RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

Read the undermentioned letters transmitting reports on the working of the Mints and the Assay Offices of Calcutta and Bombay for the year 1887-88 :

From the Mint Masters, Bombay and Calcutta, No. 954, dated the 11th August 1888, and No. 866, dated the 31st July 1888, respectively.

From the Assay Masters, Bombay and Calcutta, No. 115, dated the 30th July 1888, and No. 39, dated the 11th July 1888, respectively.

I.—THE WORKING OF THE MINTS.

1. Imports and coinage : Gold.—The net imports of gold into India in 1887-88 amounted to Rs. 2,99,24,810 against Rs. 2,17,70,652 in 1886-87 and Rs. 2,76,29,347 in 1885-86. No gold was coined in either Mint. In Calcutta gold of the value of Rs. 79,900, consisting of bazar bar gold and sovereigns, was tendered for coinage, the tenderers being paid in gold mohurs from the reserve stock coined in 1885.

In the Bombay Mint the stock of gold at the beginning of 1887-88 represented a value of only Rs. 3,233. It was increased to Rs. 3,377 by the purchase of gold Jubilee coins of the value of Rs. 144 from the Royal Mint. No gold was tendered for coinage by the public, and the only issues were in the form of medals for public departments and private individuals to the value of Rs. 1,108.

2. Imports and coinage : Silver.—The net imports of silver into India and the coinage in each year in both the Mints from 1872-73 were :

	Net imports, Lakhs.	Coinage, Lakhs.		Net imports, Lakhs.	Coinage, Lakhs.
1872-73	72	398	1880-81	389	425
1873-74	249	237	1881-82	538	219
1874-75	464	490	1882-83	748	651

Total of 8 years	4,312	5,371	Total of 8 years	5,849	4,810
			Total of 16 years	10,161	10,181

Of the imports of the year, 828½ lakhs were brought to Bombay and 102 to Calcutta, of which only 639¾ and 73¾ lakhs respectively were tendered at the Mints.

3. Total coinage : Gold and Silver.—The value of the total coinage of gold and silver at each of the two Mints for the last five years is shown below :

	Calcutta Mint.					Bombay Mint.
	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88.

Total	1,27,46,606	1,25,00,711	3,49,23,176	1,07,45,718	4,70,52,251	2,38,87,405	4,55,71,252	6,81,58,350	3,54,19,642	6,08,31,990

The unusually large silver coinage in Calcutta was due to the recoinage of the silver received (Gwalior and Chandori rupees) in payment of the loan to Government from Maharaja Sindia.

4. Recoinage of old coin.—The value of defaced and uncurrent coin remitted to the Calcutta Mint for recoinage was Rs. 62,98,384 against Rs. 11,37,424 in the previous year. This included Burmese peacock rupees of the nominal value of Rs. 18,14,380 and shroff-marked coin of the value of Rs. 43,53,955, chiefly from the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab. In the Bombay Mint the amount of uncurrent coin received for recoinage was Rs. 2,50,000. The loss on recoinage amounted to Rs. 1,14,211 in Calcutta and Rs. 3,433 in Bombay. Besides the above, Gwalior and Chandori rupees of the value of Rs. 3,18,37,783, received on account of the Gwalior loan, were recoined in the Calcutta Mint during the year.

5. Silver tendered for coinage by the Currency Department.—In 1887-88 silver to the value of Rs. 73,75,344 was tendered to the Currency Department at Calcutta under the Paper Currency Act, and the Currency Department tendered Rs. 92,39,134 to the Calcutta Mint for coinage under the Coinage Act.

In Bombay Rs. 6,60,34,275 were tendered to the Currency Department, including Rana koris of the value of Rs. 28,48,705 tendered by the Porbandar State, the currency of which is being assimilated to British Indian coinage, and also Cutch koris of the value of Rs. 1,30,380 received from the Treasury Officer, Rajkot. Rs. 6,23,18,325 were tendered to the Mint by the Currency Department for coinage.

6. Copper coinage.—The coinage of copper amounted to Rs. 17,03,369 in 1887-88 against Rs. 11,71,289 in 1886-87 and Rs. 8,13,610 in 1885-86, nearly three-fourths being coined in Calcutta. Cent pieces of the value of Rs. 2,02,239 and Rs. 30,000 were coined in Calcutta for the Governments of the Straits Settlements and Ceylon respectively.

The coinage of copper in each of the two Mints for the last five years is as follows :

	Calcutta.	Bombay.
	Value in Rs.	Value in Rs.
1883-84	11,54,245	2,19,389
1884-85	7,02,560	3,55,250
1885-86	8,13,610	.....
1886-87	9,13,955	2,57,334
1887-88	12,50,994	4,52,375

For the Calcutta Mint about 24,000 maunds of copper slabs were purchased locally at an average rate of slightly over Rs. 24 a maund, which, the Mint Master says, though 12 annas dearer than the rate of the preceding year, is little more than half the rate at which copper has been available since the latter part of the calendar year 1887. The Bombay Mint obtained its copper from England through the India Office, the cost averaging Rs. 22 per maund, as in 1886-87.

7. The gain on the copper coinage passed into circulation for the last five years is shown below :

	Rs.
1883-84	5,60,227
1884-85	5,69,684
1885-86	1,11,053
1887-88	9,03,187

8. Operative losses in the Mints.—In 1887-88 the Mint Master, Bombay, adopted a new system of calculating the operative losses in the Mint. It is said that it is not possible to determine the losses in the melting and mechanical departments separately with any degree of accuracy, whereas the loss in the two departments combined can be calculated with some approximation to completeness. The total loss in all the departments of the Mint taken together was accordingly calculated thus: All the bullion received in the Mint, including the opening balance, was valued as accurately as possible, and from this the value of all new coins at their average touch was deducted, the difference between the net result and the balance left in the Mint at the end of the year being taken as the whole working loss. Calculated in this way, the loss amounted in 1887-88 to Rs. 17,191, or 15·9 per lakh, against Rs. 41,668, or 38·6 per lakh, according to the old method. The Mint Master has not given an explanation of the causes of the very considerable differences between the results obtained by the old and by the new methods. This should be done in the next report.

The Mint Master, Calcutta, also considers it safer to state the losses of the two departments taken together. The total combined loss in the Calcutta Mint in 1887-88 in the two departments was Rs. 1,32,876; but this includes Rs. 1,14,211 on account of the loss in the recoinage of shroff-marked and Burmese coins; omitting which, the loss was only Rs. 18,665.

The rates of losses in the two Mints during the last five years compare as follows:

	Calcutta.	Bombay.
	Whole Mint approximately per lakh.	Melting Department per lakh.	Mechanical Department per lakh.
1883-84	New method. 53 to 56	Old method. 50·4	30·4
1884-85	44 to 47	30·8	18·8
1885-86	30 to 33	33·1	5·3
1886-87	24 o 27	20·5	8·9
1887-88	22 to 25	27·5	11·1

The losses in the Calcutta Mint were slightly reduced on account of the great bulk of the Gwalior metal being passed into the mechanical department at the weight at which it was registered, the mechanical department thus receiving the benefit of the "turn of scale." The losses in the Bombay Mint, on the other hand, increased in 1887-88, as compared with previous years, on account of the practice of allowing this benefit of the turn of scale to the melting department having been discontinued from the beginning of the year. Another cause of the increased losses in the Bombay Mint is due to the fact that in former years a small allowance was made to the melting department for the presence of dirt in copper; but during the year under report this practice was discontinued, thereby increasing the working losses by the amount of the dirt burnt away.

9. Revenue and Expenditure.—The total revenue and expenditure in connection with each Mint from 1883-84 to 1887-88 were as follows:

	REVENUE.						EXPENDITURE.
	SEIGNORAGE.			OTHER RECEIPTS.
	Calcutta.	Bombay.	Total.	Calcutta.	Bombay.	Total.	Calcutta.	Bombay.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1883-84	1,41,288	4,77,494	6,18,782	82,649	80,140	1,62,789	9,75,328	7,46,422	17,21,750
1884-85	2,19,718	8,74,585	10,94,303	64,013	1,29,031	1,93,044	12,06,283	8,39,084	20,45,367
1885-86	5,72,608	13,62,356	19,34,964	80,147	1,77,907	2,58,054	10,56,864	9,66,728	20,23,592
1886-87	2,01,787	6,87,834	8,89,621	60,724	93,991	1,54,715	8,46,922	7,43,318	15,90,240
1887-88	1,85,718	12,46,367	14,32,085	84,442	1,35,363	2,19,805	10,03,703	8,62,428	19,26,131
	69,58,162*						93,07,080

* Exclusive of the gain on copper coinage.

The total revenue of both Mints during the last five years is less than the total expenditure during that period by Rs. 23,48,918. This gives an average loss of Rs. 4,69,754 a year which occurred entirely in Calcutta. It should, however, be noted that this account does not include any receipts pro-formâ or otherwise on account of the minting of the Gwalior coins in the Calcutta Mint; while the expenditure includes as a pro-formâ charge the interest on the average balance of bullion in the Mint which was necessarily high while these coins were in process of being minted. If seignorage had been charged on these coins, the revenue would have been increased by Rs. 6,36,000.

10. The expenditure on account of salaries and establishments in the two Mints during 1887-88 was Rs. 5,55,677, being more than that of the previous year by Rs. 37,045, as shown below:

	Calcutta.			Bombay.
	1886-87.	1887-88.		1886-87.	1887-88.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Fixed establishment	1,87,512	1,94,506	+ 6,994	2,17,238	2,21,813	+ 4,575
Extra establishment	74,729	87,785	+13,056	39,153	51,573	+12,420

The increased outlay in Calcutta in 1887-88 is due mainly to (1) the Mint Master having been on furlough in 1886; (2) the absence on leave of the Head Engraver in that year and his re-engagement on return on a higher salary; and (3) the increased coinage of silver and copper throughout the year 1887-88.

11. The expenditure on stores in Calcutta during 1887-88 was Rs. 86,370 against Rs. 65,780, and in Bombay Rs. 1,32,489 against Rs. 70,282 in the previous year. The increased expenditure in Calcutta was due to the increased coinage. In Bombay the increase is due to a larger consumption of coal caused by increased coinage, to a heavy outlay on wrought-iron and plumbago crucibles, and to the issue of steel rolls which had been borne on the store accounts for many years.

12. Pro-formâ charges.—These charges in the two Mints compare as follows with those of the previous year:

	Calcutta.			Bombay.
	1886-87.	1887-88.	Increase + Decrease −	1886-87.	1887-88.	Increase + Decrease −
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Cost of pension and furlough allowances	30,446	31,627	+ 1,181	38,090	25,494	−12,596
Interest on stock and block	4,02,622	4,93,623	+91,001	3,07,309	3,46,740	+39,431

The increase in the interest on stock and block is due to the larger average balances of copper and stores and the balance of silver locked up in the Mints in 1887-88, including the bullion belonging to the Currency Department. The interest on this last is taken as a charge of coinage on the consideration that the Government undertakes to pay for the bullion as soon as it is assayed.

13. Miscellaneous work done at the Mints.—During the year miscellaneous work costing Rs. 2,39,474 and Rs. 10,867 was done in the Calcutta and Bombay Mints, giving net profits of Rs. 6,341 and Rs. 2,289 respectively. The most important of these was the manufacture in the Calcutta Mint of 40,000 war medals for the Burma campaign of 1885-87.

14. Capital Account.—The Capital Account of the Calcutta Mint was practically unchanged during the year 1887-88, the balance of the account remaining about the same as last year.

In the Bombay Mint Rs. 9,384 was debited to Capital Account on account of buildings and plant. At the close of the year the balance of the account at debit to the Mint was Rs. 35,77,601.

II.—THE WORKING OF THE ASSAY OFFICES.

15. Number of assays made.—The total number of assays made during 1887-88 in Calcutta was 24,559 against 10,605 in the previous year, and in Bombay 31,828 against 19,937. The increase was due, of course, to the larger coinage of the year.

16. Assays of silver bullion alligated to standard.—The average fineness of the silver meltings for coinage in the Calcutta Mint was 916·227 against 916·084 in the previous year. In the Bombay Mint it was 916·03.

17. Parting assay of silver coins.—The average proportion of gold found in the silver pyx coins at the Calcutta Mint during 1887-88 amounted to ·459 per mille against ·283 in the previous year. The increase in the percentage is due to the bulk of the silver coins having been manufactured from Gwalior and Burma coins, which contained more gold than would have been found in the same quantity of bar silver from Europe.

The average of the Bombay Mint was ·248 per mille against ·290 in the previous year.

18. Pyx trials of silver coins.—In previous years the average fineness of the year's coinage was arrived at by combining the results obtained from coins assayed singly with those obtained from the assay of coins after having been melted in mass. Dr. Scully, however, has proved by a series of experiments made during the year that the melting of silver coins under the conditions practised in the Mints raises their fineness, and he concludes that an approximation to the average fineness of a year's coinage will be found in assaying singly as large a number of pyx coins as possible. For this reason the number of single coins assayed in the Calcutta Mint from every lakh of rupees was increased from five to ten in the latter part of the year. The report shows separately both the average fineness of coins assayed singly and of coins assayed after melting.

These results are summarised below:

Denomination.	Total number of coins coined.	Number of coins weighed singly.	Number of coins assayed singly.	Number of coins assayed after melting.	Average weight in grains.	Average fineness of coins assayed singly (per mille).	Average fineness of coins assayed after melting (per mille).	Proportion of gold in pyx coins (per mille).
Rupees	42,500,167	4,300	2,265	10,535	180·047	916·553	916·670
½ rupees	2,375,419	190	95	855	90·025	916·862	916·873
¼ rupees	6,493,865	650	...	6,500	44·975	...	916·983	·459
⅛ rupees	13,927,368	680	...	13,600	22·507	...	916·894

In the trials for weight of rupees and half rupees, if any one coin is found to be beyond remedy, a second pyx is called for and weighed again coin by coin; and if in these another is found to be beyond remedy, the whole lakh is reweighed. Similarly, in the trials for fineness, the whole lakh is remelted (1) should a coin be found beyond remedy in two successive samples taken at random from the lakh; (2) should more than one coin be found beyond remedy in one sample; or (3) should the melted pyx give a result beyond remedy.

Both in the trials for weight and fineness of rupees in the Calcutta Mint four coins in as many different trials were found to be beyond remedy. A second pyx was in each case examined accordingly, and no second unsatisfactory coin being found in any of them, no reweighments or remeltings were made.

The results of the pyx trials in the Bombay Mint were as follows:

Denomination.	Total number of coins coined.	Number of coins weighed singly.	Number of coins assayed singly.	Number of coins assayed after melting.	Average weight in grains.	Average fineness of coins assayed singly (per mille).	Average fineness of coins assayed after melting (per mille).	Average fineness.	Proportion of gold in pyx coins (per mille).
Rupees	59,600,000	24,925	2,985	683,011	179·996	916·603	916·463	916·464
½ rupees	501,640	125	25	250	89·979	916·72	916·797	916·790
¼ rupees	4,411,000	300	60	1,200	44·995	916·869	916·795	916·789	·248
⅛ rupees	3,260,912	200	40	1,600	22·519	918·951	917·204	917·198

In the trials for weight in the Bombay Mint, one of the rupee deliveries and two half-rupee deliveries had to be readjusted, more than one coin having been found beyond remedy in each of the trials. In the trials for fineness, however, no two coins in one pyx were found beyond remedy, and thus no delivery was remelted during the year.

The comparative results of the pyx trials of 1887-88 of both Mints are shown below:

	Average weight in grains.		Average fineness per mille.
	Calcutta.	Bombay.	Calcutta.	Bombay.
Rupees	180·047	179·996	916·558	916·464
½ rupees	90·025	89·979	916·862	916·790
¼ rupees	44·975	44·995	916·983	916·789
⅛ rupees	22·507	22·519	916·894	917·198

19. Pyx trials in England.—The result of the examination of the pyx coins of the Indian Mints by the Royal Mint at London was reported by the Deputy Master and Comptroller of the Mint in the following terms:

"The standard weight and fineness of the coins have been maintained with accuracy."

20. Standard weights and balances of precision.—During the year the Government of India took into consideration the subject of the adjustment, verification, and custody of the standard weights and balances of precision in the Mint and Assay Offices, and a Committee consisting of the Mint and Assay Masters, Calcutta, was appointed to report on the subject. Their recommendations were adopted by the Government of India in the Resolution in this Department, No. 4405, dated the 11th August 1888, which was published in the Gazette of India of the same date, and steps have since been taken to carry them into effect.

21. The Government of India also, after careful consideration of the proposal to close the Calcutta Mint, which originated with the Bombay Chamber of Commerce, decided to retain the Mint because, amongst other reasons, the economy resulting from the closure would be small compared with the many advantages resulting from the retention of two Mints. This decision was also published in the Gazette of India of the 23rd June 1888.

22. The Governor General in Council acknowledges the efficiency with which the Mints and Assay Departments have been controlled and worked by the officers in charge.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

Ordered also, that copies of this Resolution be forwarded to the Mint Masters, Calcutta and Bombay (with printed copies of the two reports on the working of the Mints), and to the Assay Masters, Calcutta and Bombay (with printed copies of the two reports on the working of the Assay Departments).

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Public Works Department.

System of Recruitment for the Traffic Department of State Railways.

