No. 233, dated the 6th September, 1892.

From—The Government of India,

To—The Secretary of State for India.

We have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of the Despatch from Your Lordship's predecessor, No. 49 (Statistics), dated the 7th July 1892, forwarding copy of a Convention between Great Britain and Roumania, relating to Trade-marks, and enquiring whether we have any observations to make as to the participation therein of India.

2. The Convention is not open to any of the political objections which have induced us to refrain from assenting to India becoming a party to Commercial Treaties with other Powers; and although it is hardly likely to be of any practical use to us, still, as it may possibly become useful hereafter in the case of a British Indian subject trading in Roumania, and as it will impose no new obligation on us, we think that its stipulations may unobjectionably be made applicable to India.

4. (1.) Where a marriage according to the local law of a foreign country is valid by English law, then before the marriage is solemnized in that country under the Foreign Marriage Act, whether in an Embassy house or at a Consulate, the Marriage Officer must be satisfied either—

(a) That both the parties are British subjects; or

(b) If only one of the parties is a British subject, that the other is not a subject or citizen of the country; or

(c) If one of the parties is a British subject, and the other a subject or citizen of the country, that sufficient facilities do not exist for the solemnization of the marriage in the foreign country in accordance with the law of that country.

(2) If a marriage officer, by reason of anything in this Article, refuses to solemnize or allow to be solemnized in his presence the marriage of any person requiring such marriage to be solemnized, that person shall have the right of appeal to a Secretary of State given by section 5 of the Foreign Marriage Act.

5. In the case of any marriage under the Foreign Marriage Act, if it appears to the marriage officer that the woman about to be married is a British subect, and that the man is an alien, he must be satisfied that the marriage will be recognized by the law of the foreign country to which the alien belongs.

6. The following modifications of the requirements of the Foreign Marriage Act as to residence and notice which appear to Her Majesty to be consistent with the observance of due precautions against the solemnization of clandestine marriages, shall have effect in cases where one only of the parties has dwelt within the district of the marriage officer:—

(1) A marriage may be solemnized under the Foreign Marriage Act in the official house of a marriage officer in whose district one of the parties has dwelt—

(a) If the marriage officer is satisfied that such notice as is mentioned below in Sub-Articles (3) and (4) of this Article, has been given of the intended marriage in the place where the other party has dwelt; or

(b) If a Secretary of State is satisfied that the intended marriage is not clandestine, and that adequate notice has been given, and gives permission for the same to be solemnized.

(2) In either case the oath, affirmation, or declaration under section 7 of the Foreign Marriage Act, shall, in addition to the matters specified in sub sections (a) and (c) of that section, state that one of the parties has for three weeks immediately preceding had his or her usual place of abode within the district of the marriage officer, and further state the place where the party who has not dwelt within that district has, within three months immediately preceding, had for three consecutive weeks his or her usual place of abode, and the notice which has been given in that place during those three weeks.

(3) The notice to be given where the marriage is not solemnized with the special permission of a Secretary of State shall, if the party has dwelt in a foreign country, be given, entered, and posted up in the manner and during the period provided by the Foreign Marriage Act, in like manner as if the marriage were to be solmnized by or before a marriage officer in that country, and the marriage officer to whom the notice is given in that country shall, on payment of the proper fee, give a certificate that the notice has been so given and posted up, and that he is unaware of any impediment which should obstruct the solemnization of the marriage.

(4) If the party dwells in a place in the United Kingdom, the notice shall be given in the like manner and on payment of the like fee as if that party were about to be married in that place, and in England or Ireland shall be given to the Superintendent Registrar or Registrar, and in Scotland shall be given by proclamation of banns; and the Superintendent Registrar or Registrar shall deal with the notice and give a certificate for marriage in like manner and on payment of the like fee as in the case of a marriage in his district; and the Session Clerk of the parish in which the banns were proclaimed in Scotland shall, in like manner and on payment of the like fee as in the case of a marriage in his district, give a certificate of proclamation of such banns.

Consular Marriages.

7. For the purpose of marriages to be solemnized by or before a marriage officer who is also a Consul as defined by the Foreign Marriage Act, every place within the curtilage or precincts of the house in which the Consul is for the time being resident, or of the building which is for the time being used for the purpose of his office, shall be part of the official house of such marriage officer, and every place to which the public have ordinary access in such official house shall be deemed to be part of the office of such marriage officer.

Registration of Marriages by Foreign Law.

8. (1) A Consular officer shall not be required to attend at the solemnization of a marriage solemnized in accordance with the local law unless the marriage is solemnized at the place where he is appointed to reside, nor unless the proper fee has been previously paid to him.

(2) The Consular officer shall forthwith, after the solemnization of the marriage, register the marriage in duplicate in books furnished to him by the Registrar-General through a Secretary of State for the purpose, separate from any register books provided for marriages solemnized by him, and shall register the same in accordance with section 9 of the Foreign Marriage Act, save that if the person by whom the marriage has been solemnized declines to sign the same, the Consular officer shall enter the name of that person, and the fact that he declines to sign the same.

(3) The Consular officer shall transmit copies and the certificate and the book when filled in manner provided by section 10 of the Foreign Marriage Act.

Section 47 (4) of the Indian Railways Act, IX, of 1890.

Read also—

Letter No. 457 T., dated the 8th December 1892, from the Director General of Railways, proposing certain additions to those rules in regard to the working of station and distant signals on the North Western Railway.

OBSERVATIONS.—It has been represented that, owing to the manner in which station and distant signals are constructed on the North Western railway, the system of signalling in force on that line differs from that laid down in rule 87 of the General Rules referred to above, and that to admit of the present system being continued without contravening the orders on the subject an amendment of rules 77 and 87 is necessary.

RESOLUTION.—The Governor General in Council is therefore pleased, under section 47 (4) of the Indian Railways Act, IX, of 1890, to sanction the following additions to rules 77 and 87 of the General Rules of 1892 referred to above being applied to the open lines of the North Western railway :—

Rule 77.—At end of this rule before the word "green" add the words "white or."

Rule 87.—Add the following as clause (e) :—

"Where the station signal is not constructed to show the 'all right signal,' "the signals prescribed in clause (c) may be shown to trains

"which are booked to run through the station without stopping, "and which it is intended should run through without stopping."

ORDER.—Ordered that the General Rules, which have already been published in the Gazette of India, dated the 14th May 1892, be further notified to the railway servants, and to the public, by a copy thereof, as herein modified, being kept open to inspection, free of any charge, in the office of the station master of every station on the North Western railway.

Ordered also that this resolution be communicated to the Director General of Railways, for information and guidance, and that it be published under a notification in Part I of the Gazette of India.

The rules referred to were published in the Gazette of India of the 8th November 1890, under Public Works Department notification No. 480½, dated the 30th October 1890.

To

THE RIGHT HONOURABLE VISCOUNT CROSS, G.C.B.,

Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

Simla, the 19th July, 1892.

MY LORD,

With reference to paragraph 2 of our Despatch No. 32 (Financial) dated the 17th February 1892, we have the honour to address Your Lordship on the subject of the pay and status of Cantonment Magistrates in India.

2. Prior to the year 1887, Cantonment Magistracies were divided into two grades, on a consolidated pay of R1,000 and R700 a month respectively: the tenure of the appointments was not limited to any term of years, the holders being required to vacate them only when they became entitled to Colonel's allowances or reached the age of 55 years. In 1886 His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief expressed his opinion that those regulations were not adapted to prevent the retention of the appointments by inefficient officers, and that the public service had suffered seriously thereby. His Excellency therefore recommended that the tenure of the appointments should be limited to a term of five years capable of extension, under special circumstances, up to seven years.

3. Local Governments having been consulted, the proposal of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief was sanctioned as a provisional arrangement in the Resolution quoted in the margin. Officers desirous of becoming Cantonment Magistrates were required to pass a preliminary examination in law; and the pay of the appointments was fixed at R600 a month for a subaltern and R700 for an officer of higher rank, with an increase of R100 in each case after passing the Departmental Examination by the higher standard. It was ruled that all officers who had been appointed Cantonment Magistrates on and after the 1st January 1887 should be brought under the new rules. The latter decision was subsequently modified by permitting Cantonment Magistrates appointed between the 1st January and the 11th August 1887, to elect under which system of pay they would serve.

Home Department No. 20/1345-56, dated 11th August 1887.
(See pages 88-82 of Home Department Judicial Proceedings for May 1888.)

4. In the early part of the year 1890, it was represented to us by His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief that the new rules did not work altogether satisfactorily, and required reconsideration. Objection was taken from a military point of view to the system on the grounds that, owing to the advance of military education, officers necessarily become more or less inefficient during a long period of absence from regimental duty; that officers seeking employment as Cantonment Magistrates are generally those who desire to leave regimental and even military life, and that it was unlikely that they would be inclined to do military duty again after having been placed in an independent civil position for a lengthened period. It was added that from a civil point of view also the system appeared to be objectionable, as an officer would hardly become a really efficient Cantonment Magistrate much before the expiration of his tenure of office, when he would have to make way for another inexperienced officer.

5. Before coming to a decision we consulted Local Governments and Administrations on the subject. The replies are briefly to the following effect. The Government of Madras are in favour of the removal of the limitation imposed by the orders of 1887, and consider that in the matter of reversion to military duty, Cantonment Magistrates should be placed on exactly the same footing as other military officers in civil employ. The Governments of Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh propose a ten years' limit, the former suggesting that an officer who does not revert after ten years should be treated as permanently in civil employ. The Chief Commissioner of Burma suggests that the Local Government should have the option at the end of five years of sending a Cantonment Magistrate back to military duty or of retaining him permanently in civil employ. The Bombay Government recommend that the continuance of the appointment should be considered at the end of every five years. The Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces suggests the formation of an "Army Judicial Department," from which both the Cantonment Magistracies and the Judge Advocate General's Department could be recruited. The Punjab Government propose that all Cantonment Magistrates should be placed on one graded list for the whole of the Bengal Presidency, the pay of the grades ranging from R400 to 1,300, and officers being eligible for promotion from grade to grade and liable to transfer from one province to another.

Although the remedies proposed are various, there is a consensus of opinion against the present system, which involves the appointment of inexperienced Cantonment Magistrates who, even if they prove successful in their appointments, have to revert to military duty just at the time when they become most useful.

6. We are accordingly of opinion that the system provisionally introduced in 1887 should be abandoned, and that it is advisable to revert to the system which was in force before 1887, but with this essential difference, that whereas the highest pay of a Cantonment Magistrate under that system (R1,000) was hardly sufficient to induce competent officers to adopt this line of employment permanently, the pay of the higher grades should now be so regulated as to make the appointments sufficiently attractive as a career. This result will, in our opinion, be further aided by giving preference for appointment to the Judge Advocate General's Department to Cantonment Magistrates who qualify themselves for it. We propose that appointments in that Department should be reserved preferentially (though not exclusively) for qualified Cantonment Magistrates, the candidates being required to pass the prescribed examinations for the Department and to be attached to the Judge Advocate General's Office for a period of three months' probation so as to secure some knowledge of English Law and Procedure.

7. As regards the rates of pay, we propose that allowances on the scale given below in addition to Staff Corps pay of rank be sanctioned for Cantonment Magistrates :—

	R
On first appointment	200
On passing the departmental lower standard examination	250
Ditto ditto higher ditto	300
After five years' substantive service as Cantonment Magistrate	400
After ten years' ditto ditto	500

Under these proposals the salary of Cantonment Magistrates will range from R425-12 to R1,327-14 a month: a subaltern will receive something more than his regimental emoluments; the superior rates of allowances are sufficiently high to induce an officer who finds the work of Cantonment Magistrate suitable to him to adopt that line as a career; and the officers concerned will enjoy the prospect of a continuous increase of salary.

We recommend that the whole emoluments of an officer holding a Cantonment Magistracy under the new system be treated as salary.

8. To guard against the retention of unsuitable officers in civil employ we propose that an officer holding a Cantonment Magistracy should be able to exercise the option of reverting to military duty, on giving reasonable notice, at any time up to five years from the date of his first appointment and thereafter up to ten years with the approval of the Local Government and of the Commander-in-Chief. After ten years he will no longer be eligible for return to military duty, unless selected for an appointment in the Judge Advocate General's Department. The Government of India will, however, as in the case of military members of Commissions in non-regulation provinces and commissioned medical officers in civil employ, ratain the power of directing an inefficient officer's reversion to military duty at any time.

9. In recommending this scheme for Your Lordship's sanction we may observe that it is not possible at present to estimate the financial effect of our proposals. The Cantonment Magistracies which will be affected by the measure are about 36 in number. In the event of the scheme being sanctioned by Your Lordship, it is our intention to consider separately the question of grouping the Cantonments in order that the higher grade officers may, as far as possible, be placed in charge of the more important stations, and of arranging a system of transfer from one Cantonment to another, irrespective of provinces, when this is found desirable in the interests of the public service. We also propose on receipt of your sanction to give each existing Cantonment Magistrate, whether serving under the rules of 1887 or those previously in force, an option once for all of electing the new scale or continuing to serve under his present terms.

We have the honour to be,

MY LORD,

Your Lordship's most obedient, humble Servants,

LANSDOWNE.

Military,
No. 133.

To His Excellency the Most Honourable the Governor General of India in Council.

MY LORD MARQUIS,—In Your Excellency's Finance and Commerce Despatch of 19th July 1892, No. 185, on the subject of the pay and status of Cantonment Magistrates in India, you show that the opinions of the Local Governments and Administrations are against the present system, as failing to attract competent officers, and you accordingly propose that appointments in the Judge Advocate General's Department should be reserved preferentially (though not exclusively) for qualified Cantonment Magistrates, that allowances ranging from ₹200 to ₹500 a month should be given in addition to Staff Corps pay of rank, and that the whole emoluments of an officer holding a Cantonment Magistracy under the new system be treated as salary.

2. These proposals have my approval, and also your additional proposals in connexion with reversion to military duty, transfer of officers, and option of election by existing Magistrates.

3. I request that as soon as the financial effect of the new scheme has been ascertained, a report may be furnished to tnis Office.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord Marquis,

Your Lordship's most obedient, humble Servant,

KIMBERLEY.

EDUCATION.

The 3rd February, 1893.

No. 47.—THE following Despatch from Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India and its enclosures are published for general information:—

No. 119 Public (Educational), dated India Office, London, the 22nd December 1892.

From—The Right Honourable the Earl of KIMBERLEY, K.G., Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India,

To—His Excellency the Most Honourable the GOVERNOR GENERAL of India in Council.

Having considered in Council your letter in the Home Department No. 12 (Education) of the 26th October last, in which you renew a proposal to hold at Calcutta the intermediate examination in Arts and the B.A. Examination of the London University, I arrived at the conclusion that the circumstances which existed in 1881, when my predecessor was not disposed to ask the University to hold any examination in India except that for matriculation, have been materially modified by the increased number of European children who are now being educated in India.

2. I accordingly caused your application to be forwarded for the favourable consideration of the Senate of London University, who has acceded thereto (by the enclosed letter from the Registrar) subject to the usual conditions applicable to examinations held at centres out of Great Britain.

Dated 3rd December 1892, and enclosures.

I have, etc.,

KIMBERLEY.

No. J. & P. 1999, dated University of London, Burlington Gardens, W., the 3rd December 1892.

From—ARTHUR MILMAN, Esq., M.A., Registrar, University of London,

To—Sir HORACE G. WALPOLE, K.C.B, Assistant Under Secretary of State for India.

I have the honour to state, for the information of the Right Honourable the Secretary of State for India, that your letter of the 19th instant, and the accompanying Despatch from the Government of India, requesting that the intermediate and Bachelor's Degree Examination in Arts may be held at Calcutta, were on Wednesday last laid before the Senate, who acceded to the application. It is understood, however, that, whenever candidates propose to offer themselves for the said examinations, the Government of India will give due notice to the University through your Department, and will otherwise observe the conditions (of which copies are enclosed) for holding Examinations of centres out of Great Britain.

UNIVERSITY OF LONDON.

Examinations in the Colonies for Matriculation and for the Degrees of B.A. and LL.B.

These examinations are appointed by the Senate from time to time, upon the application of the Governor of any Colony desiring that one or more places in the Colony may be named as a centre or centres for one or more examinations. Every such application must be forwarded to the Senate through the Colonial Office at home.

In order that the examinations may be conducted as nearly as possible in the same way as the examinations carried on at the University, it is essential that the following conditions and Regulations be strictly observed:—

(1) Each examination shall be under the superintendence of a responsible Sub-Examiner, who shall be nominated by the Governor of the Colony, and who shall be altogether independent of the authorities of any College or Institution at which such examination may be held.

(2) The examinations shall be open to all candidates who can prove to the Colonial Authorities that they are of proper age and character to be admitted. The Sub-Examiner is required to see that the certificates produced by the candidates are such as to satisfy the Regulations of the University; and he should be furnished with a list of the candidates who have sent in their names to the Colonial Authorities.

(3) The examination-papers for each examination (which will be sent out through the Colonial Office to the Governor of the Colony) must be delivered unopened to the Sub-Examiner.

(4) The examination shall be held simultaneously with the corresponding examination in London, or, in the event of accident or unavoidable delay, as soon as possible after the arrival of the mail by which the papers are transmitted; and immediately on its conclusion the Sub-Examiner shall place the answers of the candidates in the custody of the Governor of the Colony, to be by him transmitted under seal, together with the candidates' fees (see 8 below), by the next mail, through the Colonial Office, to the Registrar of the University.

(5) The Registrar, on receiving the answers, will distribute them to the Examiners, who will make a supplemental report thereon, classing the candidates according to the Regulations, but in a List by themselves, and, in the case of the Matriculation Examination, indicating, as nearly as may be, the positions which those who may be entitled to places in the Honours Division would have held in the home Honours Division if they had been examined in this country.

(6) The results of each examination will be communicated, through the Colonial Office, to the Governor of the Colony in which it was held, as soon as possible after the reports of all the Examiners have been received and tabulated at the University

(7) Neither the Honours Examinations in Arts and Laws, nor any Examinations in Science or Medicine, can be held out of England; nor are candidates who may be examined for Matriculation in the Colonies admissible to competition for the exhibitions and prizes offered by the University to candidates examined in the United Kingdom.

(8) Candidates are required to pay their fees to the Colonial Authorities at least a month before the commencement of the several examinations; and those authorities are requested to transmit the fees to the University through the Colonial Office or the Crown Agents in London immediately upon the conclusion of the examinations. (See also 4 above.)

Applications for the institution of Colonial Examinations should be forwarded through the Colonial Office so as to reach the University not less than four months before the commencement of the examinations to which the applications refer.

[Note.—Applications are not received from individual candidates. Any person desiring to be examined at a Colonial centre should apply, not to the University of London, but to the Government of the Colony wherein he resides, to ascertain (a) whether any arrangement has been already made for holding an examination in the Colony, or, if not, (b) whether the Government will make the necessary application to the Senate in order that such arrangement may be made.]

Despatch to the Secretary of State, No. 67, dated 2nd November 1892.
Despatch from the Secretary of State, No. 2 P. W., dated 19th January 1893.

OBSERVATIONS.—In Public Works Department resolution No. 19 A.E., dated 25th January 1889, certain revised rules were laid down for the future recruitment of the establishment of the Superior Accounts Branch of the Public Works Department, and a competitive examination was prescribed according to the tests laid down in the appendix to that resolution. The results of these examinations have not, however, proved as satisfactory as was anticipated, and the Government of India has again had under consideration the question of modifying the rules with a view to the establishment of the Superior Accounts Branch being maintained in greater efficiency.

2. The Government of India thinks that the entrance examination of the Superior Accounts Branch may, with advantage, be assimilated to that of the Enrolled List of the Finance Department; and that the scale of salaries of both establishments may be brought into accord.

3. It appears desirable also to take this opportunity of revising the rules regarding the examination for confirmation and promotion as laid down in Public Works Department Code, Volume I, Chapter II, and Appendix C.

RESOLUTION.—The Government of India, with the approval of the Secretary of State, is pleased to decide that, with effect from the 1st January 1893, the following amended rules for recruitment of the Superior Staff of the Accounts Branch, both as regards the entrance and departmental tests, shall take the place of the rules promulgated under resolution No. 19 A.E. of 25th January 1889, and those laid down in the Public Works Department Code, Volume I, Chapter II, and Appendix C :—

I.—The Superior Accounts Branch shall be recruited in India and the members of it so recruited shall be under the Indian Service Leave and Ordinary Pension Rules as laid down in the Civil Service Regulations, Chapter XIV and Part IV.

II.—Appointments will ordinarily be made as follows :—

Firstly, by the appointment of candidates selected by competitive examination of not less than three nominees for each vacancy;

Secondly, by the promotion of deserving accountants, and

Thirdly, by the transfer, in exceptional cases, of officers from the engineer establishment.

Note.—Officers transferred from the Engineering Branch will draw Accounts Branch rates of salary, but they will retain their own leave and pension rules.

The nominees at every third examination held for appointments to be filled by the first of the above methods of recruitment shall be natives of India as defined by Statute 33 Vict., cap. 3, Section 6. The maximum number of appointments filled by the second of the above methods shall not exceed one-third of the appointments filled by the first and second methods together. When appointments are made by this method the officers selected will be appointed either as Deputy or Assistant Examiners at the discretion of the Government of India, and will, unless Government otherwise direct, take rank for future promotion above officers in lower classes or grades previously appointed after examination. They will not be required to pass the departmental examinations unless the Government at the time of appointment direct that they shall be so required.

The Government of India reserves the power which it at present possesses of making special and exceptional appointments to the Superior Accounts Establishment otherwise than in the three ways mentioned above.

III.—The classification and rates of pay shall be as follows :—

| | | |

A candidate may be examined at the Thomason Civil Engineering College, Rurki, or at the office of an Examiner of Public Works or Railway Accounts.

3. There will, in future, be two departmental examinations as detailed in schedules II and III annexed to this resolution, and no officer appointed on probation will be confirmed in the service until he has passed the first of these examinations and has been favourably reported upon by the Accountant General.

An Assistant Examiner of the 3rd grade, who has been favourably reported on, and has passed the lower departmental examination shown in schedule II, will be promoted to Assistant Examiner, 2nd grade, after not less than one year's service in the Department. An Assistant Examiner, who has not passed that examination within three years from the date of his joining the Department, will, on the expiration of that period, cease to belong to the Department without further orders; provided that:—

(1) if he has been examined but the results have not been declared, his services will be retained until the date on which the results are declared, when they will be terminated at once if he has not passed; and

(2) if during the said period of three years, he has obtained leave of absence on medical certificate for more than three months, he shall be allowed so much extension of time as will admit of his appearing for the examination next after the expiry of the said term of three years and of the results of that examination being declared.

No officer will be eligible for promotion above Assistant Examiner, 1st grade, until he has passed the higher departmental examination, and the same test in vernaculars as is required for promotion to Executive Engineer, 4th grade.

4. The entrance examination will be held by the Principal, Thomason Civil Engineering College, Rurki, in November; and nominated candidates should apply to that officer to arrange the place at which they are to be examined, and should remit to him an examination fee of ₹32.

5. The departmental examinations will be held annually by the Accountant General, Public Works Department, in November; and will be conducted at Examiners' offices.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this resolution be forwarded to the Local Governments and Administrations and Officers noted in the margin, for information, and that it be published in Part I of the Gazette of India.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION,

12th January 1893.

Syllabus, showing the extent of the Examination in certain subjects at the Open Competition for admission into the Indian Civil Service in 1893.

The Regulations governing the Open Competition for admission into the Indian Civil Service have been framed with a view to the principle regarded by Lord Macaulay's Committee, in 1854, as essential, viz., that the object of the Competition should be to secure for the Indian Civil Service officers who "have received the best, the most liberal, the most finished education that their native country affords." The scheme of examination has accordingly been made to embrace most of the subjects of the Honour Schools in the Universities of Great Britain and Ireland. In administering the scheme, the Civil Service Commissioners, concurring with Lord Macaulay's Committee in the opinion, "that no Candidate who may fail should, to whatever calling he may betake himself, have any reason to regret the time and labour which he has spent in preparing himself to be examined," desire to avoid all disturbance of the general course of University studies, and to render it possible, with due regard for the principle of Open Competition, for those who have graduated with honours at the Universities, to attend the examination for the Indian Civil Service with good prospects of success. The appended Syllabus shows in outline the intentions of the Commissioners with regard to the extent and character of the examination in those subjects which seem to require further definition. The scope of the examination in the subjects not mentioned in the Syllabus is sufficiently defined in the scheme published in the Regulations themselves. The Examiners will be instructed to keep the standard in each subject up to the level of the highest course of study pursued in the Universities.

ENGLISH COMPOSITION.—An Essay to be written on one of several subjects specified by the Civil Service Commissioners on their Examination Paper.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.—The Examination will be in two parts. In the one the Candidates will be expected to show a general acquaintance with the course of English Literature, as represented (mainly) by the following writers in verse and prose, between the reign of Edward III. and the accession of Queen Victoria:

Verse—Chaucer, Langland, Spenser, Shakespeare, Milton, Dryden Pope, Gray, Collins, Johnson, Goldsmith, Crabbe, Cowper, Campbell, Wordsworth, Scott, Byron, Coleridge, Shelley, Keats.

Prose—Bacon, Sir Thomas Browne, Milton, Cowley, Bunyan, Dryden, Swift, Defoe, Addison, Johnson, Burke, Scott, Macaulay (Essays and Biographies).

A minute knowledge of the works of these authors will not be looked for in this part of the Examination, which will, however, test how far the Candidates have studied the chief productions of the greatest English writers in themselves, and are acquainted with the leading characteristics of their thought and style, and with the place which each of them occupies in the history of English literature. Candidates will also be expected to show that they have studied in these authors the history of the English language in respect of its vocabulary, syntax, and prosody.

