No. 96.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

In accordance with the provisions of the Indian Securities Act, XIII of 1886, the Governor General in Council is pleased to make the following rules under section 14 of the Act:—

1. Interest cages, shewing the several half-years at which interest will accrue, shall be imprinted on the reverse of each new note issued, and payment shall be recorded by the stamp of the Disbursing Office, or by a manuscript entry, over the space apportioned to the half-year concerned. If payment be made at a Presidency town, the recording entry shall shew the Presidency and the date and number of the issuing warrant, which shall be in the form of a negotiable instrument payable to the holder's order. But if payment be made at a District Treasury, the recording entry shall shew the name of the Treasury, the number borne by the payment voucher, and the date of payment; this entry shall be authenticated by the initials of the Treasury Officer, and the holder's receipt shall be taken on the face of the payment voucher. If, however, the note be of the old form, and bear no interest cage, the holder's endorsement for interest will be required on the note itself, and payments will be authenticated by the Disbursing Officer under the endorsement as heretofore.

2. Under the preceding rule, interest cages shall be imprinted, and (in the case of notes in the old form) holder's endorsements for interest shall be written only on the back of the note itself.

3. If the note be of the old form and bear no interest cage, the holder's endorsement for interest should agree letter for letter with the name in the body of the note, or in the transferring endorsement, as the case may be; the usual signature may be added below.

4. An endorsement or receipt by a native female must be attested by the signatures of at least two respectable witnesses, who must attend before the Officer in charge of the Treasury where interest is payable, and certify to the genuineness of the endorsement or receipt.

5. Notice of any private trust in an endorsement or receipt for interest is inadmissible.

6. A note blank endorsed by the holder is not receivable at any Government Treasury or at the Public Debt Offices in the Presidency towns. The holder of any such security will therefore be required to specially endorse the same before submitting it for payment of interest.

7. The holder of a note may be required to receipt the same for renewal in all or any of the following cases, that is to say:—

(1) If the note has been enfaced for payment of interest at a Mofussil Treasury, and the holder thereof is desirous of altering the place of payment.

(2) If only sufficient room remains on the back of the note for one further endorsement, or when any word or words is or are written upon the note across any existing endorsement or endorsements, all cross endorsements being strictly prohibited.

(3) If the note is torn or in any way damaged or crowded with writing, or unfit, in the opinion of the officer before whom it is produced for payment of interest, for receiving endorsement.

(4) If, in the opinion of such last-mentioned officer, the title of the person presenting the note for payment of interest is irregular or not fully proved.

(5) If the note in question, being a counterpart note issued under the provisions of Rule 8, has ceased to be the property of a minor, or to belong to an estate in which administration is limited to interest.

In all or any of the preceding cases payment of any further interest on such note may be refused until the note is receipted for renewal and actually renewed.

8. In the case of any note which is the property of a minor or belongs to an estate in which administration is limited to interest, the Public Debt Office at Calcutta may, upon such note being deposited with them, issue to the holder of such note a counterpart thereof having the words "counterpart not negotiable" stamped across the face thereof, and further payments of interest may be recorded upon such counterpart. Whenever such note shall cease to be the property of a minor, or shall cease to belong to an estate in which administration is limited to interest, the further payment of interest in respect of the note may be refused, until the first or any subsequent counterpart (as the case may be) issued in respect of it has been receipted and renewed in the manner provided in the last preceding rule. Upon such counterpart being receipted and renewed as aforesaid, the same, together with the original note and any preceding counterpart issued in respect thereof, will be cancelled.

9. No payment of interest and no record or acknowledgment of the payment of interest and no issue of a counterpart note under the preceding rules is to be deemed or taken to be an acknowledgment of the title of the holder of any note.

10. The following fees are payable in respect of applications under sections 11 and 12 of the Act:—

For each renewed or duplicate security, 4 annas per cent. if the new note does not exceed ₹400, and ₹1 if the new note exceeds that sum.

11. A note tendered for renewal must be receipted on the reverse as follows:—

"Received in lieu hereof a renewed note in the name of , with interest payable at Signature of holder."

12. If a person tendering a note for renewal applies for more than one note in lieu of the note tendered, the latter must be receipted on the reverse as follows, or as near thereto as circumstances will admit:—

"Received in lieu of the within two (or more) notes for ₹ respectively in the name of , with interest payable at

13. If a person tendering more than one note for renewal applies for one consolidated note in lieu of the notes tendered, the latter must be receipted as follows, or as near thereto as circumstances will admit :—

"Received in lieu of the within a new note in the name of . . for ₹ by consolidation with Promissory Note or Notes Nos. (mentioning the numbers and amounts of the other notes desired to be consolidated with it) with interest payable at

14. The form of receipt mentioned in the foregoing rules must be very clearly and correctly written, and there must be no ambiguity as to the name of the payee of the new note. The holder's signature should agree letter for letter with the name in the body of the note, or in the transferring endorsement, as the case may be; the usual signature may be added below.

15. The holder of any note requiring renewal may procure a renewed note in lieu of his original security in any of the following ways; that is to say, he may present it duly receipted either in person or through a representative at—(1), Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta; or (2) at a Government Treasury for transmission to that office; or (3), at the Banks of Madras and Bombay, who, as Agents of the said Bank of Bengal, may either renew such notes on their own responsibility, or may forward them to the said Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, for renewal. In the case of notes presented direct to the said Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, or transmitted to it for renewal, either through a Government Treasury or the Bank of Madras or of Bombay, the prescribed officer referred to in section 11 of the said Act shall be the Secretary, Bank of Bengal, for the time being; and in the case of notes presented for renewal at the Bank of Madras or of Bombay, and renewed by those Banks on their own responsibility, such officer shall be the Secretary of the Bank of Madras or of the Bank of Bombay, for the time being, as the case may be.

16. The officer referred to in section 12, sub-section (1), of the Act, shall be the Comptroller General for the time being.

17. The loss or destruction of a Promissory Note shall be notified, in the first instance, by letter addressed to the Bank of Bengal, Public Debt Office, Calcutta; such letter shall contain the following particulars :—

(5) Particulars of coupons attached (if any).

(6) Where enfaced at present.

(7) The circumstances attending the loss.

(8) Whether the loss was reported to the Police.

The above letter shall be accompanied by—

(a) The Post Office registry receipt for the letter containing the note, if the same was lost in transmission by post.

(b) The Police report, if any can be obtained.

(c) A letter signed by the Officer of the Treasury or Presidency Bank where interest was last paid, certifying the last payment of interest made on the note, and to whom, if interest was paid out of Calcutta.

(d) If the applicant is not the last registered holder, all documentary evidence necessary to trace back the title to the last registered holder.

(e) Any portions or fragment which may remain of the lost or destroyed note.

A duplicate of the letter to the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, must also be sent to the Treasury where interest is payable.

18. The loss or destruction of a Promissory Note shall be further notified by an advertisement, which the applicant for a duplicate note shall cause to be inserted in three successive issues of the Gazette of India, and of the Local Government Gazette of the place where the loss or destruction occurred. Such notification shall be in the form following, or as near thereto as the circumstances will admit :—

Lost or destroyed (as the case may be).

The Government Promissory Note No. , of the per cent. loan of , for ₹ , originally standing in the name of ,
and last endorsed to ,
the proprietor, by whom it was never endorsed to any other person, having been lost or destroyed, notice is hereby given that payment of the above note and the interest thereupon have been stopped at the Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, and that application is about to be made for the issue of a duplicate in favour of the proprietor. The public are cautioned against purchasing or otherwise dealing with the abovementioned Security.

Name of the Advertiser—Residence—

19. At the expiration of six months from the date of the insertion of the last advertisement, the Comptroller General shall, if satisfied of the loss or destruction of a portion of a note, and of the justice of the claim of the applicant, and if a sufficient portion for the identification of the note so lost or destroyed shall have been produced, direct the Public Debt Office, upon the execution of such bond of indemnity as is hereinafter mentioned, to issue to the applicant a duplicate note in lieu of that so lost or destroyed as aforesaid. If, however, no portion or no sufficient portion of the note so lost or destroyed shall have been produced as aforesaid, then, at the expiration of two years from the date of the insertion of such last advertisement, the Comptroller General shall, if satisfied as aforesaid, pass an order directing the Public Debt Office, upon the execution of such bond of indemnity as is hereinafter mentioned, to pay the applicant interest in respect of the note so lost or destroyed pending the issue of a duplicate note and also directing the said Public Debt Office, at the expiration of six years from the date of the publication of the list in which the lost or destroyed security is first mentioned, if no reason to the contrary appear, to issue to the applicant (on his executing and procuring the execution by two sureties of such indemnity bond as is hereinafter mentioned, should the same be deemed necessary by the Comptroller General), a duplicate note in lieu of that so lost or destroyed as aforesaid.

20. The Comptroller General may, within six years of the date of an order passed by him under Rule 19, if he finds sufficient reason, alter or cancel such order, and may also require that the interval before the issue of a duplicate note be extended to twelve years, or such shorter period not being less than six years, as he may think fit.

21. Indemnity bonds when taken on the issue of a duplicate note or notes shall be for twice the amount of such note or notes, and when taken on the issue of orders for payment of interest shall be for twice the amount of the interest involved, that is to say, twice the aggregate amount of all back interest accrued due on the note, plus twice the amount of all interest to accrue due thereon, during the six years which will have to elapse before the issue of a duplicate note can be made. In simple cases such bonds may be issued by the Comptroller General at Calcutta in a printed form prescribed by Government. No fee will be chargeable if a bond does not exceed in amount ₹500; but on bonds for higher amounts a fee of ₹5 for every ₹1,000 or part of ₹1,000 will be charged, provided that no fee for any one bond so issued shall exceed in amount ₹30. If, however, the Comptroller General consider that the circumstances of the case demand that a bond shall be specially prepared by the Government Solicitor, a fee of ₹32 shall be payable to that officer.

22. The list of securities lost or destroyed, referred to in section 12 (3) of the said Act in respect of which an order is made for payment of interest pending the issue of a duplicate security, or for the issue of such duplicate security, shall be advertised half-yearly in the Gazette of India in the months of January and July, or as soon afterwards as may be convenient. All securities in respect of which an order has been passed as aforesaid shall be included in the first list published next after the passing of such order, and shall continue to be advertised every half-year until the expiration of six years from the date of first publication, or from the date of the last payment of interest on the original securities, whichever is the later date. Such list shall contain the following particulars, viz., the name of the loan and number of the lost note, its value, in whose name it was issued, from what date it bears interest, the name of the claimant for a duplicate, the number and date of the order passed by the Comptroller General for payment of interest or issue of a duplicate, and the date of publication of the list in which such security was first mentioned.

No. 171-I.—Whereas His Highness the Maharaja of Dhar (Dhar being a Native State within the meaning of the Native Coinage Act, 1876) has asked the Government of India to have copper coins of the denominations current in British India made under the said Act at the mints of the Government of India for the Dhar State, to the aggregate nominal value of (R22,756-2) twenty-two thousand seven hundred and fifty-six rupees and two annas, such being the amount estimated as requisite for circulation in the said State: And whereas the said coins have been made, and are identical in weight with the coins of the Government of India of the same metal, and the devices upon their obverse and reverse, which differ from the devices on coins now made or issued by the said State, have been approved by the Governor-General in Council, and upon each of such coins its value in money of the Government of India is inscribed in the English language: And whereas the said Maharaja has undertaken, for himself and his successors, to take back at its nominal value all coins so made which may accumulate in British treasuries: And whereas the said Maharaja has undertaken for himself and his successors to abstain during a term of thirty years from the date of this notification from coining in his own mint any copper coins, and has also undertaken for himself and his successors that no coins resembling coins for the time being a legal tender in British India, shall, after the expiration of the said term of thirty years, be struck under the authority of himself or his successors, or with his or their permission, at any place within or without his or their jurisdiction: And whereas the said Maharaja has formally declared that a tender of payment of money if made in the copper coins of the Government of India shall, in the territories subject to His Highness, be a legal tender in cases in which payment made in such coins would, under the law for the time being in force, be a legal tender in British India: And whereas the said Maharaja has agreed, for himself and his successors, that the law and rules for the time being in force respecting the cutting and breaking of coin of the Government of India reduced in weight by reasonable wearing or otherwise, or counterfeit, or called in by proclamation, shall apply to the coins made for the said State under the said Act, and that the said State will defray the cost of cutting and breaking them: And whereas the said Maharaja has also agreed for himself and his successors not to issue the said coins below their nominal value, and not to allow any discount or other advantage to any person in order to bring them into circulation: And whereas the said Maharaja has also agreed for himself and his successors that, if at any time the Government of India calls in its coinage of copper of any or of all denominations, His Highness or his successors will, if so requested by the Government of India, call in, at his or their own expense, all or any denominations of the said copper coins coined for him:—

The Governor-General in Council in consideration of the premises, and in exercise of the power conferred on him by Section 3 of the Native Coinage Act, IX of 1876, is pleased to declare that a tender of payment of money if made in the said copper coins made under the said Act for the said State of Dhar, shall, subject to the provisions of Section 14 of the Indian Coinage Act, XXIII of 1870, be a legal tender in British India.

PRACTICAL TRAINING OF NATIVE ENGINEERS IN ENGLAND.

Read again—

Resolution in the Public Works Department, No. 1541—57G., dated 29th November 1882, on the subject of practical training of Native Engineers in England.

Read—

Despatch from the Secretary of State for India, to the Government of India, No. 13 P. W., dated 24th March 1887.

Despatch to Secretary of State, No. 63 P. W., dated 31st October 1887.

Despatch from Secretary of State, No. 69 P. W., dated 8th December 1887.

OBSERVATIONS.—The Resolution of 1882, now read again, indicated the procedure under which, as an experiment, not more than two Native Engineers annually were to be sent to England at the public expense for professional training.

2. Under these orders, ten young Engineers, being natives or domiciled Europeans, have been sent to England in the five years from 1883 to 1887 inclusive.

3. In March last, the Secretary of State called for a full report on the results that had been obtained from the experiment, and for a definite opinion of this Government as to their value.

4. A report was accordingly obtained from the several Local Governments concerned as to the value of the experience gained in England by the officers who, after having passed a period of training there, had returned to their work in this country.

Bombay.
Bengal.
Punjab.

5. The three Local Governments consulted were of opinion that the value of the training was not commensurate with the expense incurred.

6. The Government of India, on a perusal of the reports from the Local Governments and of the reports on the progress of the several officers while under training, forwarded from time to time by the Secretary of State, was of opinion that training in England is an undoubted advantage to those officers who have a real desire to profit by it; but that the expenses of it ought to be largely contributed to by the officers themselves.

7. Accordingly, it was recommended that the contribution made by the State should be limited to paying the officers, while absent from duty in India, two-thirds of their salary only, together with an allowance of Rs. 1,000 to assist in defraying the expense of the voyage to and from England. And it was proposed to continue to send annually to England not more than two carefully selected officers, who were willing to accept the modified terms.

8. The orders of the Secretary of State on these proposals have now been received. His Lordship accepts the modified financial conditions proposed by the Government of India; but, in view of the reports received as to the success of the experiment, is inclined only to consider cases of a very special character, which may arise from time to time, and which this Government may deem desirable to recommend in the public interest.

9. In view of these orders, it is now necessary to call for revised recommendations on behalf of young Engineers who fulfil the condition of being natives or domiciled Europeans. Such recommendations should be carefully made on behalf of those only who shew a bonâ fide desire to improve their professional knowledge, and must be strongly supported by their immediate superiors, on the ground that the officers possess the necessary qualifications for profiting by their deputation to England.

10. All previous recommendations will, under these orders, be considered as cancelled, and should not be repeated unless they can be now brought forward as cases to be specially considered under the new orders by the Government of India and by the Secretary of State.

The age of officers recommended should be limited for this year (1888) to 30 years, for next year to 28, and thereafter to 25 years.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be forwarded to the Local Governments, Administrations and Officers noted on the margin; also that it be published in Part I of the Gazette of India.

LEAVE AND APPOINTMENTS.

The 31st January, 1888.

No. 546.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

IT has been brought to the notice of the Government of India that officers employed under Government sometimes obtain leave of absence, with the intention of taking up other employment under Government or otherwise, or accept such employment while on leave. Where this is done with the previous knowledge and consent of the officer's Departmental superior, the practice is not open to objection. There is reason however to believe that, in the absence of any specific directions, officers are apt to consider it unnecessary to obtain the consent of their immediate superior before accepting employment elsewhere; and as it seems advisable that this practice should be discontinued, the Governor General in Council has prescribed the following rules :—

1.—No Head of an Office should employ, either temporarily or permanently, an officer belonging to another establishment, without the previous consent of the officer on whose establishment he is at the time borne. In cases in which, for reasons which may appear satisfactory to the new employer, such consent cannot be obtained before the officer joins his new appointment, his employment may be made conditional on consent being obtained in due course.

2.—It shall be incumbent upon an officer employed under Government, whether on leave or not, before accepting other employment, either to resign his previous appointment, or to obtain the consent of his Departmental superior to his accepting such employment. If such consent is not obtained, either previously or, when this is not possible, in due course, the officer renders himself liable to be discharged from his previous appointment, and thus to lose the benefit of his previous service for pension.

2. There is nothing in these rules to prevent an officer on one establishment seeking employment on another. But an officer is not placed under any disability by resigning one appointment to take up another (Civil Pension Code, 101, 1) ; and it must be held to be a breach of discipline, if an officer actually transfers his services to a new employer without first obtaining the consent of his old employer, or definitely resigning his old employment.

ORDERED, that this Resolution be communicated to the several Local Governments, Administrations, and Heads of Departments for information and guidance.

Ordered also, that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

The 2nd February, 1888.

The 11th February, 1888.

No. 769.—In exercise of the power conferred by the last paragraph of section 1 of the Indian Salt Act, 1882, the Governor General in Council is pleased to extend to the districts of the Orissa Division, on and from the eleventh day of February 1888, the whole of the said Act with the exception of the following portions, namely :—

(1) the portions thereof specified in the second paragraph of section 1;

(3) the words "any officer of the Northern India Salt Department, and also includes" in the third clause of section 3;
(4) section 5; and
(5) section 31.

2. Under the provisions of section 28 of the Act aforesaid the Governor General in Council is pleased to make a rule that any thing to be done under that Act by the Commissioner of Northern India Salt Revenue is to be done in the districts of the Orissa Division by the Commissioner of Salt and Abkari Revenue, Madras Presidency.

No. 771.—The following Rules made by the Governor General in Council in exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian Salt Act, 1882, are published under section 29 of the said Act :—

Preliminary.

1. These rules are applicable to the districts of the Orissa Division only.

Manufacture, Storage, and Sale of Salt under License.

2. No person who is not duly licensed in the manner hereinafter provided shall manufacture salt.

3. Any person wishing to manufacture salt shall apply for a license to the Assistant Commissioner of Salt Revenue in charge of the Division in which it is desired to carry on the manufacture, who may grant or withhold it as he shall see fit.

4. Each such license shall contain the name of the person to whom it is given; shall specify the limits within which such manufacture shall be carried on, and the places where the salt so manufactured shall be stored; shall expire on such date as may be stated therein; and shall be subject to the following conditions :—

i.—The provisions of the Act and of all Rules duly made under it shall be strictly observed by the licensee, his agents, and servants.

ii.—None but good salt, capable in the judgment of the Assistant Commissioner of bearing the duty fixed from time to time by the Governor General in Council under section 7 of the Act, shall be manufactured. The Salt Revenue Officer in charge of any Salt Store may refuse to permit the removal of any salt stored therein which he may consider not to be so capable, pending the decision of the Assistant Commissioner. All salt adjudged by the Assistant Commissioner to be inferior shall be destroyed in his presence, or in the presence of such officer as he may depute for the purpose, in such manner as he may direct.

iii.—On or before the first day of each month during which or any part of which—

(a) the manufacture of salt is in progress, or any salt remains unstored, in the licensee's Salt Works; or

(b) any salt manufactured by the licensee remains in store in any Salt Store, the licensee shall, if required, pay into such Government treasury or sub-treasury as the Assistant Commissioner shall appoint, such sum as the Assistant Commissioner shall prescribe on account of the cost of the guarding establishments maintained by Government at such Salt Works or Salt Store; provided that, when the Salt Works of two or more licensees are so situated that they can be effectively supervised by a single establishment, or that when two or more licensees store their salt in a single Salt Store, one establishment only may be employed for the guarding of such Salt Works or Salt Store, as the case may be, and that the cost of it shall be recovered from the several licensees in such proportions as the Assistant Commissioner may direct.

Provided also that if, after the expiry of the license, it shall be found that the cost (the prescribed pensionary and leave allowance contributions included) of the Government guarding establishments actually employed at the Salt Works and Salt Store during the period of the currency of the license, or the licensee's proportion of such cost, as the case may be, has not exceeded five per centum of the revenue derived by Government during such period from the levy of duty on salt manufactured in the licensee's Salt Works and issued from the Salt Store for consumption on payment of duty, the whole amount of the monthly sums paid as aforesaid shall be refunded to the licensee; and that if such cost or proportion thereof has exceeded five per centum of such revenue, in that case five per centum of such revenue shall be returned.

iv.—No alteration shall be made in the pans, wells, or other plant of the Salt Work as existing at the date of the license without written sanction from the Salt Revenue Officer in charge of the Circle.

v.—Any wilful breach of the conditions of his license by the licensee, or by his servants with his connivance and privity, or by his heirs, administrators or assigns, shall entail forfeiture or suspension of the license at the discretion of the Assistant Commissioner in addition to any penalty which may by law be imposed for such breach.

vi.—All salt remaining in any Salt Work, the license to manufacture salt at which has been cancelled or suspended, shall be stored in the appointed place within fifteen days of the date of such cancelment or suspension; and all salt manufactured in any such Salt Work, which shall be in store at such date or shall subsequently be brought into store as hereinbefore provided, shall be removed on payment of duty within six months of such date. The Assistant Commissioner may cause any salt which may not be so stored after such period of fifteen days, or which may remain in store after the expiry of such period of six months, to be stored, or to be put up to auction, and sold if the price offered be equal to the excise duty leviable thereon, as the case may be. If the Assistant Commissioner shall cause such salt to be stored, the cost of such storage, including the expenses of transport, if any, shall be recovered from the licensee. If such salt be so sold, and if the price bid be less than the excise duty leviable thereon, the Assistant Commissioner may cause the salt to be destroyed in such manner as he shall think fit.

Such licenses shall also be subject to such further conditions as the Assistant Commissioner may from time to time prescribe for the protection of the Government revenue.

5. The licensee shall commence and close manufacture within such dates as may be prescribed by the Assistant Commissioner, and shall at the commencement of each manufacturing season, intimate in writing to the officer in charge of the Circle the number and extent of the pans which he intends to work in that season.

6. The licensee shall fence in the place of manufacture and the drying-grounds, and shall keep the fences in a proper state of repair to the satisfaction of the Assistant Commissioner, and shall refrain from injuring the same by entering or leaving the works by other than the authorised pathways. Permission will not be granted to commence manufacture in any year unless and until this condition is complied with.

7. All salt scraped shall be removed to the drying-ground before sunset of the same day. The officer in charge of the Works may order all salt not so removed to be destroyed in such manner as he shall deem fit.

8. Salt removed to the drying-ground shall be kept there only in such places as may be directed by the officer in charge of the Works.

9. Unless in the case of floods, or from other unavoidable necessity, salt shall be moved from the drying-grounds only to the Salt Store, and to the Salt Store only for the purpose of storage after permission to store has been obtained, at such times and in such quantities as may be ordered by the officer in charge of the Works.

10. In all cases in which he may consider it necessary for the protection of the revenue, the Assistant Commissioner may direct that no salt shall be moved from the drying-grounds to the Salt Store except in sealed bags, into each of which an equal weight or quantity of salt shall be placed, and under a written pass from the Salt Revenue Officer in charge of the Works. Such pass shall specify the name of the manufacturer, the number of his license, the route by which the salt is to be transported, the number of bags, and the date on which the pass is granted. A copy of every such pass shall be forwarded by the officer granting it to the Assistant Commissioner. All salt removed under such pass shall be weighed or estimated by measurement previous to such removal by the Salt Revenue establishments. The bags shall be sewn on the inside and sealed in such manner as the Assistant Commissioner may from time to time prescribe, and shall be conveyed direct and without unnecessary delay from the Works to the Salt Store by the route prescribed in the pass, which shall be delivered for record to the officer in charge of the Salt Store, without removal of the seals or undoing the fastenings or otherwise tampering with the bags or the abstraction of their contents. All expenses connected with the weighment and bagging of the salt and with the sealing of the bags shall be paid by the licensee.

11. If the whole or any portion of a consignment of salt despatched from the Works to the Salt Store be not delivered at the Salt Store within the time mentioned in the pass, or if any bag or bags comprised in any such consignment be found, on arrival at the Salt Store and on inspection by the officer in charge thereof, to have been tampered with by removal of the seal or seals, or in any other manner, the licensee shall, on demand in writing, pay to the Assistant Commissioner enhanced duty on the said consignment, or on the portion thereof which has not been so delivered, or on the salt contained, at the time of their despatch from the Works, in the bag or bags so tampered with, as the case may be, at such rate as the Assistant Commissioner shall direct, not being more than double the rate for the time being imposed by rule under section 7(a) of the Act on salt manufactured in the Orissa Division; and shall also, if so required, forthwith remove from the Salt Store the said consignment or portion thereof, if subsequently received at the Salt Store, or the bag or bags so tampered with, as the case may be. Any such consignment or portion thereof, if subsequently received at the Salt Store, or bag or bags appearing to have been tampered with, may be detained by the officer in charge of the Salt Store pending the orders of the Assistant Commissioner. If the owner of any such consignment, &c., as aforesaid shall refuse to pay enhanced duty as aforesaid, or if he shall fail or neglect so to pay within seven days after the receipt of demand, the Assistant Commissioner may sell the whole or any part of such consignment, if subsequently received at the Salt Store, in such manner and at such time and place as he may think fit, and may credit the proceeds to Government. Before a demand for enhanced duty is made on a licensee under this rule, the Assistant Commissioner must be satisfied that an offence under section 9 of the Act has been committed, and, where the salt exceeds five sers in weight, he must make the report required by section 13.

Provided always that no such demand for the payment of enhanced duty as aforesaid shall be made if the owner of any such consignment as aforesaid shall satisfy the Assistant Commissioner or his official superior that the failure to deliver the said consignment or any part thereof at the Salt Store within the time specified in the pass, or that the removal of the seal or seals from a bag or bags, or other appearance of tampering with a bag or bags, was due to stress of weather or to accidents occurring to the boats or vehicles used in the transport of such consignment, or to other unavoidable cause beyond his power of control.

12. If the officer in charge of the Salt Store be satisfied that salt delivered to him has been transported according to rule and to the conditions of the pass, if the salt has been removed from the Salt Works under pass, he shall permit the licensee to store the salt.

13. The salt shall be stored in such places and in such manner as the Assistant Commissioner may from time to time authorize and direct by the servants and at the expense of the licensee.

14. All salt shall be stored within forty-five days of the date on which it was made, and within thirty days of the date fixed for the closing of manufacture.

15. The Assistant Commissioner may extend the above periods of forty-five days and thirty days respectively in case storage should be unavoidably delayed by rain or by any other sufficient cause.

16. If a licensee shall fail to store his salt within the periods above prescribed, the officer in charge of the Circle shall take such steps as he may consider necessary for its storage; and the cost of such storage shall be recovered from the licensee.

17. No salt so stored shall be permitted to be removed from the Store on sale and payment of duty until the cost of such storage has been paid by, or has been recovered from, such licensee.

18. The officer in charge of the Circle may refuse to allow the storage of salt which he considers to be insufficiently dried for storage.

19. All salt shall be weighed into store under the supervision and directions of a Salt Revenue Officer of such rank as the Assistant Commissioner shall appoint. The buildings in which storage is made shall be previously approved by the Assistant Commissioner, and shall be divided into compartments in such manner as he shall direct. In each such compartment, so long as so much salt shall be available for storage, an equal weight of salt, not being less than five hundred maunds, shall be stored. No additional storage will be allowed in any compartment from the salt contained in which any removals may have been made, except after the re-weighment of the remainder of the salt and before the resumption of removals from such remainder.

20. The licensee shall keep in a proper state of repair, to the satisfaction of the Assistant Commissioner, all buildings used for the storage of his salt. If he shall fail to begin any repairs which the Assistant Commissioner may order him to make within ten days of the receipt of a written notice from the Assistant Commissioner directing him to make such repairs, or shall fail to complete any such repairs within the time specified in such notice, the Assistant Commissioner may proceed to have such repairs executed, and may recover the cost thereof from the licensee.

21. The licensee shall provide and maintain suitable and secure fastenings to the buildings in which the salt is stored, to the satisfaction of the Assistant Commissioner, for the attachment of locks to be provided by Government. The keys of all such locks will be retained by the officer in charge of the Salt Store, but the licensee will be at liberty to affix his own locks also, provided that he shall always, on the requisition of the Assistant Commissioner or of the officer in charge of the Circle or of the Salt Store, immediately remove his locks.

22. The Assistant Commissioner may, at his discretion, call on the licensee to store any sifted or refuse salt manufactured by him which may be lying unstored within the limits of the Salt Works, or, at the option of the licensee, to destroy the same. If the licensee shall fail either to store or to destroy such salt within ten days of the receipt of the order so to do, the Assistant Commissioner may cause such salt to be destroyed, and may recover the cost of such destruction from the licensee; and the Assistant Commissioner shall have authority to determine finally, and without appeal, whether any salt is sifted or refuse for the purposes of this rule.

23. Unless in the case of floods, or from other unavoidable necessity, no salt shall be removed from any Salt Store except for consumption on payment of duty under a permit.

24. Persons wishing to remove salt from a Salt Store for consumption on payment of duty, shall first pay the charges due thereon into such Government treasury or sub-treasury as may from time to time be appointed, and shall receive in return a receipt.

Fractions of quarter maunds shall be paid for as quarter maunds.

25. The receipt shall be presented with a written requisition to the Salt Revenue Officer in charge of the Salt Store, who will grant in lieu a permit for the removal of the salt, and will depute a subordinate officer to supervise its weighment and issue to the holder of the permit. If, however, the officer in charge of the Salt Store suspect the genuineness of the receipt or other fraud, he may refuse to issue the permit except under security equivalent to the full value of the salt covered by such receipt, together with the duty leviable thereon, and shall refer the case for the orders of his superior.

26. No permit will be granted for the removal of less than twenty-four maunds of salt at one time, except to complete the clearance of a compartment, or as a sample, for which latter purpose one maund of salt may be removed from each compartment on not more than three occasions.

27. Salt will only be issued on such days and at such times as the Assistant Commissioner may appoint for each Salt Store. All salt shall be removed on the day on which it is weighed out, and shall, for this purpose, be placed in bags, to be provided by the holder of the permit to the satisfaction of the officer in charge of the Salt Store, into each of which the same weight of salt shall be placed. When the weighment and bagging of the salt is completed, the bags will be retained, until check-weighed by an Inspector or Assistant Inspector, who will countersign the permit, and allow the removal of the salt.

28. If on check-weighment of any consignment of salt by an Inspector or Assistant Inspector as aforesaid it is found to exceed the quantity entered in the permit, the following practice shall be observed by the Inspector or Assistant Inspector:—

(a) If the excess is not more than one per cent., he shall allow the consignment to pass unquestioned.

(b) If the excess exceeds one per cent., he shall—

(1) if the officer in charge of the Circle, and if satisfied on inquiry that an offence punishable under section 9 of the Act has been committed, either detain the whole consignment and make complaint to a Magistrate and institute proceedings with a view to the confiscation of such salt, or release the consignment on payment of such penalty under section 13 of the Act as he may think proper, provided that no salt shall be released on payment of a penalty if the excess shall exceed 3 per cent., except under the orders of the Assistant Commissioner; or

(2) if subordinate to the officer in charge of the Circle, detain the whole consignment and report the matter without delay for the orders of the officer in charge of the Circle, who shall dispose of it in the manner last hereinbefore provided.

29. All salt shall be weighed, both when stored and also when removed on payment of duty, with the scales provided by Government for the purpose, in such manner as the Assistant Commissioner may from time to time direct.

30. No storage or removals of salt will be allowed on Sundays or authorized holidays, or on days on which, in the opinion of the officer in charge of the Store, the state of the weather is such as to render storage or removals unadvisable.

31. Licensees shall furnish the labour for conveying the machines and weights to be used in the storage and removal of salt from the place where they may be to the place where they may be required to be used for storage and removals. The licensee for the storage or removal of whose salt any machines or weights are last used on any day shall supply the labour for replacing the same in the place where they are usually kept, and for cleaning the same to the satisfaction of the officer in charge.

32. Licensees shall be responsible for all damage, other than fair wear and tear, done to machines or weights in the storage or removal of their salt.

33. Nothing in these rules shall apply to the manufacture of salt by or on behalf of Government.

34. The Assistant Commissioner may prescribe all forms necessary for the administration of the Act.

Protected area, and the possession, transport, and sale of salt therein.

35. The area defined for the purpose of section 6, clause (c), round the Salt Works of Orissa shall extend to a distance of two miles from the boundary of each panga Salt Work on all sides. Such areas are termed "protected areas."

36. No person shall possess or transport more than one ser of salt within a protected area, unless it be—

(i) protected by a rawánah;
(ii) within the boundaries of a Salt Work;
(iii) in transit from a Salt Work to a Salt Store;
(iv) in the possession of an officer of Government;
(v) in the possession of a person licensed under Rule 44.

37. Rawánahs for the transport of salt within protected areas will be issued by the officer in charge of the Salt Store from which the salt is removed, or by such officers as the Assistant Commissioner may appoint for the purpose.

38. Rawánahs shall be current and valid for such periods as the officer issuing them may fix as reasonable and sufficient to allow of the salt reaching its destination or passing beyond the limits of the protected area or areas concerned, as the case may be. The date on which the currency of a rawánah terminates shall be specified therein.

39. An officer issuing a rawánah may specify therein the route by which the salt shall be removed, and such rawánah shall not be valid except along the route so specified. He may also specify the hour at which the currency of a rawánah shall terminate.

40. Every rawánah shall be returned to the Inspector of the Circle in which it was issued, either by hand or by means of a registered letter within seven days of the termination of the period for which it was current.

41. Rawánahs shall always accompany the salt to which they refer, and shall be produced on demand for the inspection of any officer of the Salt or Police Department. Such officer shall be at liberty to endorse such remarks thereon as he may think fit.

42. Any officer of the Salt or Police Department may detain any consignment of salt covered by a rawánah within a protected area for the purpose of weighing the same. Such weighment shall be made by such officer as the Inspector of the Circle may generally or specially appoint for the purpose.

43. If on weighment of salt so detained it is found to exceed the quantity entered in the rawánah, the weighing officer shall proceed as prescribed in Rule 28.

44. The Assistant Commissioner may issue licenses for the possession and retail sale of salt within any protected area, subject to such conditions as he may from time to time prescribe. Such license shall only cover the possession and sale of salt within the licensee's shop, the position of which shall be clearly defined therein.

45. Every person retailing salt under such a license shall keep a register of sales written up daily, and such other accounts as the Assistant Commissioner may prescribe, and shall permit any officer of the Salt Department, of not lower grade than a Sub-Inspector, to examine such accounts on demand, and to weigh the salt in store on his premises.

46. On the arrival of a consignment of salt at the shop of any licensed vendor, he shall within twenty-four hours notify its receipt in writing to the Inspector of the Circle, specifying in such notice the number and date of the rawánah, the quantity and description of the salt covered thereby, and the store from which it was obtained.

47. Every person licensed to sell salt within a protected area under Rule 44 shall, on the first day of each month, submit to the Inspector of the Circle within which his shop is situated a statement signed by him specifying the quantity of salt received and sold by him in the previous month. Such statement shall be in such form and shall contain such particulars as the Assistant Commissioner may from time to time prescribe.

48. Clause V of Rule 4 shall apply to licenses for the retail sale of salt within protected areas.

Disposal of persons arrested.

49. Salt Revenue Officers who may make arrests shall, unless empowered under the ante-penultimate paragraph of section 20, at once send the persons arrested, with any independent witnesses whose attendance they may be able to secure, to the nearest police station, at the same time making a full report of the circumstances under which the arrest was made through the Inspector of the Circle, to the Assistant Commissioner.

Seizure, disposal, or destruction of things liable to be seized or destroyed under the Act.

50. All property seized by Salt Revenue Officers as liable to confiscation under the Act shall be sent for safe custody to the officer in charge of the Circle, or to the nearest Salt Store or police station, as most convenient.

51. When property is sent to a police station, it shall be accompanied by a written request to receive and retain it.

52. When illicitly manufactured salt is thus handed over to the police, the senior police officer present at the station shall, in the presence of the witnesses to the seizure and of the accused person, if present, after weighing and recording the weight of each, take from each distinct kind or quality of salt seized (if there be more than one such kind or quality) three samples of not less than 5 tolahs each, which he shall seal with the official seal of the police station, and, after numbering them, deliver two of them to the officer who made the seizure, recording at the same time, on the printed form of request to receive the property which will be presented to him, a note specifying the total weight of each kind seized, according to the weighments made before him, and the corresponding numbers of the samples. The remainder of the salt and the third sample shall be sealed up with the seals of the officer who made the seizure and of the police station, and shall remain in a secure place in such station till such time as a written order shall be sent by the officer in charge of the Circle either for the destruction of the articles seized, which shall be carried into effect by the officer presenting such request in the presence of some officer of the police station, and the same certified on the reverse of the order, or for the delivery of the same, or part thereof, as the case may be, to the bearer of the order for production in Court.

53. When salt is delivered at a Salt Store for safe custody, the officer in charge thereof shall adopt the same course with respect thereto as is in Rule 52 prescribed for adoption by the police.

54. When a seizure is made by an officer in charge of a Circle in person, or when salt is delivered to any such officer under Rule 50, he may either follow the foregoing procedure, deputing one of his subordinates present at the seizure to take the salt to the police station and receive the samples, or he may himself on the spot take out and seal up the samples and the rest of the seized salt with his own seal. He may then either take the salt seized with him to deposit where he considers it will be safest, or send it for deposit to the nearest or most accessible Salt Store or police station, to be kept, as in the previous case, until further orders. If, however, an officer in charge of a Circle himself seals the salt, he must, in the event of the identity of the salt produced in Court being denied by the accused, be prepared to attend and prove the same in person.

55. When any property other than illicitly manufactured salt is sent for safe custody to an officer in charge of a Circle, or to a Salt Store, or to a police station, such officer, or the officer in charge of the Salt Store or police station, as the case may be, shall make such arrangements as he shall think fit, and as shall be suitable, according to the nature of the case, for the safe custody of such property, pending the orders of a Magistrate, or of the officer in charge of the Circle, or of the Assistant Commissioner, or of the Commissioner of the Division as the case may be.

56. When anything is seized and detained under the Act or the rules made under the Act, it shall not be released until all duty, penalties, and charges due on account thereof have been paid by the owner to the officer who is in possession of such thing.

If the thing is reported for confiscation, it shall not be released unless orders for the release are received from competent authority.

57. If the property so seized and detained shall be an animal, the owner shall provide for its due care and keep, in default of which the animal may be sold to defray charges.

58. If orders are received from competent authority for the release of anything seized and detained, and no duty or penalty is payable in respect of such thing, it shall at once be given up to the owner or his agent on his paying all charges incurred.

59. Should no one be present to receive the thing released the officer in charge thereof shall do his best to give notice to the owner of the order of the release, and shall cause a similar notice to be affixed on the office premises, at the Assistant Commissioner's office, and at the police station nearest to the owner's residence.

If within two calendar months from the date of the notice no person, entitled to receive the thing, claim it and pay all charges incurred, it shall be sold and the proceeds placed in deposit. After a further period of three calendar months, the money shall be credited to the Government.

60. If any duty is leviable or penalty is imposed by competent authority in respect of the thing seized, unless such duty or penalty, together with all charges incurred, be paid within seven days of the receipt of the orders of competent authority for release subject to such payment, the thing shall be sold, and from the proceeds the duty, penalty, and charges shall be deducted, and the balance made over to the owner or his agent.

Should no one be present to receive the money, notice, as under Rule 59, shall be given, the money being kept in deposit for three calendar months.

If not claimed within the period, it shall be credited to the Government.

61. When orders are received from competent authority for the confiscation of anything seized and detained, it shall, with all convenient despatch, be sold or destroyed as the Assistant Commissioner of Salt Revenue may direct.

62. When a Magistrate orders the confiscation of works, materials or implements under section 9 of the Act, they shall be sold or destroyed by dismantling or otherwise under the orders of the Assistant Commissioner of Salt Revenue.

General.

63. All Salt Revenue Officers and all gazetted officers of other departments shall at all time have free passage over all works for the manufacture of salt at which a license has been granted under these rules.

64. The Assistant Commissioner may establish such guard stations at and around Salt Works and Salt Stores as he shall think necessary for the safety of the revenue, and may require that all salt removed from Salt Works for transport to a Salt Store, or from a Salt Store for consumption on payment of duty, shall be taken direct to such guard station as he shall prescribe for examination and comparison with the quantity and other particulars entered in the pass or permit. The Salt Revenue Officer in charge of any such guard station may detain any such consignment of salt which he may find not to correspond with the entries in the pass or permit, pending the orders of the officer in charge of the Circle.

65. Under such general rules as the Assistant Commissioner shall prescribe, all Salt Revenue Officers, not below the rank of Assistant Inspector, shall be at liberty to examine and weigh the salt in store in any Salt Store at any time.

66. The licensee and his servants shall have access to the places where salt is manufactured and stored only during such hours as the Assistant Commissioner may fix for the purpose.

Appeals.

67. Subject to the provisions of these Rules, any person dissatisfied with an order passed by a Salt Revenue Officer may appeal to the immediate superior of such officer. All such appeals shall be accompanied by authenticated copies of the orders appealed against, and shall be forwarded through the officer whose orders are appealed against. For the purposes of this rule, the immediate superior of an Assistant Commissioner, who is an Assistant Commissioner of the Madras Salt Department, shall be the Deputy Commissioner of Salt and Abkari Revenue of the Northern Division, Madras Presidency, and the immediate superior of an Assistant Commissioner, who is a Deputy Commissioner of the Madras Salt Department, shall be the Commissioner of Salt and Abkari Revenue, Madras Presidency. An order passed on an appeal by the Commissioner of Salt and Abkari Revenue, Madras Presidency, shall be final.

JUDICIAL.

The 16th February, 1888.

