 434 of the said Code, line 3, before the word "Courts", and in section 650A of the said Code, line 1, before the word "Court", the words "Civil or Revenue" shall be inserted; and the following words shall be added to the latter section, namely :—"The Governor General in Council may by like notification cancel any notification made under this section, but not so as to invalidate the service of any summons previously served."

Amendment of section 539.

3. In section 539 of the said Code, after the word "charitable" the words "or religious" shall be inserted; and in the last paragraph of the same section, before the word "exercised" the words "with the previous sanction of the Local Government" shall be inserted.

4. The following section shall be inserted after section 645 of the said Code (namely) :—

Assessors in causes of salvage, &c.

"645A. In any Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty cause of salvage, towage or collision, the Court, whether it be exercising its original or its appellate jurisdiction, may if it think fit, and upon request of either party to such cause shall, summon to its assistance, in such manner as the Court may by rule, from time to time, direct, two competent assessors; and such assessors shall attend and assist accordingly.

"Every such assessor shall receive such fees for his attendance as the Court by rule prescribes. Such fees shall be paid by such of the parties as the Court in each case may direct."

Repeal of enactments.

5. Act No. X of 1840, section two, and Act No. VII of 1880, section eighty-five, are hereby repealed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to make two or three small amendments of the Code which the experience of the last three years has shewn to be desirable. Section 266 of the Code now exempts from attachment a moiety of the salaries of Government servants and Railway servants. It is now proposed to exempt entirely the salaries of such servants when below a certain small amount, say Rs. 12 per mensem. The proposed legislation is supported by the Local Governments of Bombay, Madras and the North-Western Provinces. The object of course is to benefit the public by providing (as far as the law can do so) that its servants shall not be reduced to a state of inefficiency by the action of their creditors.

The learned Advocate-General of Bengal has held that in section 539, which provides for suits relating to public charities, the word "charitable" does not include, as it would do in England, "religious"; there seems, therefore, no means of getting the Court to settle a scheme for the administration of a public religious endowment, and great inconvenience has been felt in consequence both in the Lower Provinces and the Panjáb. The second object of the Bill is therefore to amend this section by inserting after "charitable" the words "or religious"; and section 2 of Act No. X of 1840, which might impede the framing of a scheme for the endowment to which it relates, will be repealed.

Doubts, again, have been raised as to whether sections 434 and 650 A refer to Revenue, as well as to Civil, Courts, and whether a notification issued under the latter section can be cancelled. The Bill will preclude these doubts.

Lastly, the opportunity has been taken to transfer to its proper place in the Code the section (85) in Act VII of 1880, providing for the assistance of assessors in certain causes in Courts exercising Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty jurisdiction.

AND whereas it is expedient to exempt Native vessels when moved in the said Port from the provisions of the said recited section; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication.]

The following Report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 19th January 1882:—

WE, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Criminal Procedure was referred, have the honour to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the Schedule annexed to this Report.

We have made in the Bill only three important amendments:—

First, we think that the present law gives too great latitude to the Courts with regard to the examination of an accused person. The object of such examination is to give the accused an opportunity of explaining any circumstances which may tend to criminate him, and thus to enable the Court, in cases where the accused is undefended, to examine the witnesses in his interest. It was never intended that the Court should examine the accused with a view to elicit from him some statement which would lead to his conviction. We have therefore limited the power of interrogating the accused by adding to the first paragraph of section 342 the words "for the purpose of enabling the accused to explain any circumstances appearing in the evidence against him." We think the accused should always have this opportunity of explaining, and we have therefore required the Court to question him generally for that purpose before he enters on his defence.

Next, we have amended the law as to whipping. We have provided, in section 32, that no Magistrate of the second class shall pass a sentence of whipping unless specially empowered in that behalf by the Local Government. We have also provided, in section 392, that whipping shall be inflicted with a light ratan not less than half an inch in diameter, and we have abolished whipping with a cat-of-nine-tails. We have also added a clause containing the provisions of section 7 of Act VI of 1864, and in addition thereto we have prohibited the infliction of whipping on any person whom the Court considers to be more than 45 years of age.

Thirdly, we are of opinion that it is unnecessary and inexpedient to retain in section 423 the power which Appellate Courts have at present of enhancing sentences on appeals presented by convicted persons, and we have accordingly withdrawn it.

We have also made the following minor amendments in the Bill:—

CHAPTER I.—Preliminary.

At the suggestion of Colonel Weldon, the Chief Magistrate of Madras, we have omitted Madras from the saving provisions of clause (a), section 1. The Bill will thus apply to the police in the town of Madras, and we have, therefore, repealed so much of Madras Act VIII of 1867, and the Coroners' Act, 1881, as declared what provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure were applicable to the police of Madras. As, however, it is inexpedient to displace the Coroners' Act, IV of 1871, we have added a clause (e) providing that the provisions contained in sections 175 to 177 of the Bill, both inclusive, relating to inquests, shall not apply to the police in the town of Madras.

NOTE.—The chapters and sections referred to in the report are the chapters and sections of the Bill as introduced.

We have altered the definition of "complaint" so as to show that the allegation made to the Magistrate may be either oral or in writing.

We have re-drawn section 5 so as to provide clearly that an offence punishable under a law other than the Indian Penal Code is to be tried in accordance with the provisions of the Bill, but subject to any enactment regulating the manner or place of inquiring into or trying such offence.

CHAPTER II.—Constitution of Criminal Courts and Offices.

In the first paragraph of section 17 we have added words giving the District Magistrate power to make rules as to the distribution of business among the Magistrates and Benches in his district. We have also, in the third paragraph, given the Sessions Judge a similar power with regard to the distribution of business among Assistant Sessions Judges.

In section 21 we have added words expressly declaring that every Chief Magistrate shall exercise in the Presidency-town to which he is appointed all the powers conferred on him by this Code.

CHAPTER III.—Powers of Courts.

In section 31, third paragraph, we have given an Assistant Sessions Judge power to pass a sentence of transportation for a term not exceeding seven years. The Bill, following section 18 of the present Code, gave the Assistant Sessions Judge no power to pass a sentence of transportation. As the Code gives him power to pass a sentence of seven years' imprisonment, which under section 59, Indian Penal Code, he could commute to transportation for seven years, it would seem that the omission of the power of passing a sentence of transportation was merely due to an oversight in drafting.

At the suggestion of the Government of Bengal we have omitted section 38, conferring police powers on Magistrates. We consider that it is inexpedient to invest Magistrates with such powers or to make their connection with the Police more close than it is at present.

We have confined to the Local Government the power, given by section 41, of withdrawing powers conferred under the Code. Powers once conferred should not be lightly withdrawn, and we consider it expedient that District Magistrates should not be able to withdraw powers already conferred on their subordinates.

CHAPTER IV.—Aid and Information to the Magistrates, &c.

We have amended section 42 so as to provide that a person is only bound to assist a Magistrate or police-officer who reasonably demands his aid.

In clause (b) of the same section we have included attempts to injure telegraphs in the list of offences which persons are bound to assist in preventing.

Clause (d), requiring persons to assist the police in extinguishing fires, does not, we think, properly belong to a Code of Criminal Procedure, and we have therefore omitted it.

Section 45 renders it incumbent on native officers who are employed in the collection of revenue or rent of land on the part of Government or the Court of Wards to give information of certain matters to the Magistrate or police-officer. We see no reason why this duty should not also be imposed on all officers so employed, whether they are, or are not, natives of India. We have, therefore, omitted the word "native."

CHAPTER V.—Of Arrest, Escape and Re-taking.

We have made the last paragraph of section 46 run thus :—"Nothing in this section gives a right to cause the death of a person who is not accused of an offence punishable with death."

In section 52 we have provided that, when it is necessary to cause a woman to be searched, the search shall be made by another woman and with strict regard to decency.

To the persons who, under the provisions of section 54 may be arrested without warrant, we have added "any person having in his possession without lawful excuse any implement of house-breaking."

At the suggestion of the Madras Government we have provided in section 59 that any private person may arrest any person who has been proclaimed as an offender.

In section 62 we have provided that the police shall report to the Magistrate the cases of all persons detained under section 57 for refusing to give their names and addresses.

In section 67 we have added section 49 (as to breaking open doors for purposes of liberation) to the provisions applicable in cases when a person arrests, under section 66, another person who has escaped from lawful custody.

CHAPTER VI.—Processes to compel Appearance.

We have provided that section 68, which prescribes the form of summons and the persons by whom it is to be served, shall apply to the Presidency-towns.

In section 70 we allow a summons to be served in a Presidency-town by leaving a duplicate with a servant residing with the person summoned.

Section 75 required that a warrant should be sealed by the presiding officer of the Court issuing it. This, it is represented, will cause needless trouble to the presiding officer, and we have, therefore, said that the warrant shall bear the seal of the Court.

We have declared that section 85, which provides for the case of warrants directed to a police-officer, and which are to be executed beyond the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court issuing them, shall apply to the police in the towns of Calcutta and Bombay.

CHAPTER VII.—Processes to compel Production of Documents, &c.

In the last clause of section 95, providing for the issue of a summons to produce a document or other thing, we have provided that nothing in the section shall be deemed to affect the Indian Evidence Act, sections 123 and 124—sections which regulate the giving of evidence as to affairs of State and the disclosure of official communications.

In section 104, directing search to be made in the presence of witnesses, we have provided that the list of things found in the search shall specify the place or places in which they are respectively found, and that a copy of the list, signed by the witnesses, shall be delivered to the occupant or person in charge of the place searched, if he so request.

CHAPTER VIII.—Of Security for keeping the Peace and for Good Behaviour.

The extension in section 108 of the term, for which a Magistrate may in the case of unconvicted persons require security to keep the peace, to three years is objected to. We are of opinion that the term of one year allowed by the present Code is sufficiently long, and have accordingly amended the section.

We agree with the Government of the North-Western Provinces that first class Magistrates should not be allowed to require security for good behaviour under section 111 unless they have been specially empowered in that behalf by the Local Government. We have amended the section accordingly.

To the first paragraph of the section (111) we have added words so as to allow of security for good behaviour being required from persons who habitually commit extortion, or, in order to the committing of extortion, habitually put or attempt to put persons in fear of injury. In the North-Western Provinces there is a class of bad characters who habitually extort money from respectable people by threatening to insult or beat them; and we have added this provision at the request of the Government of those Provinces, in order to enable Magistrates to protect the public against such a system of extortion.

To the first paragraph of section 118 we have added words to show that the Magistrate may, besides proceeding to inquire into the truth of the information upon which he has acted, also take such further evidence as may appear necessary.

In section 124, which provides for imprisonment in default of security, we have allowed the person so imprisoned to give the security required to the officer in charge of the jail wherein he is confined, as well as to the Court or Magistrate requiring the security.

In section 126 we have required the District Magistrate to record in writing his reasons for cancelling a bond for keeping the peace.

To the first paragraph of section 127 we have added words to show that a Magistrate can only exercise the power of discharging sureties in the case of a bond executed within the local limits of his jurisdiction.

CHAPTER X.—Public Nuisances.

We concur with the majority of officers consulted in objecting to the addition, in the third paragraph of this section, of the words "offensive to the religious feelings of any considerable section thereof," and we have accordingly struck them out.

CHAPTER XII.—Disputes as to Immoveable Property.

To section 146 we have added a paragraph to the effect that nothing in the section is to prevent a party who is called on to attend the Court from showing that no dispute exists or has existed, and that in such case the Magistrate shall cancel his order, and further proceedings shall be stayed.

To section 149 we have added a paragraph giving the Magistrate power to make orders as to the payment of costs incurred by parties to proceedings under chapter XII.

CHAPTER XIV.—Information to the Police and their Powers to investigate.

We have made the rule contained in section 163 as to statements made to the police expressly subject to the provisions of section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872.

In section 167, second paragraph (when the officer in charge of a police-station may require another to issue search-warrant), we have omitted, as unnecessary, the provisions for the case where the thing searched for is found in a different district.

The last part of the first paragraph of section 168, which provides that the accused need not be forwarded to the Magistrate if the police-officer thinks that he should not be so forwarded, has been objected to on the ground that it leaves too great a discretion to the police—a discretion which it is feared they will abuse. We concur with this objection, and have therefore altered the section so as to leave the present law unchanged.

CHAPTER XV.—Jurisdiction of Criminal Courts in Enquiries and Trials.

We have amended the second paragraph of section 193 so as to authorize the District Magistrate to empower a Magistrate of the first class who has taken cognizance of a case to transfer it for enquiry or trial to any other specified and competent Magistrate.

Where a subordinate Court has refused its sanction to a prosecution for any offence mentioned in section 196, we have given power to the superior Court to grant such sanction.

CHAPTER XVI.—Complaints to Magistrates.

In section 203 we have provided that, when a Magistrate decides on postponing the issue of process and directing a local investigation, he must first record his reasons for distrusting the truth of the complaint.

We have authorized a Magistrate so postponing the issue of process to inquire into the case himself; and have also made it clear that he may order the local investigation to be made by a person not being a Magistrate or police-officer.

CHAPTER XVII.—Commencement of Proceedings before Magistrates.

In section 205 the Bill provided that, "if the case appears to be one in which according to that column a warrant should issue in the first instance, the Magistrate shall ordinarily issue his warrant." We think that it should be made clear that the Magistrate may in his discretion issue either a summons or warrant in the first instance, and have, therefore, made the sentence run thus:—"he may issue a warrant, or, if he thinks fit, a summons, for causing the accused to be brought or to appear," &c.

In the second paragraph of section 206 we have authorized the Magistrate inquiring into or trying the case, instead of the Magistrate issuing a summons, to direct the personal attendance of the accused.

CHAPTER XIX.—Of the Charge.

To section 235, which provides that three offences of the same kind within one year may be charged together, we have added a clause to show the meaning of the words "offences of the same kind."

We have made section 236, paragraph III, run thus:—"If several acts, of which one or more than one would by itself or themselves constitute an offence, constitute, when combined, a different offence, the person accused of them may be charged with and tried at one trial for the offence constituted by such acts when combined, or for any offence constituted by any one or more of such acts."

CHAPTER XXI.—Trial of Warrant-cases by Magistrates.

In section 258 we have added words to show that where an accused applies to the Magistrate to summon a witness his application can only be refused on the ground that it is made for the purpose of vexation or delay, or for defeating the ends of justice, and that, if so refused, the Magistrate shall record the ground of refusal in writing.

CHAPTER XXII.—Of Summary Trials.

We have given power to try cases summarily under section 261 to any Bench of Magistrates invested with the powers of a Magistrate of the first class, and specially empowered in this behalf by the Local Government.

To section 263 we have added a clause providing that no sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding three months shall be passed in the case of any conviction on a summary trial.

CHAPTER XXIII.—Trials before High Courts and Courts of Session.

Section 274 gives any Judge power to enter on a charge that there is no legal evidence to sustain it, and that such entry shall have the effect of staying proceedings on the charge. It is objected that this power, which is now given only to High Court Judges, will enable a Sessions Judge to quash a commitment. We have altered the section accordingly and made it accord with the present law.

In section 283, which provides for the procedure when a juror ceases to attend, we have added a provision to meet the case of a juror not understanding the language in which evidence is given or interpreted.

To section 290 we have added a paragraph to authorize the Court to record a finding, or direct a jury to return a verdict of not guilty in a case where the accused says that he means to adduce evidence in his defence, but the Court is of opinion that there is no evidence that the accused committed the offence.

After section 310 we have inserted a section providing that, when an accused is charged with a previous conviction, that charge shall not be read out to the jurors or assessors until the accused has pleaded guilty to, or been convicted of, the substantive offence for which he is to be tried.

We have altered section 326, which provides for the summoning of assessors, so as to preclude a doubt as to whether the law requires sessions to be held on dates fixed beforehand at the commencement of each year.

To section 333 we have added words empowering the Judge to direct that the discharge, when the Advocate General stays the prosecution, shall amount to an acquittal.

CHAPTER XXIV.—General Provisions as to Inquiries and Trials.

Opinions are much divided as to the change of the law in section 337, which permits a Magistrate to tender a pardon to an accused person in any warrant case. On the whole, we are of opinion that no such change should be made, and we have accordingly amended the section.

In cases where a pardon is tendered and accepted by a person, and such person gives evidence before a Magistrate in a preliminary inquiry, we consider that he should not be forced to adhere to that evidence in a subsequent trial, through fear of being prosecuted on an alternative charge of giving false evidence either before the Magistrate or the Judge. It might happen that he was wrongly induced or coerced into giving evidence before the Magistrate. We have accordingly provided in section 339 that no prosecution for giving false evidence in a statement made under promise of pardon shall be entertained without the sanction of the High Court.

We have removed sections 337 and 338 of the Indian Penal Code from the table of compoundable offences in section 345, and placed them in the second paragraph of that section, thereby making the consent of the Court necessary to the compounding of offences under those sections.

We have added to the same table section 298, Indian Penal Code (uttering words, &c., with deliberate intent to wound religious feelings), and section 355 of the same Code (assault with intent to dishonour a person).

We have struck out the offence of cheating under section 417, Indian Penal Code, from the list of compoundable offences, in deference to almost unanimous opinion on the subject.

We have substituted the words "after hearing the evidence for the prosecution and the accused" for the words "upon concluding a trial" in the first paragraph of section 349; and we have extended the section to the case where the Magistrate trying the accused considers that he ought to be required to execute a bond to keep the peace.

CHAPTER XXV.—Mode of Taking and Recording Evidence.

We have made the provisions of section 356, as to the record of evidence, applicable to cases under chapter XII (disputes as to immoveable property).

We have exempted the Chief Court of the Panjáb from the rule, contained in section 364, as to the mode of recording the examination of an accused person.

We have also provided that, when the accused does not understand the language in which his examination is recorded, it is to be interpreted to him.

CHAPTER XXVI.—Of the Judgment.

We think that, when the original judgment is recorded in a different language from that of the Court, a translation need not under section 372 be filed with the record, except when the accused so requires; and we have amended the section accordingly.

Section 373, which provides that the Court of Session shall forward a copy of its judgment to the District Magistrate, is objected to as involving unnecessary labour. We have therefore, following the present Code (section 302), required the Court to forward only a copy of the finding and sentence.

CHAPTER XXVII.—Submission of Sentences for Confirmation.

In section 375 we have given the High Court power to make or order a further inquiry to be made, as well as to take or order additional evidence to be taken, in the case of capital sentences submitted to it for confirmation.

CHAPTER XXVIII.—Of Execution.

We have amended section 388 so as to show that it is intended to allow the Court, in a case when an offender has been sentenced to fine only and to imprisonment in default of payment of fine, to suspend the execution of the sentence of imprisonment and release him on his furnishing security. We have also provided that, in the event of the fine not being realized, the Court may direct the sentence of imprisonment to be carried into effect.

Section 395 provides that, where a sentence of whipping cannot be executed, the offender shall not be sentenced in lieu of the whipping to a longer term of imprisonment than three months. This term has been generally objected to as inadequate, and we have, therefore, altered it to twelve months.

We have also provided that the section shall not be deemed to authorize a Court to inflict imprisonment for a term exceeding that to which the accused is liable by law, or that which the Court is competent to inflict.

CHAPTER XXIX.—Suspensions, Remissions and Commutations.

Instead of requiring a Judge to furnish a statement of the facts proved on a trial, and of any facts having reference to the propriety of granting an application for the suspension or remission of a sentence, we think it will be enough to require him to state his opinion as to whether the application shall be granted or refused, together with his reasons for such opinion, and we have altered section 401 accordingly.

In the last paragraph of section 402, which gives power to the Governor General in Council or the Local Government to commute sentences, we have, to remove doubts, added after the words "rigorous imprisonment" the words "for a term not exceeding that to which he might have been sentenced." We have also added after the words "simple imprisonment" the words "for a like term." It has been supposed that the corresponding section (322) of the present Code gave the Government power to commute a sentence of transportation, for instance, to a sentence of imprisonment exceeding that for which the offender was liable under the law under which he was convicted. The words we have added will, it is hoped, prevent such a misunderstanding for the future. We have also added "fine" as one of the punishments for which a sentence may be commuted.

CHAPTER XXXI.—Of Appeals.

In the last proviso to section 423 we have authorized a Court to alter or reverse the verdict of a jury if it is of opinion that such verdict is erroneous owing to a misunderstanding, on the part of the jury, of the law as laid down by the Judge.

To section 424, regulating the judgment of subordinate Appellate Courts, we have added a proviso that, unless the Appellate Court otherwise directs, the accused shall not be brought up or required to attend to hear judgment delivered.

We have in section 426 given the High Court power, in the case of an appeal by a convicted person to a Court subordinate to the High Court, to suspend the sentence and release the convicted person on bail.

In section 439 we have added to the powers of revision which may be exercised by the High Court the powers conferred on a Court of Appeal by section 196 (granting or revoking sanction to prosecute in certain cases) or on a Court by section 338 (power to direct tender of pardon) and the power of enhancing a sentence.

We have also provided that nothing in this section applies to an entry on an unsustainable charge made under section 274 by a Judge of a High Court, or shall be deemed to authorize a High Court to convert an order of acquittal into one of conviction.

CHAPTER XXXV.—Proceedings in Case of certain Offences affecting the Administration of Justice.

In section 476 (procedure in contempt cases) we have said that the Court may send the case for enquiry or trial to "the nearest Magistrate of the first class" instead of "to the District Magistrate."

We have added to section 480 (procedure in certain cases of contempt) a paragraph declaring that section 443, which says that certain Magistrates only can try European British subjects, does not apply to this section.

In section 486 we have made the whole of the chapter (XXXI) on appeals, so far as it is applicable, apply to appeals from convictions in contempt cases.

CHAPTER XXXVI.—Maintenance of Wives and Children.

We have amended the third paragraph of section 488 (order for maintenance of wives and children) so as to show that imprisonment is to be awarded only when the allowance remains unpaid after the execution of the warrant of distress.

We have added to the section a paragraph giving the Magistrate power to cancel an order for maintenance when it is proved that the wife is living in adultery, or without sufficient reason refuses to live with her husband, or that they are living separately by mutual consent.

We have also provided that evidence under this chapter shall be recorded in the presence of the husband or father, as the case may be, and in the manner prescribed in the case of summons cases.

CHAPTER XXXVII.—State-Prisoners.

This chapter has, in accordance with the wishes of the Secretary of State, been omitted from the Bill; the enactments which this chapter consolidated have been struck out of the schedule of repeals; and the form of warrant of commitment under section 491 has been omitted from schedule V.

CHAPTER XLII.—Special Rules of Evidence.

We have omitted the rule contained in section 521 as to presuming good faith in certain cases, as it conflicts with section 105 of the Indian Evidence Act.

CHAPTER XLIV.—Disposal of Property.

In the second paragraph of section 528 we have said that the High Court or Court of Session may direct the District Magistrate, instead of the committing Magistrate, to carry into effect its order for the disposal of property. The committing Magistrate might be transferred before the order was made.

We have excepted perishable property from the rule, contained in the third paragraph, that no order for the disposal of property shall be carried out till the period of appeal has elapsed, or, if an appeal is presented, till the appeal has been dismissed.

Section 532 authorizes the Court on a conviction for certain offences to order all the copies of the thing in respect of which the conviction was had, and which remain in the possession or power of the convicted person, to be destroyed. We have extended this power to copies which are in the custody of the Court.

CHAPTER XLVI.—Irregular Proceedings.

Before clause (d), section 541 (irregularities which vitiate proceedings), we have added the case where a Magistrate not being empowered by law in this behalf tries an offender.

In section 544, which provides for the case where the confession or statement of an accused person has not been duly recorded, it is provided that "unless the error injures the accused as to his defence on the merits, it shall not affect the admissibility of the statement." For this provision we have substituted the following:—"and notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Evidence Act, section 91, such statement shall be admitted, if the error has not injured the accused as to his defence on the merits."

To the irregularities mentioned in section 548, which are not to justify the setting aside of a finding, sentence or order of a Court of competent jurisdiction, we have added irregularities in the warrant, and have included irregularities in any inquiry or other proceeding under the Code as well as irregularities in a trial.

We have also added "the omission to revise any list of jurors or assessors in accordance with section 324."

CHAPTER XLVII.—Miscellaneous.

We have amended section 560, which regulates the delivery to the military authorities of persons liable to be tried by court-martial, and given the Governor General in Council power to make rules, consistent with the Code, the Army Act, 1881, and any similar law for the time being in force, as to the cases in which persons subject to military law shall be tried by a Court constituted under the Code or by court-martial.

We have modified section 564, which gives power to the High Courts to make certain rules, and have provided that the rules for regulating the practice of High Courts not established by Royal Charter and of Courts subordinate to such Courts shall be made with the previous sanction of the Local Government. We have also added a power to make, with the like sanction, rules for regulating the execution of warrants issued under the Code for the levy of fines.

After section 565 we have added a section providing that no Judge or Magistrate shall, except with the permission of the Appellate Court to which an appeal from his judgment lies, try any case to or in which he is a party or personally interested, and that no Judge or Magistrate shall hear an appeal from an order made by himself.

Schedule I.

We think that the power which Act V of 1861, section 24, expressly confers on the police, to lay informations and apply for summonses and other legal processes, should remain intact, and we, therefore, propose to repeal only the last nine words of that section.

Schedule II.

At the request of the Government of Bombay we have made offences under section 19 of the Indian Arms Act, 1878, bailable.

Schedule III.

To the ordinary powers of Magistrates of the third class we have added the power to restore attached property (section 90).

To the ordinary powers of a Magistrate of the first class we have added the power to issue search-warrants for persons unlawfully confined (section 101), and the power to stop proceedings where there is no complaint (section 250).

To the ordinary powers of a Sub-divisional Magistrate we have added the power to direct warrants to landholders (section 78).

To the ordinary powers of a District Magistrate we have added the power to cancel bonds for keeping the peace (section 126).

Schedule IV.

We have re-arranged and amended this schedule, adding a division as to the powers with which a Sub-divisional Magistrate may be invested.

Schedule V.

We have shortened several of the forms contained in this schedule, omitted others as unnecessary, and given a form of a charge after a previous conviction.

We have made several verbal amendments in the body of the Bill. It has been duly published, and we recommend that it be passed as now amended; but first we think that it should be published thrice in the Gazette of India.

Act IV, 1877, s. 30.

(b) where the Magistrate is a Presidency Magistrate, such examination may be on oath or not as the Magistrate in each case thinks fit, and need not be reduced to writing; but the Magistrate may, if he thinks fit, before the matter of the complaint is brought before him, require it to be reduced to writing:

Act X, 1872, s. 44, para. 2.

(c) when the case has been transferred under section 192 and the Magistrate so transferring it has already examined the complainant, the Magistrate to whom it is so transferred shall not be bound to re-examine the complainant.

202. If the Chief Presidency Magistrate, or any other Presidency Magistrate whom the Local Government may from time to time authorize in this behalf, or any Magistrate of the first or second class, sees reason to distrust the truth of a complaint of an offence of which he is authorized to take cognizance, he may, when the complainant has been examined, record his reasons for distrusting the truth of the complaint, and may then postpone the issue of process for compelling the attendance of the person complained against, and either inquire into the case himself or direct a previous local investigation to be made by any officer subordinate to such Magistrate or a Police-officer, or by such other person, not being a Magistrate or Police-officer, as he thinks fit, for the purpose of ascertaining the truth or falsehood of the complaint.

204. If in the opinion of a Magistrate taking cognizance of an offence there is sufficient ground for proceeding and the case appears to be one in which according to the fourth column of the second schedule a summons should issue in the first instance, he shall issue his summons for the attendance of the accused. If the case appears to be one in which according to that column a warrant should issue in the first instance, he may issue a warrant or, if he thinks fit, a summons, for causing the accused to be brought or to appear at a certain time before such Magistrate or some other Magistrate having jurisdiction.

Issue of process.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the provisions of section 90.

209. When the evidence referred to in section 208, paragraphs 1 and 2, has been taken, and he has examined the accused for the purpose of enabling him to explain any circumstances appearing in the evidence against him, such Magistrate shall, if he finds that there are not sufficient grounds for committing the accused person for trial, discharge him, unless it appears to the Magistrate that such person should be tried before himself or some other Magistrate, in which case he shall proceed accordingly.

When accused person to be discharged.

Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent a Magistrate from discharging the accused at any previous stage of the case if, for reasons to be recorded by such Magistrate, he considers the charge to be groundless.

Act X, 1872, ss. 195, Expln. III, 196, 198, para. 1. Act IV, 1877, s. 88. Act IV, 1877, s. 89, omitting paras. 3 and 4.

210. When, upon such evidence being taken and such examination (if any) being made, the Magistrate finds that there are sufficient grounds for committing the accused for trial, he shall frame a charge under his hand, declaring with what offence the accused is charged.

When charge is to be framed.

Act X, 1872, s. 199. Act X, 1875, s. 13. Act IV, 1877, s. 90.

The Magistrate may in his discretion allow the accused to give in any further list of witnesses at a subsequent time; and nothing in this section shall be deemed to preclude the accused from giving, at any time before his trial before the High Court, to the Clerk of the Crown a further list of the persons whom he wishes to be summoned to give evidence on such trial.

Further list.

Act X, 1872, s. 200, para. 2. Act IV, 1877, s. 91.

212. The Magistrate may in his discretion summon and examine any witness named in any list given in to him under section 211.

Power of Magistrate to examine such witnesses.

Act X, 1872, ss. 198, para. 1, 200, para. 2. Act IV, 1877, ss. 89, para. 1, 91.

213. When the accused on being required to give in a list under section 211 has declined to do so, or when he has given in such list and the witnesses (if any) included therein whom the Magistrate desires to examine have been summoned and examined under section 212, the Magistrate may make an order committing the accused for trial by the High Court or the Court of Session (as the case may be), and (unless the Magistrate is a Presidency Magistrate) shall also record briefly the reasons for such commitment.

Order of commitment.

214. If any person (not being an European British subject) is accused before a Magistrate other than a Presidency Magistrate of having committed an offence conjointly with an European British subject who is about to be committed for trial, or to be tried, before the High Court on a similar charge arising out of the same transaction, and the Magistrate finds that there are sufficient grounds for committing the accused for trial, he shall commit him to take his trial before the High Court, and not before the Court of Session.

Act X, 1872, s. 197, omitting the Explanation.

Person charged outside Presidency-towns jointly with European British subject.

215. A commitment once made under section 213 or 214 by a competent Magistrate can be quashed by the High Court only, and only on a point of law.

Provided that where the accused has been committed to the High Court, the Magistrate may in his discretion leave such witnesses to be summoned by the Clerk of the Crown, and such witnesses may be summoned accordingly:

Provided also that if the Magistrate thinks that any witness is included in the list for the purpose of vexation or delay, or of defeating the ends of justice, the Magistrate may require the accused to satisfy him that there are reasonable grounds for believing that such witness is material, and if he is not so satisfied, may refuse to summon the witness (recording his reasons for such refusal), or may before summoning him require such sum to be deposited as such Magistrate thinks necessary to defray the expense of obtaining the attendance of the witness.

Bond of complainants and witnesses.

If any complainant or witness refuses to attend before the Court of Session or High Court, or to execute the bond above directed, the Magistrate may detain him in custody until he executes such bond, or until his attendance at the Court of Session or High Court is required, when the Magistrate shall send him in custody to the Court of Session or High Court, as the case may be.

Detention in custody in case of refusal to attend or to execute bond.

Act X, 1872, s. 202, para. 1.

Commitment when to be notified.

218. When the accused is committed for trial, the Magistrate shall issue an order to such person as may be appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, notifying the commitment, and stating the offence in the same form as the charge, unless the Magistrate is satisfied that such person is already aware of the commitment and the form of the charge;

Charge, &c., to be forwarded to High Court or Court of Session.

and shall send the charge, the record of the inquiry and any weapon or other moveable thing which is to be produced in evidence to the Court of Session or (where the commitment is made to the High Court) to the Clerk of the Crown or other officer appointed in this behalf by the High Court.

Act X, 1872, s. 198, para. 4.

English translation to be forwarded to High Court.

When the commitment is made to the High Court and any part of the record is not in English, an English translation of such part shall be forwarded with the record.

Act IV, 1877, s. 91, para. 4.

Power to summon supplementary witnesses.

219. The Magistrate may summon and examine supplementary witnesses after the commitment and before the commencement of the trial, and bind them over in manner hereinbefore provided to appear and give evidence.

Such examination shall, if possible, be taken in the presence of the accused, and, where the Magistrate is not a Presidency Magistrate, a copy of the evidence of such witnesses shall, if the accused so require, be given to him free of cost.

See sec. 541, infra.

CHAPTER XIX.

Of the Charge.

Form of Charges.

See s. 554, infra.

Act X, 1872, s. 439, paras. 1 to 6. Act IV, 1877, s. 94.

Charge to state offence.

221. Every charge under this Code shall state the offence with which the accused is charged.

Specific name of offence sufficient description.

If the law which creates the offence gives it any specific name, the offence may be described in the charge by that name only.

How stated where offence has no specific name.

If the law which creates the offence does not give it any specific name, so much of the definition of the offence must be stated as to give the accused notice of the matter with which he is charged.

The law and section of the law against which the offence is said to have been committed shall be mentioned in the charge.

What implied in charge.

The fact that the charge is made is equivalent to a statement that every legal condition required by law to constitute the offence charged was fulfilled in the particular case.

Language of charge.

In the Presidency-towns the charge shall be written in English; elsewhere it shall be written either in English or in the language of the Court.

Previous conviction when to be set out.

If the accused has been previously convicted of any offence, and it is intended to prove such previous conviction for the purpose of affecting the punishment which the Court is competent to award, the fact, date and place of the previous conviction must be stated in the charge. If such statement is omitted, the Court may add it at any time before sentence is passed.

Act X, 1875, s. 118. Act X, 1882, s. 439, last para. Act IV, 1877, s. 94, last para.

Illustrations.

(a) A is charged with the murder of B.

This is equivalent to a statement that A's act fell within the definition of murder given in sections 299 and 300 of the Indian Penal Code; that it did not fall within any of the general exceptions of the same Code; and that it did not fall within any of the five exceptions to section 300, or that, if it did fall within Exception 1, one or other of the three provisos to that exception applied to it.

Act X, 1872, s. 439, Illustrations. Act IV, 1877, s. 94, Illustrations.

(b) A is charged, under section 326 of the Indian Penal Code, with voluntarily causing grievous hurt to B, by means of an instrument for shooting. This is equivalent to a statement that the case was not provided for by section 335 of the Indian Penal Code, and that the general exceptions did not apply to it.

(c) A is accused of murder, cheating, theft, extortion, adultery or criminal intimidation, or using a false property-mark. The charge may state that A committed murder, or cheating, or theft, or extortion, or adultery, or criminal intimidation, or that he used a false property-mark, without reference to the definitions of those crimes contained in the Indian Penal Code; but the sections under which the offence is punishable must, in each instance, be referred to in the charge.

(d) A is charged, under section 184 of the Indian Penal Code, with intentionally obstructing a sale of property offered for sale by the lawful authority of a public servant. The charge should be in those words.

Particulars as to time, place and person.

222. The charge shall contain such particulars as to the time and place of the alleged offence, and the person (if any) against whom, or the thing (if any) in respect of which, it was committed, as are reasonably sufficient to give the accused notice of the matter with which he is charged.

Act X, 1872, s. 440. Act IV, 1877, s. 95.

When manner of committing offence must be stated.

Act X, 1872, s. 441. Act IV, 1877, s. 96.

Illustrations.

(a) A is accused of the theft of a certain article at a certain time and place. The charge need not set out the manner in which the theft was effected.

(b) A is accused of cheating B at a given time and place. The charge must set out the manner in which A cheated B.

(c) A is accused of giving false evidence at a given time and place. The charge must set out that portion of the evidence given by A which is alleged to be false.

(d) A is accused of obstructing B, a public servant, in discharge of his public functions at a given time and place. The charge must set out the manner in which A obstructed B in the discharge of his functions.

(e) A is accused of the murder of B at a given time and place. The charge need not state the manner in which A murdered B.

(f) A is accused of disobeying a direction of the law with intent to save B from punishment. The charge must set out the disobedience charged and the law infringed.

Act XVIII, 1862, s. 28.

Words in charge taken in sense of law under which offence is punishable.

224. In every charge words used in describing an offence shall be deemed to have been used in the sense attached to them respectively by the law under which such offence is punishable.

Act X, 1872, s. 443. Act X, 1875, s. 24. Act IV, 1877, s. 98.

Effect of errors.

225. No error in stating either the offence or the particulars required to be stated in the charge, and no omission to state the offence or those particulars, shall be regarded at any stage of the case as material, unless the accused was misled by such error or omission.

Illustrations.

(a) A is charged, under section 242 of the Indian Penal Code, with "having been in possession of counterfeit coin, having known at the time when he became possessed thereof that such coin was counterfeit," the word "fraudulently" being omitted in the charge. Unless it appears that A was in fact misled by this omission, the error shall not be regarded as material.

(b) A is charged with cheating B, and the manner in which he cheated B is not set out in the charge, or is set out incorrectly. A defends himself, calls witnesses, and gives his own account of the transaction. The Court may infer from this that the omission to set out the manner of the cheating is not material.

(c) A is charged with cheating B, and the manner in which he cheated B is not set out in the charge. There were many transactions between A and B, and A had no means of knowing to which of them the charge referred, and offered no defence. The Court may infer from such facts that the omission to set out the manner of the cheating was, in this case, a material error.

(d) A is charged with the murder of Khoda Baksh on the 21st January. In fact, the murdered person's name was Haidar Baksh, and the date of the murder was the 20th January. A was never charged with any murder but one, and had heard the inquiry before the Magistrate, which referred exclusively to the case of Haidar Baksh. The Court may infer from these facts that A was not misled, and that the error in the charge was immaterial.

(e) A was charged with murdering Haidar Baksh on the 20th January and Khoda Baksh (who tried to arrest him for that murder) on the 21st January. When charged for the murder of Haidar Baksh, he was tried for the murder of Khoda Baksh. The witnesses present in his defence were witnesses in the case of Haidar Baksh. The Court may infer from this that A was misled, and that the error was material.

Act X, 1872, s. 446. Act X, 1875, s. 16. Act IV, 1877, s. 100.

Procedure on commitment without charge or with imperfect charge.

226. When any person is committed for trial without a charge, or with an imperfect or erroneous charge, the Court, or, in the case of a High Court, the Clerk of the Crown, may frame a charge, or add to or otherwise alter the charge, as the case may be, having regard to the rules contained in this Code as to the form of charges.

Act X, 1872, ss. 444, 445. Act X, 1875, ss. 9, 10. Act IV, 1877, ss. 99, 100.

Court may alter charge.

227. Any Court may alter any charge at any time before judgment is pronounced, or, in the case of trials before the Court of Session or High Court, before the verdict of the jury is returned or the opinions of the assessors are expressed.

Every such alteration shall be read and explained to the accused.

Act X, 1872, s. 447. Act X, 1875, s. 11. Act IV, 1877, s. 101.

When trial may proceed immediately after alteration.

Act X, 1872, s. 448. Act X, 1875, s. 12. Act IV, 1877, s. 102.

When new trial may be directed, or trial suspended.

229. If the new or altered charge is such that proceeding immediately with the trial is likely, in the opinion of the Court, to prejudice the accused or the prosecutor as aforesaid, the Court may either direct a new trial or adjourn the trial for such period as may be necessary.

Act X, 1872, s. 450. Act X, 1875, s. 16. Act IV, 1877, s. 104.

Stay of proceedings if prosecution of offence in altered charge require previous sanction.

230. If the offence stated in the new or altered charge is one for the prosecution of which previous sanction is necessary, the case shall not be proceeded with until such sanction is obtained, unless sanction has been already obtained for a prosecution on the same facts as those on which the new or altered charge is founded.

Act X, 1872, s. 449. Act X, 1875, s. 15, omitting 'during the trial.' Act IV, 1877, s. 103.

Recall of witnesses when charge altered.

231. Whenever a charge is altered by the Court after the commencement of the trial, the prosecutor and the accused shall be allowed to recall or re-summon, and examine with reference to such alteration, any witness who may have been examined.

Act X, 1872, s. 451.

Effect of material error.

232. If any Appellate Court, or the High Court in the exercise of its powers of revision or of its powers under Chapter XXVII, is of opinion that any person convicted of an offence was misled in his defence by the absence of a charge or by an error in the charge, it shall direct a new trial to be had upon a charge framed in whatever manner it thinks fit.

If the Court is of opinion that the facts of the case are such that no valid charge could be preferred against the accused in respect of the facts proved, it shall quash the conviction.

Illustration.

Act XI. 1874, s. 40. A is convicted of an offence under section 196 of the Indian Penal Code, upon a charge which omits to state that he knew the evidence which he corruptly used or attempted to use as true or genuine was false or fabricated. If the Court thinks it probable that A had such knowledge, and that he was misled in his defence by the omission from the charge of the statement that he had it, it shall direct a new trial upon an amended charge; but if it appears probable from the proceedings that A had no such knowledge, it shall quash the conviction.

Joinder of Charges.

Act X, 1872, s. 452. Act X, 1875, s. 17. Act IV, 1877, s. 105. 233. For every distinct offence of which any person is accused there shall be a separate charge, and every such charge shall be tried separately, except in the cases mentioned in sections 234, 235, 236 and 239.

Separate charges for distinct offences.

A is accused of a theft on one occasion, and of causing grievous hurt on another occasion. A must be separately charged and separately tried for the theft and the causing grievous hurt.

II.—If the acts alleged constitute an offence falling within two or more separate definitions of any law in force for the time being by which offences are defined or punished, the person accused of them may be charged with and tried at one trial for each of such offences.

II.—Offence falling within two definitions.

III.—If several acts, of which one or more than one would by itself or themselves constitute an offence, constitute when combined a different offence, the person accused of them may be charged with and tried at one trial for the offence constituted by such acts when combined, or for any offence constituted by any one, or more, of such acts.

Tender of pardon to accomplice.

Every person accepting a tender under this section shall be examined as a witness in the case.

Such person, if not on bail, shall be detained in custody until the termination of the trial by the Court of Session or High Court, as the case may be.

Every Magistrate, other than a Presidency Magistrate, who tenders a pardon under this section, shall record his reasons for so doing; and when any Magistrate has made such tender and examined the person to whom it has been made, he shall not try the case himself although the offence which the accused appears to have committed may be triable by such Magistrate.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Third Publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 19th January, 1882, and was referred to a Select Committee :—

No. 3 OF 1882.

A Bill to amend the Code of Civil Procedure.

Preamble. For the purpose of amending the Code of Civil Procedure; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Amendment of section 266. 1. In the proviso to section 266 of the said Code, for clause (h), the following shall be substituted, namely :—"(h) the salary of a public officer, or of any servant of a railway company, when such salary does not exceed twelve rupees per mensem, and one moiety of the salary of any such officer or servant, when his salary exceeds that amount;"

Amendment of sections 434 and 650A. 2. In section 434 of the said Code, line 3, before the word "Courts", and in section 650A of the said Code, line 1, before the word "Court", the words "Civil or Revenue" shall be inserted, and the following words shall be added to the latter section, namely :—"The Governor General in Council may by like notification cancel any notification made under this section, but not so as to invalidate the service of any summons previously served."

Amendment of section 539. 3. In section 539 of the said Code, after the word "charitable" the words "or religious" shall be inserted; in clauses (a) and (b) of the same section, for the words "of the charity," the words "under the trust" shall be substituted, and in the last paragraph of the same section, after the word "exercised" the words "with the previous sanction of the Local Government" shall be inserted.

In cases of [illegible] 4. The following section shall be inserted after section 645 of the said Code (namely) :—

"645A. In any Admiralty or Vice-Admiralty cause of salvage, towage or collision, the Court, whether it be exercising its original or appellate jurisdiction, may if it think fit, and shall if either party to such cause shall, at any stage of the proceedings, in such manner as the Court [illegible] from time to time, direct, two or more persons [illegible] such assessors shall attend and assist accordingly.

"Every such assessor shall receive such fees for his attendance as the Court by rule prescribes. Such fees shall be paid by such of the parties as the Court in each case may direct."

Repeal of enactments. 5. Act No. X of 1840, section two, and Act No. VII of 1880, section eighty-five, are hereby repealed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to make two or three small amendments of the Code which the experience of the last three years has shewn to be desirable. Section 266 of the Code now exempts from attachment a moiety of the salaries of Government servants and Railway servants. It is now proposed to exempt entirely the salaries of such servants when below a certain small amount, say Rs. 12 per mensem. The proposed legislation is supported by the Local Governments of Bombay, Madras and the North-Western Provinces. The object of course is to benefit the public by providing (as far as the law can do so) that its servants shall not be reduced to a state of inefficiency by the action of their creditors.

The learned Advocate-General of Bengal has held that in section 539, which provides for suits relating to public charities, the word "charitable" does not include, as it would do in England, "religious"; there seems, therefore, no means of getting the Court to settle a scheme for the administration of a public religious endowment, and great inconvenience has been felt in consequence both in the Lower Provinces and the Panjáb. The second object of the Bill is therefore to amend the section by inserting after "charitable" the words "or religious"; and section 2 of Act No. X of 1840, which might impede the framing of a scheme for the endowment to which it relates, will be repealed.

Doubts, again, have been raised as to whether sections 434 and 650 A refer to Revenue, as well as to Civil, Courts, and whether a notification issued under the latter section can be cancelled. The Bill will preclude [illegible]

Lastly, the [illegible] fee to its proper [illegible] in Act VII of [illegible] of assessors in certain [illegible] Admiralty or Vice-Ad[illegible]

2. To meet a doubt that has arisen we have provided, in section 5 of the Bill as introduced (now section 4), that nothing in the Bill shall apply to any ship belonging to or in the service of the Government of India.

3. We have made the provisions of clauses (a) and (c) of section 6 of the Bill as introduced (now section 137) apply only to cases where material damage has been caused. We have, also, at the suggestion of the Board of Trade, limited the application of clauses (d) and (e) of the same section to British ships.

4. At the suggestion of the same Board we have, in section 9 of the Bill as introduced (now section 140), given to the Court making an investigation power to enquire into charges against Masters, Mates or Engineers whether they are certificated or not. We have also provided that in every case in which any charge of incompetency, misconduct, wrongful act or default arises, the Court shall, before the commencement of the enquiry, furnish the Master, Mate or Engineer concerned with a copy of the report or statement of the case upon which the investigation has been directed.

5. We have amended the fourth paragraph of section 12 (now section 143) in the manner recommended by the Board of Trade, and required the Court in cases involving any question as to the cancellation or suspension of the certificate of a Master, Mate or Engineer to constitute as its assessors two persons having experience in the merchant service. This amendment will bring the section into harmony with Imperial legislation, and in cases where it is not practicable to procure on the spot the attendance of two assessors so qualified, the Local Government will no doubt be able to send a duly qualified assessor from some other place.

6. In section 16 of the Bill as introduced (now section 147) we have provided that the certificate granted in lieu of a cancelled or suspended certificate shall be of a grade lower than the one cancelled or suspended. We have also, in accordance with the opinion expressed by the Local Governments, empowered them to grant under that section certificates without being advised by the Court to do so.

7. At the suggestion of the Board of Trade, we have, in section 17 of the Bill as introduced (now section 14), made it clear that the Local Government cannot suspend or cancel, in the cases mentioned in that section, certificates granted under the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869. It is, however, unnecessary to limit the words "any Local Government" in that section by adding the words "in British India," as recommended by the Board. The expression "Local Government" is defined in the General Clauses Act, 1868, to mean the person authorized by law to administer Executive Government in the part of British India in which the Act containing such expression shall operate.

8. At the request of the Bengal Government, we have called the officer who may be appointed under section 28 of the Bill as introduced (now section 153 the Health-officer, and have given him the powers conferred on a Shipping-master by the Merchant Shipping Act, I of 1859. We have also modified clause (b) of that section so as to confine the power to medically examine persons on board to the medical examination of seamen or apprentices.

9. The provisions of section 19B in section 28 of the Bill as introduced have been generally objected to on the ground that they permit unnecessary interference between Masters and Seamen, and we have accordingly omitted them.

10. The Bill as introduced repealed and re-enacted the Merchant Shipping Acts of 1875 and 1878. In compliance with the wishes of many persons concerned with merchant shipping, we have carried the process of consolidation somewhat further, and now propose to repeal and re-enact the unrepealed portions of the following enactments :—

Act I of 1859.
IV of 1875.
XIII of 1876.
XIII of 1878.
VII of 1880, Chapter III.

We have taken the opportunity to make a few amendments in the law so dealt with. Thus in section 13, corresponding with Act I of 1859, section 10, we have given the Local Governments power, with the previous sanction of the Government of India, to fix the fees payable by candidates for examination for certificates as masters or mates.

11. In section 14, corresponding with section 11 of the same Act, we have given Local Governments the power, conferred on the Board of Trade by section 134 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, of requiring the further examination of persons reported by the examiners to be qualified for certificates.

12. The punishment which can be awarded under section 79 of the same Act is imprisonment for two years. We have made it (section 106) fine which may extend to Rs. 1,000, or imprisonment which may extend to two years, or both.

13. The publication ordered by the Council has been made. We think that the Bill has been so altered as to require republication, and we recommend that its passing be deferred till the mercantile community and the Board of Trade have had an opportunity of expressing their opinions on the measure.

2. To meet a doubt that has arisen we have provided, in section 5 of the Bill as introduced (now section 4), that nothing in the Bill shall apply to any ship belonging to or in the service of the Government of India.

3. We have made the provisions of clauses (a) and (c) of section 6 of the Bill as introduced (now section 137) apply only to cases where material damage has been caused. We have also, at the suggestion of the Board of Trade, limited the application of clauses (d) and (e) of the same section to British ships.

4. At the suggestion of the same Board we have, in section 9 of the Bill as introduced (now section 140), given to the Court making an investigation power to inquire into charges against Masters, Mates or Engineers whether they are certificated or not. We have also provided that in every case in which any charge of incompetency, misconduct, wrongful act or default arises, the Court shall, before the commencement of the enquiry, furnish the Master, Mate or Engineer concerned with a copy of the report or statement of the case upon which the investigation has been directed.

5. We have amended the fourth paragraph of section 12 (now section 143) in the manner recommended by the Board of Trade, and required the Court in cases involving any question as to the cancellation or suspension of the certificate of a Master, Mate or Engineer to constitute as its assessors two persons having experience in the merchant service. This amendment will bring the section into harmony with Imperial legislation, and in cases where it is not practicable to procure on the spot the attendance of two assessors so qualified, the Local Government will no doubt be able to send a duly qualified assessor from some other place.

6. In section 16 of the Bill as introduced (now section 147) we have provided that the certificate granted in lieu of a cancelled or suspended certificate shall be of a grade lower than the one cancelled or suspended. We have also, in accordance with the opinion expressed by the Local Governments, empowered them to grant under that section certificates without being advised by the Court to do so.

7. At the suggestion of the Board of Trade, we have, in section 17 of the Bill as introduced (now section 14), made it clear that the Local Government cannot suspend or cancel, in the cases mentioned in that section, certificates granted under the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869. It is, however, unnecessary to limit the words "any Local Government" in that section by adding the words "in British India," as recommended by the Board. The expression "Local Government" is defined in the General Clauses Act, 1868, to mean the person authorized by law to administer Executive Government in the part of British India in which the Act containing such expression shall operate.

8. At the request of the Bengal Government, we have called the officer who may be appointed under section 28 of the Bill as introduced (now section 153) the Health-officer, and have given him the powers conferred on a Shipping-master by the Merchant Shipping Act, I of 1859. We have also modified clause (b) of that section so as to confine the power to medically examine persons on board to the medical examination of seamen or apprentices.

9. The provisions of section 18B in section 28 of the Bill as introduced have been generally objected to on the ground that they permit unnecessary interference between Masters and Seamen, and we have accordingly omitted them.

10. The Bill as introduced repealed and re-enacted the Merchant Shipping Acts of 1875 and 1878. In compliance with the wishes of many persons concerned with merchant shipping, we have carried the process of consolidation somewhat further, and now propose to repeal and re-enact the unrepealed portions of the following enactments :—

Act	I of 1859.
	IV of 1875.
	XIII of 1876.
	XIII of 1878.
	VII of 1880, Chapter III.

We have taken the opportunity to make a few amendments in the law so dealt with. Thus in section 13, corresponding with Act I of 1859, section 10, we have given the Local Governments power, with the previous sanction of the Government of India, to fix the fees payable by candidates for examination for certificates as masters or mates.

11. In section 14, corresponding with section 11 of the same Act, we have given Local Governments the power, conferred on the Board of Trade by section 134 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, of requiring the further examination of persons reported by the examiners to be qualified for certificates.

12. The punishment which can be awarded under section 79 of the same Act is imprisonment for two years. We have made it (section 106) fine which may extend to Rs. 1,000, or imprisonment which may extend to two years, or both.

13. The publication ordered by the Council has been made. We think that the Bill has been so altered as to require republication, and we recommend that its passing be deferred till the mercantile community and the Board of Trade have had an opportunity of expressing their opinions on the measure.

Whoever wilfully disobeys the prohibition contained in clause (a) of this section shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

117. In all cases of desertion from any ship registered at a port or place in British India while such ship is at any place out of British India, the master shall produce the entry of such desertion in the official log-book to the person or persons required by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, to endorse on the agreement a certificate of such desertion; and such person or persons shall thereupon make and certify a copy of such entry and also a copy of the said certificate of desertion. The master shall forthwith transmit such copies to the shipping master at the port where such seaman was engaged, who shall, if required, cause the same to be produced in any legal proceeding; and such copies, if purporting to be so made and certified as aforesaid, shall in any legal proceeding relating to such desertion be received as evidence of the entries therein appearing.

Whenever any seaman contracts for wages by the voyage or by the run or by the share, and not by the month or other stated period of time, the amount of forfeiture to be incurred under this Act shall be taken to be an amount bearing the same proportion to the whole wages or share as a month or other the period hereinbefore mentioned in fixing the amount of such forfeiture (as the case may be) bears to the whole time spent in the voyage; and if the whole time spent in the voyage does not exceed the period for which the pay is to be forfeited, the forfeiture shall extend to the whole wages or share.

Amount of forfeiture how to be ascertained when seamen contract for the voyage.

Act I of 1859, s. 93.

121. All clothes, effects, wages, and emoluments which under the provisions hereinbefore contained are forfeited for desertion, shall be applied in the first instance in or towards the reimbursement of the expenses occasioned by such desertion to the master or owner of the ship from which the desertion has taken place, and may, if earned subsequently to the desertion, be recovered by such master or by the owner or his agent in the same manner as the deserter might have recovered the same if they had not been forfeited; and in any legal proceeding relating to such wages, the Court may order the same to be paid accordingly; and, subject to such reimbursement, the same shall be paid into the public treasury and carried to the account of Government. In all other cases of forfeiture of wages under the provisions hereinbefore contained, the forfeiture shall, in the absence of any specific directions to the contrary, be for the benefit of the master or owner by whom the wages are payable.

124. Whenever any seaman commits an act of misconduct for which his agreement imposes a fine, and which it is intended to punish by enforcing such fine, an entry thereof shall be made in the official log-book, and a copy of such entry shall be furnished or the same shall be read over to the offender, and an entry of such reading over and of the reply (if any) made by the offender shall be made, in the manner and subject to the conditions hereinbefore specified with respect to the offences against discipline specified in and punishable under this Act.

125. Every person who by any means whatever persuades or attempts to persuade any seaman or apprentice to neglect or refuse to join or proceed to sea in or to desert from his ship, or otherwise to absent himself from his duty, shall for each such offence in respect of each such seaman or apprentice be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees; and every person who wilfully harbours or secretes any seaman or apprentice who has deserted from his ship or who has wilfully neglected or refused to join or has deserted from his ship, knowing or having reason to believe such seaman or apprentice to have so done, shall for every such seaman or apprentice so harboured or secreted be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

Saving of powers of certain Admiralty Courts.

See Act IX of 1873, s. 3, section 43 of the Bill which afterwards became Act VII of 1880. Cf. M.S. Act, 1854, s. 433.

shall, on arriving in British India, give immediate notice of such loss, abandonment, stranding, damage or casualty to the nearest Magistrate, or, when he arrives at a port in British India, to the officer appointed at such port as aforesaid.

Any person bound to give notice under this section and wilfully failing to give the same shall be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and, in default of payment, to simple imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months.

See Act IV of 1875, s. 4.

138. If in any such case a formal investigation into the facts mentioned in section one hundred and thirty-seven, clause (a), (b), (c), (d) or (e), appears to the Local Government to be requisite or expedient, the Local Government (whether such notice be given or not) may appoint a special Court, consisting of not less than two nor more than four persons, and direct such Court to make such investigation, and may fix the place for making the same.

Power to appoint special Court of Enquiry.

One of such persons shall be a Magistrate acting in or near the place where the investigation is made; another shall be some person conversant with maritime affairs: the other or others (if any) shall be conversant with either maritime or mercantile affairs.

See Act IV of 1875, s. 5.

139. Other Courts authorized to investigate casualties.

140. Any Court making an investigation under section one hundred and thirty-eight or section one hundred and thirty-nine may inquire into any charge of incompetency or misconduct arising, in the course of such investigation, against any master, mate or engineer as well as into any charge of a wrongful act or default on his part causing any such loss, abandonment, stranding, damage or casualty as aforesaid.

Power to inquire into charges against masters, mates and engineers.

In every case in which any such charge, whether of incompetency or misconduct, or of a wrongful act or default, as aforesaid, arises against any master, mate or engineer in the course of an investigation, the Court shall before the commencement of such inquiry cause to be furnished to him a copy of the report or statement of the case upon which the investigation has been directed.

Cf. s. 6 of Act IV of 1875. Also s. 241 of 17 & 18 Vic., c. 104.

141. If the Local Government has reason to believe that there are grounds for charging any master, mate or engineer holding a certificate granted by the Board of Trade or a Local Government with incompetency or misconduct, otherwise than in the course of an investigation under section one hundred and thirty-eight or section one hundred and thirty-nine, it may transmit a statement of the case to any Court mentioned in section one hundred and thirty-nine, at or nearest to the place at which it may be convenient for the parties and witnesses to attend, and may direct such Court to make an investigation into such charge.

Local Government may direct investigation in cases of incompetency or misconduct.

Before commencing such investigation, the Court shall cause the master, mate or engineer so charged to be furnished with a copy of the statement so transmitted by the Local Government.

Cf. Act IV of 1875, s. 7.

Act IV of 1875, s. 10.

142. For the purpose of an investigation under this chapter into any charge against a master, mate or engineer, the Court may summon him to appear, and shall give him full opportunity of making a defence, either in person or otherwise.

Person accused to be heard.

Cf. Act IV of 1875, s. 8.

143. For the purpose of any investigation under this chapter, the Court making the investigation, so far as relates to compelling the attendance and examination of witnesses and the production of documents and the regulation of the proceedings, shall have—

Powers of Courts as to evidence and regulating proceedings.

(a) if such Court is a special Court, the same powers as are exerciseable by the principal Court of ordinary criminal jurisdiction for the place at which the investigation is made;

(b) if such Court is a Court having admiralty jurisdiction or a principal Court of ordinary criminal jurisdiction, the same powers as are exerciseable by such Court in the exercise of such admiralty or criminal jurisdiction (as the case may be).

When any investigation involves or appears likely to involve any question as to the cancelling or suspension of the certificate of a master, mate or engineer, the Court making such investigation shall constitute as its assessors for the purpose of the investigation two persons having experience in the merchant-service; and in every other investigation the Court making it may, if it think fit, constitute as its assessor for the purposes of the investigation any person conversant with maritime affairs and willing to act as such assessor.

Such persons shall attend during the investigation and deliver their opinions in writing, to be recorded on the proceedings. But the exercise of all powers conferred on the Court by this Act or any other enactment for the time being in force shall rest with the Court.

Act IV of 1875, s. 15.

144. If any Court making an investigation under this chapter thinks it necessary for obtaining evidence that any person should be arrested, it may issue a warrant for his arrest, and may, for the purpose of effecting such arrest, authorize any officer (subject, nevertheless, to any general or special instructions from the Local Government) to enter any vessel.

Power to arrest witnesses and cause entry and detention of vessels.

Any officer so authorized may, for the purpose of enforcing such entry, call to his aid any officers of police or customs, or any other persons, and may seize and detain the vessel for such time as is reasonably necessary to effect the arrest; and every such officer or other person shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code, section 186.

No person shall be detained by virtue of this section for more than forty-eight hours.

Act IV of 1875, s. 16.

145. Whenever, in the course of any such investigation, it appears that any person has committed within the jurisdiction of any Court in British India an offence punishable under any law in force in British India, the Court making the investigation may (subject to such rules consistent with this Act as the High Court may from time to time prescribe) cause him to be arrested, or commit him or hold him to bail to take his trial before the proper Court; and may bind over any person to give evidence at such trial, and may, for the purposes of this section, exercise all the powers of a Magistrate of the first class or of a Presidency Magistrate.

Power to commit for trial.

Power to bind over persons to give evidence.

And whenever in the course of such trial the testimony of any witness is required in relation to the subject-matter, any deposition previously made by him in relation to the same subject-matter before any Court making an investigation under this chapter shall, if authenticated by the signature of the Magistrate or presiding Judge, be admissible in evidence on proof—

Depositions.

(a) that the witness cannot be found within the jurisdiction of the Court before which the trial is held; and

(b) that it was made in the presence of the person accused and that he had an opportunity of cross-examining such witness.

A certificate by the Magistrate or presiding Judge that the deposition was made in the presence of the accused and that he had such opportunity shall, unless the contrary be proved, be sufficient evidence that it was so made.

For the purposes of this section the Recorder of Rangoon shall, within the local limits of his ordinary civil jurisdiction, be deemed to be the High Court.

Cf. Act IV of 1875, ss. 11 and 12.

146. The Court shall, in the case of all investigations under this chapter, transmit to the Local Government a full report of the conclusions at which it has arrived, together with the evidence.

Report by Court to Local Government.

In cases in which, under the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1854 to 1880, the Court is required to send a report to the Board of Trade, such report shall be sent through the Local Government, and the transmission of such report to the Local Government shall be a sufficient compliance with this section.

CHAPTER XIV.

SUSPENSION, &c., OF CERTIFICATES.

147. Nothing herein contained shall affect the powers conferred by the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1854 to 1880, on the Courts conducting investigations or inquiries under sections one hundred and thirty-eight, one hundred and thirty-nine, one hundred and forty and one hundred and forty-one of this Act, to cancel or suspend certificates granted under any of the said Merchant Shipping Acts, or certificates to which the provisions of any such Act have been made applicable under the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869.

Saving of power to cancel and suspend certificates under English Act.

When any such Court cancels or suspends any such certificate, it may, in its report to the Local Government, advise such Government to grant, without examination, to the holder of such certificate, when such certificate is a certificate as master, a certificate as mate; and, when such certificate is a certificate as mate or engineer, a certificate as mate or engineer, as the case may be of a grade lower than that which he held at the time of such cancellation or suspension; and the Local Government, if it thinks fit, and if it is empowered by any enactment of a British Indian legislature for the time being in force to grant such certificate, may grant it under such circumstances but without examination. A certificate so granted shall have the same effect as if it had been granted after examination, but shall not have the effect of a certificate granted under the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869, or of any order in Council under the said Act.

Power to issue local certificates in lieu of such certificates.

The power to grant a certificate conferred by this section may be exercised by the Local Government even though the Court has not advised it so to do.

See Act IV of 1875, s. 18.

148. Any certificate (whether of competency or service) which has been granted by any Local Government to any master, mate or engineer, but has not been granted under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869, or of any order in Council under the said Act, may be suspended or cancelled, by that or any other Local Government, in the following cases, that is to say:—

Local Government may suspend or cancel certain certificates—

(a) if, upon any investigation made under this Act, the Court reports that the loss, stranding or abandonment of, or damage to, any ship, or loss of life, has been caused by his wrongful act or default, or that he is incompetent, or has been guilty of any gross act of drunkenness, tyranny or other misconduct;

after investigation under this Act:

(b) if, upon any investigation made under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1854 to 1880, or upon any investigation made by any Court or tribunal for the time being authorized by the legislative authority in any British possession to make enquiry into charges of incompetency or misconduct on the part of masters, mates or engineers of ships, or as to shipwrecks or other casualties affecting ships, the Court or tribunal reports that such master, mate or engineer is incompetent, or has been guilty of any gross act

after investigation under other Acts:

of misconduct, drunkenness or tyranny, or that the loss, stranding or abandonment of, or damage to, any ship, or loss of life, has been caused by his wrongful act or default;

(c) if he is proved to have been convicted of any offence which, if committed in British India, would be non-bailable, or, if committed in England, would be a felony; and after conviction of any offence:

(d) if (in the case of a master) he has been superseded by the order of any Admiralty Court, or of any Naval Court constituted as provided by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, or by any other law for the time being in force:

after supersession.

Provided that, in any case in which an investigation has been made into a charge against any master, mate or engineer, no certificate shall be suspended or cancelled under clause (a) unless the Local Government is satisfied that the holder of the certificate has been furnished before the commencement of the investigation with the copy of the report or statement required by section one hundred and forty, or section one hundred and forty-one, as the case may be.

149. Every master, mate or engineer whose certificate is cancelled or suspended under section one hundred and forty-eight shall deliver it to the shipping-master, or to such other person as the Local Government which cancelled or suspended the certificate directs, and in default of such delivery shall, for each offence, be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Master, &c., to deliver certificate.

150. If the Local Government which cancels or suspends, under section one hundred and forty-eight a certificate of a master, mate, or engineer, is not the Local Government that granted the same, the Local Government so cancelling or suspending the certificate shall report the proceedings, and the fact of cancelment or suspension, to the Local Government which granted such certificate.

Report to other Local Governments.

See Act IV 1875, s. 21.

151. Every Local Government cancelling or suspending, under section one hundred and forty-eight, the certificate of a master, mate or engineer shall, as soon as may be practicable, report to the Board of Trade the fact of such cancellation or suspension.

Report to Board of Trade.

See Act IV 1875, s. 22.

152. Any Local Government may, at any time, revoke any order of cancelment or suspension which it may have made under section one hundred and forty-eight or grant, without examination, to any person, whose certificate it has so cancelled, a new certificate of the same or of any lower grade.

Power to revoke cancellation or suspension.

Power to grant new certificate.

A certificate so granted shall have the same effect as if it had been granted after examination, but shall not have the effect of a certificate granted under the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869, or of any order in Council under the said Act.

A certificate of competency for a home-trade ship under this Act shall be deemed, for the purposes of this section, to be of a lower grade than a certificate of competency for a foreign-going ship under the same Act.

CHAPTER XV.

HEALTH-OFFICERS.

Bill, chap. v, s. 28.

153. The Local Government may, from time to time, appoint, at any port subject to the Indian Ports Act, 1875, an officer to be called the Health-officer, and may suspend or remove from office any officer so appointed.

Appointment and powers of Health-officer.

Such officer shall, subject to the control of the Local Government, have the following powers within the limits of the port for which he is appointed, that is to say:—

(a) with respect to any ship, the powers conferred by section eighty-four on a shipping master;

(b) power to enter on board any ship and medically examine all or any of the seamen or apprentices on board such ship;

(c) power to require and enforce the production of the log-book and any other books, papers or documents which he thinks necessary for the purpose of enquiring into the health and medical condition of the persons on board such ship;

(d) power to call before him and examine for such purpose all or any of such persons, and to require answers to any enquiries he thinks fit to make;

(e) power to require any person so examined by him to make and subscribe a declaration of the truth of the statements made by such person.

154. Whenever in the course of any legal proceedings instituted at any port or place in British India before any Judge or Magistrate or before any person authorized by law or by consent of parties to receive evidence, the testimony of any witness is required in relation to the subject-matter of such proceeding, any deposition that such witness may have previously made in relation to the same subject-matter before any Justice or Magistrate in Her Majesty's dominions (including all parts of British India other than those subject to the same Local Government as the port or place where such proceedings are instituted), or any British consular officer elsewhere, shall, if authenticated by the signature of the Justice, Magistrate or consular officer, be admissible in evidence on due proof that such witness cannot be found within the jurisdiction of the Court in which such proceedings are instituted.

Depositions to be received in evidence when witnesses cannot be produced.

Provided that, if the proceeding is criminal, such deposition shall not be admissible unless it was made in the presence of the person accused, and the fact that it was so made is certified by the Justice, Magistrate or consular officer.

Proviso.

It shall not be necessary in any case to prove the signature or official character of the person appearing to have signed any such deposition; and in any criminal proceeding, such certificate as aforesaid shall, unless the contrary is proved, be sufficient evidence of the accused having been present in manner thereby certified.

Act I of 1859, s. 113.

155. In all cases where any Court or Magistrate has power to make an order directing payment to be made of any seaman's wages, penalties or other sums of money, then if the party so directed to pay the same is the master or owner of a ship and the same is not paid at the time and in manner prescribed in the order, the Court or Magistrate who made the order may, in addition to any other powers which such Court or Magistrate may have for the purpose of compelling payment, direct the amount remaining unpaid to be levied by distress and sale of the said ship, her tackle, furniture and apparel.

Wages, penalties, &c., payable by master or owner may be levied by distress of ship.

See Act IV of 1875, s. 30.

156. In sections 2, 15, 17 and 23 of the said Act No. X of 1841, for the words "on information in any Court of Her Majesty or the East India Company by the Advocates General of the respective Presidencies," "by information as aforesaid," "on information as aforesaid," "upon information as aforesaid," in each of the places where they occur, the following words shall be substituted, namely:—"on conviction before a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class."

„ Officiating Secretary to Chief Commissioner, Central Provinces, No. 2859-159, dated 3rd August, 1881 [Paper No. 10].
„ Secretary to Chief Commissioner, British Burma, No. 5552-1B, dated 15th August, 1881, and enclosures [Papers No. 11].
Office memorandum from Department of Finance, No. 2718, dated 31st August, 1881 [Paper No. 12].

2. The Local Governments have approved of the Bill and have not suggested any alterations in its provisions. We have, however, thought it advisable, for the convenience of the public and the officers concerned with the working of the Act, to repeal and re-enact it with the amendments proposed in the Bill. At the same time, we have taken the opportunity to make some amendments in the present law, which have been suggested to us by the Financial Department.

3. The most important of these amendments are the following :—

First.—In section 5 of the Bill, as amended, we have empowered the Governor General in Council to establish, in any Circle of Issue, an office to be called a Currency Agency. For each such office, an officer, to be called the Currency Agent, is to be appointed (section 6), who is to be subordinate to the Head Commissioner, Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner of the Circle in which his office is situate. We have, in section 9, provided for the supply of currency notes to Currency Agents, and, in section 11, empowered the Agent to issue notes, if he thinks fit to do so. The notes so issued from a Currency Agency will be payable at the office, and a legal tender within the Circle of Issue, at and within which they would have been payable, and a legal tender, had they been issued from the town of Issue for the Circle in which the Agency is established. We have inserted these provisions merely with the object of removing all doubts as to the legality of the existing practice.

Secondly.—We have repealed the provisions of the Act which related to the issue of currency notes in exchange for bullion or foreign coin. The effect of the present law is, that importers of bullion instead of having to wait until their bullion can be converted under the Indian Coinage Act, into coin, can at once obtain the equivalent in coin, at the expense of the Currency Reserve; that is, they can transfer, from themselves to the Currency Department, the inconvenience of having to hold their importation, pending coinage, in a form which is not legal tender. The rush of silver bullion which occurred in 1877, showed that this might be carried to such an extent as to sensibly diminish, for a time, the value of the Currency Reserve as a security for the due encashment of currency notes. It has, therefore, been considered advisable to abolish those provisions of the law which might divert the Currency Reserve from its primary use as a Reserve for the encashment of notes. In order to give the public notice of this change in the law, we have provided that this repeal shall not take effect till the first of July next.

4. We have also made the following minor amendments. We have adopted the designation "the Department of Paper Currency" for the designation "the Department of Issue," which is used in the Paper Currency Act, and have made a similar change in the titles of the Head Commissioner, Commissioners and Deputy Commissioners of the Department.

2. To meet a doubt that has arisen we have provided, in section 5 of the Bill as introduced (now section 4), that nothing in the Bill shall apply to any ship belonging to or in the service of the Government of India.

3. We have made the provisions of clauses (a) and (c) of section 6 of the Bill as introduced (now section 137) apply only to cases where material damage has been caused. We have also, at the suggestion of the Board of Trade, limited the application of clauses (d) and (e) of the same section to British ships.

4. At the suggestion of the same Board we have, in section 9 of the Bill as introduced (now section 140), given to the Court making an investigation power to inquire into charges against Masters, Mates or Engineers whether they are certificated or not. We have also provided that in every case in which any charge of incompetency, misconduct, wrongful act or default arises, the Court shall, before the commencement of the enquiry, furnish the Master, Mate or Engineer concerned with a copy of the report or statement of the case upon which the investigation has been directed.

5. We have amended the fourth paragraph of section 12 (now section 143) in the manner recommended by the Board of Trade, and required the Court in cases involving any question as to the cancellation or suspension of the certificate of a Master, Mate or Engineer to constitute as its assessors two persons having experience in the merchant service. This amendment will bring the section into harmony with Imperial legislation, and in cases where it is not practicable to procure on the spot the attendance of two assessors so qualified, the Local Government will no doubt be able to send a duly qualified assessor from some other place.

6. In section 16 of the Bill as introduced (now section 147) we have provided that the certificate granted in lieu of a cancelled or suspended certificate shall be of a grade lower than the one cancelled or suspended. We have also, in accordance with the opinion expressed by the Local Governments, empowered them to grant under that section certificates without being advised by the Court to do so.

7. At the suggestion of the Board of Trade, we have, in section 17 of the Bill as introduced (now section 14), made it clear that the Local Government cannot suspend or cancel, in the cases mentioned in that section, certificates granted under the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869. It is, however, unnecessary to limit the words "any Local Government" in that section by adding the words "in British India," as recommended by the Board. The expression "Local Government" is defined in the General Clauses Act, 1868, to mean the person authorized by law to administer Executive Government in the part of British India in which the Act containing such expression shall operate.

8. At the request of the Bengal Government, we have called the officer who may be appointed under section 28 of the Bill as introduced (now section 153) the Health-officer, and have given him the powers conferred on a Shipping-master by the Merchant Shipping Act, I of 1859. We have also modified clause (b) of that section so as to confine the power to medically examine persons on board to the medical examination of seamen or apprentices.

9. The provisions of section 18B in section 28 of the Bill as introduced have been generally objected to on the ground that they permit unnecessary interference between Masters and Seamen, and we have accordingly omitted them.

10. The Bill as introduced repealed and re[illegible]ted the Merchant Shipping Acts of 1875 and 1878. In compliance with the wishes of [illegible] persons concerned with merchant shipping, we have carried the process o[illegible]ewhat further, and now propose to repeal and re-enact the unrepealed port[illegible] enactments :—

Act
IV [illegible]
XIII of 1876.
XIII of 1878.
VII of 1880, Chapter III.

We have taken the opportunity to make a few amendments in the law so dealt with. Thus in section 13, corresponding with Act I of 1859, section 10, we have given the Local Governments power, with the previous sanction of the Government of India, to fix the fees payable by candidates for examination for certificates as masters or mates.

11. In section 14, corresponding with section 11 of the same Act, we have given Local Governments the power, conferred on the Board of Trade by section 134 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, of requiring the further examination of persons reported by the examiners to be qualified for certificates.

12. The punishment which can be awarded under section 79 of the same Act is imprisonment for two years. We have made it (section 106) fine which may extend to Rs. 1,000, or imprisonment which may extend to two years, or both.

13. The publication ordered by the Council has been made. We think that the Bill has been so altered as to require republication, and we recommend that its passing be deferred till the mercantile community and the Board of Trade have had an opportunity of expressing their opinions on the measure.

147. Nothing herein contained shall affect the powers conferred by the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1854 to 1880, on the Courts conducting investigations or inquiries under sections one hundred and thirty-eight, one hundred and thirty-nine, one hundred and forty and one hundred and forty-one of this Act, to cancel or suspend certificates granted under any of the said Merchant Shipping Acts, or certificates to which the provisions of any such Act have been made applicable under the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869.

Saving of power to cancel and suspend certificates under English Act.

When any such Court cancels or suspends any such certificate, it may, in its report to the Local Government, advise such Government to grant, without examination, to the holder of such certificate, when such certificate is a certificate as master, a certificate as mate; and, when such certificate is a certificate as mate or engineer, a certificate as mate or engineer, as the case may be of a grade lower than that which he held at the time of such cancellation or suspension; and such Local Government, if it thinks fit, and if it is empowered by any enactment of a British Indian legislature for the time being in force to grant such certificate, may grant it under such enactment, but without examination. A certificate so granted shall have the same effect as if it had been granted after examination, but shall not have the effect of a certificate granted under the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869, or of any order in Council under the said Act.

Power to issue local certificates in lieu of such certificates.

The power to grant a certificate conferred by this section may be exercised by the Local Government even though the Court has not advised it so to do.

See Act IV 1875, s. 18.

Any certificate (whether of competency or service) which has been granted by any Local Government to any master, mate or engineer, but has not been granted under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping (Colonial) Act, 1869, or of any order in Council under the said Act, may be suspended or cancelled, by that or any other Local Government, in the following cases, that is to say:—

Local Government may suspend or cancel certain certificates—

after investigation under this Act:

(b) if, upon any investigation made under the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Acts, 1854 to 1880, or upon any investigation made by any Court or tribunal for the time being authorized by the legislative authority in any British possession to make enquiry into charges of incompetency or misconduct on the part of masters, mates or engineers of ships, or as to shipwrecks or other casualties affecting ships, the Court or tribunal reports that such master, mate or engineer is incompetent, or has been guilty of any gross act

after investigation under other Acts:

Act IV of 1875, s. 18, cl. (d).

(c) if he is proved to have been convicted of any offence which, if committed in British India, would be non-bailable, or, if committed in England, would be a felony; and after conviction of any offence:

(d) if (in the case of a master) he has been superseded by the order of any Admiralty Court, or of any Naval Court constituted as provided by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, or by any other law for the time being in force:

after supersession.

Provided that, in any case in which an investigation has been made into a charge against any master, mate or engineer, no certificate shall be suspended or cancelled under clause (a) unless the Local Government is satisfied that the holder of the certificate has been furnished before the commencement of the investigation with the copy of the report or statement required by section one hundred and forty, or section one hundred and forty-one, as the case may be.

See Act IV of 1875, s. 19.

149. Every master, mate or engineer whose certificate is cancelled or suspended under section one hundred and forty-eight shall deliver it to the shipping-master, or to such other person as the Local Government which cancelled or suspended the certificate directs, and in default of such delivery shall, for each offence, be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Master, &c., to deliver up certificate.

See Act IV of 1875, s. 20.

150. If the Local Government which cancels or suspends, under section one hundred and forty-eight a certificate of a master, mate, or engineer, is not the Local Government that granted the same, the Local Government so cancelling or suspending the certificate shall report the proceedings, and the fact of cancelment or suspension, to the Local Government which granted such certificate.

Report to other Local Governments.

See Act IV of 1875, s. 21.

151. Every Local Government cancelling or suspending, under section one hundred and forty-eight, the certificate of a master, mate or engineer shall, as soon as may be practicable, report to the Board of Trade the fact of such cancellation or suspension.

„ Secretary to Chief Commissioner, British Burma, No. 5552-1B, dated 15th August, 1881, and enclosures [Papers No. 11].
Office memorandum from Department of Finance, No. 2713, dated 31st August, 1881 [Paper No. 12].

2. The Local Governments have approved of the Bill and have not suggested any alterations in its provisions. We have, however, thought it advisable, for the convenience of the public and the officers concerned with the working of the Act, to repeal and re-enact it with the amendments proposed in the Bill. At the same time, we have taken the opportunity to make some amendments in the present law, which have been suggested to us by the Financial Department.

3. The most important of these amendments are the following :—

First.—In section 5 of the Bill, as amended, we have empowered the Governor General in Council to establish, in any Circle of Issue, an office to be called a Currency Agency. For each such office, an officer, to be called the Currency Agent, is to be appointed (section 6), who is to be subordinate to the Head Commissioner, Commissioner or Deputy Commissioner of the Circle in which his office is situate. We have, in section 9, provided for the supply of currency notes to Currency Agents, and, in section 11, empowered the Agent to issue notes, if he thinks fit to do so. The notes so issued from a Currency Agency will be payable at the office, and a legal tender within the Circle of Issue, at and within which they would have been payable, and a legal tender, had they been issued from the town of Issue for the Circle in which the Agency is established. We have inserted these provisions merely with the object of removing all doubts as to the legality of the existing practice.

Secondly.—We have repealed the provisions of the Act which related to the issue of currency notes in exchange for bullion or foreign coin. The effect of the present law is, that importers of bullion instead of having to wait until their bullion can be converted under the Indian Coinage Act, into coin, can at once obtain the equivalent in coin, at the expense of the Currency Reserve; that is, they can transfer, from themselves to the Currency Department, the inconvenience of having to hold their importation, pending coinage, in a form which is not legal tender. The rush of silver bullion which occurred in 1877, showed that this might be carried to such an extent as to sensibly diminish, for a time, the value of the Currency Reserve as a security for the due encashment of currency notes. It has, therefore, been considered advisable to abolish those provisions of the law which might divert the Currency Reserve from its primary use as a Reserve for the encashment of notes. In order to give the public notice of this change in the law, we have provided that this repeal shall not take effect till the first of July next.

4. We have also made the following minor amendments. We have adopted the designation "the Department of Paper Currency" for the designation "the Department of Issue," which is used in the Paper Currency Act, and have made a similar change in the titles of the Head Commissioner, Commissioners and Deputy Commissioners of the Department.

We have provided, in section 11 of the Bill, that notes shall be issued in exchange for the amount thereof in current silver coin made under the Portuguese Convention Act, 1881, or in current silver coin made under the Native Coinage Act, 1876, as to which a declaration has been made under that Act that a tender of payment of money, if made in such coin, shall be a legal tender in British India.

6. The publication ordered by the Council has been made; but, in view of the changes made in the present law by the Bill, we consider that it should be re-published in the Gazette of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Third Publication]

The following further Report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill as settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 16th March, 1882:—

From Officiating Secretary to Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 629, dated 25th April, 1881, and enclosures [Papers No. 2].
" Officiating Secretary to Government, North-Western Provinces and Oudh, No. 799, dated 10th May, 1881, and enclosures [Papers No. 3].

WE, the undersigned members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to provide for the Relief of Encumbered Estates in the Jhánsí Division of the North-Western Provinces was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have the honour to present this further report.

The Bill, as amended by us, was laid before the Council, with our report dated 4th February, 1881, and was sent to the Local Government for opinion.

The Government of the North-Western Provinces replied in their Secretary's letter, No. 629, dated 25th April, 1881. In that letter, the Lieutenant-Governor suggested an entirely new plan for dealing with the Jhánsí question, and forwarded a memorandum prepared by Mr. Bazett Colvin, and the rough draft of a new Bill.

It is this new Bill which we have now had under consideration.

The chief points of the present scheme, as laid down by Mr. Colvin, are as follows:—

(1). The indebted zamíndár, or an officer appointed for the purpose by the Local Government, may apply to the Commissioner of the Division, stating the debts and liabilities of such zamíndár.

(2). The Commissioner may refer the application to an officer styled "the Special Judge," who is to be appointed for this purpose, and who may, if the Local Government pleases, be one of the District staff.

(3). On the receipt of an application by the Special Judge, all claims against the indebted zamíndár are to be called in.

(4). In dealing with the claims, the Special Judge is to have powers similar to those conferred on the Courts by the Dekkhan Agriculturists' Relief Act, No. XVII of 1879.

(5). All proceedings, of whatever kind, taken in other Courts against the indebted zamíndár, are to be for ever stayed; and he is to be disabled from contracting fresh liabilities, until certain conditions have been fulfilled.

(6). The Special Judge will determine the amount of the debts and liabilities of the zamíndár, and will ascertain the nature and amount of property possessed by him, other than his proprietary rights in land.

(7). If the value of such property, other than as aforesaid, is sufficient to pay the debts, the Special Judge will give the creditors decrees, which they may execute through the ordinary Civil Courts.

(8). If such value is not so sufficient, the Special Judge will submit to the Commissioner a report showing the amount of the debts due by the zamíndár, and detailing the property, other than proprietary rights in land, belonging to such zamíndár.

(9). An arbitrary value is then to be put on the zamíndár's proprietary rights in land; (1), for the purpose of a loan from Government, a sum equal to eight times the nett annual profits derived from such rights; (2), for the purchase of such rights by Government, a sum equal to sixteen times and two-thirds such nett annual profits.

(10). If the debts certified by the Special Judge can be met by the proceeds of such other property as the indebted zamíndár possesses, together with a sum equal to the loan value of his proprietary rights in land, the zamíndár is to be asked if he will accept a loan from Government. If he accepts, the money is to be advanced [illegible] the public treasury, and the debts are to be paid. If he declines, the Collector may sell his proprietary rights by auction, to the extent necessary to [illegible] claims certified by the Special Judge.

(11). When the zamíndár accepts a loan, the Government will have a lien on his land. If he fails to repay the loan within the time laid down for that purpose by the Commissioner, his proprietary rights, or such part of them as may be necessary to cover the unpaid portion of the loan, shall vest in the Secretary of State for India in Council.

(12). When the debts certified by the Special Judge exceed in amount the aggregate value of the zamíndár's other property and of his proprietary rights in land, as estimated for the purpose of a loan, the zamíndár is to be considered to be insolvent, and his proprietary rights in land are to be sold by auction.

(13). Such rights will be put up for sale at the upset price of sixteen times and two-thirds the nett annual profits, and sold to the highest bidder above that sum. If there is no bid, the Commissioner will pay to the insolvent's estate a sum equal to sixteen times and two-thirds the nett annual profits. The debts will be paid off, so far as may be practicable, and the insolvent's proprietary rights in land will vest in the Secretary of State for India in Council.

(14). In all cases in which the proprietary rights shall vest in the Secretary of State for India in Council, the zamíndár will continue to hold his sír-land as an ex-proprietary tenant. And the same consequence ensues, as a matter of course, when his rights are sold on his refusal to accept a loan.

(15). On the final completion of any of these proceedings, that is to say, when the zamíndár's proprietary rights have been sold, or when they have vested in the Secretary of State for India in Council, or when the loan has been re-paid, the Collector will declare the disabilities imposed on the zamíndár to be removed.

The zamíndár then will be in this position. If he has taken a loan, he will be liable for the repayment of the loan, by instalments, with interest. He will have to pay these sums in addition to his land-revenue, but they will probably be less than the sums extracted from him by his creditors. He will have his sír-land to live upon, together with whatever remains to him out of his rental, after the payments of instalments of the loan, interest thereon, land-revenue and rates. He will be freed from all other liabilities and encumbrances, and, after the loan is re-paid, will be restored to the full enjoyment of his rights.

If he refuses the loan, he will lose his proprietary rights, in whole or in part, but he will be completely freed from debt, and will continue to hold his sír-land as an ex-proprietary tenant.

Such also will be his position if he is declared an insolvent.

We have made the following material alterations in the Bill, as [illegible] Colvin:—

Firstly, Mr. Colvin provided that, if the debts, as found by the Special Judge, exceed by the proceeds of the sale of the zamíndár's property, other than his proprietary rights in land, the Special Judge should give the creditors decrees and leave them to get [illegible] course of law. He provided also that, in such case, the zamíndár's disabilities should cease.

It appears to us that the result of this proceeding would be to start the zamíndár on a fresh career, with decrees hanging over him, to meet which he would probably [illegible] such loans.

We have provided, therefore, that in these cases also the Special Judge shall send a report to the Commissioner, who will cause the property enumerated in the Special Judge's report, or a portion of it, to be sold. If the proceeds are sufficient to pay the debts as determined by the Special Judge, the Commissioner will pay such debts, and the zamíndár will thereupon be discharged from all liabilities.

If the proceeds are not so sufficient, the Commissioner will cause the valuation of the zamíndár's proprietary rights to be made, and the case will go on as contemplated by Mr Colvin.

Secondly, we think that the value proposed to be put upon the zamíndár's interest in the land is too high. It is probably three times as much as property of the kind in Jhánsí would fetch at public auction. We assent to the principle that the zamíndár's creditors, whose contracts we propose to override, should be generously dealt with; but we do not think it is safe to advance more than six times the nett annual profits of the property as a loan, or to give more than ten times such profits for the purchase of such property.

The interest chargeable on loans advanced by Government under the Bill has been fixed at five per cent. simple interest, with the assent of the Financial Department. The Bill has been amended accordingly.

Thirdly, we think that, when the debts of the zamíndár can be met with a loan, it is unnecessary to provide that his proprietary rights in land shall, on his failure to repay the loan, vest in the Secretary of State for India in Council.

The necessary corollary of this provision is that, when part of the loan has been re-paid, part only of the proprietary rights shall be forfeited. The result will be, that small parts of villages or shares in villages will belong to Government and much trouble will be given to the administration.

It seems to us better to provide that, on the occurrence of a default in the payment of any instalment of principal or interest, the whole sum due shall be deemed to be an arrear of land-revenue, and shall be recoverable as such.

This provision will give the Deputy Commissioner ample power to take possession of the defaulter's land, and, if necessary, will enable Government to sell the defaulter's proprietary rights under the land-revenue law.

The objection taken to this amendment is, that it will compel the district-officer to manage the land. But in any case, whether he assumes possession for a term of years as we propose, or whether the proprietary rights of the defaulter are vested in the Secretary of State for India in Council, some arrangement will have to be made for the management of the land and the collection of the rents. There will be no more difficulty in the one case than in the other.

The Bill appears to us now to be put in as simple a shape as is practicable.

We recommend that the Bill, as now amended, be published in the Gazette of India and in the local official Gazette.

and "sír-land" means—

(a) land recorded as sír at the last settlement or revision of settlement of the district in which it is situate, and continuously so recorded since;

(b) land continuously cultivated for twelve years by the proprietor himself with his own stock or by his servants, or by hired labour;

Power to suspend or remove special Judge.

The Local Government may, at any time, by a like notification, suspend or remove any special Judge so appointed.

CHAPTER III.

OF THE APPLICATION AND PRELIMINARY INQUIRY.

Application for the benefit of this Act.

4. At any time within twelve months after a special Judge is appointed for any local area, any zamíndár owning land in such area, or such officer as the Local Government may, from time to time, appoint in this behalf, may apply, in writing, to the Commissioner of the Jhánsí Division, stating that such zamíndár is subject to debts or liabilities other than debts due, or liabilities incurred, to Government, or that his immoveable property is encumbered with debts and liabilities other than as aforesaid, and requesting that the provisions of this Act be applied to him:

Provided that, when such zamíndár is a disqualified proprietor within the meaning of section 164 of the North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, such application shall be made—

(a) when his property is under the superintendence of the Court of Wards, by the manager of his property, with the consent of that Court; and

Power to extend time for making applications.

The Local Government may, from time to time, by notification in the official Gazette, extend the time prescribed for making applications under this section.

Order to inquire.

5. When any such application is made in the case of any zamíndár, the Commissioner shall direct an inquiry to be made by the special Judge—

(a) into the nature and amount of such debts and liabilities other than debts due, and liabilities incurred to, Government; and

(b) into the sufficiency of such zamíndár's property, whether moveable or immoveable, (exclusive of the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure), to discharge such debts and liabilities other than as aforesaid.

Verified statement to be submitted.

6. When an inquiry has been directed under section five, the applicant shall, within a period to be fixed by the Commissioner, submit to the special Judge a statement duly verified by the said applicant, or by some other competent person, in the manner required by law for the verification of plaints.

Contents of statement.

Such statement shall contain, so far as may be practicable—

(a) such particulars as the special Judge may require respecting the debts and liabilities, other than as aforesaid, to which the zamíndár is subject, or with which his immoveable property or any part thereof is encumbered;

(b) the nature and value of the zamíndár's property (exclusive of his proprietary rights in land and the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure); and

(c) the names and residences of his creditors, so far as they are known to, or can be ascertained by, such zamíndár.

False averments in statement.

If any such statement contains any averment which the person making the verification knows or believes to be false, or does not know or believe to be true, he shall be deemed to have intentionally given false evidence within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code:

Proviso.

Provided that, when the application is made by an officer appointed under section four, or by the Deputy Commissioner, it shall not be necessary to verify such statement; but the zamíndár shall, so far as may be practicable, within a period to be fixed by the special Judge, furnish such information regarding the matters mentioned in section six, clauses (a), (b) and (c), as such Judge may require.

CHAPTER IV.

PROOF OF DEBTS AND PROCEDURE OF SPECIAL JUDGE.

Notice to claimants against zamíndár.

7. When the duly verified statement or the information referred to in section six has been submitted or furnished, the special Judge shall publish in the official Gazette, a notice in the vernacular language of the district, calling upon all persons having claims against the person or the property of the zamíndár, by, or with respect to, whom the application was made, under section four, to present to the special Judge, within two months from the date of such publication, a written statement of such claims.

Provision for admission of claims within further period of two months.

Provided that, when the claimant satisfies the special Judge that he had sufficient cause for not presenting such statement within such period, the special Judge may receive such statement within a further period of two months from the expiration of the original period.

Copies of notice to be exhibited.

The special Judge shall also cause copies of such notice to be exhibited at his own office, at the offices of the Commissioner of the Jhánsí Division and the Deputy Commissioner of the district in which the land of such zamíndár is situate, and at some conspicuous place in the village where such zamíndár resides.

Consequences of notice.

8. After the publication of such notice, the following consequences shall ensue (namely):—

(a) all proceedings then pending in any civil or revenue Court in British India, in respect of all debts and liabilities, other than as aforesaid, to which the zamíndár is subject, or with which his immoveable property is encumbered, shall be for ever stayed; and all processes, executions and attachments issued by any such Court, and then in force, in respect of any such debt or liability, shall become null and void;

(b) in respect of such debts and liabilities, no fresh proceedings, processes, executions or attachments shall, except as hereinafter provided, be instituted in, or issued by, any civil or revenue Court in British India;

(c) until the Commissioner has declared, as hereinafter provided, that the zamíndár has ceased to be subject to the disabilities mentioned in this clause, such zamíndár shall be incompetent to sell, mortgage, exchange, give or, without the consent of the Commissioner, lease, his proprietary rights in land or any part thereof.

Claim to contain full particulars.

9. Every claimant referred to in section seven shall, in the written statement of his claim, present full particulars thereof.

Documents to be given up.

Every document on which the claimant founds his claim, or on which he relies in support thereof, shall be delivered to the special Judge along with such written statement.

Entries in books.

If the document be an entry in any book, the claimant shall produce the book to the special Judge, together with a copy of the entry on which he relies. The special Judge shall mark the book, for the purpose of identification, and, after examining and comparing the copy with the original, shall return the book to the claimant.

Exclusion of documents not produced.

If any document in the possession, or under the control, of the claimant is not delivered or produced by him, as required by this section, the special Judge may refuse to receive such document in evidence on the claimant's behalf, at the investigation of the case.

Claim not duly notified to be deemed duly discharged.

10. Every such claim (other than claims of the Government), not made within the time and in the manner hereby required, shall be deemed, for all purposes, and on all occasions, to have been duly discharged.

History of transactions with zamíndár to be investigated.

11. The special Judge shall hear the zamíndár, or, when the application has been made on behalf of a disqualified proprietor, shall hear the manager of his property, or the Deputy Commissioner, as the case may be, in answer to each claim so made; and, if the amount of any such claim (other than a claim decreed by a competent Court) is disputed, shall inquire into the history and merits thereof from the commencement of the transactions between the parties, and shall, as hereinafter provided, determine the amount (if any) justly due to the claimant.

Mode of taking account.

12. When the special Judge inquires, under section eleven, into the history and merits of a claim, he shall—notwithstanding any agreement between the zamíndár and the claimant, or the persons (if any) through whom they claim, as to allowing compound interest, or as to setting off the profits of mortgaged property in lieu of interest without an account, or otherwise determining the manner of taking the account, and notwithstanding any statement or settlement of account, or any contract purporting to close previous dealings and create a new obligation,

open the account from the commencement of the transactions between the parties, and take that account according to the following rules (that is to say) :—

(a) separate accounts of principal and interest shall be taken ;

(b) in the account of principal, there shall be debited to the zamíndár such money as may, from time to time, have been actually received by him, or on his account, from the claimant, and the price of goods (if any) sold to him by the claimant, as part of the transactions between them ;

(d) in the account of principal, there shall not be debited to the zamíndár any accumulated interest which has been converted into principal at any statement or settlement of account, or by any contract made in the course of the transactions, unless the special Judge, for reasons to be recorded by him in writing, deems such debit to be reasonable ;

(e) in the account of interest, there shall be debited to the zamíndár monthly simple interest on the balance of principal for the time being outstanding, at the rate allowed by the special Judge as hereinafter provided ;

(f) all money paid by, or on account of, the zamíndár to the claimant or on his account, and all profits, service, or other advantages of every description received by the claimant in the course of the transactions, shall be credited first in the account of interest ; and, when any payment is more than sufficient to discharge the balance of interest due at the time it is made, the residue of such payment shall be credited to the zamíndár in the account of principal :

Explanation—The advantages mentioned in this clause shall be estimated, if necessary, at such money-value as the special Judge may determine in his discretion, or with the aid of arbitrators appointed by him ;

(g) the accounts of principal and interest shall be made up to the date of making the claim ; and the aggregate of the balances (if any) appearing due on both such accounts against the zamíndár at that date, shall be deemed to be the amount due at that date, except when the balance appearing due on the account of interest exceeds that appearing due on the account of principal, in which case double the latter balance shall be deemed to be the amount then due.

Interest to be allowed.

13. The interest to be awarded in taking an account, according to the rules set forth in section twelve, shall be—

(a) the rate (if any) agreed upon between the zamíndár and the claimant, or the persons (if any) through whom they respectively claim, unless such rate is deemed by the special Judge to be unreasonable ; or

(b) if such rate is deemed by the special Judge unreasonable, or if no rate was agreed upon, or, when any agreement to set off profits in lieu of interest without an account, entered into between the zamíndár and the claimant, or the persons (if any) through whom they respectively claim, has been set aside by the special Judge, such rate as the special Judge deems reasonable.

Power to rank debts and fix future interest.

14. If the amount so determined to be due cannot, in the opinion of the special Judge, be paid at once, he shall then proceed to rank the claims according to the order in which they shall be paid or discharged, and to fix the interest (if any) to be paid on the amounts thereof respectively from the date of the final decision thereon to the date of the payment and discharge thereof.

Report to be submitted by special Judge.

15. When the amount of the claims has been finally determined in the manner hereinbefore prescribed, the special Judge shall submit a report to the Commissioner, showing the nature and amount of the claims so determined, and also the nature and amount of all the zamíndár's property (exclusive of his proprietary rights in land and the property mentioned in the first proviso to section 266 of the Code of Civil Procedure), which may be available for the payment or discharge of the same.

CHAPTER V.

PROCEDURE OF COMMISSIONER AND MODE OF LIQUIDATION.

On report of special Judge, Commissioner to sell property reported by special Judge and, if necessary, to direct valuation of proprietary rights.

16. On receiving such report, the Commissioner shall direct that the property reported by the special Judge, as available for the discharge of the claims determined by him, or any specified portion of such property, be sold by public auction, and, from the proceeds thereof, shall pay or discharge, so far as practicable, the amount of the said claims.

If such proceeds are not sufficient to pay or discharge in full such amount, the Commissioner shall direct the value of the zamíndár's proprietary rights in land, to be ascertained in the manner following :—

For the purposes of a loan, the value of such rights shall be estimated to be a sum amounting to six times the nett annual profits of such zamíndár.

For the purposes of purchase by Government, the value of such rights shall be estimated to be a sum amounting to ten times such nett annual profits.

"Nett annual profits."

Explanation—The expression "nett annual profits" means the aggregate amount—

(a) of the rents which a zamíndár is entitled to receive as such annually from his tenants ;

(b) of all profits received by him as zamíndár, and of the rent which he would have to pay for his sír-land (if any), if he were an exproprietary tenant thereof, after deducting, from such aggregate amount, the Government revenue and all rates payable by him, under the North-Western Provinces Local Rates Act, 1878, or any other Act for the time being in force.

Proceedings in liquidation.

17. When the value of the zamíndár's proprietary rights has been ascertained as directed in section sixteen, the Commissioner shall proceed as follows :—

(a) If the sum at which the zamíndár's proprietary rights in land have been valued for the purposes of a loan, is sufficient to pay or discharge the balance of the said claims, the Commissioner may, with the consent of the zamíndár, direct such sum as may be necessary, not being more than the amount of such valuation, to be advanced from the public treasury as a loan to the zamíndár, and shall, from the sum so advanced, pay or discharge in full the balance of the said debts and liabilities.

(b) If the zamíndár does not consent to accept such loan, the Commissioner may direct that any portion, or, if necessary, the whole, of such rights, shall be sold in the manner hereinafter prescribed, in order to discharge such balance. Out of the proceeds of such sale, the Commissioner shall, so far as practicable, discharge such balance.

(c) If the sum at which the zamíndár's proprietary rights in land have been valued, for the purposes of a loan, is not sufficient to discharge the balance of the said debts and liabilities, the Commissioner may order his proprietary rights in land to be sold, in the manner hereinafter prescribed.

The purchaser, under this section, of the zamíndár's proprietary rights shall take the same free of all encumbrances created by such zamíndár, or the person through whom he claims.

Attachment of proprietary rights.

18. When an order for the sale of the proprietary rights of any zamíndár has been made hereunder, the Commissioner may order such rights to be attached and taken under the management of the Deputy Commissioner, who shall have, for this purpose, the same powers as are conferred, for the management of a mahál, on a Collector by the North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, section one hundred and fifty-five.

Such management shall continue until such rights are sold hereunder.

Mode of selling proprietary rights.

19. All sales, under this Act, of proprietary rights in land, shall be made by public auction in the manner prescribed by the said North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873, for the sale of immoveable property for arrears of land-revenue. If, at the public auction of any zamíndár's proprietary rights in land, any bid be made for such rights above the sum at which they have been valued for the purposes of purchase by Government, such rights shall be sold to the highest bidder ; and the proceeds of such sale shall be paid to the Deputy Commissioner or such officer as the Commissioner may direct. If no such bid be made, the Commissioner shall direct a sum of money equal to the amount of such valuation to be paid from the public treasury to the Deputy Commissioner or such officer.

Duty of Deputy Commissioner.

20. The Deputy Commissioner or such officer, as the case may be, shall thereupon, subject to the control of the Commissioner,— firstly—pay, from the money which he has received under section nineteen, the debts, fines and liabilities (if any) due or incurred by the zamíndár to the Government ;

secondly—pay all costs awarded against the zamíndár by the special Judge or Commissioner ;

thirdly—out of the balance of such money, pay or discharge, so far as may be practicable, the claims against the zamíndár determined by the special Judge in the order in which they are ranked under section fourteen by such Judge ;

fourthly—pay the surplus (if any) to the zamíndár.

Consequences of loan.

21. When a sum of money has been lent, under section seventeen, to a zamíndár, and applied in payment or discharge of the claims against him, the following consequences shall ensue (namely) :—

(a) his proprietary rights in land shall be deemed to be mortgaged to the Secretary of State for India in Council, until such loan shall have been fully paid off ;

(b) he shall be bound to repay the amount of such loan, with interest thereon at the rate of five per cent. per annum, by yearly instalments, within such term, not exceeding ten years, as the Commissioner may prescribe ;

(c) in the event of his failing to pay any such instalment of principal or interest on the day fixed for the payment thereof, the whole sum remaining due on account of principal or interest, or both, shall be recoverable as an arrear of land-revenue due by him.

Conditions of purchase by the Government.

22. When a sum of money has been paid from the public treasury, as provided in section nineteen, and applied towards paying or discharging the claims agains a zamíndár, the following consequences shall ensue (namely) :—

(a) his proprietary rights in land shall vest in the said Secretary of State in Council;

(b) in respect of his sír-land, the proprietary rights in which are, under this section, vested in the said Secretary of State in Council, the zamíndár shall be deemed to be an ex-proprietary tenant holding such land directly under the Government.

Power to declare that zamíndár has ceased to be subject to disabilities.

23. In each of the following cases (namely) :—

(a) when the amount lent, under section seventeen, to a zamíndár has been repaid, together with the interest due thereon, or

(b) when such amount has been recovered from him as an arrear of land-revenue or has been remitted, in whole or in part, by the Local Government, or

(c) when the whole, or, where it is necessary to sell only a portion, such portion, of his proprietary rights in land has been sold under this Act to the highest bidder, or such rights have vested in the said Secretary of State in Council, under section twenty-two;

the Commissioner shall declare that such zamíndár has ceased to be subject to the disabilities mentioned in section eight, clause (c) :

Provided that in cases coming under clause (b) of this section, no such declaration shall be made without the previous sanction of the Local Government.

CHAPTER VI.

OF APPEAL AND REVISION.

Appeals.

24. An appeal against any decision or order, under this Act, of the special Judge shall lie to the Commissioner, if preferred within one month from the date of such decision or order :

Provided that when the Appellant satisfies the Commissioner that he had sufficient cause for not presenting the appeal within such period, such appeal may be admitted after the period prescribed by this section.

Subject to the power of revision next hereinafter provided, the decision of the Commissioner on an appeal, under this section, shall be final.

Power to call for proceedings and pass order thereon.

25. The Board of Revenue or the Commissioner may, of its or his own motion, or on the application of any person concerned, call for the proceedings in any case under this Act, and pass such order thereon, consistent with the provisions herein contained, as it or he thinks fit :

Provided that nothing in this section shall empower the Commissioner to pass any order reversing or modifying an order previously passed by the Board of Revenue.

CHAPTER VII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Power to make rules.

26. The Local Government may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act—

(a) to regulate the procedure in all cases under this Act ;

(b) to declare what shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the vernacular language of any specified district; and

(c) generally to carry out the provisions of this Act.

Such rules shall be published in the official Gazette, and, when so published, shall have the force of law.

Investigation to be deemed a judicial proceeding.

27. Every investigation conducted by the special Judge, with reference to any claim made to him under this Act, or to any matter connected with such claim, shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code ; and the special Judge shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the said Code.

Special Judge deemed public servant within meaning of Indian Penal Code.

Power to summon witnesses and compel production of documents.

28. For the purposes of compelling the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents the special Judge shall have the powers conferred on a Civil Court by the Code of Civil Procedure.

Bar of suits.

29. No suit or other proceeding shall be maintained against any person in respect of anything done by him in good faith pursuant to this Act.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Third Publication.]

The following Report of a Select Committee, together with the Bill, as settled by them, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 16th March, 1882 :—

WE, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to Agricultural Tenancies in the Central Provinces was referred, have the honour to report that we have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin.

Preliminary Note by the Commissioner, Jabalpur Division, Central Provinces, dated 1st September, 1878 [Paper No. 1].

3. We have, accordingly, amended and re-cast the Bill, but the majority of us desire to reserve our opinion as to the expediency of making these amendments until the Bill has been republished in its present shape, and subjected to further criticism. The most important amendments, and those to which we desire to attract particular attention, are as follows :—

(1.)—The Bill, as introduced, withdrew the power of making a distraint for rent, and practically compelled the landlord to sue a tenant on the produce of whose holding he wished to retain a lien for arrears of rent.

The Bill, as now amended, gives no right to distrain, but it maintains the landlord's lien on the produce for rent, and directs a Court executing a decree, other than for rent, by attachment and sale of the produce of a tenant's holding, to pay to the landlord, out of the proceeds of the sale, and before satisfying the decree-holder, any arrear of rent that may be due by the tenant, and likewise the instalment of rent falling due next after the usual date of harvesting the produce attached and sold.

It also allows a landlord, when an arrear is due to him, to prohibit the tenant, for a period of twenty-eight days, from removing the produce of the holding on which the rent is due. It is intended by this provision to give the landlord time to institute a suit and apply to the Court for an order to attach the produce. These provisions do not apply to rent due for a longer period than one year.

(2.)—The Bill, as introduced, took away the right conferred at the settlement on those tenants who are known as absolute occupancy-tenants, of transferring their holdings.

The amended Bill maintains this class of tenants exactly in the position given to it at settlement.

(3.)—The amended Bill stops the future growth of occupancy-right by operation of the twelve-year rule, but maintains in the enjoyment of that right those tenants who, at the passing of the Act, have acquired it.

(4.)—The Bill, as introduced, established a class of protected tenants, the condition of protection being, inter alia, residence and cultivation of land in the village for five years. Tenants, who had not so qualified, it left to the landlord's discretion.

The amended Bill protects all ordinary tenants (i. e., all tenants who have not absolute occupancy or occupancy-rights and are not sub-tenants) from capricious eviction.

(5.)—The Bill, as introduced, provided for the determination of the rent of occupancy-tenants primarily on the basis of the settlement-rates and the customary rates paid by tenants of the same class; and fixed the rents so determined for the term of settlement, subject to enhancement or abatement on account of change in the value of the produce or in the productive power of the land.

It left the rent of protected tenants to be determined, in case of dispute, by the Courts, with reference to the rent paid by ordinary tenants. A rent so determined was only fixed from year to year.

The amended Bill adopts, for the determination of the rent of ordinary tenants, the principle of compensation for disturbance, giving the tenant from whom an increase of rent is demanded the option of agreeing to the enhancement, in which case his rent will be fixed for seven years, or of leaving the land, taking, as compensation, ten times the sum demanded as enhancement.

It provides that the rents of absolute occupancy-tenants shall not be raised during settlement.

It provides that the rents of occupancy-tenants, i.e., those who have acquired rights under the twelve-year rule, shall be fixed at twenty-five per cent. below the rent paid by ordinary tenants for like land, and that, when the rent of such tenants has been fixed, it shall not be enhanced till after the expiry of a period of ten years.

In the case of all classes of tenants, the landlord is, at any time, entitled to an increase of rent if the productive power of the land has been increased by improvements made by such landlord, or if the area of the holding has been added to.

4. We recommend that the Bill, as now amended, be re-published in the Gazette of India and sent to the Local Government for publication in the local Gazette and translation into the vernacular languages; and that its re-consideration be postponed for a period of two months.

No. II.

A Bill to Consolidate and amend the law relating to Agricultural Tenancies in the Central Provinces.

Preamble. WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to agricultural tenancies in the Central Provinces; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title. 1. This Act may be called "The Central Provinces Tenancy Act, 1882":

Local extent. It extends to all the territories for the time being administered by the Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, except those specified in the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874, Schedule I, Part VI;

Commencement. and it shall come into force on such day as the said Chief Commissioner, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, may by notification in the local official Gazette direct.

Bill, s. 2. Acts repealed. 2. On and from such day the Acts mentioned in the schedule hereto annexed, shall be repealed so far as they relate to the territories to which this Act extends.

Bill, ss. 12, 78, 79, 82, 92. Saving of certain settlement conditions in the Chánda, Nimár and Sambalpúr districts. But nothing contained in this Act, or in any Act hereby repealed, shall affect the rights or liabilities of tenants or landlords in the districts of Nimár, Chánda and Sambalpúr, so far as such rights or liabilities have been determined by any order of the Governor General in Council made at the settlement of any such district.

Pending suits and applications. All suits or applications instituted or made under any Act hereby repealed, and which, when this Act comes into force, are pending before any officer, before whom they would have been instituted or made, if this Act had been in force, shall, so far as may be, be deemed to have been respectively instituted or made hereunder.

Bill, s. 3. Interpretation-clause. 3. In this Act, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,— "land": (1) "land" means land which is let or occupied for agricultural purposes or for purposes subservient to agriculture, and includes the sites of buildings appurtenant to such land:

"tenant": (2) "tenant" means a person who holds land of another person, and is, or, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, would be, liable to pay rent for such land to such other person. But it does not include a mortgagee or a person who takes a lease of unoccupied land for the purpose of sub-letting it, or of land already in the occupation of cultivators.

New. Where such person, at the time of taking a lease of such land, is a tenant of any land included therein, he does not by reason only of such lease cease to be a tenant of the land so included:

"landlord": (3) "landlord" means the person of whom a tenant holds land, and to whom such tenant is, or, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, would be, liable to pay rent therefor; but when the right to receive rent or any other right which a landlord is entitled as such to exercise, is, for the time being, vested in a person other than the person of whom the land is held, such other person shall be deemed to be the landlord in respect of the right so vested:

"rent": (4) "rent" means whatever is paid, delivered or rendered, in money, kind or service, by a tenant on account of the use or occupation of land let to him:

"pay" and "payable": (5) "pay" and "payable" used with reference to rent, include "deliver" and "deliverable":

"arrear": (6) "arrear" means an instalment of rent which is not paid on or before the date on which it is payable:

"holding": (7) "holding" means a parcel of land held by a tenant of a landlord under one lease or agreement:

"improvement": (8) "improvement" means, with reference to a holding, any work which adds to the letting-value of such holding, without diminishing the value of any other part of the estate of the landlord of whom such holding is held; which is suitable to such holding and consistent with the purpose for which it was let; and which, if not executed on the holding, is either executed directly for its benefit or is, after execution, made directly beneficial to it:

It includes the reclaiming, enclosing or clearing of lands for agricultural purposes; but it does not include such embankments, temporary wells, and water-channels as are ordinarily made by tenants. New.

Explanation.—A work which benefits several holdings may be deemed to be, with respect to each of them, an improvement:

"Revenue-officer": (9) "Revenue-officer" means any Revenue-officer appointed under the Central Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1881, not being below the rank of Tahsíldár, and includes also a Settlement-officer:

"agricultural year": (10) "agricultural year" means the year commencing on the first day of June, or on such other date as the Chief Commissioner may, in the case of any specified District or Districts, from time to time, appoint:

"sír-land": (11) "sír-land" means (a) land recorded as "sír" in the papers of the last preceding settlement of the local area in which such land is situate; and (b) land not so recorded, but which has been cultivated by the proprietor or one of the proprietors thereof for a period of not less than twelve consecutive years; and (c) waste land which has been broken up by the proprietor or one of the proprietors thereof and cultivated by him for a period of not less than six consecutive years; and (d) in Sambalpúr, includes also "bhogra" land.

Explanation.—Land which has, after the date of such settlement, or the expiry of such period of twelve years, or six years (as the case may be), been for a period of six consecutive years unoccupied by such proprietor is not sír-land. Land is not unoccupied by the proprietor when it is leased out by him with an express reservation of his sír-rights.

"mahál": (12) "mahál" means any local area held under a separate engagement for the payment of the land-revenue direct to Government, and includes also any local area declared, under the provisions of the Central Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1881, to be a mahál:

"village": (13) "village" includes any tract of land which, at the last settlement of such land, has been recognized as a village, or which the Chief Commissioner declares to be a village for the purposes of the Central Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1881:

"lambardár": (14) "lambardár" means a person appointed under the Central Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1881, to represent the proprietary body of a mahál in its relations with the Government:

"record-of-rights". (15) "record-of-rights" includes the supplementary administration-paper prepared at or after the time of making a settlement before the Central Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1881, came into force.

CHAPTER II.

OF THE CLASSES OF TENANTS, AND THEIR ORDINARY RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES.

Classes of tenants. 4. There shall be four classes of tenants:—

(1)—Absolute occupancy-tenants:

(2)—Occupancy-tenants:

(3)—Ordinary tenants:

(4)—Sub-tenants.

A.—Rights and Liabilities common to all Classes of Tenants.

Bill ss. 4, 66. Presumptions as to rents payable. 5. In all suits and proceedings between landlord and tenant, the rent payable for any year by a tenant, in respect of his holding, shall be deemed to be the rent payable, in respect of such holding, in the year immediately preceding such year, unless a different rent has been agreed upon, in writing, by the landlord and the tenant, or has been fixed by an order under this Act.

Bill, s. 5. Date from which orders fixing rents operate. 6. When the rent of a holding is fixed by any order under this Act, such order shall take effect from the commencement of the agricultural year next following the date of the application upon which such order is made. Provided that, if such application is made on the ground of an increase, or diminution, of the area of a holding, the order shall take effect from such date as the officer making it may direct.

Bill, 6. Rents when payable. 7. Rents shall be payable in such instalments and on such dates as the Chief Commissioner may, from time to time, by rule prescribe, and in the absence of such rule, according to local usage.

Bill s. 46. Lambardár to be deemed sole landlord in certain cases. 8. In the absence of any person duly appointed to act on behalf of several persons who are joint proprietors of a mahál, the lambardár shall be deemed to be, for the purpose of this Act, the sole person entitled to grant leases to tenants, or enter into agreements with tenants as such, of the land held jointly by such proprietors, or to give receipts for the rent of such land, or to issue any notice, make any application, or being any suit, under this Act, to, in respect of, or against, any tenant of such land.

Bill, s. 47. Rents payable to joint landlords. 9. When two or more persons are the joint landlords of any tenant, such tenant, subject to any rule which the Chief Commissioner may, from time to time, make in this behalf, shall not be compelled to pay part of the rent of his holding to one of such persons and part to another or others; and such persons shall, if the tenant so desires, appoint one of their number, or some other person, to receive the rent of such holding.

Bill, s. 7 Tenant may in certain cases deposit rent with Revenue-officer. 10. When any landlord refuses to accept any instalment of rent payable in money when tendered to him by a tenant, and when any tenant, in the case mentioned in section nine, desires the appointment of a person to receive rent payable in money and no such appointment is made within a reasonable time, and when any tenant in any other case is doubtful as to the person entitled to receive such rent from him, such tenant may apply to a Revenue-officer for permission to deposit in his Court the amount of rent which he believes to be due; and such officer shall receive such deposit, if it appears to him, after examining the applicant, that he had reasonable grounds for making the application and that it was made in good faith.

Bill s. 8.

Deposit to be deemed a payment to the landlord.

11. When any deposit has been so received, it shall be deemed to be a payment made by the tenant to his landlord on account of rent due.

Revenue-officer how to deal with deposit.

The officer receiving such deposit may pay the amount thereof to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive the same, or may, if he thinks fit, retain the deposit pending the decision of a Civil Court as to the person so entitled.

No suit or other proceeding shall be instituted against the Secretary of State for India in Council, or against any officer of the Government, in respect of anything done by a Revenue-officer under this section; but nothing herein contained shall prevent any person entitled to receive the amount of any such deposit from recovering the same from a person to whom it has been paid by a Revenue-officer.

Bill, s. 9.

Penalty for exaction by landlord.

12. Every tenant, from whom any sum is levied by his landlord in excess of the rent specified in his lease, or payable under the provisions of this Act, shall be entitled to recover from such landlord a sum not exceeding double the amount so levied.

Bill, s. 9.

For not giving receipt.

13. When any landlord refuses a receipt for rent paid by a tenant, or grants such receipt but refuses or neglects to specify therein the period or crop in respect of which the payment is made, such tenant shall be entitled to recover from such landlord a sum not exceeding double the amount of the rent so paid.

Bill, s. 89, cl. (b).

Enhancement allowed when productive power of holding has been increased by landlord.

14. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, or in the conditions of settlement, the rent of any tenant may, on the application of the landlord, be enhanced on the ground that the productive power of the tenant's holding has been increased through the agency or at the expense of the landlord. Such enhancement shall bear the same proportion to such rent as the increase so effected in the productive power of the holding bears to the productive power of the holding as it was immediately before such increase was effected.

The rent of an absolute-occupancy tenant shall not be enhanced under this section when the productive power of the holding has been increased by an improvement made by a landlord in contravention of any rule made hereunder.

Bill, s. 89, cl. (d).

Power to fix rent when area of holding is altered.

15. When the area of a holding is increased or diminished by encroachment, fluvial action or otherwise, a Revenue-officer may, by order, on the application of the landlord or of the tenant, fix the rent payable in respect of such holding with reference to such increase or diminution:

Provided that such order shall not bar the landlord's claim to enhance the rent of such holding on other grounds allowed by this Act.

Agreement fixing rent on revenue-paying lands beyond term of settlement, voidable.

16. The rent of land assessed to land-revenue shall not be fixed for a term exceeding the period of the settlement of such land.

Bill, s. 54.

All agreements made in contravention of this section shall, as regards the amount of rent, be voidable at the will of either party.

Rents payable in kind may be commuted.

17. In all cases in which a tenant has paid rent in kind, or on the estimated value of a portion of the crop, or by rates varying with the crop, or partly in one of such ways and partly in another or others, the landlord or tenant may apply to commute such rent to a fixed money rent. Such application shall be made,

Bill, s. 9

while the settlement of the district in which such tenant's holding is situate is in progress, to a Settlement-officer; and, at any other time, to any revenue-officer specially empowered by the Chief Commissioner in this behalf.

On the receipt of such application, such officer shall determine the sum to be paid as money rent and shall order that the tenant shall pay, in lieu of paying his rent in kind or as aforesaid, the sum so determined. If the application is opposed, such officer may, for reasons to be recorded by him in writing, refuse to grant the same.

Surrender of holdings.

18. Any tenant not holding under a lease for a fixed period may, at the end of any agricultural year, surrender his holding, or, with the consent of his landlord, any part thereof. But notwithstanding such surrender he shall continue to be liable for the year next following the date of such surrender for the rent of the holding or part surrendered, unless—

Bill, ss. 23, 24, 25, 26

(a) he gives to his landlord, at least thirty days before the end of such agricultural year, notice in writing of such surrender; or

(b) he takes a new holding in the same village from the same landlord; or

(c) he ceases, at least thirty days before the end of such year, to reside in the village in which the surrendered holding is situate; or

(d) the landlord himself cultivates such holding or lets it to another tenant.

Hypothecation of produce for rent.

19. The produce of a holding in the occupation of a tenant shall be hypothecated for the rent payable in respect thereof, and, if such produce is attached and sold in execution of a decree, the Court executing the decree shall apply the nett proceeds of the sale in the first instance to satisfy the landlord's claim (if any) for sums due to him in respect of the rent of such holding for the year immediately preceding the attachment, and for the instalment of rent which falls due next after the usual period of harvesting the produce attached.

Bill, ss. 17—22, altered

Landlord may, by notice, prohibit removal of produce.

20. Where an arrear is due from any tenant in respect of his holding, the landlord may, by notice to the tenant, prohibit the removal of the produce of such holding.

Act XII, 1881, s. 58.

No such prohibition shall be made in respect of any sum claimed in excess of the rent payable by the tenant for such holding in the preceding year, unless the rent has been enhanced in accordance with the provisions of this Act, nor in respect of an arrear which has been due for a longer period than one year.

No such prohibition shall be made more than once in respect of the same produce.

Procedure in delivering notice.

21. Every notice under section twenty, shall be in writing, and shall specify the amount of the arrear claimed, the period for which, and the holding in respect of which, it is said to be due, and, when a sum in excess of the rent payable by the tenant in the last preceding year is claimed, the decree, order or agreement, as the case may be, for the payment of such sum.

The notice shall be served on the tenant, or other person who may be in charge of the produce on his behalf, and shall remain in force until the rent specified in such notice is paid, or, if such rent is not paid, until the expiry of twenty-eight days after such notice is so given.

Tenant to retain charge of the produce.

22. Notwithstanding such notice, the tenant may reap, gather or store the produce of his holding, and do all other such acts as may be necessary for the due preservation of the same.

Penalty for tenant removing produce, removal of which has been prohibited.

23. Any tenant on whom a notice in respect of the produce of his holding has been served under section twenty, and who, except for any of the purposes mentioned in section twenty-two, while such notice is in force, removes, attempts to remove, or abets the removal of, such produce from the place where it was standing, deposited or stored when such notice was served, and any landlord who distrains or attempts to distrain the produce of any holding, or prevents, or attempts to prevent, otherwise than in accordance with this Act, the removal of any produce of a holding by the tenant thereof,

Act XII, 1881, s. 43: ill, s. 13.

Commission for dividing or estimating crops.

24. Whenever rent is taken by division of the produce, or by estimate or appraisement of the crop, if either the landlord or the tenant neglects to attend, either personally or by agent, at the proper time for making such division, estimate or appraisement, or if there is a dispute regarding the division of the said produce, or the quantity or value of the crop, a Revenue-officer may, on the application of either party, issue a commission to such person as such officer thinks fit, directing him to divide, estimate or appraise the crop.

Bill, s. 14.

Appointment of assessors.

25. When a Revenue-officer appoints a Commissioner for any of the purposes mentioned in section twenty-four, such officer may, in his discretion, direct such Commissioner to associate with himself any other persons as assessors, and may give him instructions regarding the number, qualifications and mode of selecting such assessors (if any), and the procedure to be followed in making such division, estimate or appraisement.

The Commissioner so appointed shall make the division, estimate or appraisement, in accordance with such instructions.

Bill, ss. 15, 16.

Procedure where crop has been estimated or appraised.

26. When a crop has been estimated or appraised under the foregoing provisions, such estimate or appraisement shall be reduced to writing and signed by the Commissioner making the same, and shall be submitted to the Revenue-officer by whom the commission was issued. Such Revenue-officer shall consider the Commissioner's report, and after such hearing and enquiry (if any), as he may think necessary, shall pass order thereon either confirming or varying the estimate or appraisement, and the rent shall be payable in accordance with such order.

Produce of a holding.

27. In sections nineteen to twenty-four (both inclusive) the produce of a holding means—

(a) crops and other products of the earth standing or ungathered on such holding;

(b) crops and other products of the earth which have been grown on the holding and have been reaped or gathered and are deposited on such holding or a threshing-ground, or stored in the homestead of the village in which such holding is situate, or in which the tenant, whose holding it is, resides.

B.—Of Absolute Occupancy-tenants.

"Absolute occupancy-tenants."

28. All tenants who, on the day when this Act comes into force, occupy any holding in respect of which they have been recorded in any record-of-rights made before such day as "absolute occupancy-raiyats," or in terms equivalent thereto, shall be deemed to be absolute occupancy-tenants of such holding.

New.

Rents fixed for period of settlement.

29. The rent of the holding of every absolute occupancy-tenant shall be fixed by the Settlement-officer at the settlement of the district in which such holding is situate, and the rent so fixed, shall not be enhanced during the currency of such settlement, except under the provisions of section fourteen or section fifteen.

The rent payable in respect of his holding by any such tenant, when this Act comes into force, shall be deemed to have been fixed at the last preceding settlement of the district in which his holding is situate.

New: Bill, ss. 81, 82.

30. The right of an absolute occupancy-tenant in his holding shall devolve as if it were land, and shall be transferable by mortgage or sale or gift. Any mortgage of such right for a longer period than fourteen years made, after this Act comes into force, shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be a sale.

Right heritable and transferable after notice to landlord who may claim to purchase at fixed rate.

If an absolute occupancy-tenant intends to transfer his right in his holding by sale or gift, he shall give to his landlord a written notice of such intention, and the landlord may thereupon—

(a) within one month from the receipt of such notice, claim to purchase such right, at a price equal to five times the yearly rent payable in respect of the holding; or

(b) permit the sale or gift, in which case he shall be entitled to a sum equal to such rent for one year, and such sum shall be a charge on the holding sold.

Any transfer made in contravention of this section shall be void.

New.

31. An absolute occupancy-tenant shall not be liable to be ejected from his holding by his landlord as such for an arrear of rent or for any cause.

Absolute occupancy-tenant not liable to ejectment.

Right hypothecated or rent.

New.

32. When the right of an absolute occupancy-tenant in his holding is sold by order of a Civil Court in execution of a decree other than a decree obtained by his landlord, the landlord shall, in respect of such holding, have the same rights as are reserved to him by section thirty in the case of a private sale.

Landlord's rights reserved in sales in execution of decree.

C.—Of Occupancy-tenants.

Bill, s. 75.

33. All tenants who, when this Act comes into force, have held the same land continuously for twelve years, otherwise than as absolute occupancy-tenants or sub-tenants, have a right of occupancy in, and shall be deemed to be occupancy-tenants of, such land; Provided that such land is not Occupancy-tenants.

(b) held in lieu of wages, or

The other assessors shall be summoned by the President in such manner as may be prescribed by rule, out of two lists, one of merchants, the other of pilots, to be, from time to time, prepared for the purpose and published by the Chief Commissioner in the British Burma Gazette. If there are no such lists, or if it is impracticable to procure the attendance of two persons, one of whom is named in such list of merchants, and the other in such list of pilots, such other assessors or assessor, as the case may be, shall be appointed and summoned by the President.

Draft s. 13.

12. The assessors shall receive such fees as the Chief Commissioner may, from time to time, by rule prescribe.

14. For the purpose of an investigation under this Act the Court may summon such pilot to appear before it and shall give him full opportunity of making a defence, either in person or otherwise.

Person charged to be heard.

Draft s. 18: Cf. I. M. S. Bill (No. III), s. 143.

15. For the purpose of any investigation under this Act the Court shall, so far as relates to compelling the attendance, and to the examination, of witnesses, the production of documents, and the regulation of the proceedings, have the same powers as are exercisable by the principal Court of original criminal jurisdiction for the place at which the investigation is made.

Powers of the Court as to evidence and regulating proceedings.

Draft s. 21.

16. Upon the completion of the investigation the Court shall give its decision. Such decision shall be according to the opinion of the majority of the members of the Court, or, if the Court is equally divided, according to the opinion of the President and the member with whom he concurs. In the latter case, any member who does not concur in the decision of the Court may separately record his opinion.

The Chief Commissioner may remit sentence or mitigate punishment.

Draft s. 26.

21. If the President is of opinion that the decision of the majority of the members of the Court is manifestly contrary to the evidence, or that the investigation is otherwise insufficient, the President, instead of passing sentence on the pilot charged, or declaring him acquitted, as the case may be, may certify such opinion to the Chief Commissioner, and the Chief Commissioner may thereupon either order a new investigation before other assessors, or acquit the said pilot, as he thinks fit.

If decision of members be manifestly contrary to evidence or investigation be otherwise insufficient.

Draft, s. 27.

22. Notwithstanding the provisions herein contained, when a charge of misconduct or incompetency is made against any pilot licensed hereunder, the Chief Commissioner may, without holding an investigation under this Act into such charge, pass such orders thereon as he thinks proper, and may sentence such pilot to such penalty as he might be sentenced to under section seventeen.

Power of Chief Commissioner to pass orders on charge without holding investigation.

Draft s. 3.

23. The Chief Commissioner may, from time to time, make rules to carry into effect the provisions of this Act, with respect to the Court for making investigations into charges against pilots, and in particular with respect to—

Power of Chief Commissioner to make rules.

(a) the mode in which the President shall, under section eleven, summon the assessors;

(b) the amount of the fees to be paid to the assessors; and

(c) the procedure of the said Court.

All such rules shall be published in the British Burma Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

Publication of rules.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE Pilot Rules at present in force at the ports of British Burma have not the force of law. So far as they relate merely to the appointment and duties of pilots, the want of legal sanction does not appear to be of importance, as these matters can be arranged for executively. The rules, however, provide also for the holding of courts for the trial and punishment of pilots guilty of misconduct in the performance of their duties, and in so far as they relate to such matters require something more than the authority of mere executive orders for their due enforcement. At Calcutta, where the subject of the appointment and duties of pilots has, as in Burma, been provided for executively, the subject of the trial and punishment of pilots has been dealt with by the Legislature, in a special Act (XII of 1859). It seems desirable that in Burma, also, this subject should be similarly dealt with.

The present Bill has, therefore, been prepared. It provides for the holding of investigations into charges of misconduct on the part of pilots. The constitution of the Courts of Enquiry, and the manner of selecting the members, are duly provided for, and power is given to the Chief Commissioner to make rules for conducting the proceedings. The authority of the Courts, and the confirmation required for their findings and orders, are also suitably defined. The Bill also prohibits any person from acting as a pilot in any port in British Burma, or in any navigable river or channel leading to any such port, unless he holds a license to act as a pilot granted by the Chief Commissioner. This seems desirable, as under the present law there is nothing to prevent a person from acting as a pilot without a license, except in ports to which section 38 of the Indian Ports Act, 1875, has been specially extended.

Bills introduced into the Council of the Governor General for making Laws and Regulations, or published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First publication.]

The following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 31st May, 1882:—

No. 7 OF 1882.

A Bill to modify temporarily certain provisions of the Petroleum Act, 1881.

WHEREAS there is reason to doubt whether the mode of testing petroleum prescribed by the Petroleum Act, 1881, is in all cases to be relied on in India; and it is therefore expedient, pending the removal of that doubt, or the adoption of an improved mode of testing petroleum, to afford, in respect of petroleum imported under certain guarantees as to its quality, some relief from the difficulties under which, owing to the said doubt, persons dealing in such petroleum might otherwise labour; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

1. This Act may be called the Petroleum Act, 1882.

Short title.

It shall come into force at once, and shall continue in force only until the first day of January, 1883, or such later date as the Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, fix in this behalf, and as long as it continues in force shall be read with, and taken as part of, the Petroleum Act, 1881.

Commencement. Duration.

This Act to be read with Act VIII of 1881.

2. Whenever it appears to the Governor General in Council that certificates of any description are commonly granted in any place beyond the limits of British India in respect of petroleum exported from that place to British India and that a certificate of that description is sufficient to prove that the petroleum therein referred to would, if tested in the manner prescribed by the Petroleum Act, 1881, at the place from which it is exported, have a flashing point not below seventy-three degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer, the Governor General in Council may direct that petroleum imported from that place and covered by a certificate of that description shall not be deemed to be dangerous petroleum.

Certain petroleum not to be deemed "dangerous petroleum."

While any such direction continues in force, petroleum to which it applies shall not be deemed to be dangerous petroleum.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

COMMUNICATIONS received by the Government of India by telegraph within the last two or three weeks afford ground for apprehending that petroleum which, when tested in America and elsewhere in the manner prescribed by the Petroleum Act, 1881, flashes at a point above 73° Fahrenheit may, when tested in the same manner on its arrival here, flash at a point below 73° Fahrenheit, and consequently have to be placed under the restrictions to which dangerous petroleum is subject. It has been suggested that this is probably due not to any want of care on the part of those applying the test in either country, but to the difference of climate. Steps have been taken with a view to having the matter fully inquired into; but as this will take some time, and as it is but fair that importers should in the meanwhile be relieved from the hardship to which they are exposed, it is proposed for the present to exclude from the class of dangerous petroleum all petroleum covered by a certificate granted at the place of export and of such a description that, in the opinion of the Governor General, it may be accepted as proving that the petroleum it refers to, if tested at the place of export according to our method, would be found to have a flashing point above 73° Fahrenheit.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN the year 1869 the Governor General in Council was pleased, in accordance with the recommendations of the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb, and in part fulfilment of the wishes of a large number of the chiefs, nobles and influential classes of the Panjáb, to sanction the establishment at Lahore of an institution, then styled the Lahore University College, but subsequently styled the Panjáb University College. The special objects of this College, as stated by its statutes, were as follows:—

(1) to promote the diffusion of European science as far as possible through the medium of the vernacular languages of the Panjáb, and to improve and extend vernacular literature generally;

(2) to afford encouragement to the enlightened study of Eastern classical languages and literature; and

(3) to associate the learned and influential classes of the Province with the officers of Government in the promotion and supervision of popular education.

It was, however, at the same time laid down that every encouragement should be afforded to the study of the English language and literature, and that in all subjects which could not be completely taught in the Vernacular the English language would be regarded as the medium of examination and instruction.

At the time of the establishment of this College, promises were held out by Government that, if attended with due success, it might eventually be raised to the status of a University; and large sums of money have been, from time to time, given to the College by the chiefs and influential classes of the Panjáb, who have long looked forward to the fulfilment of these promises. As the College has, in the opinion of Government, been attended with due success, it has been determined to carry out what is believed to be the almost universal wish of the Natives of the Panjáb who are interested in education, and constitute the College a University.

2. The present Bill has, therefore, been prepared. Section 2 establishes the University, and confers on it all the powers of a body corporate. Section 3 provides for the transfer to the University of all the property at present held by or in trust for the University College. Sections 4 to 8 deal with the constitution of the University, and provide for a Chancellor, who is to be the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb for the time being, a Vice-Chancellor to be appointed by the Chancellor, and a body of Fellows.

The Fellows will be of four classes, namely: (1) the holders for the time being of certain offices, who are to be ex-officio Fellows; (2) persons appointed by the Chancellor as being eminent benefactors of the University, original promoters of the movement in favour of the Panjáb University College, or persons distinguished for attainments in literature, science or art, or by zeal in the cause of education; (3) persons chosen by the Senate and approved by the Chancellor; and (4) the representatives for the time being with the Government of the Panjáb of such independent Native chiefs as the Lieutenant-Governor may by notification in the Gazette specify. The schedule annexed to the Act contains a list of the persons who are to be deemed to be the first Fellows. Sections 10, 11 and 12 provide for a Senate and matters connected therewith. Section 13 empowers the Senate to appoint and remove all examiners, officers and servants of the University. Section 14 empowers it to confer certain degrees, but restricts the exercise of the power to confer the degrees of Bachelor of Laws, Bachelor of Medicine, Doctor of Medicine and Master of Civil Engineering until the Governor General in Council has given his assent thereto; and section 15 gives it power to confer like degrees in the case of persons who may have passed during the year 1882 such examinations of the Panjáb University College as may correspond to the degree examinations of the University. Section 16 empowers the Senate to confer honorary degrees in certain cases; section 17 to levy fees; and section 18 to make rules generally in all matters regarding the University.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN the year 1869 the Governor General in Council was pleased, in accordance with the recommendations of the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb, and in part fulfilment of the wishes of a large number of the chiefs, nobles and influential classes of the Panjáb, to sanction the establishment at Lahore of an institution, then styled the Lahore University College, but subsequently styled the Panjáb University College. The special objects of this College, as stated by its statutes, were as follows:—

(1) to promote the diffusion of European science as far as possible through the medium of the vernacular languages of the Panjáb, and to improve and extend vernacular literature generally;

(2) to afford encouragement to the enlightened study of Eastern classical languages and literature; and

(3) to associate the learned and influential classes of the Province with the officers of Government in the promotion and supervision of popular education.

It was, however, at the same time laid down that every encouragement should be afforded to the study of the English language and literature, and that in all subjects which could not be completely taught in the Vernacular the English language would be regarded as the medium of examination and instruction.

At the time of the establishment of this College, promises were held out by Government that, if attended with due success, it might eventually be raised to the status of a University; and large sums of money have been, from time to time, given to the College by the chiefs and influential classes of the Panjáb, who have long looked forward to the fulfilment of these promises. As the College has, in the opinion of Government, been attended with due success, it has been determined to carry out what is believed to be the almost universal wish of the Natives of the Panjáb who are interested in education, and constitute the College a University.

2. The present Bill has, therefore, been prepared. Section 2 establishes the University, and confers on it all the powers of a body corporate. Section 3 provides for the transfer to the University of all the property at present held by or in trust for the University College. Sections 4 to 8 deal with the constitution of the University, and provide for a Chancellor, who is to be the Lieutenant-Governor of the Panjáb for the time being, a Vice-Chancellor to be appointed by the Chancellor, and a body of Fellows.

The Fellows will be of four classes, namely: (1) the holders for the time being of certain offices, who are to be ex-officio Fellows; (2) persons appointed by the Chancellor as being eminent benefactors of the University, original promoters of the movement in favour of the Panjáb University College, or persons distinguished for attainments in literature, science or art, or by zeal in the cause of education; (3) persons chosen by the Senate and approved by the Chancellor; and (4) the representatives for the time being with the Government of the Panjáb of such independent Native chiefs as the Lieutenant-Governor may by notification in the Gazette specify. The schedule annexed to the Act contains a list of the persons who are to be deemed to be the first Fellows. Sections 10, 11 and 12 provide for a Senate and matters connected therewith. Section 13 empowers the Senate to appoint and remove all examiners, officers and servants of the University. Section 14 empowers it to confer certain degrees, but restricts the exercise of the power to confer the degrees of Bachelor of Laws, Bachelor of Medicine, Doctor of Medicine and Master of Civil Engineering until the Governor General in Council has given his assent thereto; and section 15 gives it power to confer like degrees in the case of persons who may have passed during the year 1882 such examinations of the Panjáb University College as may correspond to the degree examinations of the University. Section 16 empowers the Senate to confer honorary degrees in certain cases; section 17 to levy fees; and section 18 to make rules generally in all matters regarding the University.