The other part of the Examination will relate to one of the periods named below, which will follow each other year by year in the order indicated:—

1. A. D. 1600 to A. D. 1700.
(1893) [Shakespeare to Dryden.]
2. A.D. 1700 to A.D. 1800.
(1894) [Pope to Cowper.]
3. A.D. 1800 to A.D. 1832.
(1895) [Ninteenth Century writers to the death of Scott.]
4. A.D. 1360 to A.D. 1600.
(1896) [Chaucer to Spenser.]

The Examination in this part will require from Candidates a more minute acquaintance with the history of the English language and literature, as illustrated in the chief works produced in each period, and will be based to a considerable extent, but by no means exclusively, on certain books specified each year by the Commissioners.* The names placed under the dates are intended to suggest the general character of the literary development of the period, and, consequently, the natural limits of the Examination. All the works of Shakespeare, for example, will be regarded as falling within the first period; all the works of Swift within the second; all the works of Scott and Wordsworth within the third.

FRENCH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.—Translation from French into English, and from English into French; Critical questions on the French Language and Literature.

GERMAN LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.—As in French.

LATIN LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.—Translation from Latin into English. Composition in Prose and Verse (in the place of the latter may be taken, by those who prefer it, A PAPER OF QUESTIONS ON LATIN PHILOLOGY). Critical Questions on the Latin Language and Literature.

GREEK LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.—Translation from Greek into English. Composition in Prose and Verse (in the place of the latter may be taken, by those who prefer it, A PAPER OF QUESTIONS ON GREEK PHILOLOGY). Critical Questions on the Greek Language and Literature.

SANSKRIT LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.—Translation from Sanskrit into English, and from English into Sanskrit. History of Sanskrit Literature (including knowledge of such Indian history as bears upon the subject); Sanskrit Grammar; Vedic Philology.

ARABIC LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.—Translations as in Sanskrit; History of Arabic Literature; Arabic Grammar; Arabic Prosody.

ENGLISH HISTORY.—General questions on English History from A.D. 800 to A.D. 1848; questions on the Constitutional History of England from A.D. 800 to A.D. 1848.

Questions covering the whole period named will be set, but Candidates will be allowed to attempt only a limited number of them.

GENERAL MODERN HISTORY.—Candidates may, at their choice, be examined in any one of the following periods:—

1. From the accession of Charlemagne to the Third Crusade.
[A.D. 800 to A.D. 1193.]
2. From the Third Crusade to the Diet of Worms.
[A.D. 1193 to A.D. 1521.]
3. From the Diet of Worms to the death of Louis XIV.
[A.D. 1521 to A.D. 1715.]
4. From the accession of Louis XV. to the French Revolution of 1848.
[A.D. 1715 to A.D. 1848.]

Periods 3 and 4 will include Indian History.

* The books for 1893 are:—
Shakespeare: King Lear; Twelfth Night.

LOGIC AND MENTAL PHILOSOPHY. (Ancient and Modern).—Logic will include both Deductive and Inductive Logic.

Whereas it has been represented to Us that it is expedient to erect a Bishop's see in that part of Our territories in India known as the province of Oudh, together with such portions of Our said territories known as the North-Western Provinces as have been acquired subsequent to the passing of the Act of the third and fourth years of King William the Fourth, intituled "The Government of India Act, 1833." Summary of Financial Statement, 1893-94.

THE Financial Statement was presented to the Legislative Council to-day, and is puhlished in a Gazette Extraordinary.

The Accounts of 1891-92 have closed with a surplus of Rx. 467,000.

In the Revised Estimates for 1892-93 the Revenue is estimated at Rx. 90,021,200 and the Expenditure at Rx. 91,103,100, giving a deficit of Rx. 1,081,900.

The fall in the rate of Exchange during the year below 1*s.* 4*d.*, the rate taken in the Budget, has added Rx. 1,635,300 to the Expenditure, and there has also been a considerable increase of sterling expenditure, and of expenditure on the Army in India. On the other side of the account, there has been an increase of net Opium Revenue in India to the extent of Rx. 971,900 and a large and satisfactory growth of general Revenue. The unfavourable influences outweigh the favourable, and instead of the surplus of Rx. 146,600 shown in the Budget, a deficit of Rx. 1,081,900 is expected. It is explained that the large increase in net Opium Revenue is due to an unfavourable season and a poor opium crop. The payments for crude opium have consequently been less than the Estimate, and the selling price of Bengal opium has largely risen owing to reduction from 1st October of the quantity sold monthly.

In the Budget for 1893-94 the Revenue is estimated at Rx. 90,005,700 and the Expenditure at Rx. 91,600,800, giving a deficit of Rx. 1,595,100.

The rate of Exchange is taken at 1*s.* 3¹⁄₁₆*d.*, and the fall in the rate of Exchange adds Rx. 389,400 directly and Rx. 240,000 indirectly to the Expenditure, making a total addition to Expenditure of Rx. 2,229,400. There is also, as compared with the Budget figures of 1892-93, some addition to Expenditure on the Army in India, and some reduction in net Opium Revenue.

Among the influences which have favourably affected the Estimates of 1893-94 are an increase of ordinary Revenue of Rx. 647,700, some improvement in net RailwayReceipts, and some reduction in net sterling Expenditure and in ordinary Expenditure in India.

It is explained that the fall in the rate of exchange has in two years added Rx. 4,142,400 to the Expenditure, and that the future of Indian finance at the present time depends on the course of Exchange.

Although the Government of India are most unwilling to budget for a deficit, it is considered inexpedient to take measures for the restoration of financial equilibrium until the Home Government have received the Report of Lord Herschell's Committee and given their decision on the Indian Currency question.

It is clearly shown that any measures which could be adopted at the present moment must be either inadequate or unnecessary, and it is stated that the decision on the currency question cannot be much longer delayed. Sir David Barbour appeals to all persons who have taken part in the disputes on the currency question to put aside personal feeling in the matter, to accept whatever decision may now be given, and to endeavour loyally to carry it into effect. He adds that he is willing to take this course himself, though he still prefers a settlement of the question by International agreement, and hopes that it may be possible to secure it at some future time.

Notwithstanding the difficulties of the present day he repeats his former opinion that the resources of India are adequate to her wants, but on the condition that the measures of the Government of India are taken in good time, are regulated by prudence and forethought, and are carried into effect with strict regard to economy.

The Estimates of 1893-94 provide Rx. 3,550,000 for Capital Expenditure not charged to Revenue as well as Rx. 1,119,300 under the Famine Grant for construction of Railways and Canals.

It is expected that a loan of Rx. 3,000,000 will be raised in India during the year, but no pledge is given.

It is announced under the usual reserve that the Secretary of State will probably draw bills for £18,700,000 during the coming year, and will raise a loan for £1,300,000 for discharge of Railway debentures.

And whereas, consequent on the increased demand for timber and fuel, and the necessity of making better arrangements for the said conservancy, and for the purpose of defining more exactly the matters in which that conservancy consists, Regulations II of 1873, V of 1874 and II of 1879, for the conservancy of trees and waste-land in the Hazara District, were duly enacted and received the assent of the Governor General;

And whereas the entries regarding forests and waste-land made in the record-of-rights at the regular settlement of the Hazara District were made in accordance with the provisions of Regulation II of 1873;

And whereas it is now expedient to provide further for the preservation and management of trees and waste-land in the Hazara District;

the Deputy Commissioner may issue orders prohibiting the breaking up or occupation of such waste-land, and defining the area to which such prohibition shall extend, and may cause the limits of such area to be shown on the village-map and to be demarcated on the ground with boundary-marks so far as may be necessary.

(2) All orders passed under section 8 of Regulation II of 1879 for the maintenance of waste-lands as village-forests shall be deemed to be orders passed under this section.

(3) No such order as is referred to in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) shall be cancelled by the Deputy Commissioner without the sanction of the Commissioner of the Division, but the Deputy Commissioner may from time to time revise such orders by altering the boundary of the protected land so as to exclude any particular plot the protection of which may appear to be unnecessary, or by permitting the cultivation of any particular plot on condition of the erection of retaining walls sufficient to ensure its stability.

(a) for the strict forest-management of this area;

(b) for the enjoyment of its produce by the residents of the estate and any other right-holders, and for the due regulation of that enjoyment;

(c) for the recovery of costs of management of the area from the said residents and right-holders.

(2) No compensation shall be claimable by the land-owners or other right-holders of such land in respect of any orders passed under this section.

Power of Deputy Commissioner to set apart waste-land for growth of trees on application of land-owners.

14. If in any case such proportion of the land-owners of the state as pay not less than two-thirds of the land revenue due thereon make an application to the Deputy Commissioner requesting that a stated area of waste-land owned in common by them be set apart for the growth of trees, the Deputy Commissioner shall have power to proceed in respect of that area as provided in the last foregoing section.

Provision for cases of danger from landslips, erosions, etc.

15. If in any case the head or banks of any stream should be in course of being dangerously eroded, or there should be imminent danger of the formation of ravines or the occurrence of landslips, the Deputy Commissioner may proceed with respect to such waste-land as it may be necessary to protect against such danger in the manner provided in sub-section (1) of section 13,

Until such Village-forest-officers are appointed no trees shall be felled without the permission in writing of the Deputy Commissioner or a Forest-officer.

ORGANISATION.

NATIVE ARMY.

No. 314.—The Governor-General in Council has had under his consideration the constitution of the regiments of Hindustani infantry of the Bengal Army. These regiments are now organised in class companies, but His Excellency, while acknowledging the loyalty and efficiency of these regiments and the gallant services rendered by them in the past, is of opinion that the formation of class regiments would lead to increased efficiency and would render the service more popular. Experience has shown that not only is a better class of recruit attracted to class regiments, but that all ranks are more happy and contented when serving exclusively with men of their own race and caste. The regimental system is more harmonious, promotion runs more fairly, and esprit de corps is greater in a class regiment than it can ever be in one made up of class companies. The Governor-General in Council is therefore pleased to announce that, with the sanction of the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India, these regiments will from the 15th May 1893 be organised as class regiments and linked as follows:

RESOLUTION.—The following statement compares the Accounts for the year 1891-92 with the Estimates of that year and with the Accounts of the preceding year :

Expenditure not charged against Revenue—
Capital Expenditure on Railways and Irrigation Works	Rx.	3,365,632	3,500,000	3,500,000	3,500,000	...
Redemption of Liabilities	£	4,692,557	...	...	...	...

2. The accounts of 1891-92 closed with a surplus of Rx. 467,535, being less by Rx. 3,220,636 than the surplus of Rx. 3,688,171 realised in 1890-91. The expenditure under the head Exchange was greater by Rx. 1,866,154 owing mainly to the fall in the average rate of exchange from 1*s.* 6·089*d.* in 1890-91 to 1*s.* 4·733*d.* in 1891-92: the restoration of the Famine Insurance Grant to the full amount of Rx. 1,500,000 involved an additional Imperial Expenditure of Rx. 655,912; and there was no special receipt in 1891-92 corresponding to the contribution of Rx. 490,000 from Provincial Revenues in 1890-91. There were other variations between the accounts of the two years both on the Revenue and Expenditure side, the net result being a decrease in net revenue of Rx. 208,570 in 1891-92 as compared with the previous year.

3. The Budget Estimates of 1891-92 anticipated a surplus of Rx. 115,600. Though the accounts show an improvement in the net result of Rx. 351,935 only, there are considerable variations in the details. The Revenue and Expenditure in India exceeded the Budget Estimates by Rx. 3,043,860 and Rx. 1,488,760 respectively, resulting in a net improvement of Rx. 1,555,100, of which Rx. 967,624 occurs in the Imperial section and Rx. 587,476 in the Provincial and Local section of the Accounts. The sterling expenditure was very slightly higher than the Budget Estimate, but there was an increase of £45,319 in the sterling receipts. On the other hand, there was an increase in the net charge under Exchange of Rx. 658,409.

4. Of the increase of Rx. 3,043,860 in the Revenue in India, Rx. 2,064,189 occurred in Railway Revenue, which was especially large in 1891-92 in consequence chiefly of the exceptionally heavy exports of wheat and seeds. The Opium Revenue also exceeded the estimate by Rx. 418,980 owing to the higher prices realised at the sales of Bengal opium and to an increase in the exports of Malwa opium. The remainder of the increase, Rx. 560,691, is distributed as follows:

		Increase + Decrease —	Rx.
Principal Heads of Revenue (excluding Opium) ...	...	+	171,869
Interest	...	+	30,888
Post Office, Telegraph, and Mint ...	...	+	112,543
Civil Department	...	+	84,719
Miscellaneous	...	+	53,892
Irrigation	...	+	111,440
Buildings and Roads	...	+	25,917
Army	...	—	30,577
TOTAL	...	+	560,691

There was a falling-off in Land Revenue of Rx. 433,526, caused mainly by the scarcity in Madras. The receipts from Forest Revenue and Provincial Rates were also slightly less than the Estimate, but there were increases under the other principal heads of Revenue, the more important being Salt Rx. 292,682, Stamps Rx. 113,956, and Excise Rx. 163,564.

In the group "Post Office, Telegraph, and Mint," the Telegraph Revenue exceeded the Budget Estimate by Rx. 146,342, the Post Office Revenue yielded a small improvement, but the Mint receipts were less than the Estimate in consequence of the coinage being below the average.

Under Irrigation the improvement in Direct Receipts from Major Works was Rx. 181,037, but there was a falling-off in the portion of Land Revenue due to Irrigation.

5. The increase of Rx. 1,488,760 in Expenditure in India is accounted for by excesses over the Budget Estimates of Rx. 1,175,562 in Military Expenditure and of Rx. 688,172 in the Railway Revenue Accounts. On the other hand, there was a saving of Rx. 413,128 in Opium Expenditure owing to the partial failure of the crop.

6. The improvement of Rx. 587,476 in the Provincial and Local sections is made up of an increase of Rx. 580,073 in Revenue and a reduction of Rx. 7,403 in Expenditure.

7. The increase in the Revenue in England of £45,319 includes £28,466 under Interest obtained by the investment of surplus cash balances, and £10,049 under "Miscellaneous" from some special receipts connected with the supply of stores to India.

8. While the total sterling expenditure did not differ appreciably from the Budget Estimate, there was an increase of £232,088 under Interest on Debt caused by the payment of discount on the 3 per cent. Stock issued during the year, and there were reductions of £102,087 and £140,737 respectively under Army and Special Defence Works, representing mainly postponements of expenditure to the following year.

9. The increase in the net charge under Exchange was Rx. 658,409. The fall in exchange from 1*s.* 5¼*d.* the rupee, the rate adopted for the Budget Estimates, to 1*s.* 4·733*d.*, the rate actually realised in the year, involved an additional charge of Rx. 675,165, which was reduced to the amount just mentioned by the reduction in the net sterling expenditure.

10. The following paragraphs notice in succession the several heads of Revenue and Expenditure:

PRINCIPAL HEADS OF REVENUE.

11. Land Revenue.—The collections of the year were less than those of the preceding year and than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 115,242 and Rx. 516,537 respectively. The scarcity in Madras during the year more than accounts for this reduction, the collections in that Presidency being Rx. 428,646 below those of 1890-91, and Rx. 556,367 below the Budget Estimate of 1891-92. In the North-Western Provinces the revenue was less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 85,333, partly because settlement operations resulted in a reduction of the assessments in two districts, and partly because the arrears outstanding at the end of the year were larger than the Budget Estimates anticipated. In Upper Burma the collections fell short of the Estimate by Rx. 72,439 in consequence of scarcity and of the postponement of the payment of two lakhs of the rent of the Ruby Mines Company. In Bombay the collections were slightly less than the Budget Estimate. In the other Provinces the collections exceeded by moderate amounts the Budget Estimates of the year.

		I.—Land Revenue.	Portion due to Irrigation.	Total.

	Accounts ...	23,965,774	673,189	24,638,963

The collections of the past five official years (including Land Revenue due to Irrigation) and those of the last five Revenue years ending with 30th September are as follows:

	Year ending 31st March.	Year ending 30th September.
	Rx.	Rx.
1887-88	23,791,800	23,924,700

1890-91	24,754,200	24,890,900
1891-92	24,639,000	24,700,400

12. Opium.—The revenue from both Bengal and Malwa opium exceeded the Budget Estimates of the year and the actuals of the preceding year. A succession of poor crops necessitated the reduction of the quantity of Bengal opium to be offered for sale in 1892 to 54,000 chests; and the number of chests sold in 1891-92 was 56,250 against 57,000 in the preceding year, but an improvement in the average price from Rs. 1,037 to Rs. 1,058 a chest resulted in a slight increase in the Revenue from Bengal opium as compared with the year 1890-91: in the Budget Estimate an average price per chest of Rs. 1,000 only was assumed. The weighments of Malwa

In Bengal the opium crop was again a poor one. The figures in the margin show the outturn of provision opium for the last eight years.

13. Salt.—The Revenue showed satisfactory improvement in all Provinces, except Madras. In Madras the consumption of salt increased as in other Provinces, but the unusually large cash sales in 1890-91 raised the receipts of that year to the prejudice of 1891-92: some allowance was made for this in framing the Budget Estimate for 1891-92, but it proved insufficient. The sales of salt in Bombay were exceptionally high, the revenue realised having exceeded the Budget Estimate of the year and the receipts of the preceding year by Rx. 226,608 and Rx. 163,832 respectively.

14. Stamps and Excise.—The Stamp Revenue fell off in the closing months of 1890-91, and the revenue of that year was lower than that of the previous year, the decrease occurring under Court-fee Stamps; but the ground lost was more than made up in 1891-92. Except the small Provinces under the direct administration of the Government of India, all Provinces contributed to the increase, and notably Bengal. To the increase in the Excise Revenue also all Provinces contributed, with the one exception of the North-Western Provinces, where the revenue was less than the Budget Estimate, the increase being largest in Bengal.

Export Duties.—The receipts from Export Duties exceeded the Budget Estimate by Rx. 39,557, but were less than those of 1890-91 by Rx. 42,881. The exports of rice from Burma in 1890-91 were abnormally large.

22. Assignments and Compensations.—The capitalised value of certain annual remissions of revenue was paid during the year in the North-Western Provinces, and there were some arrear payments in both the North-Western Provinces and Madras. There was also a change of classification by which certain payments formerly shown as political pensions in Madras are now charged to this head.

23. Land Revenue.—The expenditure under this head increases in consequence of the growth of revenue and of improvements in the administration. Survey and Settlement charges are also increasing for a time. Of the total increase of Rx. 158,530 in the expenditure of 1891-92 over the preceding year, Rx. 37,776 occurred in Burma, Rx. 48,338 in Bengal, and Rx. 60,742 in Madras. More than half the total increase in Burma was in Survey and Settlement charges. In Bengal also the greater part of the excess was connected with Settlement operations in Government and temporarily settled estates. In Madras about half the total increase appeared under the charges for district administration, and the remainder was connected mainly with the revision of the remuneration of the local village establishments. The Budget Estimates proved too high, chiefly in the Central Provinces, Assam, and Bombay, but in Bengal the estimates for "Survey and Settlement" and other heads were too low.

24. Opium.—The variations occur in the cultivation and manufacturing charges, which depend on the outturn of the crop each season. As already stated in paragraph 12, there was again a failure of the opium crop for the third year in succession since 1888-89. By this the expenditure of the year is reduced, but the saving is to the detriment of the revenue of succeeding years.

25. Salt.—The Budget Estimate was closely followed, except in the charges for Preventive Establishments and Manufacture and Excavation in Northern India, the provision for which was not all required. The expansion of the operations of the Department accounts for the increase in the charges of 1891-92 over the previous year. Of the total increase of Rx. 30,021, Rx. 21,340 occurred in Madras and Rx. 10,191 in Bombay, there being, on the other hand, some small reductions in Bengal and Northern India.

As regards the remainder, the discount on sale of stamps increased with the growth of Revenue, and the Bombay charges for superintendence were enhanced by the deputation of the Assistant Superintendent of Stamps to England in connection with the prosecution for the theft of stamps from the S. S. Astræa.

27. Excise.—The extension of the tree-tax system in Madras, the entertainment of Naib Tehsildars in distilleries in the North-Western Provinces, and additions to distillery establishments in Bengal and Bombay are the chief causes of the increased expenditure as compared with 1890-91. The increases in the North-Western Provinces and Madras were not fully anticipated in the Estimates.

28. Provincial Rates, Customs, Assessed Taxes, and Registration.—The chief points requiring notice in connection with these figures are (1) that new establishments required for valuation and re-valuation work in Bengal increased the charges in that Province under Provincial Rates; and (2) that the District Registration charges were augmented in some Provinces owing to larger payments of commission on increased revenue.

29. Forest.—The variations under this head follow to some extent the variations under the corresponding Revenue head. The saving on the Budget Estimate of Rx. 61,774 is distributed over nearly all the Provinces, and part of it is due to provision for the reorganisation of the Forest Staff in some Provinces not being utilized during the year.

INTEREST.

30. Revenue.—The receipts in 1891-92 were less than those in the preceding year by Rx. 51,607. There was a decrease in England of £107,728, equivalent, with exchange, to Rx. 136,643, and an increase in India of Rx. 85,036. On the other hand the Budget Estimate was exceeded by Rx. 73,043, £28,466 in England, Rx. 13,689 under Exchange, and Rx. 30,888 in India. In England the amounts obtained by the investment of cash balances in 1890-91 were abnormally high; the receipts in 1891-92 were much lower, though they exceeded the Budget Estimate. In India the receipts are increasing with the yearly additions to the advances to Municipalities, Port Trusts, and cultivators. The points that require special notice are—(1) the currency investment was increased by Rx. 1,000,000 in accordance with the Notification in the Finance and Commerce Department, No. 4861, dated 3rd December 1891, and owing to this the receipts in 1891-92 were higher than 1890-91 by Rx. 31,143; and (2) there was a receipt in 1891-92 of Rx. 38,291 against Rx. 9,115 in 1890-91 on account of interest on overdrawn capital of Railway Companies. The estimate of receipts from loans to Municipalities, &c., in India was not fully realised.

31. Expenditure: Interest on Debt.—The reduction in the charges in India in 1891-92 as compared with the preceding year is connected with the conversion in 1890-91 of a portion of the 4½ % loans of 1878 and 1879 into 4 % paper. These conversion operations involved certain advance payments of interest and other charges in the year of conversion, and effected a permanent reduction in the charges of 1891-92 and subsequent years to the extent of one-half per cent. on the amount converted. The increase in the sterling payments is due to the new 3 % loan of £4,600,000 raised in 1891-92, and to the transfer to Government of the liability for the debentures and debenture stock of the South Indian Railway on its purchase by the State in 1890-91. The interest charged to Ordinary Debt in England included £254,353, being discount on the issue and sales in 1891-92 of £4,600,000 India 3 per cent. Stock; but, according to the usual practice, no provision was made for this in the Budget Estimate. On the other hand, £10,000 provided for interest on Temporary Loans was not required, and there were other savings owing to a portion of the loan of the year not having been raised so early as was expected.

32. Interest on other Obligations.—The interest on Savings Bank Deposits is the most important item under this head. Excluding the adjustment of interest, the net addition to these deposits in the year amounted to Rx. 517,904, and the payment of interest was Rx. 306,227 against Rx. 279,653 in 1890-91: the provision made in the Budget Estimate for the growth of the deposits and of the interest on them was smaller. On the other hand, the payments of the pensions and annuities which represent the interest on the special loans from the King of Oudh and on the 8 per cent. Madras perpetual loans were less than the amounts entered in the Estimates.

REVENUE.

33. Post Office.—The revenue in 1891-92 exceeded that of 1890-91 by Rx. 43,852. The real increase was less, because in 1891-92 a change was made in the method of dividing between England and India the postage on letters between the two countries: each country now retains the postage collected by it, and a sum of £19,900 is paid annually in England to the London Post Office and charged as expenditure in the Home Accounts, while the former practice was to adjust the similar payment by deduction from revenue in India. The improvement in Revenue is below the average of earlier years owing to a reduction in the rates of letter postage to the United Kingdom from 1st January 1891. The allowance made in the Budget Estimate for the reduction in the rates proved to be greater than was necessary; and the Revenue generally also increased more than was anticipated.

34. Telegraph.—The receipts in 1891-92 show an increase of Rx. 138,300 over those of 1890-91. Here also a change of procedure has caused the increase to appear larger than it is: the payments made in London to Telegraph Companies on account of message revenue under the joint purse arrangement, and as contribution to the Australasian message fund, instead of, as formerly, being deducted from receipts, are now shown as expenditure. Even after allowing for this the improvement in the year was much above the normal, the traffic, both foreign and internal, having expanded remarkably, and having much more than counterbalanced the diminution in revenue caused by the reduction in the transit rate for foreign messages from 75 to 35 centimes and the reduction in the tariff for messages from England to Australasia.

The following table compares the net receipts of the Telegraph Department for the last four years:

35. Mint.—The exceptionally heavy imports of silver to India in 1890-91 were followed by a reduction below the average of past years in the imports of 1891-92, and there was a consequent reduction in the seigniorage duty. The Budget Estimate assumed an average import.

EXPENDITURE.

36. Post Office.—The Expenditure increases with the Revenue and with the expansion of the Department. But the causes contributing to the specially large increase of Rx. 96,615 in 1891-92 as compared with 1890-91 were—(1) the payment in England to the London Post Office mentioned in paragraph 33; (2) the adjustment for the first time in 1891-92 as Post Office expenditure of the value of stationery supplied from Central Stores to the Postal Department and of printing done at Government presses for that Department; and (3) the fall in the rate of exchange. No provision was made in the Budget Estimate for the printing and stationery charges, but the amount included in the Revised Estimate was too high.