No. 300.—In accordance with the provisions of section 37, sub-section (1), of the Births, Deaths, and Marriages Registration Act, No. VI of 1886, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to publish, for general information, the following draft rules which His Excellency in Council proposes to make under sections 26, 28, and 36 of the Act.

The draft will be taken into consideration on the expiration of two months from the date of this Notification :—

In exercise of the powers conferred by sections 26, 28 and 36 of the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rules :—

1. In these rules, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "the Act" means the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886 :

(2) "schedule" means a schedule to these rules :

(3) "Registrar-General" and "Registrar" mean, respectively, a Registrar-General of Births, Deaths and Marriages and a Registrar of Births and Deaths appointed under the Act : and (4) "sign", used with reference to a person who is unable to write his name, includes mark.

2. Notices of births and deaths shall be in the forms set forth in Schedule A and Schedule B, respectively.

3. Every such notice shall be signed by the person giving it, and shall specify the capacity in which the person claims to be authorized to give it.

4. Every such notice shall ordinarily be presented to the Registrar for the local area in which the birth or death occurred within three months of the date of the birth or death to which it refers, as the case may be :

Provided that the Registrar may, of his own authority, for any reason which he considers sufficient, accept notice of a birth or death at any time within six months from the date of its occurrence, and with the special sanction in writing of the Registrar-General, after that time.

5. An appeal against an order of a Registrar refusing to register a birth or death on any other ground than that referred to in proviso (a) to section 19 of the Act shall lie to the Registrar-General, who may, in his discretion, either confirm the order of the Registrar or direct him to register the birth or death.

6. Registers of births and deaths shall be kept in the forms set forth in Schedule C and Schedule D, respectively.

7. When a birth or death has occurred during a journey, or when the person giving notice of a birth or death was compelled by duty, or urgent necessity, or unavoidable accident, to leave the local area in which such birth or death occurred, so soon after its occurrence that he was unable to give the prescribed notice to the Registrar for that local area,

8. The provisions of rule 4, as to the time within which notice of a birth or death must be given, shall apply to every notice of a birth or death given under the circumstances described in the last foregoing rule.

9. In every case of a birth or death admitted to registration under rule 7, the Registrar to whom the notice of the birth or death is given shall record in his register the reason why the notice was not given to the Registrar of the local area within which the birth or death occurred, and shall, within one week from the date of the registration of the birth or death, forward to the Registrar-General, and to the Registrar of the local area within which the birth or death occurred, a copy of the entry in the register relating to the birth or death.

Every Registrar shall paste into a book kept by him for the purpose all copies of entries received by him under this rule, and the book containing the copies shall be, at all reasonable times, open to inspection by any person desiring to inspect it.

10. The Registrar for any local area including a port may register any birth or death which has occurred on the high seas on board any ship arriving at such port :

Provided that notice of the birth or death is given to such Registrar within sixty days after the arrival of the ship.

In the notice of such birth or death, and in the entry thereof in the register, there shall be specified, in lieu of the name of the place at which, the name of the ship on which, the event occurred, and the name of the Commander of the ship and the approximate latitude and longitude of the ship's position at the time of the birth or death.

11. Every certificate of registration of a birth or death given by a Registrar under section 23 of the Act shall be in the form set forth in Schedule E.

12. At the foot of every copy of an entry given under section 9 or section 25 of the Act there shall be written a certificate, dated and subscribed by the Registrar-General or officer authorized under section 9, or by the Registrar, as the case may be, that the copy is a true copy of the entry.

13. Every Registrar shall keep, in the form set forth in Schedule F, a register of all certificates of registration and copies of entries given by him.

Every Registrar-General shall keep a register in a similar form of all copies given by him of entries in the certified copies of the registers sent to his office.

14. The copies of entries of births and deaths which Registrars are required by section 24 of the Act to send to the Registrar-General, shall be certified in the form set forth in Schedule G, and shall be sent at intervals of three months, on or as nearly as possible after the 1st January, April, July and October in each year.

Should no entries be made in a register during the preceding three months, a certificate to this effect shall be sent to the Registrar-General.

15. The indexes which are required by section 7 of the Act to be made of the certified copies of registers of births, deaths and marriages sent to the office of the Registrar-General shall be in the forms set forth in Schedule H, Schedule I and Schedule J, respectively.

Every entry in an index shall be made alphabetically with reference to the initial letter of the name of the person indicated by the entry.

In the index of certified copies of entries of marriages, the names of both the husband and the wife must be indexed.

In the case of a person of European descent the initial letter will be the first letter of the surname, and in the case of any other person, the first letter of his name, and not that of his rank, title or class.

16. A Registrar may, of his own motion, correct, in manner prescribed in section 28 of the Act, any error in form made in an entry of a birth or death in a register of births or register of deaths kept by him under the Act.

In every case in which an entry is corrected under this rule, intimation thereof shall (if practicable) be communicated, within one week from the date of the correction being made, to the person who gave the notice of the birth or death.

17. When an error in substance in any entry of a birth or death in a register of births or register of deaths is asserted to have been made, the Registrar may correct the error, in manner prescribed in section 28 of the Act, on application made in writing, and signed in the presence of two witnesses attesting the signature, by any person authorised under section 20 or 21, as the case may be, to give notice of the birth or death to which the entry relates :

Provided that the Registrar is satisfied that the application is well-founded.

An appeal against an order of a Registrar under this rule refusing to correct an asserted error in an entry in a register shall lie to the Registrar-General, who may, in his discretion, either confirm the order of the Registrar or direct him to correct the error.

18. Without the special sanction in writing of the Registrar-General, an application for the correction of an entry in a register of births or register of deaths shall not be entertained after the expiration of one year from the date on which the notice of the birth or death was given.

19. The sums specified in Schedule K shall be the fees payable under the sections of the Act there referred to :

Provided that soldiers and non-commissioned officers of Her Majesty's Regular Forces and all seamen shall be exempted from the payment of any fees.

20. Every Registrar-General and Registrar shall keep a register, in the form set forth in Schedule L, of all fees realised under these rules, and shall forward the fees at the end of each month to the nearest treasury to be credited to Government. The treasury officer shall give the Registrar a certificate of the amount so credited, and the Registrar shall send a copy of the certificate to the Registrar-General.

PRESENT.

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

Lord President.

Lord Stanley of Preston.

Secretary Sir Henry Holland, Bart.

Whereas the Convention of which an English translation is set out in the First Schedule to this Order has been concluded between Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the foreign countries named in this Order, with respect to the protection to be given by way of copyright to the authors of literary and artistic works :

And whereas the ratifications of the said Convention were exchanged on the fifth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven, between Her Majesty the Queen and the Governments of the foreign countries following, that is to say :

Belgium ; France ; Germany ; Hayti ; Italy ; Spain ; Switzerland ; Tunis.

And whereas Her Majesty in Council is satisfied that the foreign countries named in this Order have made such provisions as it appears to Her Majesty expedient to require for the protection of authors of works first produced in Her Majesty's dominions :

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, and by virtue of the authority committed to Her by the International Copyright Acts, 1844 to 1886, doth order ; and it is hereby ordered, as follows :

1. The Convention as set forth in the First Schedule to this Order, shall, as from the commencement of this Order, have full effect throughout Her Majesty's Dominions, and all persons are enjoined to observe the same.

2. This Order shall extend to the foreign countries following, that is to say :

Belgium ; France ; Germany ; Hayti ; Italy ; Spain ; Switzerland ; Tunis ; and the above countries are in this Order referred to as the foreign countries of the Copyright Union, and those foreign countries together with Her Majesty's dominions, are in this Order referred to as the countries of the Copyright Union.

3. The author of a literary or artistic work which, on or after the commencement of this Order is first produced in one of the foreign countries of the Copyright Union shall, subject as in this Order and in the International Copyright Acts, 1844 to 1886, mentioned, have as respects that work throughout Her Majesty's dominions, the same right of copyright, including any right capable of being conferred by an Order in Council under section two or section five of the International Copyright Act, 1844, or under any other enactment, as if the work had been first produced in the United Kingdom, and shall have such right during the same period ;

Provided that the author of a literary or artistic work shall not have any greater right or longer term of copyright therein, than that which he enjoys in the country in which the work is first produced.

The author of any literary or artistic work first produced before the commencement of this Order shall have the rights and remedies to which he is entitled under section six of the International Copyright Act, 1886.

4. The rights conferred by the International Copyright Acts, 1844 to 1886, shall, in the case of a literary or artistic work first produced in one of the foreign countries of the Copyright Union by an author who is not a subject or citizen of any of the said foreign countries, be limited as follows, that is to say, the author shall not be entitled to take legal proceedings in Her Majesty's dominions for protecting any copyright in such work, but the publisher of such work shall, for the purpose of any legal proceedings in Her Majesty's dominions for protecting any copyright in such work, be deemed to be entitled to such copyright as if he were the author, but without prejudice to the rights of such author and publisher as between themselves.

5. A literary or artistic work first produced simultaneously in two or more countries of the Copyright Union shall be deemed for the purpose of copyright to have been first produced in that one of those countries in which the term of copyright in the work is shortest.

And the Lords Commissioners of Her Majesty's Treasury are to give the necessary orders herein accordingly.

C. L. PEEL.

FIRST SCHEDULE.

Copyright Convention.

Convention for protecting effectively and in as uniform a manner as possible, the rights of authors over their literary and artistic works. Made on the fifth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven, between Her Majesty the Queen of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Empress of India ; His Majesty the German Emperor, King of Prussia ; His Majesty the King of the Belgians : Her Majesty the Queen Regent of Spain, in the name of His Catholic Majesty the King of Spain ; the President of the French Republic ; the President of the Republic of Haïti ; His Majesty the King of Italy ; the Federal Council of the Swiss Confederation ; His Highness the Bey of Tunis.

[The following is an English Translation of the Convention, with the omission of the formal beginning and end.]

ARTICLE I.

The Contracting States are constituted into an Union for the protection of the rights of authors over their literary and artistic works.

ARTICLE II.

Authors of any of the countries of the Union, or their lawful representatives, shall enjoy in the other countries for their works, whether published in one of those countries or unpublished, the rights which the respective laws do now or may hereafter grant to natives.

The enjoyment of these rights is subject to the accomplishment of the conditions and formalities prescribed by law in the country of origin of the work, and cannot exceed in the other countries the term of protection granted in the said country of origin.

The country of origin of the work is that in which the work is first published, or if such publication takes place simultaneously in several countries of the Union, that one of them in which the shortest term of protection is granted by law.

For unpublished works the country to which the author belongs is considered the country of origin of the work.

ARTICLE III.

The stipulations of the present Convention apply equally to the publishers of literary and artistic works published in one of the countries of the Union, but of which the authors belong to a country which is not a party to the Union.

ARTICLE IV.

The expression "literary and artistic works" comprehends books, pamphlets, and all other writings ; dramatic or dramatico-musical works, musical compositions with or without words ; works of design, painting, sculpture, and engraving ; lithographs, illustrations, geographical charts, plans, sketches, and plastic works relative to geography, topography, architecture, or science in general ; in fact, every production whatsoever in the literary, scientific, or artistic domain which can be published by any mode of impression or reproduction.

ARTICLE V.

Authors of any of the countries of the Union, or their lawful representatives, shall enjoy in the other countries the exclusive right of making or authorising the translation of their works until the expiration of ten years from the publication of the original work in one of the countries of the Union.

For works published in incomplete parts ("livraisons") the period of ten years commences from the date of publication of the last part of the original work.

For works composed of several volumes published at intervals, as well as for bulletins or collections ("cahiers") published by literary or scientific societies, or by private persons, each volume, bulletin, or collection is, with regard to the period of ten years, considered as a separate work.

In the cases provided for by the present Article and for the calculation of the period of the protection, the 31st December of the year in which the work was published is admitted as the date of publication.

ARTICLE VI.

Authorised translations are protected as original works. They consequently enjoy the protection stipulated in Articles II and III as regards their unauthorised reproduction in the countries of the Union.

It is understood that, in the case of a work for which the translating right has fallen into the public domain, the translator cannot oppose the translation of the same work by other writers.

ARTICLE VII.

Articles from newspapers or periodicals published in any of the countries of the Union may be reproduced in original or in translation in the other countries of the Union, unless the authors or publishers have expressly forbidden it. For periodicals it is sufficient if the prohibition is made in a general manner at the beginning of each number of the periodical.

This prohibition cannot in any case apply to articles of political discussion, or to the reproduction of news of the day or current topics.

ARTICLE VIII.

As regards the liberty of extracting portions from literary or artistic works for use in publications destined for educational or scientific purposes, or for chrestomathies, the matter is to be decided by the legislation of the different countries of the Union, or by special arrangements existing or to be concluded between them.

ARTICLE IX.

The stipulations of Article II apply to the public representation of dramatic or dramatico-musical works, whether such works be published or not.

Authors of dramatic or dramatico-musical works, or their lawful representatives, are, during the existence of their exclusive right of translation, equally protected against the unauthorized public representation of translations of their works.

The stipulations of Article II apply equally to the public proformance of unpublished musical works or of published works in which the author has expressly declared on the title page or commencement of the work that he forbids the public performance.

ARTICLE X.

Unauthorized indirect appropriations of a literary or artistic work, of various kinds, such as adaptations, arrangements of music, &c., are specially included amongst the illicit reproductions to which the present Convention applies, when they are only the reproduction of a particular work, in the same form, or in another form, with non-essential alterations, additions, or abridgments, so made as not to confer the character of a new original work.

It is agreed that, in the application of the present Article, the tribunals of the various countries of the Union will, if there is occasion, conform themselves to the provisions of their respective laws.

ARTICLE XI.

In order that the authors of works protected by the present Convention shall, in the absence of proof to the contrary, be considered as such, and be consequently admitted to institute proceedings against pirates before the courts of the various countries of the Union, it will be sufficient that their name be indicated on the work in the accustomed manner.

For anonymous or pseudonymous works, the publisher whose name is indicated on the work is entitled to protect the rights belonging to the author. He is, without other proof, reputed the lawful representative of the anonymous or pseudonymous author.

It is, nevertheless, agreed that the tribunals may, if necessary, require the production of a certificate from the competent authority to the effect that the formalities prescribed by law in the country of origin have been accomplished, as contemplated in Article II.

ARTICLE XII.

Pirated works may be seized on importation into those countries of the Union where the original work enjoys legal protection.

The seizure shall take place conformably to the domestic law of each State.

ARTICLE XIII.

It is understood that the provisions of the present Convention cannot in any way derogate from the right belonging to the Government of each country of the Union to permit, to control, or to prohibit, by measures of domestic legislation or police, the circulation, representation, or exhibition of any works or productions in regard to which the competent authority may find it necessary to exercise that right.

ARTICLE XIV.

Under the reserves and conditions to be determined by common agreement,* the present Convention applies to all works which at the moment of its coming into force have not yet fallen into the public domain in the country of origin.

ARTICLE XV.

It is understood that the Governments of the countries of the Union reserve to themselves respectively the right to enter into separate and particular arrangements between each other, provided always that such arrangements confer upon authors or their lawful representatives more extended rights than those granted by the Union, or embody other stipulations not contrary to the present Convention.

ARTICLE XVI.

An international office is established, under the name of the "Office of the International Union for the Protection of Literary and Artistic Works."

This office, of which the expenses will be borne by the Administrations of all the countries of the Union, is placed under the high authority of the Superior Administration of the Swiss Confederation, and works under its direction. The functions of this office are determined by common accord between the countries of the Union.

ARTICLE XVII.

The present Convention may be submitted to revisions in order to introduce therein amendments calculated to perfect the system of the Union.

Questions of this kind, as well as those which are of interest to the Union in other respects, will be considered in Conferences to be held successively in the countries of the Union by delegates of the said countries.

It is understood that no alteration in the present Convention shall be binding on the Union except by the unanimous consent of the countries composing it.

ARTICLE XVIII.

Countries which have not become parties to the present Convention, and which grant by their domestic law the protection of rights secured by this Convention, shall be admitted to accede thereto on request to that effect.

Such accession shall be notified in writing to the Government of the Swiss Confederation, who will communicate it to all the other countries of the Union.

Such accession shall imply full adhesion to all the clauses and admission to all the advantages provided by the present Convention.

ARTICLE XIX.

Countries acceding to the present Convention shall also have the right to accede thereto at any time for their Colonies or foreign possessions.

They may do this either by a general declaration comprehending all their Colonies or possessions within the accession, or by specially naming those comprised therein, or by simply indicating those which are excluded.

* See paragraph 4 of Final Protocol.

ARTICLE XX.

The present Convention shall be put in force three months after the exchange of the ratifications, and shall remain in effect for an indefinite period until the termination of a year from the day on which it may have been denounced.

Such denunciation shall be made to the Government authorised to receive accessions, and shall only be effective as regards the country making it, the Convention remaining in full force and effect for the other countries of the Union.

ARTICLE XXI.

The present Convention shall be ratified, and the ratifications exchanged at Berne, within the space of one year at the latest.

Additional Article.

The Convention concluded this day in no wise affects the maintenance of existing Conventions between the Contracting States, provided always that such Conventions confer on authors, or their lawful representatives, rights more extended than those secured by the Union, or contain other stipulations which are not contrary to the said Convention.

Final Protocol.

1. As regards Article IV it is agreed that those countries of the Union where the character of artistic works is not refused to photographs, engage to admit them to the benefits of the Convention concluded to-day, from the date of its coming into effect. They are, however, not bound to protect the authors of such works further than is permitted by their own legislation except in the case of international engagements already existing, or which may hereafter be entered into by them.

It is understood that an authorized photograph of a protected work of art shall enjoy legal protection in all the countries of the Union, as contemplated by the said Convention for the same period as the principal right of reproduction of the work itself subsists, and within the limits of private arrangements between those who have legal rights.

2. As regards Article IX it is agreed that those countries of the Union whose legislation implicitly includes choregraphic works amongst dramatico-musical works expressly admit the former works to the benefits of the Convention concluded this day.

It is, however, understood that questions which may arise on the application of this clause shall rest within the competence of the respective tribunals to decide.

3. It is understood that the manufacture and sale of instruments for the mechanical reproduction of musical airs which are copyright, shall not be considered as constituting an infringement of musical copyright.

4. The common agreement alluded to in Article XIV of the Convention is established as follows:—

The application of the Convention to works which have not fallen into the public domain at the time when it comes into force, shall operate according to the stipulations on this head which may be contained in special Conventions either existing or to be concluded.

In the absence of such stipulations between any countries of the Union, the respective countries shall regulate, each for itself, by its domestic legislation, the manner in which the principle contained in Article XIV is to be applied.

5. The organization of the International Office established in virtue of Article XVI of the Convention, shall be fixed by a regulation which shall be drawn up by the Government of the Swiss Confederation.

The official language of the International Office will be French.

The International Office will collect all kinds of information relative to the protection of the rights of authors over their literary and artistic works. It will arrange and publish such information. It will study questions of general utility likely to be of interest to the Union, and, by the aid of documents placed at its disposal by the different Administrations, will edit a periodical publication in the French language treating questions which concern the Union. The Governments of the countries of the Union reserve to themselves the faculty of authorizing, by common accord, the publication by the office of an addition in one or more other languages if experience should show this to be requisite.

The International Office will always hold itself at the disposal of members of the Union, with the view to furnish them with any special information they may require relative to the pretection of literary and artistic works.

The administration of the country where a Conference is about to be held, will prepare the programme of the Conference with the assistance of the International Office.

The Director of the International Office will attend the sittings of the Conferences, and will take part in the discussions without a deliberative voice. He will make an annual report on his administration, which shall be communicated to all the members of the Union.

The expenses of the office of the International Union shall be shared by the contracting States. Unless a fresh arrangement be made, they cannot exceed a sum of sixty thousand francs a year. This sum may be increased by the decision of one of the Conferences provided for in Article XVII.

The share of the total expense to be paid by each country shall be determined by the division of the contracting and acceding States into six classes, each of which shall contribute in the proportion of a certain number of units:—

First class	25	units.
Second class	20	„
Third class	15	„
Fourth class	10	„
Fifth class	5	„
Sixth class	3	„

These co-efficients will be multiplied by the number of States of each class, and the total product thus obtained will give the number of units by which the total expense is to be divided. The quotient will give the amount of the unity of expense. Each State will declare, at the time of its accession, in which of the said classes it desires to be placed.

The Swiss Administration will prepare the Budget of the office, superintend its expenditure, make the necessary advances, and draw up the annual account, which shall be communicated to all the other Administrations.

6. The next Conference shall be held at Paris between four and six years from the date of the coming into force of the Convention.

The French Government will fix the date within these limits after having consulted the International Office.

7. It is agreed that, as regards the exchange of ratifications contemplated in Article XXI, each contracting party shall give a single instrument, which shall be deposited with those of the other States, in the Government Archives of the Swiss Confederation. Each party shall receive in exchange a copy of the procés-verbal of the exchange of ratifications, signed by the Plenipotentiaries present.

The present final Protocol, which shall be ratified with the Convention concluded this day, shall be considered as forming an integral part of the said Convention, and shall have the same force, effect, and duration.

sidered by the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the law relating to Imprisonment for Debt.

3. The following portions of the Bill, as amended by us, appear to call for remark :—

(1) Section 3.—The object of the section which it is proposed to insert after section 4 of the Code is to preserve the summary character of rent-litigation which, as the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh has pointed out, the rulings cited in the margin of the proposed section may otherwise have the effect of destroying.

(2) Section 5.—The proposed addition to section 14 has reference to the conflicting rulings of the High Courts with respect to suits in British India on judgments of Foreign Courts, and is designed to remove one of the objections to such suits being maintainable.

(3) Section 6.—The need of such a section as it is proposed to insert after section 16 of the Code is said to be much felt where large areas are subject to fluvial action. The section was originally inserted in the Punjab Land-revenue Bill of 1886, but the Select Committee on that Bill was of opinion that the section is one which should be of general rather than local operation.

(4) Section 9.—The section which it is proposed to substitute for section 53 is, with slight modification, in a form which has been suggested by the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Straight.

(5) Sections 10, 11, 15 and 16.—These sections are added to the Bill for the purpose of accommodating the language of the Code more closely to the system of process-serving obtaining in some parts of British India.

(6) Section 12.—This section will admit of summonses being sent for service to Superintendents of foreign States, and to Courts established or continued by the authority of the Governor General in Council in foreign territory, as well as to British Residents and Agents.

(7) Section 13.—The criticisms on the form and substance of sections 141 and 142 of the Code are so numerous and appear to us to be so well founded that we have deemed it necessary to re-draft those sections instead of only amending the former of them.

(8) Section 17.—The enactment of this section is advocated by high authority in Bengal and other parts of India. The section follows sections 357 et seqq. of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, section 20 of the Burma Courts Act, 1875, sections 11 and 12 of the Central Provinces Laws Act, 1875, and section 19 of the Oudh Laws Act, 1876.

(9) Sections 18 and 19.—The amendment of section 191 in such a manner as to make it clear that the section does not require the re-hearing of a suit by a successor of a Judge who, having part heard the suit, has been prevented by death, transfer or other cause from concluding the trial thereof is considered by the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh to be necessary in view of the administrative inconvenience, and the trouble and expense to suitors, which must result from the cases reported at I. L. R. 7 All. 857 and 8 All. 35. It it proposed also to apply the principle of section 191 of the Code to suits transferred from one Court to another, and to supplement the section by an addition to section 193.

(10) Section 20.—Such an amendment of section 209 as is here proposed has the support of Sir Meredyth Plowden and other Judges of the Chief Court of the Punjab.

(11) Section 21.—We have so amended section 216 of the Code as to make it applicable not only to such equitable cases of set-off as form the subject of the report at I. L. R. 7 All. 284 and the reports there cited, but also to any equitable right to set off a sum which is not a debt.

(12) Section 22.—As section 223 is now drawn, it is open to doubt in what cases decrees may be sent for execution to the Courts of Small Causes at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Rangoon. The ordinary jurisdiction of a Provincial Court of Small Causes extends under sub-section (2) of section 15 of Act IX of 1887 to suits of value not exceeding, five hundred rupees, and its extraordinary jurisdiction under sub-section (3) of the same section to suits of value not exceeding one thousand rupees. The jurisdiction of a Presidency Court of Small Causes extends to suits of value not exceeding two thousand rupees; and it is proposed by section 47 of the Lower Burma Courts Bill, now pending before the Council of the Governor General, to take power to extend the whole or any part of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act to the Court of Small Causes at Rangoon.

(13) Section 23.—The words "or continued" have been inserted in section 229 and other sections after the word "established" because there are Courts in Kattiawar which were established by the Governor of Bombay in Council.

(14) Section 24.—Under this section it will be competent to Courts in British India to send their decrees for execution to those Courts out of British India which are authorised by section 229 of the Code to cause their decrees to be executed by British Indian Courts.

(15) Section 25.—The last paragraph of section 230 is spent and may now be removed from the Code.

(16) Section 26.—It is proposed to amend section 244 of the Code in order to remove doubts which have arisen as to how representatives are to be ascertained, and whether orders staying execution are orders under the section.

(17) Section 27.—The conflicting rulings of the Courts with respect to the construction to be placed on the last paragraph of section 258 render it necessary to amend that paragraph.

In section 66, sub-section (1), of the Bill we have proposed to extend from twenty to ninety days the period of limitation for an application by a judgment-debtor for the issue of a notice to a decreeholder to show cause why a payment or adjustment out of Court should not be recorded as certified.

(18) Section 28.—We have added a clause exempting from liability to sale in execution of a decree of a Civil Court any moveable property which any local law exempts from liability to sale in satisfaction of an arrear of land-revenue.

(19) Section 29.—This section is intended to remove a doubt as to attachment being a necessary preliminary to the sale of property in execution of a decree which orders the sale in pursuance of a contract specifically affecting the property.

(20) Section 30.—The addition which we have proposed to make to section 320 follows the interpretation which has been placed on that section by the Allahabad High Court (I. L. R. 5 All. 314) and by the executive authorities of the North-Western Provinces, the Central Provinces and Lower Burma.

(21) Section 31.—Sub-section (1) will remove the doubt as to the construction to be placed on the words "under arrest" in section 349.

Sub-sections (2) and (3) correct obvious errors in the Code.

Sub-section (4) has been inserted at the instance of the High Court at Fort William. The inconvenience of there being two different systems of insolvency law in force in the same place was pointed out by several Judges of that Court in their remarks on the Indian Bankruptcy Bill of 1886. In not excluding from the operation of Chapter XX of the Code the towns mentioned in section 66 of the Burma Courts Act, 1875, we have had regard to the opinion expressed by the Recorder of Rangoon in his letter No. 66—19, dated the 7th April, 1885, and by the Officiating Recorder in his letter No. 107—43, dated the 20th June, 1885, at the time when the Bill which became Act XIV of 1885 was under consideration, and to the fact that jurisdiction in insolvency is exercised under the Code in Rangoon by the First Judge of the Court of Small Causes established there.

(22) Sections 32, 33 and 66.—We have extended to six months the period of limitation for applications under sections 365, 366 and 368 of the Code and provided for such applications being admitted after that period in exceptional cases.

(23) We have omitted section 20 of the Bill as introduced. The addition which it was proposed by that section to make to section 396 of the Code would effect a change in the substantive law of the country which should not in our opinion be brought about in such a Bill as that on which we are reporting.

(24) Sections 37, 38, 40 and 41.—The object of these sections is to remove the difficulties which have recently attended litigation on behalf of the minor Rájá of Kapurthala, one of the ruling chiefs of the Punjab and a landholder in that Province and in Oudh.

(25) Section 43.—On the recommendation of the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, it is proposed that the Collector shall not be appointed a Receiver without his consent.

(26) Section 47.—Section 551 and connected sections have been re-cast in the manner suggested by Mr. R. J. Crosthwaite, the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces. In regard to the amendment of the sections so as to provide for the dismissal of appeals for default under section 551, Mr. Crosthwaite writes as follows :—

"This amendment is necessary, because, as section 551 stands now, an appellant can, if his appeal is fixed for hearing under that section, refrain from appearing and then appeal from the decree of the first Appellate Court dismissing his appeal. The Court of second appeal will then have to consider the appeal and decide it, because the provisions of section 556 do not apply in the case of an appeal dealt with under section 551. When a first appeal is dismissed under section 556 for default, there is practically no second appeal, because the second Appellate Court must hold that, as the appellant did not appear in the Court of first appeal, that Court's decree dismissing the appeal was under section 556 correct; but when an appeal is fixed for hearing under section 551, and the appellant not appearing, his appeal is dismissed, section 556 does not apply; and an appellant can thus ignore the Court of first appeal and take his appeal to the High Court. Section 556 does not I think apply, because there can be no doubt that the words 'on the day so fixed' mean 'the day fixed under section 552 for hearing the appeal'. This state of the law is anomalous and, considering that a Court of second appeal is supposed to go by the findings of fact of the Court of first appeal, inconvenient. If an appellant does not appear on the day fixed for hearing, whether it be fixed under section 551 or section 552, his appeal should be dismissed; but he should have a right to apply for re-admission under section 558."

(27) Section 48.—We have endeavoured by this section to remove difficulties which the Courts have experienced in the admission of objections taken by way of cross-appeal.

(28) Sections 49, 50, 51 and 52.—The sections of the Code which these sections affect have in practice been found to limit unduly the discretion of Appellate Courts.

(29) Section 55, sub-section (2).—This sub-section has been suggested by the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces with reference to the case reported at I. L. R. 11 Bom. 603.

(30) Section 56.—We propose that appeals from such orders as are appealable should lie in all cases to the ordinary appellate authority.

(31) Section 60.—This section is intended to give effect to the suggestion contained in the following extract from a letter received by the Government of India from the High Court at Fort William:—

"In this province it is often difficult to tell whether a suit should be instituted in the Small Cause Court or a Court possessing ordinary civil jurisdiction. Numerous cases have been brought to the cognizance of this Court in which great inconvenience, hardship and injustice have been caused in this way. A suit is brought in the first instance in the Small Cause Court, and that Court declares that it has no jurisdiction and dismisses the suit. The plaintiff then institutes the same suit in the Munsif's Court, which, upon trial, gives him a decree. The defendant thereupon appeals to the higher Courts, and it is held that the Munsif had no jurisdiction, and accordingly the suit is dismissed. The result is that the unfortunate suitor gets no relief anywhere. And this same result also follows when the Court of first instance holds that it has no jurisdiction, and also when the suit is in the first instance instituted in the Civil Court and the suitor subsequently goes to the Small Cause Court. The Judges think questions of jurisdiction and errors as to jurisdiction should be susceptible of being dealt with and cured by the High Court by transfer, affirmation of decree or otherwise; and they think that the order of the High Court as to jurisdiction should be final."

(32) Section 61.—We have so modified the proposed addition to section 648 as to admit of orders being sent to the Courts of Small Causes at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Rangoon for the attachment of moveable property only.

(33) Section 64.—This section corrects a defect in the form under section 263 which has been noticed by Mr. Justice Brandt.

(34) Section 65.—By this section it is proposed to set at rest the question whether the registration of certificates of sale of property of value exceeding one hundred rupees is or is not compulsory. Whatever the law may have been before the passing of Act XII of 1879, the legislature could hardly have contemplated the registration of such certificates by auction-purchasers after the passing of that Act.

CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, &c., AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. SCOBLE presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Code of Civil Procedure and the Indian Limitation Act, 1877. He said:—

"Although this Bill is somewhat formidable in appearance, I do not think it will be found upon examination to contain much controversial matter. I am free to confess that I approached its consideration rather more than twelve months ago by no means with a light heart. The revision of the Code of Civil Procedure is not a matter to be readily undertaken by any one familiar with the working of the Courts and who knows from practical experience how easy it is to pick holes and how difficult it is to mend them. No one could be more averse than I am to what is called 'tinkering' enactments of this kind. But being confronted with an amending Bill on my arrival in this country, and overwhelmed with suggestions for still further amendments, I have had to deal with the matter, however reluctantly; and, with the assistance of the Select Committee, I hope to have produced a practically useful measure.

"As the Council are aware, the last edition of the Code was published in 1882. The six years which have since elapsed have brought to light some defects in its method, and some difficulties in its construction, which it is the object of the present Bill to remedy. The defects have been pointed out by the Courts which have had to administer the Code; the difficulties have resulted from imperfections of expression which have led different High Courts to construe the same sections in different ways. In dealing with this Bill the Select Committee has attempted no startling innovations, but has limited itself to the more modest, and, I think, more useful, task of making plain that which was before obscure, and supplying that which experience has shown to have been accidentally omitted or imperfectly expressed.

"At the risk of being somewhat tedious—for details of this kind, though important, are not interesting to a lay audience—I must ask the Council to bear with me while I point out the principal alterations effected in the Code by this Bill. Taking the sections in their order, the first to which I desire to call attention is section 3, which has been introduced on the suggestion of the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. The object is to preserve the summary character of rent-litigation under local laws; and it is justified on the ground that holding the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code to be applicable to the proceedings of the Rent and Revenue Courts, in all points which are not provided for in the special Acts governing those classes of Courts, may be the source of considerable embarrassment to the Administration, both by throwing impediments in the way of the easy realization of the rents from which the land-revenue is paid, and imposing increased labour on the Rent Courts whose time is already fully occupied.

"Section 5 relates to suits on foreign judgments. Upon this point there is a conflict of decisions between the High Courts of Madras and Bombay, which we have settled by declaring that Courts in British India shall not be precluded from enquiring into the merits of the case in which the judgment was passed by any Court in Asia or Africa, excepting only Courts established by the authority of the British Government in our colonies and dependencies. This will avoid the anomaly of placing the Courts of Siam or Cabul on the same footing as the Queen's Courts in Ceylon or Hongkong.

"Section 6 is intended to avoid a difficulty as to jurisdiction which frequently arises where the boundaries of estates or holdings are destroyed or altered by fluvial action.

"Section 7 is based upon a suggestion of Mr. Justice Straight, and makes it clear that, in order to found jurisdiction it is enough that a material part of the cause of action arises within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court in which the suit is instituted.

"The object of section 9 is to give to the Courts greater power of amendment of plaints than they at present possess. The tendency of the Courts in England is to allow the greatest latitude in this direction. In a recent case before the Court of Appeal (Weldon v. Neal, 19 Q. B. D. 395) Lord Justice Lopes says: 'However negligent or careless the first omission, and however late the proposed amendment, the amendment should be allowed if it can be allowed without injustice to the other side.' In this country, where, as the Advocate General of Bengal observes, 'there is every likelihood of a poor suitor acting in ignorance or under the advice of ignorant advisers, and launching an honest case in a clumsy and irrational manner,' it appeared to the Select Committee there was abundant reason for adopting the English rule. The only necessary limitation is to prevent a suit of one character from being turned by amendment into a suit of a different character; and it is therefore provided that amendments which would have this effect are not to be allowed.

"Sections 10, 11, 12, 15 and 16 are intended to facilitate the service of summonses by an agency other than that of the Courts which issued them.

"Section 14 substitutes for sections 141 and 142 of the Code a simpler method of dealing with the documentary evidence produced in suits.

"Section 17 empowers the Local Governments to authorize selected Judges to take down the evidence in appealable cases in the English language. This section is regarded by the Bengal Government as 'perhaps the most important in the Bill,' and the Lieutenant-Governor believes that 'a cautious use of the power therein conferred will effect an enormous saving of time both in original as well as in appellate Courts.' District Judges are of the same opinion. Mr. Stevens, of Gya, writes—'It is scarcely possible to exaggerate the trouble, annoyance and waste of time which are frequently caused by the present mode of recording evidence;' and Mr. Towers, of Midnapore, says—'I believe the change would be a very salutary one in all District Courts, and probably in those of most Subordinate Judges, which are always situated at head-quarters, and the pleaders practising in which are good English scholars. For myself I believe I could do twice the amount of appellate work if I had a record of the evidence in English. In original cases also it will save District Judges much time and trouble to have but one record. The expense of translations in the High Court will also be much reduced, and there will be a very appreciable gain to litigants.' From Madras, Mr. Justice Parker writes—'These provisions have long been most desirable in the Madras Presidency. The present practice is as much disliked by the Bar as by the Judge, and causes great loss of time.' The Bombay Government, on the other hand, consider the alteration undesirable; and there would be much force in their observation that "Judges are of necessity frequently sent to districts with the language of which they are unacquainted, and in such cases it is not desirable that there should be no vernacular record of the evidence" if the proposal were absolute; but, as Local Governments may limit and revoke the exercise of the power as they please, it may surely be expected of them not to misuse the discretion with which they are invested.

"Sections 18 and 19 make it clear that the law does not require the re-hearing of a suit by the successor of a Judge who, having part heard the suit, has been prevented by death, transfer or other cause from concluding the trial; but that the hearing may be taken up at the stage at which it was left by the previous Judge, with liberty to recall and re-examine any witnesses from whom further evidence may be desired.

"In section 20 we carry out a suggestion of the Chief Court of the Punjab with regard to the award of interest on decrees for money.

"Section 21 is designed to bring equitable set-offs, which the Courts are in the habit of allowing, within the operation of section 216 of the Code.

"In section 26 we have empowered the Court executing a decree to determine questions as to stay of execution: and, as considerable difficulties have been felt with regard to the meaning of the word 'representatives' in section 244 of the Code, we have provided a procedure by which, in case of dispute, the representative of a party for the purposes of the section may be ascertained.

"There have been so many conflicting rulings of the High Courts upon the effect to be given to payments or adjustments of decrees which have not been certified to the Court charged with the execution of those decrees, that we have provided in section 27 that, unless such payment or adjustment has been certified as required by the Code, it shall not be recognized as a satisfaction of of the decree by any Court executing the decree. This provision will, it is hoped, have the effect of inducing parties who settle out of Court to report to the Court that such settlement has been made.

"Section 28 brings the provisions of the Code in regard to the attachment of property in execution of a decree into accordance with recent legislation, and removes a doubt as to the extent to which the salaries of certain classes of public servants are liable to be attached.

"Under section 320 of the Code, Local Governments were empowered to direct that the execution of decrees affecting immoveable property might be transferred, in certain cases, from the Court to the Collector; and subsequent sections provided that the Collector might sell, let or mortgage the property as might seem most desirable under the circumstances. The Local Governments were authorized to make rules for the guidance of the Collector and his subordinates in executing the decree; but no provision was made as to the authority to which an appeal would lie from orders passed by the Collector in exercise of the powers conferred on him. The High Courts of Calcutta and Bombay have expressed the opinion that the proceedings of the Collector should be subject to appeal to the District Judge and the High Court; but there is a Full Bench decision of the Allahabad High Court, with which the Select Committee concurs, to the contrary effect. We think it was the intention of the Legislature that any appeal from the orders of the Collector in matters of this kind should go to the superior Revenue-authorities. There are obvious reasons of convenience in favour of this course, and we have so provided in section 30 of the Bill.

"The most important clause in section 31 is that which provides that Chapter XX of the Code, which relates to proceedings in insolvency, shall not apply within the towns of Calcutta, Madras and Bombay. This provision has been introduced at the suggestion of the High Court of Calcutta, the Judges of which point out the inconveniences of the present dual system, and say that 'it seems to be quite unnecessary to have two different systems of insolvency law at work in the same place. The provisions of the Insolvent Act, though in many respects imperfect, are now understood by practitioners, and great confusion and uncertainty has in some cases arisen from the introduction of a new and more imperfect procedure.' As the question of amending and consolidating the law of bankruptcy and insolvency in British India is now before the Council, it seems desirable that the presidency-towns should, at all events for the present, retain the system to which they have for long years been accustomed. In regard to small insolvencies, moreover, I am in great hopes that they will be to a great extent got rid of when the Debtors Bill passes into law.

"The remaining sections of the Bill relate mainly to minor alterations. Sections 32, 53 and 66 extend the period during which the representatives of deceased suitors may apply to be entered on the record as plaintiffs or defendants. Section 33, restoring a provision of the Code of 1859, relaxes the stringency of the existing law respecting the dismissal of suits for default in giving security for costs. Section 34 enlarges the class of persons to whom commissions to examine witnesses may be issued, subject to such rules as the High Court may make in the matter. Sections 37, 38, 40 and 41 are to remove difficulties which at present beset ruling chiefs when they sue in our Courts.

"Section 44 is in accordance with the views of the Muhammadan Educational Endowment Committee, recently appointed by the Government of Bengal, and is intended to facilitate proceedings in suits relating to public charities. The Committee represent that it has been decided by a Divisional Bench of the Calcutta High Court (I. L. R. 8 Cal. 32) that the interest possessed in a mosque by those who live in the village in which it is situated, and are in the habit of worshipping in it, is not a direct interest within the meaning of section 539 of the Code. 'It would seem to follow that the real beneficiaries of a public trust, that is to say, those members of the general community who derive advantage from it in its ordinary operation, can seldom proceed under the section; while those whose interest in the foundation is more direct, as being entitled to share in its management, and who therefore can institute suits, are the very men who are likely to be guilty of malversation or other breach of the conditions of the trust. The Committee consider it most impolitic to deny the remedy to all except those who inflict the wrong, and would strike the word "direct" out of the section.' We have adopted this suggestion.

"Section 47 is intended to get rid of an anomaly which arises under the present state of the law in regard to the dismissal of appeals by default, and is proposed by Mr. R. J. Crosthwaite, the Judicial Commissioner of the Central Provinces, who writes as follows:—

'This amendment is necessary, because, as section 551 stands now, an appellant can, if his appeal is fixed for hearing under that section, refrain from appearing, and then appeal from the decree of the first Appellate Court dismissing his appeal. The Court of second appeal will then have to consider the appeal and decide it, because the provisions of section 556 do not apply in the case of an appeal dealt with under section 551. When a first appeal is dismissed under section 556 for default, there is practically no second appeal, because the second Appellate Court must hold that, as the appellant did not appear in the Court of first appeal, that Court's decree dismissing the appeal was under section 556 correct; but when an appeal is fixed for hearing under section 551, and, the appellant not appearing, his appeal is dismissed, section 556 does not apply; and an appellant can thus ignore the Court of first appeal and take his appeal to the High Court. Section 556 does not, I think, apply, because there can be no doubt that the words 'on the day so fixed' mean 'the day fixed under section 552 for hearing the appeal." This state of the law is anomalous, and, considering that a Court of second appeal is supposed to go by the findings of fact of the Court of first appeal, inconvenient. If an appellant does not appear on the day fixed for hearing, whether it be fixed under section 551 or section 552, his appeal should be dismissed; but he should have a right to apply for re-admission under section 558.'