Read again—

Public Works Department Circular No. 25 Railway, dated 2nd November 1880.

Read also—

Public Works Department Circular No. XXI Railway, dated 16th August 1882.

RESOLUTION.—In supersession of all previous orders on the subject, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to rule that the recruiting of the Traffic Department of all State Railways, and the admission and permanent appointment of every candidate, shall, in future, be regulated in accordance with the following rules:

1. The Traffic Department of State Railways will be recruited by—
   (a) Transfer of officers from the Engineering branch of the Public Works Department.
   (b) Promotion of specially qualified men from the subordinate ranks.
   (c) Appointment of qualified Traffic officers in England under covenant for a term of years.
   (d) Appointment of nominees of the Director General of Railways after passing the examination laid down in Public Works Department Code, Vol. I, Appendix C, paragraph 1, which is intended to show that the candidate has received a liberal education.

(a) Appointments from Engineering branch.

2. Officers of the Engineering branch of the Department may be transferred from it to fill vacancies in the Traffic Department. They will be on probation for one year; and before being finally appointed they will be required to pass the examination specified further on in paragraph 8, and an examination in the language of the district in which they are serving equivalent to the Higher Standard in Hindustani—vide paragraphs 6 to 15, Appendix B to Vol. I of Public Works Department Code. Their appointment will be confirmed only on a satisfactory report from the Manager of the Railway on which they have served their term of probation. They will be liable to be sent back to the Engineering Department during their term of probation, or at any time subsequently, in the event of their failing to give satisfaction, or on reduction of establishment. Officers appointed under this section will retain their privileges regarding leave, furlough and pension, &c., &c.

3. Managers will submit from time to time the name of any subordinate whom they recommend for promotion to the superior ranks.

A detailed report on the subordinate recommended should be submitted, dealing specially with his powers of controlling a large staff, his knowledge of the vernacular, his fitness for establishing proper relations with the officers with whom he is serving; his power of maintaining discipline amongst those serving under him; and his qualifications for dealing with the public.

A subordinate thus appointed will be on probation for a year; and if in that time he does not give satisfaction, he will be reverted to the subordinate establishment from which he was taken. At the end of the year the Traffic Superintendent under whom he serves will submit a report similar to that described in paragraph 6(f) below; and if the report is favourable, he will be appointed permanently and without examination.

Subordinates will not, as a rule, be promoted after having passed the age of 30 years, nor should they expect to rise to a higher rate of pay than Rs. 600 per mensem.

The Government of India will, however, be prepared to relax the rules regarding age of promotion and maximum salary in special cases.

(c) Appointments in England.

4. Appointments of qualified Traffic Officers will occasionally be made by the Secretary of State from the employés of English Railways. Such appointments will be under covenant for a term of three years, open to renewal by mutual consent. Officers appointed in England will be required to pass an examination in the vernacular of the district in which they are serving, equivalent to the Higher Standard in Hindustani, within two years after joining their appointment, and will be required to subscribe to the Provident Fund.

(d) Appointment after examination in India.

5. (i) The Examination for the appointment of Probationers to the Traffic Department will be that prescribed for officers of the Superior Accounts Branch in Public Works Department Code, Vol. I, Appendix C, and it will be conducted in the manner prescribed in paragraph 3 of that appendix.

(ii) The following rules will obtain regarding the admission of candidates for examination:

(a) Only such persons as have received a nomination from the Director General of Railways will be qualified to compete. Nominations will be given in the proportion of not less than three to each vacancy.

(b) No person will receive a nomination who fails to satisfy the Director-General—

i. That his age at the time of presenting himself for examination will be above 19 and under 24.

ii. That he has no constitutional affection or bodily infirmity likely to unfit him for Government service.

iii. That he is of good character.

(c) The candidates who obtain the highest aggregate number of marks will be selected to fill the advertised vacancies, as probationers, on salaries ranging from Rs. 100 to Rs. 150 per month.

(d) Successful candidates will be on probation for not less than two years.

During this period of probation they will be required to work as Guard, Station Master, and Traffic Inspector. They will also be required to work in the Traffic Superintendent's Office, and especially in the rates, claims, and train, branches.

(e) The Manager will have power at any time to dispense with the services of any probationer who fails to show promise of becoming an efficient Traffic Officer.

(f) At the end of one year the Traffic Superintendent should submit a detailed report on the probationer to the Manager, dealing especially with the knowledge he has acquired of the work generally, the aptitude he has shown for managing business, and his qualifications generally for dealing with his subordinates, fellow-officers, and the public.

(g) The final appointment of a probationer will depend on his passing the examination laid down in paragraph 8, below, as well as an examination in the language of the district in which he is serving equivalent to the Higher Standard in Hindustani, vide paras. 6 to 15, Appendix B to Vol. I of Public Works Department Code, and on his being favourably reported on by the Manager.

(h) On his satisfying these tests, he will be appointed by the Government of India to the temporary establishment of the State Railway Traffic Department under a covenant for three years, renewable at the expiration of that period by mutual consent.

(i) He will be required to subscribe to the Provident Fund, and his services will be liable to be dispensed with summarily for misconduct or inefficiency, and on three months' notice in the event of a reduction of establishment becoming necessary.

6. The Government of India reserves the right of appointing men who have successfully passed their period of probation, to any class in the Traffic Department for which they are considered to be fitted.

7. Officers appointed to the Traffic Department, under the foregoing rules will, in all respects, be governed by the rules in force, for the time being, on State Railways.

8. The examination referred to in paragraph 2 and section 5 (g) will be held in accordance with the following rules:

i.—The test in departmental work will be conducted by a Committee, consisting of three members, viz., a Manager or Deputy Manager, a Traffic Officer and an Accounts Officer. The Committee to be assembled under orders of the Manager of the Railway as occasion requires. This test will comprise a written and a vivâ voce examination.

ii.—The written examination will consist of two papers or sets of questions,—viz., one on the General Rules for Indian Railways and on the Revenue Code; and the second on the Traffic Manual, Working Orders, and Station Arrangements and Working.

iii.—Two and a half hours will be allowed for answering the questions of each paper, the questions of which should be so arranged as to enable complete answers to be given within that time.

iv.—The vivâ voce examination, lasting about an hour, will embrace subjects connected with the general working of the Department, and relating to any branch of work upon which the candidate may have been particularly engaged. This part of the examination, which must necessarily be left entirely in the hands of the Committee, is intended to test the amount of insight gained by the candidate into the practical working of the Traffic Department.

9. The Committee should report the result of the examination to the Manager of the Railway, with an expression of opinion as to the qualifications of the candidate: the Traffic Superintendent should, at the same time, submit a special report to the Manager, stating his own opinion as to the candidate's fitness for both office and out-door duties, his demeanour towards subordinates, and his general qualifications for the performance of the duties of a District Traffic Officer.

These reports should be forwarded by the Manager with any remarks that may be necessary to the Local Government, or Administration, or the Director General of Railways, as the case may be, for record.

ORDER.—Ordered, that copies of this Resolution be communicated, for information and guidance, to the Local Governments, Administrations and officers marginally noted.

The Committee should then discuss how far the accounts, &c., proposed to be retained can be simplified in order to lessen the labour in executive engineers' offices.

6. The Committee is empowered to take the evidence of local officers of experience, on subjects which fall within the scope of the Committee's duties, to which end Local Governments are requested to give facilities to such officers to communicate with, or appear before, the Committee.

7. The sittings of the Committee at each place should be publicly notified by the president, and it will be open to any contiguous Administration as well as to the Province in which the Committee sits, to send evidence or opinions before the Committee.

Guillaume, Director-General of Direct Taxes, Customs, and Excise in his Ministry of Finance, Grand Officer of his Order of Leopold; and M. His Majesty the King of Spain, and in his name the Queen Regent of the Kingdom,—M. del Mazo, his Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary, Senator of the Kingdom, Grand Cross of the Royal Order of Charles III, Grand Cross of the Order of Isabella the Catholic, &c., &c.; M. Batanero, Deputy of the Cortes of the Kingdom, Grand Cross of the Order of Isabella the Catholic, &c., &c.; and M. Dupuy de Lome, his Minister Resident, Commander of the Number of the Royal Order of Charles III;

His Majesty the King of Italy,—the Count di Robilant, his Ambassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary, Grand Cross of the Order of St. Maurice and St. Lazarus, Grand Cross of the Order of the Crown of Italy, Knight Commander of the Military Order of the House of Savoy; and M. Catalani, his Councillor of Embassy, Knight Commander of the Order of the Crown of Italy, Officer of the Order of St. Maurice and St. Lazarus;

His Majesty the King of the Netherlands,—the Baron Gevers, his Chargé d'Affaires ad interim in London; and M. William Arnold Peter Verkerk Pistorius, Knight of the Order of the Netherlands Lion, &c., &c., Director-General of Direct Taxes, Customs, and Excise in his Ministry of Finance;

His Majesty the Emperor of All the Russias,—M. Bouteneff, his Chargé d'Affaires in London; and M. Kamensky, his Real Councillor of State, Agent of his Ministry of Finance in London;

Who, having exchanged their full powers, found in good and due form, have agreed on the following Articles :

ARTICLE I.

The High Contracting Parties engage to take such measures as shall constitute an absolute and complete guarantee that no open or disguised bounty shall be granted on the manufacture or exportation of sugar.

ARTICLE II.

The High Contracting Parties engage—

To levy the tax on the quantities of sugar intended for consumption without granting on exportation any drawback or repayment of duties, or any writing off which can give rise to any bounty.

To this end, they engage to place in bond, under the permanent supervision both by day and by night of the Revenue authorities, sugar factories and factories which are also refineries, as well as factories for the extraction of sugar from molasses.

For this purpose factories shall be so constructed as to give every guarantee against any surreptitious carrying away of sugar, and the said authorities shall have power to enter all parts of the factories.

Controlling books shall be kept on one or more of the processes of manufacture, and finished sugars shall be placed in special storehouses giving all proper guarantees of security.

As an exception to the principle mentioned in the first paragraph of this Article, repayment or writing off may be granted of the tax on sugar used in the manufacture of chocolate and other produce intended to be exported, provided no bounty is produced thereby.

ARTICLE III.

The High Contracting Parties engage to place sugar refineries under the same system as sugar factories.

Each country may nevertheless keep a refining account, as a means of control, by the system of saccharimetry or any other supplementary control, in order to prevent a bounty on exportation.

ARTICLE IV.

Her Britannic Majesty's Government agree not to impose differential duties on cane or beet sugar imported from countries, provinces beyond the seas, Colonies, or foreign possessions taking part in the Convention. As long as the Convention lasts, therefore, no higher duties shall be imposed on beet-root sugar than on cane sugar on importation into the United Kingdom or into the Colonies and foreign possessions of the British Empire taking part in the Convention. It is agreed, moreover, that sugar imported into the United Kingdom from the countries, provinces beyond the seas, Colonies, and foreign possessions taking part in the Convention shall not be subject to duties which shall not equally apply to similar sugar of national origin or manufacture.

ARTICLE V.

The High Contracting Parties and their provinces beyond the seas, Colonies, or foreign possessions which do not tax sugar, or which grant on the exportation of raw sugar, refined sugar, molasses, or glucose, neither drawback, repayment, nor writing off of duties or quantities, are absolved from abiding by the provisions of Articles II and III so long as they maintain one of these systems. In case of any change they shall adopt the system established by Articles II and III.

Russia, which levies the tax at one single rate on the whole amount manufactured, and which grants on the exportation of all kinds of sugar a repayment not exceeding such rate, is put on the same footing as the Powers specified in the preceding paragraph, so long as its present system is maintained.

ARTICLE VI.

The High Contracting Parties engage to establish a permanent International Commission charged with watching the execution of the provisions of the present Convention.

This Commission shall be composed of Delegates of the different Powers; a Permanent Bureau will be connected with it.

The Delegates shall be instructed—

(a) To ascertain whether the Laws, Orders, and Regulations respecting taxes on sugar are in harmony with the principles laid down in the preceding Articles, and whether in practice any open or disguised bounty is granted on the exportation of sugar, molasses, or glucose.

(b) To pronounce an opinion on contested points ("questions litigieuses").

(c) To consider ("d'instruire") requests for admission to the Union made by States not having taken part in the present Convention.

The Permanent Bureau shall collect, translate, arrange, and publish information of all kinds respecting legislation on and statistics of sugar, not in contracting countries only, but in all other countries as well.

In order to insure the execution of the preceding provisions, the High Contracting Parties shall transmit, through the diplomatic channel, to Her Britannic Majesty's Government, which shall forward them to the Commission, the Laws, Orders, and Regulations on the taxation of sugar which are or may be in force in their respective countries, as well as statistical information relative to the object of the present Convention.

Each of the High Contracting Parties may be represented on the Commission by a Delegate, or by a Delegate and an Assistant Delegate.

The first meeting of the Permanent Commission shall be held in London after the coming into force of the present Convention.

The Commission shall be charged with controlling and examining only. It shall draw up a Report on all questions submitted to it, and forward the same to Her Britannic Majesty's Government, which shall communicate it to the Powers interested, and, at the request of any one of the High Contracting Powers, shall convoke a Conference, which shall take such decisions or measures as circumstances demand.

The expenses incurred on account of the establishment and working of the Permanent Bureau and of the Commission—excepting the salaries or expenses of the Delegates, who will be paid by their respective countries—shall be borne by all the contracting countries, and shall be divided among them in a manner to be determined by the Commission.

ARTICLE VII.

From the date of the present Convention coming into force all raw sugar, refined sugar, molasses, or glucose coming from any countries, provinces beyond the seas, Colonies, or foreign possessions maintaining the system of open or disguised bounties on the manufacture or exportation of sugar, shall be excluded from the territories of the High Contracting Parties.

Any Contracting Power shall, in order to exclude from its territory raw sugar, refined sugar, molasses, or glucose that has benefited by open or disguised bounties, take the measures necessary therefor, either by prohibiting these articles altogether, or by levying thereon a duty, which must necessarily exceed the amount of the bounty, and which shall not be levied on sugar not bounty-fed coming from the contracting countries.

The High Contracting Parties shall concert as to the measures which the Commission may consider necessary in order to obtain these results, and to prevent bounty-fed sugar passing in transit through one of the contracting countries from enjoying any of the advantages of the Convention.

The fact of the existence in any country, province beyond the seas, Colony, or foreign possession of a system involving open or disguised bounties on raw sugar, refined sugar, molasses, or glucose shall be established by the decision of a majority of the Signatory Powers of the present Convention. In the same manner, the minimum amount of the bounties in question shall be determined.

It is agreed that privileges under the most-favoured-nation clause existing in other Treaties shall not be pleaded with a view to evading the consequences of the application of the second paragraph of the present Article, even on the part of such Signatory States as may hereafter withdraw from the Convention.

ARTICLE VIII.

States which have not taken part in the present Convention may adhere to the same on their request, provided their Laws and Regulations in the matter of sugar are in agreement with the principles of the present Convention, and have been previously submitted for the approval of the High Contracting Parties in the manner laid down in Article VI.

ARTICLE IX.

The present Convention shall be put in force from the 1st September, 1891.

It shall remain in force for ten years from that day, and in case no one of the High Contracting Parties shall have notified, twelve months before the expiration of the said period of ten years, its intention of terminating the effects thereof, it will remain in force for another year, and so on from year to year.

Each of the High Contracting Parties may, however, by denouncing the Convention twelve months beforehand, put an end to it, as regards such Power, at the expiration of the second, fourth, sixth, and eighth years of the said period of ten years.

In case one of the Signatory Powers should denounce the Convention, such denunciation shall affect that Power only; but the other Powers are entitled, until the 31st October of the year in which denunciation takes place, to notify their intention of retiring from the 1st August of the following year.

Should more than one Power wish to retire, a Conference of the Contracting Powers shall meet in London within three months to determine what steps should be taken.

ARTICLE X.

The provisions of the present Convention shall be applied to the provinces beyond the seas, Colonies, and foreign possessions of the High Contracting Parties.

In case one of such provinces beyond the seas, Colonies, and foreign possessions of the High Contracting Parties should wish to retire separately from the Convention, a notification to that effect will be made to the Contracting Powers by the Government of the mother country, in the manner and with the consequences shown in Article IX.

ARTICLE XI.

The execution of the reciprocal engagements contained in the present Convention is, in so far as necessary, subject to the formalities and rules established by the Constitutions of each of the contracting countries.

The present Convention shall be ratified, and the ratifications exchanged in London, on the 1st August, 1890, or sooner if possible.

In witness whereof, the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the present Convention and have attached their seals thereto.

In order to insure the execution of the preceding provisions, the High Contracting Parties shall transmit, through the diplomatic channel, to Her Britannic Majesty's Government, which shall forward them to the Commission, the Laws, Orders, and Regulations on the taxation of sugar which are or may be in force in their respective countries, as well as statistical information relative to the object of the present Convention.

Each of the High Contracting Parties may, however, by denouncing the Convention twelve months beforehand, put an end to it, as regards such Power, at the expiration of the second, fourth, sixth, and eighth years of the said period of ten years.

In case one of the Signatory Powers should denounce the Convention, such denunciation shall affect that Power only; but the other Powers are entitled, until the 31st October of the year in which denunciation takes place, to notify their intention of retiring from the 1st August of the following year.

Should more than one Power wish to retire, a Conference of the Contracting Powers shall meet in London within three months to determine what steps should be taken.