37. Telegraph.—The charges exceed those in 1890-91 and the Budget Estimate by Rx. 74,740 and Rx. 46,320 respectively. These excesses are due chiefly to the adjustment as expenditure of the payments in England mentioned in paragraph 34 and to the fall in exchange.

REVENUE.

39. The increase over the actuals of 1890-91 appears chiefly under Courts of Law and Jails, due to enhanced receipts from general fees and fines and from Jail manufactures. The increase in the total would have been larger but for a special receipt in 1890-91 of £31,000 by the sale of the Royal Lunatic Asylum estate at Ealing. The Budget Estimate was exceeded notably under the heads Courts of Law, Police, Marine, and Scientific and other Minor Departments, the improvements having occurred respectively in magisterial fines, cattle pound receipts, Dockyard services, and Miscellaneous receipts in the Minor Departments on account of contributions, examination fees, and sale-proceeds of stores.

40. Administration.—About half the total differences between the actuals of 1891-92 and those of the preceding year and the Budget Estimate occur under Exchange. 42. Law and Justice—Jails.—The Jail charges in 1891-92 were considerably higher than the previous year owing to an increase in jail population in some Provinces and to a rise in the price of food-grains. The saving on the Budget Estimate occurred mainly in the cost of jail manufactures.

43. Police.—The Budget Estimate provided for large expenditure in Bombay on a scheme for the reorganisation of the Police, but it was not brought into operation during the year. The expenditure in Upper and Lower Burma was also much over-estimated. 45. Education, Ecclesiastical and Medical.—The efforts of Local Governments to meet more fully the growing wants of the people increase the expenditure under Education and Medical from year to year. The Medical Expenditure includes Rx. 57,400 on account of the cost of local establishments for clearing tanks and wells in Madras, which was shown under "32—Miscellaneous" in previous years and in the Budget Estimate of 1891-92.

47. Scientific and other Minor Departments.—The expenditure on the Census swelled the charges for 1891-92. The Survey charges, on the other hand, were less than in the previous year and in the Budget Estimate because of a change in the system of adjustment of Survey charges recoverable from Wards' estates and other bodies. Formerly, these recoverable items were adjusted in the first place as Government expenditure, and the repayments were deducted from the expenditure of the year in which they were made: they are now excluded from the Government expenditure from the beginning. The Revised Estimate for Census charges was too high.

MISCELLANEOUS.

RECEIPTS.

48. Superannuation Receipts.—The subscriptions to the Military, Military Orphan, and Medical Retiring Funds were less than in 1890-91; but there were higher receipts of contributions for pensions and gratuities.

49. Stationery and Printing.—The receipts in 1890-91 were especially high owing to the adjustments on account of the value of Census forms and of printing work done for the Census Department. In 1891-92 also there were some recoveries on the same account not foreseen when the estimates were framed. The supplies of stationery to State Railways and to the Berar Administration, and the printing work done at the jail presses at Nagpur and Lahore, were also larger than anticipated.

51. Miscellaneous.—The increase over the Budget Estimate for this uncertain head of Revenue is due to the receipt of some extraordinary unforeseen items in Assam, Punjab, Madras, and Bombay amounting to Rx. 30,890, and to a rise in the rents classified under this head in Burma and Madras of Rx. 12,080. In England also there were some special receipts connected with the supply of stores to India.

EXPENDITURE.

52. Territorial and Political Pensions.—The payments in England on account of the Maharaja Duleep Singh amounted to £53,423 against £15,110 paid in 1890-91 and £21,100 entered in the Budget Estimate. In India the payments decreased.

53. Civil Furlough and Absentee Allowances.—The expenditure in 1890-91 was specially low, the temporary rise in the rate of exchange having induced officers to draw their allowances in India, as explained in paragraph 52 of the Resolution in this Department, No. 2159, dated 20th May 1892. In 1891-92 the payments of absentee allowances of officers of the Indian Civil Service proved to be lower than the Budget Estimate.

54. Superannuation Allowances and Pensions.—The payments of pensions of the Uncovenanted Service at the minimum rate of 1*s.* 9*d.* caused also a considerable increase in the sterling expenditure which was partially provided for in the Budget. The charges continue to grow both in India and England.

55. Stationery and Printing.—The special points requiring notice are that the purchase of stationery for the Central stores at Calcutta were largely in excess of the Budget Estimate and the accounts of 1890-91 owing to the exhaustion of the stock of paper received from England some years ago before the large substitution of the use of Indian made for English paper was ordered; and that, on the other hand, as already noticed in paragraph 36, a sum of Rx. 47,371, the value of supplies to and work done for the Postal Department, was treated as Post Office Expenditure by transfer from this head.

56. Miscellaneous.—As noticed in paragraph 45, expenditure amounting to Rx. 57,400 was transferred from this head to Medical, and the reserve of Rx. 70,000 provided in Madras was not required for expenditure under this head. On the other hand, the balance of Rx. 18,386 in the Manipur Treasury which was plundered during the disturbance in March 1891 was written off as lost in the accounts of 1891-92; there were increased payments for Municipal taxes on Government buildings in Bombay; and there was considerable expenditure on certain Commissions of Enquiry, namely, the Native Passengers Ships Commission, the Leprosy Commission, Police Organisation Commissions in Bengal and in the North-Western Provinces, the Malabar Marriage Bill Commission in Madras, and the Deccan Agriculturists' Relief Act Commission in Bombay.

FAMINE RELIEF AND INSURANCE.

57. In 1889-90 the improvement in the financial position enabled the Government of India partially to restore the Famine Insurance Grant, and the grant was raised in that year to Rx. 600,000, exclusive of the net charge on the Revenues on account of the Indian Midland and Bengal-Nagpur Railways, which is shown under the Railway Revenue Account. In 1890-91 the grant was maintained at the same amount. The net charge on account of the two Protective Railways constructed through the agency of Companies was Rx. 462,009 in 1889-90 and Rx. 482,351 in 1890-91, making the total grant for each of those years Rx. 1,062,009 and Rx. 1,082,351 respectively.

In 1891-92 the Famine Insurance Grant was raised to the full amount of Rx. 1,500,000, including the loss on the two Protective Railways. The first charges against the grant are (1) direct expenditure on Famine Relief; (2) the loss on the two Railways; and (3) the expenditure on the construction of Protective Irrigation Works: the balance is devoted to the construction of railways or to the Reduction of Debt. In the Budget Estimate that balance was taken at Rx. 975,000, and it was intended to spend the whole of that sum on the construction of railways. The direct expenditure on Famine Relief exceeded the Estimate by Rx. 20,423, and in the expenditure on Irrigation Works there was an excess of Rx. 12,931: on the other hand, the loss on the two Railways amounted to Rx. 231,681 instead of the Estimate of Rx. 457,000, and the amount spent on the construction of Railways in excess of the expenditure not charged against Revenue was Rx. 484,795 only instead of Rx. 975,000. To maintain the Famine Insurance Grant at the fixed amount, the sum of Rx. 682,170 was therefore charged in the accounts under Reduction of Debt.

CONSTRUCTION OF RAILWAYS CHARGED AGAINST REVENUE IN ADDITION TO THAT UNDER FAMINE INSURANCE.

58. The net receipt in 1890-91 was due to certain recoveries from the Rohilkhund Railway Company mentioned in paragraph 57 of the review of last year. In 1891-92 the bulk of the expenditure was incurred on the Hyderabad-Umarkot Railway in Bombay, Rx. 117,221, and on the Mayavaram-Mutupet line in Madras, Rx. 42,662. Delay in the acquisition of land for the latter Railway impeded the progress of the work, and the full Budget Grant was not spent.

59. Net earnings.—The figures in the margin show the net earnings of Railways since 1887-88. The annual progress has been satisfactory, and was exceptionally great in 1891-92. The increase in that year over the actuals of the preceding year and the Budget Estimate amounted to Rx. 1,259,528 and Rx. 1,505,366 respectively. This improvement was distributed as follows:

The annual increase in the open mileage and the ordinary development of traffic on new lines, such, for example, as the Bengal-Nagpur Railway, account for some portion of the improvements. But the main causes are an exceptionally heavy export traffic of wheat and seeds, an increased movement of food-grains owing to scarcity in certain parts of the country, an increased traffic of coal, and a large pilgrim traffic in Northern India connected with certain Hindu religious festivals.

The falling-off on the Eastern Bengal Railway is the result partly of a decline in jute traffic, and partly of heavy expenditure for renewals and in payment of compensation for goods lost and damaged in river flats burnt and sunk by an accident. On the Bengal North-Western Railway there was some reduction in earnings, but by far the greater part of the apparent deterioration was caused by the payment to the Company of its share of the net earnings for three half years in 1891-92. There were some heavy renewals on the Madras line.

60. Interest and Annuities.—The interest charges show a progressive increase with the construction of new railways. The speculative rise in the rate of exchange in 1890-91 accounts for the specially low expenditure in that year in the charge for exchange.

61. Other Expenditure.—The major part of this expenditure consists of payments of surplus profits to the guaranteed railways. These payments in 1891-92 exceeded those of the preceding year and of the Budget Estimate by Rx. 264,325 and Rx. 166,159 respectively as a consequence of the exceptional traffic obtained in the last few months of 1890-91 and in 1891-92. On the other hand, the grant for Miscellaneous Railway Expenditure was not fully spent; nor was the expenditure so high as in 1890-91. The recoveries from Railway Companies of their share of the cost of Government supervision, which are deducted from expenditure, were also higher than the actuals of the preceding year and than the Budget Estimates.

62. The net loss on the Railway Revenue Accounts.—The net loss to the Government from its connection with Railways has been as under since 1886-87:

	Rx.
1886-87	1,188,700
1887-88	2,122,400
1888-89	2,233,400
1889-90	1,852,600
1890-91	687,300
1891-92	315,800

A large portion of the interest charges being payable in sterling, the fluctuations in the rate of exchange have a very important effect on the figures just given. If the rate of exchange had not varied from that of 1886-87, the loss or gain would have been as under—

		Rx.
1886-87		1,188,700
1887-88		1,884,000
1888-89	Net loss	1,729,100
1889-90		1,444,800
1890-91		968,500
1891-92	Net gain	13,100

The expenditure on the Frontier Railways and the liabilities incurred in connection with the Bengal-Nagpur and Indian Midland Railways increased the loss considerably in 1887-88; but if the rate of exchange had not changed since 1886-87, the net loss would have decreased every year since 1887-88, and would have been converted into a net gain in 1891-92.

IRRIGATION.

MAJOR WORKS.

63. Net Earnings, excluding Land Revenue.—The increase was secured chiefly by the extension of irrigation from the canals in the Punjab and in the North-Western Provinces. Part of the increase in the Punjab was nominal, a change in the system of levying water rates in the Bari Doab Canal having caused certain receipts to be treated as direct Canal Revenue instead of as Land Revenue due to Irrigation. Some arrears were also recovered on the Midnapur and Sone Canals in Bengal.

64. Interest.—These charges increase with the progress in the construction of Irrigation Works. The additional outlay on the Chenab Canal and the Periyar Project mentioned in paragraph 74 accounts for the excess over the Estimate.

66. Expenditure.—A considerable portion of the increase in 1891-92 is due to expenditure on Famine Relief Works in Rajputana, Upper Burma, and Madras. In Lower Burma also additional expenditure was incurred on the construction of a lock on the Kyaikto-Sittang Canal and in improving the Irrawaddy embankments threatened by river encroachment.

BUILDINGS AND ROADS.

67. Receipts.—The accounts of 1890-91 included the sale proceeds of the Customs House at Calcutta, Rx. 31,700. There was no such important special recovery in 1891-92, but there were increased receipts from the sale of some military buildings and from tolls on roads and ferries, and also from the Coopers Hill College in England.

68. Expenditure.—The Imperial expenditure exceeded that of 1890-91 and the Budget Estimate by Rx. 153,340 and Rx. 177,376 respectively. Special grants were made in the year for the restoration of buildings at Quetta damaged by rain, Rx. 37,200, for outlay on measures intended to facilitate the speedy mobilization of the Army in time of war, Rx. 61,600, and for buildings for the accommodation of the troops in the Chin Hills. Additional expenditure of considerable amounts was also incurred on Famine Relief Works in Rajputana and Upper Burma and for the Nichuguard-Manipur road in Assam.

As regards Provincial and Local charges, the quinquennial contracts with Provincial Governments made in 1887 having proved extremely favourable to them, the Local Governments had at their disposal considerable balances which they devoted largely to useful Public Works. The increase in Provincial expenditure as compared with 1890-91 was largest in the North-Western Provinces, where it was incurred in the construction of new roads in the Kumaon and Naini Tal Divisions and in the payment of large contributions for Municipal Water Works at Benares, Cawnpore, and Allahabad. Next in order came Madras, Bengal, Punjab, Central Provinces, and Lower Burma, in most of which the programme of Public Works was generally enlarged.

ARMY.

RECEIPTS.

69. The decrease in the receipts occurred mainly under Commissariat receipts owing to smaller issues of malt liquor and to the discontinuance of the employment of State agency for the supply of the liquor to British corps and batteries in Lower Burma.

EXPENDITURE.

70. India.—The accounts of 1890-91 included Rx. 760,000 for extra expenditure connected with Military expeditions and the occupation of Upper Burma. Provision was made in the Budget Estimate of 1891-92 for Rx. 557,000 on account of similar extra expenditure, but the actuals amounted to no less than Rx. 1,395,600. This large increase of Rx. 838,600 over the Budget Estimate consisted mainly of additional expenditure connected with the Manipur expedition (Rx. 378,074), the Miranzai (Rx. 141,719), Chin-Lushai (Rx. 91,393), the Hazara (Rx. 47,246), and Wuntho (Rx. 45,257) expeditions, and the cold weather operations in Upper Burma (Rx. 94,775). Rx. 196,170 and Rx. 49,459 respectively were also spent on mobilisation arrangements and on the augmentation of transport, for which there was no provision in the Budget Estimate.

1891-92	Budget	14,565,500

Apart from the special expenditure mentioned above, there were increased charges in 1891-92 connected with the purchase, feed, and keep of additional horses and ordnance mules, and a rise in prices of food for men and animals.

The Revised Estimate did not provide sufficiently for the charges of the Chin-Lushai and Manipur expeditions or for the rise in prices of food and other Commissariat charges.

71. England and Exchange.—In England the excess of £119,388 over the expenditure of 1890-91 was made up of an increase in the effective charges of £65,950 and of £53,438 in the non-effective charges, the former being due to increased supplies of stores, and the latter representing a growth of the pension charges. The saving on the Budget Estimate is due mainly to smaller expenditure on Ordnance stores. Further, the Budget Estimate included an addition of £25,000 for deferred pay of British forces serving in India; but neither this amount nor a sum of £240,000 included in the Revised Estimate on account of arrears of effective Home charges of British forces serving in India were paid.

SPECIAL DEFENCE WORKS.

72. As in previous years, the grant for these works was not fully spent owing to delay in the supply of stores from England and in the progress of construction. The lapses were, however, less than had been anticipated in framing the Revised Estimate.

The restoration of the Famine Insurance Grant to Rx. 1,500,000 from 1891-92 enabled Government to frame an enlarged Railway programme, but the expenditure was not so high as in the Estimates owing to the progress of construction having been less rapid than was hoped.

I have the honour to forward herewith, for the information of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, an official report submitted by Lieutenant F. J. Moberly, 37th Bengal Infantry, in which the fighting which took place in Chilás on the 5th March is described.

2. The post of Chilás had been for some time past held by three hundred rifles of the Body Guard Regiment, and, with the rest of the line of communication to Búnji, had been placed by me under the immediate orders of Major Daniell, 1st Punjab Infantry, an officer specially selected last year to act as my second-in-command. On the 5th, owing to convoy and other duties, the available rifles at Chilás were some 270.

3. For some time Major Daniell had received warning that an attack was preparing, which was to take place on the night of the Mahomedan feast known as the Shab-i-Barat. Unfortunately some mistake was made in calculating the night. Major Daniell believed it to be that of the 2nd and 3rd, and on the 3rd of March he wrote that everything was quiet, and that there was no sign of the enemy. So confident had he become that no attack was intended that he gave Lieutenant Moberly permission to go shooting from the 4th, a permission of which that officer fortunately did not avail himself. Further, I found that a patrol which had been habitually for some weeks sent in the afternoon to ground about a mile to the west of our camp, from which a very extended view, embracing the road down to the Indus Valley for several miles, can be obtained, had, on the afternoon of the 4th, been stopped by Major Daniell's orders. Had it moved out as usual, the collection of the enemy opposite the Hodar stream must have been observed. But for the circumstance that a party of the enemy broke into a house in the village in search of a man employed by me, and that they fired a couple of shots at his servant, it appears to me that something very like a surprise of the post would have occurred. The mistake in the dates was most unfortunate.

4. I have nothing to add to Lieutenant Moberly's account of the actual fighting beyond my thorough concurrence in the opinion expressed by him as to the behaviour of the Body Guard Regiment. I have ordered a committee to assemble to report on the cases of the men recommended by Lieutenant Moberly for the Order of Merit, and the proceedings shall be forwarded in due course.

5. A very careful examination of the ground has convinced me that Major Daniell's attack, though extremely gallant, was faulty in conception. He was killed at a point marked by a red spot on the accompanying sketch—that is, in a position to reach which he had led a portion of his men through a raking cross fire. Moreover, his attack forced Lieutenant Moberly to stop all fire from the walls of our fort, and deprived the attack of valuable support. From what I could discover, it appears that he was confident of thoroughly defeating the enemy, and that his one fear was that they would not stand. His attack consequently became an encircling one, and, by cutting off the enemy from all avenues of escape, led to unnecessary loss on our side, while probably not increasing that of the enemy, who, if attacked only in front and flank, would have been driven out into the ruined fort and into the open beyond.

6. The enemy carried off the rifles and belts of seventeen dead sepoys. Their loss has been extremely heavy; there are more than 120 men buried in Chilás itself; and, from information obtained, there is no doubt but that their loss in dead has amounted to from 180 to 250, with numerous wounded. The fire of our men was very deadly owing to the crowded condition of the enemy; the number of hits to rounds fired being between three and four per cent. The enemy came from as far as seventy miles down the Indus below Chilás, and comprised levies from Koli Palas, Patan, Jalkot, Sao, Kotgala, Sazin, Tangir, Darel, Harban, Hodar, Thur, and Chilás. The Jalkot and Sao men lost very heavily, the former losing two headmen; the Tangiris also had a leading man killed. At present the Shins—that is, the states on both banks to Sazin—have had enough; the Koli Palas men were slightly engaged, and are said not to wish to join any new confederacy; but the Jalkot and Patan men are determined to return if they can raise another force and get help from below.

7. I would desire to recommend Lieutenant Moberly very strongly to the notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief. Throughout a most trying day this young officer behaved with marked gallantry and coolness. In the first attack on the village he led his men very gallantly, killing three of the enemy with his own hand; his retirement after being wounded was cool and methodical, and saved his party from destruction. His action after Major Daniell's death showed, in my opinion, marked coolness and nerve, more especially considering the fact that he had been wounded in the head and stunned, and that he was throughout the day of the 5th and following night suffering from the effects of his wound. The disposition made by him to cover the retirement of the remains of Major Daniell's attacking party, the rapidity with which he seems to have re-established perfect order,—no easy task when one-third of the storming party were killed and wounded,—his quiet and efficient arrangements to hold the post, all reflect the greatest credit on him. His example had evidently an excellent effect on the men, and I venture to think that his conduct is deserving of special recognition.

8. In conclusion, I wish to express my deep regret at the death of Major Daniell. It would be difficult to find a more gallant officer, or one more experienced in frontier warfare, and, short as the time was during which he served under me, it was long enough to make me appreciate his soldierly qualities, his directness, and loyalty.

From LIEUTENANT F. J. MOBERLY, 37th Bengal Infantry, on special duty in Gilgit, Commanding in Chilás, to the Staff Officer, Gilgit,—(dated Chilás, the 8th March 1893).

I have the honour to forward the following report of the recent fighting in Chilás for the information of the British Agent.

On the morning of the 5th instant, about 3 A.M., I was awoke by a sepoy of the guard over the north-eastern entrance of the fort, and he told me that a large number of armed men with drums and flags were advancing, beating drums and shouting. I woke Major Daniell, and went round the tents waking up the sepays, who at once fell in and lined the walls. We waited there till the enemy came within 200 yards, and then Major Daniell gave the order to commence fire. We did so by volleys, and the enemy at once retired into the village, firing as they went, but without doing any harm to us. It was too dark to see how many there were, but I should think that there were not less than 1,000 or 1,200. They then began building a low stone breastwork on the ruins of the old fort. I was then ordered by Major Daniell to take 35 men down, and attack the village. This was, as I found out afterwards, about 3-30 A.M. I advanced with half the number of men extended, firing volleys, and the other half in support, and when within some 70 yards of the village, I ordered up the support and charged. During the advance two sepoys were wounded. We found the village full of men with guns, who fired and threw stones at us. We cleared the first line of houses after some fighting, killing about twelve or fifteen of the enemy and wounding some more. Jemadar Gan Singh, of the Body Guard Regiment, here captured a standard, and altogether behaved with conspicuous gallantry. We were again advancing, when I was struck by a bullet on the head, which stunned me. On coming to my senses, I found that my men had not advanced any more, and as I did not feel equal to the task of going on myself, and as besides the enemy were beginning to creep round our flank, I ordered the Jemadar to retire. During the retirement one man was wounded, and on arriving at the fort I discovered that one of my personal orderlies was missing, and I have since found out that he was shot through the brain in the place where I was shot, and in the dark he must have been overlooked. I remember seeing him beside me at the time.

The enemy kept up an incessant fire on us from then till about 8-30 A.M., when they almost entirely ceased, but without doing us any damage. Major Daniell had meanwhile determined to attack the village and the sangar with as many men as possible. So he ordered the attacking party to fall in at 9 A.M. It was only possible to get 140 men together, as he had to leave some 120 men in the fort, as the enemy by this time had crossed the Botogah Nala, and had also taken up a position on a hill to the south-east of us, thereby entirely surrounding us. He marched out from the south-eastern entrance of the fort, and, making a circuit, began to advance on the western side of the village. Meanwhile, we in the fort kept up as heavy a fire as possible on the village and sangar. Major Daniell's advance appears to have been in two parties. Half the sepoys under Subadar Mán Singh went straight at the village and gained the outer edge of it, where they remained throughout, keeping up a heavy fire on the enemy, who remained in the village returning the fire. The other half, under Major Daniell, went below the village, and then advanced up on the eastern side of it, passing by the mosque, which was full of men. Close here the Major was shot, and then Adjutant Náin Singh appears to have closed all round the village, inclining so as to unite with Subadar Mán Singh's company. It was about this time that he (the Adjutant Náin Singh) was also killed, as well as Subadar Bír Singh.

Subadar Mán Singh had been wounded and brought into the fort, and has since died of his wounds. On hearing of Adjutant Náin Singh's death, Jemadar Gan Singh collected all the men together and retired. This was about 11-30 A.M.

As regards this report of Major Daniell's attack, it is only what I can hear from the Native officers who took part in it, as until 11 A.M. we got no news in the fort, but we could see that there was some hard fighting going on in and about the village. About 11 A.M. wounded men began coming in, and then Major Daniell's orderly came and said that the Major had been killed, shot through the head and the body. About this time we saw the sepoys gradually retiring and firing, being pursued by the enemy, whom, however, they held in check. Just then I heard that Adjutant Náin Singh and Subadar Bír Singh and a lot of sepoys had been killed in the village, and at the same time news came that the sepoys were running short of ammunition; so I sent out a party with some boxes of ammunition to cover the general retirement. Here I wish to mention the particularly gallant conduct of Sepoy Mangalu, No. 1 Company, Body Guard Regiment, who, as soon as he heard that they were short of ammunition, shouldered a box and rushed out, crossing a very heavy fire and getting wounded in the leg; but, nevertheless, he stuck to his box. During the retirement another gallant action was performed by another sepoy of the Body Guard Regiment, Sepoy Bahadur Gurung, No. 4 Company, who rushed back alone some fifty yards, to within a hundred yards of the enemy, under a very heavy fire, and picked up and brought in on his back a wounded sepoy who was lying there. I collected all the men as they retired and lined the walls, as the enemy were collecting to advance. We drove them back into cover, and until 2 A.M. the next morning desultory firing was kept up.

In the afternoon I sent for Múnshi Guláb Khan, and asked him if there was any way of sending news to Búnji, whereupon he volunteered to go himself at night if I sent a sepoy with him. I asked for volunteers to go, and three sepoys volunteered,—Sepoys Nariban, Tikaru, and Neola, of the Body Guard Regiment; so I wrote three separate letters, and gave them to these men. I have since heard that Múnshi Guláb Khan and Sepoy Tikaru arrived at Ges on the 6th instant at 7 P.M., having managed to elude various picquets of the enemy in the Botogah and Thak nalas. They separated on starting from the other two sepoys, and heard nothing more of them. Probably they would have heard shots fired if these two men had been killed; so I trust that they are all right and will turn up in time, as they may only have lost their way.

We stood in our places all night expecting a fresh attack; but towards morning everything got suddenly quiet, and when it got light we could see no signs of the enemy. I did not like to advance, fearing an ambush, and besides the sepoys were very exhausted, and I ordered them to turn in and sleep, and fall in again at one o'clock, keeping a strict look-out, and determined, if nothing more was heard, to advance on the village for reconnaissance about 2 P.M.

About one o'clock we captured a Chilási, who said that all the enemy had retired down the river, and also a dák man who had brought the dák from Ges the night before, and who had been captured by the enemy and his dák seized. He also said that all the enemy had retired; so I ordered an advance on the village, which was found to be empty. They had left 40 of their dead lying on the ground, and besides large numbers of freshly made graves showed where they had buried the remainder.

From news since received, I estimate their loss as at least 250 killed, besides some 40 or 50 wounded. The total numbers of the enemy, including the men all round us in the Thak and Botogah nalas and on the other bank of the river, must have been 4,000 or 5,000 at least. We recovered all our dead bodies, two or three of which had been mutilated after death.

Major Daniell was, it appears, struck simultaneously by two bullets, one through the brain, and one which entered at the left side and came out just behind the heart, so that his death must have been instantaneous.

Our casualties were—

1 British officer, 3 Native officers, and 19 rank and file killed.

1 Native officer and 22 rank and file severely wounded.

1 British officer and 5 rank and file slightly wounded.

I have only the highest praise for the sepoys of the Body Guard Regiment in garrison here, who showed the greatest courage, and have behaved splendidly throughout.

In conclusion, I wish to recommend the following Native officer and men for the Order of Merit:—

Jemadar Gan Singh, 2nd Jammu and Kashmir Rifles (The Body Guard Regiment).		For conspicuous gallantry on two separate occasions, for the way in which he managed the general retirement after all the senior officers had been killed, and also for the great assistance he has been to me ever since. He went round continually the whole night of the 5th, keeping up the men to the mark, encouraging them, and showed himself a most capable officer at a very trying time.
Havildar Partimán Naick Parsimal Lce.-Naick Mán Singh	2nd Jammu and Kashmir Rifles.	For conspicuous gallantry in action. Naick Parsima although wounded, continued to do his work.
Sepoy Bahadur Gutung, 2nd Jammu and Kashmir Rifles.		For carrying a wounded sepoy out of action (vide report).
Sepoy Mangalu, 2nd Jammu and Kashmir Rifles.		For conspicuous gallantry (vide report).
Sepoy Balu, 2nd Jammu and Kashmir Rifles.		For carrying Subadar Mán Singh, who was wounded, out of action, in doing which he was severely wounded himself.
Sepoy Bahadur Sepoy Jai Bhaddar Sepoy Indra Lal	2nd Jammu and Kashmir Rifles.	For conspicuous gallantry.
Sepoy Nariban Sepoy Neola Sepoy Tikaru	2nd Jammu and Kashmir Rifles.	For carrying the dák through the enemy's picquets at imminent danger to themselves. (N. B.—Up to the date no news has been received of the two former).
Sepoy Kharkubir, 4th Kashmir Rifles.		My own orderly, who was up with me the whole time during the attack, and who, when I was wounded, helped me under cover at great personal risk.

The following Native officer, non-commissioned officers and men also distinguished themselves during the action, and are deserving of reward:

Jemadar Nathu.
Havildar Tulsi.
Lance-Naick Rura.
„ Tola Ram.
„ Gokal Singh.
„ Feranghi.
„ Rasela.
Sepoy Kabbi Ram.
„ Lal Singh.

„ Didu Mala.
„ Parban.
„ Shibdiyal.
Drill-Instructor Nathal.
Sepoy Hira Singh.
Naick Sandok Singh.
Sepoy Sher Singh.
Bugler Sohawu.

Further, I wish also to mention Hospital-Assistant Bawani Dás, who has had very hard work, and has been most unrelaxing in his attention to the wounded; and also Munshi Gulab Khan, who certainly deserves some reward for his courageous conduct.

CHILÁS; The 9th March 1893.

(Sd.) F. J. MOBERLY, Lieutenant,
Commanding in Chilás.

Another sepoy has just died of his wounds, which makes the casualties of rank and file as follows:—

20 rank and file killed.
21 ditto severely wounded.
5 ditto slightly wounded.

And I regret to state that the Hospital-Assistant informs me that six more are mortally wounded and not expected to live.

(Sd.) F. J. MOBERLY, Lieutenant.

From news since received, I find that the enemy carried away a considerable amount of their dead with them, so that probably their loss amounts to at least 350 killed and 50 wounded.

NOTIFICATION.

Simla, the 2nd June, 1893.

No. 18.—The following Statutes are published for general information:

ARMY (ANNUAL) ACT, 1893.

[56 VICTORIA, CHAPTER 4.]

An Act to provide during twelve months for the Discipline and Regulation of the Army.

[29TH APRIL, 1893.]

WHEREAS the raising or keeping of a standing army within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in time of peace, unless it be with the consent of Parliament, is against law:

And whereas it is adjudged necessary by Her Majesty and this present Parliament that a body of forces should be continued for the safety of the United Kingdom and the defence of the possessions of Her Majesty's Crown, and that the whole number of such forces should consist of one hundred and fifty-four thousand four hundred and forty-two men, including those to be employed at the depôts in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the training of recruits for service at home and abroad, but exclusive of the numbers actually serving within Her Majesty's Indian possessions:

And whereas it is also judged necessary for the safety of the United Kingdom and the defence of the possessions of this realm that a body of Royal Marine forces should be employed in Her Majesty's fleet and naval service, under the direction of the Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom, or the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral aforesaid:

And whereas the said marine forces may frequently be quartered or be on shore, or sent to do duty or be on board transport ships or vessels, merchant ships or vessels, or other ships or vessels, or they may be under other circumstances in which they will not be subject to the laws relating to the government of Her Majesty's forces by sea:

And whereas no man can be forejudged of life or limb, or subjected in time of peace to any kind of punishment within this realm by martial law, or in any other manner than by the judgment of his peers and according to the known and established laws of this realm; yet nevertheless it being requisite for the retaining all the beforementioned forces, and other persons subject to military law, in their duty that an exact discipline be observed, and that persons belonging to the said forces who mutiny or stir up sedition, or desert Her Majesty's service, or are guilty of crimes and offences to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, be brought to a more exemplary and speedy punishment than the usual forms of the law will allow:

44 & 45 Vict., c. 58.

And whereas the Army Act will expire in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three on the following days:

(a) In the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, on the thirtieth day of April; and

(b) Elsewhere in Europe, inclusive of Malta, also in the West Indies and America, on the thirty-first day of July; and

(c) Elsewhere, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions, on the thirty-first day of December:

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:

Short title.

1. This Act may be cited as the Army (Annual) Act, 1893.

Army Act (44 & 45 Vict., c. 58) to be in force for specified times.

2. (1) The Army Act shall be and remain in force during the periods hereinafter mentioned, and no longer, unless otherwise provided by Parliament; that is to say—

(a) Within the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands, and the Isle of Man, from the thirtieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three to the thirtieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four, both inclusive; and

(b) Elsewhere in Europe, inclusive of Malta, also in the West Indies and America, from the thirty-first day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three to the thirty-first day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four, both inclusive; and

(c) Elsewhere, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions, from the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three to the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four, both inclusive; and the day from which the Army Act is continued in any place by this Act is in relation to that place referred to in this Act as the commencement of this Act.

(2) The Army Act, while in force, shall apply to persons subject to military law, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions.

(3) A person subject to military law shall not be exempted from the provisions of the Army Act by reason only that the number of the forces for the time being in the service of Her Majesty, exclusive of the marine forces, is either greater or less than the number hereinbefore mentioned.

Prices in respect of billeting.

3. There shall be paid to the keeper of a victualling house for the accommodation provided by him in pursuance of the Army Act the prices specified in the schedule to this Act.

Amendments of Army Act.

Amendment of 44 & 45 Vict., c. 58, s. 24, as to deficiency in and injury to equipment.

4. Whereas it is expedient to explain the expression "equipments" in section twenty-four of the Army Act; be it therefore enacted that—

At the end of the said section shall be added the following paragraph:—

"For the purposes of this section, the expression 'equipments' includes any article issued to a soldier for his use or entrusted to his care for military purposes."

Amendment of 44 & 45 Vict., c. 58, s. 25, as to falsifying official documents.

5. Whereas it is expedient to express more clearly the provisions of section twenty-five of the Army Act as to falsification of official documents; be it therefore enacted that—

In sub-section two of the said section for the words "knowingly and with intent to defraud or to injure any person" shall be substituted the words "knowingly and with intent to injure any person or knowingly and with intent to defraud."

Amendment of 44 & 45 Vict., c. 58, s. 32, as to enlistment of soldier discharged with disgrace.

6. Whereas it is expedient to amend section thirty-two of the Army Act so as to provide that the expression "discharged with disgrace" shall include a person discharged for misconduct; be it therefore enacted that—

In sub-section two of the said section, after the word "worthless," shall be added the words "discharged for misconduct."

Amendment of 44 & 45 Vict., c. 58, s. 46, as to summary trial by commanding officer.

7. Whereas it is expedient to extend the maximum period of imprisonment capable of being awarded where a case is dealt with summarily under section forty-six of the Army Act, and at the same time to give a soldier the right in certain cases to be tried by a district court-martial, instead of submitting to the jurisdiction of his commanding officer; be it therefore enacted that—

(1) In sub-section two of the said section, for the word "seven" shall be substituted the word "fourteen."

(2) In sub-section three of the said section, after the word "court-martial," shall be added the words "or the right of the soldier to be tried by a district court-martial."

(3) For sub-section eight of the said section shall be substituted the following sub-section:—

"(8) Where a commanding officer has power to deal with a case summarily under this section, and, after hearing the evidence, considers that he may so deal with the case, he shall, unless he awards one of the minor punishments referred to in this section, ask the soldier charged whether he desires to be dealt with summarily or to be tried by a district court-martial; and if the soldier elects to be tried by a district court-martial, the commanding officer shall take steps for bringing him to trial by a district court-martial, but otherwise shall proceed to deal with the case summarily."

Amendment of 44 & 45 Vict., c. 58, s. 48, as to constitution of district courts-martial.

8. Whereas it is expedient to provide that a district court-martial may in any case consist of three members; be it therefore enacted that—

In sub-section four of section forty-eight of the Army Act the words "in the United Kingdom, India, Malta, and Gibraltar of not less than five, and elsewhere," shall be omitted.

Abolition of summary courts-martial, and amendment of provisions as to field general courts-martial.

9. Whereas it is expedient to simplify the provisions of the Army Act relating to courts-martial by abolishing summary courts-martial, and enabling field general courts-martial to exercise the powers of summary courts-martial; be it therefore enacted that—

(1) In sub-section one of section forty-nine of the Army Act, after the words "beyond the seas," shall be added the words "or to the commanding officer of any corps or portion of a corps on active service, or to any officer in immediate command of a body of forces on active service":

(2) In the same sub-section the words "under his command against the property or person of any inhabitant of or resident in such country" shall be omitted:

(3) In the same sub-section, after the words "provided as follows," shall be added the following proviso:—

"(a) An officer in command of a detachment or portion of troops not on active service shall not convene a field general court-martial for the trial of any person unless that person is under his command, nor unless the offence with which the person is charged is an offence against the property or person of an inhabitant of, or resident in, the country in which the offence is alleged to have been committed."

And the provisoes now marked (a) and (b) shall be marked (b) and (c) respectively:

(4) In the same sub-section, after the words "not less than three officers," shall be added the words "unless the officer convening the same is of opinion that three officers are not available, having due regard to the public service, in which case the court-martial may consist of two officers":

(5) At the end of the same sub-section, after the word "captain," shall be added the following paragraph:—

"(d) Where a field general court-martial consists of less than three officers, the sentence shall not exceed such summary punishment as is allowed by this Act or imprisonment."

(6) At the end of sub-section one of section fifty-four of the Army Act there shall be added, as part of the paragraph marked (d), after the words "officer forms part," the words "or where the offence was committed on active service, any such officer as may under the rules made in pursuance of this Act be authorized to confirm the findings and sentences of the field general court-martial awarding the sentence: Provided that a sentence of death or penal servitude awarded by a field general court-martial shall not be carried into effect unless or until it has been confirmed by the general or field officer commanding the force with which the prisoner is present at the date of the sentence."

(7) At the end of sub-section four of the said section fifty-four shall be added the following proviso:—

"Provided that where a member of a field general court-martial trying a prisoner would, but for his being a member of the court, have power to confirm the finding and sentence of the court, and is of opinion that it is not practicable, having due regard to the public service, to delay the case for the purpose of referring it to any other officer, he may confirm the finding and sentence."

(8) Section fifty-five of the Army Act is hereby repealed.

Amendment of 44 & 45 Vict., c. 58, s. 182, as to special provisions as to warrant officers.

10. Whereas it is expedient to express more clearly the provisions of section one hundred and eighty-two of the Army Act; be it therefore enacted that—

For sub-section two of the said section, being the paragraph beginning with the words "(2) Without taking away" and ending with the words "or to the ranks," shall be substituted the following sub-section:—

"(2) He may be sentenced—

(a) by a district court-martial to such forfeitures, fines, and stoppages as are allowed by this Act, and, either in addition to or in substitution for any such punishment, to be dismissed from the service, or to be suspended from rank and pay and allowances, for any period stated by the court-martial, or to be reduced to the bottom or any other place in the list of the rank which he holds, or to be reduced to an inferior class of warrant officer (if any) or, if he was originally enlisted as a soldier, but not otherwise, to be reduced to a lower grade or to the ranks, or

(b) by any court-martial having power to try him, other than a district court-martial, to any punishment which, under this section, a district court-martial has power to award, either in addition to or in substitution for any other punishment."

Review of the Revenue Report of Irrigation Works in Sind for 1891-92.

Read—

Letter No. 314-I., dated the 1st May 1893, from the Government of Bombay, forwarding the Revenue Report of the Irrigation Department in Sind for 1891-92, with a memorandum by the Commissioner in Sind, and the Resolution of the Government of Bombay on the subject.

OBSERVATIONS.—The number of Major and Minor Works in Sind for which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept remained at 11, as stated in the Reviews of the reports for previous years. The capital outlay on the Major and Minor Works respectively during and up to the end of 1891-92 is shown in the following statement:

	No. of Works.	During the year 1891-92. Works.	Establishment.	Tools and Plant.	Total direct charges.	Indirect charges.	Total direct and indirect charges.	Total direct and indirect to end of 1891-92.

The recommendations of the Committee and of the Bombay Government, which have subsequent to the year under review been accepted by the Government of India, will lead to a considerable further capital outlay on irrigation projects.

6. The return derived from the Major Works was very much less than in 1890-91. The principal falling-off occurred on the Desert Canal, the gross revenue derived from this canal falling from Rs. 1,70,755 in 1890-91 to Rs. 25,824 in 1891-92, while the working expenses increased from Rs. 52,553 to

Rs. 1,17,030. Instead, therefore, of yielding a net revenue as in 1890-91 of Rs. 1,18,202, equivalent to a return of 9·40 per cent., this canal showed a deficit in 1891-92 of Rs. 91,206. This result was entirely due to causes that could not possibly have been foreseen or provided against. The river supplying the canal took a sudden set on to a large sand bank near the canal head. Masses of sand were swept into the canal, silting up the first five miles to an average depth of 4½ feet, and closing the supply. Only a small area of land could therefore be sown, and even on this the crop was almost completely destroyed by locusts. The returns from the Unharwah were also seriously affected by the remissions rendered necessary in consequence of the ravages of locusts. The receipts from the Begari Canal were, however, well maintained, the cultivation under it being principally rice, which, it is said, is the only crop locusts do not destroy.

On the Eastern Nara Canals the season was favourable, and the percentage of return was but little less than in 1890-91.

On the whole of the Major Works, however, the net revenue due to capital expenditure fell from Rs. 6,16,714 in 1890-91 to Rs. 3,93,273, and the percentage of return from 7·18 to 4·53.

The net revenue derived from the Minor Works for which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept was rather more than during the previous year, the percentage of return on capital outlay being 23·78 per cent. as compared with 23·53 per cent.

The Minor Works for which only Revenue Accounts are kept also showed an improvement.

7. The interest charges for the year on the four Major Works amounted to Rs. 3,33,985, and to the end of the year to Rs. 60,60,979. The balance of the receipts after meeting the interest charges in full amounted to Rs. 59,288 for the year, and to Rs. 18,77,762 to the end of the year.

8. The following statement compares the assessed revenue of the year with the irrigated area. The figures for the previous year are also repeated:

The area assessed for irrigation under the Major and Minor Works for which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept showed a reduction of 65,663 acres compared with the previous year. The reduction in Government land amounted to 42,384 acres. The principal cause of the reduced area irrigated has already been noticed in referring to the Desert Canal, but taken as a whole the inundation is described as having been low, short, and fluctuating. The maximum reading on the Bukkur gauge reached 14′ 9,″ and that on the Kotri gauge 20′ 7″. The rainfall during the year was insignificant. In consequence of the unfavourable character of the season, considerable remissions, aggregating Rs. 1,05,343, had to be made on the canals in the Begari Canal district.

9. The land and water assessment in Sind is consolidated, nine-tenths of the gross charge being credited to water, and the remaining one-tenth to land. The share due to the water is credited to the canals as indirect Revenue, and to the amount so arrived at is added 4 per cent. on the Irrigation share ($\frac{9}{10}$) of the proceeds of the sales of occupancy rights in Government lands watered from the canals. The Commissioner in Sind in paragraph 7 of his forwarding memorandum, dated 24th January 1893, takes exception to the credit thus afforded; but, as pointed out by the Government of Bombay in paragraph 19 of their Resolution on the report, the reasons that render this credit necessary are fully stated in Government of India Resolution No. 53 A. I., dated 20th June 1889.

10. The following figures exhibit the areas cultivated under kharif and rabi in Government, jaghir, and foreign territory respectively:

	Kharif. Acres	Rabi. Acres.
Government land	1,513,533	436,184
Jaghir land	137,397	27,795
Foreign territory	39,891	10,831
TOTAL ...	1,690,821	474,810
	2,165,631

The difference of 3,717 acres between these figures and those given in the previous statement is due to Agricultural works being excluded from the latter.

11. The Superintending Engineer shows in paragraph 22 of his report that if the foreign and jaghir lands were assessed at the full rates charged on Government land, the assessment would have been increased by a sum of Rs. 4,21,558. In paragraph 23 of the Resolution reviewing the Report, the Bombay Government observe that the question of obtaining an enhanced revenue from jaghir cultivation has been under consideration during the year, but that materials for a final decision are not yet available. The question is one that should not be lost sight of.

12. The balance of demands on Government lands remaining unrealised at the beginning of the year was Rs. 85,821, which had fallen to Rs. 57,921 at its close. On foreign and jaghir lands the balance unrealised increased from Rs. 39,214 to Rs. 54,580, the principal outstandings being in Kalat.

13. The following statement shows the distribution of outlay on Revenue Account:

Rs. 78,357 of the works outlay on Major and Minor Works for which Capital Accounts are kept was spent on extensions and improvements, a new mouth for the Desert Canal being excavated and the Begari Canal being widened. The principal outlay on original works in connection with those for which only Revenue Accounts are kept was on new feeders to the Western Nara and the Pritchard Canal.

14. The aggregate outlay on repairs amounted to Rs. 9,88,180, which was more than in any previous year, except 1887-88.

15. The details of the charges for establishment were as follows :

	Major and Minor Works for which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept.	Minor Works for which only Revenue Accounts are kept.	Agricultural Works.	Total.	Percentage.

* Details not available.

On the Major and Minor Works for which Capital Accounts are kept the cost of up-keep was about 36 per cent. of the gross revenue, of which the cost of revenue management accounted for about 8 per cent., and that of maintenance 28 per cent.

16. The cost of establishment charged to works amounted to Rs. 1,87,201, of which Rs. 84,985 was for supervising establishment and Rs. 1,02,216 for abkalani.

17. The estimated value of the produce derived from irrigated land amounted to 403 lakhs. The principal crops grown were—

	Acres.
Kharif crops—
Rice	653,260
Jowar	396,468
Bajra	352,046
Rabi crops—
Wheat	287,196

The principal feature is the large increase in wheat crop, amounting to 89,103 acres for the province.

18. The area irrigated by flow amounted to 819,925 acres and by lift to 278,369 acres. The double-cropped area amounted to 128,587 acres.

The area irrigated during the kharif season per cubic foot per acre of discharge at the head of canal ranged from about 32 to 64 acres.

19. The report was received by the Government of India on May 5th, which is earlier than usual, but is still considerably later than the date prescribed for its submission. It has, as usual, been very well prepared, and the separation in the Superintending Engineer's report and in the appendices thereto between the figures relating to Major and Minor Works for which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept, Minor Works for which only Revenue Accounts are kept, and Agricultural Works to which attention was directed in paragraph 14 of Government of India Resolution No. 197-I, dated 16th August 1891, on the report for 1890-91, has been effected in most cases. Statements I, II, and IIIE in the prescribed forms have also been added to the report. In statement IIE the figures under direct and indirect assessed revenue for the Eastern Nara works do not accord with the figures in statement IVC, and the difference is not explained.

20. The principal feature of the year under review is the satisfactory results obtained from the Minor Works. Notwithstanding the poor inundation, the cultivation under Minor Works is the largest on record, with the exception of that of the year 1889-90, when the inundation was exceptionally favourable. The Major Works within the year under review and in the previous year showed a decline in revenue owing to unfavourable inundations and other causes, but in each year the revenue from the Minor Works improved. This result is specially satisfactory, and may be accepted as indicating the wisdom of the policy pursued by the Bombay Government and of the action of the Commissioner and the Superintending Engineer in Sind in directing increased attention to the thorough clearance and improvement of the old canals in Sind.

The net result of the whole administration appears to the Governor General in Council to be highly creditable to the Superintending Engineer and to the officers of the Public Works and Revenue Departments serving in Sind.

The Rules have effect from the 9th June 1893, as a temporary measure, in the ports of Aden, Perim, and the Somáli Coast:

I.—The Commander of every vessel, including buggalows or other native craft, arriving from Arabian ports shall, before entering the harbour, indicate by signal the port from which such vessel has come.

II.—Such Commander shall not, except as hereinafter provided, allow any communication, either with the pilot boat, except orally, or with the shore, or with any other vessel or boat in the harbour.

III.—Immediately on arrival the Commander shall cause the letter R of the Commercial Signal Code to be hoisted, and shall keep the said flag flying during his stay in port or until authorized by the Health Officer to haul it down. If communication with the shore is desired, the Health Officer shall go alongside the vessel, and, after all necessary enquiries, shall direct the Commander to take the vessel to the quarantine anchorage duly appointed and notified in that behalf by the Resident, there to remain for a period of seven days from the date of arrival or for the shorter period prescribed in Rule IV, and undergo disinfection, which should apply as well to crew, passengers, effects, and susceptible goods.

IV.—If the Health Officer of the Port has sufficient evidence that no cases of a suspicious nature have taken place on board during the voyage, and if the vessel is besides in good hygienic condition, the duration of the quarantine will be diminished according to the following scale:

After eight days of voyage	. . . .	Six days of quarantine.

VI.—When any vessel has been placed in quarantine as aforesaid, the Health Officer may direct the removal of so many of the passengers and crew as may not be suffering from illness, and whose services may not be required on board the vessel, to such particular spots as may from time to time be selected by the Resident as places of quarantine, there to remain for a period of seven days. If a case of cholera occurs among such passengers and crew during any such period, they shall remain in a place of quarantine for a period of 15 days from the date of the occurrence of the last case of such illness.

VII.—Any mails or cargo which may be brought by any vessel so arriving shall be landed under such precautions as the Health Officer may deem necessary to prevent the spread of the disease.

VIII.—It will be the duty of the Port Officer to facilitate the conveyance to all vessels in quarantine of such supplies of provisions, stores, and other articles as may be required by those on board. Such supplies will be placed on the boats of the vessels in quarantine, to be subsequently removed by purchasers of their cargoes.

IX.—All vessels arriving at Aden, Perim, and the Somáli Coast, which may have communicated with vessels coming from Arabian ports shall be subjected to the same quarantine as vessels arriving at Aden, Perim, and the Somáli Coast from Arabian ports.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT for 1893-94.

PART I.

IMPERIAL REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

Preliminary.

In accordance with the Rules made under the Indian Councils Act of 1892, the annual Financial Statement must be explained in the Legislative Council of the Government of India and may be discussed by the Members of that Council, each of whom is entitled to receive a printed copy of the Statement.

A printed copy of the Financial Statement has been supplied to each Member of the Council, and I shall now proceed to explain the general financial position of the Government of India; such discussion of the Financial Statement as may be considered necessary can take place subsequently.

2. In the explanation which I propose to lay before this Council I shall confine myself almost entirely to Imperial Revenue and Imperial Expenditure, and I shall neither take up matters of minor importance nor attempt to deal with Provincial and Local Finance, my special object at the present moment being to convey to the Council and to the public a correct outline of the general financial position of the Government of India: those who wish for further and fuller information will find it in the body of the Financial Statement.

3. I shall deal, as is usual, with the transactions of the Government of India under the three following heads:—

(1) The Accounts of the financial year 1891-92 which have been finally closed.

(2) The Revised Estimate of the financial year 1892-93 which ends on the 31st instant.

(3) The Budget Estimate of the coming year—1893-94.

The explanation I am about to give is printed as Part I of the Financial Statement, and where Revenue or Expenditure is mentioned, it should be understood that Imperial Revenue or Imperial Expenditure is meant, unless the contrary is stated in the context.

4. The financial position of the Government of India, at the present moment, is such as to give cause for apprehension, and I shall be obliged, in the explanation I am about to lay before this Council, to go back a short way into the history of the past in order to bring out more clearly the nature of the difficulties with which we have to contend and the causes to which they owe their existence. It will not be necessary for this purpose to go back further than March 1891, the month in which the Budget Estimates of the financial year 1891-92 were issued. This is the latest year of which the Accounts have been finally closed.

Section I.—Accounts of 1891-92.

5. When the Budget Estimates for the year 1891-92 were being framed, just two years ago, the rate of exchange was taken at what would now seem the excessive figure of 1*s.* 5¼*d.* the rupee; the surplus shown in the Estimates was Rx. 115,600, and practical equilibrium between Revenue and Expenditure was secured.

It was explained in the Financial Statement issued in March last that from a financial point of view the unfavourable incidents of the year 1891-92 were (1) a fall in the average rate of exchange of the year to 1*s.* 4·713*d.*, involving an increase of the net Expenditure under Exchange by Rx. 782,200, (2) a considerable increase in Military Expenditure, chiefly on account of expeditions, and (3) a falling off in Land Revenue owing to scarcity; on the other, or favourable, side of the account there was (1) a very large increase of Railway Revenue, (2) a substantial increase of net Opium Revenue, and (3) a satisfactory growth of Ordinary Revenue other than Land Revenue.

It appeared at that time, March 1892, that the changes for the worse which had occurred during the year 1891-92 would slightly outweigh the changes for the better, and Expenditure was shown in the Revised Estimates of 1891-92 as being somewhat in excess of Revenue; at the same time it was anticipated that some improvement might occur at the last moment and that the Accounts of the year when finally closed would show a surplus. This hope has been realised, and the Accounts of 1891-92 have closed with a surplus of Rx. 467,000—a not unsatisfactory result, even though the larger part of that surplus is due to a payment which it was expected would be made to the War Office in 1891-92 having been postponed to 1892-93; the provision made on this account in the Revised Estimates of 1891-92 was £240,000. The amount actually paid in 1892-93 was £208,000 and the finances of the year 1891-92 have been relieved at the expense of those of the current year.

6. With 1891-92 the era of surpluses, I regret to say, comes to an end. During the four years from 1884-85 to 1887-88 there was an aggregate deficit of Rx. 5,039,000. In 1888-89 there was a surplus of Rx. 37,000, in 1889-90 of Rx. 2,612,000, in 1890-91 of Rx. 3,688,000, in 1891-92 of Rx. 467,000, the aggregate surplus of the four years being Rx. 6,804,000. The Revised Estimates of the year which is now drawing to a close, and the Budget Estimates of the year on which we are about to enter show deficits of considerable magnitude.

Section II.—Revised Estimate of 1892-93.

7. I now come to the Revised Estimates of 1892-93—the year which is just about to close,—and I shall in the first place call attention to the conditions under which these Estimates of 1892-93 were originally framed. The fall in the rate of exchange during the year 1891-92 had been so great that in the Financial Statement for 1892-93 some difficulty was experienced in securing equilibrium between Revenue and Expenditure. The fall in the rate of exchange, from 1*s.* 5¼*d.*, the figure taken for the Budget Estimates of 1891-92, to 1*s.* 4*d.*, the highest rate which it was considered safe to take for 1892-93, caused the charge for Exchange to increase by no less than Rx. 1,708,000. We were able to cover this heavy loss and to secure a small surplus of Rx. 146,600 in the Budget Estimates of 1892-93, but it was only a concurrence of fortunate incidents that enabled us to do so. These fortunate incidents were (1) the receipt of contributions to the extent of Rx. 466,000 from Local Governments on revision of the Provincial Contracts, (2) the anticipated growth of general Revenue under the Principal Heads (excluding Opium) to the extent of Rx. 625,000, (3) the anticipated growth of Railway Revenue to the extent of Rx. 606,000 in India, less increased expenditure in England of £51,800, and (4) a substantial improvement under Interest in India owing to our having been able to avoid borrowing for some years, and to our having increased the Paper Currency investment by one crore of rupees.

8. The rate of exchange taken in the Budget Estimates of the current year—namely, 1*s.* 4*d.* the rupee—has not been realised. The actual rate of exchange at the present time is unsettled, and at this moment is below 1*s.* 2·5*d.*, and the average rate for the year is slightly below 1*s.* 3*d.*; the net charge for Exchange has increased by Rx. 1,936,600, of which Rx. 1,635,300 is due to the fall in the rate of exchange, and the remainder to increase of sterling Expenditure. Nor is this fall in Exchange the only untoward event which has affected the figures of the year 1892-93; there is also an increase of the net sterling Expenditure in England, amounting to £602,600, and involving, with Exchange at the Budget rate of 1*s.* 4*d.*, an increased burden of Rx. 903,900; and there is an increase in the Expenditure under Army Services in India to the extent of Rx. 515,500.

9. The three great causes of increased Expenditure during the year 1892-93 have been (1) the fall in the rate of exchange, which caused an increase of Rx. 1,635,300, (2) increased sterling Expenditure, involving a burden of Rx. 903,900, and (3) increased Expenditure on the Army in India to the extent of Rx. 515,500, making a total of Rx. 3,054,700. As the surplus shown in the Budget Estimates was only Rx. 146,600, and the three causes I have just mentioned increased the Expenditure by Rx. 3,054,700, it will probably be a surprise to most people to learn that the deficit shown in the Revised Estimates is only Rx. 1,081,900, a figure which will no doubt be still further reduced when the Accounts of the year are finally closed. The Budget Estimates show a surplus of Rx. 146,600 and the Revised Estimates show a deficit of Rx. 1,081,900; there has, therefore, been during the year a falling off or deterioration on the whole account of Rx. 1,228,500, being the amount of surplus shown in the Budget Estimates plus the amount of deficit shown in the Revised Estimates. The three great causes which I have already mentioned having been sufficient to cause a falling off to the extent of Rx. 3,054,700 and the actual falling off, everything included, being only Rx. 1,228,500, it follows there must have been an improvement in other directions of Rx. 1,826,200, being Rx. 3,054,700 minus Rx. 1,228,500. I shall explain a little later in what way this improvement of Rx. 1,826,200 was obtained, but in the first instance it will be convenient to state the causes of the increase in sterling Expenditure and of the increase in Expenditure on the Army in India.

10. The chief increases in sterling Expenditure in England are £427,800 under Army Services, £123,400 under Marine, £81,900 under Superannuation Allowances and Pensions, and £37,600 under Interest.

The increased Expenditure under Army was caused by the payment of an arrear charge of £208,000 to the War Office in 1892-93 instead of in 1891-92 as originally intended, and by the adoption of a rule for the payment of furlough allowances and retired pay in arrears at the end of each month instead of in arrears at the end of each quarter. Such a change must, from the nature of the case, add to the total charge in the first year because the allowances are paid sooner than would otherwise be the case, and the amount due at the end of the year is reduced. The same cause accounts for the increase of £81,900 in civil Superannuation Allowances and Pensions. The increase in the Marine charge is due to payments on account of the construction of ships and a dredger, which were not provided for in the Budget Estimates.

The increase of £37,600 under Interest is due to discount on a sterling loan of £1,300,000 raised during the year for advances to Railway Companies and discharge of Railway Debentures.

11. The increased Expenditure of Rx. 515,500 on Army Services in India is due to the following causes :—

	Rx.
Suppression of disturbances in the Lushai Country	60,000
Isazai Field Force	50,000
Gilgit Agency	9,000
Kajuri Kach Force	100,000
Kurram Escort	45,000
Transport charges for supply of Gilgit Agency	78,400
Arrear charges connected with the Manipur Expedition	7,600
Rise in price of food and forage and increase in the number of transport animals to be fed (about)	150,000
Total	500,000

There were also other increases of charge of minor importance and some decreases of no great magnitude which need not be separately specified.

12. I come now to the explanation of the fact that, with an increase of sterling Expenditure involving at the Exchange of 1*s.* 4*d.*, a burden on the finances of Rx. 903,900, with an increase in Army Expenditure in India amounting to Rx. 515,500, and with an increase of Rx. 1,635,300 on account of the fall in the rate of exchange, giving in all a deterioration of Rx. 3,054,700, the deficit is only Rx. 1,081,900. In making this explanation it will be most convenient to deal separately with the Opium Revenue, deducting Opium Expenditure from Opium Revenue so as to get the figure of net Revenue. It is at first sight not a little remarkable that an unfavourable Opium crop should, for the present, have had the effect of materially increasing the Revenue and at the same time largely reducing the Expenditure, the total gain in net Opium Revenue in India as compared with the figures of the Budget Estimates being no less than Rx. 971,900.

In the first place I may mention that the poppy cultivation failed to a large extent in the cold weather of 1892, so that the sums paid to the cultivators, which sums fall into the accounts of the current year, were greatly reduced in amount, and the total Expenditure in India under Opium in 1892-93 proved to be Rx. 1,593,900 as compared with the Budget provision of Rx. 2,233,900, the saving being Rx. 640,000.

The knowledge that the crop of Opium was a poor one immediately affected the market, and a rise took place in the price of Bengal Opium. In making our Budget calculations we had estimated the price of Bengal Opium at R1,050 a chest, while the average price actually obtained has proved to be R1,247. If we could have continued our sales throughout the financial year at the figures of the earlier months, the gain from the increased price of Bengal Opium would have been Rx. 1,065,200. As the reserve stock of Opium was running down, this could not be done, and the quantity of Bengal Opium to be sold monthly was reduced from 4,500 chests to 3,642 chests with effect from 1st October 1892. The exports of Malwa Opium also proved smaller than the Estimate, and than had been the case for many years. Consequently the gross Revenue from Opium exceeds the figure of the Budget Estimates by only Rx. 331,900. As the gross Revenue from Opium increased by Rx. 331,900 and the Expenditure was reduced by Rx. 640,000, the increase in the net Revenue is Rx. 971,900.

13. In addition to the great improvement in net Revenue from Opium, which I have just explained, and which, I must admit, is accidental, temporary, and, from a financial point of view, far from satisfactory, there has been a general increase of Revenue under almost every head in the Estimates.

The total gross Revenue in India shown in the Budget Estimates of 1892-93 was Rx. 65,399,500; the amount shown in the Revised Estimates which are now published is Rx. 66,423,300, being an increase of Rx. 1,023,800. Of this increase I have already taken into account the increase of Rx. 331,900 in Revenue from Opium; excluding the temporary and accidental increase in Opium Revenue, there has been, therefore, during the year an improvement in Revenue of Rx. 691,900.

There is nothing which has so beneficial an influence on the growth of the general Revenue as timely and plentiful rains and good harvests, and as India has been on the whole somewhat unfortunate in these respects during the last few years, the increase of Revenue which I have just stated is specially satisfactory, inasmuch as it shows that, although the progress of the country may have been impeded by the occurrence of unfavourable seasons, it has not been stopped or even seriously checked. Nevertheless, the growth of Revenue during the year appears to show traces of the influence of unfavourable seasons. There is not a very remarkable increase of Revenue in any direction, and the satisfactory aggregate increase which has been secured is due to moderate increases under almost all heads, and indicates steady and general improvement rather than unusual expansion.

14. The only decreases of Revenue of any importance are Rx. 120,700 under XXIV Exchange, Rx. 76,000 under Customs, and Rx. 34,800 under Interest.

The amount of Revenue shown under XXIV Exchange depends on the average market rate of Exchange during the year, on the rates fixed by contract with the Railway Companies for regulating certain transactions between them and the Government, on the nature and extent of these transactions during the year, on the extent of Remittances during the year, and on the rate of Exchange fixed yearly for the settlement of accounts between the Indian and the Home Government. Increases or decreases of Revenue under such a head are of course no indication of the general progress or prosperity of the country. The falling off under Interest is due to the fact that the Railway Companies did not overdraw their capital to the extent anticipated, and an increase or decrease of Revenue from interest on advances to Railway Companies has not any bearing on the question of the growth of ordinary Revenue. The falling off in Customs Revenue is due to reduced exports of rice from Burma.

The principal increases of Revenue are the following :—

Head of Account.	Rx.
State Railways	143,600
Land Revenue	117,800
Salt	104,900
Mint	99,400
Excise	79,800
Irrigation, Major Works including Land Revenue due to Irrigation	69,900
Stamps	60,200
Army receipts	51,100
TOTAL	726,700

15. As the increase in net Opium Revenue is Rx. 971,900, and the increase of Revenue under other heads is Rx. 691,900, we get a total improvement in Revenue of Rx. 1,663,800. This it will be recollected is the increase in Imperial Revenue, and does not take into account Provincial and Local Revenue, the amount of which has no bearing on the surplus or deficit of the year. I may, however, mention that the increase of Provincial and Local Revenue during the year is Rx. 592,500.

16. The growth of Revenue during the current year has, as I have just shown, been satisfactory, and it is hardly less satisfactory that the public Expenditure in India during the same period has, with only a single exception of importance, been kept well within the Budget Estimates. The Budget Estimate of this Expenditure for the current year was Rx. 41,628,500 and the corresponding figure of the Revised Estimate is Rx. 41,341,600, a reduction in the aggregate Expenditure of Rx. 286,900. If we eliminate from the account the decrease in Opium Expenditure of Rx. 640,000, which must be admitted to be accidental and temporary, and with which I have separately dealt, it will be seen that the increase of Expenditure under all other heads has been Rx. 353,100, an increase which is more than accounted for by the increased Expenditure of Rx. 515,500 on Army Services which I have already explained.

The Expenditure under all heads other than Opium and Army Services is very closely in accord with the Budget Estimates both in aggregate amount and in details and need not be further examined. It will suffice to mention that, excluding Expenditure under Opium and Army Services, there is a small saving of Rx. 162,400, an amount slightly less than the saving which occurs under the Railway Revenue Account.

17. The explanations already given, and which I fear may have proved somewhat tedious, place me in a position to sum up in a few words the financial results of the year 1892-93.

In the first place we have had a net increase of sterling Expenditure amounting to £602,600, which (taking exchange at the Budget rate of 1*s.* 4*d.*) involves an increased charge of Rx. 903,900. In the next place we have had increased Expenditure on the Army in India amounting to Rx. 515,500; and lastly, and most important of all, there has been a fall in the rate of exchange from 1*s.* 4*d.* to 1*s.* 3*d.*, involving a net increase of the charge in the columns headed Exchange of no less than Rx. 1,635,300. The total falling off during the year from these three causes being Rx. 3,054,700. To balance this great and disastrous falling off we have in the first place the temporary and accidental increase in net Opium Revenue in India of Rx. 971,900; in the next place we have a satisfactory growth of Revenue under other heads of Rx. 691,900, and we have a slight saving of Expenditure (excluding Army Services and Opium) which amounts to Rx. 162,400. The total improvement is Rx. 1,826,200.

Our losses exceed our gains by Rx. 1,228,500, and the Budget surplus of Rx. 146,600 is converted into a deficit on the Revised Estimates of Rx. 1,081,900.

18. The Final Accounts of each financial year usually, and I may say invariably, show improvement over the Revised Estimates, and I fully anticipate that in March 1894 my successor will be able to announce that the actual deficit of the year 1892-93 is below the figure at which it is now placed.

However satisfactory this result may appear at first sight, and under all the circumstances of the case, a closer examination of the figures affords ground for apprehension.

The temporary and accidental gain in net Revenue from Opium will disappear in 1893-94 and the influence of short crops in past years will still further reduce the income from Opium. On the other hand, the loss due to the fall in the rate of exchange will remain, and will increase, because there is at the present time no prospect that the rate of exchange will be as high in 1893-94 as it has been in 1892-93, and the fall will not merely add largely and directly to the burden of Indian Expenditure, but will materially increase the cost to be incurred on account of the British troops serving in India, whose pay is fixed in sterling. On the other hand, we may expect to retain a large proportion of the increase of ordinary Revenue which we obtained in 1892-93, and the causes by which the sterling Expenditure was swollen in the current year will no longer operate.

The prospective loss exceeds the amount of gain on which we can reckon, and we may say at once, and without waiting to examine the Budget Estimates of 1893-94, that the deficit of the year 1893-94 must exceed that of 1892-93 by a considerable amount.

Section III.—Budget Estimate of 1893-94.

19. In the Estimates of the coming year the total Imperial Revenue in India and England amounts to Rx. 66,648,800, and the total Imperial Expenditure to Rx. 68,243,900, and the deficit is Rx. 1,595,100.

The announcement of a large deficit will not, I believe, come as a surprise to those who have paid any attention to financial matters during the past year, or who have taken their opinions on the subject from the public press. I shall now explain the exact influence exercised upon the financial position of the Government of India by the various causes which have come into operation during the last twelve months, and which have resulted in transforming the small surplus of the Financial Statement of 1892-93 into a deficit for the coming year which exceeds one and a half crores of rupees. The immediate and principal cause, as every one knows, is the fall in the rate of exchange, but there are other causes of less importance which also require notice.

20. In the explanation I am about to make I shall take as my starting point the Budget Estimates of 1892-93, which showed a surplus of Rx. 146,600, and shall trace the various changes, favourable and unfavourable, which in the course of twelve months have brought us face to face with a deficit of Rx. 1,595,100. For the purposes of this explanation it will be convenient to again call attention in this place to the leading features of the position as it presented itself in March 1892.

In the Financial Statement for 1892-93 it was stated that the fall in the rate of exchange from 1*s.* 5¼*d.* to 1*s.* 4*d.* had imposed on the finances of India an additional burden to the extent of Rx. 1,708,000, being the increase of Exchange on the net sterling Expenditure, in addition to an increase of Rx. 205,000 in the pay of the British Troops, and it was explained that this increase of charge had been met (1) by contributions from Local Governments, (2) by anticipated increase of Railway Revenue, (3) by growth of Revenue under the Principal Heads, and (4) by some improvement under Interest owing to our having been able to avoid borrowing for some years, and to our having invested in Government securities a larger amount of the Paper Currency Reserve. The additional burden thrown on the finances in March 1892 was a very heavy one, and it was only a combination of favourable circumstances that enabled us to meet it for the time. The further and additional burden thrown on the finances at the present time is even greater than that of a year ago and another combination of equally favourable circumstances does not recur.

21. In the Estimates of the coming year the rate of exchange has been taken at 1*s.* 2¾*d.*, the approximate market rate of the date on which the Estimates were first compiled. The market rate of the present moment is considerably below 1*s.* 2¾*d.*, but the recent fall appears to be due, to a considerable extent, to misapprehension and panic. In any case it is quite impossible for us to recast our Estimates from day to day in the vain hope of being able to follow the fluctuations in Exchange. It will suffice to say that a drop in Exchange from 1*s.* 2¾*d.* to 1*s.* 2½*d.* would add Rx. 439,000 to the Expenditure. The rate of 1*s.* 2¾*d.* taken in the Estimates, though in excess of the market rate of to-day, is five farthings lower than the rate taken in the Budget of 1892-93, and the additional Expenditure, direct and indirect, for which we have to provide in consequence of this fall in the rate of exchange comes to no less than Rx. 2,229,400.

The net sterling Expenditure in the Estimates of the coming year is £15,650,300, and the charge for Exchange at 1*s.* 2¾*d.* the rupee is Rx. 9,814,600; if we could have taken Exchange at the rate adopted in the Budget Estimate of 1892-93, namely, 1*s.* 4*d.*, the net charge for Exchange would have been only Rx. 7,825,200, and consequently the fall in the rate of exchange between March 1892 and March 1893 has added directly to the Expenditure of the Government of India the difference between these amounts, or the sum of Rx. 1,989,400.

The pay of the British Troops serving in India, or in any other part of Her Majesty's dominions, is fixed in sterling, and must be converted into the currency of the country in which they are serving at a rate fixed annually, and intended to approximate to the average market rate of the year. The fall in the rate of exchange to 1*s.* 2¾*d.* has added on this account a further sum of Rx. 240,000 to the Indian Expenditure, causing the total additional charge, direct and indirect, on account of Exchange to amount to Rx. 2,229,400.

The estimated surplus of 1892-93 was Rx. 146,600, and the estimated deficit of the coming year is Rx. 1,595,100, showing a total deterioration in the year of Rx. 1,741,700; as this sum is less by Rx. 487,700 than the falling off due to the fall in Exchange alone, it will be obvious that but for the fall in exchange below last year's Budget rate of 1*s.* 4*d.*, the Estimates of 1893-94 would have shown an improvement over those of 1892-93 amounting to Rx. 487,700, and I should now have been in a position to announce a surplus of Rx. 634,300 instead of a deficit of Rx. 1,595,100. An increase of Rx. 1,913,000 (Rx. 1,708,000 plus Rx. 205,000) in the burden on account of exchange, followed in twelve months by a further increase of Rx. 2,229,400 on the same account, the total increase amounting to over four crores of rupees, has imposed a strain on the Indian Finances which they are at present unable to bear.

22. I shall now explain in what manner the improvement of Rx. 487,700, to which I have just alluded, has been obtained.

In the first place I may mention that the estimated net sterling Expenditure of 1893-94 is less than that of 1892-93 by £9?,300, giving, at an exchange of 1*s.* 4*d.*, a reduction of charge to the extent of Rx. 148,900. The details of this reduction will be found in the body of the Financial Statement, and I shall not further notice the question of sterling Expenditure in the present place. There remain for examination the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure shown in the Indian portion of the Accounts.

In examining the Estimates of Revenue and Expenditure for 1893-94 I shall deal with net Receipts in the case of Opium and Railways; in other words, I shall deduct the Expenditure from the Receipts, and employ net figures. I adopt this course in consideration of the fact that in both cases the Expenditure is so closely connected with the Receipts, and constitutes so large a deduction therefrom, that to treat the total gross receipts as Revenue would be misleading. I do not consider it necessary for my present purpose to treat any other head of Revenue in a similar manner.

In the net Revenue from Opium the Estimates of 1893-94 as compared with the Budget Estimates of 1892-93 show a falling off of Rx. 338,400; this is partly due to reduced exports of Malwa Opium. There has also been a large reduction in the quantity of Bengal Opium to be sold, and though the falling off from this cause will be partly covered by the anticipated increase in the selling price, the reduction in Revenue from the sales of Bengal Opium alone is Rx. 207,000.

Under the Railway Revenue Account the net Receipts in India have increased from Rx. 6,678,300 to Rx. 6,899,400, or by Rx. 221,100.

23. Putting aside for the time the Revenue from Opium and the Railway Receipts, with which I deal separately, the total increase of Revenue in the Estimates of the coming year, as compared with the Budget Estimates of 1892-93, is Rx. 647,700. This satisfactory increase is spread over nearly all heads. The only large item of increase is Rx. 313,500 under Land Revenue, and there are decreases under a few heads.

The increase shown under Excise is only Rx. 36,500, and it may be well that I should explain that the increase of Imperial Revenue under this head would have been Rx. 104,000 had it not been decided recently to assimilate the Opium Law of Lower Burma to that of Upper Burma, or in other words to prohibit the consumption and possession of Opium by Natives of Lower Burma. This change involves a reduction of the Excise Revenue in 1893-94 by Rx. 67,500 and of the Opium Revenue by Rx. 22,500. The further loss which falls on the Provincial Revenues is Rx. 22,500. The loss of Revenue will be somewhat greater in subsequent years, as the proposed change is not expected to come into effect until three months of the next financial year have elapsed, and the reduction of Revenue will, therefore, affect only nine months of the year 1893-94.

24. Turning to the Expenditure side of the account, I have to observe that, excluding Opium Expenditure and the Expenditure of the Railway Revenue Account, the total increase of Expenditure in India in the coming year is estimated at Rx. 431,600.

In explaining the causes of this increase of Expenditure it will be convenient to state the increase or decrease under each Group of Heads ordinarily shown in the Indian Accounts. The following are the increases of Expenditure under each Group:—

	Increase. Rx.
Army Services	686,800
Post Office, Telegraph, and Mint	48,800
Grant for Famine Relief and Insurance	42,600
Buildings and Roads	40,300
Direct Demands on the Revenue (excluding Opium)	13,400
Salaries and Expenditure of Civil Departments	10,800
TOTAL	842,700

The increase under Post Office, Telegraph, and Mint, calls for no special remarks. It is due to the development of the Departments concerned, and is accompanied by a more than proportionate increase of Receipts. That under Buildings and Roads occurs in Military Works Expenditure: the grant for 1892-93 was below the normal amount. The increase under the Famine Grant is merely a matter of account.

The small increases of Rx. 13,400 and Rx. 10,800 do not require special notice, but the increase of Rx. 686,800 under Army Services is of more importance. Of this sum, Rx. 240,000 is due to the increase in the pay stated in rupees of British troops serving in India and is caused by the fall in the rate of exchange. This portion of the increase has already been taken into account in dealing with the question of Exchange and may be excluded from the present calculation.

The following are the principal causes of the balance of the increase in Expenditure on Army Services (Rx. 446,800):—

	Rx.
Provision for the Kajuri Kach Force, the Kurram Escort, and Arrear charges of the Chin and Lushai Expeditions	174,000
Increased Expenditure on Ordnance Establishment and Stores	88,200
Rise in the price of food and forage and increase in the number of transport animals to be fed	70,000
Transport and supply arrangements for Gilgit	30,000
Increased cost of clothing for British Troops	27,100
TOTAL	389,300

25. The decreases in Expenditure during the coming year, 1893-94, are as follows:—

	Decreases. Rx.
Interest	233,200
Construction of Railways	118,300
Special Defences	18,600
Miscellaneous Civil Charges	32,400
Irrigation	8,600
TOTAL	411,100

Of the items of decrease, the only one that requires special explanation is that under Interest. Speaking generally, this decrease may be said to be due to the transfer of Rx. 10,792,490 of the 4½ per cent. Loan during the current year to a 4 per cent. loan, thus effecting a saving of Rx. 54,000, and to the continuance of the practice of applying the surpluses of past years to the construction of Railways and Canals, and thus obviating the need for borrowing. On the other hand there is an increase of the interest charge on increased deposits in Government Savings Banks. The reduction under Construction of Railways is due to the fact that we have no surplus Revenue to devote to such a purpose.

26. The final result at which we arrive is that, if we exclude the indirect increase of Expenditure in India caused by the fall in the rate of exchange, and leave out of account Opium Expenditure and the Expenditure in the Railway Revenue Account (for both of which a net figure has been taken) there has been an increase of Expenditure under certain heads in the Estimates of 1893-94 as compared with those of 1892-93 of Rx. 602,700, of which Rx. 446,800 is due to higher Expenditure under Army in India, and that there is a decrease under all other heads of Rx. 411,100.

27. I am now in a position to summarise in a few words the causes that have brought about a deficit of Rx. 1,595,100 in the Estimates of 1893-94 as compared with the surplus of Rx. 146,600 shown in the Financial Statement for 1892-93. In the first place, the fall in the rate of exchange has caused increased Expenditure to the amount of Rx. 2,229,400; in the second place, net Opium Revenue is worse by Rx. 338,400, and in the third place, the cost of Army Services in India (excluding pay of British troops) is greater by Rx. 446,800. The total deterioration from the three causes I have mentioned is Rx. 3,014,600. There is on the other side of the account an improvement in ordinary Revenue in India to the extent of Rx. 647,700, an improvement of Rx. 221,100 in net Railway receipts in India, a reduction in the net sterling charge which reduces Expenditure by Rx. 148,900, and a reduction in Indian Expenditure (excluding Opium, the Railway Revenue Account, and Army Services) of Rx. 255,200. The total improvement is Rx. 1,272,900, and deducting this amount from the total deterioration of Rx. 3,014,600 we get a net falling-off of Rx. 1,741,700, which is just sufficient to account for the surplus of Rx. 146,600 shown in the Budget Estimates of 1892-93 being converted into a deficit of Rx. 1,595,100 in the Estimates of 1893-94.

The figures may be stated in the following manner:—

Deterioration.	Rx.	Improvement.	Rx.
Exchange	2,229,400	Increase in Ordinary Revenue in India	647,700
Reduction in net Opium Revenue	338,400	Reduction in net sterling Expenditure	148,900
Increased cost of Army in India, excluding increase in pay of British Troops due to fall in exchange	446,800	Reduction in India Expenditure, excluding Opium, Railway Revenue Account and Army Services	255,200
		Improvement in net Railway Receipts	221,100
TOTAL	3,014,600	TOTAL	1,272,900

Section IV.—Present Position and Future Policy.

28. The Revised Estimates of the current year show a deficit of Rx. 1,081,900; the Budget Estimates of the coming year show a deficit of Rx. 1,595,100. The prospects of the future are disheartening because, although the ordinary Indian Revenue grows rapidly, the fluctuations in Exchange are such as to set all calculation at defiance. The increase in Expenditure during the last two years, caused by the fall in the rate of exchange amounts to Rx. 4,142,400, and the increase of Expenditure due to this cause has not yet come to an end. The heavy fall in the rate of exchange has most seriously affected the position of Government servants not domiciled in India; their case cannot be put on one side much longer, and, as matters now stand, no remedy is possible which does not involve further increase of Expenditure.

We have, also, to take into consideration the possibility of the United States stopping their purchases of silver; the effect of which on the rate of exchange must be serious and might be disastrous. It has been found necessary to take net Opium Revenue for the coming year at a lower figure than has appeared in the Estimates during the last 22 years.

29. Under the circumstances stated in the preceding paragraph the natural and ordinary course would be for the Government of India to at once take such measures as would suffice to cure the existing deficit and establish equilibrium between Revenue and Expenditure. Financial embarrassment gathers weight and force the further it proceeds, and it is the obvious duty of every Government to allow no avoidable delay to occur in dealing with a declared deficit. Postponement of action cannot be justified except on grounds of irresistible weight.

30. It will be found on examination of the existing position that there are insuperable objections to any attempt to deal with the anticipated deficit of 1893-94 at the present moment. The immediate cause of our financial difficulties, and the cause which, by comparison and for the time being, dwarfs all others, is the fall in the gold value of silver, which, as I have already shown, has added to the Indian Expenditure in two years more than four crores of rupees. If that fall could be stayed and the rate of exchange with England fixed permanently at even its present low figure, the difficulty of dealing with the present deficit would be comparatively light. The Revenue continues to grow in a satisfactory manner; even under the influence of indifferent seasons and poor harvests it has made fair progress. If we could feel assured that there would be no further fall in exchange, I have little doubt that increase of Revenue, restriction and reduction of Expenditure, with possibly some taxation of a temporary nature, would, in a very short time, re-establish equilibrium. A serious effort would no doubt be required in the first instance, but with a fixed rate of exchange we would have a definite task before us and our measures could be regulated accordingly. But it unfortunately happens that, unless some settlement of the currency question is obtained, there is no prospect of even the most moderate degree of stability in the rate of exchange. The disastrous and unprecedented fall in the gold value of silver which has been experienced during the last few years has destroyed confidence, and we know that the question of stopping their purchases of silver is being seriously agitated in the United States of America. The exact consequences of such stoppage it is impossible to foretell, but the conclusion I have come to is that the consequences would, at any rate for a time, be disastrous to the Indian Exchequer, and that the Government of India would in such case be involved in pecuniary difficulties of greater magnitude, and more lasting in their effects, than any which have hitherto been experienced in this country.

The imports of silver into India during the current year and the two preceding years have been of great magnitude. In the year 1890-91 the net imports of silver were Rx. 14,175,136, in 1891-92 they were Rx. 9,022,184, and in 1892-93 they promise to amount to Rx. 13,000,000. If the United States ceased to purchase silver, the best calculation I have been able to make shows that India would have to absorb about Rx. 8,000,000 worth of silver yearly in addition to what she imports already, and it is impossible to contemplate such a contingency without grave apprehension.

The consequences of a forced and sudden addition to the yearly imports of silver into India of Rx. 8,000,000 in a single year would, in the first instance at any rate, be overwhelming, and I should expect that the Eastern Exchanges would be for the time completely disorganised. The fall in the gold value of silver would be so great that the production of silver might be curtailed, but we cannot be certain that this result would follow, or to what extent it would follow, and as mines that are in full working could not, and would not, be stopped immediately, the process of reduction would take time. If such reduction of output did take place, it would be due to the fall in the price of silver, and would not last longer than the fall in price lasted: every rise in price would be followed by increased activity at the mines and would tend to restore production to its old figure. In short, the stoppage of the purchases of silver by the United States must result in a great fall in the price of that metal, and though a portion of the first fall might be recovered, it cannot reasonably be expected that, under such circumstances, even the present price of silver would be restored; confidence in the future would be still further weakened, and fluctuations in exchange, of excessive amount and most injurious in their consequences, would be inevitable.

31. I have now shown what we must expect if there is no settlement of the currency question, and if the United States stop their purchases of silver. The prospect of a settlement of the currency question lies on the other side of the shield. A settlement of this question would prevent any further fall in exchange, and would be likely to bring about, at the very least, some slight rise.

It is no violent hypothesis to assume that a settlement of the currency question might raise the rate of exchange by one penny, and so great is the influence of exchange on our finances that a rise of even this small amount would give us equilibrium between Revenue and Expenditure in the coming year, and cause our present financial difficulties to disappear.

In other words, our financial position for the coming year is at the mercy of Exchange and of those who have it in their power to affect in any way the price of silver. If we budget for the present deficit of Rx. 1,595,100 and exchange rises one penny we shall have a surplus; if it falls a penny we shall have a deficit of more than three crores; if we impose taxation to the extent of one and a half crores of rupees, a turn of the wheel may require us to impose further taxation of not less magnitude; another turn and we may find that no taxation at all was required. It will be obvious from what I have just said that what we have got to consider in making our arrangements for next year, is not so much the question of increasing the public Revenue, or restricting that portion of the public Expenditure which is under our control, but the chances of a settlement of the currency question.

32. I regret that I am unable to give any more definite information regarding the prospects of a settlement of this question than the public at present possess. We know that the question excites the greatest interest in the United States; and we know that even if the people of that country were willing to let it sleep, the inexorable logic of events will force them before long to take a fresh departure either in one direction or in the other.

The International Monetary Conference which recently assembled at Brussels separated without arriving at any definite conclusions, but it is proposed that it should re-assemble in May. We do not know whether that proposal will be carried out or not, but in the mean time the currency question as it affects India is being considered by a Committee of experts in London under the presidency of the Lord High Chancellor of England.

The proceedings of that Committee are secret, and the Government of India have no information as to what the nature of its Report will be, or as to whether the Committee will agree upon a unanimous Report or not. But we know, as do the public, that the Report of the Committee will be made very shortly, and the Government of India have been informed by Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India that the decision on the Indian currency question cannot be delayed much longer. Under these circumstances the Government of India have decided—and the soundness of the decision does not appear to me to admit of dispute—that the proper course is to await the decision of the Home authorities on this question before adopting measures, which must necessarily be of a stringent and exceptional nature, with the object of re-establishing equilibrium between Revenue and Expenditure. The immediate restoration of equilibrium would require the imposition of heavy taxation or a large reduction of Expenditure; and yet neither this taxation nor reduction of Expenditure, or even a combination of both means, would be final, or anything better than a temporary makeshift, if the currency question is not settled; measures that might suffice to meet the existing deficit would, in my opinion, be wholly inadequate if the United States ceased to purchase silver. I submit that the Government of India cannot be expected to initiate a policy at the present moment which must have very serious effects on the industry of the country, and disturb and unsettle the Administration, when the lapse of only a month or two might, and in all probability will, show either that their policy was mistaken and their measures uncalled for, or that that policy is wholly insufficient to meet the requirements of the case, and that their treatment of the disease had irritated the patient without materially advancing the progress towards health.

Disappointing as this decision may appear to some persons, and strongly as I am opposed to delay in dealing with financial embarrassment, I entertain no doubt that the course which the Government of India (with the sanction of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India) have decided to adopt in the present conjuncture is the wisest under the circumstances and I trust that the Indian public will acknowledge the difficulties of the present position, and will not press for a hasty decision, or the inconsiderate adoption of measures which must, from the very nature of the case, prove to be either inadequate or unnecessary.

33. The Government of India having decided to budget for a deficit of Rx. 1,595,100, and the various Local Governments having decided to draw upon their Provincial and Local balances and to budget for expenditure in excess of their Revenue for the year by Rx. 751,200, the question of Ways and Means for the coming year becomes one of unusual importance.

We have to find money to cover the deficit of Rx. 1,595,100 in the Imperial Account, and of Rx. 751,200 in the Provincial and Local Account; we have also to find Rx. 3,550,000 for Expenditure on Railways and Canals, which is not charged against Revenue; and we have to provide funds for loans to Local Bodies, agriculturists, and others, to an extent (excluding the repayment of the balance of a loan by the Bombay Port Trust) which involves a net outgoing of Rx. 327,900.

We have also to meet the payments by the Secretary of State not taken into calculation in any of the above amounts to the extent of £1,889,100, amounting at the exchange of 1*s.* 2$\frac{3}{4}$d., to Rx. 3,070,400, of which about one-half only will be recovered in India from the remitters.

The task appears, at first sight, a formidable one, but I am glad to be able to say that a loan of 300 lakhs of rupees, to be raised in India, will, so far as can be judged at present, be sufficient to meet all our wants. The amount of this loan is less by 55 lakhs of rupees than the amount which we propose to spend on Railways and Canals and to charge otherwise than against Revenue, and is probably not in excess of the amount which might be raised yearly in the Indian market without producing any serious disturbance.

As the Government of India have not borrowed for some years, and Government Securities now stand high in price, it may be anticipated that the loan will be raised on favourable terms.

34. This satisfactory result as regards the amount to be borrowed is partly due to the high cash balance of Rx. 15,204,200 with which we expect to open the coming year. It is anticipated that the cash balance will be reduced during 1893-94 by Rx. 2,561,100. It is also due in part to the large net deposits in Government Saving Banks which we are now receiving. The figures of net receipts for the past two years, and the estimated receipts for the present and coming years, are as follows:—

	Rx.
1890-91	530,400
1891-92	824,100
1892-93	977,200
1893-94	811,000

The Bombay Port Trust has taken advantage of the favourable condition of the money market and proposes to repay on 1st April next a loan of Rx. 616,100. The Rampore State will also pay the balance (Rx. 220,000) of the amount it is providing for the construction of the Moradabad-Rampore Railway. The Ways and Means of the year are proportionately strengthened.

35. It is expected that the drawings of the Secretary of State will amount to £17,200,000 in the current year and to £18,700,000 in the coming year, making £35,900,000 in the two years. The large amount of these drawings may give rise to the erroneous belief that there has been a great and permanent increase in the Home charges. This is not the case. The Home Expenditure of the last four years has been as follows:—

1890-91	15,568,875
1891-92	15,974,699
1892-93 (Revised Estimate)	16,563,600
1893-94 (Budget Estimate)	15,843,800

The increased drawings are largely due to payments for Railway stores, and to repayments of money received in former years from Railway Companies, and such repayments, though inconvenient at the present time and involving a considerable temporary addition to the Home charges, will have a beneficial effect on the balance of India's indebtedness in the future.

36. I have already explained that our position in the coming year depends almost entirely on the course of exchange, and though I must recur to the subject again, I have no intention of adding to the mass of literature that has grown up in connection with the currency question.

The arguments for, and against, an International settlement of that question, and the arguments for, and against, independent action on the part of India, appear to me to have been exhausted. Every scheme that it has been possible for human ingenuity to devise has been elaborated with the utmost care, and pressed on the attention of a perplexed and suffering public as being, in the opinion of its authors, a safe and infallible remedy for undoubted evils. I must plead guilty in my own case to having added something to the burdens of the patient public, but I hope I have not, as sometimes happens in the heat of argument on the currency question, ever used language which conveyed the impression that I looked upon the man with whom I had the misfortune to differ in opinion as being necessarily a person of doubtful honesty and deficient in ordinary intelligence. If I have done so I retract and apologise. The matter is too serious to permit of any weight being attached to merely personal considerations and I think I may now fairly call on the disputants to recognise that the suit has, for the time being, passed beyond the stage of pleading and of argument, and that it only remains to await the decision of the tribunal. If the members of that tribunal decide that a remedy is possible by means of independent action on the part of India and should be tried, let us, whatever our private and personal opinions may be, accept that decision and loyally endeavour to give effect to it. In asking others to accept a decision which they may, possibly, not wholly approve, I am not requiring them to do something which I am not prepared to do myself. The remedy which I have always advocated, which I still prefer, and which I hope may some day be adopted, is the solution of the currency question by International agreement; yet this is the solution which at the present moment is not under consideration.

If, on the other hand, it be decided that, having regard to the interests of India in their widest sense, no remedy for our undoubted difficulties by means of independent action on the part of this country is practicable, or should be attempted, it will be our plain and obvious duty to address ourselves, as best we may, to the task of establishing, securing, and maintaining the integrity of the financial position of India. That task may be a heavy one, but difficulties that are met in the right spirit are already half overcome, and I have confidence in the resources of the country and in the industry of its people.

37. In the first Financial Statement which issued under my name just four years ago, after calling attention to the financial dangers that threatened us in connection with the question of Exchange and the fall of the Opium Revenue, I remarked that "if we could get rid of the Exchange difficulty, I should be prepared to adopt a hopeful view of the future, and if there were in addition no risk of a great war, I should look forward to our progress in coming years with as much confidence as it is ever safe to feel in financial matters."

In the following year when dwelling on the improvement that had taken place in the course of twelve months and on the grounds for expecting further improvement in the immediate future, I added the following words:—

"I fully recognize that we have difficulties of no slight magnitude still to meet, that the finances are exposed to many dangers, and that unforeseen disasters might for a time upset our calculations. There is every need for caution and for economy, and I should greatly regret if anything I now say, or have said in the past, conveyed the impression that the Government of India are in a position to embark on a policy of adventure of any description."

When I made these remarks the tide of Indian financial prosperity was rising, and it was held in some quarters that the policy I advocated was unnecessarily timid. The remission of taxation, it was said, would relieve the springs of industry, and public works should be vigorously prosecuted with funds raised by gold loans in London.

One of those disasters the occurrence of which a study of the history of the Indian finances, and more than twenty years' practical experience of their working, had taught me to regard as possible at any moment, and on the shortest warning, has now come upon us, and I do not think the critics will look back with much satisfaction to the opinions they formerly expressed; for my part I have no wish to dwell on the subject, and I recall the matter at the present time merely with the object of adding force to what I have now to say.

Even under present circumstances, when the horizon is dark with the approach of what may prove to be the greatest financial convulsion of the present century, I do not draw back from the opinion I formerly expressed that the revenues of India are adequate to meet her wants; but I wish to say in the most emphatic terms that if the Ship of State is to pass successfully through the storm which she is now entering, our measures must be taken in due time, must be regulated by prudence and forethought, and must be carried into execution with strict regard to economy.

PART II.

IMPERIAL, PROVINCIAL, AND LOCAL REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

Section I.—Accounts of 1891-92.

38. The Revised Estimates for the year 1891-92 showed a deficit of Rx. 80,000. In announcing that deficit in last March, I stated my belief that the Final Accounts would show an improvement, and that it was more than probable that equilibrium would be secured. In June the Under-Secretary of State for India was able to announce in Parliament that this expectation had been realized, and he estimated the surplus of the year at Rx. 354,000. The actual surplus has proved slightly higher, being Rx. 467,535.

39. Explanations of the variations under the several heads will be found in the Appropriation Report, published in the Gazette of India of the 18th instant. The following statement contains a general comparison of the Revised Estimates with the Accounts of the year:—

		Revised Estimate.	Accounts.	Accounts Better.	Accounts Worse.

Surplus or Deficit	Rx.	—80,000	+467,535	547,535	...

1891-92, General Results.

40. The improvement in the Revenue and Expenditure in India was Rx. 422,900, of which Rx. 220,576 occurred in the Provincial and Local section of the Accounts, and Rx. 202,324 in the Imperial section. The improvement in the Revenue and Expenditure in England amounted to Rx. 345,211. The two amounts last mentioned make up the final improvement of Rx. 547,535, which converted the estimated deficit of Rx. 80,000 into a surplus of Rx. 467,535.

1891-92, Revenue in India.

41. Most of the heads of Revenue contributed to the increase of Rx. 553,960 in the Revenue in India. The largest increases occurred under the Principal Heads of Revenue, Rx. 190,849 (Rx. 85,274 of which was in Land Revenue), and under Railways Rx. 283,089.

1891-92, Expenditure in India.

42. In the Revised Estimates for the year, there was an under-estimate of the Military Expenditure in India of Rx. 116,062. Smaller variations under other heads result in a net increase of Rx. 14,998. These two sums together make up the amount, Rx. 131,060, shown as increase of expenditure in India in the table in paragraph 39.

Expenditure in England.

43. The decreases of expenditure in England Rx. 218,701 and in Exchange on it Rx. 123,087, are explained by the refusal of the War Office to receive in the year 1891-92 the sum provided in the Revised Estimate to pay off the claims of the War Office on account of British Forces serving in India.

1891-92, Expenditure not charged to Revenue.

44. The Capital Outlay on Railways and Irrigation Works, not charged to Revenue, was Rx. 3,500,000 as entered in the Revised Estimates.

Section II.—Revised Estimate of 1892-93.

45. The following statement compares the figures of the Budget and Revised Estimates of 1892-93 for Revenue and Expenditure in India and in England:—

		Budget.	Revised.	Revised, better.	Revised, worse.
REVENUE.
India	Rx.	88,066,700	89,683,000	1,616,300

Surplus or Deficit	Rx.	+146,600	−1,081,900	...	1,228,500

1892-93, General Results.

46. The considerable deficit which is now anticipated in 1892-93 may be ascribed to the fall in the rate of exchange. Had the rate of 1*s.* 4*d.* the rupee, which was taken in estimating last March, been realised, a surplus appreciably larger than that shown in the Budget Estimate would have been secured.

The Revenue has shown satisfactory progress in the year, almost every head showing an increase: and the Expenditure in India as a whole has been kept below the Estimate. The portion of these improvements which occurs on the Imperial section of the Estimates is more than sufficient to cover the increase in the sterling Expenditure in England with Exchange on it at the rate of 1*s.* 4*d.* the rupee. The increase in net Expenditure caused by the fall in the rate of Exchange from 1*s.* 4*d.* to 1*s.* 3*d.* the rupee (the effect of that fall on the head XXIV—Exchange being neglected) amounts to Rx. 1,635,300, which is Rx. 553,400 in excess of the deficit of the Revised Estimate. Consequently if that fall had not occurred, instead of a deficit, there would have been a surplus of over Rx. 550,000.

1892-93, Revenue in India.

47. The Revenue in India is now expected to be Rx. 1,616,300 in excess of the Estimate made in March last. Of this amount, an increase of Rx. 1,023,800 occurs in Imperial Revenue, and of Rx. 592,500 in Provincial and Local Revenue.

1892-93, Decreases of Revenue in India.

48. The only important decreases of Revenue in India are (1) one of Rx. 75,000 under Customs, for which diminished exports of rice from Burma account, and (2) one of Rx. 120,700 under XXIV—Exchange. It is very difficult to frame satisfactory estimates under the head XXIV—Exchange. The factors influencing the amount of the gain taken to that head, or of the loss taken to the corresponding charge head, 31—Exchange, as the case may be, are—

(1) The amounts of the withdrawals of Capital by Railway Companies for expenditure. It is possible to make an estimate of these amounts, though considerable variations are found to occur frequently, the Companies requiring more or less money than they anticipated at the beginning of the year.

(2) The amounts of payments to Railway Companies for Revenue Stores. These can be estimated on the basis of past experience, but are subject to variations.

(3) The rates of exchange fixed by the several contracts with the Companies for the adjustment of Capital and Revenue transactions. The rates for the adjustment of withdrawals of Capital in India are in most cases fixed definitely by the contracts, but the rates for the adjustment of withdrawals of Capital in England and for the adjustment of Revenue transactions depend on the course of exchange in the half-year immediately preceding that of the occurrence of the transactions.

(4) The amounts of the transactions other than those of Railway Companies which enter into the Remittance Account with London. These can be estimated from past experience, but are subject to variation from various causes.

(5) The rate of exchange fixed annually for the adjustment of transactions between India and England. This is known beforehand.

(6) The average rate of exchange at which the Secretary of State sells his Bills on India during the year. This cannot be foreseen with any accuracy.

The differences between the actual average rate of exchange, (6), and the other rates of exchange mentioned applied to the amounts of the transactions concerned give the gain or loss by Exchange entered under one or other of the two heads.

Of the total reduction of Rx. 120,700 below the Budget Estimate of the current year for this uncertain head of Revenue, the decrease occurring in connection with the transactions of Railway Companies is Rx. 70,900, and that in connection with other payments and receipts on the Remittance Account is Rx. 49,800.

1892-93, Increases of Revenue in India.

49. The more important increases of Revenue are—

	Rx.
Land Revenue, including that due to Irrigation	203,300
Opium	331,900
Salt	103,900
Stamps	228,600
Excise	101,200
Forests	60,300
Mint	99,400
State Railways	235,500
Irrigation—Major Works, Direct Receipts	164,000
Army receipts	51,100

The increase in Land Revenue is the consequence partly of a favourable season, and partly of settlement operations having resulted in larger increments of Revenue than anticipated. All Provinces, except the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, contribute to the increase, but the Province showing the largest increase is Burma: in addition to a specially large increase from settlement operations and extensions of cultivation, the Revised Estimates for that Province include arrears of the rent due by the Ruby Mines Company amounting to Rx. 20,000.

The price of Opium rose very much after March last: the average price realised at the monthly sales of Bengal Opium has been ₹1,247 a chest as compared with the estimated price of ₹1,050; and the receipts in Bengal have consequently exceeded the Estimate by Rx. 422,200, notwithstanding the reduction from October last in the quantity offered for sale each month. The increase in Bengal is partially counterbalanced by a falling off in Bombay consequent on a diminution of the exports of Malwa opium.

The increase under Salt occurs in the Northern India Salt Department, from which the issues have been unusually high. In Bombay the issues have fallen off largely from those of 1891-92, and in Madras, Bengal and Burma to a smaller extent.

The Stamp Revenue has increased in almost every Province and notably in Madras, Bengal, and Bombay.

The Excise Revenue has also increased in most Provinces, especially Bengal, Lower Burma, and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh. The Revenue in Madras, however, is expected to be Rx. 50,000 less than the Budget Estimate.

The increase under Forest has been secured in Burma. The season in Lower Burma has been a specially favourable one for floating timber down the rivers.

The Mint Receipts have increased because the amount of silver tendered for coinage has been considerably above the average.

The falling-off in the Railway Revenue from the exceptional amount realised in 1891-92 has not been so great as it was deemed prudent to assume in the Budget Estimate.

The increase under Irrigation is ascribed partly to the recovery of arrears in Orissa, but mainly to the area irrigated from the canals in the Punjab and in the North-Western Provinces having been greater than was anticipated.

The Army Receipts are uncertain. The receipts from the sales of cattle and remounts and of Commissariat and Ordnance Stores, from issues of malt liquor and from arms issued to the Police, will be greater than anticipated.

1892-93, Revenue in England.

50. The small increase in the Sterling Receipts occurs chiefly in Telegraph Revenue, Superannuation Fund Subscriptions, and Miscellaneous Store Receipts.

1892-93, Expenditure in India.

51. The expenditure in India is expected to be less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 492,300. Of this amount a decrease of Rx. 286,900 occurs in the Imperial Expenditure and of Rx. 205,400 in the Provincial and Local Expenditure.

The decrease is the net result of a number of decreases and increases.

1892-93, Decreases of Expenditure in India.

52. The more important decreases are as follow :—

	Rx.
Land Revenue	74,800
Opium	640,000
Forest	75,100
Police	54,000
Education	51,100
Famine Relief	53,200
State Railways, Working Expenses	76,400
Miscellaneous Railway Expenditure	70,100

The decrease under Land Revenue occurs in all Provinces except Bengal (where there has been an increase of Expenditure on Surveys and Settlements), and Burma (where the large increase of Revenue has involved increased Expenditure in collection), and is due partly to new measures not being introduced so soon as expected and partly to Local Governments making rather liberal provision in the Budget Estimates for the existing scale of expenditure.