"Upon the sections which follow from 48 to 59 I need not trouble the Council with any observations. But section 60 is of more importance. It embodies a suggestion made by the Judges of the High Court of Calcutta, who thus describe the difficulty which it is intended to cure :—

'In this province it is often difficult to tell whether a suit should be instituted in the Small Cause Court or a Court possessing ordinary civil jurisdiction. Numerous cases have been brought to the cognizance of this Court in which great inconvenience, hardship and injustice have been caused in this way. A suit is brought in the first instance in the Small Cause Court, and that Court declares that it has no jurisdiction and dismisses the suit. The plaintiff then institutes the same suit in the Munsif's Court, which, upon trial, gives him a decree. The defendant thereupon appeals to the higher Courts, and it is held that the Munsif had no jurisdiction, and accordingly the suit is dismissed. The result is that the unfortunate suitor gets no relief anywhere. And this same result also follows when the Court of first instance holds that it has no jurisdiction, and also when the suit is in the first instance instituted in the Civil Court and the suitor subsequently goes to the Small Cause Court. The Judges think questions of jurisdiction and errors as to jurisdiction should be susceptible of being dealt with and cured by the High Court by transfer, affirmation of decree or otherwise; and they think that the order of the High Court as to jurisdiction should be final.'

"I will not detain the Council by a detailed reference to the remaining sections of the Bill; but there is one important omission to which I desire briefly to advert. A recent decision of the Privy Council (Rájá Amir Hassun Khan v. Sheo Buksh Sing, L. R. I. A. 237) has given a more limited construction to section 622 of the Code than had been put upon it by the Courts in India; and many suggestions have been made with a view to the extension of the revisional powers of the High Courts to all cases in which there had been a material irregularity in procedure or the decision was based on an erroneous view of the law. The Committee have not been able to adopt these suggestions, the more especially as they have been favoured with one by the Chief Justice of Bengal which would have the effect of doing away with second appeals altogether and substituting for them a right of application to the High Court as a Court of review in all cases in which it could be shown that a failure of justice had occurred. This suggestion, coming from so high an authority, deserves, and will receive, the most respectful consideration; but the proposal is of too sweeping a character to be hastily adopted, and the Committee did not think it desirable to delay their Report on this Bill for the purpose of consulting other authorities upon it.

"I have only to add that the draft has been twice circulated, in its original and in an amended form, to Local Governments and High Courts, and that the Bill as reported is the outcome of a most careful consideration on the part of the Committee of the criticisms which have been received from Judicial officers, and others engaged in the daily working of the Code, and therefore best able to indicate the points in which it is susceptible of improvement. To these gentlemen I desire to tender my best thanks for the valuable assistance which they have tendered and which has, I hope, enabled the Select Committee to work out a series of amendments of the Code which will simplify and facilitate in many important respects the administration of justice."

The Council adjourned to Friday, the 16th March, 1888.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT for 1888-89.

Section I.—Introduction.

The Financial Statement of March 1887 admittedly left the financial position in a state of unstable equilibrium. Its key-note was the following paragraph, in which it was stated that the Government of India had, in consequence of increasing expenditure, exhausted all other resources available to it, but considered it too soon to address itself to the question of new taxation:—

"It may be added here that, in view of the causes which have led to an increase of expenditure, and to the other considerations which present themselves in connection with the financial situation, it is not the intention of the Government to add to existing taxation. The growth of expenditure in the Estimates of 1886-87 and 1887-88 arises in part from war charges and in part from a further fall in the exchange; and the Government is of opinion that it would be undesirable to seek to meet the deficit at present arising from these causes by the imposition of further burdens. The attention of Her Majesty's Government has, during the year now closing, been turned to the difficulties caused to the Government of India by the fall in silver, and the question of gold and silver currency has been submitted to a Royal Commission, the result of whose deliberations must be awaited. The present military expenditure in Upper Burma is of a temporary nature; and although considerable sums must be expended during the next two or three years in opening up communications in Upper Burma, and in providing the public buildings necessary for the accommodation of the garrison and for the conduct of business, it may be expected that, with the return of order, the revenues of Upper Burma will expand, and that its resources will become, in an increasing degree, available. For the present, therefore, until the outcome of present difficulties is seen more clearly, the Government considers that, in providing for the necessary expenditure arising from its administrative needs, it should avail itself of resources which, in times of surplus, are assigned from its revenues to the construction of railways or to the diminution of the amount which it borrows annually for railways."

2. The situation during the course of the year became, in an increasing degree, more unfavourable. It soon became manifest that the reduction of Military Expenditure in Burma, which the Budget Estimates had hoped for, could not, for the present, be effected in such a considerable degree as to afford to the finances sensible relief. Opium prices fell off with greater rapidity than could have been foreseen, and our opium revenue threatened to fall short of Budget by Rx. 400,000. Railways from the first instead of improving, as the experience of former years led us to expect, showed returns that were worse than those of 1886-87. Exchange, which seemed in February 1887 to have re-established itself for the time, rapidly dropped and settled at a rate of from $\frac{1}{16}d.$ to $\frac{3}{16}d.$ less than that which had been realized in 1886-87. Salt and other revenues shewed favourable returns, and the expenditure, apart from Exchange, was well within the estimates; but these favourable features were greatly outweighed by the unfavourable results which I have mentioned.

3. The causes which led to the deterioration here explained were not, for the most part, such as seemed likely to disappear with the close of the financial year then current. The Government therefore, before the first half of the year had expired, found itself face to face with the question of extra taxation. The result of their deliberations is already known to the public. It was determined that it was necessary to seek improvement of Revenue to an extent of nearly Rx. 2,000,000. Some small items of new Revenue presented themselves in connection with the new Province of Upper Burma. And the Government of India had already been considering the question of raising an import duty on petroleum. But these small items went but a short way to fill up the gap, and the Government, as is already known, came to the resolution of restoring the eight-annas salt duty which had been remitted in 1882. The increase of salt duty was imposed, on 19th January 1888, by a notification issued under Act XII of 1882, and the necessary legislative measures were taken to raise a duty on petroleum.

Section II.—Accounts of 1886-87.

5. The following statement shews the actual figures of the Accounts of 1886-87, and compares them with those presented as Revised Estimates for that year, in the Financial Statement of March 1887. The results agree in the main with those which were announced to Parliament in the Under-Secretary of State's Financial Statement of September 9th, 1887,(a) and which had already been published in the Gazette of India of April 30th (page 209) :—

SURPLUS		(b)500	(c)178,427	177,927

(a) "There has been an increase in the Revenue of Rx. 1,100,000; of which the Land Revenue gives Rx. 476,000; Salt Revenue, Rx. 117,000; Excise Revenue, Rx. 109,000; Railways, Rx. 166,000; and Revenue under other heads, Rx. 232,000; making a total improved Revenue, as I have said, of Rx. 1,100,000. Of this improved Revenue, however, Rx. 420,000 belong to the Provincial Governments, leaving an improved Revenue, for Imperial purposes, of Rx. 680,000. Then, on the Expenditure side, the expenditure on the Army has been Rx. 400,000 more than was anticipated: The other heads, besides that of the Army, have altogether improved to the extent of Rx. 504,000, of which Rx. 202,000 belong to the Provincial Governments, leaving a net improvement on these other heads of Rx. 302,000. Altogether, the expenditure has been worse than was anticipated by Rx. 98,000; therefore, on the whole, taking into account the increase of Revenue and the increase of Expenditure, there has been a net improvement of Rx. 582,000, which will turn the surplus of Rx. 62,110, shown in my statement, into a surplus of Rx. 642,110."

(c) After deduction for Special Defences expenditure. See footnote under paragraph 11.

6. It will be seen that the main features in this comparison are that the Revenue in India was Rx. 1,255,911 better than the Estimate of Rx. 75,754,200, and that the "Imperial" Expenditure in India was Rx. 445,526 worse than the Estimate of Rx. 35,736,100. Under other heads there is very little difference from the Revised Estimate, and the only case which calls for any remarks is the small excess of expenditure in England, which is due to some unexpected Military charges. A complete account of the differences, and of the accounts generally, will be found in the Appropriation Report of the Comptroller and Auditor General, published in the Gazette of India of March 24th.

7. There is, apparently, a large difference under the head of "Adjustment of Provincial Expenditure," but it requires no separate explanation, as it is really the outcome of the large excess of Revenue, which has already been alluded to, and which amounts, as just stated, to Rx. 1,255,911. Now, although the expenditure is distributed between Imperial and Provincial according to its class, so that some kinds of expenditure are Imperial and some are Provincial, the division of the Revenues is quite different; Imperial and Provincial share, in definite proportions, the same Revenues. Accordingly, the improvement of Revenue by Rx. 1,255,911 was distributed between the Imperial Account, which received Rx. 731,465, and the Provincial Account, which received Rx. 524,446. According to the Revised Estimates, the Provincial Expenditure was to be met as follows:—

	Rx.
To the extent of the Provincial Revenues of the current year	20,623,600
By drawing upon Balances charged off the Revenues of former years	577,300
Total Provincial Expenditure as above	21,200,900

But by the improvement of their share of the Revenue they not only met the whole of their expenditure out of their current year's Revenue, but were able to lay by a small amount of Rx. 35,665. In other words, their account stood thus:—

	Rx.
Total Provincial Expenditure (slightly less than estimated)	21,112,381
Provincial Revenues, Rx. 524,446 better than estimated	21,148,046

And the general Revenue Account therefore, instead of having to be relieved by the charge of Rx. 577,300 to past accumulations, had to be charged first with the whole of the expenditure, and then with the write-off of the further addition of Rx. 35,665 to these accumulations.

8. The two matters that require explanation are therefore the better Revenue in India of Rx. 1,255,911, and the excess Expenditure in India of Rx. 445,526.

PRINCIPAL REVENUE HEADS.

9. Of the excess of Revenue the explanation is that the Revenue of the month of March 1887 was altogether exceptional.

The Estimate of our principal Revenues which was published on March 26th, 1887, was as usual a statement of eleven months' actuals (April to February), and an estimate for the remaining month of March. There are difficulties in estimating for the month of March which I shall afterwards explain; and the Revenue of March 1887 certainly altogether exceeded our anticipations. The consequence was that in publishing, one month after the Budget Statement, the usual monthly statement of accounts (Gazette of India for April 30th, 1887), we shewed the following large excesses of Revenue over the Revised Estimate. I append, for purposes of comparison, the actual figures as now made up:—

(In thousands of Rx.)	Budget Statement of March 26th, 1887.	Monthly Statement of April 26th, 1887.	Actuals as now made up.
Land Revenue	23,170	23,610	23,653
Opium	8,900	8,950	8,943
Salt	6,540	6,660	6,658
Stamps	3,720	3,750	3,751
Excise	4,270	4,370	4,375
Provincial Rates	2,940	3,010	3,000
	49,540	50,350	50,380

The unusually high receipts of March, therefore, under the six principal Revenue heads, account for Rx. 810,000 of the improvement of Revenue. The greater part of this is under Land Revenue, where the Receipts were Rx. 440,000 more than estimated. It may be noted that in the two months of March and April we collect more than Rx. 6,000,000 out of the year's Revenue of Rx. 23,000,000; and a more or less favourable season, or a more or less active collection, may well make the portion of Revenue which comes within March vary by half a million. The last two years have been exceptionally favourable, for, whereas the collections of March had never before exceeded Rx. 4,360,000, they came up to Rx. 4,730,000 in 1885-86: and in the next year—that now under discussion—they exceeded Rx. 5,000,000. In the same way the collections under Excise were also nearly Rx. 40,000 higher than those of any previous March.

Besides this, Rx. 810,000 under the principal heads of Revenue, the Railway receipts shewed an improvement of Rx. 210,000; and this improvement is also due to the active traffic which developed itself in the last month or two of the year.

ARMY EXPENDITURE AND SPECIAL DEFENCE WORKS.

10. The improvement in the Revenue figures calls for no further remark. We turn now to the excess expenditure in India of Rx. 445,526.

	Revised Estimate.	Accounts.	Excess.
	Rx.	Rx.	Rx.
Special Defence Works	(Charged to Loan Funds)	123,110	123,110
Army Expenditure	14,068,700	14,620,516	551,816

11. The first of these charges refers to a programme of Military Works for the defence of our Harbours and of our Frontiers, which was alluded to in paragraph 24 of the Financial Statement for 1886-87. The Secretary of State, at first, following the example of the fortifications scheme of Lord Palmerston, directed this expenditure to be shewn outside the Revenue Account. But the ground on which this policy was adopted in England, namely, the practical certainty that the amount which has been procured in the first instance by loan, will be paid off out of the surpluses of future years, unfortunately does not apply to our existing financial circumstances. The Secretary of State, accordingly, as was explained in the Financial Statement made to Parliament last September,* has revised

* Now, these special defence works consist of frontier forts and harbour defences. They are most essential to the safety of India, and the Government are obliged to push them on with the utmost possible expedition. But as these works are not productive works, it is contrary to the principles on which Indian finance is conducted that the charge should be otherwise than one against Revenue, and there is no doubt that if there is Revenue, and if the Revenue will bear such charges, they ought to be charged against Revenue. No one can have any desire that extra taxes should be placed upon the people of India for the purpose of meeting charges of this kind, and the Secretary of State has no intention of suggesung to the Government of India that any such extra taxes should be imposed. As regards the charge for 1887, the Committee will remember that the surplus which I was able to announce in 1886-87 would be large enough to bear the charge in 1886-87 for these special defence works; and, therefore, it is the intention, if the anticipation be realized of the Secretary of State, to pay for the special defence works out of the surplus of 1886-87.

this decision; and while he agrees with the Government of India in thinking that for expenditure of the kind, we ought not to have recourse to any increase of taxation, he considers that the actual state of our finances is more plainly set forth by an account, which charges this expenditure against Revenue even at the risk of shewing a deficit, than by one which might delude us into thinking we had a surplus of Revenue, by leaving out of the reckoning this heavy, though temporary, unproductive expenditure.

12. As regards the Army Expenditure, it was again, as in the case of the Revenue, in the Accounts of the month of March, that our Estimates were overpassed. The statement of account published on 26th April 1887, to which I have already referred, shewed that for Military expenditure there had been an issue of Rx. 13,000,000 from the treasuries, as against Rx. 12,700,000, the estimate we had made a month earlier. This excess expenditure was practically entirely in connexion with the operations in Burma, and mostly arose out of heavy claims presented and paid during March, after the date of the information on which the Estimates were based. The Final excess, it will be seen, is still larger than the Rx. 300,000 then shewn.

13. These figures, therefore, dispose of the Revenue Account of 1886-87. The Revised Estimate anticipated an equilibrium of Expenditure and Revenue. In the end we gained by an excess of Revenue, which, after deduction of the Provincial share, gave the Imperial Accounts an improvement of Rx. 731,465; but as we had against this an excess of Imperial expenditure of Rx. 445,526 (including special defences now first brought within the Account), and also an excess in the charge for Exchange, the surplus of Rx. 500 taken in the Revised Estimates was increased only to Rx. 178,427.

14. The Capital Expenditure upon Railways and Productive Irrigation Works fell slightly short of the anticipations of the Revised Estimates, namely—

	Revised Estimate.	Accounts.
	Rx.	Rx.
Railways	5,170,500	5,123,105
Irrigation	631,000	547,379

Section III.—Estimates, 1887-88 and 1888-89.

15. In the statement of the financial position which I made on January 27th, 1888, I presented an abstract of our account in a form which I thought suitable for the explanations I had then to give. I showed that the position in the Budget Estimate of 1887-88 was a position of practical equilibrium. I showed that we had to face a loss of Opium Revenue of Rx. 300,000, and a falling off of Railway Revenue by Rx. 400,000; that the charge for Exchange had increased by Rx. 720,000; and that we proposed to meet these by enhancing the Salt Duty (Rx. 1,725,000), by a duty on Petroleum (Rx. 65,000, since raised to Rx. 100,000), and by minor measures in Burma (Rx. 100,000).

The result, I then estimated, would be to improve our financial position from equilibrium to a surplus of Rx. 470,000; or more accurately, from a surplus of Rx. 17,000 to one of Rx. 487,000.

16. I reproduce below the same form of abstract account which I then made up, repeating in the first column the figures which I then gave as those of the Budget Estimates of 1887-88, and shewing in the second column the same figures as they would stand after the losses and gains just summarized. As I have, for present purposes, no object in displaying the Exchange charge separately, I have distributed it in the second column over the six heads which are affected by it. This second column, therefore, shews the general financial position as it was left after the measures which were then explained and which have now, except as regards excise in Upper Burma, been brought into operation :—

17. I have added in this abstract, in the same form and in parallel columns, the Revised Estimates for 1887-88 and the Budget Estimate for 1888-89. The former should differ from our standard statement of January 27th last (i.e., the second column of figures) only by such special receipts and charges as we may consider peculiar to the year itself, in the sense in which it may be said that the figures of any particular year necessarily differ, more or less, from what may be considered the general average financial position for that year. The Budget figures of 1888-89 should differ from the same standard, in this respect that, of the progressive revenues, we have one year's additional advance, and that of so much of our expenditure as is progressive, we have also one year's additions.

BASIS OF REVISED ESTIMATES.

18. Before I proceed to explain these special features, I think it well to shew exactly to what extent we can depend upon our Revised Estimates as representing the probable actual outturn of the accounts.

The date upon which our Estimates are presented to the public is practically determined by the provisions of Section 53 of the Act of 1858 "for the better government of India." This section prescribes that "the Secretary of State * * shall, within the first fourteen days * * * after the first day of May in every year, lay before the Houses of Parliament an account for the financial year preceding that last completed * * together with the latest estimate of the same for the last financial year."

Strictly speaking, the "latest Estimate" here referred to is one which we now prepare, about the beginning of December, on the basis of six months' completed accounts; but our methods of account are now so much more perfect than in 1858, and communication with England so much more punctual, that it is out of the question that we should present to Parliament in May, an estimate founded on facts of no later date than the previous September.

We have, therefore, for many years past, arranged the preparation of our "Revised Estimate," so that it may be the "latest Estimate" presented to Parliament in the first fortnight of May; and this practically means that the Estimate must be completed some time in March.

19. By March 20th we have collected the preliminary accounts of revenue and expenditure for February, of which the leading figures, compiled from returns furnished by each of the 200 treasuries at which revenue is received and money issued for expenditure, are published every month in the Gazette. Thus, at the time of the issue of the Revised Estimates, we know, in very considerable detail, the receipts and expenditure of eleven months of the year; there remain only one month's actual transactions to be estimated.

20. Unfortunately this one month of March is by far the most difficult of estimate of any in the year. To the difficulty of estimating the receipts under Land Revenue, I have alluded in paragraph 9, and the same thing occurs under other heads. Provincial rates are collected with Land Revenue, and there is the same uncertainty in their case, as in the case of Land Revenue, how much will come in in March and how much in April. We are in the heart of the Rice-export season, and an early or a late season makes a great difference in the distribution between the current and the next financial year, of the Rx. 700,000 which the duty each season brings into our treasury. Railways, of which the gross earnings average over Rx. 1,500,000 a month, are at their busiest time, and all Public Works expenditure is in its most active phase.

It is thus evident that a very full knowledge of the transactions of eleven months is not in itself an adequate equipment for making the Revised Estimate for the whole year. In practice, we make a moderate estimate only for the month of March, and as the actuals of that month are apt to be better than our Estimate, the result—as in the case of the Estimate of the year 1886-87—usually is that the accounts of each year give better results than the Revised Estimates.

21. The final results are known to us within moderate limits of error before the end of April (see paragraph 9 above); and if our Revised Estimates could only be put off for one month later, and be closed on April 20th, instead of March 20th, we could present the account of the year with some assurance of its accuracy in all its main features. But as already explained, the terms of the Act of Parliament practically forbid this course, and require us to close our estimates while the uncertainty of the month of March still hangs over us.

GENERAL COMPARISON OF REVISED WITH BUDGET.

22. The Revised Estimates for 1887-88 work out, it will be seen, to a deficit of Rx. 2,447,800, without reckoning the expenditure upon Special Defences, which, in the Budget Account, was charged to Loan. This is worse than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 2,464,500.

23. The main differences we may account for at once under three heads—

First, the sterling charges for interest on debt have increased from £2,630,100 Budget, to £3,365,700 Revised, an increase which costs us, including Exchange, Rx. 1,059,000. This charge is really outside any consideration of our financial position, as it arises entirely through a special operation, which throws upon us the payment, within one year, of five quarters' interest upon forty-eight millions sterling of debt.

Secondly, the Burma Military charges have—as I intimated in my Statement of 27th January—largely exceeded the Budget Estimate. The excess, as will be seen from the Abstract Statement above given, is put down at Rx. 830,000, and will be explained in greater detail in the Section relating to Army charges.

Thirdly, there is the great loss by the fall in Exchange, which I explained, on 27th January, to amount to about Rx. 710,000 upon expenditure included in the Budget.

24. These three items, therefore, account for a deterioration in our accounts of Rx. 2,599,000; so that, apart from these three causes, we have, on the whole, an improvement over Budget by Rx. 135,000.

This, as usual, is the balance of several losses and several gains. On our principal Revenue accounts, it will be seen, if reference be made to the statement in paragraph 16, we have received Rx. 54,556,000, against an estimate of Rx. 54,127,000, as the gain under Salt, Excise, Stamps, and other heads has more than covered the loss of Rx. 349,000 under Opium. Salt has given us Rx. 119,000 (as we have probably lost as much during February and March, by the temporary disturbance of trade, as we have gained by the enhancement of duty). Excise and Stamps contribute Rx. 409,000, and Customs have been very productive, giving a return of Rx. 114,000, in excess of Budget.

The Railway account is worse than Budget by Rx. 302,000, for both the net earnings have fallen off by Rx. 78,000, and the charges against them have increased, quite apart from any question of exchange, from Rx. 10,854,000 to Rx. 11,078,000.

On the other hand, there have been savings or excess receipts, under several of the heads which, in the abstract statement, we have grouped as Expenditure heads. Among these we may note particularly an increase of Telegraph receipts of Rx. 131,000, which must for the most part be put down as a set off against the excess of expenditure in Upper Burma, where the Telegraph charges of Public Departments are very high.

The enumeration of other smaller differences may be summed up in saying that, while we have found it necessary, during the course of the year, to make additional grants for expenditure in Upper Burma, for Irrigation, for Army charges, and for Political Expenditure, and in a few other matters, we have, on the whole, obtained, under other heads, sufficient savings to meet the charges so involved.

GENERAL REMARKS ON BUDGET ESTIMATES FOR 1888-89.

25. The Budget Estimates will be best explained by comparing the figures with the standard financial position as explained on 27th January—that is, by a few words of remark in comparison of the second and fourth columns of the statement in paragraph 16.

26. The first question we have to settle, in casting up the Budget figures, is the rate of exchange at which they are to be taken. That rate has been singularly steady throughout 1887-88,—rarely less than 16$\frac{3}{4}$d., and rarely higher than 17*d.* It is certain that, upon Council Drawings of 1887-88, the exchange will be very close to 16·9*d.*, or, putting it in the way that more nearly explains its effect upon our accounts, the Exchange charge will be as nearly as possible Rx. 42 per £100. The rate has dropped for the moment since the beginning of March; but the drop seems to be, partly at least, connected with the heavy drawings of the last month or two, and as drawings will be on a smaller scale in 1888-89, we may reasonably hope to realize, on the whole, a rate equal to that of 1887-88. We have, therefore, reckoned the Exchange in the Budget Estimates at Rx. 42 for every £100.

The comparison of the second and fourth columns is, therefore, not affected by any difference in the rate of exchange.

27. The result, it will be seen, works out to a surplus only a little different from that which we anticipated; that is, to put matters from the point of view stated in paragraph 17, the one year's increase of revenue nearly covers the one year's increase of expenditure. In one respect, the year 1888-89 falls a little short of the standard we have established, for we do not, in that year, fully come up to our new standard of enhanced salt revenue. In Opium, too, we anticipate a smaller standard of revenue than in January last; but the revenue under Excise and Stamps and other heads is already sufficiently far advanced, beyond our standard, to cover these deficiencies and give us, on the whole, an improvement of Rx. 495,000, under our principal Revenue Heads.

28. In the Railway Account, the estimates are moderately taken. We estimate for better earnings, but the charges against them equally advance, and we have a net excess outgoing of Rx. 2,115,000 against Rx. 2,252,000 of our standard account.

29. With the exception of the Army charges, the Expenditure heads are estimated at amounts not greatly differing from the standard of expenditure, for which we explained in January that we had to provide. The increase of Civil Expenditure is, on the whole, only one per cent. The heads of Post Office, Telegraph, and Mint, we are warranted, by the figures of the current year, in putting down at a considerably lower figure of net charge than the Budget Estimates of 1887-88. The grants for Imperial Civil and Military Works have been cut down, as far as possible, to meet the existing financial necessities. Provincial Civil Works shew an increase, the necessary result, under the provincial system, of the share of increase of revenue which falls within their account.

30. The main increase under the Expenditure heads, comes under the head of Army, where, without reckoning the extra expenditure in Upper Burma, the net outgoings are estimated to increase from Rx. 17,763,000 to Rx. 18,223,000. This increase of expenditure cannot at present be avoided; it is a matter in which, for the time, financial considerations must of necessity yield to the more pressing requirements of the military position. The estimates of extra Military expenditure in Burma are placed at a much lower figure than the actual charges incurred in 1887-88. Certain special causes of increased expenditure, which were present in 1887-88, are not likely to repeat themselves in 1888-89, and measures are being taken to reduce the scale of expenditure on the force serving in Upper Burma.

31. Having completed this more general review, I pass on to an examination of the main heads of Revenue and Expenditure set forth in the statement in paragraph 16 above.

LAND REVENUE.

32. The figures of Land Revenue shew considerable irregularity when they are made up by the financial year, as will easily be understood from the circumstances stated in paragraph 9. But if the accounts are made up by the 12 months ending September, so as to close at a time when the collections of one season are for the most part finished and those of the next not yet begun; the figures present a more regular appearance and shew a steady advance of revenue year by year.

The figures in the lowest line are the alienated Land Revenue of Bombay, which, in the system of accounts of that province, are added on the Revenue side, and charged again as expenditure under Assignments, Land Revenue, and Police. The amounts are neglected in the statement itself.
It will be remembered that a portion of the total receipts of Land Revenue is in the accounts shewn under the separate head of Irrigation.

33. Although the growth of revenue shown in the above figures has been very steady, it can hardly, from a financial point of view, be said to be satisfactory in amount. It has been less than one per cent. a year, and is on the whole a poor return for the money which Government has spent, in the form of railways and of canals, in improving its estate.

But the fact is that the period covered by the above statement represents, in a general way, the close of the 30 years' settlements in several of the provinces, and the Government is only now beginning to reap its share in the advance of the past two or three decades. Settlement operations are at present being carried on on a more extensive scale than at any previous time, and we have every reason to expect a handsome increase of revenue under this head.

NEW SETTLEMENT SYSTEM.

34. During the last few years (and in a great measure in preparation for this re-settlement of revenue) a very great improvement has taken place in Northern India in the administration of this important head of revenue and in the means adopted by the Government to assess and settle from time to time that share of the produce of the land which has in all ages been the main source of the revenue of the sovereign powers in India.

As no systematic review has recently been published of the position and prospects of this our most important head of revenue, I propose to take up the subject in some detail, both from an administrative and from a financial point of view, the materials having been supplied to me by Sir Edward Buck, the Revenue Secretary to the Government of India, to whom personally is due by far the largest share of the credit of the improvements effected.

35. The system of land-assessment has hitherto, in every Province, involved the complete survey, field by field, of every village—an operation which was rendered necessary by the absence of correct maps at the commencement of the 30-year period. The object of the system now introduced is to preserve, and to correct up to date, the records upon which the surveys and settlements are based, so that the re-settlements, when they fall due, may be made upon existing records, and may not require an elaborate investigation de novo. The maps which have been provided by the great cadastral survey which has now almost drawn to an end, are in future to be corrected up to date from year to year by permanent establishments in which the patwáris or village accountants occupy the most important place. In the same way the settlements now being completed have involved a complete revision of all records-of-rights including details of the occupancy of every field, and these records, like the maps, are in future to be maintained from year to year by the permanent establishments. The assessment included also the valuation of the soil and productive powers of every field; but the valuation made during the past 30 years will in future revisions of settlement be accepted without material alteration. Three important elements of expenditure have thus been eliminated from future settlement operations, viz., the cost of periodical field surveys, of revisions of records-of-right, and of soil valuations. The introduction of the new system is made possible both by the more complete maps and records which have been supplied by the operations of the past 30 years, and by the creation of Agricultural Departments which are permanent Departments of Survey and Settlement.

36. An examination of the cost under the old and new systems has recently been made in pursuance of the enquiries of the Finance Committee with the object of ascertaining the financial effect of the new arrangements and the probable cost of future settlement operations. This investigation is not complete, but it points to a maximum expenditure, in future, of ₹100 a square mile, including the cost of additional establishment, and in some Provinces to a considerably lower figure. The comparative results are shown in the following table, in which a maximum rate of ₹100 is applied to all provinces:—

shewing an ultimate annual saving of Rx. 237,500.

The above table is based on an estimate of the maximum cost which may be incurred in the revision of assessments when the new arrangements have been completely established. In the meantime some saving has been already made by their partial introduction and by measures which have recently been taken to accelerate the current revisions of settlement. Under the programmes which have been arranged in recent conferences with the local authorities, there has been effected a saving either in the expenditure on survey and settlement, or in the more punctual recovery of increments of new revenue, which, in three Provinces—the Central Provinces, Punjab, and Madras—is estimated at a gross amount of Rx. 2,000,000 during the next ten years, or an average of Rx. 200,000 a year during the next decade. In these and other Provinces the new increments of Land

Revenue to which the Government is entitled will henceforth be assessed and collected up to date, while hitherto they have in many cases come into force only several years after the date of the expiry of the old settlement.

37. The general growth of the Land Revenue is exhibited in the following table:—

(a) Excluding Alienations.

The figures show actual collections both of Land Revenue and of miscellaneous items classed as Land Revenue, e.g., sale-proceeds of waste-lands; water-rates in Madras; nominal revenue assessment on lands assigned for service in Bombay; capitation-tax and receipts from fisheries in Burma and Assam.

38. Three periods are taken, viz:—(1) the first 14 years after the mutiny, during which the growth was at the rate of Rx. 190,000 a year; (2) a period of thirty years from the mutiny to the present time, during which the growth was at the rate of Rx. 166,000 a year; (3) a period of twenty years (partly estimated) from 1870-71 to 1890-91, during which the growth is at the rate of Rx. 142,000 a year.

39. It will not fail to be seen that, while the fourteen years preceding 1870-71 shewed an annual increase of Rx. 190,000, the rate of increase in the twenty succeeding years has averaged only three-fourths of this. The reasons for this are, that the first period was, in many parts of India—Oudh and Orissa for example—a period of active re-assessment and settlement, and that, therefore, during the second there was less of the growth of revenue which comes in from settlement operations; that a large accession of land revenue occurred after the mutiny in consequence of confiscations; and finally, that there was, between 1860 and 1870, a rapid increase in the cultivated area of the provinces of Bombay and Madras, in which the system of land-settlement is such that newly-tilled land comes under annual assessment, and in which the demand for cotton during the American war gave a powerful impulse to cultivation. On the other hand, a corresponding check to cultivation occurred in the same Provinces during the last of the three periods in consequence of the drought of 1877-78.

40. Notwithstanding these causes of exceptional growth in the beginning of the post-mutiny period, it may reasonably be expected that the capital outlay which the Government has recently devoted to irrigation and railways will, during the next few years, bring to it a larger return from the land, by reason of the great improvement of its produce, both in quantity and value, by the agency of canals and the opening-out of communications. In these accessions to the landed income of the State strict regard will be had to the principles which have invariably been followed by the Government of India in the assessment of the land, its guiding policy having always been the lenient consideration of the proprietary classes. During 30 years of peace and progress, the rentals of tenants have, through the cultivation of new fields or the imposition of new rents by landlords, been continually expanding, and, in some of the most fertile areas of India, the landlords themselves have, without the intervention of the Government, materially enhanced the rent paid to them, while at the same time that proportion of it paid by them to the State has been continuously reduced to lower and more definite limits. In the same way, a lenient consideration is extended to the agricultural community in Provinces where the cultivators or cultivating proprietors are assessed by the State itself, so that in these also the percentage of produce paid as land revenue has been constantly decreased.

The growth of land revenue, therefore, which is to be anticipated will be a growth due to that peace and prosperity which directly spring from a lenient and careful administration rather than to any direct action of the Government in the direction of raising rentals.

A brief review of the position in each Province will now be given.

Review by Provinces.

41. North-Western Provinces.—The old system comes to a final end within the next two years. The greater part of the Province is held by tenants on small holdings of a few acres paying rent to landlords who are charged with a payment of 50 per cent. of their assets to Government. The advanced condition of the Province led the Secretary of State to enquire, so long ago as 1863, whether a permanent settlement could not be introduced; but a final consideration of the subject between 1882 and 1884 ended in the adoption of the system already described, under which annually revised maps and records are made the basis of assessment.

The rate of growth of land revenue in the North-Western Provinces since the mutiny year has, however, been moderate. In the first 14 years it was only 5 per cent. (say ·35 per cent. per annum), but it has in the current period of 20 years risen to 10 per cent. or ·5 per cent. per annum. There was in the North-Western Provinces less room for extension of cultivation than in most parts of India. Lying mainly in the fertile alluvial plain between the Himalayas and the high-lands of Central India, the Province attracted a large population at an early historical period, and it was at the period of the mutiny highly assessed. But the large amount of State capital spent since that time in the form of railways and canals, and the contemporaneous rise of prices has given a fresh impulse to agricultural wealth, and the province is now in many districts as lightly, as it was formerly heavily, assessed. A considerable amount of relief was given at the commencement of the 30-years period of settlement now expiring, by the reduction of the standard of the State demand from 66 per cent. of assets to 50 per cent.—a change which was, however, somewhat counterbalanced by the high valuation of assets made under the rules which governed the operations of the Settlement Officers. The relief is now made complete by the elimination of soil valuation from the assessment system which, except in cases of suspected fraud, requires that the recorded assets should be accepted as a basis of assessment. Rentals are in many districts still growing at a rate of about 1 per cent. per annum, and in certain tracts the growth is likely to be so great that even under the lenient system now adopted, some difficulty may be anticipated in taking the Government quota in full at the next settlement from the landlords, on account of the large and sudden increase which would be involved in such an assessment.

42. Oudh, with the exception of a closely populated tract between Lucknow and Benares, came under much later development than the North-Western Provinces. Its revenues were not, until after the mutiny, brought under the effective administration of the British Government, who applied to it the same system of settlement as that which prevailed in the North-Western Provinces. The tenants of Oudh have less positive rights than those of the adjacent Province, as in the latter the greater number are more securely protected by statutory rights against unlimited enhancement of rent. There is, therefore, a prospect of a larger growth of rental, and also of revenue, in Oudh than in the North-Western Provinces. The land is rich, the climate favourable, and although since 1860 the extension of cultivation has been very large, considerable areas still remain to be brought under the plough. Competition for the land is likely to increase, and with it the enhancement of the rents by the landlords, who have in Oudh practically a free hand. The development of the Province under British rule has been very great, and is still, with the extension of railways, progressing at a rapid rate. The Province will come under reassessment, on the new or economical system, between 1892 and 1906.

43. In the Punjab there is a large proportion of dry sandy soil which is only capable of development under the influence of irrigation. Subsoil water is generally too far from the surface for wells, and the growth of revenue depends mainly on the expenditure of State Capital on canals. The revenue-payers are for the most part cultivating proprietors paying direct to Government, no part of the produce being intercepted by middlemen. A large amount of State capital has been in recent years invested in the Province in railways and canals. Under these circumstances the growth of the land revenue, which has since the mutiny been slow, should now progress at a rapid rate.

The revision of settlement has, under the old system, involved, as in the North-Western Provinces, a high rate of expenditure and protracted operations, but only a very few districts now remain to be completed under that system, and measures have recently been taken to expedite their assessment. The whole Province will then come under the operation of the new rules which require the settlement to be based on annual maps and records.

44. The Central Provinces have shown a very small development of land revenue since the mutiny. They have been to a great extent cut off from the railway system and have at the same time been lightly assessed. The revision of settlement takes place during the current decade commencing with the first year of the present Provincial Contract, 1887-88, and it is estimated, after nine years, to yield an increase of Rx. 180,000. Owing to the backward state of the Province, the low rates now paid to Government, and the new development of the railway system which is taking place, it has been determined to make the new settlements for terms varying between 12 and 20 years, so that the reassessment of the Province will recommence shortly after the termination of the existing revision.

The revision of settlement is being made at present partly on the old and partly on the new system, but at a low cost not exceeding ₹100 a square mile. The same necessity for a complete series of maps and records has existed in this as in other Provinces, but owing to the circumstance that the revision of annual records was commenced, with the creation of the Agricultural Department, five years before the old settlements began to expire, there has been more time than elsewhere to utilize the village and district establishments in the work of preparing for settlement. Arrangements were made under which a large number of parties of the Survey of India have covered the surface of the Provinces with a network of triangulation available both for topographical and revenue purposes. These are filled in by the village officers under the supervision of the local Revenue officers, and they provide sufficiently good maps as a basis for future revisions of assessment. The revision of the record is also primarily effected by the permanent establishments, leaving only the valuation of soils and general supervision to be effected by a special staff. At the close of the present revision, 9 or 10 years hence, the new system will be introduced and the cost be brought considerably below the new maximum of ₹100 a square mile.

The land is held, as in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, by cultivators of small holdings paying rent to proprietors from whom the Government takes revenue. But whereas in those Provinces the landlords have the power, which is freely used, of raising rents contemporaneously with increase of competition and rise of prices, they have no such power in the Central Provinces. The growth of rent and, therefore, of revenue entirely depends, except in land newly taken into cultivation, on the periodical assessments of rent made by the Government at the time of settlement. The existing rents are, in most parts of the province, an unusually small fraction of the total value of the produce ; while, in consequence of the rising prices due to the extension of the railway system, the disproportion is continuously becoming greater. The area of culturable land still to be brought under the plough is exceptionally large. The province is one, therefore, from which a material growth of land-revenue may be looked for.

45. Thus far the provinces dealt with are those popularly known as the "temporarily-settled zemindari" or "landlord" provinces. I will next refer to Bengal, which is recognised generally as a "permanently-settled landlord province." But there are in Bengal not less than about 14,000 square miles which belong to the temporarily-settled landlord class and of which the old settlements will shortly fall in. In respect of this tract preparations are now being made for punctual assessment on much the same plan as in the Central Provinces, and at equally moderate rates of cost, by the Agricultural Department of the Province.

The area in question comprises large tracts in Orissa and Chittagong, and several Government estates. It will hereafter come entirely under the new system. An increment of land revenue of 20 per cent. would in this area be equivalent to a fixed addition of 10 lakhs a year to the annual demand.

46. The Province of Madras must be divided into two sections—the permanently-settled zemindari or landlord area, and the temporarily-settled ryotwari or tenant-proprietor area. The first is about 48,000 square miles and the second about 93,000 square miles, or roughly one-third and two-thirds respectively. The settlement on the old system, which required a complete series of field maps and a valuation of soils, is now drawing to a close and is being hastened by assistance lent to the local Survey Department by the Government of India. In a few years the whole Province will, in accordance with the intention which for some time has been declared by the Madras Government, be permanently relieved of special Settlement and Survey establishments.

The growth of land revenue in the tenant-proprietor tracts takes place in two different directions. There is the periodical growth due to the increase of rent-rates at the end of every 30 years period, and the annual growth due to the gradual increase of the area brought under cultivation. For in Madras all tenant-proprietor waste land has an annual rate attached to it at the time of assessment which is applied and collected whenever the land is occupied. The periodical growth (that is, the increase of rates between the last settlement and the one now being completed) is roughly estimated at from 5 to 7 per cent. and the annual increment due to increased cultivation at Rx. 10,000 per annum. The rate of increase under this latter head will necessarily fall off as less land becomes available.

47. In Bombay the same general conditions prevail as in the ryotwari or tenant-proprietor area of Madras. The growth rate, however, is not checked by the presence of permanently-settled land, and has, as in the temporarily-settled section of Madras, a double growth, the one being due to the periodical increase of rent-rates every 30 years, and the other to the annual occupation of fresh land at the revenue-rates which were attached to it at settlement.

The whole Province has in recent years undergone a thorough and searching revision of assessment which is now drawing to a close. This revision has been in the hands of a separate Survey Department which will within five or six years be gradually broken up and absorbed in the new establishments, and the Province will then come permanently under the new system. It may be noticed here that both in the Madras and Bombay Presidencies the holdings or small farms of tenant-proprietors have had their boundaries fixed once and for ever by the Survey Department, and that instead of, as in other Provinces, the map requiring annual revision in order to keep it in accord with changing boundaries, it is here necessary to maintain the boundaries in accordance with the map as originally made. This duty, as well as that of the maintenance of the statistical record, is on the close of settlement operations in each district made over to the Agricultural Department.

The growth of land revenue has been more satisfactory in Bombay than in any Province. It began in a marked degree with the impetus given to cotton production at the time of the American War, and has been continued under the influence of rising prices, extended cultivation (and in Sind, extended irrigation), supplemented by a careful system of assessment.

48. In Assam the very backward state of the Province and the absence of communication with the seaboard in the years immediately succeeding the mutiny, have made the growth of revenue in the later years appear to be exceptionally rapid. A part of the Province (about 9,000 square miles) is, however, under the permanent settlement system of Bengal and the growth of revenue depends on the remaining area which is temporarily settled, chiefly with tenant-proprietors, at rates which are practically fixed, as there is hardly any competition for land on account of the great extent of waste area which can be taken up. The most fully-occupied portion has been revised on the system employed in other temporarily-settled Provinces, and this revision is nearly completed. The remainder will probably be surveyed and settled on a cheaper system under the direction of the Agricultural Department, and the whole Province will thereafter come under the new arrangements. As in Bombay and Madras, there is an annual growth (estimated at from Rx. 8,000 to Rx. 10,000 per annum) which is almost solely due to new occupation, as there is here no periodical growth due to increase of rates.

49. Lower Burma has been undergoing for some years a regular revision of settlement, of which about one-fifth, or nearly 10,000 square miles, is completed. Each district, when it leaves the settlement officer's hands, is made over to the permanent care of the Agricultural Department, which will henceforward be responsible for maintaining the maps and records. The land is held by tenant-proprietors, and there is again in this province a double growth due to annual increase of occupation and to periodical increase of rates. The annual assessments are complicated by the release of all fallow land from payment of any but a nominal revenue, but there is a steady extension of cultivation which, supplemented by the effect of a careful survey and assessment, has resulted in a growth of from two to three lakhs a year on a comparatively small total revenue. Lower Burma is practically a large rice field formed by the alluvial deltas of the river systems, and at present it yields only 1 per cent. of other produce. About 37,000 square miles, or 84 per cent. of its cultivable area, are still uncultivated, and there is room for further growth both by extension of cultivation and by the improvement of the agricultural system through the introduction of other crops. The soil is rich.