ARTICLE X.

The provisions of the present Convention shall be applied to the provinces beyond the seas, Colonies, and foreign possessions of the High Contracting Parties.

In case one of such provinces beyond the seas, Colonies, and foreign possessions of the High Contracting Parties should wish to retire separately from the Convention, a notification to that effect will be made to the Contracting Powers by the Government of the mother country, in the manner and with the consequences shown in Article IX.

ARTICLE XI.

The execution of the reciprocal engagements contained in the present Convention is, in so far as necessary, subject to the formalities and rules established by the Constitutions of each of the contracting countries.

The present Convention shall be ratified, and the ratifications exchanged in London, on the 1st August, 1890, or sooner if possible.

In witness whereof, the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the present Convention and have attached their seals thereto.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

SIKKIM.

No. 889.—His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the subjoined letter from the Adjutant-General in India, submitting, under the orders of the Commander-in-Chief in India, a despatch from Brigadier-General T. Graham, commanding the Sikkim Field Force, reporting the particulars of his defeat of the Tibetan Army in the neighbourhood of Gnathong, in Sikkim, on the 24th September, 1888, and the subsequent pursuit to the Chambi valley.

2. The Governor-General in Council entirely concurs in the approval expressed by the Commander-in-Chief of the excellent manner in which Brigadier-General Graham has exercised the command of the Sikkim Field Force throughout the operations in that country, and especially in regard to the skill evinced by him in seizing the right moment for assuming the offensive, and the vigour and ability with which the attack was carried out, resulting in the complete defeat and dispersion of the enemy, with very small loss to the British troops.

3. His Excellency in Council desires to convey the cordial acknowledgments of the Government of India to Brigadier-General Graham and the officers and troops under his command, whose conduct, not only throughout the operations but during the whole period of the expedition, under circumstances of unusual climatic severity, merits high commendation.

From Major-General W. K. Elles, C.B., Adjutant-General in India, to the Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department,—(No. 5570A, dated Simla, 16th October, 1888).

No. 147, dated 2nd October, 1888.

I have the honor, by direction of the Commander-in-Chief in India, to submit, for the information of the Government of India, a despatch, as per margin, from Brigadier-General T. Graham, Commanding the Sikkim Expeditionary Force, detailing the operations between the 24th and 27th ultimo, which resulted in the capture of the passes north of Gnathong, leading into Tibet, and the complete defeat of the Tibetan forces and their expulsion from the Sikkim State.

2. During the months immediately preceding the action now described, and since the attack on the post of Gnathong by the Tibetans, active operations have been suspended owing to the heavy rains, which, in this inhospitable region, preclude the movement of troops.

The duty of the force has in consequence been confined to watching the enemy, and checking any material inroad into the protected territory of Sikkim.

The Tibetans during this period had advanced their forces, occupying and fortifying the Jalap and Pemberingo passes; and latterly, becoming emboldened, they had invaded the Kupup valley lying at the foot of the passes on the Sikkim side.

3. Brigadier-General Graham, acting on instructions from head-quarters, did not interfere with the proceedings of the Tibetans, but waited for the breaking up of the rains to expel the enemy from the invaded territory.

His orders were to move when the weather permitted, to expel the enemy from the Sikkim State, and to inflict exemplary punishment on them. He was at liberty to cross the passes into Tibet, and to follow the enemy as far as might be necessary to effect the above object, bearing in mind that it was not desired to occupy Tibet, and that the force was to return to Sikkim as soon as the defeat of the enemy had been completed.

4. The advance of the Tibetans on the night of the 23rd September, and the occupation of the Tukola ranges, within sight of the fort of Gnathong, together with some improvement in the weather, afforded the desired opportunity for action, advantage of which was promptly taken. The operations of the force are fully described in the despatch.

5. The complete manner in which Brigadier-General Graham has given effect to his instructions, the general intelligence which he has displayed throughout the operations in Sikkim, the patience exhibited when inaction was imperative, and the skill in seizing the right moment to attack, by doing which he completely defeated and demoralized the large Tibetan force with a minimum of loss to his own troops, have the entire approval of the Commander-in-Chief.

6. In no less degree do the patience and endurance of the officers and soldiers of all ranks during the trying period occupied by this campaign, as well as their bearing in action with the enemy, merit praise and commendation. Confined within the limits of the Gnathong post and valley, at an elevation of 12,600 feet, during the wettest season of the year, and occupied only in patrolling in rain and discomfort and observing the encroachments of the Tibetans, it required no small exercise of zeal to maintain a cheerful spirit.

7. The conduct of the force has nevertheless been exemplary, and their discipline and bearing all that could be desired; and the Commander-in-Chief has much pleasure in commending Brigadier-General Graham and the force under his command to the favorable notice of the Governor-General in Council.

8. The severe wounds sustained by Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Benjamin P. Bromhead, Bart., commanding the 32nd Pioneers, will, it is feared, deprive the army of his services for some time to come. This officer has, throughout the campaign, held the position of second-in-command to Brigadier-General Graham, and has merited the confidence and approval of his General and of the Commander-in-Chief. His Excellency, in submitting this despatch, fully endorses the terms of commendation in which the named regimental and staff and departmental officers of the force are mentioned by the Brigadier-General commanding.

9. Returns of casualties during the recent operations are appended.

From Brigadier-General T. Graham, Commanding the Sikkim Expeditionary Force, to the Adjutant-General in India,—(No. 147, dated Camp Gnathong, 2nd October, 1888).

I have the honor to forward, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, a report of the operations resulting in the capture of the passes leading into Tibet, and the defeat of the Tibetan army commanded by Gnabu Depen.

2. At daybreak on the morning of the 24th ultimo, it could be seen from Fort Gnathong that the Tibetans had occupied in force the whole range of hills from the Tukola Peak on the west, past Mount Paul, to the Trigonometrical point on the east, and had also placed an advanced post on an isolated hill in the upper Gnathong valley. The greater part of this position, which is nearly three miles in length, appeared to be strengthened by a stone wall some three or four feet in height. The enemy announced his presence by loud shouts and the frequent discharge of jinjals, and also some cannon of a larger size, which were placed at intervals. Considering that the position could not have been occupied until some time after dark the previous evening, I estimate that at least 7,000 men must have been at work during the night.

3. As it soon became evident that the Tibetans did not intend to advance nearer to Gnathong, I decided to assume the offensive.

4. Before starting, the men had their breakfasts, and a day's cooked rations per man was arranged for, to be carried in their havresacks. The mules were also ordered in from Shalambi, and the men's kits packed ready to be sent on after the advancing columns, as well as two days' rations, which had previously been made over to regiments in view of an advance.

5. By 8 A.M. all was ready, and the force advanced to the attack in three columns as follows:

(1) The Left Column, under my personal command, was composed of the troops shown in the margin. This column was to advance past No. IV block-house, up the south side of the ridge leading to the Tukola Peak, which was the key to the enemy's position, as from it the remainder of his line of defence could be enfiladed.

1 company, 2-1st Gurkha Regiment (advance guard).
2 companies, 2-1st Gurkha Regiment.
4 guns, No. 9-1st, Northern Division, Royal Artillery.
3 companies, 2-1st Gurkha Regiment.
3 companies and headquarters, 2nd Battalion Derbyshire Regiment.

(2) The Centre Column, as per margin, under command of Lieutenant-Colonel Sir B. P. Bromhead, Bart., 32nd Pioneers, was directed to proceed up the main Tukola road, keeping level with the left column, to which it was to act as a right flank guard.

Centre Column—Strength.
3 companies, 32nd Pioneers.

(3) The Right Column, as per margin, under command of Major H. C. Halkett, 32nd Pioneers, was directed to proceed to the Saddle Back, north-east of Woodcock Hill, and hold its position there, with a view to meeting any forward movement of the enemy's left, and also to deceive him as to our real point of attack.

Right Column—Strength.
1 company, 2nd Battalion Derbyshire Regiment.
2 companies, 32nd Pioneers.
2 Foit guns (worked by Pioneers).

6. Major T. H. Goldney, 32nd, Pioneers, was left in command of the fort, with three companies of his regiment and small guards of the 2nd Battalion Derbyshire Regiment and 2-1st Gurkha Regiment.

7. At about 9-30 A.M. the guns of the Right Column came into action against the enemy's walls in the centre of the valley, and made excellent practice. They were assisted by volleys from a section of the Derbyshire Regiment; and about 10 A.M. the occupants of the walls were seen retiring rapidly towards Mount Paul.

8. The Centre Column next became engaged, at about 10 A.M., having got somewhat ahead of the left column, owing to having an easier road to traverse, and also to the mist, which covered the whole valley shortly after the advance began, rendering it almost impossible to maintain communication with the left column. About a quarter of an hour later, Colonel Sir B. P. Bromhead had made his way without loss to a point on the road some 300 yards from the Tukola Pass; and here he halted, sending Lieutenant Holland with a small party to the top of the hill on his immediate left.

9. At 10 A.M. the Left Column had reached a peak 800 yards from the Tukola, and the guns fired two or three rounds at the enemy's fortifications on the Peak, taking advantage of a transient glimpse of his position obtained through the mist. At 10-30 the Gurkhas of the advance-guard reached the hill occupied by Lieutenant Holland's party; and both they and the Pioneers on the road below opened a hot fire on the enemy, which was replied to vigorously all along their line of walls, but with little effect, as most of their bullets passed harmlessly over our heads, and only two Pioneers were slightly wounded.

10. Ten minutes later, our men having recovered their breath, I directed Captain Robinson, who was in command of the three leading companies of Gurkhas, to storm the Tukola Peak, taking with him Lieutenant Holland's party of Pioneers. This was done in capital style; Colonel Sir B. P. Bromhead's party at the same time advancing along the road, straight at the pass itself. The Tibetans waited until our men were within fifty yards of them, and then turned and fled, their walls being at once occupied by the Gurkhas and Pioneers, who opened a hot fire on the fugitives. On seeing their right turned, the remainder of the Tibetans apparently considered further resistance hopeless, and the flight became general along their whole line.

11. The guns were at once brought into action on the Tukola Peak, against the enemy, who were retreating over the Nimla Pass. Colonel Sir B. P. Bromhead, with the Pioneers, was directed to pursue along the main road, two companies of the Gurkhas being with him and the Derbyshire in close support, whilst Lieutenant-Colonel Rogers, with the remainder of the Gurkhas, took the direct road along the ridge towards Mount Paul, keeping one company in the valley on his left.

The guns advanced as soon as their fire was masked by the advancing infantry; and by noon the whole of the centre and right columns was concentrated at the Nimla Pass, with the exception of the Gurkhas under Lieutenant-Colonel Rogers, who had pursued the enemy over Mount Paul to the entrance to the Pemberingo Pass, where they had halted.

12. I now halted and allowed the men to rest, whilst I prepared for the attack on the passes.

13. I despatched the Pioneers of the Centre Column, who were now commanded by Lieutenant Holland, owing to Colonel Sir B. P. Bromhead having been severely wounded shortly after leaving the Tukola Pass, to join the right column, which had advanced to Mount Paul; and directed Major Halkett to send his company of the Derbyshire Regiment to join me, and with the remainder of his force hold in check the Pemberingo Tibetans, whilst I attacked the Jalap Pass. At the same time I signalled to Colonel Rogers to move to the north end of the Bidangcho Lake, and halt until I joined him. A message was also sent to the detachment of the 13th Bengal Infantry at Shalambi to join me as soon as possible.

14. By 2 P.M. all necessary movements were completed, and I moved forward against the Jalap Pass. The force advanced in the order shown in the margin; and as soon as the entrance to the Jalap Valley was reached, the guns came into action, two on the spur on the left bank of the stream and two on some high ground immediately below, firing first at the lower and afterwards at the centre Jalap wall. At the same time the infantry formed for attack in the valley itself, the Derbyshire on the left of the road and the Gurkhas parallel to them on the right.

Order of march against Jalap Pass.
1 company, Derbyshire Regiment (advance-guard).
1 company, Derbyshire Regiment.
4 guns, No. 9-1st, Northern Division, Royal Artillery (with escort of 50 Gurkhas).
1 company, Derbyshire Regiment.
5½ companies, 1st Gurkha Regiment.

15. The Tibetans replied to the guns but feebly with jinjals and matchlocks; and after a few rounds had been fired, I directed the infantry to advance. On their approach the enemy retreated rapidly, and the lower and centre walls were occupied successively almost without opposition.

16. The force bivouacked in the pass; and as the baggage did not come up until after midnight, and the rain came down heavily, the men passed an uncomfortable night.

17. The next morning (25th) the pursuit was continued over the pass to Rinchagong, distance about ten miles, the column being formed as shown in the margin. But little resistance was encountered en route, only a few long shots being fired at the advance guard; but our progress was much impeded by the rough and precipitous nature of the road, which was covered with large rocks and boulders. The enemy had, moreover, broken down three out of the seven bridges over which the road passes, thus causing additional delays.

Order of march across Jalap Pass.
1 company, Derbyshire Regiment (advance-guard).
3 companies, Derbyshire Regiment.
4 guns, No. 9-1st, Northern Division, Royal Artillery.
6 companies, 1st Gurkha Regiment.
Detachment, 13th Bengal Infantry (rear guard).

18. Rinchagong was reached at 4 P.M., and beyond a few shots fired as soon as we came in sight and replied to by the advance guard, it was undefended. The enemy's loss was four or five killed in the village, and several fugitives were also shot. As we entered the village, a stream of men flying from the direction of Pemberingo could be seen coming down a ridge to the south: on perceiving us, however, they turned off in the direction of Bhutan.

19. The night was passed without molestation, though several Tibetans, who endeavoured to pass the Derbyshire picquet, which was on the Pemberingo road, were shot.

20. The next morning (26th) the force proceeded to Chambi, three miles up the Mochi River, the bivouac for the night being at Myatong, two miles on the Jalap side of Rinchagong.

21. The enemy appeared to be completely disorganized and thoroughly beaten and dispirited, not a single shot being fired at the force during the march to Chambi.

22. The day following, the 27th ultimo, the force returned to Gnathong, a long march of fifteen miles, the ascent to the summit of the Jalap Pass being particularly trying both for men and animals, and the difficulties of the road being much increased by the pouring rain.

23. The number of the enemy opposed to us on the 24th ultimo was, so far as can be ascertained, about 11,000, of which some 8,000 advanced to the Tukola Ridge. They possessed about twenty jinjals and small cannon, but these were withdrawn early in the fight and either hidden or carried away, and frequent search parties, subsequently sent out, have failed to discover them. One six-pounder brass smooth-bore field gun, complete with carriage, was captured and brought to Gnathong. Large quantities of powder, arrows, and other warlike stores were destroyed at Rinchagong.

24. The Tibetan loss may be estimated at 400 killed, and at least as many more wounded. About 200 prisoners remained in our hands, but many of those captured across the passes, being wounded, were released.

25. Our loss was, Lieutenant-Colonel Sir B. P. Bromhead, Bart., commanding the 32nd Pioneers, severely wounded; one sepoy, 2-1st Gurkha Regiment, severely wounded; and two sepoys, 32nd Pioneers, slightly wounded. I attach a report of the casualties.

26. I would further wish to record my high opinion of the behaviour of the troops throughout these operations. Not only was the fire well-controlled during action, as is evidenced by the fact that some eight or nine per cent. of shots fired took effect, but during the subsequent pursuit, which involved much hard work and more than ordinary exposure to wet and cold, the spirit evinced by all ranks could not have been surpassed. Officers and men vied with one another in exhibiting a cheerfulness under difficulties and a determination to overcome them, which I gladly take this opportunity of bringing to His Excellency's notice.

27. In conclusion, I beg specially to mention the following officers:

Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Benjamin P. Bromhead, Bart., commanding the 32nd Pioneers, has, throughout the campaign, been of the greatest assistance to me, and on this occasion especially was conspicuous by the able manner in which he conducted the advance of the centre column. The loss which the force has sustained by his being severely wounded can hardly be overestimated.

My thanks are also due to Lieutenant-Colonel J. McCleverty, commanding the 2nd Battalion, Derbyshire Regiment, Lieutenant-Colonel G. W. Rogers, commanding the 2-1st Gurkha Regiment, and Major J. Keith, commanding the Royal Artillery, for the manner in which they assisted me in carrying out my plans; and also to Major H. C. Halkett, 32nd Pioneers, for the admirable way in which the advance of the right column was conducted.

Being obliged to leave some officer upon whom I could rely in command of the fort, I selected Major T. H. Goldney, 32nd Pioneers, for this duty, which he performed in the most satisfactory manner.

I would bring especially to notice the conduct of Captain G. H. Robinson, 1-1st Gurkha Regiment (attached to 2-1st Gurkha Regiment), and Lieutenant G. L. Holland, 34th Pioneers (officiating Adjutant, 32nd Pioneers), during the assault on the Tukola, the capture of which decided the fate of the day. On the latter officer devolved the command of that portion of the 32nd Pioneers which formed the Centre Column after Colonel Sir B. P. Bromhead was wounded; and though he has been but a short time with the regiment, I was able to see that he had thorough control over his men, and kept them well in hand.

To Captain E. A. Travers, 1-2nd Gurkha Regiment, Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General of the Expeditionary Force, I am deeply indebted. His tact and judgment, his careful attention to detail, and the very frequent reconnaissances he has made, have been on all occasions of the greatest assistance to me; and I would especially wish to record how much I appreciate his valuable services.