The decrease under Opium is due to the failure of the Opium crop in Bengal. This failure necessitated a considerable reduction in the quantity of opium offered for sale at the monthly sales, beginning with the sale of October last.

The Budget Estimates made too liberal provision for the expenditure under Forest, especially in Bombay and Madras, in which Provinces the Revenue is also less than the Estimate.

Under Police the Expenditure will exceed the Budget Estimate by Rx. 22,800 in Bengal, where the provision made for the charges in South Lushai has proved to be insufficient by Rx. 500 in Assam, this small excess being also caused by increased charges in the Lushai country, and by Rx. 15,900 in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, where a scheme of reorganisation not provided for in the Budget Estimates has been sanctioned and brought partially into operation. In other Provinces the Police Expenditure will generally fall short of the Budget provision: the reasons are the same as those given for the decrease in Land Revenue Expenditure.

The decrease under Education is distributed over nearly all the Provinces, and may also be ascribed to too liberal provision in the Budget Estimates.

The decrease under Famine Relief occurs because the favourable rains in Madras rendered it unnecessary to utilise fully the amount provided by the Madras Government in view of the unfavourable prospect which existed in March last. In Bombay also the provision made was not required. On the other hand the Local expenditure in Bengal has been greater than the estimate, and in Ajmere and Rajputana some expenditure has been incurred under this head in addition to that on Public Works undertaken to provide labour for persons in distress.

The reduction of Expenditure on State Railways—Working Expenses occurs on the North-Western Railway on which the traffic has been exceptionally light this year: on other Railways generally the improvement in the traffic has caused an increase of both the Working Expenses and the Receipts.

The decrease under Miscellaneous Railway Expenditure is caused by the transfer to the account of the Assam-Bengal Railway Company of the amount spent on the survey of the line by the Government of India before the Company was formed. The actual expenditure in the year on Railway Surveys is higher than the Budget Estimate, as some new surveys not included in the Estimate were begun.

1892-93.—Increase of Expenditure in India.

53. The savings of which the more important items are explained in the preceding paragraph are to a considerable extent counterbalanced by increases under other heads. Of these the more important are—

	Rx.
Interest on Debt	56,800
Political	50,500
Irrigation—Minor Works	43,100
Army	5,15,500

The excess under Interest arises in connection with the successful conversion of the larger part of the outstanding 4½ per cent. loans into 4 per cent. debt. The half-yearly dates for the payment of the 4 per cent. paper issued in exchange differ from the dates for the 4½ per cent. paper received in exchange, in such a way that the payment of a portion of one-half year's interest is made in the later months of 1892-93 instead of in the earlier months of 1893-94. There was also a charge, adjusted in India, of Rx. 9,600 for brokerage on the conversions effected in London. But for these non-recurring increases the conversion would have resulted in a saving of ½ per cent. per annum for nine months on the amount converted: in future years the saving will be ½ per cent. on the amount converted.

The increase under Political is caused by increase in the establishments at Gilgit (partly by transfer from the Military Estimates), by the occupation of the Kurram Valley, by missions on th North-West Frontier, and by expenditure in the Lushai country.

The increase under Irrigation—Minor Works—is due to expenditure in Upper Burma and Rajputana on works undertaken in consequence of the scarcity which occurred in those Provinces before the last rains.

The excess under Army is due to the following causes the approximate amounts for each being stated:—

		Rx.	Rx.
Expeditions.	Lushai	60,000
	Isazai	50,000
	Kajuri Kach	100,000	262,600
	Kurram	45,000
	Manipur (arrears)	7,600
Transport and supply arrangements for feeding the Indian and Kashmir troops in Gilgit			78,400
The new system of supply of clothing to British troops			20,500
Purchase of additional horses, and other smaller grants			10,000
Rise in the price of food for men and animals and an increase in the number of transport animals to be fed			150,000

1892-93, Provincial and Local Adjustments.

54. The sum of Rx. 797,900 entered opposite "Adjustment of Provincial and Local Surplus or Deficit" represents the amount by which the reduction of their accumulated balances by Local Governments has been less than they proposed when the Budget Estimates were framed. Of this improvement in the position of Local Governments increase of Revenue accounts for Rx. 592,500, and reduction in Expenditure for Rx. 205,400.

1892-93, Expenditure in England.

55. The increase of £613,200 in the Expenditure in England is accounted for by the increases under the following heads:—

Interest on debt	37,600
Marine	123,400
Superannuation	81 900
Army Effective charges	237,900
„ Non-effective charges	189,900

The increase under Interest is due to the discount and commission charges of £43,900 on the sterling loan of £1,300,000 raised during the year for advances to Railway Companies and discharge of Railway Debentures, the provision made for interest on temporary loans, on the other hand, not being required.

The increase under Marine is caused by payments for the construction of the troop-ships Warren Hastings and Minto and the dredger Mud Turtle, which were not provided for in the Estimate.

Under Effective Army charges, £208,000 of arrears of payments to the War Office, which it was intended to pay in 1891-92, have been paid this year: the payments of furlough allowances are expected to exceed the Estimate in consequence of the payment of allowances monthly instead of quarterly which has the effect of causing the allowances due for the last two months or so of 1892-93 to be paid within the year instead of in the early months of the following year: the payments for Clothing, Commissariat and Medical Stores are increased by £78,600: and, on the other hand, the amount provided for Ordnance Stores is expected to be less by £86,000, representing payments postponed to next year.

The increase in the non-effective Army charges is due to the payment of pensions monthly instead of quarterly, as explained above in regard to furlough allowances.

The increase under Superannuation Charges is also due to the cause just mentioned.

1892-93, Exchange.

56. The net charge for Exchange on the Revenue and Expenditure in England is Rx. 9,811,400, being an increase of Rx. 1,936,600 over the Budget Estimate of Rx. 7,874,800. Of this increase the sum of Rx. 301,300 represents the Exchange at the Budget rate of 1*s.* 4*d.* the rupee on the net increase of sterling Expenditure, and the remainder, Rx. 1,635,300, is due to the fall in the rate to 1*s.* 3*d.* the rupee.

Section III.—Budget Estimate of 1893-94.

1893-94, General Results.

57. The following statement compares the Revenue and Expenditure in India and in England in the Budget Estimate of 1893-94 with that in the Budget Estimate of 1892-93:—

The reasons which have led the Government of India to take the very unusual course of adopting a Budget Estimate which results in a large deficit have been explained in Part I. A very substantial development of revenue is taken credit for. The increase of expenditure is also considerable; it would, however, have been more than covered by the increase in Revenue, but for the serious addition to the Exchange on sterling expenditure caused by the fall in the rate from 1*s.* 4*d.* to 1*s.* 2¾*d.* the rupee.

1893-94, Revenue in India.

58. The Estimates for next year anticipate an increase of Revenue in India over the Budget Estimate of 1892-93 of Rx. 1,624,200. Of this amount, an increase of Rx. 934,500 occurs in Imperial Revenue, and of Rx. 689,700 in Provincial and Local Revenue.

1893-94, Decreases of Revenue in India.

59. There is only one important decrease of Revenue, namely, that under Opium, of Rx. 318,400. Of this, the larger part, Rx. 207,000, is caused by the reduction in the quantity of Bengal Opium to be offered for sale necessitated by the failure of the crop last year and the exhaustion of the reserve: had it not been for the considerable rise in the price of opium which enables us to count on securing a higher average price next year than that taken last March, the decrease in the Bengal Opium Revenue would have been very much larger. The remainder of the decrease is caused by the heavy falling-off in the exports of Malwa Opium from Bombay and by the change in the Lower Burma Opium regulations described in paragraph 71 below.

A decision of the Government which leads to an appreciable diminution of Revenue may be mentioned here. It has been decided that officers who are entitled to make family remittances through the Government may do so at the rate of Exchange of 1*s.* 4$\frac{3}{4}$d. the rupee, instead of at 1*s.* 2$\frac{3}{4}$d., the rate fixed for the adjustment of transactions between England and India in 1893-94. This concession will it is estimated cost Rx. 77,700 and reduces the receipts under XXIV—Exchange by that amount. The increase in the receipts under that head in connection with the Railway Companies' transactions, however, more than counterbalances this loss, and the receipts under XXIV—Exchange in the Estimates for 1893-94 are slightly higher than in the Budget Estimates for 1892-93.

It may be mentioned also that the rate of 1*s.* 4$\frac{3}{4}$d. will be applied to the payment of furlough and absentee allowances in England as well as to remittances: the additional Expenditure entailed will appear in the sterling charges, which would be less were the official rate of exchange, 1*s.* 2$\frac{3}{4}$d., applied to the calculation of the allowances due.

1893-94, Increases of Revenue in 1893-94.

60. The following are the more important increases of Revenue which are anticipated in the Budget Estimate:—

	Rx.
Land Revenue including that due to Irrigation	592,900
Stamps	204,500
Provincial Rates	84,000
Telegraph	58,200
Railways, State and Guaranteed	722,600

The increase in Land Revenue is distributed over all Provinces except the North-Western Provinces. The Estimates for each Province will be noticed more in detail in paragraph 67.

It is believed safe to assume that most of the increase in Stamp Revenue in 1892-93 will be retained in 1893-94.

The Receipts under Provincial Rates generally rise or fall with the Receipts on account of Land Revenue, and the increase of Rx. 84,000 is contributed to by nearly all the Provinces.

Under Telegraph a moderate normal increase of Revenue is taken in the Estimates.

Under Railways it is assumed that the Revenue shown in the Revised Estimate of 1892-93 will be realised in 1893-94, together with an increase consequent on the increased mileage open and on specific circumstances expected to develope the traffic on lines already opened.

1893-94, Expenditure in India.

61. The increase of Expenditure in India over the Budget Estimate of 1892-93 amounts to Rx. 1,114,900, composed of an increase of Rx. 835,700 in the Imperial Expenditure and Rx. 279,200 in the Provincial and Local Expenditure.

1893-94, Decreases of Expenditure in India.

62. The decreases of Expenditure in India, which it has been found possible to secure next year, are unfortunately not large. The only important ones are—

	Rx.
Assignments and Compensations	37,800
Interest on Debt	256,800
Famine Relief	89,500
Construction of Railways charged against Revenue	226,400
Irrigation—Minor Works	93,600

The saving under Assignments and Compensations is secured by the stoppage of the Goa Subsidy of Rx. 40,000 and the Customs Tariff Compensation of about Rx. 6,000 payable to the Indo-Portuguese Government under the treaty of 1879, which was abrogated with effect from the 15th January 1892. The saving of the subsidy in 1892-93 was counterbalanced by the payment of arrears of the Customs Tariff Compensation under the treaty, and of compensations to the owners of Salt Pans which were claimable under the treaty on its termination. Some of these last-mentioned compensations will remain over for settlement in 1893-94 as the assessment of the amounts due takes time.

The decrease under Interest is due to the amount transferred from Ordinary to Public Works Debt on account of the Capital outlay on Railways and Irrigation Works, and to a saving of Rx. 54,000 secured by the conversion, in July last, of Rx. 10,792,490 of the 4$\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Loan into 4 per cent. Paper.

The scarcity which prevailed in March last in Madras and other Provinces rendered it necessary to make a considerable provision for Famine Relief in the Budget Estimate of 1892-93. Fortunately that necessity does not exist now. But the Governments of Madras and Bengal have judged it prudent to enter Rx. 30,000 and Rx. 10,000 respectively for possible Famine Relief next year as a precautionary measure.

Of the decrease under Construction of Railways charged against Revenue Rx. 118,300 is Imperial. In the general position of the finances as disclosed in this statement, it was impossible to allot anything from Revenue for the construction of Railways, and the Capital outlay next year has accordingly to be restricted to the grant not charged to Revenue and the sum available from the Famine Insurance Grant. The remainder of this decrease is Provincial: so large a provision as last year is not required for the Mayaveram-Mutupet Railway in Madras and the Hyderabad-Umarkot Railway in Bombay.

The Budget grant for Imperial Expenditure on Irrigation—Minor Works in 1892-93 included Rx. 44,000 for Famine Relief Works in Ajmere and Rajputana. It is not necessary to make a similar provision next year. Several of the Local Governments have also reduced their Provincial Expenditure under this head below the Budget Estimate of 1892-93.

1893-94, Increases of Expenditure in India.

63. The more important increases of Expenditure in India are—

	Rx.
Land Revenue	81,400
Political	61,700
State Railways—Working Expenses	208,700
" " Interest	180,400
Military Works	58,500
Civil Works	140,800
Army	686,800

The increase under Land Revenue is due to expenditure on Surveys and Settlements in several Provinces, and to increased expenditure being necessary to collect the increased receipts.

The increase under Political is mainly caused by an increase of the Civil staff at Gilgit (partly by transfer from the Military Estimates), by the occupation of the Kurram Valley, by the demarcation of the Burma-Siam boundary, and by increased expenditure on Imperial Service Troops.

Of the increases in State Railway Expenditure that for Working Expenses is required to earn the anticipated higher revenue, and that for Interest is a transfer from Ordinary Debt, following the yearly addition to the Capital Expenditure.

Of the increase under Military Works a portion is counterbalanced by a decrease in the sterling Expenditure in England, and the remainder is explained by the fact that a special deduction was made from the grant for 1892-93 in view of the excess expenditure in 1891-92.

The increase of Expenditure on Civil Works occurs entirely in the Provincial and Local section of the Accounts. The necessities of the position have compelled the Government of India to restrict Imperial Expenditure on Public Works. Burma and Assam are the Provinces in which the largest increases of Provincial Expenditure are proposed.

The last of the increases is the largest, that under Army. The main items of Expenditure accounting for the increase are—

	Rx.
Increased pay of British Troops owing to the fall in the rate of exchange from 1*s.* 4*d.* to 1*s.* 2¾*d.*	240,000
Grant of Armament pay to the Garrison Artillery necessitated by the similar grant in England	14,900
Increased expenditure on Ordnance establishment and stores	88,200
Increased cost of clothing British Troops under the new system promulgated in Army Circular No. 165 of 1892	27,100
A rise in the price of food for men and animals and an increase in the number of transport animals to be fed	70,000
An increase in the gross amount of pensions to Native soldiers and the payment of pensions in the Eastern Circle, Bengal, within the year for five quarters instead of for two half-years in consequence of the transfer of the payments to the Civil Department	23,500
Extension of grass-farming operations	13,500
The provision made for the cost of the Kajuri Kach and Kurram Valley Forces, and arrear charges of the Chin and Lushai Expeditions	174,000
Transport and supply arrangements for feeding the Indian and Kashmir troops in Gilgit	30,000
The reconstitution of the Hindustani Regiments	12,500
The provision of Rx. 18,800 instead of Rx. 6,800 for the transfer of the 1-1st Goorkha Regiment from Dharmsala to a more healthy Station	12,000

In the above list no item which does not amount to a lakh of rupees is mentioned. There are other smaller items of increase, and, on the other hand, there are a few items of decreased expenditure.

1893-94, Provincial and Local Adjustments.

64. The entry of Rx. 410,500 opposite "Adjustment of Provincial and Local Surplus or Deficit" in the table in paragraph 57 means that the Local Governments propose to draw against their accumulated balances to a smaller extent than in the Budget Estimate of 1892-93. This reduction of the drawings against balances is due entirely to the improvement of Provincial and Local Revenues: and is secured notwithstanding an increase of expenditure. The increase of Provincial and Local Revenues is Rx. 689,700 and the increase of Expenditure Rx. 279,200.

1893-94, Expenditure in England.

65. A decrease of £106,600 in the sterling expenditure in England is expected. A reduction of £54,400 occurs under Special Defence Works in consequence of the approaching completion of the payments due by India for the stores for the Aden Defence Works. Under Army there is a reduction of £97,000. The cause of this is a diminution by £270,000 in the payments for Ordnance stores. Considerable progress having been made with the re-armament of the Army in India, it may be hoped that these charges will still further decline in future years. On the other hand, the cost of other Military stores is increased by £66,300: payments for deferred pay are higher by £52,000, a consequence of the considerable augmentation of the strength of the British Army in India in 1885 and 1886; and the non-effective Army charges are increased by £56,300.

The Marine charges in England also show an increase of £39,700 mainly because of further heavy payments to be made on account of the Troopships Warren Hastings and Minto.

The variations in the remaining heads of the Home Estimates other than Marine, Army and Special Defences are smaller, and, on the whole, nearly counterbalance each other.

1893-94, Exchange.

66. The increase of Rx. 1,960,700 in the Exchange on Expenditure in England is due to the fall in the rate of exchange from 1*s.* 4*d.* to 1*s.* 2¾*d.* the rupee. Had it been possible to hope that Council Bills will be sold at an average rate of 1*s.* 4*d.* in 1893-94, the column for Exchange would have shown a small reduction proportionate to the decrease in sterling expenditure.

Section IV.—Examination of the Estimates under the more important heads of Revenue and Expenditure.

LAND REVENUE.

67. The Estimates for 1892-93 and for 1893-94, and the Actuals for the three preceding years, are shown in the following statement:—

	Accounts, 1889-90.	Accounts, 1890-91.	Accounts, 1891-92.	Budget Estimate, 1892-93.	Revised Estimate, 1892-93.	Budget Estimate, 1893-94.

Expenditure	3,624,194	3,676,596	3,824,226	4,030,100	3,956,100	4,112,300

Land Revenue in 1892-93.

The Budget Estimate for 1892-93 was higher than it otherwise would have been owing to the inclusion of arrears from the previous year, mostly in Madras, the collections having been postponed on account of scarcity. The south-west monsoon rains were favourable: such arrears, due to the scarcity, as have not been finally remitted have been collected except some in Ajmere; and the Revised Estimate is for an amount considerably in excess of the Budget Estimate. In Madras, though the Estimate of March last will be realised, the failure of the north-east monsoon is causing some anxiety in regard to a few districts, and prevents an increase over the Budget Estimate.

The North-Western Provinces and Oudh is the only Province in which the collections this year will fall below the Budget Estimate: floods in two districts and the fact that the estimate for the recovery of arrears was rather high account for this falling off.

Land Revenue in 1893-94.

In all other Provinces the collections will appreciably exceed the Budget Estimate. The increase is explained mainly by the fact that the Estimates did not make sufficient allowance for the increases resulting from settlement operations and extension of cultivation.

In the Budget Estimate for 1893-94 a further considerable increase of Revenue is counted on. Except Bengal, where the increase is trifling, and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, where there is a decrease of Rx. 26,400 owing to the amount of arrears to be recovered being taken at a lower figure, experience having shown that every year some considerable arrears remain uncollected, all Provinces contribute to the increase, the amounts being—

	Increase as compared with the Budget Estimate for 1892-93.
	Rx.
India (chiefly Ajmere and Biluchistan)	29,600
Central Provinces	30,400
Lower Burma	155,000
Upper „	55,000
Assam	88,400
Punjab	77,000
Madras	47,800
Bombay	132,300

The progress of settlement operations is the cause of these increases in most cases: in the Punjab there will also be some receipts from the sale of lands in the Gujranwala District in connection with the colonisation scheme for the utilisation of the newly opened Chenab Canal: (there were similar receipts this year which increased the Punjab Revenue in the Revised Estimate): in Sind and Burma larger revenue will be secured from extension of cultivation as well as from settlement assessments: and in Ajmere there are arrears to be collected.

Bengal Opium Revenue in 1892-93.

The Budget Estimate of the receipts from Bengal Opium was based on the assumption that 54,000 chests would be sold in the year at an average price of ₹1,050. Owing to the failure of the crop it became necessary to reduce the quantity to be sold each month to 3,642 chests, beginning with the sale of October 1892, and the total quantity sold in the year has accordingly been 48,852 chests only. On the other hand, the average price realised has been ₹1,247 a chest. The rise in price has more than counterbalanced the reduction in quantity, and in Bengal the Revised Estimate shows an increase of Rx. 422,200 over the Budget Estimate.

Bengal Opium Revenue in 1893-94.

For next year the present price and the recent course of prices justify the assumption of an average price of ₹1,250, or ₹200 a chest, higher than that taken in the Budget Estimate of 1892-93. The reduction in the quantity to be sold is, however, so great that the receipts from the sales of Bengal Opium even at that price will be less than the Budget Estimate of this year by Rx. 207,000.

Bombay Opium Revenue in 1892-93 and 1893-94.

The exports of Malwa Opium through Bombay have fallen much below the actuals of 1891-92. And although some falling off was anticipated, the receipts in Bombay in 1892-93 are now expected to be less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 100,900. For next year the Bombay receipts are placed at the same figure as in the Revised Estimate of this year.

Opium Expenditure in 1892-93 and 1893-94.

The Opium Expenditure consists almost entirely of the payments for Bengal Opium. The crop this year was again a poor one, and, as an average crop was estimated for, there has been a saving of Rx. 639,800. For 1893-94 the Estimate again provides for the payments in connection with an average crop, it being too soon to forecast the outturn with confidence.

Salt Revenue in 1892-93.

The consumption of salt has increased considerably for India as a whole and the Revised exceeds the Budget Estimate by Rx. 103,900. The receipts are lower than last year in Madras, Bengal and Burma, and much lower in Bombay. The increase in the receipts of the Northern India Salt Department however more than counterbalances the falling off elsewhere, and it is probable that Northern India salt has in some tracts displaced Bombay and imported salt.

Salt Revenue in 1893-94.

The Budget Estimate for 1893-94 has been taken at a somewhat lower amount than the Revised Estimate for 1892-93.

The Stamp receipts in 1892-93 are expected to be in excess of the Budget Estimate by Rx. 228,600, the renewed improvement, which began in 1891-92 after the check in this head of Revenue in 1890-91, having continued this year. The increase this year being considerably in excess of the average, the Budget Estimate for next year has been placed slightly lower than the Revised Estimate of 1892-93.

Excise Revenue in 1892-93.

As in England so in India, the Excise Revenue shows a constant tendency to rise. The Revenue in 1892-93 is now expected to be Rx. 101,200 in excess of the Budget Estimate which was slightly below the actuals of 1891-92. The Punjab and Madras are the only Provinces which do not contribute to this increase. In the Punjab the decrease is nominal. In Madras the stoppage in the annual increment of Revenue which has occurred for several years is probably a consequence of the scarcity which was felt in that Province up to July last.

The increase is largest in Bengal where the stricter policy introduced some years ago, which had for a time the effect of reducing the Revenue, is now producing the usual result of augmenting it.

The next largest increase is in Lower Burma: the Budget Estimate allowed for a reduction of the Excise Revenue in that Province below the figure of 1891-92 because of certain measures designed to restrict the consumption of opium which were introduced rather more than a year ago: this expectation has not been fulfilled, and the Revenue in Lower Burma this year is expected to exceed that of 1891-92 by Rx. 33,300.

In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh some important changes of policy were introduced in the latter part of 1891-92. These changes were expected by the Local Government to result "in a very considerable decrease of Revenue during the first few years at least." Nevertheless the Revenue in 1892-93 will be Rx. 25,700 higher than that of 1891-92.

Excise Revenue in 1893-94.

The Budget Estimate for 1893-94 of Excise Revenue for the whole of India except Lower Burma is taken at an amount rather higher than the Revised Estimate for this year.

In Lower Burma it has been decided to make a very important change of policy, and to assimilate the rules regarding the sale, possession and consumption of opium to those in force in Upper Burma. The sale to and possession by persons of Burmese race will be generally prohibited. It is estimated that this change will involve an annual loss of Revenue of Rx. 150,000, of which Rx. 120,000 will occur under Excise and Rx. 30,000 under the head Opium. As the change was only finally decided on at the beginning of this month, and, as the necessary arrangements for its introduction require some time to complete, the Chief Commissioner fears that he will not be able to introduce the change for two or three months, and it has been assumed for the purpose of the Estimates that the change will not be made till 1st July: accordingly the loss of Revenue in 1893-94 has been taken at three-fourths of the amounts named above.

Customs Revenue in 1892-93 and 1893-94.

The Customs Revenue has not done well this year on the whole; but the chief cause of the falling off in the Revenue as compared with the Budget Estimate for the year and with the actuals of 1891-92 is the diminished export of rice from Burma and Bengal. The crop in Burma is reported to be a good one but late, and the depression of trade in Europe is believed to have had some effect in retarding exports. Prices are high in Burma and Bengal, but low in Europe.

If the exports are only retarded, the Revenue next year should show some recovery: for this reason and because it is reasonable to expect that the special depression of the Customs Revenue which has occurred this year will to some extent disappear, the Budget Estimate for 1893-94 has been taken higher than the Revised Estimate of 1892-93.

Income Tax Revenue in 1892-93 and 1893-94.

The increase of Revenue under this head, which ought to accompany growth in wealth and population, and more effective administration of the tax, has been secured this year and is assumed, to a smaller extent, in the Budget Estimate of next year.

Forest Revenue in 1892-93 and 1893-94.

The increase in the receipts in 1892-93 occurs chiefly in Lower Burma, where the season was specially favourable for floating timber down the rivers. The recurrence of an equally favourable season in 1893-94 is not assumed in the Budget Estimate.

INTEREST.

75. The Interest receipts since 1889-90 are shown below:—

Interest Revenue.

Interest Revenue in India in 1892-93.

The Revised Estimate of Revenue in India is less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 43,300. The Guaranteed Railways did not find it necessary to overdraw their Capital account to the extent anticipated, and the receipts from Interest on overdrawn Capital are less than the Estimate by Rx. 35,800. The Government of the North-Western Provinces reduced the rate of interest on the loans to certain municipalities from 4½ to 4 per cent. and made a refund in order to give retrospective effect to the reduction. The receipts in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh are consequently less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 13,200. In other Provinces the Budget Estimate will be more than realised.

Interest Revenue in India in 1893-94.

The Bombay Port Trust have borrowed in the open market in order to repay the balance, amounting to Rx. 616,104, of a loan granted by Government some years ago, the favourable state of the money market enabling them to borrow at a lower rate than that fixed when the Government loan was made, and the Government have waived their right to receive the higher rate during the term of the loan, and agreed to accept repayment on 1st April next. This does not affect the Interest receipts in 1893-94, as the interest is payable yearly on 1st April, but it will reduce them in future years.

In 1893-94 the Railway Companies are not expected to overdraw their Capital account to a greater extent than this year, but the receipts of interest in India on loans to municipalities and agriculturists will increase with the yearly growth of the Capital amounts. The Governments of Bombay and Madras made in 1892-93 advances of very large amounts to agriculturists. The Government of India are anxious to extend these advances as much as possible, but the state of the balances renders it necessary to reduce the amounts available for the purpose in 1893-94 considerably below the amounts advanced this year.

Interest Revenue in England in 1892-93 and 1893-94.

The receipts in England in the Revised Estimate for 1892-93 and in the Budget Estimate for 1893-94 are lower than last year and than the Budget Estimate of this year, because the rate of interest obtainable on temporary investments of the cash balance has been unusually low, and the balances are expected to be such next year that little money will be available for temporary investment.

Interest Expenditure.

76. The Expenditure under Interest (other than that charged to Railways and Irrigation Works) has been as follows since 1881-82 :—

Interest Expenditure in India.

In addition to the decrease in the Interest charges in India caused by the annual transfer from the Ordinary to the Public Works Debt, a further saving of Rx. 54,000 a year has been secured by a reduction of ½ per cent. in the rate of interest payable on Rx. 10,792,490 of the rupee debt.

In 1890-91 an offer was made to convert the 4½ per cent. loans of 1878 and 1879 into 4 per cent. paper on certain terms: the offer was accepted by holders of paper of the value of Rx. 8,313,000; and the balance of the two loans outstanding was reduced by that amount, and on the 1st April 1892 stood at Rx. 12,126,817. Under the terms of the loans repayment can be made, after three months' notice, on 15th September 1893. In order to reduce the amount to be dealt with on that date a further offer for conversion into 4 per cent. paper was made, on terms less favourable to the holders than those of 1890, in the Notification No. 2290, dated 6th June 1892. Holders of paper for the amount of Rx. 10,792,490 accepted these terms. The result is that an annual saving of interest of Rx. 53,963 has been secured with effect from 30th June 1892, and that only a balance of Rx. 1,334,327 remains to be dealt with on 15th September next. For the reason explained in paragraph 53, the saving will not produce an effect on the Accounts until the year 1893-94.

Interest Expenditure in England.

The increase in the Expenditure in England in 1892-93 is caused by the discount on the sterling loan raised during the year.

The net Expenditure this year and next will not differ much from that of the Budget Estimate for 1892-93 or the Actuals of 1891-92. The steady progress of the Department necessitates an annual increase of Expenditure, and also secures an annual increase of Revenue.

The position of the Telegraph Department in regard to progress of Revenue and Expenditure is similar to that of the Post Office. The increase of Revenue this year will be greater than that taken in the Budget Estimate, and a further increase is assumed in 1893-94.

The value of silver bullion presented at the Mints for coinage has been as under in the last few years:—

General Administration Expenditure.

The Expenditure on General Administration,—the larger part of the Indian Expenditure is Provincial—necessarily rises with the increase of the administration in efficiency and complexity. Over 60 per cent. of the increases shown in the totals given above under the head in the Revised Estimate for 1892-93 and in the Budget Estimate for 1893-94 occurs in the Exchange on the Sterling Expenditure.

Law and Justice, Police, Education, and Medical Expenditure.

The Expenditure under Law and Justice, Police, Education, and Medical also tends to increase from year to year. The Expenditure on these heads is almost entirely Provincial and Local, and as the Local Governments are mostly in a flourishing financial position, the difficulties of finding funds to devote to the improvement of the administration and to meeting the growing wants of the country are not so great as in the case of Imperial Expenditure.

Marine Expenditure.

The increases under Marine are caused by the construction in England of the new vessels mentioned in paragraphs 55 and 65. In Bengal and Burma also expenditure is being incurred on the construction of a pilot vessel, a light-ship and steam-launches. The charges in other Provinces and of the Imperial Marine Department are not increasing.

Political Expenditure.

The reasons for the increase of Political Expenditure this year and next have been explained in paragraphs 53 and 63.

Furlough Allowances and Pension Expenditure.

The only heads in this group regarding which any explanation seems necessary are the second and third. In addition to the increase caused by the fall in exchange and, in the case of pensions, by the normal increase in the number of pensioners, the Expenditure under both these heads in the Revised Estimate is augmented by the practice recently introduced in England of paying the allowances monthly instead of quarterly. Pensioners have availed themselves of the concession to a smaller extent than officers on leave, and some provision is made in the Budget Estimate for pensioners making their election to draw monthly after the close of this year. The addition from this cause is not a permanent increase to the Expenditure, but occurs only while the change is being introduced.

Expenditure on Famine Relief.

The reduction in the amounts to be spent this year and next year on Famine Relief has been explained in paragraphs 52 and 62.

Loss on Famine Railways.

The increase in the net loss on the two Railways this year and next, as compared with the Budget Estimate of 1892-93, is mainly due to the fall in the rate of exchange, the Interest charges being payable in sterling.

Capital Expenditure on Protective Railways.

The balance available from the Famine Insurance Grant of Rx. 1,500,000 after meeting the charges for Famine Relief, Protective Irrigation Works, and the loss on the two Railways, is applied to Capital Expenditure on the construction of Railways.

Railways in 1892-93.

The net loss on the Railway Revenue Account in the current year is now expected to amount to Rx. 1,710,800 or Rx. 136,300 in excess of the loss taken in the Budget Estimate. The net traffic receipts of State Railways are increased by Rx. 311,900: the sterling payments of interest in England are less by £18,500, but the fall in Exchange causes an additional charge under Exchange amounting to Rx. 563,000. The surplus profits payable to the old Guaranteed Railway Companies are increased by Rx. 31,600. The Miscellaneous Railway Expenditure will be less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 70,100, owing to a refund by the Assam-Bengal Railway Company of past outlay incurred by the State on Surveys of the line.

State Railways, 1892-93.

The gross traffic receipts of State Railways will probably exceed the amount entered in the Budget by Rx. 235,500, while the saving in working expenses will be Rx. 76,400.

The principal fluctuations in net receipts are the following:—

North Western	—110,000
South Indian	+ 25,300

As was the case last year on the lines shewing a considerable increase, the principal cause of the improvement is heavier traffic in wheat and seeds. The increase on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway is almost entirely attributable to this cause. On the East Indian Railway there has also been an improvement in coaching traffic, and the absorption into this system of the Patna-Gya Railway accounts for a portion of the improvement. On the Burma Railway there has been an unusually brisk traffic in rice, more particularly during the later months.

The increase in the net receipts of the South Indian Railway is caused by reduction in working expenses owing to the extensive renewals allowed for not having been carried out.

The large decrease in the case of the North Western Railway is due to great depression in traffic caused by diminution of grain exports and by breaches of the line during the monsoon. The decrease in the case of the Mu Valley Railway is due to the estimates of receipts and working expenses having been based on insufficient data, while that in the case of the Bengal Nagpur is attributable to a partial local failure of crops.

The receipts on the Bengal and North Western and Tirhoot System are slightly in excess of the original estimate, but the Company's share of net earnings is higher than was anticipated, and the Government share smaller. The Patna-Gya Railway has been incorporated with the East Indian Railway from 1st July 1892. On the Oudh and Rohilkhand Railway the receipts are higher than the original estimate, but the expenses have increased to a larger extent owing to heavy repairs and renewals of permanent way.

Guaranteed Railways, 1892-93.

The Madras Railway and the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway show improvements of Rx. 15,000 and Rx. 65,000, respectively, in net receipts. The gross earnings of the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway exceed the Budget Estimate by Rx. 80,000 due chiefly to heavier traffic in seeds and cotton. Part of the improvement has been absorbed by increased charges for working. The Great Indian Peninsula Railway shows a decrease in net receipts of Rx. 80,000. There have been increased charges owing to renewals of engines, the fall in the rate of exchange, and payments to other lines of their shares of through traffic earnings.

State Railways, 1893-94.

In 1893-94 the gross receipts of State Railways are estimated at Rx. 512,100 more than in the Revised Estimate of 1892-93. The most noticeable variations in net receipts, from the Revised Estimate of 1892-93, are as follow:—

	Rx.
East Indian Railway	+45,000
Rajputana-Malwa Railway	—35,000
Oudh and Rohilkhand	+10,000
Indian Midland Railway	+20,000
North Western Railway	+75,000
Bengal Nagpur	+35,000
South Indian	+17,500
Southern Mahratta	+18,000

The expectation of so considerable an improvement over the probable receipts of this year may seem sanguine. But the several increases have been taken either—

(1) in consequence of additional mileage recently opened or to be opened next year; or

(2) in the case of more recently opened lines, in the hope that the average increase of receipts secured in past years will continue in 1893-94; or

(3) in the case of the older lines showing exceptionally bad results in 1892-93, by the expectation of a return to normal conditions in 1893-94, and it is believed that they will be secured. The traffic on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway during 1892-93 has been so specially favourable that it has not been considered prudent to anticipate such good results in 1893.

Guaranteed Railways, 1893-94.

The net traffic receipts of Guaranteed Railways are taken at Rx. 3,235,000, or Rx. 25,000 below the Revised Estimate of 1892-93. The estimate for the Madras Railway is the same as the Revised Estimate for 1892-93 In the case of the Bombay, Baroda Railway, it has not been considered prudent to anticipate so large a traffic as in 1892-93, but the reduction in earnings has been to a large extent counterbalanced by a reduction in expenses owing to the completion in 1892-93 of repairs of damages by floods, the net result being a decrease of Rx 5,000 only. The net receipts of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway are estimated at Rx. 20,000 less than in 1892-93 in consequence of a larger provision for renewal of engines.

Irrigation Revenue and Expenditure in 1892-93 and 1893-94.

The Revised Estimate of receipts is higher than the Budget Estimate for the current year by Rx. 187,600, the increase being due to extended irrigation in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Punjab, Bombay, and Madras.

The decrease of Rx. 66,600 in the receipts for 1893-94, as compared with the Revised Estimate of the current year, is due mainly to the demand for water in the Punjab and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh having fallen off considerably owing to abundant rain in the autumn of 1892, and partly also to the fact that the realizations of the current year in Bengal have been swollen by collection of arrears.

The decrease would have been larger but for an increase of Rx. 90,300 in Madras, due to new settlements and extension of irrigation.

Revenue.

The improvement in Revenue in the Revised Estimates is due mainly to the sale of certain ferry plant and stores in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and to the sale of a Government building in Burma.

Expenditure.

The increase in Military Works expenditure in the Revised Estimate is due to large expenditure having been incurred in providing accommodation for troops in the Chin Hills. There is a decrease in Imperial Civil Works expenditure of Rx. 37,400, due mainly to transfer of grants to the head Minor Works and Navigation to provide for outlay on Famine Relief works in Upper Burma.

The Military Works Budget for 1893-94 provides for a small increase in expenditure, while the Civil Works Budget provides for an increased expenditure of Rx. 154,600, all of which is Provincial and Local, the Provincial balances, especially in Lower Burma and Assam, admitting of larger assignments for expenditure on public works.

1892-93 Revised „	559,300
1893-94 Budget „	536,600

The anticipated short expenditure during the current year is attributable to the expenditure in England on stores and armaments having been over-estimated.

The Budget Estimate for 1893-94 is less than the Revised Estimate for 1892-93 by Rx. 22,700.

The total expenditure on Special Defence Works being estimated at Rx. 5,030,000, if the amounts shown above for 1892-93 and 1893-94 are spent, there will remain Rx. 426,287 to be incurred in 1894-95 and future years.

Capital Expenditure on Railway Construction.

89. The following table gives the figures of the estimates for 1892-93 and 1893-94 for Capital Expenditure on Railways exclusive of sums found by Local Governments out of Provincial resources, the amounts charged to the Famine grant and to the head "37—Construction of Railways" being included for convenience, although charged to Revenue :—

	India.	England.	Exchange.	Total.
	Rx.	£	Rx.	Rx.
1892-93, Budget Estimate	2,542,000	1,382,000	691,000	4,615,000
1892-93, Revised Estimate	2,880,300	1,068,000	640,800	4,589,100
1893-94, Budget Estimate	1,980,200	1,151,800	722,300	3,854,300

Of the totals shown above the following amounts are taken as charges against the Famine Relief Grant namely, in the Budget Estimate of 1892-93, Rx. 1,011,700, in the Revised Estimate, 1892-93, Rx. 993,900, and in 1893-94, Rx. 1,054,300.

The Capital Expenditure on Railways in 1892-93 will be less than the Budget Estimate by Rx. 25,900.

During the course of the year additional funds were allotted for the East Coast, Godhra-Rutlam, Tirhoot and East Indian Railways, but, on the other hand, the grant for the Assam-Bengal Railway was withdrawn on the transfer of that line to a Company, and the allotment was further reduced by the amount of the refund by that Company of the outlay incurred by the State in the previous year. The heaviest expenditure has been incurred on the East Coast, the Mu Valley, the Godhra-Rutlam, and the Mushkaf-Bolan Lines. The Villupuram-Guntakal Section of the South Indian Railway, the Dharmavaram-Hindupur Extension, and the Barsi-Khasgunge Branch will be practically completed at the close of this year.

The provision for 1893-94 is less than the estimated expenditure during 1892-93 by Rx. 734,800. Large grants have been allotted to the East Coast, Mushkaf-Bolan, Mu Valley, Godhra-Rutlam, and Bareilly-Rampur-Moradabad Railways, but, owing to the reduced grant available, work on the Mari-Attock line has been partially suspended. The funds allotted will, it is anticipated, be sufficient to advance work on the Godhra-Rutlam Railway and on the Jherriah Extension of the East Indian Railway, so as to admit of the lines being opened before the close of the year. A considerable length of the East Coast line will also be advanced sufficiently to admit of its being opened for public traffic, and the Lucknow-Rai Bareli line will be practically completed during the year.

The Revised Estimate for the current year agrees with the Budget Estimate. The increase in provision for the coming year is due to its having been decided to augment the provision for irrigation works in certain Provinces owing to the excellent financial results obtained from them.

1892-93, Council Bills.

The total estimate of the Secretary of State's drawings for the two years 1892-93 and 1893-94 is £35,900,000. To reduce to some extent the very large drawings in 1893-94 the Secretary of State has raised the drawings of the current year above the Budget Estimate of £17,000,000, and it is now expected that £17,200,000 will be drawn in 1892-93.

Sterling loans in 1892-93.

The Southern Mahratta Railway Company Debentures for £600,000, which it was intended, as stated in paragraph 99 of the last Financial Statement, to discharge on 31st March 1892 were renewed. The Secretary of State was consequently able to reduce the amount of the sterling loan of the year from £1,800,000 to £1,300,000. The loan was issued at an average price of £96-18s.-4½d. per cent.

1892-93, Capital transactions with Railway Companies.

92. The Capital transactions with the Railway Companies vary with the changes in the programmes of the Companies. The Estimates for 1892-93 as now prepared show an increase in the net receipts from the Companies of £239,200. The following statement shows the details of the transactions :—

	1,430,300	950,600

The Assam-Bengal Railway Company was expected to raise its whole capital of £1,500,000 in 1892-93; £102,905 was, however, paid in March 1892, and only £1,179,000 is expected to be paid this year, leaving £218,095 to be paid hereafter. The receipts from the Great Indian Peninsula Railway are now expected to exceed the Budget Estimate by £169,200, fresh Capital having been raised to the extent of £209,600 in excess of the estimate, while debentures for £40,400 were renewed instead of being replaced by fresh capital. The reduction of £97,800 in the Capital receipts from the Madras Railway Company represents the value of debentures renewed instead of being replaced.

The payments for discharge of debentures of the Great Indian Peninsula and Madras Railways provided for in the Budget, were not required owing to the renewal of the debentures as already explained. The issues to the Companies for Expenditure depend necessarily on their actual requirements, which are not always foreseen with accuracy.

1892-93. Deposits and Advances.

The "Deposits and Advances" in 1892-93 are now expected to result in a net payment of £300 instead of a net receipt of £4,600 owing to smaller recoveries and larger advances on account of Expenditure in England on Defence works at Aden recoverable from the Imperial Government.

1892-93, Remittances to India.

There has been a large increase in the family remittances from India in 1892-93, owing to the fall of the market rate of exchange considerably below the rate fixed for the year for the adjustment of such transactions, but this increase was partially counterbalanced by a falling-off in the remittances by Money Orders. The net remittances from India were also affected by larger repayments in England of advances on account of Emigration of coolies and supplies to Her Majesty's ships of the East India Station, etc.

93. The following is the Budget Estimate of the Ways and Means of the Home Treasury for 1893-94 :—

	Budget, 1893-94. £

Add—Closing Balance	1,972,526
TOTAL	24,025,026

1893-94, Council Bills.

It is now estimated that the drawings of the Secretary of State in 1893-94 will be £18,700,000. The Budget Estimate of the current year provided for drawings amounting to £17,000,000.

Capital transactions with Railway Companies.

The very large increase next year is almost fully explained by the variations in the capital transactions of Railway Companies in the two years. In the last Financial Statement, credit was taken for a net receipt in 1892-93 from Railway Companies of £357,900, whereas according to the present Statement, there will be a net payment to the Companies in 1893-94 of £1,189,200.

Sterling loan in 1893-94.

It is the present intention of the Secretary of State to raise a loan of £1,300,000 in 1893-94 to be applied to the discharge of £729,000 Oude and Rohilkund Railway Debentures and £520,200 South Indian Railway Debentures falling due in the course of the year.

It should be understood that, in stating the present intentions of the Secretary of State no sort of pledge is given that he will adhere to the programme.

The headings in italics are connected with, and explained by, the corresponding figures of the Secretary of State's account in England. The others refer to purely Indian transactions.

8 Ways and Means in India in 1892-93. Main features.

95. We expect to close the year 1892-93 with a cash balance of Rx. 15,204,205 against Rx. 13,298,844 taken in the Budget Estimates of the year, being an improvement of Rx. 1,905,361. The more important items of variation from the Budget Estimates are :—

On the one hand an increase of Rx. 1,842,900 in the payments of Council Bills. For the bulk of this the fall in exchange is responsible, the sterling drawings having been increased by £200,000 only.

And on the other hand, an increase in the net revenue in India of Rx. 1,310,700, a reduction in the drawings of Provincial Governments on their accumulated balances of Rx. 797,900, a net receipt from Railway Companies on Capital Account of Rx. 29,400 instead of the net payment of Rx. 408,500 which was anticipated, an increase in the opening balance of Rx. 536,961 and other improvements in the net cash receipts which, though large in the aggregate, would require too much detail to be explained here.

Ways and Means in India in 1893-94. Main features.

96. In 1893-94 we have to provide for the payment of Council Bills Rx. 4,301,600 more than was required in the Budget Estimate of 1892-93, about one-half of this being caused by the increase in the sterling drawings and one-half by the fall in the rate of exchange.

To meet this very heavy demand on our cash balances, we have a repayment of a loan of Rx. 616,100 by the Bombay Port Trust, a reduction of Rx. 410,500 in the excess of Provincial and Local Expenditure over Revenue, and some other improvements in net cash receipts.

For the remainder of the increased demand on the balances provision has been made by the entry of a loan of Rx. 3,000,000.

Council Bills, 1893-94.

97. As already explained in paragraphs 35 and 93, the increase in the amount of the Bills of the Secretary of State is not due to any increase in the sterling expenditure of the Government of India, but to the fact that whereas the Secretary of State this year received from Railway Companies on Capital Account more than he paid, the reverse will be the case in 1893-94.

Public Loan.

98. No public loan has been raised in India since 1889-90. The present estimates provide for a loan of three crores in 1893-94. But the Government of India are unable to say whether this is the exact amount that will be raised, and full liberty is reserved, as usual, to modify the present estimates to any extent that may be considered expedient, to increase or reduce the amount of the loan if necessary, and not to issue a loan at all if it should be found that none is required.

Savings Banks.

99. The following are the usual details of the transactions of Savings Banks during the last few years :—

YEAR.	Net additions to deposits cash.	Interest.	Total addition.
	Rx.	Rx.	Rx.
1887-88	656,330	224,000	880,300
1888-89	685,200	261,800	947,000
1889-90	—362,900	272,200	—90,700
1890-91	250,700	279,700	530,400
1891-92	517,900	306,200	824,100
1892-93 Budget	459,400	333,800	793,200
1892-93 Revised	636,800	340,400	977,200
1893-94 Budget	438,600	372,400	811,000

The Post Office Savings Banks deposits continue to increase. The Budget Estimate for 1893-94 is taken at about the same amount as in that of 1892-93.

Loans to Municipalities, etc.

100. As stated in paragraphs 34 and 75, the Bombay Port Trust have taken advantage of the favourable state of the money market to raise a 4 per cent. public loan to repay Government the balance of a 4½ per cent. loan of Rx. 616,100. Excluding this special receipt in 1893-94, the net amount of advances in 1893-94 is taken at Rx. 327,900 against Rx. 611,500 entered in the Estimate of 1892-93. The gross amount placed at the disposal of Local Governments and Administrations for advances to Local Bodies, etc., in 1893-94 is Rx. 608,200, being Rx. 54,700 less than the amount entered in the Budget Estimate of the current year. Larger amounts, if available, could be advantageously allotted for advances and loans to cultivators and municipalities, but unfortunately the state of the Government balances does not permit of further amounts being granted at present. The large excess over the Budget of the amount entered in the Revised Estimate of 1892-93 on account of loans to municipalities, etc., is due chiefly to an additional loan having been sanctioned during the year for the Kidderpore Docks, and also to increased advances to agriculturists in Madras and Bombay.

Capital of Railway Companies.

101. The Capital transactions of Railway Companies in 1892-93 are now expected to produce a net receipt in India of Rx. 29,400 instead of a net payment of Rx. 408,500 provided in the Budget Estimate. This is due generally to smaller withdrawals by the Companies and to some extent to the receipt from the Mysore Durbar of Rx. 44,300, being the value of the Nanjangod extension of the Mysore Railway.

Cash balances.

102. The current year is now expected to close with a cash balance of Rx. 15,204,205, and for 1893-94 a closing balance of Rx. 12,643,105 is taken. The estimated transactions of the year thus result in a reduction in the balances of Rx. 2,561,100.

Section VII.—Summary.

103. The principal features in this Statement are—

(a) The Accounts of 1891-92 have closed with a surplus of Rx. 467,535.

(b) The Revised Estimates of 1892-93 show a deficit of Rx. 1,081,900 against the surplus of Rx. 146,600 shown in the Budget Estimates of the year. The sterling Expenditure has considerably exceeded the Budget Estimates; the Expenditure in India has on the whole been less than the Estimates, a considerable increase in Military Expenditure having been more than counterbalanced by a large saving in Opium Expenditure in consequence of the failure of the crop: the Revenue has shown satisfactory progress. If the rate of exchange taken in the Budget Estimate, 1*s.* 4*d.* the rupee, had been realised, there would have been a surplus somewhat higher than that shown in the Budget Estimates. But the fall in the rate of exchange to 1*s.* 3*d.* has caused an increase of Expenditure of Rx. 1,635,300 and converted the surplus into a heavy deficit.

(c) The Budget Estimates of 1893-94 show a deficit of Rx. 1,595,100.

(d) The main cause of the deficit of Rx. 1,595,100 is the fall in the rate of exchange. The Currency question is now under the consideration of the Secretary of State. Till he has decided what action, if any, should be taken in regard to the currency, it is impossible to say whether the deficit in the coming year will be of the amount shown in the Budget Estimate, or whether it will be largely increased, or will disappear and become a surplus. The decision of the Secretary of State is expected to be not much longer delayed, and in the circumstances just stated, the Government of India have postponed for the present the determination of the measures to be taken to place the finances in equilibrium.

(e) The rate of exchange is taken at 1*s.* 2¾*d*, and at that rate the direct addition to the expenditure caused by the fall from 1*s.* 4*d.* is estimated at Rx. 1,989,400.

(f) The sterling Expenditure will be somewhat less than in the Budget Estimate of 1892-93. The Expenditure in India will, on the other hand, be considerably higher. The estimate of net revenue from Opium is taken at Rx. 5,061,200, being lower than the amount taken for any of the last 22 years. A substantial improvement in Railway Revenue and in the Revenues generally is anticipated.

(g) The Capital Expenditure on Railways and Irrigation Works, not charged against Revenue, is estimated at Rx. 3,986,700 in 1892-93 and at Rx. 3,550,000 in 1893-94. These sums are in addition to Rx. 1,215,400 charged against Revenue and the Famine Grant in 1892-93, and Rx. 1,119,300 charged against the Famine Grant in 1893-94.

(h) It is expected that the Secretary of State will in 1893-94 sell Council Bills to the amount of £18,700,000 and raise a loan of £1,300,000 for the discharge of Railway Debentures. These announcements are accompanied by the usual reservation of entire liberty to the Secretary of State to vary the amounts to be obtained by bills or raised by loan as he may find occasion.

(i) The Estimates provide for the issue of a loan in India of Rx. 3,000,000. Full liberty is, however, reserved to the Government of India to raise a smaller or a larger loan, or not to raise a loan at all if it should appear later that more is required.

(j) The dominant factor influencing the financial position of India at the present time is the rate of Exchange. If that rate rises as high as 1*s.* 4*d.*, the deficit shown in the Budget Estimates will disappear. If it falls still further, the deficit will be further increased: it is impossible for the Government of India to decide what measures should be taken for the restoration of financial equilibrium until the Home authorities have given their decision on the currency question.