50. Upper Burma is composed of high-lands, the agricultural value of which is under examination. The land revenue is, like that of all border Provinces on first occupation, initially small; but there is an equal promise of the same steady growth in the future which has taken place elsewhere.

51. The increase of revenue in minor Provinces under the direct control of the Government of India is mainly due to the re-assessment of the little district of Ajmir and the addition of Quetta.

OPIUM.

52. The following are the statistics of opium for a few years past:—

The same influence continued to operate in 1887-88, for the price gradually ran down to ₹1,029 in September. Since that date, however, there has been a recovery, the price having risen to ₹1,067 in February, though it dropped again to ₹1,042 in March. This gives an average of ₹1,059 for the whole year. For next year we take what we hope is a moderate estimate, reckoning the selling price no higher than the March figure of ₹1,042, and assuming for the present that there will be no alteration in the number of chests brought to sale. This gives us for the Budget Estimate of Bengal sales, Rx. 5,939,000.

cost us only Rx. 6,600 more than the Budget Estimate of Rx. 2,500,000. For next year we take a good average and put down the cost at Rx. 2,555,000.

55. The Revenue from Bombay opium is not so directly affected as that of Bengal by the additional burden of taxation on the China side. Since June 28th, 1882, the duty has been ₹650 per chest, and the amount of export has been very steady. The high figures of 1886-87 are no doubt due to the rush at the end of that year to get chests landed before the Chinese duty of 110 taels came into force; for it was followed by a considerable lull in the beginning of the year 1887-88. The export, however, has been more active during the later months of 1887-88, and reckoning up to March 3, the number of chests that had passed the scales was only 64½ less than the amount in 1885-86. But about that date a portion of the Malwa crop was severely damaged by a storm, and the merchants immediately held back their opium in expectation of higher prices, so that during the week ending March 10th only 80 chests came forward against an average expectation of 1,000. Later accounts are more favourable; but, on the whole, we estimate for a somewhat lower duty than that of 1885-86.

SALT REVENUE.

56. The following may be taken as a statement of the average supply of salt in India:—

	Maunds.
Northern India salt sources (mainly the Sambhar Lake and the Mayo Salt Mines)	7,200,000
Bengal—Imported by sea	10,300,000
Madras—Local manufacture, all along the Coast	7,800,000
Bombay—Local manufacture, chiefly near the Rann of Cutch	6,300,000
Burma—Mainly imported by sea	1,600,000
TOTAL	33,400,000

57. Before 19th January 1888 the rates of duty were ₹2 in Continental India, and annas 3 in Burma, and on that date they were raised to ₹2-8 and ₹1 respectively. At these rates the Salt Revenue would stand as follows:—

	Before January 19th.	After January 19th.
	Rx.	Rx.
Duty in Continental India	6,320,000	7,900,000
Duty in Burma	30,000	160,000
Other receipts	300,000	300,000
TOTAL	6,650,000	8,360,000

The actual Salt Revenue of 1886-87 was Rx. 6,657,600, and, as I mentioned in my Statement of 27th January, the consumption of the current year was only slightly in advance of that of 1886-87.

reason, been unusually low. Taking these circumstances into consideration, we have estimated to obtain a revenue of only Rx. 6,723,100 in 1887-88 and Rx. 8,122,500 in 1888-89. For the full measure of the enhanced revenue, we shall have to wait till 1889-90.

EFFECT OF ENHANCED DUTY.

59. The following statement gives the retail prices of Salt in the different provinces of Bengal at the end of the two fortnights preceding and the two fortnights succeeding the increase of the duty:—

Sindh	2·78	2·85	3·38	3·30	3·39
Berar	3·67	3·60	4·05	4·30	4·18

60. Comparing the prices of the 1st half of January with those of the second half of February, it appears that in the Central Provinces, Assam, Sind, and Berar, the increase varied from 0·51 to 0·58 of a rupee. In Bengal it was considerably more, varying from about 13 annas to nearly a rupee. In the other Provinces the increase was less than half a rupee. The average increase of retail price for all India was 0·55 of a rupee, or about 8 annas and 9 pie, being a little more than the increase in the rate of duty.

61. It is not possible to state exactly what is the average annual rate of consumption of salt in any particular province, and it is certain that the consumption varies very much. The average rate of consumption for all India is a little under 10½lb a head of the population. At the rate of half an ounce a day the average consumption would be 11lb 6oz. Assuming for the purpose of the moment that it is as much as 12lb, it may be taken that a man with a wife and three children will consume 42lb in the year between them. Let their consumption be taken at 50lb. At the present average price of, say, ₹3-14-1 a maund the salt of the family will cost about two rupees and six annas in the year. This is about 16½ per cent. in excess of the cost before the duty was raised, so that the man's contribution to the salt-duty may be taken as having been raised from about two rupees to two rupees six annas nine pies a year.

I do not enter into the question, on which there is much diversity of opinion, as to the manner in which the actual incidence on individuals, which I here state only in averages, is affected by the social customs of the people.

STAMPS AND EXCISE.

62. The statistics of Stamps and Excise Revenue may be given in a single statement. They are both regularly progressive, and it may be said that almost without exception the revenue of each province under each of these heads is, in each year, more or less in advance of what it was the year before. For this reason it is not necessary to do more than give the figures of the first and last of the years under review :—

* Upper Burma.

63. As regards the Stamp revenue little remark is required. Of the whole amount about 70 per cent. represents the income from Court-fees, and may be taken as the revenue side of the account to which the expenditure on Civil and Criminal Courts (under Law and Justice) and on Revenue Courts (under Land Revenue) is charged. The practice of levying fees by stamps has, during the last few years, been extended to some small items which formerly came in as Cash Receipts under the heads above quoted, and a small part of the increase shewn in the above figures does not represent new revenue.

64. As regards Excise, it will be seen that it is in Madras and Bombay that the revenue administration has been most successful, as these two Provinces, with 31 and 16½ millions of inhabitants, respectively, produce a revenue nearly as large as that of Bengal with 69 millions. In fact, in both these Provinces, a very remarkable progress has been made. The whole system of distillation has been more thoroughly brought under control, and stricter and more methodical preventive measures have enabled the Government to greatly enhance the rate of duty; for the question of the rate of duty which it is possible to levy in India, is simply the question of the prevention of illicit distillation. In Bengal, also, the subject of excise has received very special attention at the hands of the Government, and it is likely that the measures which are now being adopted, on the basis of the Report of the Excise Commission of 1883, will shew, in the immediate future, a development of Excise Revenue, not dissimilar to that which has been witnessed in Bombay and Madras. The first effect was an increase of expenditure, which has risen from Rx. 28,900 in 1884-85, to Rx. 42,000 in 1887-88, and will probably continue to increase. The Revenue, by the same measures, fell from Rx. 1,005,200 in 1884-85, to Rx. 958,500 in 1885-86, but it has now advanced on a sounder basis, and it is expected that Rx. 1,097,500 will be received in 1887-88.

Alleged Increase of Drunkenness.

65. The advance of Excise Revenue in India has attracted considerable attention in England, having been erroneously accepted as evidence of the increase of drinking habits in India. The Government of India took a recent opportunity of sending to England a report containing very full information of what was actually being done in each of the Provinces of India. This paper, which was afterwards printed as House-of-Commons Paper No. 269 of 1887, explained the restrictive system which was everywhere adopted, and showed that the improvement in Revenue arose from severer taxation, and more complete prevention. I copy the following paragraphs from the covering despatch No. 166, dated the 25th June 1887, with which the report was sent, the Congress referred to being the British and Colonial Temperance Congress, which had addressed the Secretary of State on the subject :—

* * * * * * *

6. The information, therefore, which has reached the Congress on this subject is entirely erroneous. The Governments in India are not set in the midst of an abstemious people from whom they can realise no Excise Revenue, unless they place in their way temptations to drinking which would not otherwise exist. On the contrary, it is only by strong preventive establishments that illicit distillation can be prevented. The great increase in the Revenue to which the Congress allude does not mark the extension of drinking habits, but is the result of a great and general increase in the rate of tax which it would have been entirely impossible to realise but for the great improvement in preventive measures which has accompanied it. In fact the ability of the Excise Department to prevent illicit distillation is the only limit which is imposed in practice to increase in the rate of taxation.

7. The Congress are also misinformed in connecting this increased revenue with "the system by which the right to license outstills is farmed to the highest bidder." In scantily-inhabited tracts, and in places which border upon Native States, a system of this kind is employed as providing the only means by which a tax of any kind can be levied upon the consumption of spirits; these are places where the Government has no choice between untaxed distillation and trade and the system of farm to which the Congress allude. But outside these very narrow limits the system may be described as obsolete. The object of the Excise Department is to tax every gallon of spirits, first, by a fixed still-head duty, which is regulated at the discretion of the Government; and secondly, by a license fee for retail sale, which is usually determined by competition for the privilege of sale.

9. Before passing on to give actual statistics of the consumption, it must be remembered with what large tracts of country and with what a large population we are dealing. Judged by a European standard, the people of India are a remarkably abstemious people. Drunkenness in the English sense of the term hardly exists in India. Writers whose comparisons are based on Oriental experience describe as drunkenness and as spread of misery and ruin a condition of things which, if it existed in England, would be regarded almost as a millennium of temperance. The average consumption in India is only a bottle or a bottle and a half of spirits a year for every adult male, and in some provinces is even less than that. It may be conceded that, however small the rate of consumption, any increase of it is equally to be deprecated; but at the same time in dealing with subjects such as the present it should be borne in mind that such terms as "drunkenness," "drinking classes," and "spread of drinking," when used by natives of India or in connection with Indian Administration, bear a meaning wholly different from that which they convey to a mind familiar only with the English aspects of the temperance question.

* * * * * * * *

16. In short the Temperance Congress, starting from the erroneous assumption that liquor traffic and liquor consumption are unnatural in India and would not exist but for the state of things created by the British Administration, have formed the conclusion that the mere orders of the Government are sufficient to confine the consumption within any desired limit, and that the Government is responsible for not drawing that limit much closer. The real problem, it will be seen, is much more difficult. There is a point at which restrictions on consumption are inevitably followed by illicit distillation,—a point which varies in every region, according to the habits of the people, the sparseness of population, and the nature of the country and its productions. The papers now forwarded to Your Lordship amply shew that the object which the various Governments have in view is the adaptation of the various methods of Excise Administration to the different conditions which present themselves and the imposition of as great restriction as circumstances in each case permit In our opinion the papers are a record of success in the solution of this difficult problem.

66. It remains to say that after considering the advice of the Local Governments in each case, we have taken the following estimates of the Stamps and Excise Revenue :—

	Revised, 1887-88.	Budget, 1888-89.
Stamps	3,848,100	3,854,400

INCOME TAX.

67. The year 1886-87 was the first year of the Income Tax in its present form, and the opportunity may be taken to give an account of the first year's administration and its results.

68. The gross collections amounted to Rx. 1,354,735, and the net collections (deducting Refunds—Rx. 27,067—and charges for Collection—Rx. 50,157), to Rx. 1,277,511. The net revenue is compared Province by Province with that derived from the License Tax in 1885-86, in the Table below :—

	License Tax Collections, 1885-86.	Income Tax Collections, 1886-87.	Percentage of total Collections	Increase of Income Tax over License Tax.
	Rx.	Rx.		Rx.
India	106	122,406	9½	122,300
Central Provinces	22,656	39,836	3	17,180

Assam	5	19,905	1½	19,900
Bengal	139,167	333,627	26	194,460
North-Western Provinces and Oudh	112,954	213,639	17	100,685
Punjab	35,747	105,652	8	69,005
Madras	41,851	138,674	11	96,823
Bombay	120,314	303,756	24	183,442
TOTAL	472,800	1,277,511	100	804,711

The collections under India include the general collections in Ajmere and Coorg, and the assessments on salaries of Officers serving immediately under the Government of India and in Political employ, and of Military and Public Works Officers throughout India; and also a large amount of taxation on Interest on Securities.

69. Bengal and Bombay together have furnished about half of the total revenue; the towns of Calcutta and Bombay of course contribute largely to this result; the proportion which the gross collections in these towns bore to the total collections (excluding the tax on salaries of Government servants) in those Presidencies is indicated below :—

Bengal.	Calcutta.	Percentage of Calcutta on Bengal.	Bombay Presidency.	Bombay City.	Percentage of City on Presidency.
Rx.	Rx.		Rx.	Rx.
338,468	170,588	50·4	257,500	140,652	54·6

The collections from these two cities, therefore, form more than one-fourth of the whole collections in India.

In Madras City the collections amounted to three lakhs.

The North-Western Provinces and Oudh produce a larger amount than any other Province, if the Presidency Towns be excluded.

70. The incidence of the tax in the various Provinces, and in Calcutta, Bombay, and Madras is shown below, the proportions being calculated with reference to the final demand :—

	Number of population to each person assessed.	Number of population to each rupee of tax.	Incidence of tax on each person assessed.

71. Comparing the Presidency Towns, the proportion of assessees to the general population is the same in Calcutta and Bombay; but the average tax paid by each assessee is considerably higher in Calcutta than in Bombay; the Madras average tax is not far below that paid in Bombay.

Leaving out the Presidency Towns, the variations in the incidence of the tax on each assessee are inconsiderable, but the proportion which the taxable population bears to the whole varies very largely. Bombay appears to be by far the richest of the Provinces, one in 311 being taxed, whereas in the mofussil portions of Bengal only one in 853 is liable to taxation; in the Orissa Division the proportion falls as low as one in 1,466, and in the Patna and Chota Nagpore Divisions the proportion is one in 1,012 and one in 1,129 respectively. In the Bombay Presidency the Ratnagiri District has only one in 1,179 of the population taxed; the next lowest proportion being one in 656 in the Thana District. The Central Provinces naturally come out with the smallest proportion of taxable incomes, though curiously the incidence of the tax on the individual tax-payer is highest there, and in some Municipalities the incidence is very high indeed. The Punjab and the North-Western Provinces stand next to Bombay, though far behind it. These results must not be pressed too far; as some portion of the difference is due to variations in the proportion that the Agricultural population bears to the whole; and again, some portion may be due to variations in the method of assessment.

72. The following Table distributes the actual collections* between the various parts of the Schedule of Act II of 1886 :—

	Rx.	Percentage of the whole.
Part I.—Salaries	418,074	30·4
„ II.—Companies	74,619	5·4
„ III.—Interest	73,617	5·3
„ IV.—Other Sources	808,831	58·9
	1,375,141	100·0

* The figures in the succeeding tables do not work up to those of the Finance and Revenue Accounts, as they are taken from the Administration Reports, and include in some cases collections made after the close of the Financial year.

The tax on salaries consists for the most part of that levied from Government servants, the amount being made up as follows :—

	Rx.	Per-centage.	Number of Assessees.	Incidence of tax per Assessee.
Government Servants	300,307	72	66,400	5
Servants of Local Authorities	12,246	3	5,010	24
Private Servants	105,521	25	30,636	34
	418,074	100	102,046	...

The Companies taxed numbered 774; thus paying an average of about ₹964 each.

Under the head of Interest the information as to the number of assessees is defective; in many cases the number taxed has not been given.

73. Under Other Sources of Income it is a matter of difficulty to distribute the taxation under any general heads; it seems best to give the figures for some of the principal Professions and Trades, the rest being lumped together—

	Number of Assessees.	Amount of Collections. Rx.
House Proprietors	8,249	40,495
Ship or Boatowners	2,500	4,201

Metals	3,227	6,982
Others	36,488	74,251
TOTAL	294,691	808,831

The money-lenders furnish just about one-third of the assessees, and pay about 30 per cent. of the tax in this Part; they pay about ₹24 each; and by far the largest proportion (88,777 out of 98,768) are assessed at incomes of under ₹2,000 a year.

The highest rates of tax are paid by the following classes :—

	Tax per Assessee. ₹
General Merchants	55
Legal Practitioners	50

The tax under Part IV as a whole falls on the assessees at the rate of ₹27 each; and of the total number of assessees 264,715, or very nearly 90 per cent., are assessed on incomes of ₹2,000 and under.

74. The assessments under Part IV were those which were most difficult, and regarding which objections were chiefly raised. Eleven per cent. of the original assessees were on objection absolved from taxation, while the amount of the assessment was reduced on the whole by 19 per cent. These results may be regarded as satisfactory, considering that they represent the first series of assessments to a new tax; in Madras it is stated that there was a tendency to assess lightly, and the same appears to be the case with regard to Bengal and Oudh. The general impression derived from the reports of the Local Governments is that considerable success has been obtained in the endeavours made to render the tax as palatable as possible. The Government of Bengal says—

"The unpopularity of a direct tax may be greatly enhanced by injudicious administration; but the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to be able to record his belief that in the present year the dislike to the tax has not been seriously aggravated by errors in its working," and this expresses the view generally of the other Governments.

75. Classifying the assessees of all kinds according to their rates of income, it appears that 90 per cent. had incomes of under ₹2,000, and that this class paid nearly 50 lakhs,* or only about 38 per cent. of the total collections. The incomes of from ₹500 to ₹750 numbered 51 per cent. of the whole body of assessees, but produced only 14 per cent. of the revenue; and the corresponding percentages for the next lowest class with incomes not exceeding ₹1,000 were 13 and 6 respectively.

Only 6,929 persons were taxed on incomes exceeding ₹10,000, of whom 3,350 (or nearly half) were Government servants.

Only 388 persons were assessed at incomes exceeding half a lakh, and of this number 102 were assessed at incomes over a lakh. These 102 incomes paid Rx. 91,837, or about 7 per cent. of the whole collections; they included 37 Companies paying Rx. 63,901. Forty-eight of the 102 were taxed in Bengal, and 29 in the Bombay Presidency.

FORESTS.

76. Under 'Other principal revenue heads' is included the Forest Revenue, under which, at present, we get a revenue of Rx. 1,150,000 by an outlay of about Rx. 750,000, or 68 per cent. on income. The percentage in the State Forests of Prussia, in which country Forestry has reached an advanced stage, is very nearly the same, being 62 per cent. on a revenue of about 2½ millions. The percentage in India is gradually improving. Both in India and in Prussia the income is considerably diminished by the large amount of forest produce which has to be given free to local right-holders.

77. Still the present occupation of the Forest Department consists more in building up a most valuable property for the future than in realizing a revenue in the present. In Burma the teak forests furnish a handsome revenue; the Sub-Himalayan forests, from which large supplies are brought down for the consumption of Northern India, and the Sunderbans near Calcutta, are also revenue-producing areas. The Bombay forests are also productive in teak. But hardly anywhere is the expenditure less than 50 per cent. of the Revenue, and in many places it is much higher. The work of the Department is at present, in fact, rather conservation and development than production of revenue. Centuries of neglect and denudation have to be remedied by systematic reservation, planting, and exploitation, and the return which the Department at present gives to Government is in the rapidly increasing value of the Government forests, rather than in the revenue immediately brought into the Government treasury. The net revenue, however, is satisfactorily progressing, having, during twenty years, increased from Rx. 130,000 to Rx. 400,000.

RAILWAY FINANCE.

78. Railways form a very important part of our revenue and expenditure, and it may be well to exhibit, in a comparative statement, the general effect of the Railway Revenue Account upon our financial position. The arrangement of our accounts, following, as it does, the somewhat complicated differences in the relations of Government to the different Railways, does not very clearly set forth the purely financial part of their history. But the following abstract of the transactions of ten years, made up from the accounts, and working up to the same net result, will render the position clearer. I may also refer to the detailed statement of capital, earnings, and working expenses, shewn in Appendices C. and E. of this statement.

(a) The payment to the East Indian Railway Company is included in this line; but in our regular accounts, it is charged under working expenses. The figures in this statement work out to the same net result as the accounts, but for reconciliation of details some further explanations would be required.

79. During the first few years of the period included in this statement, the construction of railways on the Guaranteed system had practically closed; the main exception being the expenditure in completion of the Oudh and Rohilkund Railway. The sterling account of interest, therefore, which represents this part of the capital, rises only from £4,737,000 in the first year to £4,827,000 in the sixth year. The construction of State Railways was actively proceeding, and was adding to the Indian Interest-account very regularly about Rx. 200,000 every year.

Throughout this period, that is, for the first six years included in the above statement, the advance of the net earnings was about equal to the advance of charges for interest on capital. During the five years, 1880-81 to 1884-85, the total amount of net earnings was Rx. 37,645,000, and the total amount of interest charge (including exchange) was nearly the same, Rx. 37,689,000; in fact, in bad revenue years the net earnings fell short of the interest by half a million, and in good revenue years they exceeded it by nearly half a million.

80. It has to be remembered, however, that a considerable deduction has to be made from the earnings before they are available for Railway charges. The contracts with the Companies give them a share of the earnings (somewhat miscalled a share of surplus profits, for it may and does accrue when there are no real profits at all), which amounts on the whole, at the present standard of Revenue, to about Rx. 700,000; and other charges, varying from about Rx. 150,000 to Rx. 200,000, have to be borne for Government establishments connected with Companies' Railways, for the purchase of land for these railways, and for Railway Surveys and other miscellaneous expenditure. When, therefore, the net Railway earnings are equivalent to the burden of interest on capital, the result to Government is that, on the whole Railway Revenue account, the Government suffers a loss of Rx. 850,000 to Rx. 900,000. During the five years period, just mentioned, the loss was rather less, and averaged about Rx. 799,000.

From the statement given above, it will be seen that during the more recent years, that is, since 1885, this loss has been greatly increasing; and in the Revised and the Budget Estimate it is placed at about Rx. 2,150,000.

81. It is not the earnings that have failed us, except in this temporary sense that they reached a specially high figure in 1885-86 and 1886-87; and have now fallen to a more normal figure. For this normal figure still shows, on the whole, a fair rate of increase—Rx. 7,000,000 was the average standard of earnings about 1881; in 1884, it stood at Rx. 8,000,000, and it is now Rx. 9,000,000. This must be regarded as very satisfactory, especially when we consider that the construction of State Railways, during the past three or four years, has almost left the purely commercial lines, and been limited to Famine lines, such as Assam-Behar, Bellary-Kistna, and Cuddapah-Nellore, or to Quasi-military lines, such as the Sind-Sagar Railway, the lines in Biluchistan, and I may add the Mandalay extension, though this partakes also of a commercial character.

82. The cause of the deterioration will be found in the figures which show the interest paid in England. From these it will be seen that the increase of interest paid in England, and especially of exchange, has run away with much more than the improvement in the net earnings. This will be a little clearer if we shew the figures in two classes—

	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88.	1888-89.
New Subsidised Companies—
Interest	(a) 118	171	312	437	620

(a) Paid in India.

The Companies included in the first set of these figures are the Southern Mahratta, the Bengal-Nagpur, and the Indian Midland; all these lines are still in active construction, and the capital on which interest is being paid is as yet hardly earning any money It is, therefore, for the present almost a dead weight upon our Railway finance, although after a year or two, it ought to cease to be so. The amount of this dead weight of unproductive capital is as follows:—

Total interest charge as above	118	225	429	620	880
Less Earnings	...	22	128	166	234
NET	118	203	301	454	646

Of unproductive capital there has always been a certain amount outstanding; but while our construction was confined to State Railways proper, the amount was limited to the outstandings under this head alone. Of recent years we have added to our State Railway construction, the construction by the Companies just mentioned, and until the lines of these Companies are fairly in working order, we have these special additions to the amount of unproductive Capital.

83. Under the second head, that of the older Companies, the new burden is mainly that of Exchange. The Exchange during the five years above detailed has been, for every £100, Rx. 24·3, Rx. 31·5, Rx. 37·6, Rx. 42 and Rx. 42; and this, for a sterling charge of £4,900,000, involves an increase of Exchange charge from Rx. 1,190,000 to Rx. 2,060,000 or nearly Rx. 220,000 a year for four years. During the period of five years preceding 1885-86, to which I referred in paragraph 79, the improvement of the rate of earnings was sufficient to cover the enhancement of the Exchange charge, but then that enhancement was only Rx. 220,000 for the whole period. Since 1885-86, however, the fall of the rupee has gone on at too rapid a rate and the increase of earnings has quite failed to make up for it.

84. The result of these considerations is to shew that at the present juncture we are at an unfavourable period in our Railway finance. Our State Railway construction is, perforce, running in a line from which little commercial earning can be expected; we are burdened with the interest on the heavy capital of three large Railway Companies, which is not yet productive; and we have suffered very greatly by the rapidity of the fall in the value of silver. The second of these causes is one from which we will certainly recover in a short period; and we shall be very unfortunate if the third continues to add to our burdens in the same ratio as in the immediate past. Meantime the earnings taken by themselves shew fairly steady progress, and we may, therefore, reasonably look for early relief from a very large part of the present burden of Rx. 2,150,000, imposed upon us by our Railway accounts.

INTEREST ON DEBT.

85. The following figures shew, in thousands of £ the amount of sterling debt of the Government at the end of each year:—

1881-82.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88.
68,142	68,586	68,109	69,271	73,807	84,228	84,228

But 10,152 of the first figure and 18,514 of the last is held on Railway account, and merely represents the part of the Capital account of Railways purchased by Government. The real increase of sterling debt during this period is therefore £7,724,000.

The interest payments shew this distribution between the Railway account and the account of ordinary debt, the total amount paid being as follows:—

(Thousands of £.)	1881-82.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88, Revised.	1888-89, Budget.

Railway account	353	348	312	353	366	566	552	549

The figures of 1884-85 were increased above the average by a heavy payment of £184,000 on account of discount on a new loan raised at three per cent. in that year. With this exception the interest charge was almost constant from 1881-82 till 1885-86, but in the year after that it rose by about £170,000.

86. A very great increase above the average payments will be observed in the amount of interest paid in 1887-88, the explanation of which is as follows:—

On April 19th, 1887, the Secretary of State notified his intention to discharge, on October 10th, 1888, the 4 per cent. sterling stock (over £53,000,000) repayable on that date, and offered to the holders terms of conversion into 3½ per cent. stock. The terms of conversion involved anticipation payments of 10 shillings per cent. interest otherwise falling due in 1888-89. But, moreover, as the interest upon the new stock was to run quarterly, whereas that on the old stock was payable half-yearly only (April to October), the operation brings forward, to January 1888 (i.e., the year 1887-88), one quarter's interest or 17*s.* 6*d.* per cent., which would otherwise be payable only in April 1888 (i.e., the year 1888-89).

The offer was accepted by the holders of about £48,200,000 of stock, and thus the excess payments of interest which fell within the year came to £663,000, besides commission and other exceptional charges. This £663,000 is not, properly speaking, an excess payment, but it is rather a redistribution of existing charges, which we would have had in any case to meet, and which appears in our accounts in this peculiar manner by reason of the fact that our year of account closes during the interval by which the payment is brought forward. The charges in question were not provided in the Budget Estimates, as it was necessary to avoid risking the success of such an important operation, by advertising it prematurely; and the payment not being a real excess of charge, was easily met without any new arrangements in respect of ways and means. A similar, though not nearly so large, excess charge occurs in 1888-89 in respect of the remaining £5,000,000 of the Loan, and by reason of it, and of the further commission and other charges, we get very little apparent benefit from the reduction of interest in the Budget Estimates for 1888-89. But from 1889-90 we get a benefit of ½ per cent. interest upon £53,262,000, that is, a reduction of charge amounting to £266,310 sterling a year.

87. The interest account in India is a little more complicated. The total amount of debt stands as follows:—

A large amount of the above debt represents the capital outlay upon Railways and Irrigation works, and another portion of it represents moneys lent at interest to Municipalities and Local Bodies, and in some cases to Native Chiefs. Six-and-a-quarter crores (6,250) of it are the investment of the Currency Department. The account of interest, therefore, shows considerable recoveries on these accounts, and stands as follows:—

NET BURDEN	987	1,049	697	703	450	123	84	182

These figures are somewhat remarkable. It must be remembered that the expenditure on State Railways is partly in sterling and partly in rupees; but the transfer from Debt Account to Capital Account is made upon the Rupee Account only. We have, therefore, written off the account of debt, each year, a good deal more than the debt we have raised, and our Rupee debt has been gradually nearly all transferred to the Capital Account of the Railway and Irrigation works.

88. The following figures shew the portion of the interest payments which has, each year, been charged to the account of Railways and Irrigation, and which is, of course, in addition to the above stated charges—

(Thousands of Rx.)	1881-82.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88.	1888-89.

These will be dealt with under the Heads of Railways and Irrigation.

89. The total of the Burden of Debt may be shewn by adding together the figures in paragraphs 85 and 87.

90. The Civil Expenditure, which is put down in the standard account in paragraph 16 at Rx. 22,021,000, is composed of the following items :—

(In the above statement, the sterling figures are shewn separately in the only cases in which they are of any importance. Exchange adds about 12, 8, 12, and 55 under Political, Other Departments, Territorial Pensions, and Miscellaneous, respectively; in other cases, it only alters the unit figure by 1 at the most.

91. The Land Revenue Expenditure during the last few years has been as follows (in thousands of Rx.):—

1881-82.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88, Revised.
3,004	3,043	3,329	3,363	3,414	3,464	3,519

The increase in 1883-84 is due to the assumption by the Government of about Rx. 300,000 of expenditure on patwaris (village accountants) in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, by the abolition of the special cess from which they had till then been paid. During the last three years the expenditure has been increasing, owing to the progress of settlement work of which a full account has been given above. In 1887-88, although the Budget Estimate was for Rx. 3,668,000, the actual probable expenditure is Rx. 3,519,000 only, the difference arising from various savings on the estimated expenditure, the largest of which arises from the Madras Government not having brought into operation, during the year, the reorganisation of Subordinate establishments which is referred to in para. 132.

The Budget Estimate for 1888-89 is placed at Rx. 3,684,100, very slightly in advance of the Budget Estimate for 1887-88.

92. The charges under Administration in India have slowly increased from Rx. 1,291,000 in 1880-81 to about Rx. 1,392,000 in 1886-87, and just more than that in 1887-88. The increase has been general, that is, every Provincial Government contributes its share towards it. I do not think anything need be said about it, except that the amount of work of administration, which the expenditure represents, has certainly increased at a very much greater rate than the expenditure itself.

The Budget Estimate for 1887-88 was somewhat short of the actual existing standard of expenditure, and it is accordingly slightly exceeded in the Revised. The Budget Estimate for 1888-89 is for nearly the same amount as has been spent during the last two years.

The English expenditure has been practically steady at a little under £250,000.

93. Like the expenditure on Administration, that under Law and Justice has also steadily, but more rapidly, increased. The net figures stood at Rx. 2,562,000 in 1880-81, and about the same in 1881-82; but by 1886-87 they had risen to Rx. 2,809,000. It is Civil Justice that requires more and more provision being made for its demands, but as the increase of stamp revenue (mainly court-fees) is at least equal to the increase on the expenditure side, the expansion of the expenditure is hardly subject for objection. The net expenditure of 1887-88 is now put down at Rx. 2,859,000 against a Budget Estimate of Rx. 2,924,000, savings on the original estimate having occurred in nearly all the provinces. The Budget of 1888-89 is Rx. 2,951,000, being a slight advance over that for 1887-88.

94. The net charges on account of Police have been as follows (in thousands of Rx.) :—

1880-81.	1881-82.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88, Revised.
2,285	2,305	2,415	2,449	2,513	2,532	2,969	3,396

The increase which took place here in the years preceding 1885-86 represents for the most part the effect of the policy announced in 1882-83. In paragraph 65 of the Financial Statement for that year it was said that—

"Boards and Committees for the administration of certain Local Funds already exist in most parts of India. We now wish to widen the sphere of action hitherto assigned to these Bodies. The Provincial Governments have therefore been invited to hand over to them such items of revenue and expenditure as may appear to be most suited to give them a real interest in the administration of the resources at their command, and on the other hand, to take over as a provincial charge some items of expenditure, such as police, over which Local Bodies cannot exercise any real control."

It was mainly medical and educational expenditure, which, in accordance with this policy, the Municipalities were expected to extend, in lieu of the police charges of which they were relieved. The increase of police expenditure therefore represents the charges formerly incurred by Municipalities, but of which they have now been in a great measure relieved.

95. The great expansion of police charges in the last two years is almost entirely in Burma. Burma Police expenditure in 1885-86 stood at Rx. 237,000 (net); in 1887-88, it stands at Rx. 1,031,700. Practically the whole of this increase represents the quasi-military force which has been recruited in India for service in Burma, and which will be necessary to bridge over the interval between the first military occupation of the country and its final settlement. The present high scale of expenditure is likely to last for two or three years, but after that we hope for rapid reduction of it.

96. The Provincial Portion of the Marine Expenditure consists of—

(1) The Pilotage service in Calcutta, of which the receipts exceed by Rx. 15,000 the portion of the charges that is brought to account under this head.

(2) Expenditure on Ports, Rivers, Light-houses, and river steamers which comes to about Rx. 40,000.

The net charge is therefore about Rx. 25,000.

97. Educational Expenditure has increased rather rapidly. The net outlay (deducting fees and other receipts) was Rx. 829,000 in 1880-81, but it has increased at the rate of between Rx. 40,000 and Rx. 50,000 a year, and in 1886-87, it stood at Rx. 1,097,000. Every province in India had its share in this increase. For 1887-88, as above shewn, Rx. 1,121,000 was estimated, but 1,069,000 only is likely to be spent, the reduction of provincial resources having compelled a slight retrograde movement. For 1888-89 the grants have again been increased, and the estimate stands at Rx. 1,130,000.

It should be noted that these figures do not shew the full measure of the increase of public expenditure on education in India, for Municipalities are also considerably increasing their expenditure on this head, and Municipal expenditure is not included in the Government accounts. It is part of the educational policy of the Local Governments to hand over schools, hitherto maintained from Government or from Local Funds, to the care of Municipalities, and every school so handed over disappears from our accounts of educational expenditure, though it remains, it is to be hoped, at least as efficient as before.

98. The net Medical charges have slightly increased from 1880-81 till 1884-85, having been Rx. 625,000 in the former year and Rx. 690,000 in the latter; but at this last figure they remained almost unchanged.

It should be remembered, however, that some part of the charges against this head have been passing into Municipal Accounts, and the diminution caused by this is probably the reason of the stationary nature of the charge during these years. The charges have now somewhat advanced, namely, to 705,000 (Revised, 1887-88) and 728,000 (Budget, 1888-89). Part of this increase arises in Upper Burma, but part of it is attributable to safe estimating, as this is one of the heads in which there is always a considerable saving on Budget.

99. The next head in the abstract represents the Political charges, and here there is unavoidably a very heavy increase during recent years. The increase arises almost entirely in connexion with our North-West Frontier. In 1879-80 and 1880-81, the standard of expenditure was about Rx. 450,000 (including the English charges of £10,000 and £15,000, as Indian contribution towards the cost of establishments in Persia and China respectively). But the subsidy of the Amir of Afghanistan, and the heavy charges for Afghan refugees, raised the standard of charge to Rx. 631,000 in the Estimates for 1887-88, and that will be considerably exceeded in the actuals by reason of the Boundary Delimitation and other special charges. The Estimate for next year again shews an advance (the greater portion of which is due to charges in connexion with Ayub Khan) and stands at Rx. 714,600.

100. On the remaining heads in the abstract I have little remark to make. Under Territorial and Political Pensions, we shall probably be relieved of at least Rx. 60,000 of charges by the death of the Ex-king of Oudh. The non-effective charges (leave allowances and pensions) are a very heavy burden, and must remain so in a country of which the public service is largely filled from foreign sources. The charge is necessarily every year mounting up, but it represents the fulfilment of positive obligations, and is not subject, except in a remote sense, to financial management. The Revised Estimate for the last group of Miscellaneous charges shews a considerable saving on the Budget Estimate.

POST OFFICE, TELEGRAPH, AND MINT.

101. The full account of the Rx. 248,000, put down in paragraph 16 as the net charge of these three quasi-commercial Departments, is as follows (in thousands):—

		Revenue (+) and Expenditure (—). India (Rx.)	England (£)	Exchange.
Post Office		1,216—1,212	—111	—46
Telegraph	Revenue Account	629— 500	7— 47	—17
	Capital Account	— 123	— 90	—38
Mint		170— 79	— 5	—2
		+101	—246

The English charges of the Post Office have for some years been very steady. More than half of them represent the payment, under Postal arrangements, to the Imperial Treasury, a payment which the new postal contract reduces from £66,000 in 1887-88 to £50,000 in 1888-89. The remainder represents stores.

Excluding consideration of this payment the purely Indian transactions which, in 1881-82 and 1882-83, shewed a loss of about Rx. 100,000, shew, in the Revised Estimates of 1887-88, a loss of Rx. 11,000 only, and in the Budget Estimates of 1888-89 a gain of Rx. 19,000.

To make a full account in the commercial sense, we would have to add charges for public works, for stationery, and for pensions and the like, but then we would also have to take into account the fact that the Post Office performs services for the district post in respect of which Government gets a revenue under Provincial Rates of nearly Rx. 100,000, and does all the work of the Postal Savings Banks without any credit in its account to represent its value.

102. Under Telegraphs, the Revenue account has, for a long time, paid a handsome surplus. This surplus, after taking into account a small charge for exchange, was, for the three last completed years, Rx. 129,000, Rx. 79,000, and Rx. 174,000.

The above standard gives us a net revenue of Rx. 72,000 after reckoning the exchange on the English charges.

The net Revenue is now estimated at Rx. 210,200 for 1887-88 and at Rx. 120,500 for 1888-89 (these figures including charges for exchange), the improvement being largely in Government Telegrams from Burma.

103. The Mint receipts have been a little better than the standard shewn in paragraph 16, as the importations were somewhat above average. The excess expenditure, however, has taken away all this advantage; it must be remembered that in 1887-88, the Mint had to incur the charges involved in coining over three crores of Gwalior bullion without getting the usual receipt of seignorage.

The figures taken for next year's Estimates differ very slightly from the Budget Estimates of 1887-88.

IMPERIAL MARINE.

104. The charges under this head are in two portions:

(1) The expenditure connected with the Imperial Marine in India, which is normally about Rx. 120,000 or Rx. 130,000 net;

(2) In England Admiralty charges, and Marine stores, which on the average is about £150,000.

Latterly, however, the expenditure has reached a much higher figure, operations in Burma have necessitated heavy charges for transport, and a considerable patrolling service has also been required for the Burma rivers, so that Rx. 321,600 was spent in 1886-87, and Rx. 234,600 are likely to be spent in 1887-88, under the first of these heads. The purchase of torpedo vessels and of Marine stores in connexion with the special defences was shewn under this head in the Budget Estimates of 1887-88, which accordingly stood at £326,700. These are now, however, removed to the special head of "Special Defences" and the Revised Estimates shew £148,300 only.

The Estimates for 1888-89 are Rx. 253,600 in India for the first head, and £92,000 in England.

IRRIGATION.

105. The following table shows the state of the account of Major Works—that is, of those works of which the construction is charged outside the Revenue Account, or to the Protective grant, and which are, in the Revenue Account, charged with the interest payable on the cost of construction:—

	1881-82.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88, Revised.	1888-89, Budget.

A full account of the details of these figures will be found in Appendix F. They shew that the break-down of Revenue, which took place in 1885-86, occurred on the Ganges and Lower Ganges Canals, and that a heavy loss took place also on the Western Jumna Canal. In the last case, it was merely a reversion from the excessively high standard of Revenue of the preceding two years, the receipts from this Canal being greatly influenced by the variations of season, as a year of good rainfall at once shews itself in a falling-off in the revenue. In the case of the Lower Ganges Canal, the break-down was caused by the destruction by floods of an aqueduct not far from the head of the Canal. Till this costly work is restored, the revenue will remain unduly low; the work of restoration is being actively carried on, but it will cost over Rx. 442,000, and will add Rx. 17,700 for all time to the account of interest.

106. From the details to which I have referred, it will be seen that the productive power of the Canals varies in a remarkable manner. The Lower Ganges Canal, even in its present crippled condition, pays a net revenue of Rx. 41,859 on a Capital Expenditure of Rx. 2,925,000, and the Godavari Delta System gives a revenue of Rx. 133,197 on a Capital Account of Rx. 1,065,535. On the other hand, the two canals which we have taken over from Companies do not even pay the charges of their maintenance, the return from them being as follows:—

	Capital Account.	Net loss, 1887-88.
Orissa (including the Midnapore and Tidal) Canals	3,315,022	35,000
Karnúl Canal	2,165,546	6,384

107. In the Minor Works classed under Irrigation, both Capital Expenditure and Maintenance are charged in the Revenue Account, but except in Madras, there are now few large items of expenditure remaining under this head. The works consist chiefly of—

Embankments in the deltas of Bengal and Madras.
Inundation Canals in Punjab and Sind.
Navigation Canals and Rivers in Bengal.
Tanks in Madras.

It is only under this last head that any immediate increase of expenditure may be expected. The land revenue of Madras is largely dependent upon irrigation from tanks, which are scattered all over the country and have come down from ancient times. The Government of Madras has, for some years, had it in contemplation to undertake systematic measures for the improvement and restoration of these works, and the investigations and plans being now sufficiently far advanced, it proposes to lay out, for some years at least, Rx. 50,000 or Rx. 60,000 upon them. The first year of the outlay is 1888-89, and the Madras Government promises an ample return in the form of improved Land Revenue.

The estimates under this head are as follow:—

		Bengal.	Punjab.	Madras.	Bombay.	Other Provinces.	Total.
1886-87.	Receipts	86	18	10	15	20	149	542
	Expenditure	124	64	272	161	70	691

	Expenditure	170	72	263	176	102	783

	Expenditure	182	70	330	173	110	865

108. The estimates are, therefore, for net expenditure:—

1887-88 Major Works . 148; Minor Works . 629; Total . 777
1888-89 Major Works . 113; Minor Works . 711; Total . 824

CIVIL AND MILITARY WORKS.

IMPERIAL.