To Captain H. Mansfield, Chief Commissariat Officer, my special thanks are due, not only for the able and untiring manner in which he has throughout supervised commissariat and transport matters, but especially for his admirable arrangements on this occasion, owing to which the successful advance of the force to Chambi was very largely due.

The medical arrangements of the force were carried out satisfactorily by Surgeon-Major R. H. Carew, Medical Staff, senior medical officer with the Force.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

HAZARA.

No. 978.—His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the subjoined letter from the Adjutant-General in India, forwarding a despatch from Major-General McQueen, C.B., A.-D.-C., reporting the operations of the Hazara Field Force during the late campaign.

The Governor-General in Council cordially endorses the opinions expressed by the Commander-in-Chief in India regarding the skilful manner in which the operations have been carried out, the good conduct and discipline of the troops, and the cheerful endurance by all ranks composing the force, of the hardships to which they were exposed.

His Excellency in Council notes with much satisfaction the reports of the efficient manner in which the onerous duties of the Commissariat and the other Departments of the Army, and of the Telegraph Department, were performed, and the rapidity with which the considerable transport required for the force was collected.

The efficient assistance rendered by the troops of the Maharaja of Kashmir and Jamu, the contingent of the Khaibari Rifles, and the local levies, and the cordial co-operation of the Nawab of Amb, have also been noticed with much satisfaction by the Government of India.

The Governor-General in Council joins with Sir Frederick Roberts and the General Officers under whom they served in deploring the loss to the army of the services of the gallant and accomplished officers,—Colonel Crookshank and Captain Beley,—who fell in the discharge of their duty.

The Governor-General desires finally to tender his acknowledgments to General McQueen and the officers and troops under his command for the successful results of the expedition. His Excellency in Council recognizes with the Commander-in-Chief that they testify to the efficiency and high spirit which characterise the Army of India.

No. 191-F-C, dated Hd.-Qrs., Lala Musa, 27th Nov. 1888.

From—Maj.-Genl. W. K. ELLES, C.B., Adjutant-General in India.

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Military Department.

BY direction of the Commander-in-Chief in India, I have the honor to submit herewith, for the information of the Government of India, a despatch* from Major-General J. W. McQueen, C.B., Aide-de-Camp, reporting the operations of the Hazara Field Force.

* Dated Abbottabad, 19th November 1888.

2. The instructions of the Government of India for the conduct of operations against the Black Mountain tribes were communicated to the Commander-in-Chief in Military Department letter No. 95-H, dated 24th September 1888, and His Excellency's orders to Major-General McQueen, in pursuance of the instructions of Government, were made known to that officer in this department letter No. 5040-A, dated 25th September 1888, copy of which was duly submitted for the information of Government. The instructions may be summarised as follows:—

I.—To coerce into submission the Akazais and the Khan Khel of the Hassanzais.

II.—All other tribes and sections upon the Black Mountain not to be molested if they remained quiet.

III.—The punishment to be inflicted upon any other tribes or sections which might join against us, to be for the consideration of the General commanding.

IV.—The march on Thakot to be reserved for further orders.

V.—When once the operations had begun the General commanding, while governing his operations as far as possible in accordance with the above, to have authority to act (in communication with the Political officer accompanying the force) according to his own judgment in dealing with any development of the situation which might arise.

Subsequently, authority was received by Major-General McQueen to march on Thakot and to visit the Allai territory with the object of settling the outstanding demands against that tribe.

3. Major-General McQueen's despatch reports fully the effect which has been given to his instructions and the results attained by the expedition. The Hassanzais and Akazais have been completely subdued and brought to terms. The Parari Saiads, who molested us, were duly punished, and the Tikariwals and Nandiharis submitted without opposition. The Chagarzais, some of whom joined in resisting the advance of the River Column through Hassanzai territory, were invited to send in their jirgah and were subsequently summoned, but no further action with regard to them was considered advisable previous to the withdrawal of the force.

With regard to the military conduct of the operations, His Excellency desires to record his entire approval of the skilful manner in which the submission of the Hassanzai and Akazai tribes was brought about and the discomfiture of the Hindustani fanatics effected. The action of the River Column and the later co-operation of the 3rd Column may, in the opinion of the Commander-in-Chief, be regarded as a model of how expeditions of this description should be conducted. The punitive measures against the Parari Saiads were also directed with judgment and good effect.

4. The Commander-in-Chief cordially endorses the terms of praise in which the discipline and bearing of the troops are spoken of by the General officer of the force. Officers and soldiers of all ranks have cheerfully endured hardship and exposure, and both in action and in bivouac have conducted themselves in a manner befitting the traditions of the British Army. His Excellency has much pleasure in commending the troops composing the force to the high consideration of the Government of India.

5. The troops of the Maharaja of Kashmir, the contingent of the Khaibari Rifles and the local levies contributed to the success of the expedition, and the good conduct and efficiency of the Khaibaris, who were engaged throughout the operations, elicited the admiration of all and deserve special praise. The hearty assistance afforded by the Nawab of Amb and the promptitude with which the demand for boats was complied with, facilitated in no small degree the advance along the Indus, and merit the thanks of Government.

6. The working of the departments of the army left nothing to be desired, and the efficiency of one and all was evidenced throughout. Conspicuous among them was the commissariat, and the rapidity with which the considerable transport required for the force was collected and the success which attended the collection, so as to keep pace with the concentration of the troops, is commendable.

His Excellency cannot refrain from noticing with special approbation the Telegraph Department which, although outside the organisation of the army, fulfilled the utmost requirements of a commander in the field. The enterprise with which the telegraph line was carried forward with the advance, and its efficient working throughout, are specially commendable. In conjunction with the telegraph must be mentioned the highly successful organisation of the signalling staff, by means of whom communication was kept up with detached posts, both by day and night. Pioneering was effected to a degree hitherto unsurpassed, and the practicable mule paths rapidly constructed on hitherto inaccessible slopes remain to impress the tribes on the border with a sense of their insecurity against a hostile visit, should they again offend.

7. The names of the officers specially brought to notice are recorded in the enclosures, and His Excellency concurs in the terms in which they are severally mentioned. Sir Frederick Roberts joins with Generals McQueen and Galbraith in deploring the loss to the army of two gallant and accomplished officers: Colonel Crookshank had distinguished himself as an experienced soldier and a skilful leader of troops, and Captain Beley as a valuable staff officer of great promise.

The list of officers who in His Excellency's opinion may be fittingly rewarded for the expedition, will be submitted hereafter.

8. In conclusion, the Commander-in-Chief would express a hope that the records of this expedition will convey to the Government of India the assurance that the army of India is in an efficient condition and ready to undertake any military operations which may be assigned to it.

Dated Abbottabad, 19th Nov. 1888.

From—Maj.-Genl. J. W. McQUEEN, C.B, A.-D.-C., Comdg. Hazara Field Force.
To—The Adjutant-General in India.

IN obedience to your telegram, dated Sinjawi, 16th October 1888, I have the honor to submit, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, my despatches relative to the movements of the Hazara Field Force since its concentration on the 1st October till its dispersal, which was finally concluded on the 17th November, under the authority of Quartermaster-General's telegram No. 132-F-C, dated 10th November 1888.

2. Scope and limitation of operations.—Your letter No. 5040-A, dated 25th September 1888, with its enclosures, conveyed to me the scope and limitation of the expedition to the Black Mountain, and the policy to be observed in the conduct of operations.

These were defined in para. 3 of letter No. 2073-F, dated Simla, 21st September 1888, as under:—

* * * * * * *

"The object in view is to coerce into submission the Akazais and the Khan Khel section of Hassanzais. All other tribes and sections upon the Black Mountain may be informed that the expedition is not directed against them, and that if they remain quiet, they will not be molested.

"With regard to the proposed march on Thakot, I am to enquire whether, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, an advance in that direction would so far improve the prospects of future tranquillity as to compensate for the inconvenience of thus extending the military operations.

"With regard to the terms to be imposed upon the Akazai and Khan Khel, the Governor-General in Council will not interfere with the Lieutenant-Governor's discretion; but I am to say that we should not accept from them anything less than we have already asked.

"The punishment to be inflicted upon any other tribes or sections which may join against us will be left for the consideration of the General commanding."

* * * * * * *

Subsequently, letter No. 611, dated 8th October 1888, from the Punjab Government, to the Commissioner and Superintendent, Peshawar Division, conveyed the approval of the Government of India under certain conditions to the advance on Thakot and Allai, in the event of a successful termination of operations against the Akazais and Hassanzais.

Telegram dated 22nd October, from His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, conveyed the approval of the Governor-General to the move on Thakot. The terms agreed to by the Government of India are likewise indicated in Foreign Department letter No. 2073-F, dated 21st September 1888.

3. Assembly of force.—Under the instructions conveyed in G. G. O. No. 717 of 7th September, the Hazara Field Force was concentrated at Oghi and Darband by the 1st of October, and I assumed command of the force on the 8th of September. By the 1st October, the last troops had joined the force, with the exception of the 45th Sikhs (detained till the 2nd October on account of cholera), and after roads had been pushed up the Marakadana, Barchar, Sambalbat and Chatta spurs as far as possible, the forward movement of troops commenced.

4. Narrative of events, first phase.—A short narrative of events during the time the force was in the field will best explain the work the troops have had to perform and its results.

As the fourth column, from its isolated position, has not been operating under my orders, I attach General Galbraith's despatch. I also attach General Channer's report.

Nos. 1, 2, 3 Columns.—The operations of the force may conveniently be divided into two phases, i.e.—

I.—The operations against the Akazai and Hassanzai tribes, and the visit to the Machai peak.

II.—The coercion of the Parari Saiads, Tikariwals, and the movements on Thakot and into the Allai country.

The tribes having been granted grace up to noon of the 2nd October to submit to the terms dictated by the Government of India, and having failed to tender their submission, orders were issued for a simultaneous advance of all columns on the 4th instant, and these were carried out in the following manner:—

No. 1 Column moved to Manakadana.

No. 2 Column advanced up the Barchar spur to a point beyond the village of Barchar.

No. 3 Column, accompanied by my head-quarters, moved to Sambalbat village,—the 24th Punjab Infantry, with two guns, Derajat Battery, marching a short distance up the Chatta spur, where they bivouacked.

No. 4 Column, which had moved from Darband to Chamb (immediately on the frontier) the day previously, crossed into Hassanzai territory and moved on Kotkai.

No. 1 Column met with some slight opposition, Nos. 2 and 3 Columns were not opposed, No. 4, after leaving Chamb, discovered the enemy in force in a strong position, with their right resting on the River Indus and their left on the hills, barring the road to Kotkai, about 1½ miles south of that village. Details of the engagement will be found in General Galbraith's despatch. The advanced guard of this column reached Kotkai and bivouacked in the village.

On the 5th October the advance was continued on the Agror side to the crest of the Black Mountain.

No. 1 Column occupied Chittabat, leaving a detachment at Manakadana to hold the line of communications with Dilbori.

No. 2 Column reached Bamphor Gali.

No. 3. Column arrived at Nimal at the top of the Sambalbat spur.

The Khaibar Rifles advanced up the Chejri spur and joined No. 3 Column at Nimal, all the columns reaching their objective points nearly simultaneously.

No. 4 Column halted at Kotkai and reconnoitred the country towards Kunhar.

The following day it was found necessary to clear the Doda Hill, 1¼ miles north of Chittabat, which was occupied by bodies of the enemy, who caused great annoyance to the water picquet of the 1st column.

The enemy offered considerable resistance, and sustained severe loss.

No. 2 Column moved along the crest to Nimal, and occupied the bivouac vacated by the 3rd column. The latter advanced towards Seri, and reached the hamlet of Kaima, about 1½ miles above that village.

The path, which had to be made throughout, lay through thick forest, in which the enemy carried on guerilla warfare, but did not appear in any large numbers.

On the 7th October, having found that the nature of the country rendered it difficult to move a large body of transport animals till the roads had been improved, and there not being sufficient water-supply to meet the requirements of my force at Kaima, I decided to return to the crest of the Black Mountain; accordingly No. 3 Column withdrew to its bivouac on Kaim Gali on the slopes of Akhund Baba in close proximity to No. 2 Column. The enemy, emboldened by our withdrawal, followed up the rear guard of the column. Our losses during the operations in the direction of Seri on the 6th and 7th October were 4 killed and 10 wounded. On the morning of the 7th a reconnaissance under Major Young, 24th Punjab Infantry, was pushed out towards Panji Gali, and returned the same evening, having met with considerable resistance, our loss being 3 killed and 1 wounded. The 4th column made a reconnaissance on the 7th to Tilli, and the boats sent up by the Nawab of Amb arrived at Kotkai

On the 8th October, No. 3 Column reconnoitred as far as Panji Gali, and destroyed some hamlets on the Abu spur towards Ril, two of the Khaibar Rifles being wounded.

From this date all opposition on the part of the Hassanzais ceased.

A reconnaissance was made by the 4th column to Kunhar, returning to Kotkai the same evening.

On the 9th October, bodies of the enemy having assembled at Bilandkot, a Parari Saiad village, it was considered necessary to dislodge them; the village was accordingly shelled by No. 1 Column, several of the enemy being seen to fall. A mixed force from Nos. 2 and 3 Columns, with two guns, under General Channer, moved to Seri, meeting with no opposition.

The Khan Khel villages of Seri (including the tower and fort of Hashim Ali Khan), Silli and Karwai were destroyed, and the force returned to the crest the same evening.

An ultimatum enhancing the terms originally offered was despatched to the Hassanzais.

The Akazais were also informed that unless they submitted by the 10th October, some of their villages would be burnt.

Two companies of the 29th Punjab Infantry occupied Kunhar.

Several attacks having been made on convoys by the inhabitants of the Parari villages of Kangar, Baffa and Sealah, the villages were destroyed on the 10th by the troops at Manakadana.

A combined movement was also made into the Akazai glen; a force consisting of 500 men of No. 1 Column, with two guns, under the command of Colonel Sym, moved down from Chittabat to Biran, an Akazai village concerned in the attack on Major Battye's party.

No opposition was offered; the village was burnt, the force returning to camp.

A column under Colonel O'Grady Haly moved down to Seri, with the object of destroying Upper and Lower Kand, the two principal villages of the Akazais.

From Seri the column descended into the Shal Nullah, and after an arduous ascent reached these villages, which they partially burnt, and returned to bivouac at Seri.

Some opposition was met with during the attack, the enemy's loss being estimated at 13 killed and wounded.

A reconnaissance was made to Palosi and Garhi with the aid of the boats, the force returning to Kotkai in the evening.

During the retirement the rear-guard became engaged with the enemy, and had two men wounded.

On the 11th instant (No. 1 Column), Colonel Hammond, with 350 men, partially burnt the village of Saidra.

No. 2 Column reconnoitred from Seri towards Sabai.

On this day I proceeded to Panji Gali and opened heliographic communication with General Galbraith, who had arrived on that day at Kunhar with No. 4 Column.

On the 12th General Channer assumed command of the mixed column at Seri, and moved bivouac to Karun. He subsequently, with a portion of the force, proceeded to Betband en route to Kunhar.

On the 13th I inspected No. 1 Column at Chittabat, and was informed by heliograph of the arrival of General Channer at Kunhar.

A detachment under Colonel Waterfield from Karun burnt the Khan Khel village of Maira and some hamlets on the Sabai spur.

Colonel Sunderland with another force burnt the village of Ril.

These two detachments covered the advance of General Channer's reconnaissance to Kunhar.

On this date Colonel Pratt, in command of the 2nd Sikhs, moved from Kulakka by the Unar route towards Darband, detaching 200 men under Colonel Hastings to Tilli via Pabal Gali. The force under General Galbraith crossed the river at daybreak and completely destroyed the Hindustani fort and settlement of Maidan.

No opposition was met with, though large bodies of the enemy were gathered on the hills.

Colonel Hastings occupied Tilli, and returned to Pabal Gali the same day en route to rejoin the head-quarters of his regiment.

Colonel Pratt assumed command of the 4th column.

On the 15th October General Channer's force reached Karun.

A mixed detachment of 450 men under Major Young, 24th Punjab Infantry was sent to Panji Gali to improve the road along the crest to Pabal Gali.

On the 16th the destruction of the Parari village of Saidra was completed, some slight opposition being experienced. Our casualties were three wounded, the enemy's loss being reported as seven. The pole of the dandy lost by Major Battye's party was found in the village

On this date the Kashmir Contingent arrived at the Chattar plain in Konsh.

On the 17th nothing of importance occurred.

The next day General Channer from Karun completed the destruction of Upper and Lower Kand, taking six prisoners during the operation.

On the return of the force to Karun a full Akazai jirga came into General Channer's camp, and were forwarded under escort to my head-quarters.

Major Young, 24th Punjab Infantry, from Panji Gali, completed the destruction of the Abu and Ril hamlets, these being the personal property of Hashim Ali Khan.

On the 19th a combined force from Nos. 1 and 2 Columns moved on the Gujar village of Daré, concerned in the attack on Major Battye, and destroyed it without meeting opposition.

The Akazai jirga arrived in my camp and submitted unconditionally to all our terms; they were granted seven days to collect their fine, and the jirga immediately quitted camp, leaving five selected hostages in our hands.