109. Since 1880-81 it has been the practice of the Government of India to set aside an annual sum of Rx. 1,000,000 for Military Works, which include Fortifications and Military Roads, as well as accommodation for troops. The expenditure on Civil Works is mostly in the hands of Local Governments, and comes within the Provincial account, so that the Imperial portion—that is, the Expenditure on the Imperial Departments throughout India, and in the smaller provinces under the direct administration of the Government of India,—amounted to only about Rx. 400,000, unless special works were being undertaken. Accordingly, in the two years 1884-85 and 1885-86, the expenditure in India was—

	1884-85. Rx.	1885-86. Rx.
Military Works	943,344	960,415
Civil Works	465,169	350,452

Besides which about £70,000 are spent in England upon furlough and leave allowances of Public Works Officers of all branches, and Cooper's Hill College, besides a small amount for stores.

	1886-87. Rx.	1887-88, Revised. Rx.	1888-89, Budget. Rx.
India—
Military Works—India	985,063	960,200	965,300

England	87,989	102,000	103,200

Deduct Receipts	228,632*	85,400	82,300
Net Expenditure	1,566,131	2,230,600	2,022,600

* Includes Rx. 150,000 recovered from the Maharaja Sindia on account of Morar Cantonment and Gwalior Fort.

111. The roads, both in Upper Burma and on the Frontier, are at present being constructed by the Civil Works Department, and the ordinary Civil Works Grants are now being cut down to their lowest limit, in order to provide money for these new charges. Only Rx. 121,430 is allowed for ordinary "original works" in India in 1888-89, one of the large items being a charge of Rx. 15,500 for a new light-house for Oyster Island on the Burma coast.

PROVINCIAL.

112. The Provincial portion of this head represents the charges for roads and buildings all over India, and includes the portion that is met out of cesses upon land. This latter portion may be reckoned at Rx. 1,500,000 excluding the portion which the Governments of Bengal and the North-Western Provinces may be taken as spending out of the local rates which are credited in their provincial account.

113. The Local Governments vary their Public Works Expenditure to a great extent according to the surplus of Funds which the Provincial Contracts leave in their hands; so that no particular year's expenditure can be taken as the necessary standard. The following figures compare their expenditure in 1887-88 and 1888-89 with the amount of expenditure which, on the Finance Committee's report, was fixed as a convenient minimum.

	Minimum. Rx.	1887-88, Revised. Rx.	1888-89, Budget. Rx.
Central Provinces	120,000	134,000	163,000
Burma	122,000	121,000	117,000
Assam	50,000	57,000	61,000
Bengal	310,000	283,000	403,000
North-Western Provinces	275,000	301,000	275,000
Punjab	230,000	256,000	253,000
Madras	200,000	201,000	236,000
TOTAL	1,600,000	1,773,000	1,945,000

The excess charges of Rx. 345,000 are for the most part met by drawing upon accumulated balances, of which a considerable amount, as will be explained in the section relating to Provincial Finance, is at present at the disposal of Provincial Governments. The whole account of the figure which is shewn in the statement on paragraph 16 is thus made up :—

(Thousands of Rx.)	1886-87.	1887-88, Revised.	1888-89, Budget.

(a) This 28 (Rx. 27,700) turns out to be an addition and not a deduction; that is, the whole amount expended is charged to the year, and a further amount of Rx. 27,700 is charged off and laid by, to be spent hereafter, see paragraph 7.

(a) Payment of a million sterling to the English Exchequer.

115. The period included in the above figures is that during which the measures recently taken for the increase of the strength of the Army have been in operation.

The total cost of this increase of the Army may be stated, upon a comparison of Budget Estimates, as follows—

Budget for 1884-85	11,190,000
Budget for 1887-88	12,440,000
Difference	1,250,000

The standard of Expenditure before that increase may be seen from the figures of 1883-84 and 1884-85.

The details of the increase work up to a larger amount, and are, in a general way, as follow :—

1. Augmentation—
British Troops (10,600)	603,000
Native Troops (19,000)	521,300
2. Increased privileges and pay—
British Troops (mostly exchange)	273,900
Native Troops (mostly good conduct pay and hutting money)	73,300
Volunteers and Pensioners	17,600
3. Malt liquor purchased in India instead of in England	224,400
4. Remounts from Australia (increase)	31,400
5. Better Pension Rules	10,000
TOTAL	1,754,900

The excess of this amount over the Rx. 1,250,000 may be described as due in about equal parts to economies introduced under other heads of the Accounts, and to the fact that the intended measures have not as yet reached their full development. It was stated last year that out of Rx. 657,000 of this expenditure, still remaining to be undertaken on April 1st, 1887-88, Rx. 345,000 had been entered in the Estimates of 1887-88, and Rx. 312,000, therefore, still remained to be undertaken after the close of that year.

116. For 1887-88 the Budget Estimate of Expenditure on the Army in India stood at—

Ordinary Account; net	12,440,000
Burma Account	720,000
TOTAL	13,160,000

as the figures now stand they are—

Ordinary Account; net	12,593,000
Burma Account	1,550,000
TOTAL	14,143,000

The increase under the first head may be described as mainly due to the following causes: (1) special purchases of transport which were made during the cold weather; (2) the augmentation made in the establishment of British Troops having been effected somewhat more quickly than anticipated; and (3) the expedition undertaken at the end of the year in the Sikkim territory.

117. As regards Burma, the estimates provided for only Rx. 720,000 of expenditure, but before many months had passed, it became obvious that the original intentions of Government as to withdrawing the forces could not be carried out, and that it would be necessary to continue operations upon a larger scale than the Estimates provided for. An additional grant of Rx. 280,000 was made for this purpose, and a further amount of Rx. 150,000 was given for payment of gratuity to the troops engaged in Burma, which together made up the addition of Rx. 430,000, which was announced in September last to the House of Commons as having been made to the Estimates of Military expenditure.

Later in the year the state of Burma rendered it advisable to take some active measures for a display of force near the Shan territory and for operating with small columns in other directions. It was estimated that Rx. 200,000 would be further required for this purpose; but the latest information indicates that another Rx. 200,000 may be necessary. These additions, it will be found, bring the Burma account up to the figure shown in the Revised Estimates.

118. The Budget Estimates of 1883-89 provide for a still further increase under the ordinary head; which is mainly due to the completion of the augmentation of the army, but partly also to the commencement of the issue of new arms; an operation in respect of which some heavy expenditure will have to be incurred in the near future.

SPECIAL DEFENCES.

119. It will be seen that the Budget Estimates for 1888-89 provide for a very large amount of expenditure under the new head of "Special Defences." The Estimates for 1887-88 provided for only Rx. 474,600, but the Secretary of State, in a Despatch received in May last, urged more speedy progress in the works contemplated under this head. More elaborate arrangements were, therefore, made for this expenditure, and additional grants being given for it, the expenditure has amounted to Rx. 487,100 in India, besides £57,600 in England. This English expenditure, which is mostly for armaments and torpedo-vessels, would have stood at a higher figure, but for delays which will have the effect of postponing to 1888-89 part of the expenditure originally estimated to come into 1887-88. The English expenditure of 1888-89, accordingly, stands at the high figure of £437,700 sterling, and we have granted Rx. 500,000 for expenditure in India.

120. I may refer to the quotation, under paragraph 11, from the speech of the Under-Secretary of State, in which he explains why this expenditure is shown within the Revenue Account, instead of, as was at first intended, under the category of Capital Expenditure. The whole amount of the expenditure is at present reckoned at about £930,000 in England, and Rx. 1,650,000 in India, but these figures cannot be put forward but as very rough estimates, and it is possible that the present programme may be extended.

Section IV.—General Financial Position.

121. Having concluded these observations upon the several divisions of our Revenue and Expenditure, I would make some remarks upon our general financial position, but that no one can be more conscious than myself how difficult it is, in Indian Finance, to look very far beyond the present. Our finance is a strange blending of elements which we can regard with a feeling of certainty and confidence, and of large outlying uncertainties over which we have no control. If we look at those heads of Revenue and Expenditure which depend upon our own administration, we have every reason to be satisfied. Land Revenue, Salt, Stamps, Excise, Customs,—all of these are elastic and progressive. Post Office, Telegraph, and Forests, all of which may be regarded as quasi-commercial departments, are more remunerative every year. Civil and Public Works expenditure are well under control. Railways afford a certain and an advancing income, and the only difficulty connected, from a financial point of view, with the account of their revenues, is the vastness of the transactions, which is such that five per cent. increase or decrease in their earnings may make a difference of a million, each way, in our accounts.

122. These are the elements of satisfaction and of comparative certainty. On the other side, we have 8½ millions of our revenue,—namely, the Opium Revenue—liable to be adversely affected, and at the present moment adversely affected, by the policy of China, and the increasing competition of other nations to supply the Chinese demand. We are obliged, by our military position, to take a share in the policy of armament which, willingly or unwillingly, the great European nations have been driven to adopt. And finally, and more directly affecting us, is the uncertainty of silver. The fall in its value seems to be temporarily arrested, but no one can say for how long we shall have a respite from the progressive increase of our burdens which this fall has hitherto imposed upon us. The chances of famine, too, are to be regarded, though it is certain that, through the extension of Railways, a new famine will be combated with very much smaller outlay of money than any former one.

123. The question of Indian Finance is, therefore, the question whether, in the face of all these uncertainties, our margin is sufficiently large. And in talking of this margin, I do not refer simply to the surplus of Rx. 423,000 which our Budget account shews, before the expenditure on Special Defence works is charged against it. When we write of the margin we hold against special uncertainties and special expenditure, we must not reckon merely that portion of the margin which remains to us after much of the special expenditure alluded to is charged against it.

For example, we have, at present, the special burden of the Upper Burma account which, for 1888-89, stands as follows:—

	Rx.		Rx.
Revenues . . .	547,000	Civil Expenditure:—
		Police . . .	732,000
		Other Departments .	339,000
		Military Works . .	190,000
		Civil Works . . .	314,000
		Irrigation . . .	23,000
		Army Special Expenditure .	824,000
		TOTAL .	2,422,000

shewing a net charge of about Rx. 1,879,000, all of which is within our revenue account. So also, we are charging to Revenue about Rx. 178,000 for Military roads on the North-Western Frontier.

Reckoning these, in the sense in which we are at present discussing the financial position, to be charges against our "margin," we might write the Budget Estimates thus, somewhat re-arranging the totals of the statement under paragraph 16:

	Rx.			Rx.
Ordinary net revenues, excluding Upper Burma	53,550,000	Ordinary net expenditure, excluding the above . .		51,074,000
Upper Burma . .	547,000	Upper Burma .	2,422,000
		Frontier Roads .	178,000
		Special Defences	1,121,000
				3,721,000
TOTAL .	54,097,000			54,795,000
		Deficit including Special Defences		698,000

124. If, therefore, we look only at ordinary items, we have a margin of Revenue of Rx. 2,476,000, the excess of Rx. 53,550,000 over Rx. 51,074,000. This margin is what we have to oppose to what, in European continental practice, would be called the "Budget Extraordinaire," namely, the special burdens and risks of Famine and Exchange, of defence of our frontiers and coasts, and of the conquest and settlement of our new province. In the present year, the charges of our "Budget Extraordinaire" are specially heavy, and (without reckoning any part of the account of Railway construction on our North-West Frontier) they absorb not only all our margin, but Rx. 698,000 in addition. The security of our present financial position depends upon our estimate of how far we may consider that, though these special burdens cost us net Rx. 3,174,000 in the particular year 1888-89, it is sufficient, on an average of years, to provide only Rx. 2,476,000 for them. The present scale of expenditure in Upper Burma and on Special Defences is practically certain of early reduction; but although it is possible that Famine charges and Exchange may add to our expenditure as much as we are in other directions relieved of, we have adopted a high standard in measuring our financial obligations, and can point with some confidence to the recuperative power shewn by our revenues, and to the fact that their natural increase, much more than any special measures of taxation, has hitherto enabled us to meet the ever-growing burdens which recent years have forced upon us.

Section V.—Provincial Finance.

125. It may be convenient in this place to enter upon a short review of the state of Provincial Finances. The new contracts with the Provincial Governments have now been in operation for one year, and the state of their Accounts and Estimates, after the close of the first year's transactions, shews very fairly how the new contracts may be expected to operate during their five years' currency. It will be borne in mind that the operation of the Provincial Contracts upon the general account is this; their Revenue and Expenditure is brought to account in the same way as general Revenue and Expenditure; but the amount by which their expenditure in any year falls short of their revenue is at once charged off the general revenue account as if it had been spent, and remains at their credit for expenditure in a subsequent year.

REVIEW BY PROVINCES.

126. Central Provinces.—(Disposable Revenue, about Rx. 700,000.) The Chief Commissioner will have, on March 31st, an excess of Revenue of about Rx. 180,200 to his credit, his fixed minimum being Rx. 80,000. The scale of expenditure appears to be within the means of the current Revenue, and the Chief Commissioner is proposing to expend a considerable portion of his accumulated balances upon Public Works. As a present excess in this class of expenditure can be discontinued as soon as necessary, the position of Central Provinces finance may be described as safe, but requiring careful management.

127. Burma.—(Disposable Revenue, from Rx. 1,250,000 to Rx. 1,300,000.) The minimum balance in this province is Rx. 60,000, so that a considerable part of the existing balance (Rx. 116,400 upon March 31st, 1888) may be described as available for expenditure. The Police expenditure is a heavy weight upon Provincial finances. A considerable improvement in Railway receipts has added to the balance at credit during 1887-88; but in the estimates of 1888-89 the increase of Police and other charges absorbs this improvement of Revenue. The balance at credit is meantime maintained, and the position is therefore a safe one.

128. Assam.—(Disposable Revenue, about Rx. 490,000.) With an economical measure of Public Works expenditure the Chief Commissioner's means are sufficient for the demands upon him.

129. Bengal.—(Disposable Revenue, about Rx. 4,800,000.) The contract made last year imposed upon the Government of Bengal the necessity of very careful management, if not of positive economies. The Budget estimates for 1887-88 not only opened with a balance below the prescribed minimum (Rx. 200,000), but proposed still further to trench upon it. Careful finance and prosperous revenues have largely restored its position. The revenue under Stamps (of which three-quarters goes to the Provincial share) continues to show considerable elasticity, and Excise has also so greatly improved that the Provincial Government, on its one-quarter share, has gained an advantage of nearly Rx. 24,000. Bengal Railways have, during 1887-88, contributed an unexpectedly large revenue.

The result of these improvements, and of enforced economies on the expenditure side, is that the financial position of Bengal is, for the time, completely re-established, and it enters upon the year 1888-89 with a balance of Rx. 150,000 to the good, in excess of the minimum it is obliged to keep in hand. According to the Budget Estimates for 1888-89 this balance will be reduced, during the year, by grants made to Local Funds in aid of Local Expenditure.

130. North-Western Provinces.—(Disposable Revenue, about Rx. 3,200,000.) The year 1886-87, the last of the old contract, was a very prosperous year for the North-Western Provinces account, and they found their account close with a balance of Rx. 433,800, while they had estimated for Rx. 296,400 only. The account is at present, and has for two or three years been, seriously affected by a failure of Irrigation Revenue, caused by the break-down of the Nadrai Aqueduct. The loss due to this cause is partly made up for by a special temporary grant from Imperial Revenues, but even including this special grant, the revenue received by the Provincial account has been, in 1887-88, about Rx. 35,000 worse than anticipated. On the other hand, there has been a fair improvement under the Principal Revenue heads; though not enough to make up for the loss under Irrigation.

The North-Western Provinces Government has, in 1887-88, spent a part of its excess balances in Railway construction and in increasing the grants to Local Funds, a kind of expenditure which, within certain limits, can be reduced when necessary. It proposes to continue the same policy in 1888-89; and for that year its estimates are safe. But after 1888-89 its present scale of expenditure is dependent upon its receiving improvements in its revenue. If its Irrigation Revenue is restored within a year or two, it will be in easy circumstances; but apart from this consideration, it is, on its present scale of expenditure, making full use of its assigned revenues.

131. Punjab.—(Disposable Revenue, Rx. 1,580,000.) The account at present shews only a small scale of improvement of Revenue, and the Revenue is only enough to meet the expenditure. There is at present a small excess in the balance, which is Rx. 70,000 in excess of the fixed minimum, and this for the present affords a small margin on which to work. As Land Revenue Settlement is going on actively in the province, and as the Punjab gets 40 per cent. of any increase of Land Revenue, it is not unlikely that it may find, in increases of Land Revenue, a means of more easily meeting the demands for expenditure that are made upon it.

132. Madras.—(Disposable Revenue, Rx. 2,700,000.) The contract with the Government of Madras was based upon a moderate estimate of Land Revenue, as the Land Revenue of that province is much more liable to be affected by vicissitude of seasons than that of any other part of India. The season 1887-88 has been and promises to be favourable, and Madras has secured under this head a considerable advance of Revenue. Stamps and Excise Revenue have also advanced, and under these three heads and Assessed Taxes (which appear to have been estimated too moderately) the Provincial Revenues of Madras have been, in 1887-88, about Rx. 109,000 in excess of the estimate at which they were assigned. But part of this improvement may, as just stated, disappear in a bad season, by short collections of Land Revenue.

The very favourable year 1886-87, combined with economical management of its finances, left Madras with the very high balance of Rx. 433,700 with which to commence the new quinquennial period. It has taken advantage of this high balance to seek a long postponed reform, in the reorganization of its Subordinate Revenue Service, which will involve an annual expenditure of Rx. 50,000; but will ultimately, it is not unlikely, result in an improvement of Revenue.

133. Bombay.—(Disposable Revenue, Rx. 2,900,000.*) The contract made with Bombay in 1882 was a very favourable one, and became still more favourable through the large increases of revenue which accrued in that wealthy Presidency. The result was that, notwithstanding considerable increases of expenditure under Education and other heads, the account of the Provincial Government closed at the end of 1886-87 with the very high balance of Rx. 548,900. This high balance the Government of Bombay are utilizing for Public Works Expenditure, and having, during the two years 1887-88 and 1888-89, increased by Rx. 128,000 and Rx. 145,000 respectively the rate of expenditure (Rx. 293,000) which was fixed, after the Finance Committee's investigations, as the necessary minimum, they will, it is estimated, reduce the balance, by the end of 1888-89, to Rx. 318,200, still considerably in excess of the fixed minimum of Rx. 200,000.

Apart from the high balance which is thus being disposed of, the Revenues have also considerably increased. Land Revenue steadily advances, Stamps and Excise show considerable increase, and Assessed Taxes have also produced a higher income than anticipated. The Revenue Account of the Provincial Government stands, on the whole, at nearly Rx. 80,000 higher than it did a year ago. Part of this improvement in its resources the Provincial Government has assigned for increases in its expenditure, but the financial position is, on the whole, extremely flourishing.

134. There is therefore none of the Provincial Governments which has not revenue enough for its present scale of expenditure, or rather, which has incurred any permanent obligations as to expenditure, which are beyond the scale of its revenue. Moreover, all the principal ones have balances which they are seeking the means of profitably expending. Their position is in curious contrast with that of the Imperial Government. But though the Imperial Government may for the time envy the Provincial Governments in their possession of assured revenues and high balances, it should be borne in mind that these ample revenues have been created by the provincial system, and would not have existed but for the assignment to the Provincial Governments of their share in the improvement of them

Section VI.—Capital Expenditure of Government.

135. It will be appropriate in this place to give some account of the Capital Expenditure on construction of Railways and Irrigation Works, which, in the Statements of expenditure, are shown "under the line," that is, as carried on out of funds supplied by borrowing.

* The adjustment of alienated Land Revenue being omitted from both sides.

The Budget and Revised Estimates for 1887-88 compare as follows :—

From these figures it will be seen that the programme of expenditure laid down for 1887-88 has been fairly adhered to, though the large refund from the Bengal-Nagpore Company, on their taking over the Nagpore-Chhattisgarh Line, alters largely the total appearing under the head of Capital Outlay.

Rajputana-Malwa.—There has been a large accumulation of stores during 1887-88, chiefly of coal and other supplies from England, which will, it is expected, be utilised during 1888-89. The greater portion of the charge to Capital in 1887-88 is due to this cause. The balance of the expenditure was chiefly incurred on land and additional Rolling-Stock found necessary.

Eastern Bengal.—The bulk of the expenditure during 1887-88 has been incurred in providing additional Rolling-Stock and Steamers, which the increasing traffic has rendered necessary, in completing the Kidderpore dock line, doubling the Chitpore line, re-modelling the Chitpore yard, and constructing the Chitpore over-bridge, all required for working the growing traffic. In 1888-89, the proposed expenditure is chiefly to provide additional waterway to make the line safe against floods and some additional stock. Additions to workshops and offices are also contemplated.

North-Western.—The expenditure during 1887-88 is chiefly on additional stock for the North-Western system and improving the gradients on the Punjab Northern Section. The estimate also includes the cost of a large quantity of permanent way material for renewals received from England too late in the year to be laid before the 31st March. This material will be issued to Revenue in 1888-89, and the credit has been provided for in the Budget Estimate. The expenditure proposed for 1888-89 is chiefly on the improvement of gradients on the Punjab Northern Section, the Sukkur Bridge, and on additional sidings, crossing stations, and watering arrangements to bring the line up to the standard required to meet the traffic that will pass over this line in the event of military operations beyond the frontier.

Cuddapah-Nellore.—The funds allotted are required to complete the works on this line.

Tounghoo-Mandalay and Assam-Behar.—The funds allotted will practically complete these lines by the close of 1888-89.

Bellary-Kistna.—This line has been transferred to the Southern Mahratta Railway Company as from 1st January 1888. Under the terms of the transfer the State has to bear all expenditure incurred up to the 31st December 1887, and all liabilities outstanding on that date. Provision has been made accordingly in the estimates.

Bezvada-Hyderabad Frontier.—The funds allotted will complete this line.

Sind-Pishin.—The grants provide for the completion, by the close of 1888-89, of all works now considered necessary.

Chaman Extension.—Provision has been made for this work being vigorously pushed on during 1888-89. The bulk of the expenditure in 1888-89 will be incurred on the tunnel.

Bolan (High Level line).—Funds have been allotted to admit of the completion, during the coming year, of the section at present sanctioned.

Frontier Reserve Stores.—The estimates provide for the supply and collection of the material which Government has decided to retain as a reserve. The credit in 1888-89 is due to the issue of stores to the Chaman Extension.

Chenab Bridge at Ramawalla.—Only preliminary operations have been carried out during 1887-88, but the Budget of 1888-89 provides for work being vigorously pushed on.

Sind-Sagar (Western Section).—The grants will practically complete this line. The expenditure proposed for 1888-89 is chiefly in equipping the line with Rolling-Stock.

Sutlej Bridge (Ferozepore).—The grants provide for the completion of the Bridge. Some further expenditure on training works may hereafter be found necessary.

Sealkote-Jummoo.—The grant for 1888-89 provides for the completion of the section of this line which lies in British territory. That within Jummoo territory will be constructed, at the same time, by the Durbar.

Bengal-Nagpore.—Under the terms of the contract with the Bengal-Nagpore Railway Company, the State is bound to take over, from the Company, the metre gauge stock, plant, and materials of the Nagpore-Raj Nandgaon Section (formerly known as the Nagpore-Chattisgarh State Railway) on the completion of the conversion of that section from metre to broad gauge. The value of the material is estimated at Rx. 200,000. This material will be utilized or disposed of hereafter as opportunity offers.

137. Among the Irrigation grants, the only large works are the Nadrai Aqueduct upon the Lower Ganges Canal (see paragraph 105), which, it is hoped to complete by October 1889, the completion of the Orissa Canals, and of the Kistna Delta System, and the Periar Project in Madras. This last is a project for conveying eastward, into the Madura District, a stream which at present flows westward, and it includes a tunnel through the hills which at present form the watershed. The remaining works are mostly developments of existing irrigation systems.

Section VII.—Ways and Means—Home Treasury.

138. The Secretary of State's estimates of the transactions at the Home Treasury for 1887-88 were as follows:—

NET RECEIPTS.	Budget. £	Revised. £
Council Bills	16,250,000	15,250,000

AIDED RAILWAY COMPANIES.

139. The Secretary of State's operations are at present greatly influenced by the transactions arising in connection with the Railway Companies. During the year 1887-88, it will be seen that the receipts of capital subscribed by them were greatly in excess of the original estimates. This was mainly under the following heads:—

	Original Estimate.	Revised Estimate.
Indian Midland	105,000	1,093,500
Southern Mahratta	300,000	1,133,250
Bengal-Nagpore	1,000,000	2,338,400
Bengal Central	...	250,000
	1,405,000	4,815,150
EXCESS		3,410,150

(a) £2,000,000 of the amount shewn in the Budget Estimate was received between the settlement of those Estimates and March 31st 1887 and therefore came into the accounts of 1886-87. The amount, however; is included here for purposes of comparison as if it had come in after March 31st, the opening balance being altered correspondingly.

These great differences partly arose out of new arrangements entered into after the Budget Estimates were compiled; and partly from the fact that the Companies arrange their raising of Capital more with reference to the state of the Money Market than with reference to their immediate prospects of expenditure.

The present condition of the operations of these Companies is as follows:—

140. The Indian Midland Company had paid up £2,896,500, and spent Rx. 2,270,000 by the end of 1886-87; an operation which, at the Contract rate of Exchange, leaves them with a balance to credit of Rx. 1,350,000. The funds which the Company estimate they will require for their expenditure are as follows:—

	In England. £	In India. Rx.
1887-88	898,400	1,393,700

and as they estimate to raise a little over £1,000,000 in each year, they will considerably overspend their Capital.

141. A great part of the extra Capital of the Southern Mahratta Railway has been raised in connection with the recent transfer to them of the Bellary-Kistna Railway. They do not pay up any of the Capital already spent by Government, but they undertake to complete the line, and they have raised the Capital necessary to do so.

Their estimates of expenditure, including the Mysore Railway, are—

	In England. £	In India. Rx.
1887-88	203,200	790,000

and they propose to raise £500,000 in 1888-89.

142. The Bengal-Nagpur Railway Company was formed towards the end of 1886-87, the initial Capital being £3,000,000. Of this amount they paid to Government about Rx. 1,390,000 for the existing Chhattisgarh State line and work done on the extension of it, and they have been actively spending money on construction during the last half of 1887-88. They will have paid up about £4,000,000 of Capital by the end of 1887-88, and of this Rx. 2,800,000 will have been spent, including the above Rx. 1,390,000.

Their estimates of expenditure are—

	England. £	India. Rx.
1887-88	593,000	1,965,500
1888-89	871,000	1,500,000

These will only a little more than exhaust the Capital at their credit on 31st March 1888. They propose, however, to raise a further amount of capital of about £1,032,700.

143. The Secretary of State, having to make payments of over £1,500,000 during the first week of April, requires to finish the financial year with a Cash Balance of at least £2,000,000. This, it will be seen, was the result aimed at in the Budget Estimates, but the receipts of Railway Capital altogether altered the position in this respect, and the Secretary of State, notwithstanding the reduction from £16,250,000 to £15,250,000 of his demands in the shape of Council Bills will end the year with a Cash Balance of about £3,500,000 in excess of the required amount. This excess, which is ordinarily lent at interest in the London Market, represents funds which will be drawn upon in 1888-89 by the Railway Companies in England and in India for their Capital outlay.

COUNCIL BILLS.

144. The following is the Secretary of State's Budget Estimate of Ways and Means for 1888-89, made up in the same form as above, the transactions being, as before, necessarily governed by the estimates of receipts and payments on account of the Railway Companies :—

NET RECEIPTS.	£
Council Bills	14,000,000
Receipts from Railway Companies for Capital Expenditure	2,653,800
Deposits and Advances	4,500
Add Opening Balance	5,614,300
TOTAL	22,272,600

NET OUTGOINGS.
Excess of Expenditure over Revenue	15,028,700
Capital Expenditure of Government in England	973,000
Issues to Railway Companies for Expenditure	2,901,300
On account of Remittances from India	1,091,200
Add Closing Balance	2,278,400
TOTAL	22,272,600

145. It will be observed that the Secretary of State proposes to draw £14,000,000 of Council Bills during the year, and does not propose to raise any new funds by sterling loans. It will be fully understood that in stating these as the present intentions of the Secretary of State, no sort of pledge is given that he will adhere to the programme thus explained, and he remains absolutely at liberty to raise money either by bills or by loans, from time to time, as he deems expedient.

There will be two operations on the money market, namely, the settlement of the remainder of the 4 per cent. sterling stock (about five millions), and the purchase of the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway under the terms of its contract (an operation of over ten millions), but these transactions do not enter the above account.

Section VIII.—Ways and Means—India, 1887-88.

146. The following figures compare the Budget Estimate of Ways and Means of 1887-88 with the Revised Estimates :—

Add Closing Balance	11,104,700	13,733,100
	40,345,300	39,124,500

The transactions recorded in italics are connected with, and explained by, the corresponding figures of the Secretary of State's account in England. The others are purely Indian transactions.

(a) The explanation of this is omitted, as it would be of a highly technical character. It arises to a very large extent out of the exchange entries that are necessary in charging off exchange upon the English expenditure and in connection with Railway Companies and other Remittance accounts.

147. The first entry shews the result of the falling off in Opium and Railway Revenue, and of the excess of Military expenditure in Burma, and the transfer to expenditure of the Special Defences charges, which, in the Budget, were taken under Head 7. The remaining accounts on the Receipt side shew little variation from estimate.

148. On the outgoing side, the main departures from estimate are explained by the alterations which have been explained in dealing with Railway Companies' transactions. The figures may be explained thus—

	Capital Expenditure.	Railway Companies.	Council Bills.

Compare actual outturn of Revised Estimates	1,348,100	3,165,000	14,691,100

149. The loans were, as usual, estimated to be sufficient to carry us over the low period of Balances—November and December—with a Cash Balance of about Rx. 8,000,000. The Secretary of State's drawings, during the first four months of the year, were very considerable, £6,090,729—Rx. 8,649,500 having been allotted during that time, and Rx. 7,820,300 having been paid in India. The rate of both allotments and payments fell off during the next four months, the total, up to the end of November, being Rx. 13,432,300 allotted, and Rx. 12,277,800 paid in India. The payments thus fell short of the drawings by Rx. 1,154,500, a circumstance due for the most part to the fact that the proportion of Telegraphic Drawings greatly fell off.

We were meantime receiving the proceeds of the two Loans indicated as Nos. 2 and 3 in the above statement of account, the receipts being in the first case completed in September, and in the second, in the beginning of November.

The Balances therefore were unusually easy, and never fell below Rx. 10,000,000.

RUPEE LOAN OF 1887-88.

150. The public Loan of 200 lakhs was issued upon July 5th, and tenders were received upon August 2nd. The total amount tendered was Rx. 4,538,580, of which the following were accepted :—

	Rx.
At minimum accepted rate of R97-4 (52 per cent.)	235,800
Above said rate	1,764,200
	2,000,000

The actual receipts being Rx. 1,948,511, or an average rate of R97-6-10 per R100.

GWALIOR LOAN.

151. Of the Gwalior Loan the terms were arranged with the Council of Regency as follows :—

(1) The amount received, which was mostly in Gwalior and Chandori Rupees, to be credited at their bullion equivalent—R1 for every 165 grains pure silver—without deduction of seignorage or melting charges.

(2) The amount to bear interest at 4 per cent. per annum, payable half-yearly.

(3) The loan to be repaid in annual instalments of 12 lakhs each, commencing when the present Maharaja is invested with full powers of administration.

A small portion of the loan was received in Government rupees at the Agra Treasury, but the rest was brought down to the Calcutta Mint in four successive remittances. So uniform did the Mint find the standard of the coinage to be, that it was found possible so to alligate the numbers of Gwalior Rupees (which are above British Indian standard) and of Chandori Rupees (which are below it), that silver of rupee standard was produced with a single melting; and after the whole operation was over, the amount received in remittance was found to fall short of the bullion required for the standard outturn in Government Rupees by ₹5,967 only.

The settlement of the interest account up to date was made on February 1st, 1888, by a payment to the Council of Regency of about Rx. 75,000, and Rx. 70,000 (seven lakhs) will be paid every 1st February and 1st August hereafter.

152. It seems desirable to take this opportunity of explaining how this loan affects the finances of the Gwalior State. The revenue of that State has for a long time largely exceeded the expenditure, and in fact it is this excess which is represented in the silver which the late Maharaja Sindia left hoarded in his palaces. The present Council of Regency have entered upon an enlightened policy of administration, which will involve considerable additions to the expenditure of the State; but their reforms would certainly border upon recklessness if there were any chance of their immediately not only absorbing the whole of the present surplus of Revenue, but also trenching upon the accumulations of the past. In investing these accumulations in a loan to the Government of India, the Council of Regency, therefore, have not given up, out of their possession, a single rupee which there was any chance of their being able to devote to the benefit of the Gwalior State itself. The interests of expenditure being already amply secured by the existing surplus of Revenue, the Council had before them the choice between leaving the hoards lying absolutely unproductive in the palaces or fort of Gwalior, and lending them, so as to produce a still further surplus of Revenue, of several lakhs a year. There can be no doubt which of these two courses will add most to the wealth and prosperity of the State, and to the means at the disposal of the Maharaja's Government. The conditions which the Council have made for the repayment of the amount, ensure the return of the money to the Treasury of the State long before there can be any claim upon it on account of local needs; and meantime the local revenues will have received a handsome addition from the interest arising out of the investment.

INDIAN SAVINGS BANKS.

153. Our borrowing transactions at present obtain no inconsiderable supplement from the operations of the Savings Banks and allied institutions.

The Indian Savings Banks date from 1833, when they were opened in the Presidency towns of Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay. The Madras and Bombay Banks gradually extended their operations into the interior of their respective Presidencies through the agency of the various Government treasuries. The Calcutta Bank did not achieve similar results, and accordingly in 1870 arrangements were made for establishing District Savings Banks at the District Treasuries in the Bengal Presidency and in Burma and Berar. A further development of the system occurred in 1882, when Post Office Savings Banks were introduced. These have rapidly advanced in public estimation and have now superseded the older institutions, so far as the District Treasuries are concerned. There now exist, therefore, outside the three Presidency towns only the Postal Banks. In 1886 these began to receive and repay deposits at rural Post Offices, thereby carrying encouragements to thrift into tracts of country where these had never been known before.

While the wants of the general public were being provided for in this way, the Government opened in 1859 Military Banks for its European non-commissioned officers and soldiers, and in 1879 Provident Institutions for the employés of State Railways. In 1884 the Civil Engineers' Provident Fund was commenced, and it has since been opened to officers of the Telegraph Department.

The following figures shew the progress of these Banks since the mutiny of 1857:

Years.	Total Deposits.	Total Withdrawals.	Total Balances.
	Rx.	Rx.	Rx.
1857-58	228,400	159,700	389,800
1860-61	327,600	311,900	623,700
1865-66	380,400	362,700	633,800
1870-71	674,100	605,100	1,150,000
1875-76	737,500	653,400	1,895,500
1880-81	2,044,800	1,114,000	3,213,700
1885-86	3,772,200	3,378,100	5,081,200
1886-87	5,330,700	4,616,400	5,795,500
1887-88 Revised Estimate	4,440,400	3,570,800	6,665,100
1888-89 Budget Estimate	4,949,300	4,162,900	7,451,500

To the figures thus estimated, we have to add the probable transactions of the Uncovenanted Service Funds and a few smaller amounts, and these give us the net receipts shewn under "Unfunded Debt" in our statements.

CALCUTTA AND BOMBAY DOCKS.

154. The eighth item in the above list of transactions refers to the arrangement under which the Government are finding funds for the Kidderpore Dock works at Calcutta, and the extension of Docks at Bombay. The former of these projects was estimated to cost, when complete, Rx. 2,750,000, and the latter, Rx. 940,000; but the Port Trustees not being able to obtain money in the Indian money market on sufficiently favourable terms, an arrangement was made whereby the Government raises the money for them and advances it on condition of receiving the same rate of interest which it has to pay (a little over four per cent.), and of having an additional one per cent. put aside as a sinking fund in repayment.

The advances made by Government to the Port Trustees of Calcutta and of Bombay, on account of their Dock-works, have been as follows:—

Advances.	Calcutta.	Bombay.
	Rx.	Rx.
Till end of 1886-87	560,500	511,800
In 1887-88 (a)	300,000	300,000
Total	860,500	811,800

In 1888-89 the Trustees will, it is estimated, require funds as follows:—

	Calcutta.	Bombay.
	Rx.	Rx.
1888-89	449,000	75,000

(a) Partly estimate.

Section IX.—Ways and Means—India, 1888-89.

155. It remains to estimate for the Ways and Means of 1888-89. We have already dealt with the separate items which enter into this estimate,—the excess of revenue over expenditure in India, the provision required for capital expenditure, of Government, of Railway Companies, and of the Port Trusts of Calcutta and Bombay, the demands of the Secretary of State on account of Council drawings.

NECESSARY CASH BALANCES.

156. It is necessary to explain in a few words the principle which regulates our calculation of Ways and Means in India. Our receipts of Revenue, and some of our other transactions, are very unevenly distributed through the year. The four months, January to April, embrace a very heavy revenue period, during which, notwithstanding heavy payments of Council Bills, our Cash Balances continually increase; and during May and June the revenue is still good enough to maintain the high figure. But during the next five months, and especially August, September, and October, the Revenue receipts fall far short of the demands on the treasuries, and the balances run down quickly, even when we are receiving the proceeds of a loan. December is the month during which the balances are ordinarily at their lowest point.

Now, many years of experiment have shown us that the amount below which we may not suffer our balances to fall is 800 lakhs (Rx. 8,000,000). Our daily transactions average about 50 lakhs (Rx. 500,000) of receipts and the same amount of outgoings, and we have to provide for them at somewhat over 200 treasuries, and about four times that number of sub-treasuries. There is no system of Treasury Bills as in England, and little borrowable capital, to carry us over a temporary deficit—we have to keep our own money ready to meet the demands upon us.

Our Ways and Means Estimates are therefore so regulated that we may be sure of having, in the months of November and December, the necessary minimum of 800 lakhs. A slackness of Council-bill drawings, or other causes, may result in our tiding over the low period with ease, and with a margin over the fixed minimum; but we cannot afford in any case to go below it.

PROPOSED RUPEE LOAN.

157. We estimate that we will require a loan of Rx. 3,000,000 to carry us over the year, but, as in the case of the English Account, no pledge can be given either as to the amount of the loan, or the time when it will be issued, or the conditions which will attach to it.

158. The estimate accordingly, made up in the same form as in paragraph 146, stands as follows:—

NET RECEIPTS.
Excess of Revenue in India over the Expenditure charged against it	20,642,800
Public Loan	3,000,000
Increase of Unfunded Debt—mostly Savings Bank Deposits	845,300
For Remittance to Secretary of State	1,020,700
Add Opening Balance	13,733,100
	39,241,900
NET OUTGOINGS.
Expenditure charged to Provincial Balances	483,600
Capital Expenditure of Government in India	2,662,800
Loans to Municipalities, &c. (chiefly the Calcutta and Bombay Dock Loans)	486,800
Other items	472,500
Issues on Capital Account to Railway Companies, against receipts in England	2,895,900
Council Bills—Sterling Account	14,548,500(a)
" Exchange (at Rx. 42 per £100)	6,110,400
Add Closing Balance	11,581,400
	39,241,900

(a) Allowing for an excess of payments against the deficiency in 1887-88.

It will be seen that, in addition to the ordinary capital expenditure of the Government of India we have unusually heavy payments for loan works and to Railway Companies. We begin the year with a strong balance, and estimate to finish it with a sufficient one.

Section X.—Summary.

159. I summarise the various points in this Financial Statement as follows:—

(a) The accounts of 1886-87 close with a surplus of Rx. 178,427, even after charging off the Special Defence Works. The Revenue was much better than the Revised Estimates, and the excess amply covered an excess of Army expenditure, besides meeting the charges for Special Defence Works.

(b) The Revised Estimates of 1887-88 shew a deficit of Rx. 2,447,800, to which must be added the charges of Rx. 568,900 for Special Defence Works. This depreciation is mainly due to an exceptional charge of Rx. 1,059,000 arising in connexion with the conversion of the 4 per cent. Sterling Loan into 3½ per cent.; to further fall of silver and consequent increase of exchange charges by about Rx. 710,000; and to heavy Military expenditure, Rx. 830,000, in excess of Budget Estimate, in Upper Burma. The losses of Opium and of Railway Revenue have been made up for by improving revenue under other heads, and saving in expenditure.

(c) The Budget Estimates for 1888-89 shew a financial position closely approximating to that explained on 27th January. The surplus in the Estimates, apart from the Special Defence expenditure, is Rx. 423,000. As compared with the Statement of January 27th, there is considerable increase in the expenditure on the Army, but the improvements in revenue are sufficient to make up for it. Upper Burma continues to require high expenditure, both under Police and under Army.

The Special Defences expenditure, however, is to be vigorously pushed on, and anticipated charges of Rx. 1,121,000 under this head (about Rx. 370,000 more than was put down on January 27th as the annual demand) convert the surplus of Rx. 423,000 into a deficit of Rx. 698,000.

(d) For Capital Expenditure on Railways and Irrigation, Rx. 4,367,200 will be spent in 1887-88, and Rx. 4,044,500 is provided for 1888-89. The largest items are the Mandalay Railway and the Railways on the North-Western Frontier.

The Bengal-Nagpur, the Indian Midland, and the Southern Mahratta Railway Companies have, during 1887-88, extended their arrangements with the Secretary of State, and are all engaged in active Railway construction.

(e) The Secretary of State proposes to draw, during 1888-89, for £14,000,000 of Council Bills. He does not propose to raise any sterling loan.

(f) The Government of India propose to raise a Rupee Loan of Rx. 3,000,000, of which Rx. 524,000 is required for the Dock Works at Calcutta and Bombay.

J. WESTLAND.

SAVINGS BANKS.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

READ—

Report by the Comptroller and Auditor General on Savings Banks for the year 1886-87 and annexed statements.

Ordered, that the report and the statements be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

No. 180, dated 30th January 1888.

From—E. GAY, Esq., Comptroller and Auditor General,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, DEPT. OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

I have the honour to submit my report for the year 1886-87 on the Savings Banks established by Government in this country. The report is late this year, as it has been necessary to reconcile the figures in it with the Finance and Revenue Accounts of the year, and this at first presented some difficulty owing to amisunderstanding which has now been removed.

2. There are two descriptions of thee Banks, viz., Banks open to the Public and Service Institutions; the former comprise Presidney and Post Office Banks, and the latter State Railway Provident Institutions, Civil Enginers' Provident Fund and Military Banks. The State Railway Provident Institutions are for the non-pensionable employés of the State Railways. The Civil Engineers' Provident Fund is or the officers of the Public Works and Telegraph Departments, and the Military Banks fc the non-commissioned officers and soldiers of the European Army; but when these men leave their regiments and go on detached military service, they are permitted under special arrangements to transfer their savings to a Presidency Bank.

3. Nothing special has occurred during the year in connection with these Banks. I enclose the usual statements marked I to VII, the principal facts in which may be summarised as follows:—On the 31st March 1887 thre were 6,230 Government Savings Banks in India, and they contained 289,415 accounts, whch received from Government ₹19,67,668 as interest and possessed balances aggregating ₹5,7,86,983. In addition to these balances the depositors held Government Promissory Notes, of which those in my custody amounted to ₹3,99,100 and in that of the Accountant General, lombay, to ₹18,300, making a total of ₹4,17,400. The notes purchased on this account in Madras were withdrawn by the depositors. The following table distributes these figures among the several classes of Banks:—

DESCRIPTION OF BANKS.	Number of Banks.	Number of Depositors.	Interest earned.	Bank Balances.	Nominal value of Government Promissory Notes.

4. The net result of the year's operations will be observed from the subjoined statement:—

Post Office	215	...	64,001	...	2,0025,869	...	96,500	...	49	...

The chief increase is in the Post Office Savings Banks, and is partly due to transfers from the Presidency and District Banks. The decrease in the Railway Banks is caused by amalgamation of the Cawnpur-Achneyra with the Rajputana Bank and the Dacca and Northern Bengal with the Eastern Bengal Bank; but on the other hand a New Bank under the designation of Bilaspur-Etawah has been opened in January 1887. According to statement IV there has been a decline in the Bombay Military Banks, while those in Bengal and Madras have increased their deposits.

5. The investments by depositos in Government Promissory Notes continue to rise, while the increase in deposits as receivd in the Post Office Banks is spread through every Province of India.

6. I have checked these Saving Banks Accounts with those of the Provincial Accountants General, the Accountant General, Public Works Department, and the Examiners of Accounts of the several State Railways, and have settled all differences with the exception of the amounts connected with the Cittagong Bank in which frauds were committed two years ago, as explained in my report of last year. These differences have not yet been adjusted, as the claims upon the Bank are not fully established.

MINT.

The 28th March, 1888.

No. 1645.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

READ the undermentioned letters transmitting reports on the working of the Mints and the Assay Offices of Calcutta and Bombay for the year 1886-87:—

From Lieutenant-Colonel R. V. Riddell, R.E., Mint Master, Calcutta, No. 1133, dated the 13th September 1887.

From Major-General J. H. White, R.E., Mint Master, Bombay, No. 1133, dated the 23rd September 1887.

From Surgeon-Major J. Scully, Assay Master, Calcutta, Nos. 59 and 68, dated the 20th August and 13th October 1887, respectively.

From Major G. Martin, F.R.G.S., F.C.S., Assay Master, Bombay, No. 52, dated the 25th June 1887.

I.—REPORTS ON THE WORKING OF THE MINTS.

Imports and coinage: Gold.—The net imports of gold into India in 1886-87 amounted in value to R2,17,70,652 against R2,76,29,347 in 1885-86. No gold was coined in either Mint. In Calcutta, gold of the value of R92,686, consisting almost entirely of bazar bar gold, was tendered for coinage, the tenderers being paid in gold mohurs from the reserve stock in the Bank of Bengal. A quantity of low touch gold, valued at R91,980, obtained from the melting down of plate, foil, &c., was also received in the Calcutta Mint from the Prize Committee at Mandalay; but, not being fit for coinage, was sold on behalf of the Committee.

In the Bombay Mint the stock of gold at the beginning of 1886-87 represented a value of only R4,602. It was increased to R4,632 by 10 gold coins received from the Royal Asiatic Society. No gold was tendered for coinage by the public, and the only issues were in the form of medals for public departments and private individuals to the value of R1,399.

2. Imports and coinage: Silver.—The net imports of silver into India and the coinage in each year in both the Mints from 1872-73 were:—

	Net imports, Lakhs.	Coinage, Lakhs.
1872-73	72	398
1873-74	249	237
1874-75	464	490
1875-76	155	255
1876-77	720	627
1877-78	1,468	1,618
1878-79	397	721
1879-80	787	1,025
1880-81	389	425
1881-82	538	219
1882-83	748	651
1883-84	641	366
1884-85	725	579
1885-86	1,161	1,029
1886-87	716	462
TOTAL	9,230	9,102

Of the imports of the year, 625½ lakhs were into Bombay, of which only 320½ lakhs were tendered at the Mint. General White says that it is believed that the remainder was absorbed by the requirements of Native States. The coinage at both Mints during the year was much less than half that of the previous year.

3. Total coinage: Gold and Silver.—The value of the total coinage of gold and silver at each mint is shown below separately for the last five years:—

	Calcutta Mint.					Bombay Mint.
	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.
Gold	1,74,945	.....	1,29,645	2,25,855	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....	.....
Silver	1,42,99,076	1,27,46,606	1,23,71,066	3,46,97,321	1,07,45,718	5,07,85,494	2,38,87,405	4,55,71,252	6,81,58,350	3,54,19,642
Total	1,44,74,021	1,27,46,606	1,25,00,711	3,49,23,176	1,07,45,718	5,07,85,494	2,38,87,405	4,55,71,252	6,81,58,350	3,54,19,642

4. Recoinage of old coin.—The amount of defaced and uncurrent coin remitted to the Calcutta Mint for recoinage was R11,37,424, being less than that of the previous year by R31,64,742. This included Burmese Peacock rupees of the nominal value of R2,70,386, shroff-marked coin valued at R3,37,352, and uncurrent coin of the value of R4,54,068 transferred from the Bombay Mint. In the Bombay Mint the amount of uncurrent coin received for recoinage was $3\frac{1}{4}$ lakhs of rupees, including coin of native mintage to the value of a lakh. The loss on recoinage operations amounted to R13,125 in Calcutta and R3,081 in Bombay.

5. Silver tendered for coinage by or on behalf of the Currency Department.—In 1886-87, silver to the value of R1,59,82,723 was tendered through the Currency Department for coinage in the Calcutta Mint; in 1885-86, the value was R4,83,23,963.

In the Bombay Mint R3,46,18,702 was tendered for coinage through the Currency Department. Of this sum R51,31,296 was transferred to Calcutta to be coined there; this sum is part of the 159 lakhs mentioned above.

6. Copper coinage.—The coinage of copper amounted to R11,71,289 in 1886-87 against R8,13,610 in 1885-86, more than three-fourths being coined in Calcutta. Cent pieces of the value of R34,020 and R50,300 were coined in Calcutta for the Governments of Ceylon and the Straits Settlements respectively. Tangas were coined for the Portuguese Indian Government to the value of R1,07,631 in Calcutta and R2,370 in Bombay.

The coinage of copper in each mint for the last five years has been as follows:—

	Calcutta.	Bombay.
	Value in R	Value in R
1882-83	8,62,580	2,14,214
1883-84	11,54,245	2,19,389
1884-85	7,02,560	3,55,250
1885-86	8,13,610	.....
1886-87	9,13,955	2,57,334

For the Calcutta Mint nearly 15,000 maunds of copper slabs were purchased locally at an average rate of R$23\frac{1}{4}$ a maund, this rate being less than that of the previous year by R$2\frac{1}{4}$ a maund. The Bombay Mint obtained its copper from England through the India Office, the cost averaging R22 per maund against R$24\frac{3}{7}$ per maund in 1885-86, but the Mint Master says that the slabs recently sent out are of rather inferior quality.

7. The gain on the copper coinage in both Mints for the last five years is shown below:—

	R
1882-83	3,50,091
1883-84	5,60,227
1884-85	5,69,684
1885-86	1,11,053
1886-87	7,67,040

The coinage in 1885-86 was much smaller than in any of the other years mentioned. There was besides a loss on the mintage operations in Bombay which had the effect of reducing to some extent the amount of net gain during that year.

8. Operative losses in Mints.—The operative losses at Calcutta and Bombay during 1886-87 were R23,849 and R21,447 against R96,065 and R60,736 in the preceding year.

The loss in the melting and mechanical departments of each mint per lakh of rupees during 1886-87 and the four previous years was as follows:—

	Melting Department.		Mechanical Department.
	Calcutta.	Bombay.	Calcutta. (approximate figures).	Bombay.
	R	R	R	R
1882-83	37·9	39·8	24·2	33·0

1884-85	34·9	30·8	10·5	18·8
1885-86	27·0	33·1	3·9	5·3
1886-87	21·7	20·5	5·5	8·9

9. Revenue and Expenditure.—Total revenue and expenditure in connection with each mint from 1882-83 to 1886-87:—

	Revenue.						Expenditure.

	13,15,609	42,54,050	55,69,659	3,77,538	7,86,946	11,64,484	51,37,385	42,38,260	93,75,645
			67,34,143						93,75,642

The total revenue at both mints during the last five years is less than the total expenditure during that period by R26,41,499. This gives an average loss of R5,28,300 a year, entirely in Calcutta.

10. The expenditure on account of salaries and establishments in the two mints during 1886-87 was R5,18,632, being less than that of the previous year by R44,490 as shown below:—

	Calcutta.			Bombay.
	1885-86.	1886-87.	Increase + Decrease −	1885-86.	1886-87.	Increase + Decrease −
Fixed Establishment	2,04,401	1,87,512	−16,889	2,15,853	2,17,238	+1,385
Extra Establishment	82,950	74,729	−8,221	59,918	39,153	−20,765
Total	2,87,351	2,62,241	−25,110	2,75,771	2,56,391	−19,380

The diminished outlay in Calcutta in 1886-87 is due mainly to (1) the Mint Master having been on furlough in 1886; (2) the absence of the Head Engraver; and (3) the fact that while for ten months in 1885-86 a large extra establishment was required for the coinage of silver, as well as of copper, in 1886-87 a somewhat similar establishment was required for only five months of the year.

11. The expenditure on stores in Calcutta during 1886-87 was R65,780 against R86,792, and in Bombay R70,282 against R2,38,603, in the previous year. The reduced expenditure in Calcutta was due to the smaller quantity of silver coined. In Bombay, there was a large expenditure in 1885-86 for new lever presses and for fuel.

12. Pro formâ charges.—In the Calcutta Mint these charges amount in 1886-87 to R4,33,068 against R5,37,874 in 1885-86, shewing a decrease of R1,04,806 as follows :—

	1885-86.	1886-87.	Increase + Decrease −
Cost of pension and furlough allowances . . .	29,366	30,446	+1,080
Interest on Stock and Block	5,08,508	4,02,622	−1,05,886

The cost of pension and furlough allowances of superior servants has in 1886-87 been rightly calculated at one-sixth of the salary, instead of one-seventh as was done in 1885-86. The decrease in the interest on stock and block is principally due to the smaller average silver balance as well as smaller balances of copper and stores in 1886-87.

13. Capital Account.—The capital account of the Calcutta Mint has been scarcely affected during the year 1886-87. The balance of the account at the commencement of the year stood at R76,35,773 and at the end at R76,36,686. The addition for original works was only R1,293, and it is expected by the Mint Master that for years to come there will be no material addition on this account.

In the Bombay Mint R18,325 was debited to capital account on account of buildings and plant. At the close of 1886-87 the balance of the account at debit to the mint was R35,68,217.

14. Alterations in the machinery and working of the mints.—The alterations and additions to the machinery in the Calcutta Mint, which were commenced four years ago to enable the mint to coin 3½ lakhs of rupees daily in a day of seven working hours, were finished in the year.

In the Adjusting Department of the Bombay Mint, the Calcutta system of work was introduced by Major Baird as Officiating Mint Master with great success. The rejections of light and heavy bits have been much reduced, and though the average is not yet as good as in Calcutta, it is 5 per cent. better than it was.

II.—REPORTS ON THE WORKING OF THE ASSAY OFFICES.

15. Number of Assays made.—The total number of assays made during 1886-87 in Calcutta was 10,605 against 19,630 in the previous year, and in Bombay 19,937 against 32,319. The decrease was due to the smaller quantity of silver received for coinage.

16. Assays of silver bullion alligated to standard in the Calcutta Mint.—The average fineness of the mixtures of silver and alloy for the purpose of coinage in the Calcutta Mint was 916·084 against 916·14 in the previous year.

17. "Parting" assay of silver coins.—The average proportion of gold found in silver coins at the Calcutta Mint during 1886-87 amounted to ·283 per mille against ·227 in the previous year. The maximum and the minimum found in March and February 1887 were ·561 and ·051 respectively.

The average of the Bombay Mint was ·290 per mille, the maximum being ·636 found in May 1886 and the minimum ·156 found in February 1887. The average of 1885-86 was ·239 per mille.

18. Pyx trials of silver coins.—The procedure in regard to these trials was described in the Resolution on the working of the Mints in 1885-86, but it may conveniently be repeated here. It is as follows :—

From every lakh of rupees coined, a certain number of pieces are taken at random. Of these, some coins are assayed singly and the remainder are melted and assayed together. The combined results of these two kinds of assay give the average fineness for the lakh. To test the weight of the rupees, sample pieces are taken at random from every lakh struck and weighed on an assay balance, coin by coin.

The difficulties in the way of securing an accurate standard of fineness and weight are thus described by Dr. Scully in paragraph 19 of his report :—

"In the present stage of the art of minting it is quite impossible to avoid these variations in the weight and fineness of individual silver coins. It will readily be understood that when coins have to be manufactured at the rate of three or four lakhs a day, it must be impracticable to make them all of exactly the same weight. A most minute difference in the thickness of different parts of a strap from which the coins have to be cut out will occasion serious differences in the weights of the individual pieces.

"The variation in fineness which has been pointed out results from an inherent property of some silver-copper alloys. When these two metals are mixed together by melting and thorough stirring, the fluid mass of metal will be of even composition throughout. But in the act of solidifying, this uniformity of composition is spontaneously altered in all directions, so that the proportions of silver found in different parts of a single coinage bar will vary to a remarkable extent. For instance in a bar having an average composition of 916 per mille, the extreme outer edge may contain only 913 of silver, and the core or central part as much as 920. Lengthways too, one end of the bar will be richer in silver than the opposite extremity; and along any line in the bar in this direction variations will be found at every inch of surface. The coins resulting from such a bar must necessarily vary in fineness in the same way, though not quite to the same extent as the bar itself."

The average results of the pyx trials of the silver coins in the Calcutta Mint are summarised in the following statement :—

DENOMINATION.	Number of coins weighed.	Number of coins assayed.	Average weight (grains).	Average fineness (per mille).	Proportion of gold in pyx coins per mille.
Rupees . . .	690	2,070	179·959	916·754	0·283
½ rupees . . .	350	1,750	90·008	916·573
¼ rupees . . .	670	6,700	45·014	916·629
⅛ rupees . . .	650	13,000	22·506	916·581

In the case of the Bombay Mint the Assay Master has given the result of the trial of the pyx for weight.

There were 367 pyx trials in all. Among the coins tested for weight only 12 were found beyond remedy, of which 8 were above and 4 below the standard. Two lakhs had to be re-adjusted for weight in consequence of two coins being found beyond remedy, in one case the coins being too heavy and in the other too light.

The Assay Master has only given a rough calculation of the fineness of the coin issued. The Mint Master, Bombay, has calculated the assay value upon the actual weight and fineness of the silver coins put into circulation during the year.

The details are given below :—

	Weight.	Fineness.	Value.	Average Weight.
Rupees .	3,40,46,650·9	916·431	3,40,37,914·9	180·00
½ rupees .	5,57,965	916·132	5,57,639·8	90·00
¼ rupees .	4,20,507·5	915·867	4,20,140·5	44·96
⅛ rupees .	3,94,061	916·017	3,93,781·6	22·48

showing a gain of R10,166 on the issue of new coin. The number of coins used to determine the average fineness was R4,53,699.

The weight and fineness of individual coins vary much, though they are always well within the remedy allowed by law. In Calcutta last year the heaviest rupee was found to weigh 180·80 grains, the lightest 179·20; the greatest fineness of a single rupee was 918·6 per mille, the least 915·2.

The comparative results of the pyx trials of 1886-87 of both Mints are shown below:—

	Average weight in grains.		Average fineness per mille.
	Calcutta.	Bombay.	Calcutta.	Bombay.
Rupees	179·959	180·000	916·754	916·431
½ rupees	90·008	90·000	916·573	916·132
¼ rupees	45·014	44·960	916·629	915·867
⅓ rupees	22·506	22·480	916·581	916·017

In both cases the coinage is proved to be of entirely satisfactory standard.

19. Brittle silver.—During the year neither of the mints was troubled with consignments of silver containing bismuth. In the Calcutta Mint some silver was found to contain tin, and though this metal formed only about a thousandth part of the mass of bullion, yet this minute proportion was sufficient to cause brittleness.

Dr. Scully has published a useful and interesting paper containing the results of his investigations into the effects produced on the ductility of silver by the presence of bismuth. He summarises the results as follows:—

"(1) The Indian assay process for silver bullion is, incidentally, a delicate qualitative test for the presence of bismuth in such bullion.

(2) The assay process can be readily modified so as to give accurate results in the presence of such proportions of bismuth as are likely to be encountered in practice.

(3) Fine silver when alloyed with only 1 per mille of bismuth has its ductility sensibly impaired thereby; and 1 per cent. of bismuth is sufficient to render fine silver, or alloys of it with copper down to 906 fine, extremely brittle.

(4) Fine silver alloyed with small quantities of bismuth, and silver-copper alloys down to 980 fine when containing small proportions of bismuth, have the remarkable property of being more ductile when rapidly cooled in water after casting than if allowed to cool very slowly, thus resembling bronze in this respect.

(5) Coinage bars such as are used in the Calcutta Mint, and with the procedure there adopted for rolling, are quite unfit for coinage owing to brittleness, if they contain only 3 per mille of bismuth; while if the latter metal forms less than 0·5 per mille of the whole mass, the ductility of the bars is not much affected."

21. Improvements in the Assay Offices.—Among other improvements in the Calcutta Assay Office during the year was the introduction of the electrolytic process for the assay of copper. After a thorough trial, this process has been adopted to the exclusion of the more tedious process hitherto followed. Another improvement of some importance is the record of the weight of every pyx coin examined to one-hundredth of a grain, instead of only one-tenth of a grain as heretofore.

In the Bombay Assay Office the assay on pyx coins is now conducted in a shorter time than before. The pyx coins, instead of being received in the Assay Department at the end of the day's work, are now received for each lakh directly after the coin is struck and rung, are taken up for assay on receipt, and are reported on if received before 2-30 P.M. the next day.

Administration of the Mints and Assay Departments.—The Governor General in Council acknowledges the efficiency with which both Mints and Assay Departments have been controlled and worked by the officers in charge.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India.

Ordered also, that copies of this Resolution be forwarded to the Mint Masters, Calcutta and Bombay (with printed copies of the two reports on the working of the Mints), and to the Assay Masters, Calcutta and Bombay (with printed copies of the two reports on the working of the Assay Departments).

Substitute the following for clause (13) of the Form of Last-Pay Certificate on this page:

(13) The Secretary of State recovers subscriptions on account of the different Civil Funds from subscribers absent from India on leave who draw their leave allowances in England, who either are required by the Rules of their Fund to pay their subscriptions in that country during leave, or elect to do so. Particulars of the Fund deductions to be made from the absentee allowances of officers on leave drawing their leave allowances in England should be noted on the Last-Pay Certificates; and where a subscriber elects to make payments of his subscriptions in India while on leave, or to postpone such payments until his return to India, the fact should also be noted on the Last-Pay Certificate. The rules under which the deductions are made, and the method by which they are calculated in the cases of the different Funds, will be found in Appendix B (a) of the Civil Leave Code.

Insert the following as Appendix B (a) of the Civil Leave Code:

The recovery of subscriptions due on the absentee allowances of subscribers to the Bengal, Madras, and Bombay Civil Funds, and to the Indian Civil Service Family Pension Fund, is made under the following Rules:

1. If the officer is on leave out of India and draws his allowances in England, recovery will be made at the Home Treasury by deductions from his absentee allowances, unless he is a member of the Bengal or Madras Civil Fund, and has exercised the option allowed to members of those Funds of postponing the payment of his subscriptions until after return to duty.

[NOTE.—The option allowed to subscribers to the Bengal Fund of postponing payment of subscriptions on absentee allowances is limited to a period of one year.]

2. For payment of leave allowances in any of Her Majesty's Colonies, warrants will be issued only on condition that the subscriptions shall be either paid in advance or taken by deduction; in the latter case, the warrant to the Colony should show only the net allowance payable after such deduction.

3. The rates of subscription are as follow:

A.—Bengal Civil Fund.

	Civil Fund ordinary	2	8	per centum of	the total leave allowance.
Additional.	Wife	2	0	„	ditto	ditto.
	Sons, each	0	2	„	ditto	ditto.
	Daughters, each	0	4	„	ditto	ditto.

Widowers' subscriptions are the subscription to the ordinary branch and double rates for children. The subscriptions should be calculated on the rupee entry of the absentee allowance in the officer's Last-Pay Certificate; but in no case is subscription calculated on a smaller leave allowance than ₹416-10-8, or on a higher allowance than ₹833-5-4 a month. Payments made in England are converted into sterling at the rate of 2 shillings the rupee. If the officer is entitled to no absentee allowance, his contributions should be calculated as if he were in receipt of the subsistence allowance noted below:

₹250 a month—for an officer of not more than eight years' actual residence in India.

₹320 a month—for an officer of more than eight but less than twelve years' actual residence in India.

B.—Madras Civil Fund.

During the first sixteen years' service in all cases	2½ per cent.

At the same rate during the whole further service in the case of married men or widowers with families. In the case of unmarried subscribers and widowers without families, the rate is reduced to 1 per cent. after sixteen years' service, to be raised to the higher rate of 2½ per cent. on the remarriage of the subscriber.

The subscriptions to be paid on absentee allowance are reckoned on the rupee entry in the Last-Pay Certificate; but in no case is subscription calculated on a smaller leave allowance than ₹416-10-8, or on a higher leave allowance than ₹833⅓.

In the cases of subscribers in England who are not in receipt of any absentee allowances, and who are allowed by the Rules of the Fund to make payments in order to retain their interest in the Fund, the allowance on which the rates are calculated is the allowance from Government last drawn when on furlough or sick leave.

Payments made in England are converted into sterling at the rate of two shillings or one shilling and nine pence the rupee, according as the subscription is paid to the 8 per cent. or 4 per cent. Capital of the Fund.

C.—Bombay Civil Fund.

Married members	3 per cent.
Widowers or unmarried members	2 „
For daughters (if upon the Fund)—2 annas or 4 annas per cent.
For sons (if upon the Fund)—2 annas per cent.

A member on furlough and in receipt of an absentee allowance exceeding £500 a year contributes at the rates shown above on the amount in excess of £500 a year. Any member drawing no allowance, or drawing furlough or subsistence allowance of £500 a year or less, is not required to contribute.

Payments of subscriptions in England are converted into sterling money at the rate of exchange annually fixed for the adjustment of financial transactions between the Imperial and Indian Governments.

D.—Indian Civil Service Family Pension Regulations.

(These rates shew the monthly contribution and are subject to alteration, from time to time, by the Secretary of State.)

"In front of each block and at a distance of about 2 feet from it a substantial wooden frame of stanchions and connecting pieces shall be erected, extending along the entire length of the block and to about 2 feet beyond it on each side. This frame shall be sufficiently high to support an extension of the closet roof, which shall be projected in future to a distance of about 2 feet, and shall rest on and be securely fastened to the top of the frame.

"A canvas screen, oiled or tarred, and capable of being securely fastened in its place when let down and rolled up when not required, shall be fitted to the front of the above frame, and shall hang from under the projected roof above to about 18 inches of the deck, so as to form, when let down, a sheltered passage to the closets that are behind and entirely covered by it. The exposed forward and after ends or side entrances of this passage shall be excluded from view by wooden side-screens—one at each end—firmly fixed at right angles to the frame in front, so as to leave, at each end, a covered entrance to the passage. With a view to better control, the forward end entrances to the women's closets may be closed, or be capable of being closed, when desired."

No. 929.—The following Ordinance passed by the Legislature at Hongkong, No. 12 of 1888, prohibiting vagrancy in the Colony, is published for general information. The attention of Shipowners and Masters is specially invited to Sections 21 to 23 of the Ordinance.—

NO. 12 OF 1888.

An Ordinance enacted by the Governor of Hongkong, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, entitled the Vagrancy Ordinance, 1888.

(L. S.) G. WILLIAM DES VŒUX.

[3rd March, 1888.]

Be it enacted by the Governor of Hongkong, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

Interpretation.

1. In this Ordinance the term vagrant means any person other than a Chinese found asking for alms, or without any employment or visible means of subsistence.

Agent of a vessel includes any person who undertakes the agency of such vessel, though he may not be the consignee thereof.

Governor may provide House of Detention; in the meantime Victoria Gaol declared as such.

2. The Governor may provide a House of Detention for vagrants at such place as he may think proper, and may appoint a Superintendent and such Officers as he may think proper, and may remove any such Superintendent or Officers at pleasure.

The Governor may, by notification in the Gazette, certify any building or part of a building to be a House of Detention for the purposes of this Ordinance; and until any such house be provided, the Gaol at Victoria may be used as such house for the purpose of this Ordinance.

Governor to appoint Superintendent. Meantime Superintendent of Victoria Gaol to be Superintendent.

3. Every House of Detention shall be under the immediate charge of a Superintendent, who shall be appointed, and may be suspended or removed, by the Governor; and until any other appointment is made, the Superintendent of Victoria Gaol shall be the Superintendent of the House of Detention.

Conveyance before Magistrate.

4. Any Police Officer may require any person who is apparently a vagrant to accompany him or any other Police Officer to, and to appear before, a Magistrate.

Magistrate may declare a person to be a vagrant.

5. Such Magistrate shall in such case, or in any other case where a person apparently a vagrant comes before him, make a summary enquiry into the circumstances of such apparent vagrant, and, if satisfied that he is a vagrant, shall declare him to be such.

Committal to House of Detention.

6. If such Magistrate shall be further of opinion that such vagrant is not likely to obtain employment at once, or if he has reason to believe that a declaration of vagrancy has on any former occasion been recorded in respect of such vagrant, he shall require such vagrant to go to a House of Detention, and shall draw up an order to that effect.

Power to detain.

7. The vagrant shall then be placed in charge of the Police for the purpose of being forwarded to the House of Detention, and the said order shall be a sufficient authority to the Police for retaining him in their charge while he is on his way to the House of Detention, and to the Superintendent of the House of Detention for receiving and detaining such vagrant.

Magistrate may forward to place of employment.

8. Where the Magistrate dealing with such vagrant is of opinion that the vagrant is likely to obtain employment in the Colony, such Magistrate may, in his discretion, forward the vagrant in charge of the Police to the place where such employment is likely to be obtained, and may draw up an order to that effect. Such order shall be a sufficient authority to the Police for retaining the vagrant in their charge whilst on his way to such place of employment, and afterwards, should he not succeed in obtaining such employment.

Magistrate to assist in seeking employment.

9. The Magistrate dealing with any vagrant shall, to the best of his ability, assist him in seeking employment, and may in the meantime, if he think fit, keep such vagrant in charge of the Police. Should the vagrant fail to obtain suitable employment, within a reasonable time, not exceeding at the most seven days, such Magistrate shall forward him to a House of Detention as provided in Section 6.

10. Every person while in charge of the Police under this Ordinance, or whilst seeking employment, shall be entitled to the same maintenance and subject to the same regulations as prisoners detained on remand.

To be treated as prisoners on remand.

11. Every vagrant detained in any House of Detention shall be allowed the same scale of diet for his support as is allowed to adult long-sentence prisoners, whose conduct is good.

Scale of diet.

12. Every vagrant admitted to any House of Detention shall be subject to the same regulations as are prisoners in gaol with respect to—

Vagrants subject to certain regulations.

(a) Search of his person, clothing, and effects.

(b) Custody of his clothing and effects.

(c) The wearing of a distinctive dress.

(d) Personal cleanliness.

(e) Hours, meals, labour (other than penal labour), and general conduct. Always provided that such regulations may be specially modified in relation to vagrants by any Code of Rules approved by the Governor in Council, and that any money or effects of any vagrant may be applied towards the expense of carrying this Ordinance into execution for his benefit.

13. Any vagrant who knowingly disobeys any rule applicable to him, or made under the previous section of this Ordinance, shall be liable to the same punishment, and such punishment shall be awarded as if he were a misdemeanant in gaol.

14. The Superintendent of such House of Detention shall forward weekly to the Harbour Master a list of such vagrants under his charge as are seamen, and shall otherwise use his best endeavours to obtain suitable employment outside such house for the vagrants admitted thereto.

15. When such employment is obtained, any vagrant refusing or neglecting to avail himself thereof shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to imprisonment with hard labour for a term not exceeding one month.

Penalty for refusing employment.

16. If after the lapse of a reasonable time no suitable employment is obtainable for any such vagrant, the Superintendent of the House of Detention in which he is detained may either (when such vagrant has entered into an agreement as hereinafter mentioned) cause him to be removed from the Colony, or he may cause Sections 25 and 28 of this Ordinance to be read to such vagrant, and may then release him.

20. Whenever any person not a Chinese lands in this Colony, or, being a non-commissioned officer or soldier in Her Majesty's Army, leaves that army in this Colony under an engagement to serve any person, company, or association, or body of persons in any capacity, and whenever any sailor other than a Chinese sailor is discharged from his ship in this Colony, and such person, non-commissioned officer, soldier, or sailor becomes chargeable to the Colony as a vagrant within a period of six months after his arrival here or after his leaving the Army or discharge from his ship, as the case may be, the person, company, association, or body to serve whom he has so landed in Hongkong, left the army, or, in the case of a sailor, the person who was at the date of his discharge the owner or agent of the ship from which such sailor has been so discharged, shall be liable to pay to the Government the cost of his removal under this Ordinance, and all other charges incurred by the Colony in consequence of his becoming a vagrant.

Persons landing vagrants in the Colony to pay cost of removal, &c.

21. Every Master of a ship landing or allowing to land in this Colony any person other than a Chinese, who at the time of his landing is obviously destitute of means of subsistence, or does actually become so within a period of six months from the date of landing, shall be liable to repay to the Government of this Colony all costs and charges incurred by the Colony in consequence of such person becoming a vagrant unless such Master satisfy the Court that he made due enquiry as to the person so landed or allowed to land, and that he had reason to believe such person was possessed of means of subsistence.

Shipmasters landing destitutes liable to defray expenses.

22. In the absence of such Master of a vessel, the owner, agent, or consignee of such vessel at the time the person who subsequently became a vagrant was allowed to land shall be liable to pay the said costs and charges on his behalf.

23. Such costs and charges shall be recoverable by suit as if an express agreement to repay them had been entered into with the Colonial Secretary by the person, company, association, body, owner, agent, or consignee chargeable.

Any vagrant who escapes from the Police whilst committed to their charge under this Ordinance, or who leaves a House of Detention without permission from the Superintendent, or who, having with such permission left a House of Detention for a limited time or a specified purpose, fails to return on the expiration of such time or when such purpose has been accomplished or proves to be impracticable, shall for every such offence be punishable on conviction before a Magistrate with hard labour for a period not exceeding three months.

Simla, the 11th May, 1888.

No. 2471.—In exercise of the powers conferred by Sections 5 and 7 of the Local Authorities Loan Act of 1879, the Governor-General in Council directs that for clause 5 of Rule V. of the Rules for the raising of loans by Local Authorities in the open market, published with Notification No. 2748, dated 17th August, 1883, the following clauses (5) and (5*a*) be substituted:—

(5) The dates between which the money borrowed is to be received.

[Note.—It is essential that the authority to borrow in the market should be limited to a reasonable time, as loans of any considerable amount cannot be held in suspense indefinitely. No. 2512.—The following Memorandum is published by order of the Governor-General in Council.

REVISED ESTIMATES FOR 1887-88.

In paragraph 16 of the Financial Statement of 26th March 1888, the following abstract (or rather the total column of it) was given of the anticipated results of the year 1887-88; and in paragraph 21 it was mentioned that the information received in the month of April, regarding the transactions of March, would enable the Government to estimate much more closely the actual outturn of the year.

(a) Including Provincial Adjustment.

I propose now to examine the "India" figures (that is, those in the first column) in the light of the information referred to. About the English figures and the exchange upon them, we have as yet no further information, except that the estimated rate of exchange is practically unaltered by the transactions of March.

Land Revenue.*—The collections of March have again been extremely high, the improvement over estimate being, on the whole, as much as Rx. 252,000, realised almost entirely in Madras and Bombay.

Opium.—The Bengal realisations were of course accurately known when the estimates were published. As regards Bombay, although the number of chests which passed the scales exceeded the estimate, this was due for the most part to a rush during the last days of the year; and as Rx. 70,000 of the hundis given in payment was not realised till April, and came accordingly into the accounts of the new year, the revenue on the whole falls Rx. 27,000 short of estimate.

Salt.—Notwithstanding the higher rate of duty, the realisations of February and March were each Rx. 50,000 less than the previous year, due no doubt to the absorption of old stocks before the higher taxed new ones came into consumption. Allowance was made for this in the estimates, but the revenue of the year is still Rx. 52,000 short.

Stamps and Excise* shew an improvement of Rx. 27,000 and Rx. 21,000, respectively, over estimate.

Assessed Taxes* are apparently Rx. 12,000 better than estimate; but this figure excludes any divergence from estimate in respect of deductions from salaries in the Public Works and Military Departments.

Under the other principal heads, the Customs returns shew a little less than estimate. Provincial Rates shew an improvement (corresponding to the improvement under Land Revenue) of nearly Rx. 57,000.

On the whole, these Principal Revenue heads shew improvements of about Rx. 285,000 over the Revised Estimates, of which Rx. 124,000 goes to diminish the deficit of the year, and Rx. 161,000 swells Provincial Balances.

Railways.—The gross earnings are believed to be about Rx. 22,000 better and the working expenses about Rx. 38,000 worse than estimate. This may be divided into Rx. 4,000 worse on Imperial Account and Rx. 12,000 worse on Provincial Account.

Under Interest and Civil Expenditure, we have at present no reason to shew different figures from the estimates. The finals will no doubt shew the expenditure to be within the estimate, but the bulk of the improvement under the latter head goes to swell the Provincial resources, and not to diminish the deficit on Imperial Account. Though the preliminary figures shew a total Rx. 286,000 less than the Revised Estimate, the greater part of this will be required to meet charges which remain yet to be debited by other Departments.

Opium Production.—This expenditure is believed to be Rx. 80,000 less than estimate. An especially large provision was made for payments in March, which were expected to be much more than usual; but the excess has not been so great as anticipated.

Post Office, Telegraph, and Mint.—So far as we see, Post Office will be Rx. 5,000 better and Telegraph Rx. 20,000 worse than estimate.

Irrigation.—The expenditure has been less than estimated, and the head will probably shew an improvement over estimate, which we calculate according to present information, at Rx. 37,000 on Imperial Account and Rx. 30,000 on Provincial Account.

Civil and Military Works, Imperial.—The preliminary accounts shew a saving of Rx. 60,000.

Civil Works, Provincial.*—The form of the abstract takes into account under this head the "Provincial Adjustment" [illegible] of that part of the improvement in the general account which goes to the Provincial Governments. On the several accounts already stated, we have to write off Rx. 179,000 in addition to the amount shewn in the Revised Estimates. A considerable saving on Provincial and Local Public Works is reported, but it does not alter the gross figure under this head, as the amount, whether spent or unspent, is equally written off the Imperial Account.

Provincial Revenue	...	161
Railways	...	—12
Irrigation	...	30

Army.*—The Army expenditure is, according to present returns, about Rx. 25,000 less than the Revised Estimates.

Special Defence Charges.—These are believed to be considerably within the estimate, and the saving may be as much as Rx. 90,000.

The following table accordingly shews the modifications which the preliminary information for March shews to be likely to occur in the Revised Estimates. The figures can still be taken only as estimates; but we are not likely to reach any nearer figures until the process of making up the final accounts has reached a much more advanced stage.—

It will be seen, therefore, that, assuming for the present no change in the English figures, the results of 1887-88 are now put down at Rx. 307,000 better than the Revised Estimate if we exclude consideration of the Special Defence Works; or Rx. 397,000 if we include them. In short, the deficit on the account may now be stated as follows:—

1. To Rule 7, Schedule (page 88), after the existing Rule under the heading "Blocks" add the following:

"In front of each block, and at a distance of about 2 feet from it, a substantial wooden frame of stanchions and connecting pieces shall be erected, extending along the entire length of the block, and to about 2 feet beyond it on each side. This frame shall be sufficiently high to support an extension of the closet roof, which shall be projected in future to a distance of about 2 feet, and shall rest on and be securely fastened to the top of the frame.

"A canvas screen, oiled or tarred, and capable of being securely fastened in its place when let down and rolled up when not required, shall be fitted to the front of the above frame, and shall hang from under the projected roof above to about 18 inches of the deck, so as to form, when let down, a sheltered passage to the closets that are behind and entirely covered by it. The exposed forward and after ends or side entrances of this passage shall be excluded from view by wooden side screens—one at each end—firmly fixed at right angles to the frame in front, so as to leave, at each end, a covered entrance to the passage. DEFINITION OF ACTIVE SERVICE.

Substitute the following for the portion beginning with "In the case of a Military Officer," &c., down to "Rule I., under clause (i) above, applies also to Military Officers subject to Civil Rules":

"In the case of a Military Officer subject to Civil Rules, Active Service for the purpose of calculating the amount of leave admissible under the Rules of this Code commences from the date of first substantive appointment in the Civil Department, except in the case of an Officer of the Royal Engineers, who was in civil employ on the 1st November 1886 and elected for Continuous Service in India, who counts Active Service from the date of his election.

"Note.—For the purpose of determining whether leave may be granted to such an Officer, and the amount of the leave allowances, Continuous Service and Active Service include any previous service which would be treated as such under these Rules.

"Rules (g) and (i) above apply to Military Officers subject to Civil Rules."

(b).—PAGE VIII.

DEFINITION OF CONTINUOUS SERVICE AND CONTINUOUS ACTIVE SERVICE.

Add at the end:

"And in the case of a Royal Engineer who has elected for Continuous Service in India, furlough on urgent private affairs under Rule XI. of the Rules of 1868."

(c).—PAGE 159.

SECTION 48, PROVISO (ii).

Add the following Note:

"Note.—The amount of furlough due under Military Rules is calculated on the whole period of service qualifying for furlough, i.e., without reference to the minimum periods of service that must be completed before furlough can be granted under those Rules, deducting from this amount any leave actually taken which under those Rules reduces the amount of furlough due. When a Military Officer becomes subject to the Civil Rules, the Military Department will, on application and on being furnished with the date of commencement of Active Service, furnish to the Civil Account Officer, to whose audit such officer becomes subject, a memorandum showing the furlough earned, the different kinds of leave taken (distinguishing those which should be deducted from the maximum furlough admissible), and the balance of furlough due to him under Military Rules.

PAY AND ACTING ALLOWANCE CODE.

Pages 289—292.

SECTIONS 45 TO 47.

Substitute the following for these Sections:

45. In the case of progressive appointments, acting allowances are fixed as follows:

(a) An officer whose substantive pay is progressive, and who acts in an office of which the pay is fixed.

In this case the officer's acting allowances will be calculated as if his substantive pay were a fixed one, equal to the amount at which from time to time it stands.

(b) An officer whose substantive pay is fixed, and who acts in an office of which the pay is progressive.

(c) An officer whose substantive pay is progressive, and who acts in an office of which the pay is progressive.

In this case the officer will draw—

(1) His substantive pay, with the increments thereof as they fall due.

(2) The acting allowance which he would have drawn if the substantive and officiating appointments were both on fixed pay equal to the minimum: provided that the maximum limit of salary shall be not the said minimum pay of the officiating appointment, but the pay to which the officer would have risen if his officiating tenure had been substantive.

Example (a).—An officer who is substantively in the R170 stage of an appointment of R150—10—200 is appointed to act in an office of which the pay is R200—8—240. His salary is thus fixed—

	R
Pay	170
Acting allowance, $\frac{1}{5}$ of R200	40
Total ...	210

But this is limited the first year to R200.

Next year he gets pay R180 + acting allowance R40,—total R220. But this is limited for a year to R208.

Example (b).—A Covenanted Civil Servant, substantively in the R1,200 stage of an appointment of which the pay is R1,000—50—1,250, acts in an appointment of R1,500—50—1,750. His salary is—

Pay	1,200
Acting allowance, $\frac{1}{3}$ (R1,500—1,000) ...	333⅓
Total ...	1,533⅓

Limited the first year to R1,500.

	R
Second year—
Pay	1,250
Acting allowance	333⅓
Total ...	1,583⅓

Limited to R1,550.

In future years he gets R1,583⅓, which is the limit of salary in this case.

NOTE.—In calculating the salary of an officer in an acting appointment, the whole of the acting tenure, whether continuous or not, is taken into account.

46. If an officer is appointed substantively to a progressive appointment in which he has already officiated, his pay is fixed as follows:

(1) If the salary which he drew when last officiating is equal to one of the stages of the pay of the appointment, his pay shall be fixed at that stage, and he shall count in that stage the time during which he has been drawing the said salary.

(2) If the salary which he drew when last officiating is intermediate between two stages, his pay shall be fixed at that amount for half the period during which an increment is earned, and on the first day of the month thereafter succeeding he shall be eligible to the next higher stage of the progressive pay.

Example.—An officer is on 20th June substantively appointed to an appointment of which the pay is R200—10—250, and in which he is already officiating—

(a) If his salary at the time of his appointment and from 1st March last has been R220, he continues to draw R220, and on 1st March next rises to R230.

(b) If his salary at time of appointment is R225, he will draw R225 till 1st January, and then will get R230.

47. An officer transferred substantively to a progressive appointment from an appointment in which he is drawing pay in excess of the minimum pay of the new appointment will, if the transfer is made by an authority to which both appointments are subordinate, or if the transfer is declared by the Local Government or by a Department of the Government of India to have been made for special reasons and in the interests of the public service, draw the nearest stage, or, if two stages are equally near, then the next higher stage of pay in the new appointment, but will count time for increments as if he had commenced on the minimum pay.

47A. Except as provided in Sections 46 and 47, an officer appointed substantively to an office of which the pay is progressive will begin with the minimum pay.

from an officer in charge of some Public Treasury, or by a cheque drawn in favour of the Comptroller-General on a Bank in Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, or in favour of the Accountant-General, Bombay or Madras, on a Bank in Bombay or Madras respectively in respect of tenders received by him, or by Government promissory notes, standing in the name of or endorsed to the tenderer or the person making the deposit, for not less than one-hundredth, or, if the tender be for less than Five Lakhs of Rupees, then for not less than one-fiftieth part of the tender.