On the 20th October a reconnaissance, consisting of 500 men of No. 1 Column, with two guns, proceeded to the Machai Peak and occupied it without resistance. On the completion of the survey operations, the force returned to Chittabat.

The first phase of the operations may now be considered as concluded.

Subsequently, on the 26th October, the Akazais paid up their fine in full of Rs. 4,000; the Hassanzais also, on the 30th October, made complete submission, paying up the enhanced fine of Rs. 7,500.

5. Narrative of events, 2nd phase.—The second phase of the operations may be considered to have commenced on the 21st October, the object being the coercion of the Parari Saiads and Tikariwals.

The scope of the operations were subsequently extended, and on the 22nd October permission was received for a movement on Thakot. On the 31st the despatch of a force into the Allai country was sanctioned.

The troops under my command occupied the following positions on the evening of the 20th:—

Divisional Head-Quarters, Head-Quarters, 1st Brigade .. .. .. Manakadana.

No. 1 Column, reinforced by a wing, 34th Pioneers .. Manakadana.

No. 2 Column occupied Chittabat, having relieved No. 1 Column.

No. 3 Column,—distributed between Nimal, Akhund Baba, Karun, and Tilli.

No. 4 Column,—Diliari, Kunhar, and Shingri.

A fifth column, composed of the—

Head-quarters and wing of the Seaforth Highlanders,

Wing, 40th Bengal Infantry,

Khaibar Rifles,

Four guns, 3-1st, South Irish Division,

Two gatlings,

under the command of Colonel Murray, Seaforth Highlanders, was moved up to Dilbori, with a view to co-operating with No. 1 Column in the ensuing operations.

On the 21st, the 1st column moved on Trand, marching by Bilandkot, which was found unoccupied, and bivouacked near Chirmang. Colonel Murray's column and the Pioneers were employed in improving the road from the Jal Pass to Chirmang, and bivouacked 2 miles behind No. 1 Column. On the 22nd reconnaissances were made in the direction of Maidan and of the Parari country by General Channer and myself, respectively. On the following day the Parari Saiads showed signs of making submission, and the operations, which had been ordered against them, were in consequence postponed for 24 hours. As, however, they did not tender their full submission, a mixed force of about 1,000 men and four guns proceeded up the Parari glen, in three columns, on the morning of the 24th, and destroyed the stronghold of Garhi and the village of Kopra, the most inaccessible of the Parari villages; these being selected for destruction in order to show the tribe that we had the power of moving anywhere in their country.

The path to Garhi was found to be difficult, but the place was burnt after some opposition.

No. 5 Column moved forward in the afternoon to the village of Sofian, at the foot of the Shabora spur. On the 25th General Channer with No. 5 Column moved from Sofian to Maidan, in the Nandihar Valley.

His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief visited my camp from Oghi, and after inspecting the troops at Chirmang rode over to Maidan to see No. 5 Column, returning to my bivouac for the night.

On the 26th October Sir Frederick Roberts and staff* rode along the crest of the Black Mountain, inspecting the troops at Manakadana, Chittabat, Nimal, Sambalbat, and Kulakka, returning to Oghi and leaving for the River Column via Abbottabad the same afternoon.

*The Adjutant-General in India.
Military Secretary.
Three officers of personal staff.

The Adjutant-General, Military Secretary, and an Aide-de-Camp moved across to Kunhar by Karun, rejoining His Excellency at the former place on the 28th, on which date the Commander-in-Chief inspected the troops of the River Column.

General Channer, with Colonel Murray's column, moved to Dabrai, and I advanced with No. 1 Column to Maidan, leaving a detachment at Chirmang.

On the 27th General Channer advanced to Chanjal with No. 5 Column, and I moved to Serai with a portion of No. 1, leaving detachments to hold Maidan and Dabrai. No opposition was experienced up to this point.

Two guns, 3-1st, South Irish.
Two gatlings.
Wing, Seaforth Highlanders.
3rd Sikh Infantry.
Wing, 34th Pioneers.
Khaibar Rifles.

On the 28th, a column, under General Channer, consisting of the troops as per margin, moved at dawn to Thakot, leaving the guns with an escort at Karg.

No opposition was experienced from the inhabitants of Thakot, but those of the villages of Daut and Lora fired into camp during the afternoon, and several of the enemy were killed by our picquets. Assurances had been given to the villagers that no harm was intended them; but in consequence of the opposition experienced, General Channer decided to destoy Lora and its tower, and to shell the village of Daut, on the right bank of the Indus. This was successfully carried out on the morning of the 29th, and the troops then returned to Serai.

A detachment of the 3rd Sikhs and Khaibar Rifles withdrew from Thakot by another road along the right bank of the Nandihar stream. Some opposition was experienced by this party during their return, and in consequence a hamlet was destroyed.

On the 30th the whole force returned to Maidan.

As Arsula Khan, Chief of Allai, had not tendered his submission, General Channer, with Brigade Head-Quarters and the 1st column* under Colonel Sym, marched on the following day to Mazrai, where I joined him a few hours later with the 5th column† (under Colonel Murray), after I had inspected the detachment of the Kashmir Contingent, some 800 strong, at Batgraon, under command of General Indar Singh.

*Two guns, Hazara Mountain Battery.
Half No. 3 Company, Sappers and Miners.
Northumberland Fusiliers.
5th Goorkhas.
Wing, 34th Pioneers,
Detachment, Suffolk Regiment.
" Royal Sussex Regiment.
" 24th Punjab Infantry.

†Four guns, 3-1st, South Irish.
Wing, Seaforth Highlanders.
3rd Sikh Infantry.
Khaibar Rifles.

The Contingent had just moved into Nandihar from the Chatta plain.

On the 1st November, the advance on the Ghorapher Pass leading into Allai was continued by the 1st column, supported by the 5th column. A detachment of 500 of the Kashmir Contingent from Batgraon occupied Mazrai for convoy duty. The approach to the pass had been reconnoitred the previous evening, and was found to be occupied by the enemy; the position was naturally so strong that, held by a determined opponent, it would have been almost impregnable, but under cover of the fire of the guns, the Allaiwals evacuated the position after some resistance.

The ridge was gallantly carried by the Northumberland Fusiliers and Khaibar Rifles, our loss being one man killed and one wounded.

General Channer advanced along the crest of the Chela ridge to Kaggi Obi, but owing to the difficulty of making a track up the face of the Ghorapher, it was found impossible to get the baggage up before nightfall; the troops consequently suffered considerable hardships from the exposure to cold at this high elevation (over 9,000 feet) without food and bedding. On the 2nd the whole of the baggage was brought up by a path which had been made practicable late on the previous evening, and the difficulty of the road may be imagined from the fact that the baggage took 12 hours to pass one mile of the ascent from the bivouac of the previous evening at the foot of the pass to the summit, the rear-guard not reaching camp 2 miles beyond till 9 P.M. Some 14 mules were killed by falling from precipices during the ascent.

Two hundred rifles from the Kashmir Contingent were brought up from Mazrai to the foot of the Ghorapher Pass, and were employed in improving the road.

Lieutenant C. F. S. Ewart, Seaforth Highlanders, and a Goorkha sepoy were wounded, and a telegraph cooly killed near the foot of the pass.

During the morning, General Channer made a reconnaissance in the direction of Pokal, the head-quarters of Arsula Khan, returning to camp about 3 P.M.

On the morning of the 3rd November a mixed force of 800 men with two guns of 3-1st, South Irish Division, moved against Pokal, meeting with considerable opposition.

After the village had been thoroughly destroyed, the force returned to bivouac at Kaggi Obi, having descended 4,300 feet in a distance of seven miles Our casualties were one killed and four wounded. The loss of the enemy was subsequently reported as 60 killed and wounded.

On the following day the whole force withdrew to Mazrai, my head-quarters returning to Maidan.

Some skirmishing occurred with the rear-guard, one man of the 24th Punjab Infantry being killed. From Mazrai the force was gradually withdrawn, the whole being concentrated in the Agror Valley by the 9th November.

6. Submission of the Parari Saiads.—The Parari Saiad jirga came in on the 7th and made full submission, paying their fine and giving hostages.

The Tikariwals had previously paid up the fine demanded from them; for this reason I did not destroy either of their strongholds of Trand and Chirmang.

7. Disposal of the force.—The force in the Agror Valley commenced to disperse on the 12th, and the River Column on the 14th November.

8. Estimated losses of the enemy.—This sketch of the events of the expedition would be incomplete without an estimate of the enemy's losses during the operations, but it is difficult to give this with any pretensions to accuracy, owing to the wooded nature of the country and the practice of our opponents of carrying off their killed and wounded.

It may, however, be assumed from various sources of information that their losses amounted to the following—

Losses on the 4th October in action against the River Column	200
Losses during first phase of operations up to the 20th October	100
Losses at Thakot and in Allai	100
Total ..	400

9. Casualties of the Hazara Field Force.—Our casualties, a detail of which will be found in the Appendix amounted to 94, i.e.:—

Killed	27
Wounded	50
Injured on service	9
Died of disease	8
Total ..	94

10. Engagement of the 4th October 1888.—Though General Galbraith in his despatch has described the engagement of the 4th October in which Colonel Crookshank's column, acting under his immediate orders, was engaged, I must record my admiration of the skilful manner in which the troops were handled on that day against the tribes, who on this occasion only during the expedition opposed our force in the open.

The enemy, protected by sangars, in a very strong position at Towara near Kotkai, were, after a short but determined resistance, driven from their ground and obliged to retire, leaving some 100 bodies on the field.

The severe lesson learnt by the tribesmen in this action broke down all organised opposition, and in facing the other columns, the enemy confined themselves to guerilla warfare in thick forest, a trying style of fighting which was productive of numerous casualties to our troops, but in which the enemy suffered severely and soon lost heart.

11. I regret that it was absolutely necessary to destroy several of the enemy's villages, as the only practicable means of ensuring their complete submission and obliging them to come in within a reasonable period, time being an important factor; in all cases their mosques were respected.

No crops were destroyed, though it would have been practicable to burn a large amount of grain. Before the submission of the tribes, corn and forage were utilised for feeding our transport animals, but after compliance with our terms, until the withdrawal of the force, all supplies were paid for, though sometimes unwillingly given.

The forage used was principally taken from the Khan Khel Hassanzais, who had been the chief offenders against the British Government, and from the Lower Hassanzais and Hindustanis of Maidan.

12. Natural difficulties of country.—In closing this short narrative of the events of the campaign, I feel it due to the troops under my command to bring prominently to the notice of His Excellency the hard work performed by them during the past six weeks. The rugged and inaccessible nature of the country, enhanced by the scarcity of water, has hitherto led the tribes of the Black Mountain to believe that our organised troops could not penetrate their territory, and that they were secure from attack.

The difficulty of the country has, in my opinion, not been over-estimated, and it has only been by pushing forward roads, wherever columns had to advance, that I have been enabled to overrun the whole of the Hassanzai and Akazai country, and to move to Thakot and into Allai.

The operations have been carried out at elevations varying from 1,200 to 10,000 feet, and as an instance of the hard marching experienced, I would mention the movement to Pokal, when the troops descended 4,300 feet, returning the same evening.

I believe that in no previous expedition has the soldier, British or Native, undergone harder work in marching, road-making, and convoy duty, and it would have been impossible for any troops to have carried out these duties in a more cheerful and soldierly spirit.

13. Political and military results.—The political and military results of this expedition may be summarised as follows:—

I.—The complete submission of the Akazai, Hassanzai, Parari Saiads, and Tikariwals.

II.—The opening up of the Thakot and Allai countries (hitherto unvisited) by the formation of good mule-roads into the heart of these tracts.

III.—The completion of a thoroughly good camel road from Oghi to Dabrai, and a mule-track from Darband to Kunhar.

IV.—The detailed survey of 177 square miles of unknown country, besides the collection of much valuable geographical information.

14. Health of troops.—It is a matter of congratulation that the health of the troops during this expedition has been so uniformly good; with the exception of a few sporadic cases of cholera in the Suffolk Regiment and the 45th Sikhs, which caused me grave anxiety, there has been no epidemic. Special precautions to guard against the spread of cholera were taken, and these, together with the favorable conditions of the season, effectully stamped out the disease.

I am glad to be able to report that the wounded have almost, without exception, done remarkably well. The troops composing No. 4 Column, not enjoying the same advantageous conditions of climate, have suffered somewhat from malarial fevers, which are notoriously prevalent in the valley of the Indus. The immunity from sickness may be attributed to the following causes, i.e.:—

I.—All men sent into the field were specially selected for their physical fitness.

II.—The favorable conditions of the climate in which the operations took place.

III.—The good quality of the rations issued, the supply of which was greatly facilitated by the short distance the force moved at any time from its base.

15. Engineering operations.—The services of the engineer officers attached to my force, under the command of Colonel Beresford Lovett, have been chiefly utilised in road-making, of which 222 miles (including 82 miles completed by the River Column) have been made practicable for pack transport and the passage of an organised force.

16. A large proportion of the work has been carried out by the troops, who have been daily employed as working parties.

I would wish specially to bring to the notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief the lasting work which has been carried out on the roads both with the force and on its main lines of communications by the Superintending Engineer, 1st Circle, Mr. H. A. S. Fenner, with civil labor; the assistance rendered to the force cannot be over-estimated, and I hope that His Excellency may be pleased to bring the good services rendered by him to the notice of Government. It appears most desirable that in all expeditions of a similar nature a cooly corps should be organised at the commencement of operations for employment in the improvement and widening of roads commenced by military labor.

17. Medical Department.—I have been satisfied with the working of the Medical Department under the direction of the Principal Medical Officer, Deputy Surgeon-General J. H. Thornton, C.B. Favored by weather and the smallness in numbers of sick and wounded, there has been no severe strain thrown upon the field hospitals, but every attention has been paid to the medical requirements of the force, with the best possible results.

18. Hospitals.—The field hospital system has worked well, and owing to the excellent health enjoyed by the troops, the want of hospital accommodation to accompany the columns has not been felt, though owing to the necessity for reducing transport to the lowest possible limit, only scanty accommodation could be kept with the advanced troops. The ambulance train established by the Commissariat Department has worked well, and the carriage of the sick and wounded from the front to Hassan Abdal, on the North-West Railway, has been efficiently performed.

The arrival of the nursing sisters proved a great boon to the patients in hospital.

Nursing sisters.—The following ladies reached Oghi:—

Miss Lock	..	Lady Superintendent.
„ Harris	..	Nursing sisters.
„ Lickfold	..
„ Latch	..
„ Welchman	..

Misses Lock and Welchman subsequently joined the River Column at Darband.

19. Commissariat.—Although the Commissary-General of the Western Circle is not under my command, I feel I owe in great part the success of the expedition to the exertions of this officer.

The order to equip the force was received by Major Patch on the 4th September 1888, and the rapidity with which all supplies and transport were collected and arrangements made bears testimony to his energy and administrative capacity.

The transport collected in the short time allowed was—

Hired—
	Camels	..	..	2,604
	Mules	..	..	2,594
	Ponies	..	..	668
	Donkeys	..	..	585
	(Pack) Bullocks	..	..	237
Government—
	Mules	..	..	2,121
	Donkeys	..	..	44

I would add that the commissariat arrangements in the field were ably conducted by Major C. M. Keighley and the staff placed under his orders.

20. Veterinary.—The collection of a large number of transport animals necessitated careful veterinary supervision, which was satisfactorily carried out by 1st Class Veterinary Surgeon E. Ewing, with the result that no unusual sickness occurred. One fatal case of anthrax was reported in the troop, 15th Bengal Cavalry, at Darband, which was promptly met by the isolation of the detachment.

21. Ecclesiastical.—The ecclesiastical needs of the force were supplied by the Reverend H. W. Griffiths, and towards the end of the operations by the Venerable Archdeacon Tribe, who accompanied the columns into Allai. The Reverend Father H. Van Mansfield, Roman Catholic Chaplain, accompanied the River Column, being more particularly attached to the Royal Irish Regiment, and he is specially brought to notice by Brigadier-General Galbraith for supplying water to wounded men under fire during the action of the 4th October. The Reverend W. Archibald, Presbyterian Chaplain, accompanied the Seaforth Highlanders throughout the campaign.

22. Signalling.—The signalling operations carried on under the superintendence of Captain Goold-Adams, King's Dragoon Guards, have throughout been conducted to my entire satisfaction, and have, in conjunction with the field telegraph, kept me in touch with the whole of my force.

The work has been exceptionally heavy, and the results reflect great credit on the officers and men employed during the expedition.

The harmonious working of the signalling with the field telegraph has been a source of much satisfaction to me, and has greatly facilitated the work of communication.

23. Telegraph Department.—I cannot speak in too high terms of the energy with which the work of the Telegraph Department under Mr. R. C. Barker has been carried on, often under most adverse circumstances.

The promptitude with which his work was executed, and the distance covered, shows the excellence of the organisation and administration of the department.

During the operations, 17 offices were opened with the Agor Columns, and six with the River Column, 11,531 messages passing through the Oghi Office alone.

The force in the field caused very heavy additional work to fall on the Rawal Pindi Sub-Division, in charge of Mr. A. D. Hill, Assistant Superintendent, the Abbottabad and Haripur Offices being especially affected.

The subordinates of the department, military signallers and non-commissioned officers and men of the sappers and miners, have had unusually severe work, and have been indefatigable in their endeavours to carry out their duties to my satisfaction, in which they have thoroughly succeeded.

On only two occasions have I been without a telegraph office in my camp,—once at Dabrai, owing to a fault in the cable, and again at the top of the Ghorapher Pass, when it was impossible for any baggage to reach the bivouac.

The detachment of sappers and miners, under Lieutenant C. C. Perceval, R.E., in whose charge the river line was placed, are reported by General Galbraith to have worked satisfactorily; but I am fully convinced that for any extended campaign the whole telegraphic operations should be placed in the hands of the Government Telegraph Department.

24. Post Office.—The postal arrangements have been carefully attended to by Mr. W. J. Vansomeren, and the best thanks of the force are due to him for the punctual delivery of the mails.

25. Provost.—Owing to the almost entire absence of crime in the force, the duties of the Provost-Marshal, Captain W. Lambert, and his assistants have been almost nominal, but their services have been valuable to me in maintaining sanitary arrangement and order in bivouac and on the line of march.

26. Surveys.—To the survey party, working under the direction of Captain R. A. Wahab, R.E., much credit is due for the careful manner in which the map of the country through which the force has passed has been completed.

The total area surveyed on the $\frac{1}{2}$-inch scale is 177 square miles; this includes the work done in the Akazai and Hassanzai countries, in Thakot, and in parts of Deshi and Allai.

In addition to this, 246 square miles on the west bank of the Indus have been sketched more or less carefully from the opposite slopes.

The course of the river Indus has been definitely fixed to some distance north of Thakot, with the exception of some 13 miles between Judba and the mouth of the Chakesar river.

The Indus here, however, has been approximately fixed and its course determined within narrow limits.

I much regret that opportunity was not afforded to a survey party to reconnoitre the river route between Thakot and Kunhar, to enable the completion of the map with regard to the western slopes of the Black Mountain; but owing to the Chagarzai jirga not having [illegible] to date, it has been found impossible to effect this under tribal arrangements.

27. Khaibar Rifles.—I would bring to the notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief the excellent service done throughout the expedition by the Khaibar Rifles under Major Mahomed Aslam Khan; their rapidity of movement over the hills and familiarity with the tactics pursued by the enemy have proved them to be troops of the very best material for the class of fighting in which we have recently been engaged.

Their discipline has been excellent, and no instance of misconduct has been brought to my notice, or to that of the column commanders, under whose immediate orders they have served.

28. Kashmir Contingent.—I have also much pleasure in bringing forward the good services rendered by the troops of His Highness the Maharaja of Kashmir, under the command of General Indar Singh.

These troops throughout [illegible] duties, including [illegible]

29. Local levies.—I would also wish to express my satisfaction at the good service rendered to Government by the Nawab of Amb, and the promptitude with which he responded to all calls made upon him.

The boats manned by his boatmen rendered invaluable aid to the movements of the River Column, and contributed largely to the success of the operations on that side, while order was maintained along the Tanawli border by his levies.

On several occasions, too, he has handed over to justice his own subjects who were known to have committed acts of hostility against the British Government.

31. Future security of Agror Frontier—The future security of the Tanawl-Agror borders will, in my opinion, be best secured by opening out the communications of the country, and in this view I would strongly advocate the following measures :—

I.—The construction of a good camel road between Agror and Darband down the valley of the Unar stream.

II.—The maintenance of a good road from Darband along the Indus to our frontier, and if possible beyond as far as Kunhar.

III.—The maintenance of the camel road from Oghi via the Jal Pass, and Chirmang to Maidan in Nandihar, and if practicable to Paimal.

IV.—The construction of a good camel road from the Chatta plain via Phagora and Batgraon to Maidan.

V.—The establishment of a post on the Jal Gali to be held by men of the Agror Valley who have done good service for Government.

32. Loss of officers.—It is with feelings of the deepest regret that I have to deplore the loss of the late Colonel A. C. W. Crookshank, C.B., Commanding the River Column, and of Captain C. H. H. Beley, D.S.O., Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General of the 2nd Brigade.

Colonel Crookshank was an officer who had gained the respect and regard of a large number of his comrades in India as a soldier, and in his private character had won the esteem of a large circle of friends.

Wounded on the 5th October, whilst reconnoitring beyond Kotkai, he succumbed to the effects of the wound on the 24th of October, when every hope was entertained of his recovery.

In him Her Majesty has lost an able soldier and a commander of promise, and the Indian Government an officer of marked administrative capacity.

32. Captain Beley, D.S.O., had already gained distinction in two campaigns, and had graduated at the Staff College. A highly trained officer of natural ability, and possessed, in a marked degree, of soldierly instincts, he gave promise of a brilliant future career. Captain Beley at the outset of the expedition was Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General of the Punjab Frontier Force, and on him fell a large portion of the work of arranging for the passage of troops through the Hazara District, their movement to the front, and for the special sanitary precautions necessitated by the prevalence of cholera. The able way in which these duties were carried out reflected the greatest credit on him. He met a soldier's death on the 4th October, being mortally wounded in a Ghazi charge, whilst gallantly pushing forward to the attack of the enemy's position.

In his private capacity he had won the affection and esteem of his comrades in the Frontier Force in a marked degree, though only associated with them for a short time. Captain Beley is deeply regretted by all who knew him, and Her Majesty has lost in him a gallant and able servant.

33. Political.—I have the honor to forward a very full and clear report by Colonel E. L. Ommanney on the political features of the campaign. I am greatly indebted to him and his assistants in the help they have rendered me.

Colonel Ommanney, as Chief Political Officer, has conducted all the negotiations with the tribes with tact and firmness, and to this I attribute, in a great measure, the successful results of the expedition. His great experience of frontier matters, and his intimate acquaintance with the tribes on this particular border, have been of the greatest assistance to me. I cannot speak too highly of his services, and I would beg that His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief may be pleased to bring them to the notice of the Government of India.

34. I would wish to record my deep appreciation of the excellence of the work done generally by the force under my command, and to thank the officers of all corps and departments for the great assistance they have at all times rendered me.

35. Names of officers and men considered specially deserving of mention.—I would, however, beg to bring to the notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief the names of the following officers and men, who are, in my opinion, specially deserving of mention :—

To Brigadier-General G. N. Channer, V.C., Commanding 1st Brigade, my best thanks are due for the loyal support he has given me throughout the operations, and for the able manner in which he has carried out all the duties entrusted to him. I may mention amongst them the destruction of Seri and Khund; the reconnaissance to River Column at Kunhar; the operations against the Parari Saiads; the advance on Thakot; the passage of the Ghorapher Pass; the advance to, and destruction of, Pokal, and subsequent retirement from Allai,— all of which were carried out under his personal supervision with great promptitude and intelligence, and to my entire satisfaction.

I beg to recommend him most strongly for His Excellency's favorable consideration.

I also beg to bring to His Excellency's favorable notice Brigadier-General W. Galbraith, Commanding 2nd Brigade, under whose personal direction the important operations of the River Column, including the brilliant action of Kotkai, the destruction of Maidan (the stronghold of the Hindustani fanatics), and the coercion of the Hassanzai tribe were achieved. For his loyal co-operation with the columns under my own personal direction, on which the ultimate success of the expedition so greatly depended, and for the able manner in which all the operations of the River Column were conceived and executed, my warmest thanks are due to him.

Colonel J. M. Sym, Commanding the 1st Column, has carried out, to my complete satisfaction, many important duties, the responsibility of which during the first phase of the operations fell more directly on him than did similar operations under other column commanders, owing to the detached situation of his column at Chittabat.

I may mention among these the affair of Doda, the destruction of Biran, Siala, and Sidera, and reconnaissance of Mahaban Peak.

To Colonel O'Grady Haly, Commanding 2nd Column, my thanks also are due for the first operations against Khund and the destruction of Dare, which were carried out under his orders.

Lieutenant-Colonel M. S. J. Sunderland, Commanding 3rd Column, is a most able officer of great promptitude and decision, who has at all times afforded me the greatest assistance. On his column fell the task of capturing the Akhund Baba and Nimal Position, which was the key of the Khan Khel Hassanzai and Akazai countries; also the subsequent operations towards Seri, Panj Gali and Pabal, all of which were carried out most satisfactorily by Colonel Sunderland, whose name I desire to bring most favorably to His Excellency's notice.

I also beg to recommend Colonel H. M. Pratt, who commanded, first the Reserve, and subsequently the River Column during the final operations against the Akazais and Hassanzais and retirement to Derband.

I have every reason to be satisfied with the way this work was done.

Also Colonel A. Munsey, who commanded the 4th Column in the operations against the Parari Saiads, advance to Thakot, and operations in Allai to my entire satisfaction.

I desire also to bring to His Excellency's notice the following officers of the Head-Quarters Staff :—

Colonel W. F. Gatacre, Deputy Adjutant and Quartermaster-General, to whom I am most deeply indebted for his loyal support, constant advice and assistance, and untiring energy. I cannot too highly express my sense of the high qualifications of this officer and the valuable aid I have received from him, and I commend him for His Excellency's most favorable consideration.

Major E. R. Elles, Assistant Quartermaster-General, is a most valuable staff officer, and his great ability and sound judgment have been of the greatest assistance to me. I cannot speak too highly of his services throughout the operations.

I also desire to bring to speci al notice the good services of Major C. Egerton, Assistant Adjutant-General, who has throughout rendered me valuable assistance. On this officer, assisted by the late Captai n Beley, fell for nearly three weeks all the preliminary work of the assembly of the Hazara Field Force. Major Egerton is a most valuable officer, of sound judgment and great ability.

I desire also to mention Captain A. H. Mason, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General for Intelligence, whose exertions in collecting information regarding the country and the tribes have been of the greatest assistance to me, and under whose direction the survey works on the ridge of the Black Mountain and at Machai were conducted. I have the highest opinion of him as a staff officer and practical soldier.

I desire also to record my best thanks to the following officers of my personal staff :—

Lieutenant J. S. E. Western, 1st Punjab Cavalry, A.D.C., and Captain C. R. Burn, 1st Dragoons, Orderly Officer. Both these officers, besides being of great assistance, have proved themselves on several occasions forward soldiers in the field, and Captain Burn I consider an officer of exceptionable ability and professional knowledge. I have also to thank Major Nawab Afsur Jang, of the Hyderabad Army, for the assistance he rendered me during the period he served on my staff as orderly officer.

Colonel Beresford Lovett, C.S.I., Commanding Royal Engineers, contributed in a marked degree to the success of the expedition, and I have already referred to the work done in road-making during the campaign.

Lieutenant-Colonel C. J. Deshon, Commanding Royal Artillery, is an officer of great experience with mountain artillery, and I am much indebted to him for good service rendered.

Deputy Surgeon-General J. H. Thornton, C.B., the Principal Medical Officer of the force, saw carefully to the establishment of the several field hospitals ; and the smooth working of everything connected with them was most creditable to him and the medical officers serving under him.

Captain Goold-Adams has rendered most valuable service by his unremitting attention to the signalling communication between columns. The results of his organisation have proved a complete success.

Major C. M. Keighley, Chief Commissariat Officer, has at all times administered the commissariat arrangements of the force to my entire satisfaction. Supplies of excellent quality have invariably been forthcoming, and the health and the comfort of the troops have been secured by the care and forethought of this officer.

Captain W. R. Yielding, Assistant Commissary-General, Divisional Transport Officer, has, under the orders of the Chief Commissariat Officer, ably superintended the transport arrangements of the force. His powers of organisation have been shown in a marked degree by the manner in which the large amount of Government and hired transport have been worked with complete success ; I consider him a most excellent officer.

Lieutenant C. P. Scudamore, D. S. O., has acted as assistant to the Divisional Transport Officer, and is an able and indefatigable officer.

Captain R. A. Wahab, R.E., has been unremitting in his endeavours both with the River Column and during the advance on Thakot and Allai to secure the greatest practicable extension of survey operations and geographical knowledge.

Sub-Surveyor Imam Sharif, "Khan Bahadur," is deserving of special recognition for the manner in which he conducted survey operations along the crest of the Black Mountain independently.

Mr. R. C. Barker, Assistant Superintendent of Telegraphs, I would specially bring to the notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief. His work has already been mentioned under "Field Telegraphs," and I cannot speak too highly of the results attained by him.

Captain Pollard, 7th Bengal Cavalry, who has held political charge of the Kashmir Contingent during the operations, has shown great tact in the management of all matters connected with the Maharaja's troops, and in my opinion deserves great credit for the manner in which these troops have co-operated with the regular troops of the Hazara Field Force.

36. I would further bring to the favorable notice of His Excellency the following officers mentioned in Brigade and Column Reports,—vide Appendix :—

Major J. A. Barlow, Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General.

Major N. P. O'Gorman, Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General.

Major E. E. Money, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General.

Major Muhammad Uslam, Commandant of the Khaibar Rifles, has fully maintained his reputation as a fine soldier, and has shown his capacity as a gallant leader and commander. I trust His Excellency will see fit to recommend him for some suitable recognition.

FIELD OPERATIONS.

HAZARA.

No. 1022.—In continuation of G. G. O. No. 978 of 7th December, 1888, His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct the publication of the following letter from Brigadier-General W. Galbraith, Commanding 2nd Brigade, Hazara Field Force, describing the operations of the 4th or River Column of the Hazara Field Force.

No. 101 Field Operations 4th Column, Hazara Field Force, dated Kunhar, 4th November, 1888.

From—Brigdr.-Genl. W. GALBRAITH, Comdg. 2nd Brigade, Hazara Field Force,

To—The Major-General Commanding Hazara Field Force.

I have the honour to submit, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, a report of the operations of the 4th or River Column, Hazara Field Force.

On 28th September I reconnoitred Baraddar plateau, and selected ground for a bivouac near Chamb village, seven miles from Darband.

The road to this point being very bad, the troops were employed until 1st October in making it practicable for laden animals.

2. On 2nd October, the force moved to Chamb. During the afternoon the brigade staff and picquets were fired upon from the Shingur ridge, north of Chamb, and, as evening approached, an attempt was made upon the water picquet, but was repulsed, without casualty, by a company, 29th Punjab Infantry, under Captain Macleod.

At night, I received a telegram postponing further advance until 4th instant, to allow the other columns to complete equipment. This delay proved most fortunate, as it was only by unremitting labour on the 3rd that the road forward to Bela on the Indus was made practicable for baggage animals.

3. On the morning of the 3rd, the enemy, in larger numbers, attempted to re-occupy the Shingur ridge, but were anticipated by the 4th Punjab Infantry under Colonel Hawes, and were driven back with a loss of two killed and four wounded. Our casualties,—Nil.

4. Shortly before dawn on 4th October, three companies, 4th Punjab Infantry, again proceeded to this ridge, with orders to move over it towards Shingri and rejoin the column, leaving a strong picquet on the crest until the baggage and rear-guard were clear of the gorge.

The remaining troops marched at daybreak in the following order:—

Two companies, Royal Irish Regiment.

Brigade Head-Quarters.

Two guns, 2-1st Scottish Division, Royal Artillery.

Three companies, 34th Pioneers.

Head-Quarters, 4th Column.

Royal Irish Regiment.

Two guns, 2-1st Scottish Division, Royal Artillery.

Gatlings.

Three companies, 4th Punjab Infantry (subsequently joined by two companies from Shingur ridge).

Three companies, 29th Punjab Infantry.

Regimental reserve ammunition.

One company, 29th Punjab Infantry.

Field Hospital.

Telegraph.

The whole of the baggage, including seven days' supplies in regimental charge, followed in the same order, escorted by four companies of 29th Punjab Infantry, two of which formed rear-guard.

5. At 8 A.M., I halted the head of the column half a mile in front of Bela, to allow the remaining troops to form upon open ground.

6. At 9-30 the advanced guard of the Royal Irish Regiment, under Captain Lysaght, reached Shingri.

A few of the enemy fired from rocks and jungle above the village, but were driven off by a company, 34th Pioneers, gallantly led by Subadar-Major Chattar Singh, Bahadur, who was here mortally wounded.

7. At 20-30, large numbers of the enemy with many standards were discovered in position, their front line on the open ground between the hamlet of Towara and the river, their main body holding a rocky ridge, one mile long, extending to Kotkai village, while numerous skirmishers lined the ravines and ridges of the mountain on the right of our advance.

At many commanding points strong "sangahs" had been constructed, and similar defences, on the opposite bank of the Indus, were held by sharpshooters supported by some useless guns of a reputed calibre of four inches.

8. Having reconnoitred the enemy's position, I directed Colonel Crookshank to prepare for attack by clearing his flanks.

This was well executed; the 34th Pioneers searching the wide belt of jungle and boulders between our left and the river, while the 4th Punjab Infantry, led by Colonel Hawes, scaled the difficult heights on our right and drove the enemy from every point of vantage in a style which commanded universal admiration.

In this operation Captain Radford was severely wounded, but continued to lead his men until ordered to desist.

9. The advance was, necessarily, very slow, but at one o'clock, Major Morgan, R.A., brought his guns into action, with the Royal Irish Regiment under Major Brereton lining a low wall, one company on the left, the remainder on the right front of the battery and machine-guns.

Lieutenant, Cleeve, R.A., was here dangerously wounded by a bullet which lodged in his neck.

10. At 1-30, the enemy's position having been well searched by artillery and machine-gun fire, and the flanking parties being abreast of the line, the Royal Irish advanced without firing a shot, and as steadily as if on parade charged the enemy, Lieutenant Gloster particularly distinguishing himself by rushing to the front and capturing a standard.

11. At this moment a body of fanatical swordsmen, who had been concealed in a masked nullah running diagonally towards our left front, made a desperate attempt to break our line. All were at once shot down by the Royal Irish and gatling, except 13, who were followed and accounted for by two companies of the 29th Punjab Infantry and 34th Pioneers in the jungle near the river.

Eighty-eight dead were subsequently counted at this spot, among whom 48 were identified as Hindustanis; and the enemy's total loss exceeded two hundred killed.

12. During the advance of the Royal Irish. I and my staff were between them and the leading company of the Pioneers; the latter were firing in the direction of Kotkai, and while Major Barlow, Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General, conveyed an order to the Royal Irish to fix bayonets, I sent Captain Beley, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General, to direct the Pioneers to enfilade the position attacked. In pointing out what was required, he, unfortunately, rode a little in front of the party while they were emerging from a nullah.

He thus became the first object of the Ghazi rush, and his horse being cut down, he was overpowered by numbers, and fell mortally wounded, fearlessly facing his opponents to the last.

13. The whole affair could not have lasted two minutes, but it was sufficient to bring prominently to notice the soldierlike qualities of many officers. Among others I would particularly mention Major Barlow, Deputy Assistant Adjutant-General, who was the first to reach Captain Beley's side, where he was promptly joined by Surgeon Barefoot, attached to Royal Irish; Captain Inglis, Assistant Political Officer, who acted throughout the day as my second orderly officer, riding unarmed under heavy fire, and always displaying the greatest coolness; Captain Lord Binning, Orderly Officer, who shot a Ghazi, his pistol touching his opponent's chest; Major Morgan, R.A., and Lieutenant Eyre, in charge of gatlings, for their extreme promptitude in bringing their guns into action; also Captain Grant, R.E., Field Engineer, who was very forward.

14. Our success was now assured, and the enemy in and around Kotkai showed symptoms of wavering.

Major Morgan, R.A., taking a forward position, shelled the rocky ridge in front of Kotkai, the village itself, and the "sangahs" on both banks of the river, while Lieutenant Eyre, with the gatlings, swept the crest in front of 4th Punjab Infantry, and as the defenders streamed downwards, followed them with a galling fire.

Little response was made, except from the right bank, whence Hindustani guns and riflemen fired constantly, but ineffectually, until night.

15. At 3-30, the enemy being in full flight towards Kunhar, followed by our shells with evident good effect, Colonel Crookshank, C.B., with four companies, 29th Punjab Infantry, supported by a wing, Royal Irish Regiment, and two guns, climbed the ridge leading to the village, which he occupied at 4-30 P.M.

16. At 5 o'clock Colonel Crookshank returned to Towara, where the remaining troops and baggage bivouacked, brigade head-quarters being established at Kotkai.

17. From 5th to 7th October daily reconnaissances were made, but no forward movement was possible. the road from Towara to Kotkai being so bad that it was necessary to bring up supplies by hand.

18. On the 5th, Colonel Crookshank was wounded while reconnoitring the road to Kunhar; the loss of his valuable services at such a juncture was acutely felt by the whole force, and his death, when we were most hopeful for his speedy recovery, evoked the deepest regret among the troops he had so gallantly led to victory.

19. In consequence of Colonel Crookshank's wound, Colonel Beddy, as senior officer, assumed command of 4th Column.

20. During the afternoon of 6th, Colonel Hawes, with 4th Punjab Infantry, moved to a small hamlet about 2,000 feet above Kotkai,—its occupants, who had previously fired at us, being driven off by artillery fire from camp.

Footpaths towards Tilli and Kunhar were reconnoitred, and positions were selected whence marksmen could dominate the ridges on the right bank of the Indus, and protect our working parties.

21. On October 7th, Brigade Head-Quarters, with 600 Royal Irish Regiment and 4th Punjab Infantry, visited Tilli. Some leading men met me, and, at their request, I promised to spare their villages if I were not again molested from their direction.

Since then no shot has been fired on the left bank of the river.

Leaving picquets as before, the 4th Punjab Infantry bivouacked at Kunari, while I returned to Kotkai with the Royal Irish.

The arrival of the boats of the Nawab of Amb at 10 A.M., and the practice of the Royal Irish marksmen from the Tilli spur, caused most of the enemy to vacate their "sangahs" on the right bank of the river.

22. On 8th October, Colonel Hawes, from Kunari, occupied Kunhar at 9 A.M., and reconnoitred towards the Shal Nullah, returning to Kotkai at night, the path being impracticable for getting up supplies.

Relays of working parties were employed on this road until noon on the 11th, when it was opened for lightly laden mules.

23. October 9th.—Kunhar was occupied by two companies, 29th Punjab Infantry, under Major Reid, the remainder of the force being employed in road making and bringing forage in boats from Morair on the right bank of the Indus.

24. October 10th.—Two guns and 800 men of Royal Irish and 4th Punjab Infantry crossed the Indus to test the capacity of the boats, and if possible establish heliographic communication with divisional head-quarters. I proposed to recross to Kunhar if three boats could be taken up, but as they were unable to stem the rapid, I was obliged, after reconnoitring Palosi, to return to Kotkai.

Colonel Hawes commanded the reconnaissance, and Captain Gray, 4th Punjab Infantry, covered our withdrawal most skilfully with his regiment, repelling a determined attack upon his rear-guard at dusk.

Two sepoys were wounded, one severely, while the Chagarzais, the reputed organisers of the attack, acknowledged six casualties. Captain Gray brought to my notice the excellent conduct of Subadar Oomar, and also of Sepoy Mehtab Singh, who shot three of the enemy's swordsmen at close quarters.

25. October 11th.—The column moved to Kunhar, great part of the baggage being passed by hand over the most difficult part of the road. By the unremitting exertions of Captain Inglis, Political Officer, four boats were safely passed up the rapids, provoking in transit some fire from the opposite bank, which was checked by picked marksmen.

At dark the enemy's sharpshooters occupied a rocky eminence opposite Kunhar, but after firing without reply until about 11 P.M., withdrew.

Our casualties,—one man grazed by a bullet, one mule, private property, killed.

26. The 12th was spent in improving the road from Kotkai and carrying it on one-and-a-half miles beyond Kunhar to Ghazikot, where there is a good camping ground and a ferry.

During the day I reconnoitred a path to the mouth of the Shal Nullah, and found that much labor would be required to make it practicable.

Large numbers of the enemy, with many standards, appeared near the village of Mángán on the right bank of the river, two miles from Maidan, and subsequently paraded on the hills south of Palosi.

27. On 13th October, at daylight, I crossed the river with three guns, two gatlings, 34th Pioneers, and 1,200 men of the Royal Irish, 4th and 29th Punjab Infantry, and after blowing up its principal bastions, burned the Hindustani fort and settlement of Maidan to the ground.

A gathering on the hills above watched our proceedings, evidently impressed by the display of force deployed on the Palosi plain. Once they appeared to be moving down, but quickly retreated, their curiosity being checked by two well-directed shells from Captain Mercer's half battery on the left bank of the river.

28. On 14th October Colonel Pratt, 2nd Sikhs, reported himself at Darband, and next morning assumed command of the 4th Column. His timely arrival relieved me of much anxiety, and his dispositions for the occupation of Bakrai and Led from 19th to 25th for withdrawing to Palosi, where he is still in bivouac, and for destroying Bakrai and Garhi, were all that I could desire.

29. No hostile shot having been fired since the burning of Maidan, our subsequent operations have been uneventful, but valuable reconnaissances on both banks of the Indus as far as the boundary of the Chagarzais have discovered a road from Palosi practicable for baggage animals, with good camping grounds and ample supplies, by which a force can traverse their whole territory in two days, striking their richest villages Cis and Trans-Indus en route.

30. Having been forbidden to cross the Chagarzai boundary, my further operations have been confined to visiting the 3rd Column at Tilli, Pabal and Panji Gali, and Karun, making a good baggage road from Karun viâ Kungar, Ril, and Tilli to Chamheri and Darband, with practicable lateral communications to Kunhar,—one difficult, from Ril by Makrani, the other fairly easy, from Pabal Gali viâ Tilli and Kunari.

31. Throughout the whole of the operations I have described, the behaviour of officers and men has been in every way worthy of the traditions of the British and Indian Armies, and they have shown equal spirit in meeting the enemy and in the less exciting but more arduous labour of establishing practicable communications through a trackless and most difficult country.

32. The services of the wing, 34th Pioneers, under Lieutenant Hogge, have, in this respect, been invaluable, and other corps, including the wings, Seaforth Highlanders, under Lieutenant-Colone lHilton, and the 2nd Sikhs, under Colonel Hastings, which were at first in reserve, have rivalled their exertions, as far as their limited equipment admitted.

33. The dispositions made by Surgeon-Majors Fawcett and Bookey for the care of the sick and wounded in base and field hospitals leave nothing to be desired, and the services of all the medical officers of the force have earned well merited praise.

34. The commissariat arrangements under Lieutenant James have been entirely satisfactory, and I consider him a most able and efficient officer, specially qualified for service in the field.

35. Lieutenant Judge, 2nd Gurkhas, has managed the column transport admirably, and the condition of the animals in his charge is most creditable.

36. Captain DuCane, R.A., Assistant Provost Marshal, has worked untiringly enforcing sanitary regulations in camp, and in maintaining order and helping baggage trains on the march; and it is largely due to the careful supervision which he, Lieutenant James, and Lieutenant Judge have exercised, that no follower has been injured nor transport animal stolen during the campaign.

37. Captain Grierson, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General, joined the force on 9th October, and has since afforded me every assistance; he has brought to my notice the excellent work performed by Lieutenant Southey, 3rd Beluchis, for the Intelligence Department

38. Captain Grant, R.E., has shewn extraordinary energy and resource in constructing good practicable roads, indispensable to our movements, which will, I trust, hereafter confer equal benefit on the districts we have occupied by bringing them into contact with civilising influences.

His exertions have been ably seconded by Lieutenant Maclagan, R.E., Assistant Field Engineer.

39. Captain Inglis, Assistant Political Officer, has kept me constantly informed of the attitude and movements of the tribes, and has thus enabled me to stimulate the hesitating submission of the Akazais and Hassanzais with a minimum resort to punitive measures.

40. The field telegraph has worked admirably under Lieutenant Perceval, R.E.

41. Captain Blood, Assistant Superintendent of Signalling, has been extremely useful in maintaining communication with detached posts and with the 3rd Column.

42. I attach a report from Colonel Pratt, now Commanding 4th Column, and also three reports submitted by the late Colonel Crookshank, regarding the operations from 3rd to 5th October.

In conclusion, I beg to recommend to the favourable consideration of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief the following officers and soldiers whose services I consider to be specially deserving of mention:—

Died of wounds.

HIGH COURT—ORIGINAL SIDE.

NOTIFICATION.

Calcutta, the 26th January, 1888.

It is ordered that the following rules be read and passed as the rules and orders of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, to take effect from the 1st day of March, 1888:—

1. A list of references of every description which are ripe for hearing and are pending before the Court itself or before any of the officers of the Court, or any other commissioner appointed to take accounts or make enquiries, shall be published at such times and in such manner as the Judge ordinarily taking motions on the Original side of the Court may from time to time determine.

2. The printed cause list for each day shall contain a list of the references liable to be heard on that day by the officers before whom such references are pending.

3. Such list of references shall be divided into two parts, the first of such parts to consist of references of an urgent nature or which can be quickly concluded and to be styled "list of urgent references," the second part to consist of all other references and to be styled list of "ordinary references."

4. Urgent references shall include the following :—

Accounts in mortgage suits.

Sales by the Registrar.

The settlement of proclamations, of conditions of sale, or of conveyances.

Inquiries under Section 267 of the Civil Procedure Code or under Section 90 of the Probate and Administration Act.

Inquiries as to what would be proper to be allowed for maintenance or marriage expenses.

Inquiries as to whether proposed terms of settlement would be for the benefit of a minor.

References as to the appointment of guardian and such other enquiries and references as may be determined by the Court or a Judge.

5. Any Judge sitting on the Original side may order any particular reference or enquiry to be taken as an urgent reference. Such order need not be made in Court but may be made upon a representation made by the Registrar or other officer or commissioner.

6. No reference shall be placed in the list of references for the day unless it be ripe for hearing.

7. The Registrar or other officer shall at the commencement of each daily sitting hear applications with regard to pending references and shall not hear any reference until such applications have been exhausted, but no such application shall be made or heard on any day after the hearing of references have been commenced.

8. The officer or commissioner shall on each day in the first place hear in order the urgent references on his list for the day, and shall then proceed to hear in order the ordinary references on his list for the day.

9. Each reference shall, unless otherwise ordered by a Judge, be taken in its turn, and it shall be continued de die en diem until it be concluded.

No references on the list of causes for the day shall (without leave of the Court or a Judge) be postponed or adjourned except under circumstances which would justify the postponement or adjournment of a cause. The consent of parties, or the convenience of counsel or attorney shall not of themselves be considered sufficient grounds for the postponement or adjournment of a reference or enquiry.

10. References not on the list of causes for the day can, at the discretion of the person to whom they have been referred, be postponed or adjourned, but subject to the control or orders of the Judge taking motions on the Original side.

11. Any Judge sitting on the Original side may by an order in Court or in chambers postpone or adjourn any reference pending before himself or before any officer or commissioner.

12. When in the opinion of the Judge taking motions on the Original side it is necessary that some or all of the references pending before any officer of the Court or commissioner should be heard by the Court itself or by some other officer or commissioner, such Judge may recall such references into Court and any time make such order as may be necessary for the purpose aforesaid, or if the parties should consent to any such change he may make such order without recalling the reference into Court.

13. These rules are to be read with, and to form part of, the general rules of the Original side.

14. These rules shall come into operation on and from the 1st day of March, 1888.

HIGH COURT—ORIGINAL SIDE.

NOTIFICATION.

Calcutta, the 18th February, 1888.

It is ordered that in substitution for the Rules passed on the 26th day of January last, the following rules be read and passed as the rules and orders of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, to take effect from the 1st day of March, 1888:—

1. A list of references of every description which are ripe for hearing and are pending before the Court itself or before any of the officers of the Court, or any other Commissioner appointed to take accounts or make enquiries, shall be published at such times and in such manner as the Judge ordinarily taking motions on the Original Side of the Court may from time to time determine.

2. The printed cause list for each day shall contain a list of the references liable to be heard on that day by the officers before whom such references are pending.

3. Such list of references shall be divided into two parts, the first of such parts to consist of references of an urgent nature or which can be quickly concluded, and to be styled "list of urgent references;" the second part to consist of all other references and to be styled "list of ordinary references."

4. Urgent references shall include the following:—

Accounts in mortgage suits.

Sales by the Registrar.

The settlement of proclamations, of conditions of sale, or of conveyances.

Inquiries under Section 267 of the Civil Procedure Code, or under Section 90 of the Probate and Administration Act.

Inquiries as to what would be proper to be allowed for maintenance or marriage expenses.

Inquiries as to whether proposed terms of settlement would be for the benefit of a minor.

References as to the appointment of guardian, and such other enquiries and references as may be determined by the Court or a Judge.

5. Any Judge sitting on the Original Side may order any particular reference or enquiry to be transferred from either list to the other. Such order need not be made in Court, but may be made upon a representation made by the Registrar or other officer, or Commissioner. It shall not be made except by consent or on notice.

6. No reference shall be placed in the list of references for the day unless it be ripe for hearing.

No ordinary reference shall be deemed ripe for hearing until a Judge or the officer to whom the matter is referred has certified that the points in issue have been ascertained.

7. The Registrar or other officer shall at the commencement of each daily sitting hear applications with regard to pending references, and shall not hear any reference until such applications have been exhausted, but such application shall not ordinarily be made or heard on any day after the hearing of references have been commenced.

8. The officer or Commissioner shall on each day in the first place hear in order the urgent references on his list for the day, and shall then proceed to hear in order the ordinary references on his list for the day.

9. Each reference shall, unless otherwise ordered by a Judge, be taken in its turn, and it shall be continued de die en diem until it be concluded.

No reference on the list of causes for the day shall (without leave of the Court or a Judge) be postponed or adjourned, except under circumstances which would justify the postponement or adjournment of a cause.

10. References not on the list of causes for the day can, at the discretion of the person to whom they have been referred, be postponed or adjourned, but subject to the control or orders of the Judge taking motions on the Original Side.

11. Any Judge sitting on the Original Side may by an order made upon notice in Court or in Chambers postpone or adjourn any reference pending before himself or before any officer or Commissioner.

12. When in the opinion of the Judge taking motions on the Original Side, it is necessary that some or all of the references pending before any officer of the Court or Commissioner should be heard by the Court itself or by some other officer or Commissioner, such Judge may recall such references into Court and any time make such order as may be necessary for the purpose aforesaid, or if the parties should consent to any such change, he may make such order without recalling the reference into Court.

13. The Registrar or other officer taking a reference may at any time pending the reference or on its conclusion apply for the opinion of the Court on any question which may arise in the reference and for such purpose may report specially. Such special reference may be made at the instance of either of the parties or at the instance of the officer himself.

14. In case an officer refuse or decline to make special reference when requested by a party so to do, such party may apply in chambers by a petition or notice to the other parties to the reference for an order requiring the officer to report specially.

The Judge may in his discretion make such order upon such terms as to costs or otherwise as he may think fit.

15. These rules are to be read with and to form part of the general rules of the Original Side.

16. These rules shall come into operation on and from the 1st day of March, 1888.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF AJMERE-MERWARA.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Abu, the 4th April, 1888.

No. 288-83.—In exercise of the powers conferred by the Punjab Laws Amendment Act, 1875, as extended to the Chief Commissionership of Ajmere and Merwara, under the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874, the Chief Commissioner has, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, made the following rules:—

PART I.—Containing general rules relating to Government and jagir villages.

1. In these rules, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "village" means any khalsa or jagir village, or town not being a municipality or a place for which chaukidars have been appointed under Act XX of 1856; it applies to the six villages mentioned in the margin; and it includes any circle of villages to which a watchman may be appointed under these rules, and any group of houses and the lands appertaining thereto which may, for the purposes of these rules, be formed into a village by special order of the District Magistrate;

Karel, Kharekri, Rajosi, Nausar, Ajesar, Kotri.

(b) "headman" means a lambardar of a khalsa village, or a headman of any of the six villages specified above; it includes a jagirdar; it also includes a deputy, not being a village-watchman or jamadar, who may be appointed by a jagirdar, with the approval of the District Magistrate, to exercise the powers and perform the duties of headman in all or any of the villages in the jagirdar's estate; and

(c) "village-watchman" or "watchman" includes a jamadar.

2. The number of village-watchmen for each village shall be fixed by the District Magistrate, at his discretion, and generally according to the following scale, namely:—

(a) for 100 to 150 houses—one watchman;

(b) when there are more than 150 houses—one watchman to every 150 houses.

3. Ordinarily no village with less than 100 houses will have a watchman, but the District Magistrate may, having regard to the position of any such village and the character of its population, at his discretion appoint a watchman in it, or he may constitute a circle of villages, and to the circle so constituted appoint a watchman.

4. Where the number of village-watchmen in any village is five or more, one of them may be appointed head village-watchman and designated jamadar.

5. (a) The nomination of every village-watchman shall be made by the headman, subject to the sanction of the District Magistrate, who may, for reasons to be recorded, reject the nomination.

(b) There shall be no appeal from the District Magistrate's order.

(c) If the District Magistrate rejects a first nomination by the headman, the headman shall be allowed to make a second, but, in the event of that also being rejected by the District Magistrate, he shall be allowed to make no further nomination.

6. The nomination by the headman shall be made within fifteen days after the occurrence of a vacancy in an existing post of village-watchman, and, in the case of a new appointment, or second nomination, within fifteen days from the receipt by the headman of a written order from the District Magistrate requiring the nomination to be made.

7. If the headman makes default in the nomination, or if after the rejection of his first nomination a second nomination made by him has also been rejected, the District Magistrate shall himself appoint the village-watchman.

8. Every officer in charge of a police-station shall keep a register, in such form as the District Magistrate may prescribe, of the persons for the time being holding the office of village-watchman in the several villages within the local limits of his station.

9. (a) A headman may grant urgent leave to a village-watchman for a period not exceeding ten days.

(b) Applications for all other leave for village-watchmen shall be submitted through the District Superintendent of Police for the orders of the District Magistrate.

(c) When a headman grants leave to a watchman under this rule, he shall give information thereof to the officer in charge of the police-station as soon as possible.

10. A village-watchman shall not withdraw from the duties of his office without the permission of the District Magistrate, or without having given at least one month's notice of his intention to withdraw from such duties.

11. (a) Every village-watchman, other than a jamadar, shall be armed with a spear, and shall wear as uniform a blue chapkan and a belt.

(b) Every jamadar shall be armed with a sword, and shall wear as uniform a red and blue turban, a belt, and a blue chapkan trimmed with red and having red and blue stripes on the left sleeve.

12. Every village-watchman shall keep watch and ward in his village.

13. (a) Every village-watchman shall be deemed the servant of the village for the purposes of duties imposed upon him by these rules, and, as such, shall be bound, subject to the orders of the District Magistrate, to act in all matters connected with these rules in general subordination to the headman.

(b) A village-watchman may, by special order of the District Magistrate or the District Superintendent of Police, be employed temporarily beyond the limits of his village, and, while so employed, may discharge the same functions as when employed within the limits of his village.

14. Every village-watchman is bound to assist the police to the best of his ability in all matters connected with the prevention and detection of crime and the apprehension of offenders.

15. (a) Subject to the other provisions of these rules, every village-watchman shall report in person on the state of his village once a week to the officer in charge of the police-station within the limits of which the village is situate.

(b) Where there are several village-watchmen in a village the report shall be made by one watchman at a time, the duty being taken in rotation.

(c) The District Magistrate may order more or less frequent reports, at such intervals and for so long as he considers proper, from any village in his district.

16. Every headman and village-watchman is bound to comply with the provisions of section 45 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882; and in particular every village-watchman shall—

(a) give immediate information to the officer in charge of the police-station appointed for his village—

(1) of every unnatural, suspicious, or sudden death occurring in the village of which he is watchman;

(2) of any of the following offences occurring in such village (that is to say)—murder, culpable homicide, rape, docoity, theft, robbery, mischief by fire, house-breaking, counterfeiting coin, causing grievous hurt, riot, harbouring a proclaimed offender, exposure of a child, concealment of birth, administering stupefying drugs, kidnapping, and lurking house-trespass; and

(3) of all attempts and preparation to commit, and abetments of, any of the said offences;

(b) keep the police informed of all disputes which are likely to lead to any riot or serious affray:

(c) arrest all proclaimed offenders, and all persons whom he may find in the act of committing any offence specified in clause (a), sub-clause (2), of this rule and all persons against whom a formal complaint has been made of their having been concerned in any such offence, whether such offence is being or has been committed within his village or beyond it:

(d) to the best of his ability prevent the commission of any offence specified in clause (a), sub-clause (2), of this rule:

(e) observe, and from time to time report to the officer in charge of the police-station appointed for his village, the movement of all bad characters in such village:

(f) report to the officer in charge of such police-station the arrival of suspicious characters in the neighbourhood: and

(g) supply to the best of his ability any local information which a Magistrate or any officer of police may require, and promptly execute all orders issued to him by competent authority.

17. All occurrences reported at a police-station by village watchmen shall be recorded in the station-diaries; but it shall not be considered necessary to enter in such diaries the reports of watchmen who have no communication to make further than that the peace of their villages has been undisturbed since the last report.

18. A headman or village-watchman may of his own authority interpose to prevent any injury attempted to be committed in his view to any public property, moveable or immoveable, or to prevent the removal or injury of any public landmark.

19. For the purpose of arresting any such person as is referred to in clause (c) of rule 16, a village-watchman may pursue the person into the limits of the local jurisdiction of another village-watchman whether subordinate to the same Magistrate as himself, or to the Magistrate of another District.

20. If a person forcibly resists an endeavour to arrest him, a village-watchman or any person whom he may call to his aid may use all means necessary to effect the arrest.

21. A person arrested by a village-watchman shall not be subjected to more restraint than is necessary to prevent his escape, and the watchman shall take him as soon as possible to the police-station appointed for the village.

22. In a village to which no watchman has been appointed under these rules or from which a watchman is absent under rule 9, the functions of village-watchman shall be discharged by the headman of the village, who shall receive such remuneration for his services and collect the same in such manner as the District Magistrate may, with the approval of the Commissioner, determine after consideration of any representation which the headman may desire to record.

23. A headman discharging the functions of a village-watchman under the last foregoing rule shall have the powers and be subject to the liabilities of a village-watchman under these rules.

24. The monthly pay of a village-watchman shall not be less than four rupees, and the monthly pay of a jamadar shall not be less than seven rupees. The exact rate of pay shall in each case be determined by the District Magistrate; and the payments shall be invariably in cash.

25. The pay of all village-watchmen shall, subject to the control of the District Magistrate, be disbursed by, or under the direct supervision of, the District Superintendent of Police and on regularly prepared monthly pay bills.

26. (a) The pay of every village-watchman, and the cost of his arms and equipment, shall be provided from a cess, to be called the chaukidari cess, and to be levied annually from the village in which the watchman serves.

(b) The District Magistrate shall determine the amount of the chaukidari cess annually recoverable from each village.

(c) The amount shall in the first instance be assessed by the headman, under the general direction of the District Magistrate, on the houses of the village, or on classes of persons inhabiting the village, or on the land-revenue due from the village community, or otherwise as may seem to him expedient, with due regard, as far as may be, to local custom.

(d) The amount assessed shall be payable on dates not later than the dates fixed for the payment of instalments of land-revenue.

(e) The amount assessed shall be collected and paid into the Government treasury by the headman

27. (a) Before making any order as to the amount of the chaukidari cess to be levied in any village, or as to the mode in which, the persons from whom, or the dates on which that cess is to be levied, the District Magistrate shall give to the headman an opportunity of recording his opinion with respect to all or any of those matters, as the case may be, and shall take into consideration any opinion so recorded.

(b) If the District Magistrate dissents from the opinion of the headman, he shall in his order record his reasons for such dissent.

28. (a) A person dissatisfied with the amount at which he has been assessed may appeal, within thirty days from the date on which he receives notice of the assessment, to the District Magistrate, whose order shall be final.

(b) The appellate order of the District Magistrate shall be communicated to the headman concerned, so that the assessment may, if necessary, be revised.

29. (a) When the assessment has been finally settled, the Magistrate shall sign the list and shall cause one copy of it in Urdu or Hindi to be stuck up in some conspicuous place in the village for which the assessment has been made.

(b) With the list there shall also be stuck up a notification in Urdu or Hindi calling on each person whose name is included in the list to pay the tax, and warning him that, in the event of his failing to do so on or before a specified date, the amount will be recoverable as an arrear of land-revenue.

30. All receipts on account of the chaukidari cess shall be credited to a fund to be called the "chaukidari fund;" and all payments from the fund shall be made on bills passed by the District Superintendent of Police and countersigned by the District Magistrate.

31. All fines inflicted and savings accruing under these rules shall be credited to the chaukidari fund.

32. The assessment of the chaukidari cess shall be revised every third year, but the District Magistrate may, for special reasons, of his own motion or on the application of the villagers, direct its revision after any shorter interval.

33. (a) Whenever an assessment is revised under the last foregoing rule, a revised list, together with such a notification as is mentioned in rule 29, shall be prepared and published in the manner directed in that rule.

(b) All objections to a revised assessment shall be made and dealt with in the manner prescribed in rule 28.

34. The headman shall, on the 1st November, and 1st May in every year, or as soon after as possible, furnish a list of the defaulters in his village to the District Magistrate.

35. All orders of the District Magistrate in regard to the determination of the number of village-watchmen, the rate of their remuneration and the assessment of the chaukidari cess, shall be subject to revision and alteration by the Commissioner.

36. (a) Any person failing to perform any duty appertaining to him as a watchman under any of the foregoing rules shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be punishable with fine not exceeding three months' pay or with imprisonment, either simple or rigorous, for a term not exceeding six months, or with both.

(b) A prosecution for an offence under this rule shall not be instituted without the previous sanction of the District Magistrate.

(c) A person convicted under this rule shall also be liable to suspension from office for a period not exceeding six months, or to dismissal, by order of the District Magistrate.

37. Officers in charge of police-stations and headmen are prohibited, under penalty of dismissal from office, from employing village-watchmen on their private concerns, or on any duties unconnected with the police.

38. The District Magistrate may, instead of instituting criminal proceedings, suspend a headman or village-watchman from office during enquiry into alleged misconduct or neglect in the performance of his duties, and may punish him for such misconduct or neglect by dismissal or by suspension from office for a period not exceeding six months.

39. A headman or village-watchman shall not be punished under these rules except either after a criminal prosecution or by order of the District Magistrate.

40. Nothing in these rules shall be construed to prevent any person from being prosecuted under any other law for the time being in force for any offence against these rules, or from being liable under such law to any other or higher penalty or punishment than is provided by these rules for the offence:

Provided that no person shall be punished twice for the same offence.

PART II.—Containing special rules relating to the estates of Istimrardars.

41. The foregoing rules shall be enforced, so far as they may be applicable, and consistent with the following rules, in the estates of istimrardars.

42. (a) An istimrardar may, with the approval of the District Magistrate, appoint a deputy, not being a village-watchman or jamadar, to discharge the functions of headman in all or any of the villages in the istimrardar's estate.

(b) Unless and until the appointment of a deputy is made and approved, the istimrardar shall be directly and personally responsible for the efficient discharge of the functions of headman in all or any of the villages in his estate.

43. The District Magistrate shall, with the previous sanction of the Commissioner, determine the number of village-watchmen to be appointed in each istimrardar's estate, and the number shall not be reduced except under the authority of the Commissioner.

44. An istimrardar, or his deputy, shall not employ village-watchmen on his private concerns, or on any duties unconnected with the police.

45. The nomination of village-watchmen, and the power of granting leave to them and of filling casual vacancies among them, shall rest entirely with the istimrardar, but the District Magistrate may, with the sanction of the Commissioner, require an istimrardar to dismiss any watchman.

46. The monthly pay of a village-watchman shall not be less than four rupees and the monthly pay of a jamadar shall not be less than seven rupees. The exact rate of pay shall in each case be fixed by the istimrardar.

47. (a) The District Magistrate shall determine the total amount leviable as chaukidari cess in each istimrardar's estate, and the istimrardar shall regulate and arrange the details of the assessment and collection of the cess within the limits of that amount.

(b) A person dissatisfied with the assessment made upon him by the istimrardar may appeal, within thirty days from the day on which he is informed of the assessment, to the District Magistrate, whose order shall be final.

(c) If the District Magistrate alters the assessment the istimrardar shall be bound to revise it according to the order.

48. (a) When the assessment has been finally settled, the Magistrate shall sign the list and shall cause one copy of it in Urdu or Hindi to be stuck up in some conspicuous place in the village for which the assessment has been made.

(b) With the list there shall also be stuck up a notification in Urdu or Hindi calling on each person whose name is included in the list to pay the tax, and warning him that, in the event of his failing to do so on or before a specified date, the amount will be recoverable as an arrear of land-revenue.

49. All watchmen in the estates of istimrardars shall be paid in cash: provided that in special cases where payment in kind has been customary the Commissioner may sanction its continuance.

50. When an istimrardar or his deputy satisfies the Collector that any sum due as chaukidari cess has fallen due and has not been paid to him, the Collector may, in his discretion, recover it as if it were an arrear of land-revenue.

51. Every istimrardar shall submit to the District Magistrate quarterly an acquittance roll showing that the salaries of his watchmen have been duly disbursed, and, at the end of each year, shall submit an abstract statement showing the following details relating to the past year:—

(a) the amount of the chaukidari cess leviable in his estate,

(b) the amount collected,

(c) the amount spent on the salaries of watchmen,

(d) the amount spent on uniform and equipments supplied to watchmen, and

(e) the surplus, if any.

PART III.—General Provisions.

52. Except in respect of the estates of istimrardars, the District Magistrate may delegate to a Sub-Divisional Magistrate all or any of the powers conferred upon the District Magistrate by the foregoing rules; and the Sub-Divisional Magistrate may then exercise the powers within the limits of his sub-division.

53. Nothing in any of the foregoing rules shall be deemed to impair or modify the responsibilities devolving upon istimrardars, jagirdars, or bhumias, under their respective sanads or the orders of the Chief Commissioner or the Governor-General in Council, as the case may be.

The 6th April, 1888.

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies, attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned.

Candidates will not be examined in any of the Calcutta offices.

2. Candidates not in Government employ who wish to be examined at the college must forward their applications direct to the Principal, those employed in Government offices through the head of their office who will forward the application to the Principal.

All applications must reach the Principal before the 5th May, 1888.

4. All applications must be accompanied by a fee of ₹10, and the following certificates :—

Certificates may be submitted in original, or true copies, attested by an officer of the Engineer or Accounts Branch, but none will be returned.

5. Copies of examination papers are not procurable except those that are issued for examination. These need not be returned.

6. Each examination is complete in itself. A candidate who has failed in an examination, and presents himself for examination on a subsequent occasion, must undergo the full examination, and furnish a fresh fee and certificates.

RULES REGARDING PURCHASES MADE BY AGENTS OF THE COMMISSARIAT DEPARTMENT.

1. Agents of the Commissariat Department have, by virtue of their office the care and the responsibility for the safe and proper storing and keeping, in the places appointed for the custody thereof, of all goods in their charge. They are also at times required to make purchases on behalf of Government, for which they are provided with public funds.

2. If agents, instead of receiving advances from Commissariat Officers, obtain goods from vendors on credit, and pay for them after receipt of payment of their bills for the said goods, it should be understood that such procedure is unauthorized and beyond the scope of their authority, and the outside public and dealers in general are hereby informed that the Commissariat Department does not hold itself responsible for any debts or liabilities which are incurred by its agents, unless they are specially authorized by the Commissariat Officer to purchase on credit.

3. The transactions of Commissariat agents are entirely between themselves and the vendors; the Commissariat Officer pays the agent's and not the vendor's bills; and the circumstance of the purchaser being an agent of the State will not render the State liable for purchases made on credit given to the agent.