(b) Deposits, not being promissory notes, will, in the case of accepted tenders, be credited proportionally in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender, and will bear interest for the purpose of clause 14 below from the date of the opening of tenders. When a tender is not accepted in full, the deposits, not being promissory notes, will be credited as far as possible proportionately in even tens of rupees in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of it. If any allotment-certificate is not fully taken up, the deposit credited in respect of it will be forfeited.

(c) Promissory notes deposited in respect of any accepted tender will be held until all the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender are paid up, and will, if the allotment-certificates are not fully taken up, be appropriated by the Government and cancelled.

5. The rate at which a tender is made must not contain a fraction of an anna: if a rate containing a fraction of an anna is inserted in any tender, such fraction will be struck out and the tender treated as if the rate did not contain such fraction of an anna.

6. The rate at which each tender is made must be specified in rupees or rupees and annas: a tender in which no rate is thus specified, but a subscription is offered in some other terms, as, for example, at the recorded minimum, or at some specified percentage in addition to the recorded minimum, or at the average of the accepted tenders, will be rejected as null and void.

7. The minimum rate at which tenders will be accepted will be recorded under the signature of the Comptroller-General, and, before the tenders are opened, placed upon the table in a sealed envelope, but will not be declared unless some tender is rejected only because it is below the recorded minimum.

8. Tenders will be opened publicly by the Comptroller-General at the Treasury Buildings, Calcutta, at noon (Calcutta time), on Tuesday, the 3rd July next, and those received under the terms of the footnote under clause 4 will be similarly opened by the Accountant-General, Madras, at 11-30 (Madras time), and by the Accountant-General, Bombay, at 11 o'clock (Bombay time), on the same day; but the contents of the tenders will not be disclosed otherwise than as provided in clause 10.

9. Tenders at the recorded minimum rate, and at rates above the recorded minimum rate, will be accepted in the order of the rates tendered, beginning with the highest rate; the amount allotted at the lowest rate at which tenders are accepted will be divided amongst those who have tendered at this rate in proportion, as nearly as may be found convenient, to the amounts of their tenders: provided that no allotment will be issued if the amount distributable on any tender is less than Rs. 350.

10. To each tenderer (or to his agent) whose tender is accepted in whole or in part, such number of allotment-certificates as may be necessary to make up the aggregate amount allotted to him will be issued by the Comptroller-General[1] as soon as possible after the 3rd July; and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such allotment-certificates are issued will be posted, for general information, at the Head Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay.

11. If the allotment made on any tender is less than Rs. 3,000, then the whole of the allotment-certificates (after credit of the deposit under clause 4 (b)) will be made payable upon the 14th August.

Otherwise the whole amount of each allotment will be divided into three instalments, as follows:

Instalment I—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 17th July:

[1] It is particularly requested that such Promissory Notes may NOT be endorsed to the Comptroller-General.

* For tenders received by the Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, and payable at those places, the Accountant-General will issue the allotment-certificates.

Instalment II—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 14th August:

Instalment III—The balance payable upon the 11th September:

and allotment-certificates will be issued for each instalment separately.

But the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the allotment-certificates.

The words "as near as convenient" refer to the necessity for making each instalment an exact multiple of Rs. 500.

12. Any allotment-certificate will, on application to the Comptroller-General, be exchanged for an equivalent amount of allotment-certificates of smaller denominations, provided that if any payment (beyond the deposit) is recorded upon the cancelled certificate, it can be taken against, and recorded upon, only one of the certificates issued in exchange.

13. Payment of any allotment-certificate may be made to the account of the Government in the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or in any Branch of these Banks, or into any Public Treasury or Treasuries in India which may be named in the tender in respect of which it was issued. Receipts for such payments will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, or their Branches, or by the Officers in charge of the Government Treasuries at which payment is made, by enfacement upon the relative certificate.

14. (a) When any allotment-certificate is fully paid up, the holder will, on presenting it duly receipted at the place where it was paid, obtain from the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, promissory notes of such values as he may desire (each note being in even hundreds and not less than Rs. 500), bearing interest from 1st November, 1888, and he will also receive interest at 4 per cent. per annum from the dates on which he may have made payment till the last day of October, 1888.

(b) Or he may, at his option, by paying interest at the said rate from 1st May, 1888, to the dates on which he may have made payment, obtain promissory notes as above, bearing interest from 1st May, 1888.

Tenders will be opened publicly by the Comptroller-General at the Treasury Buildings, Calcutta, at noon (Calcutta time), on Tuesday, the 3rd July next, and those received under the terms of the footnote under clause 4 will be similarly opened by the Accountant-General, Madras, at 11-30 (Madras time), and by the Accountant-General, Bombay, at 11 o'clock (Bombay time), on the same day; but the contents of the tenders will not be disclosed otherwise than as provided in clause 10.

9. Tenders at the recorded minimum rate, and at rates above the recorded minimum rate, will be accepted in the order of the rates tendered, beginning with the highest rate; the amount allotted at the lowest rate at which tenders are accepted will be divided amongst those who have tendered at this rate in proportion, as nearly as may be found convenient, to the amounts of their tenders: provided that no allotment will be issued if the amount distributable on any tender is less than ₹350.

10. To each tenderer (or to his agent) whose tender is accepted in whole or in part, such number of allotment-certificates as may be necessary to make up the aggregate amount allotted to him will be issued by the Comptroller-General[2] as soon as possible after the 3rd July; and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such allotment-certificates are issued will be posted, for general information, at the Head Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay.

11. If the allotment made on any tender is less than ₹3,000, then the whole of the allotment-certificates (after credit of the deposit under clause 4 (b)) will be made payable upon the 14th August.

Otherwise the whole amount of each allotment will be divided into three instalments, as follows:

Instalment I—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 17th July:

[1] It is particularly requested that such Promissory Notes may NOT be endorsed to the Comptroller-General.

[2] For tenders received by the Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, and payable at those places, the Accountant-General will issue the allotment-certificates.

Instalment II—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 14th August:

Instalment III—The balance payable upon the 11th September:

and allotment-certificates will be issued for each instalment separately.

But the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the allotment-certificates.

The words "as near as convenient" refer to the necessity for making each instalment an exact multiple of ₹500.

12. Any allotment-certificate will, on application to the Comptroller-General, be exchanged for an equivalent amount of allotment-certificates of smaller denominations, provided that if any payment (beyond the deposit) is recorded upon the cancelled certificate, it can be taken against, and recorded upon, only one of the certificates issued in exchange.

13. Payment of any allotment-certificate may be made to the account of the Government in the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or in any Branch of these Banks, or into any Public Treasury or Treasuries in India which may be named in the tender in respect of which it was issued. Receipts for such payments will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, or their Branches, or by the Officers in charge of the Government Treasuries at which payment is made, by enfacement upon the relative certificate.

14. (a) When any allotment-certificate is fully paid up, the holder will, on presenting it duly receipted at the place where it was paid, obtain from the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, promissory notes of such values as he may desire (each note being in even hundreds and not less than ₹500), bearing interest from 1st November, 1888, and he will also receive interest at 4 per cent. per annum from the dates on which he may have made payment till the last day of October, 1888.

(b) Or he may, at his option, by paying interest at the said rate from 1st May, 1888, to the dates on which he may have made payment, obtain promissory notes as above, bearing interest from 1st May, 1888.

An Act to provide, during twelve months, for the Discipline and Regulation of the Army.

[27th April 1888.]

WHEREAS the raising or keeping of a standing army within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in time of peace, unless it be with the consent of Parliament, is against law:

And whereas it is adjudged necessary by Her Majesty and this present Parliament, that a body of forces should be continued for the safety of the United Kingdom and the defence of the possessions of Her Majesty's Crown, and that the whole number of such forces should consist of one hundred and forty-nine thousand six hundred and sixty-seven men, including those to be employed at the depôts in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the training of recruits for service at home and abroad, but exclusive of the numbers actually serving within Her Majesty's Indian possessions:

And whereas it is also judged necessary for the safety of the United Kingdom, and the defence of the possessions of this realm, that a body of Royal Marine forces should be employed in Her Majesty's fleet and naval service, under the direction of the Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom, or the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral aforesaid:

And whereas the said marine forces may frequently be quartered or be on shore, or sent to do duty or be on board transport ships or vessels, merchant ships or vessels, or other ships or vessels, or they may be under other circumstances in which they will not be subject to the laws relating to the government of Her Majesty's forces by sea:

And whereas no man can be forejudged of life or limb, or subjected in time of peace to any kind of punishment within this realm by martial law, or in any other manner than by the judgment of his peers and according to the known and established laws of this realm; yet nevertheless it being requisite, for the retaining all the before-mentioned forces, and other persons subject to military law, in their duty, that an exact discipline be observed, and that persons belonging to the said forces who mutiny or stir up sedition, or desert Her Majesty's service, or are guilty of crimes and offences to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, be brought to a more exemplary and speedy punishment than the usual forms of the law will allow:

44 & 45 Vict. c. 58. And whereas the Army Act, 1881, will expire in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-eight on the following days:—

(a) In the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, on the thirtieth day of April; and

(b) Elsewhere in Europe, inclusive of Malta, also in the West Indies and America, on the thirty-first day of July; and

(c) Elsewhere, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions, on the thirty-first day of December:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

1. This Act may be cited as the Army (Annual) Act, 1888.

and the day from which the Army Act, 1881, is continued in any place by this Act is in relation to that place referred to in this Act as the commencement of this Act.

(2) The Army Act, 1881, while in force shall apply to persons subject to military law, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions.

(3) A person subject to military law shall not be exempted from the provisions of the Army Act, 1881, by reason only that the number of the forces for the time being in the service of Her Majesty, exclusive of the marine forces, is either greater or less than the number herein-before mentioned.

"A military prisoner while in a public prison shall be confined, kept to hard labour, and otherwise dealt with in the like manner as an ordinary prisoner under a like sentence of imprisonment;"

And whereas doubts have arisen as to whether such a prisoner may be detained in and removed to or from a hospital for the prison when the hospital is detached from the prison, and it is expedient to remove such doubts: Be it therefore enacted as follows:—

There shall be added to section sixty-three of the Army Act, 1881, at the end of the third sub-section, the following enactment:—

In sub-section two of section ninety-two of the Army Act, 1881, the words "such particulars as may be from time to time required by regulations of a Secretary of State under this Act" shall be substituted for the words "his service, conduct, and character, and the cause of his discharge."

6. Sections one hundred and forty-eight, one hundred and forty-nine, and one hundred and fifty of the Army Act, 1881, which relate to Military Courts of Request in India, are hereby repealed, without prejudice to anything done or suffered in pursuance thereof before such repeal takes effect, and any judgment or order made in pursuance of those sections may be carried into execution as if such repeal had not been enacted.

44 & 45 Vict. c. 58. In sub-section one of section one hundred and fifty-one of the Army Act, 1881, the words "where the persons so subject are resident within the local jurisdiction" shall be substituted for the words "within the jurisdiction".

But the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the allotment-certificates.

The words "as near as convenient" refer to the necessity for making each instalment an exact multiple of Rs. 500.

12. Any allotment-certificate will, on application to the Comptroller-General, be exchanged for an equivalent amount of allotment-certificates of smaller denominations, provided that if any payment (beyond the deposit) is recorded upon the cancelled certificate, it can be taken against, and recorded upon, only one of the certificates issued in exchange.

RESOLUTION.—In a letter to the Finance Committee the Bombay Chamber of Commerce suggested that substantial economy might be effected by closing the Calcutta Mint and confining coinage to the Bombay Mint. The Committee, not being able to complete inquiry into the proposal, submitted the results of their inquiry, so far as it had gone, recommending the subject to the further consideration of the Government of India. The views of the banking and mercantile community of Calcutta, who were chiefly affected by the proposal, were accordingly invited regarding the necessity for maintaining at Calcutta, as well as at Bombay, the existing facilities for the coinage of imported silver.

2. The Governor-General in Council, after fully considering the views of the commercial public of Bombay and Calcutta, and the bearing of the proposal upon the maintenance of the coinage both for Treasury purposes and in connexion with the Currency reserve, has come to the conclusion that the saving arising from the proposal is not such as to warrant the Government incurring the risks from which it is at present secured by the presence of a second Mint at Calcutta. The proposal, therefore, will be dropped.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

Ordered also, that it be communicated to the Comptroller and Auditor General and the Mint Masters, Calcutta and Bombay, for information.

Any candidate obtaining less than one-fourth marks in either subject (1) or subject (2) shall be disqualified. Candidates will not be eligible for the Lower Division of the Financial Department (if with reference to Rule 18 below the Department adopts these Rules), or for the Office of the Accountant General, Public Works Department, unless they obtain at least one-third of the full number of marks in Arithmetic.

5. Every candidate for an appointment in the Upper or Lower Division must send a written application for permission to appear at the examination to the Secretary to the Board of Examiners between the 1st and 15th days of December (inclusive).

[FORM.]

To the Secretary to the Board of Examiners,

Fort William.

SIR,

I request permission to present myself at the ensuing examination of candidates for appointments in the $\frac{\text{Upper}}{\text{Lower}}$ Division of Government Clerkships. If successful, I should elect to serve in the office of the . A treasury receipt for the fee of Rs. $\frac{20}{10}$ is forwarded herewith.

I am, &c.

6. The application under the last rule should be in the form given on the margin, and be accompanied by a treasury receipt for the sum of either Rs. 10 or Rs. 20, according to the division (Lower or Upper) in which the candidate may wish to appear. This sum he is required to pay into the treasury nearest his place of residence by way of examination fee. With the application must also be forwarded—

(1) Evidence (except in the cases provided for by Rules 8 and 9) that the candidate at the date of making his application is not less than 18 and not more than 24 years of age. The date of the candidate's birth must be stated.

(2) In case the candidate has been educated at a school in which students' good-conduct registers are kept, the candidate's register for the last year of his attendance at school when a year has not elapsed since he left school. In other cases, a certificate that the candidate is of good moral character from the head of the institution in which he has last been educated, or from some respectable householder to whom he is well known in private life, and who is himself known to a District or Subdivisional Magistrate or to the head of some Government office,—this last fact being certified by the countersignature of the officer in question.

7. The number of candidates to be selected by the Examiners for each Division will be notified in the Gazette of India by the Home Department on or before the 31st October. This number will be determined in communication with the heads of the offices concerned, with reference to the number of vacancies existing or estimated as likely to occur within the year (subject to the provisions of Rules 12, 13, and 14), plus a margin of 10 per cent. for casualties. One-half the number of vacancies offered will be reserved for candidates domiciled in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Punjab, and the Central Provinces, Rajputana, Central India, and Baluchistan, provided that a sufficient number of duly qualified candidates to fill these appointments appear from those territories.

8. Persons who have at any time held a permanent appointment in any of the offices affected by the Resolution, but who may have lost such appointment owing to its abolition or on reduction of establishment, may present themselves for examination under these Rules, provided they are under 40 years of age.

9. Clerks who were serving in the Lower Division of an office before the date of these Rules, and who are under 40 years of age, may, with the permission of the head of the office, present themselves at the examination for appointments in the Upper Division. No clerk who enters the Lower Division after the date of these Rules will be permitted to appear at the examination for the Upper Division unless he is under 24 years of age.

10. As soon as practicable after the open competitive examinations, the Board of Examiners will report the result to the Home Department. The report will take the form of a list giving the names of selected candidates and the exact dates of their births; the distinguishing numbers of unsuccessful candidates; and the number of marks obtained by each candidate, whether successful or unsuccessful, in each subject of examination. The Home Department will then circulate a list of selected candidates to the heads of the offices concerned. Candidates will be given their choice of Departments as far as possible; and the Home Department will intimate such choice, if made, to the head of each office. The head of each Department will, however, be at liberty to offer a vacant appointment which may occur in his Department to any selected candidate remaining on the list. This offer should be made through the Home Department, which will keep each Department of the Government of India informed as the names of selected candidates are removed from the list. No candidate selected in a later year shall be offered an appointment until the offer has been made to and refused by selected candidates of an earlier year remaining on the list.

11. When an outside candidate for either Division attains the age of 25 years, or when two years have expired from the date of the entry of his name on the list, or when any candidate has refused the offer of an appointment in the Department in which he has elected to serve, or has twice refused the offer of an appointment in any other Department or Departments, his name shall immediately be removed from the list.

12. Every alternate vacancy in the Upper Division excluding vacancies in the offices of Registrar, Superintendent, Head Assistant, Personal Assistant, or appointment involving the control or supervision over divisions of an office, and every third vacancy in the Lower Division, may be filled by the head of a Department without reference to the preceding Rules.

13. Appointments made under the last preceding rule shall, if the person appointed is not in Government service, be made subject to the conditions that the person appointed—

(a) Is at the time of appointment not less than 18 and not more than 25 years of age;

(b) Can give satisfactory evidence that he possesses a minimum educational qualification equivalent to the Entrance standard of one of the Indian Universities if appointed to the Lower, and to the F. A. standard of one of the Indian Universities if appointed to the Upper Division.

(c) Must produce satisfactory evidence that he is of good moral character.

14. Any officer already in Government employment may be appointed to any vacancy such as is referred to in Rule 12 without regard to the qualifications specified in the preceding rule.

15. The heads of offices to which these Rules apply are at liberty to arrange transfers from the Upper Division of one office to that of another, or from the Lower Division of one office to that of another. The transfer of an officer from a post in an office to which the Rules apply to a vacancy in another office to which these Rules also apply shall, for the purposes of Rule 12, be held to be the filling up of a vacancy.

16. Before a person who is not already in Government service is actually employed in any office, he must produce a certificate from a Government Medical Officer of or above the rank of Surgeon to the effect that he is in good health and of a sound constitution.

17. Every candidate, whether selected by examination or nominated, who receives an appointment, will be on probation for twelve months; and if at any time during that period, or at its close, his work is not considered satisfactory by the head of the office in which he is employed, he will receive his discharge, and will have no claim to gratuity or compensation on that account. This rule will not apply to clerks selected for the Upper Division who were previously permanent clerks in the Lower Division of the office in question, nor to clerks selected from other Government offices; but such clerks may, if found unfit for the higher grade, be relegated to their former appointments, or, so far as may be, to appointments of corresponding emoluments. To provide for such cases, arrangements should be made by which promotions in the place of the transferred clerks should be sub. pro tem. until the latter have passed their period of probation.

18. The above Rules will apply to the Secretariat Offices of the Government of India, except the Foreign Department and the Department of Finance and Commerce whenever the latter fills vacancies by recruitment of officers already holding clerical appointments in any of the Account Offices subordinate to it. When the Department of Finance and Commerce does not recruit in this manner, the Rules will apply. They will also apply to the Offices of—

The Sanitary Commissioner with the Government of India.
The Surgeon-General with the Government of India.
The Director-General of the Post Office of India.
The Northern India Salt Revenue Department.
The Inspector-General of Forests.
The Director-General of Telegraphs.

The Inspector-General of Ordnance.
The Surgeon-General, Her Majesty's Forces.
The Office Establishments of the several Arsenals, Depôts, and Factories in Bengal, and to such other Imperial or Provincial offices as may hereafter be notified as having adopted them.

19. On the occurrence of any vacancy hereafter in any office which has to be filled by open competition under these Rules, and when no candidate qualified under the Rules is available to fill such vacancy, appointments may be made under Rules 12 to 14.

20. These Rules shall take effect from the date of their issue.

21. Copies of these Rules may be obtained on application at the Office of the Home Department, Calcutta.

The improvement in Imperial Revenue occurred chiefly in the receipts of the Guaranteed Railways owing to an unexpected development of traffic, especially on the Great Indian Peninsula line. The excess in expenditure was due chiefly to the extended military operations in Upper Burma, and occurred under the heads "Police," "Marine," and "Army." The charges for Special Defence Works also contribute to the excess, as they were shown in the Budget outside the Revenue Account, but it was afterwards decided to charge them against the revenues of the year. On the other hand, the Famine Insurance grant was largely reduced.

In the Provincial and Local portion of the accounts there was an improvement in the revenues of Rx. 860,900 chiefly under Land Revenue and Excise, and a saving in the expenditure of Rx. 150,200 chiefly under Buildings and Roads, resulting in a total improvement of Rx. 860,900 + Rx. 150,200, or Rx. 1,011,100, in the balances at credit of the Provincial Governments. This explains the third item.

The fourth item is the outcome of comparatively small differences under the various Revenue and Expenditure heads.

The explanation of the fifth item is as follows. The Budget Estimate was framed on the basis of an exchange of 18*d.*, or £1 = Rs. 13⅓. The rate actually realised, at which the English revenue and expenditure was brought to account, was 17·44*d.*, or £ 1 = Rs. 13·76.

The following are the leading features of the comparison of the Estimates and Accounts:

PRINCIPAL HEADS OF REVENUE.

Land Revenue.—The figures for 1886-87 include for the first time the receipts in Upper Burma. The Budget and Revised provided Rx. 515,000 and Rx. 210,400 respectively on this account; but owing to the disturbed state of the country only Rx. 167,200 were realised. The other causes which have contributed to the large excess in 1886-87 are the increased collections in Lower Burma on the pacification of the country after the disturbances of 1885-86, new and revised settlements in some parts of India, and the unusually heavy collections of March, which amounted to Rx. 5,065,500 against Rx. 4,419,800 and Rx. 4,734,100 in the two previous years. The figures of Land Revenue show considerable irregularity when they are made up by the financial year, as a great variation occurs from year to year in the distribution of the collections between March and April. But taking the year as from 1st October to 30th September, which divides it according to seasons, the figures admit of a regular comparison, and show a steady advance of revenue. The collections of the last few years, including the portion of Land Revenue shown under Irrigation, would then compare as follows:

		Rx.
1885-86	Accounts	22,592,400
1886-87	Budget	22,760,300
	Revised	22,610,500
	Accounts	23,055,700

Portion of Land Revenue due to Irrigation.

		Rx.
1885-86	Accounts	562,600
1886-87	Budget	555,700
	Revised	558,300

	Rx.
1884	22,647,900
1885	22,685,000
1886	23,021,000
1887	23,492,400

Opium.—There was a severe fall in the price of Bengal opium, the average price obtained during the year being Rs. 1,123 against Rs. 1,200 taken in the Budget, and Rs. 1,235 and Rs. 1,296 obtained in the two previous years. The number of chests sold was 54,750 against 55,500 estimated, and 50,994 and 46,698 sold in the two previous years. The deficiency in the receipts from Bengal opium was, however, supplemented to a large extent by increased receipts from the duty on Malwa opium exported from Bombay, 39,745½ chests having been brought forward against 36,134 in the Budget, and 37,677 and 39,039 in the two previous years. This increase was brought about by a desire to anticipate the likin tax which the Chefoo Convention makes leviable with the import duty, and also by the reported failure of the China crop. The revenue from excise opium was not quite up to the estimate, but exceeded that of the previous year, being Rx. 212,600 against Rx. 220,800 estimated and Rx. 197,500 in the previous year.

The season was again a very favourable one for production of Bengal opium, and the total number of chests produced was nearly the same as in that of the two previous years, being 64,500 against 64,925 and 65,993 in the two previous years. The balance in stock on the 1st April 1887 stood at 79,455.

Salt.—The Salt revenue of 1885-86 was unusually low owing to the floods which caused suspension of production at Sambhar and to the very heavy collections in February and March of the previous year. In 1886-87 the revenue was considerably increased by the recommencement of manufacture at Sambhar and by an improved demand for rock salt on the Punjab mines consequent on the opening of the broad-gauge line of railway from Malikwal to Khewra and the reduction of railway freight, coupled with a general activity in the salt trade in Bengal and Burma.

Forest Revenue.—The large difference between the Budget and actuals is due to Rx. 10,800 only having been realised in Upper Burma out of an estimate of Rx. 90,000. Leaving out of account the year 1884-85, in which there was an abnormal decline in the demand for teak from Burma, the revenue under this head has gradually improved, the total receipts during the last few years having been as follows:

Land Revenue.—The excess over the previous year is due almost entirely to the charges of Upper Burma, which amounted to Rx. 41,700 against Rx. 92,000 in the Budget, the full amount not being required owing to the failure of the revenue. Part of the charge is a percentage on receipts. There was also a saving of Rx. 79,500 on the estimate of Survey and Settlement charges.

Salt.—The increase over the previous year is due to arrear charges on account of purchase and freight, a special payment in Madras of Rx. 10,100 to certain licensees as compensation for the suppression of salt manufacture, and the recommencement of salt works at Sambhar. The Budget included the total charges of the combined Salt and Excise establishment in Madras ; but Rx. 24,000 of it have in the accounts been charged to Excise.

On the other hand, as stated above, the whole of the charges for the combined Salt and Excise establishment in Madras was provided for under Salt. The excess in 1885-86 is due to a much larger proportion of the combined establishment having been charged under this head.

INTEREST.

Receipts.—The decrease in the receipts compared with 1885-86 occurs in the Interest on overdrawn Capital of Guaranteed Railways and in that on loans to Native States, owing mainly to the extinction of the Mysore Famine debt, the balance of which was adjusted against put of the £1,200,000 raised by the Southern Mahratta Company for the purchase and completion of the Mysore Railway. The increase over the Budget is due to interest on the temporary investment of the surplus cash balances in England.

CIVIL DEPARTMENTS.

Receipts.—The excesses over the Estimate and the actuals of 1885-86 are the outcome of comparatively small variations under all the heads included in this group. The increase over the Budget occurs chiefly under "Marine" (Rx. 15,200), and is due to the transfer of certain receipts in Bengal from Port Funds, to the sale proceeds of two steamers and some surplus stores, and to more work having been done in the Dockyards for other Departments. The excess over the receipts of previous year occurs chiefly under "Law and Justice" on account of Upper Burma, under "Education" on account of the sale proceeds and interest of certain Government promissory notes belonging to the Muir College Fund, and under "Medical" on account of recoveries from the Bombay Port Trust of the charges for the Health Officer of the port.

Administration.—In 1885-86 the complications on the North-Western Frontier, the Rawalpindi Durbar, and the Burma war led to a large amount of special expenditure under this head; but the relief afforded by the cessation of this special outlay was lost in consequence of the heavy charges in Upper Burma. The saving on the estimate is due to the Patwari charges of the Central Provinces, Rx. 34,844, provided under this head, having in the accounts been charged to Land Revenue, while the estimate of Upper Burma charges proved insufficient to the extent of Rx. 17,300.

Stationery and Printing.—The expenditure in 1885-86 was unusually low, and a large part of the excess in 1886-87 is due to arrear payments for that year.

Exchange.—The charge under this head is the net result of the various gains and losses arising to Government from the transactions with the Railway Companies, and certain other remittance transactions being carried out at fixed rates either under contract or as a concession. In 1885-86 there was a net gain of Rx. 264,400; but the accounts of 1886-87 show a net loss of Rx. 26,300. The difference is due mainly to a loss in the latter year of Rx. 396,600 on the repayment of the Stock receipt loan of 1854. The improvement over the estimate is due to a much larger amount having been withdrawn by the Southern Mahratta Railway Company in India than was provided for in the estimates.

RAILWAYS.

Net Earnings.—The actuals of 1886-87 show a large improvement both over the estimates of the year and the actuals of the previous year. The traffic on most of the lines, especially the Great Indian Peninsula, was very good, and the working expenses of many of the lines were considerably better than the estimates and the actuals of the previous year. There was however a large falling off in the traffic on the North-Western Railway, which was unusually high in the previous year owing to the military preparations on the North-Western Frontier.

Interest and Annuities.—The charges are increasing year by year with the extension of railways. But were it not for the fall in the rate of exchange, the increase would have been more than covered by the improved earnings.

IRRIGATION.

MAJOR WORKS.

Net Earnings, excluding Land Revenue.—The slight increase over the previous year is due to the extended area irrigated by the Sirhind Canal. The estimates were not realised, as heavy and timely rainfall reduced the demand for irrigation, and the cost of repairing damages on some of the canals was considerable.

Expenditure.—The decrease in 1886-87 compared with the previous year is due to the completion of the Red Hills Tank Restoration Works in Madras and to the figures of 1885-86, having included a special charge in Bengal, on account of the irrecoverable expenditure on the Midnapur Tuccavi advances. The estimates were framed too high, and a part was also transferred to the Civil Works grant.

BUILDINGS AND ROADS.

Receipts.—The figures of 1886-87 include a special receipt of Rx. 150,000 from the Maharaja Scindia on account of the restoration of the Gwalior Fort and the Morar Cantonment. There were also some special receipts in 1885-86, the most important being the sale proceeds of the old Secretariat Buildings at Bombay.

1886-87	Budget	680,100

	Accounts	727,600

Expenditure.—The expenditure in 1885-86 was very low owing to the general curtailment of Public Works expenditure on account of the financial pressure. The saving in 1886-87 on the Budget Estimate is due mainly to the Local Boards having as usual over-estimated their expenditure.

ARMY.

Receipts.—The receipts exceeded the estimate mainly under Commissariat Supplies and Services, Ordnance Stores, and Miscellaneous Services owing chiefly to the increased number of troops in Burma.

EXPENDITURE.

India.—The excess over the Budget and Revised arose almost entirely from the extended operations in Upper Burma, Rx. 300,000 and Rx. 1,160,000 only having been provided in the Budget and Revised Estimates on this account, whereas the actual expenditure amounted to Rx. 1,517,800.

CAPITAL EXPENDITURE.

Railways.—The excess over the estimate occurred in respect of the Frontier Railways, including the Sutlej Bridge at Ferozepur and the Sind-Sagar Railway, the construction of which was vigorously prosecuted with a view to early completion. It was also due to the Famine Insurance grant for Protective Railways having been reduced by Rx. 300,000, and the amount charged to this head. There was, however, on the other hand, a large saving in the estimate of English Stores.

The 13th July, 1888.

No. 3716.—The Governor-General in Council directs the publication of the following Order issued by Her Majesty the Queen in Council, respecting the measurement of the tonnage of vessels of the Kingdom of the Netherlands:

AT THE COURT AT WINDSOR,

The 3rd day of May, 1888.

PRESENT:

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by the Merchant Shipping Act Amendment Act, 1862, it is enacted that whenever it is made to appear to Her Majesty that the Rules concerning the measurement of tonnage of merchant ships for the time being in force under the principal Act have been adopted by the Government of any foreign country, and are in force in that country, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty by Order in Council to direct that the ships of such foreign country shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in their Certificates of Registry or other national papers, and thereupon it shall no longer be necessary for such ships to be re-measured in any port or place in Her Majesty's Dominions, but such ships shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in their Certificates of Registry or other papers in the same manner, to the same extent, and for the same purposes, in, to, and for which the tonnage denoted in the Certificates of Registry of British ships is to be deemed the tonnage of such ships:

And whereas by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1876, it is enacted that "where Her Majesty has power, under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, or any Act passed or hereafter to be passed amending the same, to make an Order in Council, it shall be lawful for Her Majesty from time to time to make such Order in Council, and by Order in Council to revoke, alter, or add to any Order so made":

And whereas it was made to appear to Her Majesty, that the Rules concerning the measurement of tonnage of merchant ships in force under the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, had been adopted by the Government of His Majesty the King of the Netherlands, with the exception of a difference in the mode in certain steamers of estimating the allowance for engine-room, and such Rules were in force in that country, and came into operation on the 1st day of January, 1876:

And whereas by Order in Council dated the 26th day of October, 1875, Her Majesty was pleased to direct as follows:

1. As regards sailing ships, that merchant sailing ships of the said Kingdom of the Netherlands, the measurement whereof should, after the said 1st day of January, 1876, have been ascertained and denoted in the registers and other national papers of such sailing ships, testified by the date thereof, should be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in such registers and other national papers in the same manner, and to the same extent, and for the same purpose, in, to, and for which the tonnage denoted in the Certificate of Registry of British sailing ships is deemed to be the tonnage of such ships.

2. As regards steam ships, that merchant ships belonging to the said Kingdom of the Netherlands which are propelled by steam or any other power requiring engine-room, the measurement whereof should, after the said 1st day of January, 1876, have been ascertained and denoted in the registers and other national papers of such steam ships, testified by the dates thereof, should be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted on such registers or other national papers in the same manner, and to the same extent, and for the same purpose in, to, and for which the tonnage denoted in the Certificate of Registry of British ships is deemed to be the tonnage of such ships. Provided nevertheless, that should the owner or master of any such Dutch steam ship desire the deduction for engine-room in his ship to be estimated under the rules for engine-room measurement and deduction applicable to British ships instead of under the Dutch rule, the engine-room should be measured and the deduction calculated according to the British rules.

And whereas it has been made to appear to Her Majesty that a new Royal Ordinance, which came into operation on the 6th day of January, 1888, stipulates that the owners of Dutch steam ships may have the net tonnage of their vessels calculated according to British as well as according to Dutch rules, and shall have issued to them a separate certificate to be used in Foreign countries showing the net tonnage calculated according to British rules:

And whereas it has been made to appear desirable to Her Majesty that the provisions of the said recited Order in Council of the 26th day of October, 1875, should be revoked, and a new Order in Council made and substituted in lieu thereof:

NOW, THEREFORE, Her Majesty, in virtue of the powers vested in Her by the said recited Acts, and by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, is pleased to direct that the said recited Order of the 26th day of October, 1875, shall be and the same is hereby revoked, and in lieu thereof, and in substitution therefor, Her Majesty is hereby pleased, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, to direct as follows:

1. As regards sailing ships, that merchant sailing ships of the said Kingdom of the Netherlands, the measurement whereof after the said 1st day of January, 1876, has been ascertained and denoted in the registers and other national papers of such sailing ships, testified by the date thereof, shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted in such registers and other national papers in the same manner, and to the same extent, and for the same purpose, in, to, and for which the tonnage denoted in the Certificate of Registry of British sailing ships is deemed to be the tonnage of such ships.

2. As regards steam ships, that merchant ships belonging to the said Kingdom of the Netherlands which are propelled by steam or any other power requiring engine-room, the measurement whereof shall, after the said 1st day of January, 1876, have been ascertained and denoted in the registers and other national papers of such steam ships, testified by the dates thereof, shall be deemed to be of the tonnage denoted on such registers or other national papers in the same manner, and to the same extent, and for the same purpose, in, to, and for which tonnage denoted in the Certificate of Registry of British ships is deemed to be the tonnage of such ships. Provided nevertheless, that if the owner or master of any such Dutch steam ship desires the deduction for engine-room in his ship to be estimated under the rules for engine-room measurement and deduction applicable to British ships instead of under the Dutch rule, the engine-room shall be measured and the deduction calculated according to the British rules, and that in the event of any such steam ship possessing a certificate of tonnage or other national paper issued as aforesaid on or after the 6th day of January, 1888, denoting the net registered tonnage of such ship under the British rules, the ship shall be deemed to be of the tonnage so denoted thereon.

3. Every such notice shall be signed by the person giving it, and shall specify the capacity in which the person claims to be authorized to give it.

4. Every such notice shall ordinarily be presented to the Registrar for the local area in which the birth or death occurred within three months of the date of the birth or death to which it refers, as the case may be:

Provided that the Registrar may, of his own authority, for any reason which he considers sufficient, accept notice of a birth or death at any time within six months from the date of its occurrence, and with the special sanction in writing of the Registrar-General after that time.

5. An appeal against an order of a Registrar refusing to register a birth or death on any other ground than that referred to in proviso (a) to section 19 of the Act shall lie to the Registrar-General, who may, in his discretion, either confirm the order of the Registrar, or direct him to register the birth or death.

6. Registers of births and deaths shall be kept in the forms set forth in Schedule C and Schedule D, respectively.

7. When a birth or death has occurred during a journey, or when the person giving notice of a birth or death was compelled by duty, or urgent necessity, or unavoidable accident, to leave the local area in which such birth or death occurred so soon after its occurrence that he was unable to give the prescribed notice to the Registrar for that local area,

8. The provisions of Rule 4, as to the time within which notice of a birth or death must be given, shall apply to every notice of a birth or death given under the circumstances described in the last foregoing rule.

9. In every case of a birth or death admitted to registration under Rule 7, the Registrar to whom the notice of the birth or death is given shall record in his register the reason why the notice was not given to the Registrar of the local area within which the birth or death occurred, and shall within one week from the date of the registration of the birth or death forward to the Registrar-General, and to the Registrar of the local area within which the birth or death occurred, a copy of the entry in the register relating to the birth or death.

16. A Registrar may, of his own motion, correct, in manner prescribed in section 28 of the Act, any error in form made in an entry of a birth or death in a register of births or register of deaths kept by him under the Act.

In every case in which an entry is corrected under this rule, intimation thereof shall (if practicable) be communicated, within one week from the date of the correction being made, to the person who gave the notice of the birth or death.

17. When an error in substance in any entry of a birth or death in a register of births or register of deaths is asserted to have been made, the Registrar may correct the error, in manner prescribed in section 28 of the Act, on application made in writing, and signed in the presence of two witnesses attesting the signature, by any person authorised under section 20 or 21, as the case may be, to give notice of the birth or death to which the entry relates:

Provided that the Registrar is satisfied that the application is well founded.

An appeal against an order of a Registrar under this rule refusing to correct an asserted error in an entry in a register shall lie to the Registrar-General, who may, in his discretion, either confirm the order of the Registrar, or direct him to correct the error.

18. Without the special sanction in writing of the Registrar-General, an application for the correction of an entry in a register of births or register of deaths shall not be entertained after the expiration of one year from the date on which the notice of the birth or death was given.

19. The sums specified in Schedule K shall be the fees payable under the sections of the Act there referred to :

Provided that soldiers and non-commissioned officers of Her Majesty's Regular Forces, and all seamen, shall be exempted from the payment of any fees.

20. Every Registrar-General and Registrar shall keep a register, in the form set forth in Schedule L, of all fees realised under these rules, and shall forward the fees at the end of each month to the nearest treasury to be credited to Government. OBSERVATIONS.—By the orders contained in the Resolution of November 1881, cited in the preamble, the Government of India introduced the present system of classifying telegrams, by which, instead of being despatched simply in order of presentation at the Telegraph offices, they receive preference for despatch according as they are paid for as "urgent," "ordinary," and "deferred." At the same time, it was directed that all State messages should be sent as "deferred," unless specially marked as "urgent" by the sender, and that no State message should be despatched as an "ordinary" message. In July 1887, however, from statistics showing the number of State messages classed as "deferred" and "urgent" during the five years ending 1886-87, it appeared that the percentage classed as "urgent" was very much greater in the case of State than of private messages. As this pointed to the withdrawal of the prohibition to send State messages as "ordinary," the opinions of the Local Governments and Administrations and of the Account Officers of Government were requested on the subject. They were asked to report whether they considered that the proposed change would lead to economy, and whether they could suggest any effective check on the abuse of the discretion now allowed to public officers of classifying State messages as "urgent."

2. The opinions called for have now been obtained and considered; and the attention of the Government of India has been particularly drawn to the fact that in many cases State messages are sent as "urgent" merely to save the delay of a day which is presumed to result from sending them "deferred." Nothing is gained by sending such messages "urgent" which would not be equally secured if they were permitted to be sent "ordinary"; it has been consequently determined that the order which forbids the use of "ordinary" State messages shall be repealed.

RESOLUTION.—In future, State messages may be classed as "urgent," "ordinary," or "deferred," at the discretion of the sender.

2. Without laying down any precise rules for the classification of telegrams, the following general principles are prescribed for the guidance of officers, who should also bear in mind the necessity for keeping the expenditure as low as possible:

(1) When it is not necessary that a reply (by post or wire) should be despatched within office hours of the same day, the message should be sent "deferred."

(2) When it is considered essential that a reply should be sent the same day, the message should be sent "ordinary."

(3) "Urgent" messages should be used only—

(a) in cases of real emergency;

(b) in cases where the despatching officer knows that the line is for any reason blocked, and considers his message sufficiently important to take precedence of ordinary traffic.

(4) Telegrams should, except when extreme precision is important, be expressed in as few words as are consistent with clearly conveying the intended meaning; and mere auxiliary or connective words, which can obviously be filled in by the receiver, should be omitted.

3. As regards the check over expenditure, the Government of India, after consideration of the various opinions which have been expressed, does not consider it necessary to prescribe any further check than that of the ordinary controlling authority, who may at any time call upon a subordinate to justify any apparently large expenditure upon telegrams. The Government of India, however, invites the attention of Local Governments to the desirability of including telegraph charges within the contract system of contingencies as the best means of preventing extravagance and abuse of the discretion regarding classification conferred by these orders.

4. The orders contained in this Resolution will take effect from the 1st August 1888.

ORDER.—Ordered, that copies of this Resolution be communicated to the Departments of the Government of India and to the Local Governments and Administrations noted in the margin for information and guidance.

Also that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India, and that copies be communicated to the Chambers of Commerce in Bengal, Madras, Bombay, Rangoon, and Karachi.

The following Rules are to be substituted for Rules 6, 13, 15, and 33 IV:

Rule 6.—Telegrams can be addressed to places where there are no Telegraph offices.

I.—In such cases, the sender must state from what Telegraph office delivery is to be effected: thus—"To Shergotty, Post Burhee." The words "Post Burhee" form part of the address and are transmitted free of charge.

II.—No charge is made for postage on a telegram addressed to a place in India where there is no Telegraph office, or to a place out of India to which Indian Inland postal rates apply; but on a telegram to be posted to a place beyond the limits of the Indian Inland Postal Tariff, eight annas must be paid as an additional charge to cover postage and registration.

Rule 13.—When numbers are expressed in figures, all the characters, figures, letters, or signs in each group are added together, the total divided by three, and the quotient, plus one for the remainder, if there be any, gives the number of words the group represents.

I.—Signs used to separate groups and letters added to figures to form ordinal numbers are counted each as a figure or letter. Groups of letters not forming words (letter cipher) cannot be transmitted in Private telegrams.

Rule 15.—Telegrams from British Government officials on the business of the British Government must be marked "State" by the sender, and as a rule paid for in cash or stamps prior to despatch. The charges are the same for State as for Private telegrams.

I.—The rule regarding prepayment will be relaxed in case of great emergency. Whenever an "Urgent" or "Ordinary" State telegram is tendered for transmission under this permission, the sender must take the necessary steps to ascertain the charges on it and pay them into the Telegraph office within 24 hours. The rule cannot be relaxed in the case of "Deferred" State telegrams.

II.—State telegrams have no priority over Private telegrams, and take their turn with the latter, according to class, in the order in which tendered.

Rule 33 IV.—It must be written in plain English language so as to be intelligible to the transmitting offices, and must contain nothing of concealed meaning either in code or cipher.

No. 4405.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

Read again—

Resolution in this Department, No. 1322, dated the 9th March 1888, appointing the Master of the Mint and the Assay Master, Calcutta, to form a Committee to consider and report on the subject of standard weights and balances of precision.

Read also—

(1) Report, dated the 8th May 1888, from the Committee.

(2) Letter to the Master of the Mint and the Assay Master, Bombay, No. 2923, dated the 7th June 1888, asking for their views on the recommendations of the Committee.

(3) Letters from the Master of the Mint and the Assay Master, Bombay, Nos. 511 and 82, dated the 15th June and 3rd July 1888, respectively, stating their views on those recommendations.

RESOLUTION.—The recommendations of the Committee may be divided into three classes:

I.—Arrangements to be made now by the several Mint and Assay Masters among themselves.

II.—Arrangements requiring reference to England.

III.—Working regulations for the future.

2. The recommendations under class I are as follow:

(i) That of the present working standard weights, the best set should be made over to the Assay Office, and the second best set to the Mint, to be called respectively the "Assay Office" and "Mint" working standards. The distribution to be made thus:

CALCUTTA.

A.—Assay Office working standards:

Tola.—The gilt set ranging from 1,000 tolas to ·001 tola, of which the final adjustment was reported in the letter from the Mint Master, Calcutta, No. 1132, dated the 14th September 1887.

Troy.—The gilt set consisting of 31 pieces from 500 oz. to ·001 oz. received from England, with a certificate of their errors by the Warden of the Standards, in May 1879, now in the possession of the Mint Master, Calcutta.

Avoirdupois.—The set now in the Assay Office.

B.—Mint working standards:

Tola.—The set now in the Assay Office.

Avoirdupois.—The best of this sort now in the Calcutta Mint.

BOMBAY.

A.—Assay Office working standards:

Tola.—A gilt set from 1,600 tolas downwards now in the custody of the Mint Master, Bombay.

Troy and Avoirdupois.—The sets now in the Assay Office.

B.—Mint working standards:

Tola.—The ungilt set in the custody of the Mint Master, Bombay, which should be gilt before being verified.

Avoirdupois.—One of the sets received in 1876, omitting the 100lb. weight.

The other weights, not specified above, to be left where they now are.

(ii) that it is not necessary to obtain any balances of precision from England for the regulation and testing of standards. In Calcutta the Chancellor balance, now in the possession of the Mint Master, should be transferred to the Assay Master, the Mint Master's verifications being undertaken with the balances which will remain with him. In Bombay a smaller balance weighing from 150 tolas downwards, now with the Mint Master, should be made over to the Assay Master, and the Chancellor balance, with the Mint Master, should be used when required by the Assay Master:

(iii) that balances of precision for final verification of a very accurate nature must be got from England; but that there is no occasion for this at present, as all the verifications required can be undertaken with the balances referred to above.

3. Under class II the recommendations are—

(i) that two sets of standards, bronze gilt, should be obtained from England, one for each Mint, each set consisting of tola weights from 1,000 to ·001 tolas; and

(ii) that it is not necessary to send any weights to England for verification, as this can be done in India.

4. The recommendations under class III are—

(i) that the standard weights to be obtained from England should be referred to as "Reference Standards," and should be kept in the special charge of the Assay Masters, to be used in the first instance for verifying the working standards, and thereafter not to be used ordinarily more than once in five years, a record being kept of every occasion on which they are used. Boxes containing them should bear labels of an enduring nature, such as brass plates, engraved "Reference Standards $\frac{\text{Calcutta}}{\text{Bombay}}$ . . . . . pieces from tolas 1,000 to . . . . . ". A copy of the record of errors, as determined by the Standards Department in England, should be conspicuously pasted inside the lid of each box. On every occasion when an Assay Master makes over charge of his office, both the relieving and the relieved officer should inspect the condition of these "Reference Standards," and keep a record:

(ii) that the Assay Office working standards should be used for verifying periodically the Mint working standards, and for other ordinary verifications the Assay Master may have occasion to make, up to a limit of half a cwt.;

that the Mint working standards should be used for checking the Mint departmental weights monthly if possible, and for checking ordinary weights for other that the Assay Office working standards should be in the custody of the Assay Master, and the Mint working standards in that of the Mint Master. Each set of working standards should be kept in a box, bearing a suitable label, and shewing the designation of the set and its range. A record of errors, as determined at the last verification, should be pasted to the lid of the box in each case; and the record should shew the date of the last verification, the name of the official who made it, and the balance and weights used for the verification :

(iii) that the verification of the Mint working standards should be made once a year instead of half-yearly, as prescribed in the Resolution in this Department of 2nd November 1887, No. 5864; and that even two years may be fixed as a limit, provided that the Mint Master may require a verification oftener than once a year, if he thinks it necessary :

(iv) that no weight in the working standards should exceed 1,600 tolas (half a maund of 3,200 tolas), 60 lbs. troy, or 56 lbs. avoirdupois (half a cwt.) :

(v) that the term "standard balance" should not be used; and that the balances used for comparing standard weights should be numbered in each Assay Office for the convenience of designation, and should have engraved plates affixed, shewing the limits within which they can be used :

(vi) that the term "secondary standards" should not be applied to any set of weights now in India.

5. The Master of the Mint and the Assay Master, Bombay, concur in all these recommendations, but observe in regard to (ii) of class II that the old gilt troy and avoirdupois weights at present in the Bombay Assay Office had better be sent to England for verification. The Governor General in Council accordingly directs that the recommendations of the Committee be carried into effect, with the exception of II (ii), which may be modified as suggested by the Mint and Assay Masters, Bombay.

6. His Excellency in Council desires that the thanks of Government be conveyed to Lieutenant-Colonel R. V. Riddell, R.E., Master of the Mint, Calcutta, and Surgeon-Major J. Scully, Assay Master, Calcutta, for the care and trouble bestowed by them on their enquiry into this matter.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be communicated to the Mint and the Assay Masters, Calcutta and Bombay, for information and guidance.

Ordered also, that the Resolution of the 9th March 1888 and the Committee's Report, together with this Resolution, be published in the Gazette of India.

No. 1322, dated 9th March, 1888.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

Read the following letters :

To the Mint Master, Calcutta, No. 6359, dated 1st December 1887.
From the Mint Master, Calcutta, No. 1420, dated 6th December 1887.
To the Assay Master, Calcutta, No. 6360, dated 1st December 1887.
From the Assay Master, Calcutta, No. 80, dated 5th December 1887.
To the Mint Master, Bombay, No. 6741, dated 21st December 1887.
From the Mint Master, Bombay, No. 1804, dated 10th January 1888.
To the Assay Master, Bombay, No. 6742, dated 21st December 1887.
From the Assay Master, Bombay, No. 182, dated 12th January 1888.

RESOLUTION.—On a review of the correspondence cited above, the Governor-General in Council considers that it is advisable to appoint a Committee to consider and report upon the questions which arise out of it connected with the various standard weights and balances of precision belonging to Government, and in the custody and use of the several Mint and Assay Masters.

2. The Committee will consist of the Master of the Mint, Calcutta, and the Assay Master, Calcutta. The following are the points upon which the Government of India desires to be furnished with a full report :

(a) Whether any of the existing weights can be set apart as ultimate standards to be carefully kept under a system which will ensure their permanent value as standards of final reference.

(b) Whether it is necessary to obtain any standards from England either for preservation as ultimate standards of reference, or for the purpose of testing the existing standards before these can be set apart as standards of final reference.

(c) Whether it is necessary to obtain any standard balances of precision from England for the regulation and testing of standards.

(d) What system should be prescribed under which the final standards referred to may be set apart and identified.

(e) What should be the proper distribution of such of the existing standards as may not be required for use as ultimate standards, so that they may be used as secondary or working standards, and what system is required for their proper custody, verification, and identification.

(f) Any other matters connected with these points of reference on which the Committee may deem it expedient to lay their views or proposals before the Government.

3. The respective duties of Mint and Assay Masters have been defined in the Resolution of the Government of India No. 5737, dated the 28th October 1887, and the arrangements proposed by the Committee should have reference to the convenience of the officers concerned in respect of their relative duties.

4. It should be understood that what is aimed at is not theoretical and mathematical accuracy, but rather the utilisation and systematisation of the means and materials at the disposal of Government for such practical purposes as are likely to present themselves in India. It is probably not necessary that apparatus connected with final verifications should be complete both at Calcutta and at Bombay.

5. The Mint Master and Assay Master in Bombay will be requested to give to the Committee all the assistance and information in their power, and the papers cited above, and all others bearing on the subject, will be placed at its disposal.

ORDERED, that copy be forwarded to the Mint and Assay Masters, Calcutta, and to the Mint and Assay Masters, Bombay.

No. 526, dated 8th May, 1888.

From— {LIEUTENANT-COLONEL R. V. RIDDELL, R.E., Master of the Mint, Calcutta, {SURGEON-MAJOR J. SCULLY, Assay Master, Calcutta,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

In accordance with the instructions contained in Financial Resolution No. 1322, dated 9th March 1888, we have the honour to submit the following report on the several points upon which the Government of India desires information.

2. "(a) Whether any of the existing weights can be set apart as ultimate standards to be carefully kept under a system which will ensure their permanent value as standards of final reference?"

The only weights which, in our opinion, are good enough for this purpose are—

1st.—A platinum iridium, troy oz.

2nd.—A gilt set of five pieces from 1 tola to $\frac{1}{8}$th of a tola.

3rd.—A set of platinum iridium metric weights, consisting of 21 pieces, from 100 grammes down to ·001 gramme.

4th.—A set of platinum grain weights, consisting of 19 pieces, from 24 grains down to ·01 grain.

The last of these is in the custody of the Master of the Mint, Calcutta, and the others are in the custody of the Assay Master. They are, however, all small weights, far too small for standards of reference for weights ranging from 100 to 1,600 tolas. All the other weights referred to in the correspondence cited in the preamble to the Resolution are either defective in construction, being, as in the case of those last received at Bombay, merely brass weights which are subject to oxidation, or else, as in the case of the gilt troy weights received in Calcutta in 1879, they have been subjected during the course of at least nine years to more usage than warrants their being considered fit to be now set apart as standards of reference.

3. "(b) Whether it is necessary to obtain any standards from England either for preservation as ultimate standards of reference, or for the purpose of testing the existing standards before these can be set apart as standards of final reference?"

We think that it is necessary to obtain from England two sets of standards, one set for each Mint, both for preservation as standards of reference, and for testing some of the existing standards, which, after being tested, will be converted into working standards, and set apart as such. As weights consisting of multiples and fractions of a tola are the only measures of weight actually legalised in this country (vide Financial Department Notification dated 13th May 1833), and as this class of weights is in regular use in both Mints, as well as more generally used outside the Mints than any other sort, we are of opinion that the weights to be procured from England should be tola weights.

all of the best manufacture, of bronze gilt carefully verified by the Standards Department in England, concerning which, as well as regarding packing and shipping, detailed instructions will be given with the indent, if these be sanctioned.

4. "(c) Whether it is necessary to obtain any standard balances of precision from England for the regulation and testing of standards?"

The Committee has ascertained that neither of the Assay Offices is at present in possession of balances of precision necessary for carrying out all the verifications ordered in Resolution No. 5864, paragraph 5, or the further verifications recommended in this report. Having regard to the terms of paragraph 4 of the Resolution appointing the Committee, we think that by distributing certain balances of precision now in the possession of the Mint Masters to the Assay Masters, the work of verification could be performed with sufficient accuracy for practical purposes. We first recommend that a Chancellor balance now used for verifying weights, and at present in the possession of the Mint Master, Calcutta, should be transferred to the Assay Master, Calcutta, leaving the Mint Master to carry out his work on one of the other balances which will remain in his possession. And further, that a small balance weighing from 150 tolas downwards, now in the possession of the Mint Master, Bombay, should be transferred to the Assay Master, Bombay.

5. It still remains necessary to provide the Bombay Assay Office with the means of verifying certain heavy weights up to the limit of 56 lbs. avoirdupois recommended in paragraph 7 of this report. We have enquired from the Mint and Assay Masters, Bombay, whether it would be possible for them to share the Chancellor balance now in the possession of the former officer, if it be left in its present situation, with the following result. The Mint Master, Bombay, states that there would be no difficulty on his part in sharing the Chancellor balance above referred to with the Assay Master. The Officiating Assay Master, Bombay (who has replied to our enquiries), whilst admitting that such an arrangement is possible, thinks it very desirable that all the balances should be in the sole charge of the person whose duty it will be to make the verifications upon them; and adds that the reference standards, being in the custody of the Assay Master, should not be liable to movement from one building to another. Considering that the Assay Office and the Mint in Bombay are in the same building; that the movement of weights referred to will be infrequent, and if made with due care will not damage them; and that the only alternative to a joint use of the Chancellor balance by the Mint and Assay Masters will involve the expense of ordering out a new balance for the Assay Master from England, the Committee recommend that, at any rate until practical inconvenience shall be shown to have been developed by such joint use, the Assay Master, Bombay, should employ the Chancellor balance now in the Bombay Mint for the verification of such weights as are too heavy for his other balances.

We further recommend that the term "standard balance" be not used, as it is liable to misconception. Balances of precision are required for comparing weights accurately; but such instruments are not made to any constant pattern. The balances used for comparing standard weights should be numbered in each Assay Office for convenience of designation, and should have engraved plates affixed showing the limits within which they can be used.

6. "(d) What system should be prescribed under which the final standards referred to may be set apart and identified?"

We think that the weights referred to in paragraph 3 should be designated reference standards without the adjunct of the terms "ultimate" or "final," which are sometimes apt to convey erroneous meanings. If this designation be approved, we recommend that these "reference standards" should be carefully kept under the special charge of the Assay Masters; the boxes containing them to bear labels of an enduring nature, such as brass plates, carrying the designation "reference standards, $\frac{\text{Bombay}}{\text{Calcutta}}$".....pieces from 1,000 tolas to.....

A copy of the record of errors as determined by the Standards Department in England to be conspicuously pasted inside the lid of each box. A book should be kept by the Assay Masters in which an entry should be made every time these weights are used, showing the date, purpose for which they were used, and the name of the officer under whose superintendence they were used, who should be the Assay Master himself or his Deputy. In the first instance, they should be used for verifying the Assay Office working standards, provided that no weight exceeding 56 lbs. avoirdupois be so verified. Thereafter they should, as a rule, not be used more frequently than once in five years for verifying the same working standards. But under special circumstances the Assay Masters should be authorised to use them oftener, if necessity should arise. They should be inspected by the relieving and relieved officers on every occasion on which an Assay Master hands over charge of his office, and their condition, &c., should be specially stated at the time of such transfers.

7. "(e) What should be the proper distribution of such of the existing standards as may not be required for use as ultimate standards, so that they may be used as secondary or working standards; and what system is required for their custody, verification, and identification?"

Two or more sets of tola, troy, and avoirdupois weights exist at present in each Mint in the possession of the Mint Masters or of the Assay Masters, which are either called standards, or are capable of being converted into working standards after verification.

The best set of each denomination should be assigned to the Assay Master, if not already in his possession, and should be styled the "Assay Office working standards."

The second best set of tola and avoirdupois weights should be assigned to the Mint Master, and should be styled the "Mint working standards."

We recommend that the term "secondary standards" should not be applied to any set of weights now in India.

The Assay Office working standards should be used for verifying periodically the Mint working standards, and for any other ordinary verifications the Assay Masters may have reason to make; but in no case should any weight exceeding 56 lbs. avoirdupois be verified by the Assay Office.

The Mint working standards should always be used under the superintendence of a competent European assistant. They would be used chiefly for checking the Mint departmental weights monthly if possible, or, if a monthly check is not always practicable, as often as the Mint Masters find practicable. They would also be used for checking ordinary weights for other Government Departments, or for the public, before these are issued from the Mints.

The Assay Office working standards should be in the custody of the Assay Master; the Mint working standards, in that of the Mint Master. Each set of working standards should be kept in a box, bearing a suitable label, showing the designation of the set and its range.

A record of errors as determined at the last verification should be pasted to the lid of the box in each case, and this record should show the date of the last verification, the name of the official who made it, and the balance and weights used for the verification.

8. We recommend the following distribution of the existing weights as being suitable to the necessities of the case:—

CALCUTTA.

Assay Office working standards.

Tola.—The gilt set ranging from 1,000 tolas to ·001 tola referred to in the Mint Master's No. 1420, dated 6th December 1887, paragraph (1).

Troy.—The gilt set marked A in paragraph 4 of the same letter.

Avoirdupois.—The present set of this denomination now in the Assay Office.

Mint working standards.

Tola.—The set of this denomination now in the Assay Office.

Avoirdupois.—The best of this sort now in the Mint.

BOMBAY.

Assay Office working standards.

Tola.—A gilt set of tola weights from 1,600 tolas downwards now in the custody of the Mint Master, Bombay.

Troy.—The set of this denomination now in the Assay Office.

Avoirdupois.—The set of this denomination now in the Assay Office.

Mint working standards.

Tola.—The ungilt set in the custody of the Mint Master, Bombay, which should be gilt before being verified.

Avoirdupois.—One of the avoirdupois sets received in 1876, omitting the 100 lb. weight.

9. "(f) Any other matters connected with these points of reference on which the Committee may deem it expedient to lay their views or proposals before the Government."

In Financial Resolution No. 5864, dated 2nd November 1887, Government ordered that the verification of the Mint working standards should be made at least once in six months. Having regard, however, to the small amount of wearage to which these weights are subject under careful usage, to the labour involved in frequent verifications, and to the inconvenience of having working standards taken away from the Mint every six months, we think that all practical purposes would be better served if these weights are verified as a rule once a year; but in no case should two years be allowed to pass without a verification being made. This margin will obviate any difficulties which might occasionally arise on account of the time for verification falling due during a period of considerable pressure, when the verification could not be made without great inconvenience. Also should the Mint working standards from any cause have been subjected to less than their normal usage in any particular year, their verification might be deferred for six months or more without any practical drawback being incurred.

Nevertheless, should the Mint Master at any time think that his working standards require to be verified either in whole or part, he may call upon the Assay Master to make the verification, as provided for in paragraph 5 of the above cited Resolution.

10. We recommend that no weight in the working standards should exceed 1,600 tolas, 60 lbs. troy, or 56 lbs. avoirdupois respectively, because, if this be approved, the work of verification by the Assay Office will be less, and it can be done with a less expensive balance than would be required for larger working standards. With a verified working standard of 1,600 tolas, the Mint Master can prepare as many weights of that size as he requires, and with verified working standards of 56 lbs. avoirdupois, he can prepare as many weights of these sizes as he may want. If he has to supply weights of a maund or a cwt. to any Government Department, or to adjust such weights for the public, no very minute accuracy can be required, and any ordinary balance will ensure the adjustment to the required accuracy, two weights of 1,600 tolas each, or two weights of 56 lbs. each, being used for the operation.

11. It will be noticed that in paragraph 8 the Committee have not recommended that any working standards of troy weights should be kept up in the Mints. The reasons for this course are, that it is desirable to discourage a multiplication of systems of weights; that troy weights are not used in the ordinary work of the Indian Mints, and are very seldom required to be made for other Government Departments or for the public; and that the inclusion of troy weights in the Mint working standards would entail needless labour in the way of verification.

We consider it a positive disadvantage to have references to weights in troy pounds introduced into any transactions of the Mints, the pound troy being no longer a legal weight in England, and its use, concurrently with the pound avoirdupois, being constantly liable to cause confusion.

We have, however, recommended that the Assay Offices should have verified sets of troy weights, so that in case the Mint should at any time have to manufacture weights of that denomination, the working standards of the Assay Offices may be lent to the Mints for the necessary adjustments to the new weights.

12. As all the weights now in both Mints and Assay Offices can be satisfactorily verified on the receipt of the reference standards, we recommend that no weights now in India be sent home for the purpose of verification.

13. We recommend that such surplus weights as have not been dealt with in the preceding part of this report be left in the custody of the several officers who may now happen to have charge of them.

14. In making the foregoing recommendations, we have been guided by the instructions conveyed in paragraph 4 of the Resolution under reply. With regard to the concluding part of that paragraph, we are of opinion that for final verifications of a more accurate nature than we have contemplated in this report, additional apparatus in the shape of balances of precision would have to be procured from England. Whenever such a course may be necessary, we are of opinion that additional apparatus would not be required both for Calcutta and for Bombay. One set would be enough for the purpose, and most likely Calcutta would be the most suitable place for its location.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

Read again—

Resolution in the Department of Finance and Commerce, No. 3742, dated the 15th September, 1882.

Resolution in the Department of Finance and Commerce, No. 2599, dated the 10th August, 1883.

Resolution in the Department of Finance and Commerce, No. 2566, dated the 20th August, 1885.

RESOLUTION.—By Resolution No. 2566, dated 20th August 1885, certain modifications were introduced into the conditions under which Stock notes, bearing interest at four per cent. per annum, were issued; and in paragraph 2 of that Resolution it was said:

It cannot be denied that sale of the notes, and their popularity as an investment with the classes by whom it was hoped that they would be bought, have been much less than was anticipated. The Government of India, however, are of opinion that these results may be attributed in some measure to causes in existence at the time of the issue of the notes, the operation of which has in part ceased, and of which the effect will not be indefinitely prolonged. The continuance of the sale of notes, if for the present not productive of much advantage, is not calculated to cause detriment or injury to the public or to the financial interests of Government. It may be still hoped that, subject to certain modifications, this mode of investment will become more popular, and that the advantages which unquestionably attach to the system, when successfully worked, may be in course of time obtained. The Governor General in Council has therefore decided to continue for the present the sale of the notes, subject to certain changes in the rules which, it is hoped, will render the notes more generally acceptable.

2. Nearly three years have elapsed since these modifications were introduced; but the amount of the annual sales is still very small, and the public continue to look upon the system with disfavour. It may be said that the public have never adopted these securities at all as a regular form of investment, and complaints have occasionally reached the Government, which on enquiry are shown to be well founded, of hardship resulting from the depreciation of the notes and from the difficulty of realising them at any price. The Government, having now re-examined the subject, has, with regret, been forced to the conclusion that the experiment ought now to be abandoned.

3. It has accordingly been decided to discontinue the further sale of Stock notes and to withdraw as far as possible those in circulation, amounting approximately to Rs. 16,20,000, by substituting for them Government Promissory notes of the 4 per cent. Loan of 1842-43.

4. The Comptroller-General is, therefore, authorised to receive applications, at any Government treasury in India, for the conversion into Government Promissory notes of the 4 per cent. Loan of 1842-43 of any amounts of Stock notes tendered in even hundreds of Rupees, on the following terms:

(a) the Promissory notes are to be issued at a premium of 8 annas per cent.;

(b) tenderers will, on delivering the Stock notes, be paid interest on them for the half-year ending July 31st, 1888 (i.e., Rs. 2 per cent.); but from the amount of this interest a sum of 8 annas per cent. on the value of the Stock notes will be deducted on account of the premium payable by the holders in accordance with the condition (a);

(c) the interest on the Promissory notes issued in exchange will run from the 1st August, 1888.

5. In the case of notes of less value than Rs. 100 the Comptroller-General is authorised further to purchase outstanding notes at the rate of Rs. 100 for every Rs. 100 Stock notes tendered for sale at any treasury, and to pay to the proprietors tendering them the interest due on the notes up to date of purchase.

6. Notes purchased by the Comptroller and Auditor General under the terms laid down in the preceding paragraph will, when a sufficient quantity has been accumulated, be converted into 4 per cent. Promissory notes, on the terms defined in paragraph 4. These Promissory notes will be held by the Comptroller-General on account of the Treasury, and will be gradually absorbed in the operations of purchase of securities, which the Comptroller-General in his official capacity has to carry out. They will not be disposed of by the Comptroller-General except in this way and except as provided in the next paragraph, until six months at least have expired from the issue of this Notification.

7. The Head Commissioner of Paper Currency is hereby directed, under section 23 (2) of the Indian Paper Currency Act, XX of 1882, to purchase five lakhs of the said securities, if this amount is available. This purchase will be made at par.

8. The Governor-General in Council reserves the right to withdraw the terms offered in this Resolution to Stock-note holders, whenever it may be deemed proper to do so.

9. The Comptroller-General is directed to make any subsidiary arrangements and to issue any subsidiary instructions he considers necessary for carrying out these orders.

ORDERED, that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Comptroller and Auditor General for information and guidance.

Ordered also, that the Resolution be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Public Works Department.

Special Rules for the retirement of Officers of the Indian Telegraph Department.

Read again—

Government of India, Public Works Department, Resolution No. 136T.E., dated 21st October 1887.

Read also—

Despatch No. 6 of 8th June 1888, from Government of India, to Secretary of State.

Telegram of 3rd August 1888, from Secretary of State.

OBSERVATIONS.—The practical application of the special retirement rules for the Indian Telegraph Department, which were promulgated in the Resolution read above, has shown that they produced some anomalies, and that their effect has been less favourable than was anticipated, when the Resolution was published, to the officers whose position it was desired to benefit.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor-General in Council is pleased to issue, with the sanction of the Secretary of State, the following rules, which are supplementary to the rules in Resolution No. 136 T.E., dated 21st October last:

I.—Any officer of the Indian Telegraph Department who had less than 20 years' service counting for pension on the 31st March 1888, will be eligible to retire from the Department when he attains to 20 years' pensionable service, with the pension due to him under the rules in force (on medical certificate or otherwise), together with an extra pension of Rs. 1,000 per annum.

II.—Officers who are eligible to retire immediately under the above rule, should, if they wish to avail themselves of it, take steps which will ensure their applications reaching the Government of India within six months of the date of this Resolution.

III.—Others, who may subsequently become eligible, must, similarly, present their applications within six months of the day when they attain to 20 years' pensionable service.

IV.—Sections III, IV, and V of Resolution No. 136 T.E. (with the alteration of the date in V to the 1st February 1889) are applicable to these orders. They are reprinted below for facility of reference.

V.—No officer who is, or will become, entitled to retire under this Resolution will be allowed, after its issue, to take any furlough (other than on medical certificate) which will cause the total amount of furlough taken during his service to exceed two years; unless, before taking such fulough, he foregoes the right of applying to retire under the terms of this Resolution.

VI.—These rules, if not previously cancelled, will cease to be operative as soon as the whole of the officers appointed in 1871-72 have become eligible to retire under them.

Extract from Resolution No. 136 T.E., dated 21st October 1887.

III.—When an officer has tendered his resignation through his superior officer, it is obligatory that the application should be submitted for the orders of the Government of India; and it cannot be cancelled except with the approval and sanction of Government.

Note.—In the case of a candidate who has proceeded to England without obtaining a certificate, the certificate may be granted to his father or guardian, provided that the latter produces the requisite evidence, and, when making the application, states when the candidate went to England, and where he has been residing during his stay in that country.

II.—In order to obtain a certificate, a candidate is required, if resident in British India, to prove the date and place of his birth before the Magistrate of the district in which his family resides, or, if resident in a Native State, before the Political Officer of the State in which his family resides.

EDUCATION.

The 17th September, 1888.

No. 344.—The Government of India having taken into its consideration certain representations made by the Central Committee of the "Countess of Dufferin's Fund" and by the Committee of School Inspectors assembled in 1886 to revise the European School Code, is anxious to prescribe a text book on domestic economy and sanitary science for the use of the senior classes of English and Anglo-Vernacular schools. What is required is a work which shall primarily treat of the subjects dealt with in the Sanitary Primer, entitled the "Way to Health," in a manner suitable for more advanced and senior pupils, and also discuss topics of domestic economy. The principles of elementary physiology, so far as is appropriate and necessary to elucidate the other subjects, should also be discussed. It is desirable that the book should be handy in form, and it therefore should not cover more than 150 pages of small octavo size. The Governor-General in Council considers that the best means of securing a text book of the required character is to offer a reward for the preparation of such a work. His Excellency in Council has accordingly decided to offer a reward of Rs. 1,000 for the best text book on the subject. Competitors should send their compositions to the Home Office, Simla, either in print or in very legible manuscript (half margin), not later than the 1st September, 1889. Each work should bear a motto and have a sealed envelope attached, with the same motto outside and the name of the author within.

The successful manuscript will become the property of the Government. Unsuccessful manuscripts will be returned, if the author's address be communicated in the attached sealed envelope.

The Government of India reserves to itself the right of withholding the reward, or granting only a portion of it, should no work attain the required standard of excellence.

The following works may with advantage be consulted by intending competitors:

EXAMINATIONS.

The 10th October, 1888.

No. 69.—The following Regulations respecting the Examination of Candidates for the Civil Service of India to be held in June 1889 are published for general information:

EXAMINATIONS FOR THE CIVIL SERVICE OF INDIA.

REGULATIONS FOR THE OPEN COMPETITION OF JUNE 1889.

N.B.—The Regulations are liable to be altered in future years.

1. On the 1st June, 1889, and following days, an Examination, open to all qualified persons, will be held in London (a). Not fewer than persons will be selected, if so many shall be found duly qualified; viz., for the Lower Provinces of Bengal (including Assam); for the Upper Provinces of Bengal (including the Punjab and Oudh); for Burma; for Madras; and for Bombay (b).

2. No person will be deemed qualified who shall not satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners—

(i) That he is a natural born subject of Her Majesty.

(ii) That his age will be above seventeen years and under nineteen years on the 1st January, 1889. [N.B.—In the case of Natives of India this must be certified by the Government of India or of the Presidency or Province in which the Candidate may have resided.]

(iii) That he has no disease, constitutional affection, or bodily infirmity unfitting him, or likely to unfit him, for the Civil Service of India.

(iv) That he is of good moral character.

3. Should the evidence upon the above points be primâ facie satisfactory to the Civil Service Commissioners, the Candidate, on payment of the prescribed fee (c), will be admitted to the Examination. The Commissioners may however in their discretion, at any time prior to the grant of the Certificate of Qualification hereinafter referred to, institute such further inquiries as they may deem necessary; and if the result of such inquiries in the case of any Candidate, should be unsatisfactory to them in any of the above respects, he will be ineligible for admission to the Civil Service of India, and if already selected, will be removed from the position of a Probationer.

4. The Examination will take place only in the following branches of knowledge:

		Marks.
	English Composition	300
(d)	History of England—including a period selected by the Candidate	300
(d)	English Literature—including books selected by the Candidate	300
	Greek	600
	Latin	800
	French	500
	German	500
	Italian	400
(e)	Mathematics (pure and mixed)	1,600
	Natural Science; that is, the Elements of any two of the following Sciences, viz.— Chemistry, 500; Electricity and Magnetism, 300; Experimental Laws of Heat and Light, 300; Mechanical Philosophy, with outlines of Astronomy, 300.
	Logic	300
	Elements of Political Economy	300
(f)	Sanskrit	500
(f)	Arabic	500

Candidates are at liberty to name any or all of these branches of knowledge. No subjects are obligatory.

5. The merit of the persons examined will be estimated by marks; and the number set opposite to each branch in the preceding regulation denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it.

(a) An order for admission to the Examination will be sent to each Candidate on the 18th of May.
(b) The numbers will be announced hereafter.
(c) The fee (£5) will be payable by means of a special stamp according to instructions which will be communicated to Candidates.
(d) A considerable portion of the marks for English History and Literature will be allotted to the work selected by the Candidate. (See notice on p. 4.) In awarding marks for this, regard will be had partly to the extent and importance of the period or books selected, but chiefly to the thoroughness with which they have been studied.
(e) The examination will range from Arithmetic, Algebra, and Elementary Geometry, up to the elements of the differential and integral calculus, including the lower portions of applied Mathematics.
(f) The standard of marking in Sanskrit and Arabic will be determined with reference to a high degree of proficiency, such as may be expected to be reached by a Native of good education.

6. The marks assigned to Candidates in each branch will be subject to such deduction as the Civil Service Commissioners may deem necessary (g), in order to secure that "a Candidate be allowed no credit at all for taking up a subject in which he is a mere smatterer."

7. The Examination will be conducted on paper and viva voce, as may be deemed necessary.

8. The marks obtained by each Candidate, in respect of each of the subjects in which he shall have been examined, will be added up, and the names of the several Candidates who shall have obtained, after the deduction above-mentioned, a greater aggregate number of marks than any of the remaining Candidates will be set forth in order of merit, and such Candidates shall be deemed to be selected Candidates for the Civil Service of India, provided they appear to be in other respects duly qualified. Should any of the selected Candidates become disqualified, the Secretary of State for India will determine whether the vacancy thus created shall be filled up or not. In the former case, the Candidate next in order of merit, and in other respects duly qualified, shall be deemed to be a selected Candidate. A selected Candidate declining to accept the appointment which may be offered to him will be disqualified for any subsequent competition.

9. Selected Candidates before proceeding to India will be on probation for two years, during which time they will be examined periodically with a view of testing their progress in the following subjects (h):

	Marks.
1. Law	1,250
2. Classical Languages of India—
Sanskrit	500
Arabic	400
Persian	400
3. Vernacular Languages of India (excepting Hindustani when taken up by Madras Candidates, and Gujarati), each	400
4. The History and Geography of India	350
5. Political Economy	350

In these Examinations, as in the Open Competition, the merit of the Candidates examined will be estimated by marks, and the number set opposite to each subject denotes the greatest number of marks that can be obtained in respect of it at any one Examination. The Examination will be conducted on paper and viva voce, as may be deemed necessary. The last of these Examinations will be held at the close of the second year of probation, and will be called the "Final Examination," at which it will be decided whether a selected Candidate is qualified for the Civil Service of India. At this Examination Candidates will be permitted to take up any one of the following branches of Natural Science, viz.,—Agricultural Chemistry, Botany, Geology, or Zoology, for which 350 marks will be allowed. Candidates for Madras and Bombay will also be permitted to compete for Prizes in Hindustani and Gujarati respectively.

10. Candidates will be tested during their probation as to their ability to perform journeys on horseback; and no Candidate will be deemed qualified for the Civil Service of India who fails to satisfy the Civil Service Commissioners of his competence in this respect.

11. Any Candidate who, at any of the periodical Examinations, shall appear to have wilfully neglected his studies, or to be physically incapacitated for pursuing the prescribed course of training, will be liable to have his name removed from the list of selected Candidates.

12. The selected Candidates who, at the Final Examination, shall be found to have a competent knowledge of the subjects specified in Regulation 9, and who shall have satisfied the Civil Service Commissioners of their eligibility in respect of nationality, age, health, character, and ability to ride, shall be certified by the said Commissioners to be entitled to be appointed to the Civil Service of India, provided they shall comply with the regulations in force, at the time, for that Service.

13. Persons desirous to be admitted as Candidates must apply on Forms, which may be obtained from "The Secretary, Civil Service Commission, London, S.W.," at any time after the 1st December, 1888. The Forms must be returned so as to be received at the office of the Civil Service Commissioners on or before 30th March, 1889 (i).

The Civil Service Commissioners are authorized by the Secretary of State for India in Council to make the following announcements:

(1) Selected Candidates will be permitted to choose, according to the order in which they stand in the list resulting from the Open Competition, so long as a choice remains, the Presidency (and in Bengal, the Division of the Presidency) to which they shall be appointed; but this choice will be subject to a different arrangement, should the Secretary of State, or the Government of India, deem it necessary (k).

(2) The Probationers, having passed the necessary Examinations, will be required to report their arrival in India within such period after the grant of their Certificate of Qualification as the Secretary of State may in each case direct.

(3) The seniority in the Civil Service of India of the Selected Candidates shall be determined according to the order in which they stand on the list resulting from the Final Examination.

(g) Marks assigned in English Composition and Mathematics will be subject to no deduction. Each science will, for the purpose of deduction, be treated as a separate subject.
(h) Full instructions as to the course of study to be pursued will be issued to the successful Candidates as soon as possible after the result of the Open Competition is declared.
(i) These forms should be accompanied by evidence on the points mentioned in Regulation 2, and by a list of the subjects in which the candidate desires to be examined. Evidence of health and character must bear date not earlier than 1st March, 1889. Applications for leave to alter or add to the list of subjects named will not be entertained unless received on or before the 4th of May.
(k) This choice must be exercised immediately after the result of the Open Competition is announced on such day as may be fixed by the Civil Service Commissioners.

(4) An allowance amounting to £300 will be given to all Candidates who pass their probation at one of the Universities or Colleges which have been approved by the Secretary of State, viz., the Universities of Oxford, Cambridge, Dublin, Glasgow, Edinburgh, St. Andrew's, and Aberdeen; University College, London; and King's College, London; provided such Candidates shall have passed the required Examinations to the satisfaction of the Civil Service Commissioners, and shall have complied with such rules as may be laid down for the guidance of Selected Candidates.

Candidates are not permitted to migrate from the University originally chosen by them to another University without first applying to the India Office for the permission, and receiving the sanction, of the Secretary of State, who will not entertain such applications unless good and sufficient reasons are assigned.

(5) Selected Candidates desiring to remain in this country an additional year after the completion of their two years' probation for the purpose of taking a degree at one of the Universities above-mentioned, should apply to the Secretary of State for India for permission to do so. Besides the allowances above-mentioned, a bonus of £150 will, as a temporary and experimental measure, be paid to any Candidate who, having obtained permission to remain an additional year, passes an examination qualifying for a degree in Honours at Oxford or Cambridge, or, being a student of University College, London, passes with credit an Honour Examination of the University of London. This privilege will be hereafter extended to any other of the Universities above referred to, at which an academical distinction is obtainable which, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, corresponds to a degree in Honours at Oxford or Cambridge, and to obtain which the additional year's residence in this country is necessary.

(6) All selected Candidates will be required, after having passed the first periodical Examination and before receiving the first instalment of their allowance, to attend at the India Office for the purpose of entering into an agreement binding themselves, amongst other things, to refund in certain cases the amount of their allowance in the event of their failing to proceed to India. A surety will be required.

(7) After passing the Final Examination, each Candidate will be required to attend again at the India Office, with the view of entering into covenants, by which, amongst other things, they will bind themselves to agree to such Regulations for the provision of pensions for their families as may be approved by the Secretary of State for India in Council. The stamps payable on these covenants amount to £1.

(8) Candidates rejected at the Final Examination of 1891 will in no case be allowed to present themselves for re-examination.

[Copies of these Regulations and of the Form of Application may be obtained on application to the Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department.]

MERCHANT SHIPPING (LIFE-SAVING APPLIANCES) ACT, 1888.

51 & 52 VICTORIA, CHAPTER 24.

An Act to amend the law with respect to the Appliances to be carried by British Merchant Ships for saving Life at Sea.

[10th August, 1888.]

BE it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Duty to carry boats and other appliances for saving life.

1. It shall be the duty of the owner and master of every British ship to see that his ship is provided, in accordance with rules under this Act, with such boats, life jackets, and other appliances for saving life at sea as, having regard to the nature of the service on which the ship is employed, and the avoidance of undue encumbrance of the ship's deck, are best adapted for securing the safety of her crew and passengers.

Appointment of consultative committee for framing rules.

2. (1) For the purpose of preparing and advising on rules to be made under this Act, the President of the Board of Trade shall immediately after the passing of this Act, and may from time to time, appoint a committee, the members of which shall be nominated by him in accordance with the First Schedule to this Act.

(2) Each member of the committee shall hold office for two years from the date of his appointment, but shall be eligible for reappointment.

(3) There shall be paid to the members of the committee, out of the Mercantile Marine Fund, such travelling and other allowances as the Board of Trade from time to time may fix.

(4) Her Majesty the Queen may, from time to time, by Order in Council, alter the First Schedule to this Act.

Power to make rules as to life-saving appliances.

3. (1) The Board of Trade may, from time to time, make, rescind, and vary rules with respect to all or any of the matters mentioned in the Second Schedule to this Act.

(2) All rules made under this Act shall have effect as if they had been enacted in this Act, and shall be judicially noticed.

(3) All rules made under this Act shall be laid before Parliament within three weeks after they are made, if Parliament be then sitting, and if Parliament be not sitting, within three weeks after the beginning of the then next meeting of Parliament, and shall not come into operation until they have lain for forty days before both Houses of Parliament during the session of Parliament.

Penalty for breach of rules.

4. (1) In any of the following cases, namely:

(a) if any ship required by rules under this Act to be provided with appliances for saving life at sea proceeds on any voyage or excursion without being so provided, in accordance with the rules applicable to the ship; or

(b) if any of the appliances with which she is so provided are lost or rendered unfit for service in the course of the voyage through the wilful fault or negligence of the owner or master; or

(c) if, in case of any such appliances being lost or injured in the course of the voyage, the master wilfully neglects to replace or repair the same on the first opportunity; or

(d) if such appliances are not kept so as to be at all times fit and ready for use;

then, if the owner appears to be in fault, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding one hundred pounds, and, if the master appears to be in fault, he shall incur a penalty not exceeding fifty pounds.

(2) Penalties incurred under this section may be recovered and dealt with in manner provided by the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, and the Acts amending the same with respect to penalties incurred under those Acts.

Provisions for enforcing rules.

5. In order to enforce compliance with the rules made under this Act the following steps may be taken, namely:

(a) any surveyor appointed under the Fourth Part of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854, or any such other person as the Board of Trade may appoint for the purpose, may inspect a ship for the purpose of seeing that the ship is properly provided with appliances for saving life at sea in pursuance of the rules, and shall for that purpose have all the powers given to inspectors by section 14 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1854:

(b) if any such surveyor or person finds that any ship is not so provided, he shall give to the master or owner notice in writing, pointing out the deficiency and also what is in his opinion requisite to remedy the same:

(c) every notice so given shall be communicated, in such manner as the Board of Trade may direct, to the collector of customs at any port in which the ship may seek to clear or at which her transire is to be obtained, and a collector to whom any such communication is made shall not clear a ship outwards or grant her a transire, or allow her to proceed to sea, without a certificate under the hand of one of the said surveyors or persons appointed by the Board of Trade as aforesaid, to the effect that the ship is properly provided with appliances for saving life at sea in pursuance of the rules.

Saving as to sea-fishing boats.

6. The rules made under this Act shall not apply to any sea-fishing boat which is for the time being registered in pursuance of the Sea Fisheries Act, 1868.

Saving as to offences under other law.

7. (1) Nothing in this Act shall prevent any person from being liable under any other Act, or otherwise to any other or higher penalty or punishment than is provided for an offence by this Act:

Provided that a person shall not be punished twice for the same offence.

(2) If the court before which a person is charged with an offence punishable by virtue of this Act thinks that proceedings ought to be taken against him for the offence under any other Act or otherwise, the court may adjourn the case to enable such proceedings to be taken.

Repeal.

8. As from the date at which the first rules made under this Act come into operation the enactments specified in the Third Schedule to this Act shall be repealed to the extent therein mentioned:
