[Revised Advertisement.]

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D. E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L, and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year, but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1889, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues, as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is ₹45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, ₹6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L, and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year, but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

PATENTS.

Calcutta, the 8th November 1894.

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 2694 P.—APPLICATIONS in respect of the undermentioned inventions have been filed, during the week ending 3rd November 1894, under the provisions of Act V of 1888, in the Office of the Secretary appointed under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888:—

No. 300 of 1894.—Rowland Matthews, of Forest Hill, in the County of Kent, England, Gentleman, and James Noad, of High Street, East Ham, in the County of Essex, England, Electrical Engineer, for improvements in the manufacture of white lead and colored pigments.

No. 301 of 1894.—George Hutton, Taylor, Merchant, of 4, Bankshall Street, Calcutta, for a Compact Travelling Box or Traveller's "Multum in Parvo" sponge box.

No. 302 of 1894.—Alfred Horatio Bell Sharpe, of 32, Charlesworth Terrace, Foss Bank, Lincoln, in the County of Lincoln, England, Engineer, for improvements in machinery or apparatus for drying leaves of the tea plant, the same being applicable for drying other analogous substances.

No. 303 of 1894.—William Jackson, of Thorn Grove, Mannofield, Aberdeen, North Britain, Gentleman, for improvements in apparatus or machinery for disentangling or separating tea leaves that get interwoven or united to each other in the process of rolling.

No. 2695 P.—A SPECIFICATION of the undermentioned invention has been filed under the provisions of Act V of 1888, in the Office of the Secretary appointed under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888. Copies have been sent to the Governments of Fort St. George and Bombay, the Chief Commissioner of Burma, and the Director, Department of Land Records and Agriculture, North-Western Provinces and Oudh. A copy of every specification is open to public inspection, from 11 A.M. to 4 P.M., at the Office of the Secretary appointed under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, in the Imperial Secretariat Buildings, Government Place, West, Calcutta, upon payment of a fee of one Rupee. A certified copy of any specification will be given to any person requiring the same on payment of the expense of copying:—

No. 102 of 1894.—James Donnan, Assistant Engineer, Public Works Department, of Balaghat, in the Central Provinces, for a new or improved terrameter. (Filed 25th October 1894.)

No. 2696 P.—THE undermentioned design has been registered, under the provisions of Act V of 1888, in the Office of the Secretary appointed under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888. Copies of the design have been sent to the Governments of Fort St. George and Bombay, and the Chief Commissioner of Burma. A copy of every design is open to public inspection, from 11 A.M. to 4 P.M., at the Office of the Secretary appointed under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, in the Imperial Secretariat Buildings, Government Place, West, Calcutta, upon payment of a fee of one Rupee:—

No. 6 D. of 1894.—Isaac Benjamin, Artist and Proprietor, "The Bombay Art Furnishing Establishment," 6, Bellasis Road, Byculla, Bombay, for a design consisting of a Cabinet settee and two Jardiniers combined.

No. 2697 P.—THE fee prescribed in Schedule 4 of Act V of 1888 has been paid for the continuance of exclusive privilege, for the period 13th November 1894 to 12th November 1895, in respect of the undermentioned invention:—

No. 130 of 1889.—William Hoskins Daniels, of the City of Chicago, in the County of Cook, and State of Illinois, one of the United States of America, Gentleman, for an improved antiseptic compound for preserving perishable articles.

No. 2698 P.—WHEREAS the inventors of the undermentioned inventions have respectively failed to pay, within the time limited in that behalf by the Fourth Schedule to the Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888) [or within the further time allowed under section 8, sub-section (4) of the said Act], the fee hereinafter mentioned, it is hereby notified that under the provisions of section 8, sub-section (2) of the said Act, the exclusive privilege of making, selling, and using the said inventions in British India and of authorising others so to do has ceased:—

No. 268 of 1889.—Mr. C. Frattini's invention for improvements in life-saving apparatus for use at sea or in other waters. (Specification filed 31st July 1890.)

No. 90 of 1890.—Messrs. S. S. Kellett and P. Coleman's invention for a punkah-wheel. (Specification filed 1st August 1890.)

Fee in respect of the continuance of an exclusive privilege—

(a) After the filing of the specification and before the expiration of the fourth year from the date of the filing thereof—

The sum of ₹50 for each of the said inventions.

NOTICES.

Applications and all communications relating to the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, should be placed under cover addressed "Secretary to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department (PATENTS BRANCH), CALCUTTA."

The Office of the Secretary under the Inventions and Designs Act, 1888, is open for the transaction of business on all days (except Sundays and Gazetted Holidays) from 11 A.M. to 4 P.M.

Applications for the registration of Trade Marks as "Designs" under Part II of the "Inventions and Designs Act (V of 1888)" are frequently received in the Office of the Secretary appointed under the said Act. It is hereby notified for general information that the Government of India are advised that Trade Marks are not "Designs" within the meaning of the said Act, and, therefore, are not capable of such registration.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

Mount Abu, the 5th November, 1894.

No. 3046-S.—In exercise of the powers conferred by Section 9 of the Ajmere Forest Regulation, VI of 1874, and in supersession of Bye-Law XI of the Forest Bye-Laws framed under that Section by the Chief Commissioner in his Notification No. 1505-S., dated 4th June, 1875, the Chief Commissioner of Ajmere-Merwara is pleased to issue the following rules for the regulation of grazing in the State Forests of Ajmere-Merwara:—

XI.—For the purposes of the Ajmere-Merwara Forest Working Plan, the Reserved Forests of those Districts shall be divided into two Working Circles:—

	Area in Acres.
A.—Fuel Circle (19 Reserves) .	29,821
B.—Grazing Circle (5 Reserves)	58,753
TOTAL .	88,574

2. The following Reserves are comprised in each Circle:—

Grazing Circle.

A.—Ajmere District—

(18) Sheopura	2,747
(19) Anspahar	1,580
TOTAL MERWARA	12,223
GRAND TOTAL	29,821

NOTE.—There are no Grazing Reserves in Ajmere, though Grazing is allowed in parts of certain Fuel Reserves in Ajmere (see Rule 5).

3. Grazing is allowed, until further orders, in the Reserves named above (1) on payment or (2) free, subject to the following rules:—

Grazing in the Fuel Circle.

ON PAYMENT.

4. No Grazing will be allowed on payment in any Reserve in the Fuel Circle in ordinary years. In years of scarcity, Grazing on payment may be permitted with the previous sanction of the Chief Commissioner.

FREE.

5. The following rights of Free Grazing exist in this Circle:—

A.—Ajmere District—

(a) In the Srinagar Forest Reserve the inhabitants of Srinagar village will have the right to graze 817 cattle free over the defined area of 817 acres for four months, namely, from 1st March to the end of June or until the beginning of the rains.

NOTE.—(1) The figures are based on the generally accepted scale by which one head of cattle is allowed for every three acres of land when Grazing is permitted throughout the entire year. The Grazing area is defined by a stone wall and by 54 boundary pillars, all serially numbered.

(2) The term cattle here and elsewhere excludes camels, sheep, and goats.

(3) The number of cattle, formerly not stated, has now been fixed. The period of Grazing has been reduced by four months.

(b) In the Rajgarh Reserve the inhabitants of Mayapur, Naharpura and Kothaj are entitled to graze 330 head of cattle in the following areas, which were originally taken up from those villages respectively, from 1st March to the beginning of the rains:—

	Area taken up from each village acres.	No. of cattle entitled to graze.
Mayapur	106	140
Naharpura	93	90
Kothaj	110	100
TOTAL	309	330*

*NOTE.—Here the number of cattle slightly exceeds the acreage. But as these figures were entered in the Register of Rights by the Settlement Officer, it has not been thought desirable to alter them. The period of Grazing has been reduced by one month.

B.—Merwara District—

In the Sheopura Reserve the inhabitants of Jaita-ka-baria (a hamlet of Athun situated within forest limits) are permitted to graze, throughout the year, 20 head of cattle, including calves over one year old. One area of 60 acres has now been marked off round the hamlet, and a second area of the same size will be marked off after a period of 10 years has expired.

Grazing in the Grazing Circle.

ON PAYMENT.

* Beliawas.
2. Amner.
3. Banjari-Mandlan.
4. Todgarh.
5. Dewair.

6. The five* forests situated in this Circle will be opened for grazing, on payment, for the four months from the 1st March to the beginning of the rains every year.

* NOTE.—The names of the Right-holders in each village are registered; they are the original proprietors. The number of the Non-right-holders is not known.

7. The following Grazing rates will be charged:—

	Per Cow. annas.	Per Buffaloe. annas.
From Non-right-holders—
Full rates	4	8
From *Right-holders—
Half rates	2	4

8. The villages entered in the following table may graze their cattle of right in each Reserve, as shewn below. The maximum number of cattle of each village which may graze is also entered. The rates are those given in Rule 7. The

* NOTE.—From Mr. Goventry's reports it would appear that he was at first of opinion that annual Grazing might be allowed in the Kotra Reserve also, and the Assistant Commissioner inclines to this view. But no complaints of exclusion have yet been received, and for the present at least Grazing may be prohibited in accordance with the views of the Extra Assistant Conservator of Forests.

NOTE.—Three Reserves in question are sufficiently extensive to allow of this concession. The number of cattle Grazing in them at present is far short of the maximum number which can be safely admitted.

9. In years of scarcity, the cattle of the villages entitled to graze in the Amner and Banjari-Mandlan Reserves (of which the area is limited) will be allowed to graze in any of the three other Reserves, viz., Beliawas, Todgarh and Dewair, subject to the maximum number of cattle noted above as admissible in each of those three Reserves respectively.

10. In the Todgarh Reserve all areas brought under fuel coppice shall be closed to Grazing for a period of 10 years.

FREE GRAZING.

*NOTE.—Up to the present time, 344 head of cattle, viz., Amner 177 and Ajitgarh 167, have been admitted into this limited area of 199 acres from December until the rains. The number, as well as the period were obviously in excess of the capacity of the area. They have accordingly been reduced, and the dates have been altered to avoid clashing with the period of Grazing on payment which begins on 1st March. The respective number of cattle which each village may send is subject to reconsideration. The Record of Rights left both area and number of cattle undefined, and fixed the period from 15th December to the rains each year. If the present proposals press hardly on the people, they may require modification. But the recognition of Annual Grazing on payment is a substantial concession.

11(a).—Free Grazing for part of the year.

(1) In the Amner* Reserve the inhabitants of Amner and Ajitgarh villages will be allowed to graze 200 cattle free over an area of 199 acres on the eastern slope of the range (which lies between the old boundary along the ridge and the line of the new boundary pillars along the base) for the period of four months from 1st November to 28th February:—

	Area assigned to Grazing.	Number of cattle.
	Acres.
Amner	117	117
Ajitgarh	82	82
	199	199

(2) In* the Todgarh Reserve the inhabitants of Todgarh village (thok malat only) will be permitted to graze 85 head of cattle in an area of 85 acres known as the "Bijasar tract" from the 1st November to 28th February.

† This rule embodies a promise made when the Todgarh Reserve was extended in 1890. The area called "Bijasar" has been ascertained as containing 85 acres. The reasons for dates and numbers are the same as those given above.

(b) Free Grazing during the whole year.

Free Grazing during the whole year will be allowed to the inhabitants of certain hamlets situated within the following Reserves :—

Name of Reserve.	Name of hamlet.	(1)Number of persons entitled to graze.	(1)Number of cattle.	(2)Number of acres assigned for Grazing.
Beliawas	Motalia	4	42	126
Banjari-Mandlan.	Bari-ka-Chaura	4	70	210
Todgarh	(1) Jaspalan	3	33	99
	(2) Modia	18	320	960
	(3) Alanjeryan	13	280	840
	(4) Sarupan	12	150	450
	(5) Boyankhet	2	10	30

1. *NOTE.—The figures entered in these columns are those given in the Settlement Record prepared by Mr. Whiteway.

2. *The figures in this column are based on the scale of one head of cattle to every three acres of land. The areas will now be marked.

The names of the persons thus privileged to graze their cattle during the whole year and the number of cattle allotted to each person, as shewn above, have been entered in the Record of Forest Rights.

12. The number of cattle admitted shall in no case exceed that allotted to each person. Calves less than 12 months old are not included in that number, that is, they will be admitted in excess.

13. An area equal to the acreage assigned for Grazing in Rule 11 (b) above will be marked off round each hamlet named, and Grazing will be restricted to that area for a period of 10 years. It will then be closed, and a second area of the same size will be thrown open for the next 10 years.

General Rules.

14. No Grazing shall be allowed for a period of at least three years in any part of a Forest where a fire has taken place.

15. The period during which grass-cutting is allowed will be extended as shewn below :—

	PRESENT RULE.	NEW RULE.
Ajmere	For six weeks from a date commencing seven days after the close of the Pushkar Fair. This date varies from year to year, but usually falls in the month of November.	For eight weeks from a date commencing seven days after the close of the Pushkar Fair.
Merwara	Four months, viz., from 1st November to 1st March.	4½ months, viz., from 15th October to 28th February.

16. Grazing on payment will only be allowed under a pass stating the number of cattle to be admitted, the rates charged, and the period of grazing. The colour of the pass will be changed each year.

17. Application must be made to the Forest Officer by the Lumberdar or Patel of the village fifteen days before the date on which the grazing is required. The application must include a list of the cattle (cows and buffaloes being entered separately) for which a pass is desired. Any cattle found grazing in excess of those specified in the Pass will be charged at double the ordinary grazing rates.

18. The owners of cultivated lands within the boundaries of State Forests shall only be entitled to pass into forest limits such cattle as are bonâ fide required for ploughing or other agricultural purposes.

By Order,

H. F. WHITE, M.I.C.E.,

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1889, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues, as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume ; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L, and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year, but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

Calcutta University Notice.

HIS EXCELLENCY the Chancellor has decided to allow the Masters or holders of higher degrees in some Faculty and Bachelors of Arts who graduated before the year 1867, to fill up three vacancies in the Senate by election. Candidates for election must be Masters or holders of higher degrees in some Faculty or holders of the degree of Bachelor of Arts who took that degree before the year 1867.

The election will take place at the Senate House, College Square, on Tuesday, the 1st January 1895.

Every candidate for election must be nominated by a graduate holding one of the above-named degrees, and no graduate will be allowed to nominate more than one candidate. The written nominations of candidates must reach the office of the Registrar not later than the 9th December.

On and after the 16th December, voting papers containing the names of the candidates nominated will be supplied on application by the Registrar. These papers must be filled up in the presence of the Registrar at the Senate House on the 1st January 1895, between the hours of 10 A.M. and 5 P.M., but graduates who are not able to appear in person before the Registrar may fill up the papers in the presence of a Magistrate, by whom the papers will be countersigned. All such voting papers must reach the Registrar not later than 3 P.M. on Tuesday, the 1st January 1895, after which no voting paper will be accepted. Graduates who are not personally known to the officer in whose presence the voting papers are filled up, must bring with them their diplomas, or other satisfactory proof of identity.

SENATE HOUSE;
The 10th November 1894.

W. GRIFFITHS,
Registrar.

Orders by the Vice-Chancellor and Syndicate of the Calcutta University.

A.—The following changes in the Rules and Regulations of the Calcutta University have been adopted by the Senate and approved by His Excellency the Governor-General in Council :—

(i) The following are the revised rules for the recognition of schools :—

Rules for the recognition of schools.

1. Before any school is allowed to send up candidates to the Entrance Examination, it must be recognised by the Syndicate as a High School. Applications for the recognition of schools must be addressed to the Syndicate through the Registrar.

2. In the case of a Government school, application must be made by the Inspector of Schools, or other chief educational authority of the division in which the school is situated.

In the case of any other school, application must be made by the chief controlling authority of the school.

3. The application must contain—

(a) The constitution of the managing body, and names of its members.
(b) The number, names and qualifications of the teachers whom it is proposed to appoint.
(c) The scale of fees to be charged.

4. The Syndicate may call for any further information, including information as to the situation and sanitary condition of the school, and suitability of the rooms used as class-rooms, and may, if considered necessary, require the managers to furnish satisfactory guarantees that the school will be maintained on the proposed scale for five years.

5. It shall be in the power of the Syndicate to refuse to recognise any school unless it is certified by a Government Inspector of Schools as having been in existence since the 1st of July next preceding the examination, and as qualified to teach up to the Entrance standard.

6. The Syndicate may refuse to recognise any school that appears to be from any cause injurious to the interests of sound education and discipline, and may cease to recognise any school that shows year after year bad results.

The above rules come into force at once.

(ii).—In the first foot-note in page 86 of the University Calendar for 1894 (Appendix A), the words "It is in the power of the Syndicate to refuse to recognise any school unless it is certified by a Government Inspector of Schools as having been in existence since the 1st of July next preceding the examination, and as qualified to teach up to the Entrance Standard. The Syndicate may also refuse to recognise any school that shows year after year bad results, or which appears to the Syndicate to be from any cause injurious to the interests of sound education and discipline;" and the first foot-note in page 101 of the same calendar have been omitted.

The above omissions come into effect at once.

(iii).—In the Regulations for the Examination for Honours in Law (page 49, Calendar for 1894), for paragraphs 6 and 7 the following has been substituted :—

"6. Candidates for Honours in Law shall be examined in the following subjects :—

1. Jurisprudence.
2. Principles of Legislation.
3. International Law, Public and Private.
4. Roman Law.
5. Hindu Law.

7. The Land Law of Bengal.
8. The Law of Limitation and Prescription.
9. The Law relating to the Transfer of Immoveable Property.
10. The Law of Succession to the Property of Deceased Persons.
11. The Law of Trusts including the Law relating to Endowments.
12. The Law of Contracts and Torts.

(8–12: As administered in British India.)

7. Eight papers shall be set at the examination, and shall be distributed among the subjects as follows :—

1. Subjects 1 and 2.	5. Subjects 7 and 8.
2. Subjects 3 and 4.	6. Subject 9.
3. Subject 5.	7. Subjects 10 and 11.
4. Subject 6.	8. Subject 12.

There shall be a viva voce examination of each candidate if the Examiners think fit."

The above change will come into force at the examination in 1896.

(iv).—For paragraph 8 of the M. A. Regulations (Calendar for 1894, p. 44), the following has been substituted :—

"Candidates in Mathematics shall be allowed to select alternatively one of the following groups of subjects :—

(A). Pure Mathematics as principal subject with Mixed Mathematics as subsidiary subject.

(B). Mixed Mathematics as principal subject with Pure Mathematics as subsidiary subject.

Candidates who select group (A) shall be examined in the following subjects:—

1. Algebra.
2. Trigonometry, Plane and Spherical.
3. Theory of Equations.
4. Analytical Plane Geometry, including the Higher Plane Curves.
5. Analytical Solid Geometry.
6. Differential Calculus
7. Integral Calculus, including the elements of the Calculus of Variations.
8. Differential Equations.
9. Analytical Statics.
10. Dynamics of a Particle.
11. Hydrostatics and Elementary Hydrokinetics.
12. Newton's Principia, Sections I, II, III.
13. Astronomy.

Candidates who select group (B) shall be examined in the following subjects:—

1. Analytical Plane Geometry.
2. Analytical Solid Geometry.
3. Differential Calculus.
4. Integral Calculus, including the elements of the Calculus of Variations.
5. Analytical Statics.
6. Dynamics of a Particle.
7. Rigid Dynamics.
8. Hydro-mechanics, including the elements of the Theory of Sound.
9. Astronomy.
10. Newton's Principia, Sections I, II, III, IX, XI.

Candidates shall be required to possess a knowledge of so much of the Theory of Equations, Differential Equations, Spherical Trigonometry and Geometrical Optics as is necessary to understand the subjects in group (B)."

The above change will come into force at the examination in 1896.

(v).—In paragraph 7 of the B. A. Regulations, under the heading "B. II. Mathematics" (Calendar for 1894, p. 36) the words "Descriptive Astronomy" have been added.

The above change will come into force at the Examination in 1897.

(vi).—The following foot-note referring specially to the 66 per cent. rule has been added to the second sentence of the second paragraph and to the proviso as to attendance in the fourth sentence of the fourth paragraph of the F. A. Regulations, and to the second sentence of the second paragraph, and to the proviso as to attendance in the fourth sentence of the fifth paragraph of the B. A. Regulations (Calendar for 1894, pp. 29, 30, 33 and 34):—

'The Syndicate have power to make exceptions to this rule.'

The above change comes into force at once.

H. R. THUILLIER, Colonel, R.E.,
Surveyor-General of India.

AGENT TO THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL, RAJPUTANA.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Abu, the 9th November, 1894.

No. 4339-G.—With reference to Foreign Department Notification No. 1756-G., dated the 29th October, 1894, Lieutenant R. B. Berkeley, Indian Staff Corps, assumed charge of his duties as Assistant to the Agent to the Governor-General, Rajputana, on the forenoon of the 2nd instant.

The 10th November, 1894.

No. 4382-G.—The privilege leave granted to Mr. G. R. Irwin, Indian Civil Service, Additional Political Agent, 1st class, and Political Agent, Jhallawar, in this Office Notification No. 3402-G., dated the 1st September, 1893, is hereby extended by one day.

By Order,
O. V. BOSANQUET,
First Asst. Agent to the Govr.-Genl., Rajputana.

CHIEF COMMISSIONER OF AJMERE-MERWARA.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Abu, the 8th November, 1894.

No. 1235.—With reference to Foreign Department Notification No. 1680-G., dated the 18th October, 1894, it is hereby notified that Babu Binodi Lall, 2nd Master, is appointed to officiate as Head Master of the Government College at Ajmere, with effect from the 24th August, 1894, and during such time as Mr. Harris officiates as Principal of the College, or until further orders.

The 12th November, 1894.

No. 1250-16.—In accordance with the powers conferred by Sections 59 and 60, Prisons Act, 1894, the Chief Commissioner, Ajmere-Merwara, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, is pleased to direct that the following rules shall be substituted for those of the Ajmere Jail Rules bearing the same numbers:—

191. Classification of convicted persons.—So far as the construction of the pri on allows, the following classification of convicted prisoners shall be strictly maintained, and each class shall have a ward or wards to itself:—

I. Casuals.

II. Habituals (Note.—By the term habitual is meant a prisoner declared by the Magistrate to be a "habitual," or a prisoner convicted a third time of the same or similar offence).

III. Juveniles, that is, prisoners less than 16 years of age.

IV. Prisoners sentenced to simple imprisonment.

V. Eunuchs.

192. Separation of prisoners according to offences.—In addition to the above classes the Superintendent of the Jail shall always endeavour to keep apart from the prisoners guilty of degrading crimes, prisoners whose offences carry with them no moral degradation. Example.—A man who, owing to an insult or fancied insult in a moment of anger, seriously wounds another, should not be associated with a man guilty of housebreaking, rape, or picking pockets.

The Inspector General of Jails shall have authority, on the advice of a District Magistrate, to direct that any particular person sentenced to simple imprisonment for an offence to which no moral stigma attaches shall, if he so desires, be provided with separate accommodation apart from other prisoners. If the Inspector General differs from the District Magistrate, he shall submit the case for the orders of the Chief Commissioner.

193. Treatment of prisoners sentenced to simple imprisonment.—Prisoners sentenced to simple imprisonment shall be subjected to a minimum of severity: they shall not undergo any penal treatment and shall be allowed books and any other indulgence consistent with Jail discipline. They may not buy their own food.

Nothing in the rules regarding the treatment of prisoners sentenced to simple imprisonment is to be held to exempt that class of prisoners from the observance of general Jail rules regarding order, cleanliness or sanitation.

194. Rules to be observed on the admission to Jail of prisoners sentenced to rigorous imprisonment.—On the admission to jail of a prisoner sentenced to rigorous imprisonment, he shall receive at once a suit of jail clothing and bedding, he shall be shaved and have his hair cut and be made thoroughly to wash himself before he puts on the jail clothing.

195. Admission of prisoners sentenced to simple imprisonment.—Prisoners sentenced to simple imprisonment shall wear their own clothing unless insufficiently provided, in which case the Superintendent of the Jail may issue jail clothing at his discretion. They shall not be shaved or have their hair cut, as a part of prison discipline.

196. Exceptions with regard to shaving and hair cutting.—With regard to shaving and cutting the hair of prisoners sentenced to rigorous imprisonment, the following exceptions are made:—

(a) Sikhs shall not have their hair cut or their beards or whiskers shaved or cut in any way.

(b) Hindus shall retain the choti.

(c) Mussulmans and Hindus shall have their beards and moustaches clipped, not shaved.

(d) Europeans and Eurasians shall have their hair cut short.

204. Prisoners sentenced to rigorous imprisonment not to be allowed to retain any portion of their own clothing.—No prisoner, who has been sentenced to rigorous imprisonment, shall be allowed to retain any portion of his own clothing under any consideration whatever, but he shall wear the prison clothing alone. (This does not refer to the "Custi" and "Sudra" of the Parsi or the "Janui" of the Hindu). Prisoners may be allowed to retain and receive those at the discretion of the Superintendent.

472. Prisoners sentenced to simple imprisonment who may elect to labour shall receive corresponding diet and enjoy the benefits of the mark system.—All prisoners sentenced to simple imprisonment who may elect to labour may select the kind of work on which to be employed and shall receive corresponding diet and, if eligible, shall enjoy the benefits of the mark system, but they shall not be entitled to any remuneration for their labour.

545. Interviews for prisoners sentenced to rigorous imprisonment.—Except for special reasons no prisoner sentenced to rigorous imprisonment is to be allowed to see his friends or relatives until he shall have been at least four months in jail. If his term be two years and upwards, he must have passed at least six months of it before an interview is to be permitted. No such prisoner is to have more than one interview in three months except for special reasons.

546. Interviews for prisoners sentenced to simple imprisonment.—Prisoners sentenced to simple imprisonment may be allowed to see their friends and relatives once in every three months or oftener at the discretion of the Superintendent of the Jail.

By Order,

O. V. BOSANQUET,

First Asst. to the Agent to the Govr.-Genl., Rajputana, and Chief Commr., Ajmere-Merwara.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L, and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year, but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

THE RESIDENT IN MYSORE.

NOTIFICATION.

Bangalore, the 1st November, 1894.

No. 3720—79-94.—The following rules requiring European Civil Police Officers in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore to make provision for their families have been sanctioned by the Government of India and are published for general information:—

(1) These rules apply only to European Civil Police Officers who enter the Police Force after the 1st January, 1895.

(2) Every unmarried Police Officer (being a European British subject as defined in Section 4 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, and a Christian) of or above the rank of Sub-Inspector on R60 a month, shall, on contracting marriage, subscribe to the Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund, or shall make such other provision for his family as is, in the opinion of the Resident in Mysore, equivalent to the provision which would be made for them if he subscribed to the Uncovenanted Civil Service Fund under these rules. It must be understood that these rules do not compel officers subject to them to subscribe to the Uncovenanted Service Family Pension Fund. The rules require officers to make a certain provision for their families. They are at liberty to make this provision either by subscription to the above-mentioned fund, or in any other manner which is approved by the Resident in Mysore.

(3) It shall be a condition of the appointment of every unmarried Police Officer, being a European British subject and a Christian, who joins the Police Force of the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore after the 1st January, 1895, that he is subject to these rules.

(4) It shall be a condition of the appointment of every married man, being a European British subject and a Christian, who enters the Police Force of the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore after the 1st January, 1895, that, unless he has made suitable provision for his family as provided in rule 2, he shall be subject to these rules and shall—

(I) if he is in any of the positions specified in rule 2, at once join the Uncovenanted Service Family Fund, or make such other provision for his family as the Resident in Mysore approves:

(II) if he is in a subordinate position, join the said fund, or make such other provision for his family as the Resident in Mysore approves, as soon as he reaches one of the said positions.

(5) Officers to whom these rules apply who subscribe to the Uncovenanted Service Family Fund shall subscribe to it at rates which will provide the pensions specified in the following statement :—

Rank.	Monthly Pension for— Widow.	Each child.	Remarks.
1st grade Inspector ...	20	5	For boys till 18 years of age, for girls for life or till marriage.
2nd Do. do. ..	15	5
3rd Do. do. ...	15	5
1st Do. Sub-Inspector ...	10	3
2nd Do. do. ..	7	3
3rd Do. do. ...	7	3
4th Do. do. ...	7	3

(6) A copy of these rules shall be given before enlistment to every European Police Officer, who, on enlistment, will become subject to them.

By Order,

C. W. RAVENSHAW, Major,
First Assistant to the Resident.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1889, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues, as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L, and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year, but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

CIVIL ENGINEERING COLLEGE, SIBPUR.

APPRENTICE DEPARTMENT.

The date for admission to this Department is 4th February, 1895.

Candidates must be at least 15 and not more than 17 years of age.

They must have passed Standard VII of the Code for European Schools, or the University Entrance Examination in English and Mathematics. They must submit their applications accompanied by a certificate of age and a certificate showing that they have passed the requisite standard, so as to reach the Principal not later than the 15th January, 1895. No applications will be attended to after this date.

The number to be admitted each year is limited to 60, and applicants will be selected in order of merit.

Every applicant, before admission to the College, will be examined by the College Surgeon as to his physical strength, chest measurement, fitness for manual labour. and eyesight. If this officer's report is unsatisfactory, the applicant will not be admitted.

Before an apprentice is admitted to the College, his parent or guardian must sign an agreement in the form shown in Appendix A.

The session begins on the first Monday in February. All apprentices are required to join the College on that date. Any apprentice prevented by sickness from attending on the opening day must produce a certificate to that effect from a Civil or Assistant Surgeon, failing which he will be liable to a fine not exceeding R10. No apprentice will be admitted or re-admitted to the College after the close of the month of February, except by special order of the Director of Public Instruction. This permission will only be given under exceptional circumstances.

There will be three vacancies on the free list for Christian apprentices in February next and thirteen on the reduced* fee list.

For natives there will be at least twelve vacancies, possibly more, on the reduced† fee list. These vacancies will be filled up after the opening of the session by the Board of Visitors from those apprentices who join the College. No guarantee can therefore be given beforehand; but forms to be filled up for the consideration of the Board can be had on application to the Principal.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.
The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.
In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1889, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues, as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is ₹45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, ₹6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L, and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year, but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

CIVIL ENGINEERING COLLEGE, SIBPUR.

APPRENTICE DEPARTMENT.

The date for admission to this Department is 4th February, 1895.

Candidates must be at least 15 and not more than 17 years of age.

They must have passed Standard VII of the Code for European Schools, or the University Entrance Examination in English and Mathematics. They must submit their applications accompanied by a certificate of age and a certificate showing that they have passed the requisite standard, so as to reach the Principal not later than the 15th January, 1895. No applications will be attended to after this date.

The number to be admitted each year is limited to 60, and applicants will be selected in order of merit.

Every applicant, before admission to the College, will be examined by the College Surgeon as to his physical strength, chest measurement, fitness for manual labour, and eyesight. If this officer's report is unsatisfactory, the applicant will not be admitted

Before an apprentice is admitted to the College, his parent or guardian must sign an agreement in the form shown in Appendix A.

The session begins on the first Monday in February. All apprentices are required to join the College on that date. Any apprentice prevented by sickness from attending on the opening day must produce a certificate to that effect from a Civil or Assistant Surgeon, failing which he will be liable to a fine not exceeding ₹10. No apprentice will be admitted or re-admitted to the College after the close of the month of February, except by special order of the Director of Public Instruction. This permission will only be given under exceptional circumstances.

There will be three vacancies on the free list for Christian apprentices in February next and thirteen on the reduced* fee list.

For natives there will be at least twelve vacancies, possibly more, on the reduced† fee list. These vacancies will be filled up after the opening of the session by the Board of Visitors from those apprentices who join the College. No guarantee can therefore be given beforehand; but forms to be filled up for the consideration of the Board can be had on application to the Principal.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L, and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year, but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

CIVIL ENGINEERING COLLEGE, SIBPUR.

APPRENTICE DEPARTMENT.

The date for admission to this Department is 4th February, 1895.

Candidates must be at least 15 and not more than 17 years of age.

They must have passed Standard VII of the Code for European Schools, or the University Entrance Examination in English and Mathematics. They must submit their applications accompanied by a certificate of age and a certificate showing that they have passed the requisite standard, so as to reach the Principal not later than the 15th January, 1895. No applications will be attended to after this date.

The number to be admitted each year is limited to 60, and applicants will be selected in order of merit.

Every applicant, before admission to the College, will be examined by the College Surgeon as to his physical strength, chest measurement, fitness for manual labour, and eyesight. If this officer's report is unsatisfactory, the applicant will not be admitted.

Before an apprentice is admitted to the College, his parent or guardian must sign an agreement in the form shown in Appendix A.

The session begins on the first Monday in February. All apprentices are required to join the College on that date. Any apprentice prevented by sickness from attending on the opening day must produce a certificate to that effect from a Civil or Assistant Surgeon, failing which he will be liable to a fine not exceeding R10. No apprentice will be admitted or re-admitted to the College after the close of the month of February, except by special order of the Director of Public Instruction. This permission will only be given under exceptional circumstances.

There will be three vacancies on the free list for Christian apprentices in February next and thirteen on the reduced* fee list.

For natives there will be at least twelve vacancies, possibly more, on the reduced† fee list. These vacancies will be filled up after the opening of the session by the Board of Visitors from those apprentices who join the College. No guarantee can therefore be given beforehand; but forms to be filled up for the consideration of the Boatd can be had on application to the Principal.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1889, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues, as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

Terms of subscription payable annually in advance.

A Dictionary of the Economic Prod uets of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L, and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year, but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

CIVIL ENGINEERING COLLEGE, SIBPUR.

APPRENTICE DEPARTMENT.

The date for admission to this Department is 4th February, 1895.

Candidates must be at least 15 and not more than 17 years of age.

They must have passed Standard VII of the Code for European Schools, or the University Entrance Examination in English and Mathematics. They must submit their applications accompanied by a certificate of age and a certificate showing that they have passed the requisite standard, so as to reach the Principal not later than the 15th January, 1895. No applications will be attended to after this date.

The number to be admitted each year is limited to 60, and applicants will be selected in order of merit.

Every applicant, before admission to the College, will be examined by the College Surgeon as to his physical strength, chest measurement, fitness for manual labour, and eyesight. If this officer's report is unsatisfactory, the applicant will not be admitted.

Before an apprentice is admitted to the College, his parent or guardian must sign an agreement in the form shown in Appendix A.

The session begins on the first Monday in February. All apprentices are required to join the College on that date. Any apprentice prevented by sickness from attending on the opening day must produce a certificate to that effect from a Civil or Assistant Surgeon, failing which he will be liable to a fine not exceeding R10. No apprentice will be admitted or re-admitted to the College after the close of the month of February, except by special order of the Director of Public Instruction. This permission will only be given under exceptional circumstances.

There will be three vacancies on the free list for Christian apprentices in February next and thirteen on the reduced* fee list.

For natives there will be at least twelve vacancies, possibly more, on the reduced† fee list. These vacancies will be filled up after the opening of the session by the Board of Visitors from those apprentices who join the College. No guarantee can therefore be given beforehand; but forms to be filled up for the consideration of the Board can be had on application to the Principal.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, a ndconfirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L, and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year, but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

PUBLISHED UNDER AUTHORITY.

The Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, appear in monthly parts, published as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, and comprise four series,—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court. The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat, and the Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay, and Allahabad, respectively.

In supersession of the previous advertisements, on and from the 1st January, 1889, the terms of subscription and sale will be as follows for current issues, as well as for back numbers of the Reports from 1876:—

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, a ndconfirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L, and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which will consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year, but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

An Act to amend the Articles of War for the government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Articles of War for the government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces; It is hereby enacted as follows:

Title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Articles of War Amendment Act, 1894; and

(2) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor General in Council may by notification in the Gazette of India fix in that behalf.

V of 1869.

Repeal of clause (c) of Part I of Indian Articles of War.

2. Part I, clause (c), of the Indian Articles of War (hereinafter called "the said Articles"), is hereby repealed.

Substitution of new clause for clause (d) of Part I.

3. For Part I, clause (d), of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"(d).—Application of Articles.

"These Articles shall apply to all—

(a) persons to whom they actually apply at present;

(b) persons commissioned or gazetted as Native officers, or gazetted as warrant officers, of Her Majesty's Indian Forces;

(c) medical subordinates;

(d) persons attested under these Articles;

(e) unattested recruits;

(f) persons enrolled under these Articles;

(g) persons, not otherwise subject to military law, who, on active service, in camp, on the march, or at any frontier post specified by the Governor General in Council by notification in this behalf, are employed by, or are in the service of, or are followers of, or accompany any portion of, Her Majesty's Indian Forces:

Provided as follows:

if any person claims to belong to a class to which the Army Act is, and these Articles are not, applicable, the burden of proving that he belongs to that class shall lie upon him."

44 & 45 Vict c. 58.

Substitution of new clause for clause (c) of Part I.

4. For Part I, clause (c), of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"(c).—Definitions.

"In these Articles, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) 'notification' means a notification published in the official Gazette:

(2) 'prescribed' means prescribed by rules made by the Governor General in Council or by any authority empowered by him in this behalf:

(3) 'British officer' means an officer holding a commission in Her Majesty's land forces, but does not include an honorary commissioned officer:

(4) 'Native officer' means an officer commissioned or gazetted as an officer holding a Native rank in Her Majesty's Indian Forces:

(5) 'officer' means a British officer or Native officer, but does not include a warrant officer or non-commissioned officer:

(6) 'medical subordinate' means a senior hospital assistant, a hospital assistant of the first, second or third class, and a sub-hospital assistant, but does not include an officer:

(8) 'soldier' includes a non-commissioned officer and any armed person doing duty in the ranks of Her Majesty's Indian Forces:

(9) 'recruit' means a person enlisted for enrolment in any corps or department as a soldier:

(10) 'corps' means a unit of command, such as a regiment of cavalry, a regiment or battalion of infantry, a battery of artillery, and any other separate body of troops which is declared by the Governor General in Council by general or special order to be a corps for the purposes of these Articles; it also includes an army hospital corps and a transport corps:

(11) 'department' includes any division or branch of a department:

(12) 'military reward' means any gratuity or annuity for long service or good conduct; it also includes any good-conduct pay or pension and any other pecuniary reward:

(13) 'enemy' includes all armed mutineers, armed rebels, armed rioters and pirates:

The Indian Articles of War Amendment Act, 1894.

(Sections 5-6.)

(14) 'active service,' as applied to a person subject to these Articles, means the time during which such person is attached to or forms part of a force which is engaged in operations against an enemy, or is engaged in military operations in, or is on the line of march to, a country or place wholly or partly occupied by an enemy, or is in military occupation of any foreign country:

(15) the expression 'India' means British India, together with any territories of any Prince or Chief under the suzerainty of Her Majesty exercised through the Governor General in Council or through any Governor in Council or other officer subordinate to the Governor General in Council: and the expression 'British India' means all territories and places within Her Majesty's dominions which are for the time being governed by Her Majesty through the Governor General in Council or through any Governor in Council or other officer subordinate to the Governor General in Council:

(16) the expression 'general officer of the Command' means the general officer commanding the forces in a Command: and the expression 'Command' means one of the principal portions into which the army of India is, for the time being, divided:

(17) 'commanding officer,' when used in any provision of these Articles with reference to any separate portion of Her Majesty's forces or to any department, means the British officer whose duty it is under the Army Regulations, India, or, in the absence of any such Regulation, by the custom of the service, to discharge with respect to that portion of the forces or that department the functions of commanding officer in regard to matters of the description referred to in that provision:

(18) 'military custody' means the arrest or confinement of a person, according to the usages of the service:

(19) 'court-martial' means a court-martial held under these Articles:

(20) 'criminal court' means a court of ordinary criminal justice in British India, or established or continued elsewhere by the authority of the Governor General in Council:

(21) 'civil offence' means an offence which if committed in British India would be triable by a criminal court:

(22) "offence" means any act or omission punishable under these Articles and includes a civil offence as hereinbefore defined: and

(23) expressions occurring in the Indian Penal Code and used in these Articles and not herein otherwise defined shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them by that Code."

XLV of 1860.

Substitution of new clause for clause (f) of Part I.

5. For Part I, clause (f), of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"(f).—Saving of certain Regulations.

"Nothing in these Articles shall affect any regulations by which the respective offices and powers of cantonment magistrates and officers in charge of the police in cantonments are defined and controlled."

Substitution of new title for Title I of Part II.

6. For Part II, Title I, of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"TITLE I.—ENROLMENT, ATTESTATION, DISMISSAL AND DISCHARGE.

Enrolment and attestation.

"Article 1.—(1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification, declare what persons or classes of persons shall be enrolled only, or be both enrolled and attested, respectively.

Mode of enrolment.

(2) A person shall be deemed to be enrolled under these Articles when his name has, with his consent, been entered in the prescribed manner on the list of a corps or department of Her Majesty's Indian Forces.

Mode of attestation.

(3) Subject to the provisions of this article with respect to recruits, every person to be attested under these Articles shall be taken before the prescribed civil or military officer, and that officer shall read and explain to him, or cause to be read and explained to him in his presence, the questions set forth in the prescribed form of attestation, and such other matters (if any) as may be prescribed; and, after having cautioned him that if he makes a false answer to any question set forth in the attestation form he will be liable to be punished as provided by these Articles, shall record the answer to each question, and shall, if he is satisfied that the person fully understands the questions, and that the answer has been correctly recorded opposite each question, and if he perceives no impediment, administer to the person an affirmation or oath in the prescribed form.

(4) The form of affirmation or oath prescribed under this article shall contain a promise that the person to be attested will be faithful to Her Majesty, Her heirs and successors, and that he will serve in Her Majesty's Indian Forces and go wherever he is ordered by land or sea, and that he will obey all commands of any officer set over him, even to the peril of his life.

(5) When a recruit is reported fit for duty, an affirmation or oath in the same form shall be administered to him in the prescribed manner by the commanding officer in front of the corps or such portion thereof or such members of the department as shall be present.

(6) After administering the affirmation or oath, the officer shall authenticate the attestation paper by his signature, and the person shall then be deemed to have been attested.

Treatment of enrolment and attestation as of same effect in certain cases.

(7) Subject to any rules which may be prescribed, the Commander-in-Chief in India, or the general officer of the Command, may direct that any persons to whom these Articles apply as attested persons shall, for the purposes of these Articles, be deemed to be enrolled, and that any persons to whom these Articles apply as enrolled persons shall, for the purposes of these Articles, be deemed to be attested.

Rank and subordination.

"Article 2.—(1) Subject to the provisions of the Army Act, the Governor General in Council may, by notification, direct that persons of any class subject to these Articles shall, for any of the purposes of these Articles, be deemed to be Native officers, warrant officers or non-commissioned officers; and,

44 & 45 Vict. c. 58.

(2) Subject as aforesaid, any prescribed authority may issue an order giving a like direction with respect to any such person.

The Indian Articles of War Amendment Act, 1894.

(Sections 7-11.)

(3) Any notification or order issued under this article may be cancelled by the authority issuing the same; and,

(4) Subject as aforesaid, any person of the said classes with respect to whom no such notification or order is in force shall, so far as may be, be deemed for all the purposes of these Articles to be of a rank inferior to that of a non-commissioned officer.

(5) Should any question arise as to the rank of any other person subject to these Articles, or as to whether any such person is above or below a specified rank, the decision of the Governor General in Council thereon shall be conclusive.

(6) Every person subject to these Articles shall, for the purposes thereof, be deemed to be under the commanding officer of the corps or department (if any) to which he is attached, and, if not attached to any corps or department, under any officer who may for the time being be named as his commanding officer by the general or other officer commanding the force with which such person may for the time being be serving, or of any other prescribed officer, or, if no such officer is named or prescribed, under the said general or other officer commanding:

Provided that a general or other officer commanding shall not place any person under an officer of official rank inferior to that of such person if there is present at the place where such person is any officer of higher rank under whom he can be placed.

Dismissal and discharge of commissioned officers.

"Article 3.—(1) Every Native officer shall be liable to dismissal from the service by the sentence of a general court-martial, and to dismissal or discharge by order of the Governor General in Council, or of the Commander-in-Chief in India, or of the general officer of the Command to which he belongs.

(2) A Native officer dismissed under these Articles shall forfeit all claim to pension.

Dismissal and discharge of other persons.

"Article 4.—(1) Every person subject to these Articles, other than a Native officer, shall be liable to—

(a) dismissal from the service by the sentence of any court-martial empowered to try him, and

(b) dismissal or discharge from the service, by order of the Governor General in Council, or of the Commander-in-Chief in India, or of the general officer of the Command to which he belongs, or of the officer commanding the division or district in which he is serving, or, if he belongs to a force not attached to a command, by order of the officer commanding such force.

(2) Every person so dismissed shall forfeit all claim to pension.

Attested person dismissed or discharged and re-enlisting or making false answer at his attestation.

"Article 5.—(1) Every attested person of or below the rank of non-commissioned officer who has been dismissed or discharged from the service, and who subsequently re-enters the service without at the time stating the fact of his dismissal or discharge, or showing his certificate of dismissal or discharge, may be dismissed the service by the officer commanding the corps or department with which he is serving; and

(2) Every attested person of or below the rank of non-commissioned officer who is discovered to have made a wilfully false answer to any question set forth in the attestation paper which has been put to him by, or by direction of, the officer before whom he appears for the purpose of being attested, shall, on conviction by court-martial, be liable to suffer imprisonment (with hard labour and with or without solitary confinement) or such less punishment as is in these Articles mentioned.

Certificate to person dismissed or discharged.

"Article 6.—Every attested person who is dismissed or discharged from the service shall be furnished by his commanding officer with a certificate, in the English language and in the mother-tongue of such person (when his mother-tongue is not English), setting forth—

(a) the authority dismissing or discharging him;

(b) the cause of his dismissal or discharge; and

(c) the full period of his service in the army."

Repeal of portion of article 7.

7. In article 7, sentence 1, of the said Articles, the words "in any regiment, corps, detachment or guard" are hereby repealed.

Substitution of new sentence for third sentence of same article.

8. For the third sentence of the last-mentioned article the following shall be substituted, namely:

"or who, knowing or having reason to believe in the existence of any mutiny or sedition, or of any intention to mutiny or create sedition, or of any conspiracy against the State,".

Amendment of article 8.

9. In article 8 of the said Articles, for the words "under any circumstances in which the superior officer is distinguishable as such in any manner" the words "knowing or having reason to believe him to be such" shall be substituted.

Substitution of new articles for articles 10 and 11.

10. For articles 10 and 11 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"Desertion.

"Article 10.—Who deserts or attempts to desert the service;—or

"Re-enlistment without having been discharged.

Amendment of article 24.

11. For the last paragraph of article 24 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"Whenever any person is convicted of an offence specified in article 7 and punishable with death under this article, all his property, moveable and immoveable, shall be forfeited to the Government."

The Indian Articles of War Amendment Act, 1894.

(Sections 12-23.)

Substitution of new articles for articles 25 and 26.

12. For articles 25 and 26 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"Unbecoming behaviour.

"Article 25.—Any officer, medical subordinate or warrant officer who behaves in a manner unbecoming his position and character;—and any person subject to these Articles—

"Intoxication on duty.

"Article 26.—Who is in a state of intoxication when on or after having been warned for any duty, or on parade, or on the line of march;—or"

Substitution of new article for article 31.

13. For article 31 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"Failure to rejoin.

"Article 31.—Who, being on leave of absence and having received information from proper authority that his corps or department has been ordered on service, fails, without sufficient cause, to rejoin without delay;—or"

Substitution of new article for article 39.

14. For article 39 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"Impeding Provost-marshal.

"Article 39.—Who impedes a provost-marshal or an assistant provost-marshal, or any officer or non-commissioned officer or other person legally exercising authority under or on behalf of a provost-marshal, or, when called on, refuses to assist, in the execution of his duty, the provost-marshal, assistant provost-marshal, or any such officer, non-commissioned officer or other person;—or"

Amendment of article 40.

15. In article 40 of the said Articles the words "enrolled or" shall be inserted between the word "person" and the word "attested".

"Article 84.—A regimental court-martial shall consist of not less than three officers.

Powers of such court.

"Article 85.—A regimental court-martial shall have power to try all persons subject to these Articles and not above the rank of non-commissioned officer—

(a) for any offence triable by a court-martial under these Articles, except an offence punishable under articles 7 to 23 (both inclusive), articles 54 to 65 (both inclusive), or articles 171 to 173 (both inclusive), and,

(b) with the previous sanction of the prescribed authority, for any of the offences so excepted.

Powers as to sentences of such courts.

"Article 85A.—A regimental court-martial shall have power to pass any sentence which might have been passed by a district court-martial for the like offence other than suspension from rank, pay and allowances:

Provided that no sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding six months, nor any of the additional punishments specified in article 135, shall be passed by a regimental court-martial."

Substitution of new articles for articles 86 to 89.

31. For articles 86 to 89 (both inclusive) of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Native and British officers when to be nominated.

"Article 86.—(1) The officers composing a court-martial convened under the foregoing provisions shall, except as hereinafter provided, be Native officers.

(2) The Governor General in Council, or the Commander-in-Chief in India, or the general officer of the Command, or any officer empowered in that behalf by warrant of the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command, may direct that any court-martial convened under these Articles shall be composed of British instead of Native officers.

(3) Any person subject to these Articles, who is under orders for trial by any court-martial, may claim to be tried by British officers.

(4) In all cases the right of making such a claim shall, before the court is convened, be explained to the person under orders for trial by the commanding officer, or some officer deputed by him in this behalf, and, when such a claim is made, the court shall be constituted accordingly.

(5) A court-martial convened for the trial of any person subject to these Articles, and serving with any British corps or detachment, may be composed of British officers if, in the opinion

The Indian Articles of War Amendment Act, 1894.

(Section 32.)

of the officer convening the court (such opinion to be expressed in the order convening the court and to be conclusive), Native officers are not available with due regard to the public service for service on the court

Judge advocate and appointment of superintending officer for Native court-martial.

"Article 87.—(1) Every general court-martial shall be attended by a judge advocate.

(2) If no officer of the judge advocate general's department is available, the officer convening the court shall appoint a fit person to act as judge advocate at the trial.

(3) No person under orders for trial or under trial by any court-martial may, without the leave of the court, object to any person acting or professing to act as judge advocate.

(4) A British officer of not less than four years' service, hereinafter called the superintending officer, shall be appointed to superintend the proceedings of every court-martial composed of Native officers which is not attended by a judge advocate.

President.

"Article 88.—(1) At every court-martial the senior officer shall sit as president without special appointment as such.

(2) In case of the death or unavoidable absence of the president, the next senior officer shall take the place of the president, without special appointment as such, and the trial shall proceed if the court is still composed of not less than the smallest number of officers of which it is required by these Articles to consist.

Finding and sentence invalid without confirmation.

"Article 89.—No finding or sentence of a general, district or regimental court-martial shall be valid, except so far as it may be confirmed as provided by these Articles.

By whom findings and sentences may be confirmed or otherwise disposed of.

"Article 89A.—(1) The following authorities shall have power to confirm the findings and sentences of general and district courts-martial:

(a) the Commander-in-Chief in India;

(b) the general officer of the Command, as regards troops under his command wherever stationed;

(c) the officer commanding a force not attached to a Command;

(d) any officer empowered in that behalf by warrant of the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command:

Provided that, except on active service or beyond the limits of India, no warrant issued under this article shall be deemed to empower an officer to confirm any finding or sentence in the case of an officer, medical subordinate or warrant officer, or a sentence of death, transportation or imprisonment for a term exceeding seven years in any case whatever.

(2) The provisions of article 73, clauses (2) and (3), shall, with the necessary modifications, apply to warrants issued under this article.

(3) The officer who convenes a regimental court-martial or the officer having authority to convene such court-martial, at the date of the submission of the finding and sentence thereof, shall have power to confirm the same.

Power of confirming officer to mitigate, remit or commute sentence.

"Article 89B.—Subject to such restrictions as may be contained in any warrant issued under the last preceding article, the confirming officer may, when confirming the sentence of a court-martial, mitigate or remit the punishment thereby awarded, or commute that punishment for any less punishment or punishments to which the offender might have been sentenced by the court-martial:

Provided that a sentence of transportation shall not be commuted to a sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding the term of transportation awarded by the court."

Substitution of new articles for articles 90 to 97.

32. For articles 90 to 97 (both inclusive) of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"Extraordinary Courts-Martial.

Convening of summary general courts-martial.

"Article 90.—The following authorities shall have power to convene a summary general court-martial, and such a court-martial may be convened—

(a) in any place, whether within or beyond British India, by an officer empowered in this behalf by an order of the Governor General in Council or of the Commander-in-Chief in India or of the general officer of the Command;

(b) by an officer commanding any detached portion of Her Majesty's troops upon active service when, in his opinion, it is not practicable, with due regard to discipline and the exigencies of the service, that an offence should be tried by an ordinary general court-martial.

Composition of summary general courts-martial.

"Article 91.—(1) A summary general court-martial shall consist of not less than three officers, who may be either British or Native, or both British and Native officers, as the officer convening the court thinks fit.

(2) Such court may be convened and the proceedings thereof be recorded in accordance with the form in the Second Appendix to these Articles with such variations as the circumstances of each case may require:

Provided that the convening officer may, in respect of any such trial by such court, specially order the evidence, together with the prisoner's statement in defence, to be fully recorded in writing.

Powers of a summary general court-martial.

"Article 92.—A summary general court-martial shall have all the powers of a general court-martial, and, subject to any instructions contained in the order convening the court, its sentence shall be valid, and may be carried out forthwith in case it does not exceed that which a district court-martial is empowered to pass, and in any other case when confirmed by the authority convening the court.

Convening and constitution of, and persons triable by, a summary court-martial.

"Article 93.—(1) A summary court-martial may be held—

(a) by the commanding officer, being a combatant officer, of any corps or department of Her Majesty's Indian forces, or of any detachment of those forces;

(Sections 33-36.)

(b) by the commanding officer of any British corps or detachment to which Native combatant details subject to these Articles are attached.

(2) At every summary court-martial the officer holding the trial shall alone constitute the court, but the proceedings shall be attended throughout by two other officers, British or Native, who shall not, as such, be affirmed or sworn.

(3) The proceedings shall be recorded in the English language, and, when closed, shall be signed by the officer holding the trial, and by the officers attending thereat.

(4) A summary court-martial may try any person subject to these Articles and under the command of the officer holding the court, except an officer, medical subordinate or warrant officer.

(5) Any member of an army hospital corps may be tried by summary court-martial by any officer authorised in this behalf by the officer commanding the division, district, brigade or station to which the alleged offender belongs.

Offences triable by a summary court-martial.

"Article 94.—A summary court-martial may try any offence punishable under any of these Articles:

Provided that when there is no grave reason for immediate action, and reference can, without detriment to discipline, be made to superior authority, a summary court-martial shall not try without such reference any of the following offences, namely:

(a) any offence punishable under any of the articles 7 to 23 (both inclusive), or articles 54 to 65 (both inclusive), or article 171;

(b) any offence against the officer holding the court.

Powers of a summary court-martial.

"Article 95.—(1) A summary court-martial held by the commanding officer of a corps or department may pass any sentence which can be passed under these Articles, except a sentence of death or transportation, or of imprisonment for a term exceeding one year.

(2) A summary court-martial held by any other officer may pass any sentence which can be passed under these Articles, except a sentence of death or transportation, or of imprisonment for a term exceeding six months.

Finding and sentence of a summary court-martial.

"Article 96.—The finding and sentence of a summary court-martial shall not require to be confirmed, but may be carried out at once:

Provided that, if the officer holding the trial is of less than five years' service, he shall not, except on active service, carry into effect any sentence until it has received the approval of a superior military officer commanding not less than a corps.

Transmission of proceedings of summary courts-martial.

"Article 97.—The proceedings of every summary court-martial shall, without delay, be forwarded to the officer commanding the district, or the division or brigade, within which the trial was held, or to the prescribed officer: and such officer or the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command, or, when the court is held in a force not attached to a Command, the officer commanding the force, may, for reasons based on the merits of the case, but not on any merely technical grounds, set aside the proceedings."

Substitution of new article for article 100.

33. For article 100 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Arrest or confinement of accused.

"Article 100.—(1) Whenever any person subject to these Articles is accused of any offence which his commanding or other superior officer considers should be tried by court-martial, such officer shall order the accused to be placed in military custody until he can be tried by a court-martial or is discharged by proper authority.

(2) No such person shall be detained in military custody longer than is necessary for the purposes of justice."

Repeal of article 101.

34. Article 101 of the said Articles is hereby repealed.

Substitution of new article for article 102.

35. For article 102 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Interpreter.

"Article 102.—(1) An interpreter shall be appointed to every court-martial.

(2) If no duly qualified interpreter is available at the station or place where the court-martial sits, the officer appointing the court, or the officer commanding in the district or place within or at which the trial is to be held, shall appoint any competent person to perform the duty of interpreter.

(3) When no other qualified or competent person is available, the superintending officer, or, in the case of an European court, the president, shall perform the duty of interpreter.

(4) In the case of a trial by a summary court-martial, the officer holding the trial, or one of the officers in attendance thereat, may perform the duty of interpreter if no other competent interpreter is available.

(5) No interpreter shall, as such, have a vote upon any matter."

Substitution of new articles for article 103.

36. For article 103 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Dissolution of courts.

"Article 103.—(1) When a court-martial after the commencement of the trial is reduced below the smallest number of officers of which it is by these Articles required to consist, it shall be deemed to be dissolved.

(2) If, on account of the illness of the prisoner before the finding, it is impossible to continue the trial, a court-martial shall be dissolved.

(3) Where a court-martial is dissolved under this article, the prisoner may be tried again.

Power to clear court.

"Article 103A.—The president of a court-martial may, on any deliberation among the members, cause the court to be cleared of all other persons.

The Indian Articles of War Amendment Act, 1894.

(Sections 37-44.)

Power to view place.

"Article 103B.—The court may, when it thinks fit, view any place."

Amendment of article 104.

Amendment of article 107.

38. In article 107 of the said Articles, for the words "courts-martial, other than courts-martial appointed under an Order in Council, or summary" the word "ordinary" shall be substituted.

Insertion of new article after article 108.

39. After article 108 of the said Articles the following article shall be inserted, namely:

Affirmation or oath of interpreter.

"Article 108A.—At a summary court-martial the interpreter shall make affirmation or oath down to the words 'published by authority' only."

Repeal of article 114.

40. Article 114 of the said Articles is hereby repealed.

Substitution of new article for article 116.

41. For article 116 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Conviction of one offence permissible on charge of another.

"Article 116.—(1) A prisoner charged before a court-martial with desertion may be found guilty of attempting to desert or of being absent without leave.

(2) A prisoner charged before a court-martial with attempting to desert may be found guilty of desertion or of being absent without leave.

(3) A prisoner charged before a court-martial with any one of the following offences, that is to say, theft, dishonest misappropriation or conversion, criminal breach of trust, or dishonestly receiving or retaining stolen property, may be found guilty of any other of those offences.

(4) A prisoner charged before a court-martial with any other offence under these Articles may, on failure of proof of an offence having been committed under circumstances involving a more severe punishment, be found guilty of the same offence as having been committed under circumstances involving a less severe punishment."

Substitution of new article for article 117.

42. For article 117 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Evidence of previous convictions and general character.

"Article 117.—(1) When any person subject to these Articles has been convicted by a court-martial of any offence, such court-martial shall enquire into, and receive and record evidence of, any previous convictions of such person, either by a court-martial or by a criminal court, and shall further enquire into and record the general character of such person.

(2) Evidence received under this article may be either oral, or in the shape of entries in, or certified extracts from, court-martial books or other official records; and it shall not be necessary to prove the signature to such certified extracts, nor shall it be necessary to give notice before trial to the person tried that evidence as to his previous convictions or character will be received.

(3) At a summary court-martial the commanding officer holding the trial may, if he thinks fit, record any previous convictions against the offender and his general character, as of his own knowledge, instead of requiring them to be proved under the foregoing provisions of this article.

General rule as to evidence.

"Article 117A.—Subject to the provisions of the last foregoing article, the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, subject to such modifications thereof and to such additional rules of evidence as the Governor General in Council may, by notification, direct, shall apply to all proceedings before a court-martial." 1 of 1872.

Substitution of new articles for articles 119 and 120.

43. For articles 119 and 120 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Majority requisite to sentence of death.

"Article 119.—No sentence of death shall be passed by any court-martial without the concurrence of two-thirds at the least of the members of the court.

Revision of finding or sentence.

"Article 120.—(1) The finding or sentence of any court-martial may be once revised by order of the officer authorized to dispose of the proceedings, and, on such revision, the court, if so directed by him, may take additional evidence.

(2) The court, on revision, shall consist of the same officers as were present when the original decision was passed, unless any of those officers shall be unavoidably absent.

(3) In case of such unavoidable absence the cause thereof shall be duly certified in the proceedings, and the court shall proceed with the revision, provided it still consists of the smallest number of officers of which such court is by these Articles required to consist."

Substitution of new articles for articles 122 to 124.

44. For articles 122 to 124 (both inclusive) of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Summoning witnesses and production of documents.

"Article 122.—(1) The judge advocate in the case of a general court-martial, and the officer ordering the trial in the case of any other court-martial, may, by summons under his hand, require the attendance before the court, at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons, of any person either to give evidence or to produce any document or other thing.

(2) In the case of a witness amenable to military authority, the summons shall be sent to the officer actually commanding the corps, department or detachment to which he belongs, and such officer shall serve it upon him accordingly.

(3) In the case of any other witness, the summons shall be sent to the magistrate within whose jurisdiction he may be or reside, and such magistrate shall give effect to the summons as if the witness were required in the court of such magistrate.

The Indian Articles of War Amendment Act, 1894.

(Sections 45-51.)

(4) When a witness is required to produce any particular document or other thing in his possession or power, the summons shall describe it with convenient certainty.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, sections 123 and 124, or to apply to any letter, post-card, telegram or other document in the custody of the postal or telegraph authorities. 1 of 1872.

(6) If any document in such custody is, in the opinion of any district magistrate, chief presidency magistrate, high court or court of session, wanted for the purposes of any court-martial, such magistrate or court may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be, to deliver such document to such person as such magistrate or court may direct.

(7) If any such document is, in the opinion of any other magistrate or of any commissioner of police or district superintendent of police, wanted for any such purpose, he may require the postal or telegraph department, as the case may be, to cause search to be made for and to detain such document pending the orders of any such district magistrate, chief presidency magistrate or court.

"Article 123.—(1) Any witness duly summoned, and any person who commits any contempt of court in the presence of a court-martial, or any offence described in article 56, 67 or 68, shall, if subject to these Articles, be proceeded against as the court may direct. Contempts of court.

(2) If any such witness or person is not so subject, the president of the court-martial may certify the offence under his hand to the court of any magistrate within the local limits of whose jurisdiction it was committed, and the magistrate may thereupon take cognizance of the case, and, after hearing anything which the accused may desire to say, dispose of it as if the offence had been committed in a proceeding in the court of such magistrate.

"Article 124.—(1) No president or member of a court-martial, no judge advocate or superintending officer, no party to any proceeding before a court-martial or his legal practitioner or agent, and no witness acting in obedience to a summons to attend a court martial, shall, while proceeding to, attending on or returning from, a court-martial, be liable to arrest under civil or revenue process. Privileges of persons attending courts-martial.

(2) If any such person is arrested under any such process, he may be discharged by order of the court-martial."

45. Articles 125 to 129 (both inclusive) of the said Articles are hereby repealed. Repeal of articles 125 to 129.

46. In article 130, clause (d), sentence 1, of the said Articles, for the words "one year" the words "two years" shall be substituted. Amendment of article 130.

47. For article 131 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely: Substitution of new article for article 131.

"Article 131.—Dismissal from the service may accompany any other sentence passed by a court-martial." Dismissal.

48. In article 132 of the said Articles, after the word "reduced" the words "to a lower grade or" shall be inserted. Insertion of words in article 132.

49. For articles 133 to 137 (both inclusive) of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely: Substitution of new articles for articles 133 to 137.

"Article 133.—In executing a sentence of solitary confinement, such confinement shall in no case exceed fourteen days at a time, with intervals between the periods of solitary confinement of not less duration than such periods; and, when the imprisonment awarded shall exceed three months, the solitary confinement shall not exceed seven days in any one month of the whole imprisonment awarded, with intervals between the periods of solitary confinement of not less duration than such periods. Solitary confinement.

"Article 134.—A non-commissioned officer sentenced by court-martial to any of the punishments specified in the second paragraph of article 132 shall be deemed to be reduced to the ranks. Reduction of non-commissioned officers to ranks.

"Article 135.—On a conviction of any offence, a general, summary general or district court-martial may, in addition to any other punishment which it is empowered to award, sentence the offender to forfeit all advantage as to additional pay and claim to pension on discharge which might otherwise have accrued from the length or nature of his former service, or to forfeit all such advantage absolutely, whether it has accrued from former service or may accrue from future service, or to forfeit service for the purpose of promotion, increased pay or pension or any other prescribed purpose, or to forfeit any military decoration or reward. Forfeiture of pay and pension.

"Article 136.—Whenever a person subject to these Articles is convicted by a court-martial, his good-conduct pay shall, subject to any rules or orders which may from time to time be made with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, cease. Stoppage of good-conduct pay on conviction.

"Article 137.—On a conviction for any offence, if the offender is sentenced to dismissal from the service, or if his sentence involves such dismissal, he may further be sentenced to forfeit, if the court shall so direct,— Forfeiture of arrears of pay.

(a) all or any arrears of pay and allowances or other public money due to him at the time of his dismissal, or

(b) such portion thereof as may be required to make good any proved loss or damage arising out of his offence."

50. The first paragraph of article 138 of the said Articles, and the word "and" at the beginning of the second paragraph of the same article, are hereby repealed. Amendment of article 138.

51. In article 139 of the said Articles, for the words "in the case of an officer, two-thirds, or, in the case of any other person, one-half of his" the words "one-half of the offender's" shall be substituted. Amendment of article 139.

The Indian Articles of War Amendment Act, 1894.

(Sections 52-63.)

52. Articles 142 to 149 (both inclusive) of the said Articles are hereby repealed. Repeal of articles 142 to 149.

53. In articles 150 and 151 of the said Articles after the words "the offender shall" the words "as soon as may be convenient" shall be inserted, and for the words "the nearest jail" the words "a jail" shall be substituted. Amendment of articles 150 and 151.

54. To the last-named article the following proviso shall be added, namely: Addition to article 151.

"Provided that, in the case of a sentence of such imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months, the confirming or superior authority or, in the case of a summary court-martial, the commanding officer holding the trial may direct that the sentence shall be undergone in military custody."

55. To article 152 of the said Articles the words "Subject to the control of the Commander-in-Chief in India" shall be prefixed; and for the words "the Commander-in-Chief of a Presidency" the following words shall be substituted, namely: "the general officer of the Command." Amendment of article 152.

56. To the second paragraph of the last-mentioned article the words "Subject as aforesaid," shall be prefixed, and in the same paragraph for the words "any Presidency" the words "a Command" shall be substituted. Further amendment of same article.

57. In article 155 of the said Articles, after the words "from the date of such sentence" the words "or, if an appeal be preferred against such sentence and fail, from the date of the disposal of such appeal," shall be inserted. Insertion of new words in article 155.

58. To the last-mentioned article the following shall be added, namely: Addition to same article.

"Provided that on active service any such person may, by order of the officer empowered under these Articles to confirm or otherwise dispose of the proceedings of the trial, be retained to serve in the ranks, and his service therein shall be reckoned as part of his term of transportation or imprisonment."

59. Articles 155 to 159 (both inclusive) of the said Articles are hereby repealed. Repeal of articles 156 to 159.

60. For article 160 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely: Substitution of new article for article 160.

"Article 160.—When any person subject to these Articles has been convicted by a court-martial of any offence,— Pardons and remissions.

(a) the Governor General in Council, or,

(b) when the person has been convicted of any offence other than a civil offence, the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command,

may—

(1) pardon the person;

(2) remit wholly or in part any punishment awarded to him;

(3) order the restoration to him of any service or other advantage forfeited under his sentence, or

(4) re-admit him to the service when he has been dismissed therefrom:

Provided that the general officer of the Command shall not exercise the powers conferred by this section in respect of any person, unless—

(1) the person was under his authority when sentenced; and

(2) the person is still in the service, or, if the person has been dismissed from the service, the corps or department from which he was dismissed has since continued under the authority of that officer."

61. In article 161 of the said Articles the words "or to the Government of Fort St. George, or to the Government of Bombay," shall be repealed; and for the words "Commander-in-Chief of any Presidency or of the officer commanding any force not attached to a Presidency" the following words shall be substituted, namely: "Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command, or of the officer commanding any force not attached to a Command." Amendment of article 161.

62. After article 161 of the said Articles the following shall be inserted, namely: Addition of new article after article 161.

"Preservation of Proceedings.

"Article 161A.—(1) The proceedings of all general courts-martial shall be preserved by the judge advocate general for not less than seven years, and the proceedings of summary general courts-martial and district courts-martial for not less than three years, from the date of the confirmation of the finding and sentence. Preservation of proceedings of courts-martial.

(2) The proceedings of regimental and summary courts-martial shall be preserved for three years with the records of the corps or department to which the prisoner belonged.

(3) Every person tried by a court-martial shall be entitled, on demand at any time after the confirmation of the finding and sentence where such confirmation is required, and before the proceedings are destroyed, to obtain from the officer or person having the custody of the proceedings a copy thereof, including the proceedings upon revision, if any, upon payment for the same at the prescribed rate."

63. For article 162 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely: Substitution of new article for article 162.

"Article 162.—(1) When any person subject to these Articles has been absent without due authority from his duty for a period of sixty days, a court of enquiry shall, as soon as practicable, be assembled, and, upon affirmation or oath administered in the prescribed manner, shall enquire respecting the absence of the person, and the deficiency, if any, of property of the Government entrusted to his care, or of his arms, Enquiry on absence of person subject to Articles.

ammunition, equipments, instruments, clothing or necessaries; and, if satisfied of the fact of such absence without due authority or other sufficient cause, the Court shall declare such absence and the period thereof, and the said deficiency if any; and the commanding officer of the corps or department to which the person belongs shall enter in the court-martial book of the corps or department a record of the declaration.

(2) If the person declared absent does not afterwards surrender, or is not apprehended, the record shall have the legal effect of a conviction of desertion.

(3) If the person declared absent surrenders or is apprehended, the record or a copy thereof, purporting to bear the signature of the officer having the custody of the court-martial book, shall, on the trial of the person for desertion, be presumptive evidence of the facts therein recorded; and, on proof of the identity of the prisoner with the person therein mentioned, he may be found guilty of desertion and of the deficiency, if any, therein recorded."

Amendment of article 163.

64. For the last paragraph of article 163 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"Such recommendation, duly confirmed by the Commander-in-Chief in India, or by the general officer of the Command, or the officer commanding any force not attached to a Command to which he belongs, or by any general officer under whose command the person is serving, shall entitle him to receive such arrears and reckon service accordingly."

Substitution of new article for article 164.

65. For article 164 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Reduction to lower grade or ranks.

"Article 164.—The Commander-in-Chief in India, the general officer of the Command, the officer commanding any force not attached to a command, and the officer commanding any district or division or brigade, shall respectively have power to reduce to a lower grade or to the ranks any non-commissioned officer under his command."

Amendment of article 165.

66. In article 165 of the said Articles, for the words "No such minor punishment shall be awarded by a court-martial," to the end of the article, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

"Unless otherwise specially provided by the said Commander-in-Chief, no Native officer, medical subordinate or warrant officer shall be liable to any such minor punishment.

"Good-conduct pay shall not necessarily be forfeited on the infliction of a minor punishment, but forfeiture thereof may be awarded as a substantive punishment, by order of the commanding officer, as may from time to time be prescribed in the General Orders of the Commander-in-Chief in India.

"Forfeiture of good-conduct pay may be awarded in addition to any other minor punishment."

Amendment of article 166.

67. In article 166 of the said Articles, the words "the Governor of Fort St. George in Council, the Governor of Bombay in Council, or any other Local Government" shall be omitted.

Amendment of article 168.

68. In article 168 of the said Articles, for the words "the Commander-in-Chief of the Presidency" the words "the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command" shall be substituted.

Amendment of article 169.

69. In the second paragraph of article 169 of the said Articles, for the words "warrant officer" the words "non commissioned officer" shall be substituted.

Repeal of part of article 170.

70. The second and third paragraphs of article 170 of the said Articles are hereby repealed.

Substitution of new articles for articles 171 to 175.

71. For articles 171 to 175 (both inclusive) of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"Civil Offences.

Military jurisdiction with respect to civil offences.

"Article 171.—Every person subject to these Articles who at any place beyond British India commits any civil offence shall be deemed to be guilty of an offence against military law, and if charged therewith under this article shall, subject to the provisions of these Articles, be liable to be tried for the same by court-martial at any place, whether within or beyond British India, and on conviction to be punished as follows, that is to say:

(a) if the offence is one which would be punishable under the law of British India with death or with transportation, or with imprisonment for a term exceeding three years, he shall be liable to suffer any punishment assigned for the offence by the law of British India; and

(b) in other cases, he shall be liable to suffer any punishment assigned for the offence by the law of British India or such punishment as might be awarded to him in pursuance of these Articles in respect of an act to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.

Extension of article 171 to certain civil offences.

"Article 172.—The Governor General in Council may, by notification, extend the last foregoing article to civil offences or any class of those offences committed by a person subject to these Articles when on active service in British India, and may cancel any such notification.

Certain offences when triable by military law.

"Article 173.—Every person subject to these Articles who, whether within or beyond British India, commits or attempts to commit or abets the commission of any of the following offences against any person subject to military law, that is to say, murder, culpable homicide or any offence punishable under any of the sections 323 to 335 (both inclusive) or section 506 of the Indian Penal Code, shall be deemed to be guilty of an offence against military law, and if charged under this article with any such offence shall, subject to the provisions of these Articles, be liable to be tried by court-martial at any place whether within or without British India, and on conviction shall be liable to suffer any punishment assigned for the offence by the said Code. XLV of 1860.

The Indian Articles of War Amendment Act, 1894.

(Sections 72-73)

Jurisdiction over certain offences.

"Article 174.—When under any of the foregoing Articles a criminal court and a court-martial have each jurisdiction in respect of an offence, it shall be in the discretion of the prescribed military authority to decide before which court the proceedings shall be instituted, and, if that authority decides that they shall be instituted before a court-martial, to direct that the accused person shall be detained in military custody.

Power of criminal court to require delivery of offender.

"Article 175.—(1) When a criminal court having jurisdiction is of opinion that proceedings ought to be instituted before itself in respect of any alleged offence, it may, by written notice, require the convening authority or the prescribed military authority at his option either to deliver over the offender to the nearest magistrate to be proceeded against according to law or to postpone proceedings pending a reference to the Governor General in Council.

(2) In every such case the said authority shall either deliver over the offender in compliance with the requisition or shall forthwith refer the question as to the court before which the proceedings are to be instituted for the determination of the Governor General in Council, whose order upon such reference shall be final."

Substitution of new articles for articles 176 to 179.

72. For articles 176 to 179 (both inclusive) of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"TITLE VI.—PROPERTY OF DECEASED PERSONS AND DESERTERS.

Property of deceased persons, deserters and lunatics.

"Article 176.—The following rules are enacted respecting the disposal of the property of every person who belongs to a class subject to these Articles who dies, is killed in the field or deserts:—

(1) The commanding officer shall secure all the moveable property that is on the spot, and cause an inventory thereof to be made, and draw any pay and allowances due to the deceased or deserter.

(2) In the case of a deceased person who has left in a Government Savings Bank (including any Post Office Savings Bank, however named,) a deposit not exceeding one thousand rupees the commanding officer may, if he thinks fit, require the secretary or other proper officer of the bank to pay the deposit to him forthwith notwithstanding anything in any departmental rules; and, after the payment thereof in accordance with such requisition, no person shall have any right in respect of the deposit except as hereinafter provided.

(3) In the case of a deceased person whose representative is on the spot and has given security for the payment of the regimental debts (if any) of the deceased, the commanding officer shall deliver over the property and the amount of the deposit (if any) received under clause (2) of this article to that representative.

(4) In the case of a deceased person whose estate is not dealt with under clause (3) of this article, and in the case of any deserter, the commanding officer shall cause the property to be sold by public auction, and shall pay the regimental debts and other debts in camp or quarters (if any) and in the case of a deceased person the expenses of his funeral ceremonies, from the proceeds of the sale and the amount of the deposit (if any) received under clause (2) of this article.

(5) The surplus, if any, shall in the case of a deceased person be paid to his representative, if any, or in the event of no claim to such surplus being established within twelve months after the death, then the same shall be remitted to the prescribed officer.

(6) In the case of the sale of the effects of a deserter, the amount remaining in the hands of the commanding officer shall be forthwith remitted to the prescribed officer.

Disposal of certain property without production of probate, etc.

"Article 177.—Property deliverable and money payable to the representative of a deceased person under the last foregoing article may, if the total value or amount thereof does not exceed one thousand rupees, and if the prescribed officer thinks fit, be delivered or paid to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it or to administer the estate of the deceased, without requiring the production of any probate, letters of administration, certificate or other such conclusive evidence of title; and such delivery or payment shall be a full discharge to those ordering or making the same and to the Secretary of State for India in Council from all further liability in respect of the property or money; but nothing in this article shall affect the rights of any executor or administrator or other representative, or of any creditor, of a deceased person against any person to whom such delivery or payment has been made.

Meaning of desertion in article 176.

"Article 178.—A person shall be deemed to have deserted within the meaning of article 176 who has been convicted of desertion, or who has been illegally absent from duty for a period of sixty days and has not subsequently surrendered or been apprehended.

Application of article 176 to lunatics.

"Article 179.—The provisions of the last-mentioned article shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply in the case of a person subject to these Articles becoming insane, such allowance being made for his support as is authorised by the Military Lunatics Act, 1877." XI of 1877.

Substitution of new Part for Part III.

73. For Part III of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"PART III.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Prohibition of second trial.

"Article 180.—When any person subject to these Articles has been acquitted or convicted of an offence by a court-martial or by a criminal court, or has been summarily dealt with for an offence under article 165 or 166, he shall not be liable to be again tried for the same offence by a court martial or dealt with summarily in respect of it under either of the said articles.

Exemption from arrest for debt.

"Article 181.—(1) No person subject to these Articles shall, so long as he belongs to Her Majesty's Indian Forces, be liable to be arrested for debt under any process issued by, or by the authority of, any civil or revenue court or revenue-officer.

The Indian Articles of War Amendment Act, 1894

(Section 73.)

(2) The judge of any such court may examine into any complaint made by such person or his superior officer of the arrest of such person contrary to the provisions of this article, and may by warrant under his hand discharge the person, and award reasonable costs to the complainant, who may recover those costs in like manner as he might have recovered costs awarded to him by a decree against the person obtaining the process.

(3) For the recovery of such costs no fee whatever shall be payable to the court by the complainant.

Property exempted from attachment.

"Article 182.—Neither the arms, clothes, equipment, accoutrements or necessaries of any person subject to these Articles, nor any animal used by him for the discharge of his duty, shall be seized; nor shall the pay and allowances of any such person or any part thereof be attached, by direction of any civil or revenue court or any revenue-officer, in satisfaction of any decree or order enforceable against him.

Application of the last two foregoing articles to reservists.

"Article 183.—Every person belonging to the Indian Reserve Forces shall, when called out for or engaged upon or returning from training or service, as an officer or soldier, be entitled to all the privileges accorded by the two last foregoing articles to a person subject to these Articles.

Priority of hearing by courts of cases in which Native officers and soldiers are concerned.

"Article 184.—(1) On the presentation to any court by or on behalf of any officer or soldier subject to these Articles of a certificate, from the proper military authority, of leave of absence having been granted to or applied for by him for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any suit or other proceeding in such court, the court shall, on the application of such officer or soldier, arrange, so far as may be possible, for the hearing and final disposal of such suit or other proceeding within the period of the leave so granted or applied for.

(2) The certificate from the proper military authority must state the first and last day of the leave or intended leave, and set forth a description of the case with respect to which the leave was granted or applied for.

(3) No fee whatever shall be payable to the court in respect of the presentation of any such certificate, or in respect of any application by or on behalf of any such officer or soldier for priority for the hearing of his case.

(4) Where the court is unable to arrange for the hearing and final disposal of the suit or other proceeding within the period of such leave or intended leave as aforesaid, it shall record its reasons for having been unable to do so, and shall cause a copy thereof to be furnished to such officer or soldier on his application, without any payment whatever by him in respect either of the application for such copy or of the copy itself.

(5) If in any case a question arises as to the proper military authority qualified to grant such certificate as aforesaid, such question shall be at once referred by the court to the nearest officer commanding a corps, whose decision shall be final.

Capture of deserters.

"Article 185.—(1) Whenever any person subject to these Articles deserts, the commanding officer of the corps, department or detachment to which he belongs shall give written information of the desertion to such civil, political or police authorities as, in his opinion, may be able to afford assistance towards the capture of the deserter; and such authorities shall thereupon take steps for the apprehension of the said deserter in like manner as if he were a person for whose capture a warrant had been issued by a magistrate, and shall deliver the deserter, when apprehended, to military custody.

(2) Such authorities shall also, by such means as appear to them best adapted for the purpose, prevent persons reasonably believed to be subject to these Articles from travelling through the areas subject to their jurisdiction, unless on duty, or furnished with a certificate of leave or discharge.

(3) Any police-officer may arrest, without warrant, any person reasonably believed to be subject to these Articles and to be travelling without authority, and shall bring him without delay before the nearest magistrate, or the nearest military commanding officer when no magistrate is readily accessible, to be dealt with according to law.

Apprehension of military offenders.

"Article 186.—Whenever any person subject to these Articles, who is accused of any military offence, is within the jurisdiction of any civil, political or police officer, such officer shall aid in the apprehension and delivery to military custody of such person upon receipt of a written application to that effect signed by his commanding officer.

Presumption as to signatures.

"Article 187.—In any proceeding under these Articles, any application, certificate, warrant, reply or other document purporting to be signed by an officer in the civil or military service of the Government shall, on production, be presumed to have been duly signed by the person and in the character by whom and in which it purports to have been signed, until the contrary is shown.

Portions of the forces under an Army Command.

"Article 188.—(1) The Governor General in Council may direct that for the purposes of these Articles—

(a) any portion of Her Majesty's Indian Forces belonging to a Command shall, when serving beyond the ordinary limits of the Command, continue subject to the authority of the general officer of the Command; or

(b) any portion of those forces not belonging to a Command shall be attached to a Command, and shall be subject to the authority of the general officer of the Command.

(2) Except as may be directed under clause (1) of this article, any portion of the said forces shall, when serving in a Command, be for the purposes of these Articles subject to the authority of the general officer of that Command.

The Indian Articles of War Amendment Act, 1894.

(Section 74.)

Saving of authority of Commander-in-Chief in India.

"Article 189.—Nothing in these Articles shall be deemed to affect the authority conferred on the Commander-in-Chief in India by any Act of Parliament or by Royal Warrant or Commission.

Power to make rules.

"Article 190.—(1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification, make rules consistent with these Articles to regulate the procedure of courts-martial and officers, military, civil or political, having any jurisdiction or authority under these Articles, and for the purpose of carrying these Articles into execution, so far as relates to the investigation, trial and punishment of offences triable under them.

(2) Rules under this article may provide among other matters for the following:

(a) the assembly and procedure of courts of enquiry;

(b) the convening and constituting of courts-martial;

(c) the adjournment, dissolution and sittings of courts-martial;

(d) the procedure to be observed in trials by courts-martial;

(e) the confirmation and revision of the findings and sentences of courts-martial;

(f) the carrying into effect sentences of courts-martial;

(g) the forms of orders to be made under the provisions of these Articles relating to courts-martial, transportation or imprisonment.

(3) The Governor General in Council may by any such rule confer on any court-martial or officer any power (other than a power to try an accused person or pass a sentence) conferred on a court of original jurisdiction by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882. X of 1882.

Powers to apply Articles to certain forces under the Government of India.

"Article 191.—(1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification, apply all or any of the provisions of these Articles to any force raised and maintained in India under the authority of the Governor General in Council, and may cancel or modify any such notification.

(2) While any of the provisions of these Articles apply to any such force, the Governor General in Council may, by notification, direct by what authority any jurisdiction, powers or duties incident to the operation of those provisions shall be exercised or performed in respect to that force."

Addition of Second Appendix to Articles.

74. After the Appendix to the said Articles the Second Appendix set out in the Schedule to this Act shall be added.

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of His Excellency the Governor General on the 18th October, 1894, and is hereby promulgated for general information:

ACT No. XV OF 1894.

An Act to validate certain certificates granted to engineers of steam-ships.

Bom. IV of 1873. VI of 1884.

WHEREAS the Steam-vessel Survey Amendment Act of 1873 was repealed by the Inland Steam-vessels Act, 1884, which came into force in the territories administered by the Governor of Bombay in Council on the first day of December, 1885;

And whereas between the said day and the seventh day of February, 1893, certain certificates styled "Indian Foreign Trade Certificates of Competency" were inadvertently granted in Bombay in pursuance of rules made under the said Steam-vessel Survey Amendment Act of 1873, and without regard to the provisions of the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884; VII of 1884.

And whereas it is expedient to validate the said certificates;

It is hereby enacted as follows:

Title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Engineers' Certificates Validation Act, 1894; and

(2) It shall come into force at once.

Validation of "Indian Foreign Trade Certificates of Competency" granted in Bombay to engineers of steam-ships.

2. The certificates described as "Indian Foreign Trade Certificates of Competency," which were granted under the authority of the Governor of Bombay in Council between the first day of December, 1885, and the seventh day of February, 1893 (both inclusive), to certify to the competency of the grantees thereof to act as engineers of steam-ships, shall be deemed to have been granted under the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, and shall be recognized as valid for voyages of those classes with reference whereto they were granted: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to affect such certificates in any other respect. VII of 1884.

J. M. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 27th December, 1894 :—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the list appended, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

Schedule IV, No. 8.—In consequence of representations received by us, we have simplified the classification of sugar contained in this number.

No. 11.—In accordance with a suggestion from Madras, we have exempted unmanufactured tobacco from duty.

No. 13.—We have exempted from duty water-lifts, sugar-mills and oil-presses as well as all machines ordinarily used in processes of husbandry or for the preparation for use or for sale of the products of husbandry which the Governor General in Council may by notification exempt.

No. 14.—We have carefully examined the definition of machinery and made certain additions with the view of rendering it more complete and comprehensive as well as more readily intelligible.

No. 15.—We have made one or two additions to the articles chargeable with one per cent. duty under the heads of iron and steel.

No. 44.—We have made the duty in the case of coloured twists and yarns and of piece-goods payable ad valorem instead of on a tariff valuation as in the Bill as introduced, and we have combined mule and water twists under the same head.

No. 46.—Owing to our having inserted this new number, which relates to earth, common clay and sand (declared to be free), we have had to alter the subsequent numbering to the end of the Schedule.

No. 93.—We have amended the proviso to this number so as to provide for the exemption from duty of the materials of such tramways as the Governor General in Council may think fit, by notification, specifically to exempt.

No. 96.—A representation has been received by us from certain of the Inland Steam Navigation Companies concerning the duty which it was originally proposed to impose on inland ships and vessels under this number. We have now made such ships and vessels free from duty.

2. We have also received and considered a number of suggestions as to the classification of articles and the tariff valuations, to some of which we have given effect.

3. The publication ordered by the Council has been made as follows :—

In English.

Gazette.	Date.
Gazette of India	17th December, 1894.

4. We do not think that the measure has been so altered as to require re-publication, and we recommend that it be passed as now amended.

THE SCHEDULE.—TARIFF VALUES OF YARNS.

An Act to provide for the Imposition and Levy of certain Duties on Cotton Goods.

WHEREAS it is expedient to impose certain duties on cotton goods; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PRELIMINARY.

Title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Cotton Duties Act, 1894.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India; and

(3) It shall come into force at once.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

VIII of 1878.

(1) "the Principal Act" means the Sea Customs Act, 1878:

(2) "Chief Customs Authority" means, in the Presidency of Fort St. George, and the territories respectively under the administration of the Lieutenant-Governors of Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, the Board of Revenue; in the Presidency of Bombay outside Sind, the Commissioner of Customs; in Sind, the Commissioner; in the Punjab and Burma, the Financial Commissioner; and elsewhere the Local Government or such officer as the Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office:

(3) "Collector" means—

(a) at Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, Rangoon and Karachi, the Collector of Customs, and

(b) in any other place, the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the district or such other officer as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf, and includes

(c) every officer for the time being duly authorised by the Local Government to perform all or any of the duties of a Collector under this Act:

(4) "mill" means any building or place where cotton fibre is spun or otherwise converted into yarn, or where yarn is woven or otherwise manufactured, by machinery moved otherwise than by manual labour:

(5) "warehouse" means a place licensed for the storage of goods under this Act, and includes every public or private warehouse duly appointed or licensed under section 15 or 16 of the Principal Act, or under section 2 of the Inland Bonded Warehouses Act, 1887;

XXI of 1887.

(6) "yarn" means yarn wholly or partly composed of cotton fibres; and

(7) "customs port," "foreign port," "vessel" and "master" have respectively the meanings defined for them in the Principal Act.

Performance of duties of Customs Officers by subordinate officers.

3. The officers subordinate to a Collector shall, unless the Local Government shall otherwise so direct, for the purposes of this Act perform the duties imposed and exercise the powers conferred upon officers of Customs under the Principal Act.

PART I.

EXCISE.

Application of Sea Customs Act.

Modifications to be made in Sea Customs Act as applied to this Part.

4. In the application of the Principal Act or any particular section or sections thereof to this Part the following modifications shall be made therein, namely:—

(a) "the owner of the goods" shall include the managing agent or other principal officer of a mill;

(b) for "the bill-of-entry" or "shipping-bill" shall be substituted "the return required by this Act";

(c) every reference to a warehouse, or warehousing, shall be construed as referring to a "warehouse" as hereinbefore defined.

Duties.

Imposition of duties on cotton yarns produced in British Indian mills.

5. There shall be levied and collected at every mill in British India, upon all cotton yarns produced in such mill, a duty at the rate for the time being prescribed in the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, for the levy of duty in respect of cotton yarns imported by sea: VIII of 1894.

Provided that no duty shall be levied upon yarns of any count commercially known as number 20 or less:

Provided also that the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, exempt from duty any yarns of any count or number not exceeding 24.

Explanation.—Yarn is said to be "produced" within the meaning of this Act—

(a) in the case of yarn which is reeled and bundled in the mill in which it is spun—when it is so bundled;

(b) in the case of yarn which is woven or otherwise manufactured in the mill in which it is spun—when it is passed out of the spinning section of the mill;

(c) in any other case—when it is issued out of the premises of the mill.

Power to Governor General in Council to fix tariff values of such yarns.

6. (1) The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, fix, for the purpose of levying the said duties, tariff values of all such yarns as aforesaid or of any particular count or counts thereof, and alter any tariff values for the time being in force.

(2) In the absence of any notification under sub-section (1), the tariff values shall be those specified in the schedule to this Act.

(3) Such tariff value shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the "real value" of the yarns to which it applies, but save as aforesaid all yarns shall be assessed under this Act at their real value as defined in section 30 of the Principal Act.

Delivery of monthly returns of yarn produced by mill-owners.

7. (1) The owner of every mill shall prepare and deliver, or cause to be prepared and delivered, to the Collector, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, a return of all cotton yarn produced at his mill during the preceding month, whether liable to duty or not; and shall subscribe a declaration of the truth of such statement at the foot of such return.

(2) Unless otherwise prescribed by any rules under this Act, every such return shall state for each count or number of yarn the quantity produced during the preceding month under each of the three heads mentioned in the Explanation to section 5, and in the case of dutiable yarn the real value of such yarn.

(3) Every such return shall also contain such further information and be in such form and be subject to such conditions as to verification and otherwise as may be prescribed by any rules under this Act.

(4) The first of such returns shall be made on or before the fifteenth day of February, 1895, and shall include all yarn produced since the commencement of this Act.

Assessment of duty and notice requiring payment.

8. (1) The Collector shall thereupon assess the duties, if any, payable in respect of the month to which the return relates, and unless the amount thereof is immediately tendered shall cause a notice, in such form as may be prescribed by any rules under this Act, to be served on the owner requiring him to make payment of the amount assessed within ten days of the date of service of the said notice.

(2) A notice under sub-section (1) may be served on the owner of a mill by delivering or tendering to him or his agent at his ordinary place of business a copy of the notice, or, if this cannot be conveniently done, by fixing a copy of the notice on one of the outer doors of the mill.

Application of certain sections of Sea Customs Act to assessment and recovery of duties under this Act.

9. Sections 30 to 34, 37, and 39 to 41, all inclusive, of the Principal Act, shall apply to the assessment and recovery of the duties imposed by this Act:

Provided that the rate of duty and the tariff valuation applicable to any yarn which has not been warehoused as hereinafter provided shall be those in force at the time when the yarn was produced, and not when the return was delivered as provided by the said section 37.

Recovery of unpaid duty.

10. (1) If any duty payable under this Act is not paid within the time fixed by any such notice as aforesaid for the payment thereof, the Collector may, in lieu thereof, recover any sum not exceeding double the amount of duty so unpaid, which he shall, in his discretion, think it reasonable to require.

(2) All sums recoverable under sub-section (1) shall be recovered in the manner provided in Act II of 1886, section 30, sub-sections (1), (2) and (3), with respect to the sums therein referred to.

Warehousing.

Licensing of warehouses for storage of yarn, and fees for same.

11. (1) The Chief Customs Authority may from time to time license any room or place as a warehouse for the storage of cotton goods, and for the purposes of this Act every such place shall be deemed to be a warehouse and to have been duly licensed under the Principal Act.

(2) There shall be payable in respect of every such warehouse such and the like licensing fees and other payments as may for the time being be payable in respect of a private warehouse licensed under the Principal Act:

Provided that the Chief Customs Authority may remit the whole or any part of such fees or other payments in respect of any particular warehouse.

Permission to deposit yarn in warehouses.

12. (1) The owner of any mill may apply for leave to deposit in a warehouse any yarn in respect of which duty has become leviable under section 5 and which has not been issued out of the mill.

(2) Such application shall be in writing signed by the applicant, and shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Chief Customs Authority.

Application to yarn so deposited of provisions of Chapter XI of Sea Customs Act.

13. All the provisions of Chapter XI of the Principal Act, so far as the same are applicable to imported goods of a similar description, shall apply to all yarn in respect of which an application has been made under section 12.

Exemption from assessment of yarn so deposited.

14. When any yarn has been deposited in a warehouse, the quantity and particulars thereof shall be specified as so deposited in the return made under section 7 for the month in which the yarn was produced, and the said yarn shall be omitted in the assessment and collection of duty.

Inspection.

Power to Collector to inspect mills, and take copies of records and accounts.

15. (1) The Collector, or any officer duly appointed by the Local Government in that behalf, shall have free access at all reasonable times during working hours to any mill.

(2) Any such officer may at any time, with or without notice to the owner, examine the working records, sale records, and accounts of any mill, and take copies of, or extracts from, all or any of the said records or accounts, for the purpose of testing the accuracy of any return, or of informing himself as to any particulars regarding which information is required for the purposes of this Act or any rules thereunder.

Information acquired to be deemed official secrets within meaning of Act XV of 1889.

16. (1) All such copies and extracts, and all other information acquired by any such officer on the inspection of any mill or warehouse, shall be regarded as strictly confidential, and shall be deemed to be official secrets.

(2) If any such officer shall disclose to any person other than a superior officer any such official secret as aforesaid without the previous consent in writing of the Chief Customs Authority, he shall be guilty of a breach of official trust, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punishable in the manner provided by section 4 of the Indian Official Secrets Act, 1889.

XV of 1889.

(3) The restriction imposed by section 5 of the last-mentioned Act shall not apply to a prosecution for a breach of an official trust under this Act.

Export and Drawback.

Grant of certificate when dutiable yarn is to be exported to foreign port.

17. If any dutiable yarn is exported by sea to any foreign port before the return in respect of it has been delivered to the Collector under section 7, the owner of the mill in which it was produced may apply to the Collector at the port of shipment, who, on being satisfied that such yarn has actually been shipped for export, shall grant him a certificate stating the quantity and particulars of such yarn, and that it has actually been so shipped.

When certificate granted, yarns to be exempt from duty.

18. When any certificate has been granted under section 17, the quantity and particulars of the yarn stated therein shall be specified as so shipped in the return made under section 7 for any month not later than that in which the yarn was shipped, and the said goods shall be deducted in the assessment and collection of duty.

Repayment of duties paid in case of yarns exported to foreign ports.

19. When any yarn upon which duty has been paid under this Act is exported by sea from any customs port to any foreign port, such duty shall, except as otherwise herein provided, be repaid as drawback:

Provided that in every such case the yarn has not been woven into cloth or otherwise altered in character since the payment of duty, and that it is shown to the satisfaction of the Collector at the port of shipment that the duty on the said yarn has been duly paid, and that the export is made within two years from the date of payment of the duty, or within such further time as the Chief Customs Authority on sufficient cause shown may in any case determine.

Explanation.—Yarn bleached or dyed or converted into sewing thread is not to be deemed to have been altered in character for the purposes of this proviso.

Repayment of duties in case of certain cotton fabrics exported to foreign ports.

20. (1) When any cotton fabrics manufactured in a mill in British India and composed in whole or in part of dutiable counts of yarn are exported by sea from any customs port to any foreign port, the exporter may apply to the Customs Collector at the port of shipment for the repayment as drawback of any duty which may have been paid under this Act in respect of such yarn.

(2) In every application made under sub-section (1) the applicant must state—

(a) the quantities and counts of yarns in respect of which drawback is claimed, the mill at which they were produced, and, as nearly as possible, the dates on which they were produced;

(b) the mill at which, and, as nearly as possible, the dates on which the fabric was manufactured.

When such refunds may be granted.

21. The drawback shall be allowed by the Collector if it is shown to his satisfaction—

(1) that the said fabric has been manufactured within twelve months of the date on which it is shipped for export;

(2) that the yarns in respect of which drawback is applied for have paid duty within the said twelve months.

Power to prohibit repayment of duty in case of exportation to certain ports.

22. The Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, prohibit the payment of drawback on the exportation of yarn or cotton fabrics to any specified foreign port.

No repayment of duty to be granted in certain cases.

23. Notwithstanding anything herein contained, no drawback shall be allowed in respect of any yarn or cotton fabrics on which duty has been paid—

(a) when the goods are of less value than the amount of drawback claimed, or

(b) when the claim is for drawback amounting to less than five rupees in respect of any single shipment.

Application of sections 51 and 52 of Sea Customs Act to claims under this Act.

24. Sections 51 and 52 of the Principal Act shall apply to every claim for drawback under this Act.

Offences and Penalties.

Punishments for offences.

25. The offences mentioned in the first column of the following schedule shall be punishable to the extent mentioned in the second column thereof with reference to such offences respectively:—

1. Contravening any rule made under this Act.	Penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees.
2. Concealing or attempting to conceal, or knowingly permitting or procuring to be concealed, any yarn liable to duty under this Act with intent to evade payment of the duty or any part thereof.	Such yarn shall be liable to confiscation, and every person convicted of the offence shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding three times the value of the yarn.
3. Omitting to make any return required by section 7 or refusing to sign or complete the same.	Penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.
4. Making and delivering any such return containing any statement not true to the best of the information and belief of the person making the same. (XLV of 1860.)	The penalty provided in the Indian Penal Code, section 199, for making a false statement in a declaration.
5. Altering or falsifying any record or book of account kept in the mill with the intention of defrauding the revenue.	The penalty provided in the Indian Penal Code, section 465, for the commission of forgery.
6. Omitting to keep such proper records and books of account as may be prescribed by any rule under this Act.	Penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees and a further penalty of twenty rupees for every day after the date of the conviction during which the offence is continued.
7. Omitting to make and deliver any return which by any rule under this Act ought to have been made and delivered.	Penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.
8. Intentionally obstructing any Collector or other officer in the exercise of any powers given under this Act.	Imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, or both.
9. If any yarn in respect of which a certificate has been obtained under section 17, or any goods on the entry of which for export drawback has been paid, are not duly exported or are unshipped or relanded at any customs port, not having been duly relanded or discharged under the provisions of the Principal Act.	Such goods, together with any vessel used in the unshipping or relanding them, shall be liable to confiscation, and the master of the vessel from which such goods are so unshipped or relanded, and any person by whom or by whose orders or means such goods are so unshipped or relanded, or who aids or is concerned in such unshipping or relanding, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding three times the value of such goods, or not exceeding one thousand rupees.
10. If any goods are entered for drawback which are of less value than the drawback claimed.	Such goods shall be liable to confiscation.
11. If any yarn is found concealed in any place, box or closed receptacle in any mill and is not duly accounted for to the satisfaction of the Collector.	Such yarn shall be liable to confiscation.
12. If any yarn is found in any mill in excess of the quantity entered in the return or not corresponding with the statement therein contained.	Such yarn shall be liable to confiscation or to be charged with such increased duty as the Chief Customs Authority may direct.
13. If when any cotton goods are passed by tale or by package any omission or misdescription thereof tending to injure the revenue be discovered.	The person guilty of such omission or misdescription shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten times the amount of duty which might have been lost to Government by such omission or misdescription, unless it be proved to the satisfaction of the Collector or other officer that the variance was accidental.
14. If any Collector or other officer subordinate to a Collector does any act or is guilty of any omission in contravention of this Act or of any rule or order made thereunder; or, with intent to cause injury or annoyance to any person, vexatiously and unnecessarily makes use of any power conferred upon him under this Act.	Such Collector or officer shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.
15. The offences described in the Principal Act, section 167, Schedule, Nos. 41—53, both inclusive, in reference to warehousing of dutiable goods.	The penalties prescribed in the same Schedule in respect of such offences respectively.

Magistrates having jurisdiction.

26. All offences against this Act may be tried summarily by a District or Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the First Class.

Application of section 168 of Sea Customs Act to cases of confiscation under this Act.

27. Section 168 of the Principal Act shall apply to all cases of confiscation of goods under this Act.

Application of certain provisions of same Act to proceedings under this Act.

28. All the provisions of Chapter XVII of the Principal Act, except sections 169, 170, 177, 182, 184, 185, 187, 190, 191 and 193, shall apply to all proceedings under this Act.

Power to Local Government to reverse or modify orders under this Act.

29. The Local Government may, on the application of any person aggrieved by any decision or order passed under this Act, reverse or modify such decision or order.

Miscellaneous.

Power to take samples.

30. (1) The Collector or any officer appointed under section 15 may at any time take samples of any yarn or fabric for examination or for ascertaining the count or value thereof, or for any other necessary purpose.

(2) Every such sample shall, if practicable, be restored to the owner, or, at his option, sold by the Collector, and the proceeds accounted for to the owner.

Records and accounts to be kept by mill-owners.

31. The owner of every mill shall keep such records and books of account as may be prescribed by any rules under this Act.

Provisions of section 198 of Sea Customs Act to apply to proceedings under this Act.

32. The provisions of section 198 of the Principal Act shall apply to all proceedings for anything purporting to have been done in pursuance of this Act.

Power to make rules.

33. (1) The Governor General in Council may from time to time make rules under this Act—

(a) prescribing the form of any return required by or under this Act and the particulars to be contained therein respectively, and the manner in which the same is to be verified, and all such other conditions in respect thereof as may be necessary;

(b) prescribing the form of the notice to be issued by the Collector under section 8;

(c) regulating the inspection of mills, and the powers and duties of Collectors and other officers in respect thereof;

(d) regulating the provision of warehouses under this Act, and the deposit and discharge of yarn therein and therefrom, and the powers and duties of the Collector in respect thereof;

(e) prescribing the records and books of account to be kept by owners of mills under this Act;

(f) prescribing arrangements under which the requirements of section 21 shall be deemed to have been sufficiently complied with; and

(g) generally for carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(2) The application of any such rule may be confined to any place or places specified therein.

Certain provisions of Sea Customs Act to be incorporated in this Part.

34. The provisions of sections 201, 204, 205 and 206 of the Principal Act shall be deemed to be incorporated in this Part.

Application of section 10 of Tariff Act to duties under this Act.

35. The provisions of section 10 of the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, VIII of 1894. shall apply to duties on cotton goods imposed under this Act.

PART II.

INLAND CUSTOMS DUTIES.

Levy of duties on cotton yarns and manufactures passing into British India from foreign territory.

36. (1) Duties of customs shall be levied at the rates for the time being prescribed in the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, upon VIII of 1894. cotton yarn, and upon cotton manufactures of all kinds, passing into British India out of any territory declared, under the power hereinafter in this section conferred, to be foreign territory.

(2) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare that any territory situated within or bordering on, but not forming part of, British India shall be deemed, for the purposes of this section, to be foreign territory.

(3) The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, prohibit or restrict the bringing of cotton yarns or cotton manufactures into British India from any such foreign territory, or may prescribe the routes by which alone they may be brought.

(4) The provisions of section 19A of the Principal Act shall apply to all goods brought or attempted to be brought into British India in contravention of any such notification.

Application of provisions of Sea Customs Act as to drawback to goods taxed under this Part.

37. The provisions of the Principal Act as to drawback on export shall apply to all goods upon which duty has been paid under this Part.

J. M. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the Imposition and Levy of certain Duties on Cotton Goods was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 27th December, 1894:—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to provide for the Imposition and Levy of certain Duties on Cotton Goods was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the list appended, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

2. We have revised the definition of Collector in section 2, with the object of showing on the face of the Bill that the Customs Collectors at the larger ports only are to perform the functions of the Collector under the Bill, and that elsewhere they may be discharged by the Collector of the district or by such officer as the Local Government may appoint.

3. We have so altered the first proviso to section 5 as to make it clear that it is the intention to exempt from duty all yarns which would, by mercantile usage, be reckoned as of the number of 20 or less, even though they may slightly exceed that number, that is, may weigh slightly less than the weight theoretically attributable to that number.

4. We have appended to sub-section (2) of section 6 a Schedule specifying the same tariff values for yarns dutiable under this Bill as those which are proposed for like yarns when imported by sea by the Bill to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, which is now before the Legislative Council.

5. We have added a sub-section to section 7 under which the first returns of yarns produced will not be required of mill-owners until the 15th February.

6. With the view of meeting, as far as possible, an objection taken to section 18 by the Bombay Millowners Association, we have altered the section so as to permit of yarns shipped for export being shown in the return for any month not later than that in which the yarn is shipped.

7. We have added an explanation to section 19 the effect of which will be to enable the drawback on yarn which has only been bleached or dyed or converted into sewing thread being recovered under this section.

8. In deference to representations made to us we have extended the periods within which, under section 21, drawback on export of cotton fabrics may be claimed to twelve months from the date of the manufacture of such fabrics, and to twelve months from the date on which the yarns in respect of which drawback is applied for have paid duty.

9. We have inserted an additional number in section 25 taken from the Bombay Salt Act, 1890, imposing a penalty on officers guilty of abusing their powers under the Bill.

10. We have inserted two new sections (section 31), imposing on mill-owners the duty of keeping such records and accounts as they may be required to do by rule, and (section 35), applying the provisions of section 10 of the Tariff Act, which prescribe rules as to payment of duty in the case of contracts for sale made before duty has been imposed, to duties imposed under this Bill.

11. We have added a sub-section to section 36 with the object of subjecting goods which may be imported in contravention of a notification issued under the section to the penalties imposed by section 19 A of the Sea Customs Act in the case of goods whose importation is prohibited under that Act.

12. The other alterations we have made in the Bill as introduced do not appear to us to be of sufficient importance to call for notice.

13. The publication ordered by the Council has been made as follows:—

In English,

Gazette.	Date.
Gazette of India	17th December, 1894.

14. We do not think that the measure has been so altered as to require republication, and we recommend that it be passed as now amended.

We regret we must dissent from the Report in so far as it relates to section 5, which fixes the limit of exemption from Excise Duty upon yarns at the count of 20 instead of 24, as proposed by us in the Select Committee.

PART V.

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 12th July, 1894:

No. 8 OF 1894.

A Bill to amend certain sections of the Code of Civil Procedure and to repeal certain sections of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872.

XIV of 1882. IV of 1872.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend certain sections of the Code of Civil Procedure and to repeal certain sections of the Punjab Laws Act; It is hereby enacted as follows:

Amendment of section 39, Act XIV, 1882.

1. In the third paragraph of section 39 of the said Code, between the words "of any High Court established by Royal Charter" and the words "shall be required," the words "or of the Chief Court of the Punjab" shall be inserted.

Amendment of section 180, Act XIV, 1882.

2. For the first and second paragraphs of section 180 of the said Code the following shall be substituted, namely:

"The other party shall then state his case and produce his evidence (if any), and may then address the Court generally on the whole case.

"The party beginning may then reply generally on the whole case."

Addition to section 260, Act XIV, 1882.

3. After the first paragraph of section 260 of the said Code the following shall be added, namely:

"Provided that no decree for restitution of conjugal rights shall be enforced by imprisonment of the defendant, unless the Court shall, for sufficient reasons to be stated in writing on the face of the order, think fit so to direct."

Substitution of new section for section 548, Act XIV, 1882.

4. For section 548 of the said Code the following shall be substituted, namely:

Registry of memorandum of appeal. [See s. 58.]

"548. When a memorandum of appeal is admitted, the appellant shall present as many copies thereof on plain paper as there are respondents.

"The chief ministerial or other proper officer of the Appellate Court shall sign such memorandum of appeal and copies, if on examination he finds them to be correct, and shall endorse thereon the date of presentation, and shall thereupon register the appeal in a book to be kept for the purpose.

"Such book shall be called the Register of Appeals."

Addition to section 553, Act X, 1882.

5. At the end of section 553 of the said Code the following shall be added, namely:

[See s. 65.]

"Every notice under this section served on any respondent or his pleader shall be accompanied by one of the copies of the memorandum of appeal mentioned in section 548."

Repeal of sections 17 and 18 of Punjab Laws Act. IV of 1872.

6. Sections 17 and 18 of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, as amended by Act XII of 1878, are hereby repealed.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THIS Bill is mainly designed to meet certain inconveniences which have been brought to the notice of the Government of India from time to time as arising in practice under certain sections of the Code of Civil Procedure.

2. The repeal of sections 17 and 18 of the Punjab Laws Act has been recommended by the Chief Court and the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab on the ground that the sections are no longer necessary in view of section 214 of the Code of Civil Procedure and on the further ground that hardship may in particular cases be caused by them.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 12th July, 1894:

No. 9 OF 1894.

A Bill to amend the Cantonments Act, 1889.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Cantonments Act, 1889; It is hereby enacted as follows:

XIII of 1889.

Title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Cantonments Act Amendment Act, 1894.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India; and

(3) It shall come into force at once.

Addition to section 26 of Act XIII of 1889.

2. To section 26 of the Cantonments Act, 1889, the following shall be added, namely:

"Provided that no such rule shall contain any regulation enjoining or permitting any compulsory or periodical examination of any woman by medical officers or others for the purpose of ascertaining whether she is or is not suffering from any venereal disease, or is or is not fit for prostitution, or any regulation for the licensing or registration of prostitutes, or sanctioning the practice of prostitution, in any cantonment."

Insertion of new section after section 26 of Act XIII of 1889.

3. After the last-mentioned section the following section shall be inserted:

Penalty for subjecting a woman to compulsory examination.

"26A. Any public servant who shall subject any woman to compulsory examination for any of the purposes mentioned in the proviso to section 26 shall be liable, on conviction thereof in a summary way before the Cantonment Magistrate, to fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or to such imprisonment in default of payment thereof as is provided by the Indian Penal Code, section 67." XLV of 1860.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

ON the 26th July, 1888, the Government of India, in compliance with a despatch from the Secretary of State dated the 14th June, 1888, issued certain orders with a view of putting an end to the registration and compulsory examination of prostitutes in cantonments. It has been discovered that these orders have not in all cases proved effectual for the purpose, and the Secretary of State in Council has directed that the Bill to which this Statement is annexed should be introduced in the Legislative Council for the purpose of prohibiting under penalties such examination for the future. The Bill is submitted accordingly in compliance with the directions of Her Majesty's Government.

A Bill to amend the Articles of War for the government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Articles of War for the government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces; It is hereby enacted as follows:

Title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Articles of War Act, 1894; and

(2) It shall come into force on the first day of 1894.

V of 1869.

2. Part I, clause (c), of the Indian Articles of War (hereinafter called "the said Articles"), is hereby repealed.

Repeal of clause (c) of Part I of Indian Articles of War.

3. For Part I, clause (d), of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new clause for clause (d) of Part I.

"(d).—Application of Articles.

"These Articles shall apply to all—

(a) persons to whom they actually apply at present;

(b) persons commissioned or gazetted as Native officers, or gazetted as warrant officers, of Her Majesty's Indian Forces;

(c) medical subordinates;

(d) persons attested under these Articles;

(e) unattested recruits;

(f) persons enrolled under these Articles;

(g) persons, not otherwise subject to military law, who, on active service, in camp, on the march, or at any frontier post specified by the Governor General in Council by notification in this behalf, are employed by, or are in the service of, or are followers of, or accompany any portion of, Her Majesty's Indian Forces:

Provided as follows:

if any person claims to belong to a class to which the Army Act is; and these Articles are not, applicable, the burden of proving that he belongs to that class shall lie upon him." 44 & 45 Vict., c. 58.

4. For Part I, clause (e), of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new clause for clause (e) of Part I.

"(e).—Definitions.

"In these Articles, unless there is something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) 'notification' means a notification published in the official Gazette:

(2) 'prescribed' means prescribed by rules made by the Governor General in Council or by any authority empowered by him in this behalf:

(3) 'British officer' means an officer holding a commission in Her Majesty's land forces, but does not include an honorary commissioned officer:

(4) 'Native officer' means an officer commissioned or gazetted as an officer holding a Native rank in Her Majesty's Indian Forces:

(5) 'officer' means a British officer or Native officer, but does not include a warrant officer or non-commissioned officer:

(6) 'medical subordinate' means a senior hospital assistant, a hospital assistant of the first, second or third class, and a sub-hospital assistant, but does not include an officer:

(7) 'superior officer,' when used in relation to a person subject to these Articles, includes a warrant officer, a non-commissioned officer and an acting non-commissioned officer:

(8) 'soldier' includes a non-commissioned officer and any armed person doing duty in the ranks of Her Majesty's Indian Forces:

(9) 'recruit' means a person enlisted for enrolment in any corps or department as a soldier:

(10) 'corps' means a unit of command, such as a regiment of cavalry, a regiment or battalion of infantry, a battery of artillery, and any other separate body of troops which is declared by the Governor General in Council by general or special order to be a corps for the purposes of these Articles; it also includes an army hospital corps and a transport corps:

(11) 'department' includes any division or branch of a department:

(12) 'military reward' means any gratuity or annuity for long service or good conduct; it also includes any good-conduct pay or pension and any other pecuniary reward:

(13) 'enemy' includes all armed mutineers, armed rebels, armed rioters and pirates:

(14) 'active service,' as applied to a person subject to these Articles, means the time during which such person is attached to or forms part of a force which is engaged in operations against an enemy, or is engaged in military operations in a country or place wholly or partly occupied by an enemy, or is in military occupation of any foreign country:

(15) the expression 'India' means British India, together with any territories of any Prince or Chief under the suzerainty of Her Majesty exercised through the Governor General in Council or through any Governor in Council or other officer subordinate to the Governor General in Council: and the expression 'British India' means all territories and places within Her Majesty's dominions which are for the time being governed by Her Majesty through the Governor General in Council or through any Governor in Council or other officer subordinate to the Governor General in Council:

(16) the expression 'general officer of the Command' means the general officer commanding the forces in a Command: and the expression 'Command' means one of the principal portions into which the army of India is, for the time being, divided:

(17) 'commanding officer,' used in any provision of these Articles with reference to any separate portion of Her Majesty's forces or to any department, means the officer whose duty it is under the Army Regulations, India, or, in the absence of any such Regulation, by the custom of the service, to discharge with respect to that portion of the forces or that department the functions of commanding officer in regard to matters of the description referred to in that provision:

(18) 'military custody' means the arrest or confinement of a person, according to the usages of the service:

(19) 'court-martial' means a court-martial held under these Articles:

(20) 'criminal court' means a court of ordinary criminal justice in British India, or established or continued elsewhere by the authority of the Governor General in Council:

(21) 'civil offence' means an offence which if committed in British India would be triable by a criminal court: and

(22) expressions occurring in the Indian Penal Code and used in these Articles shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them by that Code." XLV of 1860.

5. For Part I, clause (f), of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new clause for clause (f) of Part I.

"(f).—Saving of certain Regulations.

"Nothing in these Articles shall affect any regulations by which the respective offices and powers of cantonment magistrates and officers in charge of the police in cantonments are defined and controlled."

6. For Part II, Title I, of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new title for Title I of Part II.

"TITLE I.—ENROLMENT, ATTESTATION, DISMISSAL AND DISCHARGE.

"Article 1.—(1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification, declare what persons or classes of persons shall be enrolled only, or be both enrolled and attested, respectively.

Enrolment and attestation.

(2) A person shall be deemed to be enrolled under these Articles when his name has, with his consent, been entered in the prescribed manner on the list of a corps or department of Her Majesty's Indian Forces.

Mode of enrolment.

(3) Subject to the provisions of this article with respect to recruits, every person to be attested under these Articles shall be taken before the prescribed civil or military officer, and that officer shall read and explain to him, or cause to be read and explained to him in his presence, the questions set forth in the prescribed form of attestation, and such other matters (if any) as may be prescribed; and, after having cautioned him that if he makes a false answer to any question set forth in the attestation form he will be liable to be punished as provided by these Articles, shall record the answer to each question, and shall, if he is satisfied that the person fully understands the questions, and that the answer has been correctly recorded opposite each question, and if he perceives no impediment, administer to the person an affirmation or oath in the prescribed form.

Mode of attestation.

(4) The form of affirmation or oath prescribed under this article shall contain a promise that the person to be attested will be faithful to Her Majesty, Her heirs and successors, and that he will serve in Her Majesty's Indian Forces and go wherever he is ordered by land or sea, and that he will obey all commands of any officer set over him, even to the peril of his life.

(5) When a recruit is reported fit for duty, an affirmation or oath in the same form shall be administered to him in the prescribed manner by the commanding officer in front of the corps or such portion thereof or such members of the department as shall be present.

(6) After administering the affirmation or oath, the officer shall authenticate the attestation paper by his signature, and the person shall then be deemed to have been attested.

(7) Subject to any rules which may be prescribed, the Commander-in-Chief in India, or the general officer of the Command, may direct that any persons to whom these Articles apply as attested persons shall, for the purposes of these Articles, be deemed to be enrolled, and that any persons to whom these Articles apply as enrolled persons shall, for the purposes of these Articles, be deemed to be attested.

Treatment of enrolment and attestation as of same effect in certain cases.

"Article 2.—(1) Subject to the provisions of the Army Act, the Governor General in Council may, by notification, direct that persons of any class subject to these Articles shall, for any of the purposes of these Articles, be deemed to be Native officers, warrant officers or non-commissioned officers; and,

44 & 45 Vict., c. 58. Rank and subordination.

(2) Subject as aforesaid, any prescribed authority may issue an order giving a like direction with respect to any such person.

(3) Any notification or order issued under this article may be cancelled by the authority issuing the same; and,

(4) Subject as aforesaid, any person of the said classes with respect to whom no such notification or order is in force shall, so far as may be, be deemed for all the purposes of these Articles to be of a rank inferior to that of a non-commissioned officer.

(5) Should any question arise as to the rank of any other person subject to these Articles, or as to whether any such person is above or below a specified rank, the decision of the Governor General in Council thereon shall be conclusive.

(6) Every person subject to these Articles shall, for the purposes thereof, be deemed to be under the commanding officer of the corps or department (if any) to which he is attached, and, if not attached to any corps or department, under any officer who may for the time being be named as his commanding officer by the general or other officer commanding the force with which such person may for the time being be serving, or of any other prescribed officer, or, if no such officer is named or prescribed, under the said general or other officer commanding;

Provided that a general or other officer commanding shall not place any person under an officer of official rank inferior to his own if there is present at the place where such person is any officer of higher rank under whom he can be placed.

"Article 3.—(1) Every commissioned officer shall be liable to dismissal from the service by the sentence of a general court-martial, and to dismissal or discharge by order of the Governor General of India in Council, or of the Commander-in-Chief in India, or of the general officer of the Command to which he belongs.

Dismissal and discharge of commissioned officers.

(2) A commissioned officer dismissed under these articles shall forfeit all claim to pension.

"Article 4.—(1) Every person subject to these Articles, other than a commissioned officer, shall be liable to—

Dismissal and discharge of other persons.

(a) dismissal from the service by the sentence of any court-martial empowered to try him, and

(b) dismissal or discharge from the service, by order of the Governor General of India in Council, or of the Commander-in-Chief in India, or of the general officer of the Command to which he belongs, or of the general officer commanding the division or district in which he is serving, or, if he belongs to a force not attached to a command, by order of the officer commanding such force.

(2) Every person so dismissed shall forfeit all claim to pension.

"Article 5.—(1) Every attested person of or below the rank of non-commissioned officer who has been dismissed or discharged from the service, and who subsequently re-enters the service without at the time stating the fact of his dismissal or discharge, or showing his certificate of dismissal or discharge, may be dismissed the service by the officer commanding the corps or department with which he is serving; and

Attested person dismissed or discharged and re-enlisting or making false answer at his attestation.

(2) Every attested person of or below the rank of non-commissioned officer who is discovered to have made a wilfully false answer to any question set forth in the attestation paper which has been put to him by, or by direction of, the officer before whom he appears for the purpose of being attested, shall, on conviction by court-martial, be liable to suffer imprisonment (with hard labour and with or without solitary confinement) or such less punishment as is in these Articles mentioned.

"Article 6.—Every attested person who is dismissed or discharged from the service shall be furnished by his commanding officer with a certificate, in the English language and in the mother-tongue of such person (when his mother-tongue is not English), setting forth—

Certificate to person dismissed or discharged.

(a) the authority dismissing or discharging him;

(b) the cause of his dismissal or discharge; and

(c) the full period of his service in the army."

7. In article 7, sentence 1, of the said Articles, the words "in any regiment, corps, detachment or guard" are hereby repealed.

23. For articles 72 to 74 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 72 to 74.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 24-31.)

"Article 72.—For the purposes of these Articles, there shall be five kinds of courts-martial, that is to say—

Courts-martial and the kinds thereof.

(1) General courts-martial.	Hereinafter called ordinary courts-martial.
(2) District court-martial.
(3) Regimental courts-martial.
(4) Summary general courts-martial.	Hereinafter called extraordinary courts-martial.
(5) Summary courts-martial.

"Ordinary Courts-martial.

"Article 73.—(1) The following authorities shall have power to convene general or district courts-martial, namely:

Power to convene ordinary courts-martial.

(a) the Commander-in-Chief in India,

(b) the general officer of the Command,

(c) any officer empowered in that behalf by warrant of the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command.

(2) The power of convening general or district courts-martial may be granted under clause (1), sub-clause (c), subject to such restrictions, reservations, exceptions and conditions as the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command granting the power may think fit.

(3) Any warrant under this article for convening general or district courts-martial, or either of them, may be addressed to an officer by name, or by designation of his office, or partly in one way and partly in the other, and may or may not, according to the terms thereof and the mode in which it is addressed, be limited to an officer named or be extended to any person for the time being performing the duties of such officer, or to the successors in command of such officer.

"Article 74.—A general court-martial shall, if held in British India, consist of not less than seven officers unless that number, due regard being had to the public service, is not available, in which case the court may consist of not less than five officers."

Composition of general courts-martial.

24. Articles 75, 77, 78 and 79 of the said Articles are hereby repealed.

Repeal of articles 75, 77, 78 and 79.

25. In article 76 of the said Articles, for the words "reduction to the ranks" the words "reduction to a lower grade or to the ranks" shall be substituted.

Amendment of article 76.

26. For articles 80 and 81 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 80 and 81.

"Article 80.—A district court-martial shall consist of not less than five officers, unless that number, due regard being had to the public service, is not available, in which case the court may consist of not less than three officers.

Composition of district court-martial.

"Article 81.—A district court-martial may, when necessary, be composed wholly of officers of the corps or department to which the accused belongs."

Amendment of article 82.

28. In the last-mentioned article, for the words "one year" the words "two years" and for the words "reduction to the ranks" the words "reduction to a lower grade or to the ranks" shall be respectively substituted.

Further amendment of same article.

29. After article 82 of the said Articles the following article shall be inserted, namely:

Insertion of new article after article 82.

"Article 82A.—Whenever a general or district court-martial is ordered to be composed of the smaller number of officers specified in article 74 or 80, the order convening the court shall expressly state that the larger number of officers is not, due regard being had to the public service, available; and that statement shall be conclusive evidence of the fact so stated."

Convening order to state if larger number of officers is not available.

30. For articles 84 and 85 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 84 and 85.

"Article 84.—A regimental court-martial shall consist of not less than three officers.

Composition of regimental court-martial.

"Article 85.—A regimental court-martial shall have power to try all persons subject to these Articles and not above the rank of non-commissioned officer—

Powers of such court.

(a) for any offence triable by a court-martial under these Articles, except an offence punishable, under articles 7 to 23 (both inclusive), articles 59 to 65 (both inclusive), or articles 171 to 173 (both inclusive), and,

(b) with the previous sanction of the prescribed authority, for any of the offences so excepted.

"Article 85A.—A regimental court-martial shall have power to pass any sentence which might have been passed by a district court-martial for the like offence other than suspension from rank, pay and allowances:

Powers as to sentences of such courts.

Provided that no sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding six months, nor any of the additional punishments specified in article 135, shall be passed by a regimental court-martial."

31. For articles 86 to 89 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 86 to 89.

"Article 86.—(1) The officers composing a court-martial convened under the foregoing provisions shall, except as hereinafter provided, be Native officers.

Native and British officers when to be nominated.

(2) The Governor General in Council, or the Commander-in-Chief in India, or the general officer of the Command, or any officer authorized by the Governor General in Council, or by the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command, may direct that any court-martial convened under these Articles shall be composed of British instead of Native officers.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Section 32.)

(3) Any person subject to these Articles, who is under orders for trial by any court-martial, may claim to be tried by British officers.

(4) In all cases the right of making such a claim shall, before the court is convened, be explained to the person under orders for trial by the commanding officer, or some officer deputed by him in this behalf, and, when such a claim is made, the court shall be constituted accordingly.

(5) A court-martial convened for the trial of any person subject to these Articles, and serving with any British corps or detachment, may be composed of British officers if, in the opinion of the officer convening the court (such opinion to be expressed in the order convening the court and to be conclusive), Native officers are not available with due regard to the public service for service on the court.

"Article 87.—(1) Every general court-martial shall be attended by a judge advocate.

Judge advocate and appointment of superintending officer for Native court-martial.

(2) If no officer of the judge advocate general's department is available, the officer convening the court shall appoint a fit person to act as judge advocate at the trial.

(3) No person under orders for trial or under trial by any court-martial may, without the leave of the court, object to any person acting or professing to act as judge advocate.

(4) A British officer of not less than four years' service, hereinafter called the superintending officer, shall be appointed to superintend the proceedings of every court-martial composed of Native officers which is not attended by a judge advocate.

"Article 88.—(1) At every court-martial the senior officer shall sit as president without special appointment as such.

President.

(2) In case of the death or unavoidable absence of the president, the next senior officer shall take the place of the president, without special appointment as such, and the trial shall proceed if the court is still composed of not less than the smallest number of officers of which it is required by these Articles to consist.

"Article 89.—No finding or sentence of a general, district or regimental court-martial shall be valid, except so far as it may be confirmed as provided by these Articles.

Finding and sentence invalid without confirmation.

"Article 89A.—(1) The following authorities shall have power to confirm the findings and sentences of general and district courts-martial:

By whom findings and sentence may be confirmed or otherwise disposed of.

(a) the Commander-in-Chief in India;

(b) the general officer of the Command, as regards troops under his command wherever stationed;

(c) the officer commanding a force not attached to a Command;

(d) any officer empowered in that behalf by warrant of the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command:

Provided that, except on active service or beyond the limits of India, no warrant issued under this article shall be deemed to empower an officer to confirm any finding or sentence in the case of an officer, medical subordinate or warrant officer, or a sentence of death, transportation or imprisonment for a term exceeding seven years, in any case whatever.

(2) The provisions of article 73, clauses (2) and (3), shall, with the necessary modifications, apply to warrants issued under this article.

(3) The officer who convenes a regimental court-martial or the officer having authority to convene such court-martial, at the date of the submission of the finding and sentence thereof, shall have power to confirm the same.

"Article 89B.—Subject to such restrictions as may be contained in any warrant issued under the last preceding article, the confirming officer may, when confirming the sentence of a court-martial, mitigate or remit the punishment thereby awarded, or commute that punishment for any less punishment or punishments to which the offender might have been sentenced by the court-martial:

Power of confirming officer to mitigate, remit or commute sentence.

Provided that a sentence of transportation shall not be commuted to a sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding the term of transportation awarded by the court."

32. For articles 90 to 97 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 90 to 97.

"Extraordinary Courts-Martial.

"Article 90.—The following authorities shall have power to convene a summary general court-martial, and such a court-martial may be convened—

Convening of summary general courts-martial.

(a) in any place, whether within or beyond British India, by an officer empowered in this behalf by an order of the Governor General in Council or of the Commander-in-Chief in India or of the general officer of the Command;

(b) by an officer commanding any detached portion of Her Majesty's troops upon active service when, in his opinion, it is not practicable, with due regard to discipline and the exigencies of the service, that an offence should be tried by an ordinary general court-martial.

"Article 91.—(1) A summary general court-martial shall consist of not less than three officers, who may be either British or Native, or both British and Native officers, as the officer convening the court thinks fit.

Composition of summary general courts-martial.

(2) Such court may be convened and the proceedings thereof be recorded in accordance with the form in the appendix to these Articles:

Provided that the convening officer may, in respect of any such trial by such court, specially order the evidence, together with the prisoner's statement in defence, to be fully recorded in writing.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 33-35.)

"Article 92.—A summary general court-martial shall have all the powers of a general court-martial, and, subject to any instructions contained in the order convening the court, its sentence shall be valid, and may be carried out forthwith if it does not exceed that which a district court-martial is empowered to pass, and in any other case when confirmed by the authority convening the court.

Powers of a summary general court-martial.

By whom a summary court-martial may be held.

"Article 93.—(1) A summary court-martial may be held—

(a) by the commanding officer, being a combatant officer, of any corps or department of Her Majesty's Indian forces, or of any detachment of those forces;

(b) by the commanding officer of any British corps or detachment to which Native combatant details subject to these Articles are attached.

(2) At every summary court-martial the officer holding the trial shall alone constitute the court, but the proceedings shall be attended throughout by two other officers, British or Native, who shall not, as such, be affirmed or sworn.

Constitution of a summary court-martial.

(3) The proceedings shall be recorded in the English language, and, when closed, shall be signed by the officer holding the trial, and by the officers attending thereat.

(4) A summary court-martial may try any person subject to these Articles and under the command of the officer holding the court, except an officer, medical subordinate or warrant officer.

Persons triable by a summary court-martial.

(5) Any member of an army hospital corps may be tried by summary court-martial by any officer authorised in this behalf by the officer commanding the division, district, brigade or station to which the alleged offender belongs.

"Article 94.—A summary court-martial may try any offence punishable under any of these Articles:

Offences triable by a summary court-martial.

Provided that when there is no grave reason for immediate action, and reference can, without detriment to discipline, be made to superior authority, a summary court-martial shall not try without such reference any of the following offences, namely:

(a) any offence punishable under any of the articles 7 to 23, both inclusive, or articles 50 to 65, both inclusive, or article 171;

(b) any offence against the officer holding the court.

"Article 95.—(1) A summary court-martial held by the commanding officer of a corps or department may pass any sentence which can be passed under these Articles, except a sentence of death or transportation, or of imprisonment for a term exceeding one year.

Powers of a summary court-martial.

(2) A summary court-martial held by any other officer may pass any sentence which can be passed under these Articles, except a sentence of death or transportation, or of imprisonment for a term exceeding six months.

"Article 96.—The finding and sentence of a summary court-martial shall not require to be confirmed, but may be carried out at once:

Finding and sentence of a summary court-martial.

Provided that, if the officer holding the trial is of less than five years' service, he shall not, except on active service, carry into effect any sentence until it has received the approval of a superior military officer commanding not less than a corps.

"Article 97.—The proceedings of every summary court-martial shall, without delay, be forwarded to the officer commanding the district, or the division or brigade, within which the trial was held, or to the prescribed officer: and such officer or the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command, or, when the court is held in a force not attached to a Command, the officer commanding the force, may, for reasons based on the merits of the case, but not on any merely technical grounds, set aside the proceedings."

Transmission of proceedings.

33. For article 100 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 100.

"Article 100.—(1) Whenever any person subject to these Articles is accused of any offence which his commanding or other superior officer considers should be tried by court-martial, such officer shall order the accused to be placed in military custody until he can be tried by a court-martial or is discharged by proper authority.

Arrest or confinement of accused.

(2) No such person shall be detained in military custody longer than is necessary for the purposes of justice."

34. Article 101 of the said Articles is hereby repealed.

Repeal of article 101.

35. For article 102 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 102.

"Article 102.—(1) An interpreter shall be appointed to every court-martial.

Interpreter.

(2) If no duly qualified interpreter is available at the station or place where the court-martial sits, the officer appointing the court, or the officer commanding in the district or place within or at which the trial is to be held, shall appoint any competent person to perform the duty of interpreter.

(3) When no other qualified or competent person is available, the superintending officer, or, in the case of an European court, the president, shall perform the duty of interpreter.

(4) In the case of a trial by a summary court-martial, the officer holding the trial, or one of the officers in attendance thereat, may perform the duty of interpreter if no other competent interpreter is available.

(5) No interpreter shall, as such, have a vote upon any matter."

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 36-44.)

36. For article 103 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for article 103.

"Article 103.—(1) When a court-martial after the commencement of the trial is reduced below the smallest number of officers of which it is by these Articles required to consist, it shall be deemed to be dissolved.

Dissolution of courts.

(2) If, on account of the illness of the prisoner before the finding, it is impossible to continue the trial, a court-martial shall be dissolved.

(3) Where a court-martial is dissolved under this article, the prisoner may be tried again.

"Article 103A.—The president of a court-martial may, on any deliberation among the members, cause the court to be cleared of all other persons.

Power to clear court.

"Article 103B.—The court may, when it thinks fit, view any place."

Power to view place.

37. In article 104 of the said Articles the words "general court-martial appointed under an Order in Council, or of any other" shall be omitted.

Amendment of article 104.

38. In article 107 of the said Articles, for the words "courts-martial, other than courts-martial appointed under an Order in Council, or summary" the word "ordinary" shall be substituted.

Amendment of article 107.

39. After article 108 of the said Articles the following article shall be inserted, namely:

Insertion of new article after article 108.

"Article 108A.—At a summary court-martial the interpreter shall make affirmation or oath down to the words 'published by authority' only."

Affirmation or oath of interpreter.

40. Article 114 of the said Articles is hereby repealed.

Repeal of article 114.

41. For article 116 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 116.

"Article 116.—(1) A prisoner charged before a court-martial with desertion may be found guilty of attempting to desert or of being absent without leave.

Conviction of an offence on charge of another.

(2) A prisoner charged before a court-martial with attempting to desert may be found guilty of desertion or of being absent without leave.

(3) A prisoner charged before a court-martial with any one of the following offences, that is to say, theft, dishonest misappropriation or conversion, criminal breach of trust, or dishonestly receiving or retaining stolen property, may be found guilty of any other of those offences.

(4) A prisoner charged before a court-martial with any other offence under these Articles may, on failure of proof of an offence having been committed under circumstances involving a more severe punishment, be found guilty of the same offence as having been committed under circumstances involving a less severe punishment."

42. For article 117 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 117.

"Article 117.—(1) When any person subject to these Articles has been convicted by a court-martial of any military offence, such court-martial shall enquire into, and receive and record evidence of, any previous convictions of such person, either by a court-martial or by a criminal court, and shall further enquire into and record the general character of such person.

Evidence of previous convictions and general character.

(2) Evidence received under this article may be either oral, or in the shape of entries in, or certified extracts from, court-martial books or other official records; and it shall not be necessary to prove the signature to such certified extracts, nor shall it be necessary to give notice before trial to the person tried that evidence as to his previous convictions or character will be received.

(3) At a summary court-martial the commanding officer holding the trial may, if he thinks fit, record any previous convictions against the offender and his general character, as of his own knowledge, instead of requiring them to be proved under the foregoing provisions of this article.

"Article 117A.—Subject to the provisions of the last foregoing article, the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, subject to such modifications thereof and to such additional rules of evidence as the Governor General in Council may, by notification, direct, shall apply to all proceedings before a court-martial."

General rule as to evidence.

I of 1872.

43. For articles 119 and 120 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 119 and 120.

"Article 119.—No sentence of death shall be passed by any court-martial without the concurrence of two-thirds at the least of the members of the court.

Majority requisite to sentence of death.

"Article 120.—(1) The finding or sentence of any court-martial may be once revised by order of the officer authorized to dispose of the proceedings, and, on such revision, the court, if so directed by him, may take additional evidence.

Revision of finding or sentence.

(2) The court, on revision, shall consist of the same officers as were present when the original decision was passed, unless any of those officers shall be unavoidably absent.

(3) In case of such unavoidable absence the cause thereof shall be duly certified in the proceedings, and the court shall proceed with the revision, provided it still consists of the smallest number of officers of which such court is by these Articles required to consist."

44. For articles 122 to 124 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 122 to 124.

"Article 122.—(1) The judge advocate in the case of a general court-martial, and the officer ordering the trial in the case

Summoning witnesses and production of documents.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 45-49.)

of any other court-martial, may, by summons under his hand, require the attendance before the court, at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons, of any person either to give evidence or to produce any document or other thing.

(2) In the case of a witness amenable to military authority, the summons shall be sent to the officer actually commanding the corps, department or detachment to which he belongs, and such officer shall serve it upon him accordingly.

(3) In the case of any other witness, the summons shall be sent to the magistrate within whose jurisdiction he may be or reside, and such magistrate shall give effect to the summons as if the witness were required in the court of such magistrate.

(4) When a witness is required to produce any particular document or other thing in his possession or power, the summons shall describe it with convenient certainty.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, sections 123 and 124, or to apply to any letter, post-card, telegram or other document in the custody of the postal or telegraph authorities. I of 1872.

(6) If any document in such custody is, in the opinion of any district magistrate, chief presidency magistrate, high court or court of session, wanted for the purposes of any court-martial, such magistrate or court may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be, to deliver such document to such person as such magistrate or court may direct.

(7) If any such document is, in the opinion of any other magistrate or of any commissioner of police or district superintendent of police, wanted for any such purpose, he may require the postal or telegraph department, as the case may be, to cause search to be made for and to detain such document pending the orders of any such district magistrate, chief presidency magistrate or court.

"Article 123.—(1) Any witness duly summoned, and any person who commits any contempt of court in the presence of a court-martial, or any offence described in article 64, 75 or 79, shall, if subject to these Articles, be proceeded against as the court may direct. Contempts of court.

(2) If any such witness or person is not so subject, the president of the court-martial may certify the offence under his hand to the court of any magistrate within the local limits of whose jurisdiction it was committed, and the magistrate may thereupon take cognizance of the case, and, after hearing anything which the accused may desire to say, dispose of it as if the offence had been committed in a proceeding in the court of such magistrate.

"Article 124.—(1) No president or member of a court-martial, no judge advocate or superintending officer, no party to any proceeding before a court-martial or his legal practitioner or agent, and no witness acting in obedience to a summons to attend a court martial, shall, while proceeding to, attending on or returning from, a court-martial, be liable to arrest under civil or revenue process. Privileges of persons attending courts-martial.

(2) If any such person is arrested under any such process, he may be discharged by order of the court-martial."

45. Articles 125 to 129 of the said Articles are hereby repealed. Repeal of articles 125 to 129.

46. In article 130, clause (d), sentence 1, of the said Articles, for the words "one year" the words "two years" shall be substituted. Amendment of article 130.

Preservation of proceedings of courts-martial.

(2) The proceedings of regimental and summary courts-martial shall be preserved for three years with the records of the corps or department to which the prisoner belonged.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 63-71.)

(3) Every person tried by a court-martial shall be entitled, on demand at any time after the confirmation of the finding and sentence where such confirmation is required, and before the proceedings are destroyed, to obtain from the officer or person having the custody of the proceedings a copy thereof, including the proceedings upon revision, if any, upon payment for the same at the prescribed rate."

Substitution of new article for article 162.

63. For article 162 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Enquiry on absence of person subject to Articles.

"Article 162.—(1) When any person subject to these Articles has been absent without due authority from his duty for a period of sixty days, a court of enquiry shall, as soon as practicable, be assembled, and, upon affirmation or oath administered in the prescribed manner, shall enquire respecting the absence of the person, and the deficiency, if any, of property of the Government entrusted to his care, or of his arms, ammunition, equipments, instruments, clothing or necessaries; and, if satisfied of the fact of such absence without due authority or other sufficient cause, the Court shall declare such absence and the period thereof, and the said deficiency, if any; and the commanding officer of the corps or department to which the person belongs shall enter in the court-martial book of the corps or department a record of the declaration.

(2) If the person declared absent does not afterwards surrender, or is not apprehended, the record shall have the legal effect of a conviction of desertion.

(3) If the person declared absent surrenders or is apprehended, the record or a copy thereof, purporting to bear the signature of the officer having the custody of the court-martial book, shall, on the trial of the person for desertion, be presumptive evidence of the facts therein recorded; and, on proof of the identity of the prisoner with the person therein mentioned, he may be found guilty of desertion and of the deficiency, if any, therein recorded."

Amendment of article 163.

64. For the last paragraph of article 163 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"Such recommendation, duly confirmed by the Commander-in-Chief in India, or by the general officer of the Command, or the officer commanding any force not attached to a Command to which he belongs, or by any general officer under whose command the person is serving, shall entitle him to receive such arrears and reckon service accordingly."

Substitution of new article for article 164.

65. For article 164 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Reduction to lower grade or ranks.

"Article 164.—The Commander-in-Chief in India, the general officer of the Command, the officer commanding any force not attached to a command, and the officer commanding any district or division or brigade, shall respectively have power to reduce to a lower grade or to the ranks any non-commissioned officer under his command."

Amendment of article 165.

66. In article 165 of the said Articles the words "No such minor punishment shall be awarded by a court-martial, and," the words "or of the Commander-in-Chief of the Presidency, as the case may be," and the words "Whenever a soldier is convicted by a court-martial, his good-conduct pay shall cease" shall be omitted; and for the words "either by order of the commanding officer or by sentence of a court-martial" the words "by order of the commanding officer" shall be substituted.

Amendment of article 166.

Amendment of article 169.

69. In the second paragraph of article 169 of the said Articles, for the words "warrant officer" the words "non-commissioned officer" shall be substituted.

Repeal of part of article 170.

70. The second and third paragraphs of article 170 of the said Articles are hereby repealed.

Substitution of new articles for articles 171 to 175.

71. For articles 171 to 175 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"Civil Offences.

Military jurisdiction with respect to civil offences.

"Article 171.—Every person subject to these Articles who, at any place beyond British India commits any civil offence shall be deemed to be guilty of an offence against military law, and if charged therewith under this article shall, subject to the provisions of these Articles, be liable to be tried for the same by court-martial at any place, whether within or beyond British India, and on conviction to be punished as follows, that is to say:

(a) if the offence is one which would be punishable under the law of British India with death or with transportation, or with imprisonment for a term exceeding three years, he shall be liable to suffer any punishment assigned for the offence by the law of British India; and

(b) in other cases, he shall be liable to suffer any punishment assigned for the offence by the law of British India or such punishment as might be awarded to him in pursuance of these Articles in respect of an act to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.

Extension of article 171 to certain civil offences.

"Article 172.—The Governor General in Council may, by notification, extend the last foregoing article to civil offences or any class of those offences committed by a person subject to these Articles when on active service in British India, and may cancel any such notification.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Section 72.)

Certain offences when triable by military law.

"Article 173.—Every person subject to these Articles who, whether within or beyond British India, commits or attempts to commit or abets the commission of any of the following offences against any person subject to military law, that is to say, murder, culpable homicide or any offence punishable under any of the sections 223 to 335 (both inclusive) or section 506 of the Indian Penal Code, shall be deemed to be guilty of an offence against military law, and if charged under this article with any such offence shall, subject to the provisions of these Articles, be liable to be tried by court-martial at any place whether within or without British India, and on conviction shall be liable to suffer any punishment assigned for the offence by the said Code.

XLV of 1860.

Jurisdiction over certain offences.

"Article 174.—When under any of the foregoing Articles a criminal court and a court-martial have each jurisdiction in respect of an offence, it shall be in the discretion of the prescribed military authority to decide before which court the proceedings shall be instituted, and, if that authority decides that they shall be instituted before a court-martial, to direct that the accused person shall be detained in military custody.

Power of criminal court to require delivery of offender.

"Article 175.—(1) When a criminal court having jurisdiction is of opinion that proceedings ought to be instituted before itself in respect of any alleged offence, it may, by written notice, require the convening authority or the prescribed military authority at his option either to deliver over the offender to the nearest magistrate to be proceeded against according to law or to postpone proceedings pending a reference to the Governor General in Council.

(2) In every such case the said authority shall either deliver over the offender in compliance with the requisition or shall forthwith refer the question as to the court before which the proceedings are to be instituted for the determination of the Governor General in Council, whose order upon such reference shall be final."

Substitution of new articles for articles 176 to 179.

72. For articles 176 to 179 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"TITLE VI.—PROPERTY OF DECEASED PERSONS AND DESERTERS.

Property of deceased persons, deserters and lunatics.

"Article 176.—The following rules are enacted respecting the disposal of the property of every person who belongs to a class subject to these articles who dies, is killed in the field, or deserts:—

(1) The commanding officer shall secure all the moveable property that is on the spot, and cause an inventory thereof to be made, and draw any pay and allowances due to the deceased or deserter.

(2) In the case of a deceased person who has left in a Government Savings Bank (including any Post Office Savings Bank, however named) a deposit not exceeding one thousand rupees, the commanding officer may, if he thinks fit, require the secretary or other proper officer of the bank to pay the deposit to him forthwith notwithstanding anything in any departmental rules; and, after the payment thereof in accordance with such requisition, no person shall have any right in respect of the deposit except as hereinafter provided.

(3) In the case of a deceased person whose representative is on the spot and has given security for the payment of the regimental debts (if any) of the deceased, the commanding officer shall deliver over the property and the amount of the deposit (if any) received under clause (2) of this article to that representative.

(4) In the case of a deceased person whose estate is not dealt with under clause (3) of this article, and in the case of any deserter, the commanding officer shall cause the property to be sold by public auction, and shall pay the regimental debts and other debts in camp or quarters (if any), and in the case of a deceased person the expenses of his funeral ceremonies, from the proceeds of the sale and the amount of the deposit (if any) received under clause (2) of this article.

(5) The surplus, if any, shall in the case of a deceased person be paid to his representative, if any, or in the event of no claim to such surplus being established within twelve months after the death, then the same shall be remitted to the prescribed officer.

(6) In the case of the sale of the effects of a deserter, the amount remaining in the hands of the commanding officer shall be forthwith remitted to the prescribed officer.

Disposal of certain property without production of probate, etc.

"Article 177.—Property deliverable and money payable to the representative of a deceased person under the last foregoing article may, if the total value or amount thereof does not exceed one thousand rupees, and if the prescribed officer thinks fit, be delivered or paid to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it or to administer the estate of the deceased, without requiring the production of any probate, letters of administration, certificate or other such conclusive evidence of title; and such delivery or payment shall be a full discharge to those ordering or making the same and to the Secretary of State for India in Council from all further liability in respect of the property or money; but nothing in this article shall affect the rights of any executor or administrator or other representative, or of any creditor, of a deceased person against any person to whom such delivery or payment has been made.

Meaning of desertion in article 176.

"Article 178.—A person shall be deemed to have deserted within the meaning of article 176 who has been convicted of desertion, or who has been illegally absent from duty for a period of sixty days and has not subsequently surrendered or been apprehended.

Application of article 178 to lunatics.

"Article 179.—The provisions of the last mentioned article shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply in the case of a person subject to these Articles becoming insane, such allowance being made for his support as is authorised by the Military Lunatics Act, 1877."

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Section 73.)

XI of 1877.

73. For Part III of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new Part for Part III.

"PART III.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Prohibition of second trial.

"Article 180.—When any person subject to these Articles has been acquitted or convicted of an offence by a court-martial or by a criminal court, or has been summarily dealt with for an offence under article 165 or 166, he shall not be liable to be again tried for the same offence by a court-martial or dealt with summarily in respect of it under either of the said Articles.

Exemption from arrest for debt.

"Article 181.—(1) No person subject to these Articles shall, so long as he belongs to Her Majesty's Indian Forces, be liable to be arrested for debt under any process issued by, or by the authority of, any civil or revenue court or revenue-officer.

(2) The judge of any such court may examine into any complaint made by such person or his superior officer of the arrest of such person contrary to the provisions of this article, and may by warrant under his hand discharge the person, and award reasonable costs to the complainant, who may recover those costs in like manner as he might have recovered costs awarded to him by a decree against the person obtaining the process.

(3) For the recovery of such costs no fee whatever shall be payable to the court by the complainant.

Property exempted from attachment.

"Article 182.—Neither the arms, clothes, equipment, accoutrements or necessaries of any person subject to these Articles, nor any animal used by him for the discharge of his duty, shall be seized; nor shall the pay and allowances of any such person or any part thereof be attached; by direction of any civil or revenue court or any revenue-officer, in satisfaction of any decree or order enforceable against him.

Application of the last two foregoing articles to reservists.

"Article 183.—Every person belonging to the Indian Reserve Forces shall, as an officer or soldier, be entitled to all the privileges accorded by the two last foregoing articles to a person subject to these Articles.

Priority of hearing by courts of cases in which Native officers and soldiers are concerned.

"Article 184.—(1) On the presentation to any court by or on behalf of any officer or soldier subject to these Articles of a certificate, from the proper military authority, of leave of absence having been granted to or applied for by him for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any suit or other proceeding in such court, the court shall, on the application of such officer or soldier, arrange, so far as may be possible, for the hearing and final disposal of such suit or other proceeding within the period of the leave so granted or applied for.

(2) The certificate from the proper military authority must state the first and last day of the leave or intended leave, and set forth a description of the case with respect to which the leave was granted or applied for.

(3) No fee whatever shall be payable to the court in respect of the presentation of any such certificate, or in respect of any application by or on behalf of any such officer or soldier for priority for the hearing of his case.

(4) Where the court is unable to arrange for the hearing and final disposal of the suit or other proceeding within the period of such leave or intended leave as aforesaid, it shall record its reasons for having been unable to do so, and shall cause a copy thereof to be furnished to such officer or soldier on his application, without any payment whatever by him in respect either of the application for such copy or of the copy itself.

(5) If in any case a question arises as to the proper military authority qualified to grant such certificate as aforesaid, such question shall be at once referred by the court to the nearest officer commanding a corps, whose decision shall be final.

Capture of deserters.

"Article 185.—(1) Whenever any person subject to these Articles deserts, the commanding officer of the corps, department or detachment to which he belongs shall give written information of the desertion to such civil, political or police authorities as, in his opinion, may be able to afford assistance towards the capture of the deserter; and such authorities shall thereupon take steps for the apprehension of the said deserter in like manner as if he were a person for whose capture a warrant had been issued by a magistrate, and shall deliver the deserter, when apprehended, to military custody.

(2) Such authorities shall also, by such means as appear to them best adapted for the purpose, prevent persons reasonably believed to be subject to these Articles from travelling through the areas subject to their jurisdiction, unless on duty, or furnished with a certificate of leave or discharge.

(3) Any police-officer may arrest, without warrant, any person reasonably believed to be travelling without authority, and shall bring him without delay before the nearest magistrate, or the nearest military commanding officer when no magistrate is readily accessible, to be dealt with according to law.

Apprehension of military offenders.

"Article 186.—Whenever any person subject to these Articles, who is accused of any military offence, is within the jurisdiction of any civil, political or police officer, such officer shall aid in the apprehension and delivery to military custody of such person upon receipt of a written application to that effect signed by his commanding officer.

Presumption as to signatures.

"Article 187.—In any proceeding under these Articles, any application, certificate, warrant, reply or other document purporting to be signed by an officer in the civil or military service of the Government shall, on production, be presumed to have been duly signed by the person and in the character by whom and in which it purports to have been signed, until the contrary is shown.

Portions of the forces under an Army Command.

"Article 188.—(1) The Governor General in Council may direct that for the purposes of these Articles—

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Section 74. Appendix.—Form for Record of Proceedings of Summary General Court-Martial.)

(a) any portion of Her Majesty's Indian Forces belonging to a Command shall, when serving beyond the ordinary limits of the Command, continue subject to the authority of the general officer of the Command; or

(b) any portion of those forces not belonging to a Command shall be attached to a Command, and shall be subject to the authority of the general officer of the Command.

(2) Except as may be directed under clause (1) of this article, any portion of the said forces shall, when serving in a Command, be for the purposes of these Articles subject to the authority of the general officer of that Command.

Saving of authority of Commander-in-Chief in India.

"Article 189.—Nothing in these Articles shall be deemed to affect the authority conferred on the Commander-in-Chief in India by any Act of Parliament or by Royal Warrant or Commission.

Power to make rules.

"Article 190.—(1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification, make rules consistent with these Articles to regulate the procedure of courts-martial and officers, military, civil or political, having any jurisdiction or authority under these Articles, and for the purpose of carrying these Articles into execution, so far as relates to the investigation, trial and punishment of offences triable under them.

(2) Rules under this article may provide among other matters for the following:

(a) the assembly and procedure of courts of enquiry;

(b) the convening and constituting of courts-martial;

(c) the adjournment, dissolution and sittings of courts-martial;

(d) the procedure to be observed in trials by courts-martial;

(e) the confirmation and revision of the findings and sentences of courts-martial;

(f) the carrying into effect sentences of courts-martial;

(g) the forms of orders to be made under the provisions of these Articles relating to courts-martial, transportation or imprisonment.

(3) The Governor General in Council may by any such rule confer on any court-martial or officer any power (other than a power to try an accused person or pass a sentence) conferred on a court of original jurisdiction by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882."

X of 1882.

WHEREAS it is provided by section 177 of the Army Act that where any force is raised in India any law in India may extend to the officers, non-commissioned officers and men belonging to such force, whether within or without the limits of India;

44 & 45 Vict., c. 58.

And whereas doubts exist whether certain forces which have been raised and are maintained in India under the authority of the Governor General in Council are or are not parts of Her Majesty's Indian Forces subject to the said Articles, and it is expedient to provide for the discipline and regulation of such forces;

It is hereby enacted as follows:

Powers to apply Articles to certain forces under the Government of India.

74. (1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification, apply all or any of the provisions of the said Articles as amended by this Act to any such force, and may cancel or modify any such notification.

(2) While any of the provisions of such Articles apply to any such force, the Governor General in Council may, by notification, direct by what authority any jurisdiction, powers or duties incident to the operation of those provisions shall be exercised or performed in respect to that force.

APPENDIX.

FORM FOR RECORD OF PROCEEDINGS OF SUMMARY GENERAL COURT-MARTIAL.

(See Manual of Military Law.)

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

ACT V of 1869, known as the Indian Articles of War, has long been felt to require amendment and re-casting, as much for the many defects and redundancies contained therein as for its faulty arrangement.

In 1887, the Indian Army Bill was drafted on the basis of the Army Act with the view to extending to the Native Army, as far as the difference of circumstances would permit, the improvements in military law introduced into the British Army by the Army Act and the preceding Discipline Act; but, as that Bill did not meet with the approval of the Secretary of State, a Bill for the amendment of Act V of 1869 was ordered, and is now submitted, dealing only with the more glaring defects of the Articles of War, following very greatly the proposals of the Indian Army Bill, 1887.

A further reason for the amendment of the Act arises from the passing by Parliament of the Madras and Bombay Armies Act, abolishing, from a date to be determined by the Governor General in Council, the Presidential system.

It has been deemed expedient to confer on the General Officers Commanding the Forces in the four Commands into which the Army of India is to be divided under the new system all the powers now held by the Commanders-in-Chief of Madras and Bombay.

The powers now held by the Governors of Madras and Bombay have been entirely rescinded.

In explaining some of the more important of the proposed amendments the order of the sections will, as far as possible, be adhered to.

1. Section 3 specifies the different classes of persons subject to military law. It will be observed that persons who are not gazetted, attested or enrolled, and who are included merely on the ground of their being servants or followers, are subject to the law only when on active service, in camp, on the march, or at a frontier post at which the Governor General in Council may direct that they shall be so subject.

It follows that all persons attached to the Native Army, whom it is desired to subject to military law in cantonments, must be either attested or enrolled, and it is left to executive action to determine what classes of persons shall be enrolled and what classes attested.

2. Section 6 provides that the Governor General in Council may declare what persons are to be enrolled only or be both enrolled and attested. It is apprehended that the distinction between attestation and enrolment has not been always attended to, and that persons may thus have been attested who ought to have been enrolled, and vice versâ; and, as the amendment makes certain substantial distinctions between attested and enrolled persons, it has been thought well to empower the Commander-in-Chief in India, and General Officers Commanding the Forces in the four Commands, subject to any rules which may be prescribed by the Governor General in Council, to direct that any persons who have been attested under the old law shall be deemed to be enrolled under the new law, and vice versâ.

Sub-section (3) provides that, except in the case of a recruit, who will be attested when reported fit for duty, the form of attestation should be gone through as soon as possible upon enlistment or enrolment before a civil or military officer; and it should be stated that the intention is that the officer should ordinarily be an officer invested with magisterial powers.

3. In connection with this amendment a question of some importance presents itself as to the mode of dealing with classes of Natives serving with British corps.

The persons in question may, in some cases, be mere servants, as, for example, the grass-cutters attached to a British cavalry regiment; but in other cases, like that of the mahouts attached to a British heavy battery, they may be said to constitute an integral part of the corps.

The necessity of subjecting some persons of those classes to military law appears to be recognized; and it seems clear and is further in accordance with the general intention shown in the Mutiny Acts and in the Army Act, and by the recent action of the Government of India in bringing native drivers of British mountain batteries and the men of the Transport Corps under the Indian Articles of War, that they should, if subject to military law, be subject to that form of it provided for the Native Army.

The Army Act, in so far as it applies Indian military law to any persons of these classes, applies it only to them in certain cases where they are on active service—see section 176 (10); and it is understood that the usual practice has been to enrol them or attest them in some manner under the Indian Articles and then treat them as persons who, though their services are placed at the disposal of the British corps, belong to the Native Army and are subject to the Indian Articles. The amendment will admit of this practice being continued, but with a slight additional formality, in the case of persons who are merely enrolled and not attested. In the case of these persons it would be impracticable to prescribe any more elaborate process for subjecting them to military law than the mere entry of their names on a list with their consent. This being so, the list on which they are entered ought to become specially appropriated to this purpose. If, for example, they were merely entered on the pay list of a British corps which might contain the names of other classes of Native servants whom it is not proposed to subject to military law, there would be nothing to distinguish their position from that of those other servants, and, as has occasionally happened, a doubt might arise on the important point as to whether they were or were not subject to military law. To prevent this the amendment provides that the name of a person to be enrolled must be entered on the list of some corps or department of Her Majesty's Indian Forces. Special lists will therefore have to be kept in such British corps in which Natives attached to the corps, and whom it is desired to subject to Indian military law, will be entered as belonging to some sort of servants, corps or department of Her Majesty's Indian Forces. This, it is believed, will not give much trouble, and it will put an end to the difficulties which now from time to time arise regarding the position of these persons.

4. Article 2 (1), (2), (3) and (4) empower certain authorities to confer upon servants and followers subject to military law a status higher than that of a soldier for the purposes of any provision of the law, and has been suggested by section 175 (8) of the Army Act; but, having regard to the great diversities of position among the numerous persons who accompany an army in this country in connection with the furnishing of supplies, for the performance of clerical work, as private traders, and otherwise, it has been thought well to give a wider discretion and to allow not merely the status of an officer but also that of a warrant officer or non-commissioned officer to be thus conferred.

5. Article 2 (5) empowers the Governor General in Council to determine in cases of doubt any question as to the rank of any person, or as to whether he is above or below a specified rank, and has been introduced with reference to those Articles which apply, e.g., to persons "below the rank of warrant officer" or "below the rank of non-commissioned officer." It is believed that, as a rule, there will be no difficulty in determining the rank of a person subject to the Articles of War; but, as in the case of some enrolled persons a doubt might arise, it has been deemed advisable to provide for its removal.

6. Articles 3 and 4.—Under the existing law, the discharge, as distinguished from the dismissal, of a commissioned officer or other person has been practically impossible. Dismissal carries with it forfeiture of all claim to pension. This has not unfrequently been found to be inconvenient. It may often be desirable to discharge a commissioned officer or soldier under conditions which do not call for a forfeiture of pension earned.

The proposed amendment will effect this end without injustice to the discharged person.

The further amendment in article 4, giving power to General Officers Commanding divisions or districts to dismiss or discharge, is thought to be very desirable. This power is exercised by the General Officers Commanding the Punjab Frontier Force and the Hyderabad Contingent under the existing law, and has worked well.

Courts-martial.

7. An effort, which necessarily leads to the repealing of a large number of the existing Articles, has been made to effect a considerable simplification. At present there are no less than ten different kinds of Courts-martial. The formal list in article 72 mentions only eight, but the headings "General Courts-martial" and "District Courts-martial" in that list each comprise two sub-divisions, General and District Courts-martial being practically different Courts when they are convened under the authority of an Order in Council from what they are when otherwise convened.

The amendment provides for only five descriptions of Courts-martial, namely:

General Courts-martial, District Courts-martial, and Regimental Courts-martial, and	which are called ordinary Courts-martial.
Summary General Courts-martial, and Summary Courts-martial,	which are called extraordinary Courts-martial.

8. The General Court-martial corresponds to the General Court-martial of the Army Act and the present Articles, and will consist of seven officers instead of nine; but, if the full complement of seven officers is not available, it may consist of any number not less than five.

The District Court-martial corresponds to the District and Garrison Courts-martial of the present Articles, but differs therefrom in the following particulars, that it is to consist of not less than five officers instead of seven, but, if so many as five are not available, it may consist of any number not less than three: that it is competent to try any offence under the Articles, and its power of awarding imprisonment is extended from one to two years. It will be observed that, as to this last particular, its powers have been put on the same footing as those of a District Court-martial under the Army Act.

The Regimental Court-martial corresponds to the Regimental Court-martial, Regimental Detachment Court-martial and Detachment Court-martial of the present Articles. Its powers remain the same, but it is to consist of three—instead of five—officers.

It is debarred from trying a considerable number of the more serious military offences and any civil offence without the permission of superior authority. It can try any person subject to the Articles and not above the rank of non-commissioned officer who is under the command of the convening officer.

9. Article 89.—Every finding and sentence of an ordinary Court-martial requires confirmation and will be valid only in so far as it is confirmed. This is in substantial accordance with the existing law, but an important change is proposed in article 89A, sub-section (1), which, except on active service or beyond the limits of India, makes sentences of death, transportation or imprisonment for a term exceeding seven years confirmable only by the Commander-in-Chief in India, the General Officer of a Command or an officer commanding a force not attached to a Command.

10. Of the extraordinary Courts-martial the Summary General Court-martial corresponds to the Field General Court-martial of the Army Act and to the Detachment General Court-martial of the present Articles. It is intended also to replace to some extent the General Court-martial which the present Articles allow to be convened under an Order in Council, but which has, as a matter of fact, now fallen into disuse. It may be convened by an officer specially empowered by the Government of India or by the Commander-in-Chief in India, or the General Officer of a Command, or by an Officer Commanding any detached portion of Her Majesty's troops on active service, when, in his opinion, it is not practicable, with due regard to discipline and the exigencies of the service, that an offence should be tried by an ordinary General Court-martial.

It has the same powers as a General Court-martial, and differs from a General Court-martial chiefly in this, that it may consist of any number of officers not less than three, that these officers may be either British officers or Native officers, or both combined, as the convening officer thinks fit, that it may be convened and the proceedings may be recorded in the form in which a Field General Court-Martial under the Army Act is convened and records its proceedings, that is, without recording the evidence, unless the convening officer specially directs the evidence together with the prisoner's statement in defence to be fully recorded; and that a sentence passed by it, and not exceeding that which might be passed by a District Court-martial, is valid without confirmation, while more severe sentences passed by it are confirmed by the convening officer.

11. The Summary Court-martial corresponds to the Summary Court-martial of the present Articles. It is an institution peculiar to Indian military law. It may be held by the Commanding Officer, being a combatant officer, of any corps or department of Her Majesty's Indian Forces or of any detachment thereof, or by the Commanding Officer of any British corps or detachment to which Native combatant details are attached. It consists of the Commanding Officer sitting with two other officers, who attend to watch the trial and sign the proceedings. Its ordinary functions are restricted to the trial of any person under the command of the officer holding the trial, except an officer, medical subordinate or warrant officer, but a member of an Army Hospital Corps may be tried by Summary Court-martial by any officer authorized in this behalf by the Officer Commanding the district. It can take cognizance of any of the less serious offences punishable under the Articles where they do not happen to be offences committed against the officer holding the trial, and when there is grave reason for immediate action, or reference cannot, without detriment to discipline, be made to superior authority, of any offence whatever. When held by an Officer Commanding a corps or department, it can pass any sentence except one of death, transportation or imprisonment for a term exceeding one year, but when held by an Officer Commanding a detachment it cannot pass a sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding six months.

A sentence of a Summary Court-martial, except when it is a sentence passed by an officer of less than five years' service, will not require confirmation, but the proceedings in all cases must, without delay, be submitted to the Commander-in-Chief or some other superior officer, who is empowered, if he thinks fit, to set aside the trial on the merits of the case, but not on merely technical grounds.

12. Article 117A allows the Governor General in Council to modify the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act as applied to Courts-martial.

13. Article 120.—This provision, differing from the corresponding provision of the Army Act, will empower the officer to whom the proceedings of a Court-martial are submitted for confirmation to direct, when the proceedings are sent back for revision, additional evidence to be taken when necessary.

This seems desirable in order to avoid the necessity for ordering a fresh trial in cases where, as may happen in outlying stations in this country, irregularities and omissions are apt to occur.

Miscellaneous.

14. Article 132.—Following on the principles of the Army Act, it will now be possible for a Court-martial to reduce a non-commissioned officer to a junior grade instead of necessarily being compelled to reduce him to the ranks; and further, a Court-martial will be in a position to award, on occasion, a duplicate punishment, as, for example, dismissal coupled with one of the other punishments awardable under the article.

15. Article 151.—This proviso is intended to do away with the anomaly of a sentence of less than three months' hard labour imprisonment having either to be commuted to simple imprisonment, or, if not commuted, losing the services of a soldier for perhaps a comparatively venial offence, as it is held to be prejudicial to the interests of a regiment to receive back into the ranks a person who has been an inmate for any time of a civil jail.

16. Article 155 provides a necessary safeguard to the soldier who, having been convicted by the civil power in a Court of first instance, is acquitted on appeal.

It further provides for the temporary retention in the ranks of a soldier who, on active service, has been sentenced to transportation or imprisonment, and declares the time the soldier is so retained shall be reckoned as part of his term of transportation or imprisonment.

17. Article 161A, following generally on the provisions of the Army Act, makes due provision for the preservation of the proceedings of Courts-martial, and the means by which these records will be available to persons interested.

18. Article 162.—The amendments will empower the Court of Enquiry not only to declare the unauthorised absence and the period thereof, but also to take evidence upon oath as to any deficiency of Government property which had been entrusted to the absentee, and the recorded declaration thereof will be, at any subsequent trial, presumptive evidence of that deficiency.

19. Article 164.—Power is given to a General Officer Commanding a District to summarily reduce a non-commissioned officer to a lower grade or to the ranks.

The want of this power has been greatly felt and is considered to be a very desirable power to grant to General Officers Commanding Districts.

20. Articles 171 to 175.—Civil offences committed beyond British India, or on active service within British India. These articles will entirely remove the difficulties which have not unfrequently been experienced in dealing with civil offences of the graver classes committed by soldiers when serving beyond the limits of British India.

The Criminal Courts are given concurrent jurisdiction with Courts-martial over such offences. Conflicts may at times arise, but, to prevent any difficulty from this, it is provided that when the two classes of Courts have concurrent jurisdiction it will be for the military authorities to decide in the first instance on the tribunal to which the case is to be submitted; but that, if the ordinary Criminal Court having jurisdiction is of opinion that the case ought to be tried before itself, it may require the military authorities to stop their proceedings pending a reference to the Governor General in Council.

Article 173 is quite a new provision, but it is in accordance with the practice which has to some extent at least prevailed under the existing law when violence or threats have been made against a superior officer.

It provides that certain grave offences involving violence or threats against any person subject to military law shall, though committed in British India, be cognizable by a Court-martial.

The British soldier is, throughout the greater part of British India, triable by a Court-martial for a civil offence.

The Native soldier, on the contrary, is triable by Court-martial only for military offences, and the Indian Articles in defining these offences do not provide expressly for the case of a soldier killing, or inflicting some serious injury on, his superior officer. In such a case, therefore, the Native soldier ought, strictly speaking, to be made over for trial to the ordinary Criminal Court; but it is thought sometimes desirable that he should be tried by a Court-martial, which would dispose of the case rapidly and with a due regard to the interests of discipline; and he is accordingly put on his trial before a Court-martial "for assaulting his superior officer"—an offence punishable with death or any less penalty under the existing Articles, and thus substantial justice is done and the ends of discipline are secured, though by a procedure which must be allowed to be somewhat irregular. It should be observed that, apart from the irregularity of trying for a mere assault a man who is guilty perhaps of murder, this mode of dealing with such cases is practicable only under a law which, like the present Articles, makes all assaults on a superior officer indiscriminately punishable with death without taking account, as the Army Act does, of circumstances so important as that of the officer being in the execution of his duty or otherwise, or that of the offence being committed on active service or in a cantonment; and such a law it seems difficult to maintain.

It has accordingly been thought better to recognize the fact that it is desirable in the interests of discipline that certain civil offences whether against a superior officer or other person subject to military law should be triable by a Court-martial instead of, exclusively, by an ordinary Criminal Court, and to make them triable by a Court-martial in the same way as civil offences committed by a British soldier.

21. The concluding section gives the Governor General in Council power to apply all or any of the provisions of the Articles as amended by this Bill to any force raised in India under the authority of the Governor General in Council, with respect to which there may be doubt whether it forms part of Her Majesty's Indian Army. It will, it is thought, be found useful as affording a means of removing the difficulties which have occasionally been felt regarding the application of any form of military law to certain forces which are maintained chiefly for local purposes under the control of the Governor General's Agents in Native territory, and which are entirely distinct from the forces of Native States known as Imperial Service Troops.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTNENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 6th September, 1894:

NO. 13 OF 1894.

A Bill to validate certain certificates granted to engineers of steam-ships.

Bom. IV of 1873. VI of 1884. WHEREAS the Steam-vessel Survey Amendment Act of 1873 was repealed by the Inland Steam-vessels Act, 1884, which came into force in the territories administered by the Governor of Bombay in Council on the first day of December, 1885;

And whereas between the said day and the seventh day of February, 1893, certain certificates styled "Indian Foreign Trade Certificates of Competency" were inadvertently granted in Bombay in pursuance of rules made under the said Steam-vessel Survey Amendment Act of 1873, and without regard to the provisions of the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884; VII of 1884.

And whereas it is expedient to validate the said certificates;

It is hereby enacted as follows:

1. (1) This Act may be called the Engineers' Certificates Validation Act, 1894; and

Title and commencement.

(2) It shall come into force at once.

2. The certificates described as "Indian Foreign Trade Certificates of Competency," which were granted under the authority of the Governor of Bombay in Council between the first day of December, 1885, and the seventh day of February, 1893 (both inclusive), to certify to the competency of the grantees thereof to act as engineers of steam-ships, shall be deemed to have been granted under the Indian Steam-ships Act, 1884, and shall be recognized as valid for voyages of those classes with reference whereto they were granted: Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to affect such certificates in any other respect. VII of 1884.

Validation of "Indian Foreign Trade Certificates of Competency" granted in Bombay to engineers of steam-ships.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to validate certain certificates which were granted in Bombay during the years 1885-1893 to engineers of steam-ships under a misapprehension as to the law in force at the time.

Bills introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for making Laws and Regulations, Reports of Select Committees presented to the Council, and Bills published under Rule 22.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 20th September, 1894:

NO. 14 OF 1894.

A Bill to amend the Lower Burma Village Act, 1889.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Lower Burma Village Act, 1889; It is hereby enacted as follows:

III of 1889.

For clause (l) of section 6 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new clause for clause (l), section 6, Act III, 1889.

"(l) to take such measures for—

(i) the prevention of public nuisances,

(ii) the cure or prevention of the spreading of any contagious or infectious disease among domestic animals of any kind,

(iii) the general sanitation of the village,

as may be prescribed in any rules made in this behalf by the Commissioner with the previous sanction of the Local Government;".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE losses from cattle-disease yearly in Burma are very large and the question of dealing with the evils arising therefrom has for some time past been receiving much consideration in the province. Both the local authorities and the people themselves desire that legislation should be undertaken on the subject, and it has been decided by the Government of India that the simplest and most satisfactory course will be to amend the Lower Burma Village Act, 1889, and the Upper Burma Village Regulation, 1887, so as to impose on village-headmen the duty of taking such measures for the cure or prevention of the spreading of infectious or contagious diseases among domestic animals as the Commissioner may, with the sanction of the Local Government, by rule prescribe. Accordingly the present Bill, which amends the Lower Burma Village Act, has been prepared for enactment in the Legislative Council, while the Chief Commissioner has proposed, under the provisions of the Statute 33 Vict, c. 3, a draft Regulation which amends the Upper Burma Village Regulation on exactly similar lines, for enactment by the Governor General in Council.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Articles of War for the government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th October, 1894:

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the Articles of War for the government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

From Chief Commissioner, Burma, No. 872—5-C.-39, dated 22nd September, 1894, and enclosure [Papers No. 10].
From Resident, Hyderabad, No. 164, dated 26th September, 1894, and enclosures [Papers No. 11].

2. We have extended the scope of the definition of "active service" proposed by section 4 of the Bill so as to include a force which is on the line of march to a country or place wholly or partly occupied by an enemy, as we consider it desirable that the provisions of the Articles relating to active service should apply to persons attached to or forming part of such a force.

3. We have thought it expedient to make it clear, by the insertion of the word "British" before "officer" in the definition of "commanding officer" proposed by the same section of the Bill, that under no circumstances shall a Native officer be deemed to be a commanding officer for the purposes of the Articles.

4. In view of the definition of "Native officer" in Part I, clause (e) (4), of the Articles as amended by the Bill, we have changed the expression "commissioned officer" in the new articles 3 and 4 proposed by the Bill into "Native officer." From the latter of these articles we have also omitted the word "general" the second time it occurs, as it is intended that the power conferred by the article should be exercised by the officer commanding the division or district whether he happens to be a general officer or not.

5. We have omitted section 17 of the Bill as introduced, as we do not consider that the amendment, which it proposed to make in article 48, is desirable. We are of opinion that the present article, which, like the civil law as contained in the Penal Code, requires a person who attempts to commit suicide to do some act towards the commission of the offence before he makes himself liable to punishment, should be maintained unaltered.

6. We have assimilated the language of clause (2) of the new article 86 proposed by section 31 of the Bill to that of clause (1) (c) of the new article 73 proposed by section 23 of the Bill, so as to make it clear that, if thought expedient, authority to direct that courts-martial shall be composed of British instead of Native officers may be conferred by warrant of the Commander-in-Chief or the general officer of the Command on the same officers and in the same way as authority to convene ordinary courts-martial.

7. We have amended the new article 137 proposed by section 49 of the Bill so as to leave it to the discretion of the convicting Court in each case to direct the forfeiture of arrears of pay or not as it may deem fit, as we do not think that such forfeiture should follow conviction as a matter of course.

8. We have restored article 150, which was inadvertently repealed by section 52 of the Bill as introduced, and we have amended the same article and article 151 so as to prevent the practical inconvenience which is sometimes caused by the immediate despatch of a military convict to a civil jail.

9. As the amendments in article 165 proposed by section 66 of the Bill were incomplete as well as confusing, we have thought it preferable to set out the revised portions of the article at length.

10. We consider that the new article 183 proposed by section 73 of the Bill is too wide. We are of opinion that reservists should only be entitled to the privileges as to exemption from arrest and from attachment of their property when called out for or engaged upon or returning from training or service, and we have therefore amended the article accordingly.

11. We have omitted the preambles to section 74 of the Bill as introduced, as they are in our opinion unnecessary, and we have transformed the section into an additional article which we have numbered article 191.

12. We have, by a new section 74, added a Second Appendix to the Articles, setting out a form for assembly and proceedings of summary general courts-martial adapted from the form in the Manual of Military Law referred to in the Appendix to the Bill as introduced.

13. Lastly, the other changes we have made in the Bill are either merely verbal alterations or are not of sufficient importance to require special notice.

14. The publication ordered by the Council has been made as follows:

No. II.

A Bill to amend the Articles of War for the government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Articles of War for the government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces; It is hereby enacted as follows:

Title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Articles of War Amendment Act, 1894; and

(2) It shall come into force on such date as the Governor General in Council may by notification in the Gazette of India fix in that behalf.

Repeal of clause (c) of Part I of Indian Articles of War.

2. Part I, clause (c), of the Indian Articles of War (hereinafter called "the said Articles"), is hereby repealed. V of Substitution of new clause for clause (d) of Part I.

3. For Part I, clause (d), of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

"(d).—Application of Articles.

"These Articles shall apply to all—

(a) persons to whom they actually apply at present;

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 4-5.)

(b) persons commissioned or gazetted as Native officers, or gazetted as warrant officers, of Her Majesty's Indian Forces;

(c) medical subordinates;

(d) persons attested under these Articles;

(e) unattested recruits;

(f) persons enrolled under these Articles;

(g) persons, not otherwise subject to military law, who, on active service, in camp, on the march, or at any frontier post specified by the Governor General in Council by notification in this behalf, are employed by, or are in the service of, or are followers of, or accompany any portion of, Her Majesty's Indian Forces:

Provided as follows:

if any person claims to belong to a class to which the Army Act is, and these Articles are not, applicable, the burden of proving that he belongs to that class shall lie upon him."

44 & 45 Vict., c. 58.

4. For Part I, clause (e), of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new clause for clause (e) of Part I.

"(e).—Definitions.

(22) expressions occurring in the Indian Penal Code and used in these Articles shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them by that Code"

XLV of 1

5. For Part I, clause (f), of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new clause for clause (f) of Part I.

"(f).—Saving of certain Regulations.

"Nothing in these Articles shall affect any regulations by which the respective offices and powers of cantonment magistrates and officers in charge of the police in cantonments are defined and controlled."

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Section 6.)

6. For Part II, Title I, of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new title for Title I of Part II.

"TITLE I.—ENROLMENT, ATTESTATION, DISMISSAL AND DISCHARGE.

"Article 1.—(1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification, declare what persons or classes of persons shall be enrolled only, or be both enrolled and attested, respectively.

Enrolment and attestation.

(2) A person shall be deemed to be enrolled under these Articles when his name has, with his consent, been entered in the prescribed manner on the list of a corps or department of Her Majesty's Indian Forces.

Mode of enrolment.

(3) Subject to the provisions of this article with respect to recruits, every person to be attested under these Articles shall be taken before the prescribed civil or military officer, and that officer shall read and explain to him, or cause to be read and explained to him in his presence, the questions set forth in the prescribed form of attestation, and such other matters (if any) as may be prescribed; and, after having cautioned him that if he makes a false answer to any question set forth in the attestation form he will be liable to be punished as provided by these Articles, shall record the answer to each question, and shall, if he is satisfied that the person fully understands the questions, and that the answer has been correctly recorded opposite each question, and if he perceives no impediment, administer to the person an affirmation or oath in the prescribed form.

Mode of attestation.

(4) The form of affirmation or oath prescribed under this article shall contain a promise that the person to be attested will be faithful to Her Majesty, Her heirs and successors, and that he will serve in Her Majesty's Indian Forces and go wherever he is ordered by land or sea, and that he will obey all commands of any officer set over him, even to the peril of his life.

(5) When a recruit is reported fit for duty, an affirmation or oath in the same form shall be administered to him in the prescribed manner by the commanding officer in front of the corps or such portion thereof or such members of the department as shall be present.

(6) After administering the affirmation or oath, the officer shall authenticate the attestation paper by his signature, and the person shall then be deemed to have been attested.

(7) Subject to any rules which may be prescribed, the Commander-in-Chief in India, or the general officer of the Command, may direct that any persons to whom these Articles apply as attested persons shall, for the purposes of these Articles, be deemed to be enrolled, and that any persons to whom these Articles apply as enrolled persons shall, for the purposes of these Articles, be deemed to be attested.

Treatment of enrolment and attestation as of same effect in certain cases.

"Article 2.—(1) Subject to the provisions of the Army Act, the Governor General in Council may, by notification, direct that persons of any class subject to these Articles shall, for any of the purposes of these Articles, be deemed to be Native officers, warrant officers or non-commissioned officers; and,

Rank and subordination.

44 & 45 Vict., c. 58.

(2) Subject as aforesaid, any prescribed authority may issue an order giving a like direction with respect to any such person.

(3) Any notification or order issued under this article may be cancelled by the authority issuing the same; and,

(4) Subject as aforesaid, any person of the said classes with respect to whom no such notification or order is in force shall, so far as may be, be deemed for all the purposes of these Articles to be of a rank inferior to that of a non-commissioned officer.

(5) Should any question arise as to the rank of any other person subject to these Articles, or as to whether any such person is above or below a specified rank, the decision of the Governor General in Council thereon shall be conclusive.

(6) Every person subject to these Articles shall, for the purposes thereof, be deemed to be under the commanding officer of the corps or department (if any) to which he is attached, and, if not attached to any corps or department, under any officer who may for the time being be named as his commanding officer by the general or other officer commanding the force with which such person may for the time being be serving, or of any other prescribed officer, or, if no such officer is named or prescribed, under the said general or other officer commanding;

Provided that a general or other officer commanding shall not place any person under an officer of official rank inferior to that of such person if there is present at the place where such person is any officer of higher rank under whom he can be placed.

"Article 3.—(1) Every Native officer shall be liable to dismissal from the service by the sentence of a general court-martial, and to dismissal or discharge by order of the Governor General in Council, or of the Commander in-Chief in India, or of the general officer of the Command to which he belongs.

Dismissal and discharge of commissioned officers.

(2) A Native officer dismissed under these Articles shall forfeit all claim to pension.

"Article 4.—(1) Every person subject to these Articles, other than a Native officer, shall be liable to—

Dismissal and discharge of other persons.

(a) dismissal from the service by the sentence of any court-martial empowered to try him, and

(b) dismissal or discharge from the service, by order of the Governor General in Council, or of the Commander-in-Chief in India, or of the general officer of the Command to which he belongs, or of the officer commanding the division or district in which he is serving, or, if he belongs to a force not attached to a command, by order of the officer commanding such force.

(2) Every person so dismissed shall forfeit all claim to pension.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 7-16.)

"Article 5.—(1) Every attested person of or below the rank of non-commissioned officer who has been dismissed or discharged from the service, and who subsequently re-enters the service without at the time stating the fact of his dismissal or discharge, or showing his certificate of dismissal or discharge, may be dismissed the service by the officer commanding the corps or department with which he is serving; and

Attested person dismissed or discharged and re-enlisting or making false answer at his attestation.

(2) Every attested person of or below the rank of non-commissioned officer who is discovered to have made a wilfully false answer to any question set forth in the attestation paper which has been put to him by, or by direction of, the officer before whom he appears for the purpose of being attested, shall, on conviction by court-martial, be liable to suffer imprisonment (with hard labour and with or without solitary confinement) or such less punishment as is in these Articles mentioned.

"Article 6.—Every attested person who is dismissed or discharged from the service shall be furnished by his commanding officer with a certificate, in the English language and in the mother-tongue of such person (when his mother-tongue is not English), setting forth—

Certificate to person dismissed or discharged.

(a) the authority dismissing or discharging him;

(b) the cause of his dismissal or discharge; and

(c) the full period of his service in the army."

7. In article 7, sentence 1, of the said Articles, the words "in any regiment, corps, detachment or guard" are hereby repealed.

Repeal of portion of article 7.

8. For the third sentence of the last-mentioned article the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new sentence for third sentence of same article.

"or who, knowing or having reason to believe in the existence of any mutiny or sedition, or of any intention to mutiny or create sedition, or of any conspiracy against the State,".

9. In article 8 of the said Articles, for the words "under any circumstances in which the superior officer is distinguishable as such in any manner" the words "knowing or having reason to believe him to be such" shall be substituted.

Amendment of article 8.

10. For articles 10 and 11 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 10 and 11.

"Desertion.

"Article 10.—Who deserts or attempts to desert the service;—or

"Re-enlistment without having been discharged.

"Article 11.—Who, without having first obtained a regular discharge from the corps or department to which he belongs, enlists or enrols himself in any other corps or department;—or"

11. For the last paragraph of article 24 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Amendment of article 24.

"Whenever any person is convicted of an offence specified in article 7 and punishable with death under this article, all his property, moveable and immoveable, shall be forfeited to the Government."

12. For articles 25 and 26 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 25 and 26.

"Unbecoming behaviour.

"Article 25.—Any officer, medical subordinate or warrant officer who behaves in a manner unbecoming his position and character;—and any person subject to these Articles—

"Intoxication on duty.

"Article 26.—Who is in a state of intoxication when on or after having been warned for any duty, or on parade, or on the line of march;—or"

13. For article 31 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 31.

"Failure to rejoin.

"Article 31.—Who, being on leave of absence and having received information from proper authority that his corps or department has been ordered on service, fails, without sufficient cause, to rejoin without delay;—or"

14. For article 39 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 39.

"Impeding Provost-marshal.

"Article 39.—Who impedes a provost-marshal or an assistant provost-marshal, or any officer or non-commissioned officer or other person legally exercising authority under or on behalf of a provost-marshal, or, when called on, refuses to assist, in the execution of his duty, the provost-marshal, assistant provost-marshal, or any such officer, non-commissioned officer or other person;—or"

15. In article 40 of the said Articles the words "enrolled or" shall be inserted between the word "person" and the word "attested".

Amendment of article 40.

16. For article 47 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

26. For articles 80 and 81 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 80 and 81.

"Article 80.—A district court-martial shall consist of not less than five officers, unless that number, due regard being had to the public service, is not available, in which case the court may consist of not less than three officers.

Composition of district court-martial.

"Article 81.—A district court-martial may, when necessary, be composed wholly of officers of the corps or department to which the accused belongs."

Amendment of article 82.

28. In the last-mentioned article, for the words "one year" the words "two years" and for the words "reduction to the ranks" the words "reduction to a lower grade or to the ranks" shall be respectively substituted.

Further amendment of same article.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 29-31.)

29. After article 82 of the said Articles the following article shall be inserted, namely :

Insertion of new article after article 82.

"Article 82A.—Whenever a general or district court-martial is ordered to be composed of the smaller number of officers specified in article 74 or 80, the order convening the court shall expressly state that the larger number of officers is not, due regard being had to the public service, available; and that statement shall be conclusive evidence of the fact so stated."

Convening order to state if larger number of officers is not available.

30. For articles 84 and 85 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 84 and 85.

"Article 84.—A regimental court-martial shall consist of not less than three officers.

Composition of regimental court-martial.

"Article 85.—A regimental court-martial shall have power to try all persons subject to these Articles and not above the rank of non-commissioned officer—

Powers of such court.

(a) for any offence triable by a court-martial under these Articles, except an offence punishable under articles 7 to 23 (both inclusive), articles 54 to 65 (both inclusive), or articles 171 to 173 (both inclusive), and,

(b) with the previous sanction of the prescribed authority, for any of the offences so excepted.

"Article 85A.—A regimental court-martial shall have power to pass any sentence which might have been passed by a district court-martial for the like offence other than suspension from rank, pay and allowances :

Powers as to sentences of such courts.

Provided that no sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding six months, nor any of the additional punishments specified in article 135, shall be passed by a regimental court-martial."

31. For articles 86 to 89 (both inclusive) of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely :

Substitution of new articles for articles 86 to 89.

"Article 86.—(1) The officers composing a court-martial convened under the foregoing provisions shall, except as hereinafter provided, be Native officers.

Native and British officers when to be nominated.

(2) The Governor General in Council, or the Commander-in-Chief in India, or the general officer of the Command, or any officer empowered in that behalf by warrant of the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command, may direct that any court-martial convened under these Articles shall be composed of British instead of Native officers.

(3) Any person subject to these Articles, who is under orders for trial by any court-martial, may claim to be tried by British officers.

(4) In all cases the right of making such a claim shall, before the court is convened, be explained to the person under orders for trial by the commanding officer, or some officer deputed by him in this behalf, and, when such a claim is made, the court shall be constituted accordingly.

(5) A court-martial convened for the trial of any person subject to these Articles, and serving with any British corps or detachment, may be composed of British officers if, in the opinion of the officer convening the court (such opinion to be expressed in the order convening the court and to be conclusive), Native officers are not available with due regard to the public service for service on the court.

Judge advocate and appointment of superintending officer for Native court-martial.

"Article 87.—(1) Every general court-martial shall be attended by a judge advocate.

(2) If no officer of the judge advocate general's department is available, the officer convening the court shall appoint a fit person to act as judge advocate at the trial.

(3) No person under orders for trial or under trial by any court-martial may, without the leave of the court, object to any person acting or professing to act as judge advocate.

(4) A British officer of not less than four years' service, hereinafter called the superintending officer, shall be appointed to superintend the proceedings of every court-martial composed of Native officers which is not attended by a judge advocate.

"Article 88.—(1) At every court-martial the senior officer shall sit as president without special appointment as such.

President.

(2) In case of the death or unavoidable absence of the president, the next senior officer shall take the place of the president, without special appointment as such, and the trial shall proceed if the court is still composed of not less than the smallest number of officers of which it is required by these Articles to consist.

"Article 89.—No finding or sentence of a general, district or regimental court-martial shall be valid, except so far as it may be confirmed as provided by these Articles.

Finding and sentence invalid without confirmation.

"Article 89A.—(1) The following authorities shall have power to confirm the findings and sentences of general and district courts-martial :

By whom findings and sentences may be confirmed or otherwise disposed of.

(a) the Commander-in-Chief in India ;

(b) the general officer of the Command, as regards troops under his command wherever stationed ;

(c) the officer commanding a force not attached to a Command ;

(d) any officer empowered in that behalf by warrant of the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command :

Provided that, except on active service or beyond the limits of India, no warrant issued under this article shall be deemed to empower an officer to confirm any finding or sentence in the case of an officer, medical subordinate or warrant officer, or a sentence of death, transportation or imprisonment for a term exceeding seven years in any case whatever.

(2) The provisions of article 73, clauses (2) and (3), shall, with the necessary modifications, apply to warrants issued under this article.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Section 32.)

(3) The officer who convenes a regimental court-martial or the officer having authority to convene such court-martial, at the date of the submission of the finding and sentence thereof, shall have power to confirm the same.

"Article 89B.—Subject to such restrictions as may be contained in any warrant issued under the last preceding article, the confirming officer may, when confirming the sentence of a court-martial, mitigate or remit the punishment thereby awarded, or commute that punishment for any less punishment or punishments to which the offender might have been sentenced by the court-martial :

Power of confirming officer to mitigate, remit or commute sentence.

Provided that a sentence of transportation shall not be commuted to a sentence of imprisonment for a term exceeding the term of transportation awarded by the court.'

32. For articles 90 to 97 (both inclusive) of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely :

Substitution of new articles for articles 90 to 97.

"Extraordinary Courts-Martial.

"Article 90.—The following authorities shall have power to convene a summary general court-martial, and such a court-martial may be convened—

Convening of summary general courts-martial.

(a) in any place, whether within or beyond British India, by an officer empowered in this behalf by an order of the Governor General in Council or of the Commander-in-Chief in India or of the general officer of the Command ;

(b) by an officer commanding any detached portion of Her Majesty's troops upon active service when, in his opinion, it is not practicable, with due regard to discipline and the exigencies of the service, that an offence should be tried by an ordinary general court-martial.

"Article 91.—(1) A summary general court-martial shall consist of not less than three officers, who may be either British or Native, or both British and Native officers, as the officer convening the court thinks fit.

Composition of summary general courts-martial.

(2) Such court may be convened and the proceedings thereof be recorded in accordance with the form in the Second Appendix to these Articles with such variations as the circumstances of each case may require :

Provided that the convening officer may, in respect of any such trial by such court, specially order the evidence, together with the prisoner's statement in defence, to be fully recorded in writing.

"Article 92.—A summary general court-martial shall have all the powers of a general court-martial, and, subject to any instructions contained in the order convening the court, its sentence shall be valid, and may be carried out forthwith in case it does not exceed that which a district court-martial is empowered to pass, and in any other case when confirmed by the authority convening the court.

Powers of a summary general court-martial.

Convening and constitution of, and persons triable by, a summary court-martial.

"Article 93.—(1) A summary court-martial may be held—

(a) by the commanding officer, being a combatant officer, of any corps or department of Her Majesty's Indian forces, or of any detachment of those forces ;

(b) by the commanding officer of any British corps or detachment to which Native combatant details subject to these Articles are attached.

(2) At every summary court-martial the officer holding the trial shall alone constitute the court, but the proceedings shall be attended throughout by two other officers, British or Native, who shall not, as such, be affirmed or sworn.

(3) The proceedings shall be recorded in the English language, and, when closed, shall be signed by the officer holding the trial, and by the officers attending thereat.

(4) A summary court-martial may try any person subject to these Articles and under the command of the officer holding the court, except an officer, medical subordinate or warrant officer.

(5) Any member of an army hospital corps may be tried by summary court-martial by any officer authorised in this behalf by the officer commanding the division, district, brigade or station to which the alleged offender belongs.

"Article 94.—A summary court-martial may try any offence punishable under any of these Articles :

Offences triable by a summary court-martial.

Provided that when there is no grave reason for immediate action, and reference can, without detriment to discipline, be made to superior authority, a summary court-martial shall not try without such reference any of the following offences, namely :

(a) any offence punishable under any of the articles 7 to 23 (both inclusive), or articles 54 to 65 (both inclusive), or article 171 ;

(b) any offence against the officer holding the court.

"Article 95.—(1) A summary court-martial held by the commanding officer of a corps or department may pass any sentence which can be passed under these Articles, except a sentence of death or transportation, or of imprisonment for a term exceeding one year.

Powers of a summary court-martial.

(2) A summary court-martial held by any other officer may pass any sentence which can be passed under these Articles, except a sentence of death or transportation, or of imprisonment for a term exceeding six months.

"Article 96.—The finding and sentence of a summary court-martial shall not require to be confirmed, but may be carried out at once :

Finding and sentence of a summary court-martial.

Provided that, if the officer holding the trial is of less than five years' service, he shall not, except on active service, carry into effect any sentence until it has received the approval of a superior military officer commanding not less than a corps.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 33-42.)

"Article 97.—The proceedings of every summary court-martial shall, without delay, be forwarded to the officer commanding the district, or the division or brigade, within which the trial was held, or to the prescribed officer: and such officer or the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command, or when the court is held in a force not attached to a Command, the officer commanding the force, may, for reasons based on the merits of the case, but not on any merely technical grounds, set aside the proceedings."

Transmission of proceedings of summary courts-martial.

33. For article 100 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 100.

"Article 100.—(1) Whenever any person subject to these Articles is accused of any offence which his commanding or other superior officer considers should be tried by court-martial, such officer shall order the accused to be placed in military custody until he can be tried by a court-martial or is discharged by proper authority.

Arrest or confinement of accused.

(2) No such person shall be detained in military custody longer than is necessary for the purposes of justice."

34. Article 101 of the said Articles is hereby repealed.

Repeal of article 101.

35. For article 102 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 102.

"Article 102.—(1) An interpreter shall be appointed to every court-martial.

Interpreter.

(2) If no duly qualified interpreter is available at the station or place where the court-martial sits, the officer appointing the court, or the officer commanding in the district or place within or at which the trial is to be held, shall appoint any competent person to perform the duty of interpreter.

(3) When no other qualified or competent person is available, the superintending officer, or, in the case of an European court, the president, shall perform the duty of interpreter.

(4) In the case of a trial by a summary court-martial, the officer holding the trial, or one of the officers in attendance thereat, may perform the duty of interpreter if no other competent interpreter is available.

(5) No interpreter shall, as such, have a vote upon any matter."

36. For article 103 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for article 103.

"Article 103.—(1) When a court-martial after the commencement of the trial is reduced below the smallest number of officers of which it is by these Articles required to consist, it shall be deemed to be dissolved.

Dissolution of courts.

(2) If, on account of the illness of the prisoner before the finding, it is impossible to continue the trial, a court-martial shall be dissolved.

(3) Where a court-martial is dissolved under this article, the prisoner may be tried again.

"Article 103A.—The president of a court-martial may, on any deliberation among the members, cause the court to be cleared of all other persons.

Power to clear court.

"Article 103B.—The court may, when it thinks fit, view any place."

Power to view place.

Amendment of article 104.

38. In article 107 of the said Articles, for the words "courts-martial, other than courts-martial appointed under an Order in Council, or summary" the word "ordinary" shall be substituted.

Amendment of article 107.

39. After article 108 of the said Articles the following article shall be inserted, namely:

Insertion of new article after article 108.

"Article 108A.—At a summary court-martial the interpreter shall make affirmation or oath down to the words 'published by authority' only."

Affirmation or oath of interpreter.

40. Article 114 of the said Articles is hereby repealed.

Repeal of article 114.

41. For article 116 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 116.

"Article 116.—(1) A prisoner charged before a court-martial with desertion may be found guilty of attempting to desert or of being absent without leave.

Conviction of one offence permissible on charge of another.

(2) A prisoner charged before a court-martial with attempting to desert may be found guilty of desertion or of being absent without leave.

(3) A prisoner charged before a court-martial with any one of the following offences, that is to say, theft, dishonest misappropriation or conversion, criminal breach of trust, or dishonestly receiving or retaining stolen property, may be found guilty of any other of those offences.

(4) A prisoner charged before a court-martial with any other offence under these Articles may, on failure of proof of an offence having been committed under circumstances involving a more severe punishment, be found guilty of the same offence as having been committed under circumstances involving a less severe punishment."

42. For article 117 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 117.

"Article 117.—(1) When any person subject to these Articles has been convicted by a court-martial of any military offence, such court-martial shall enquire into, and receive and record evidence of, any previous convictions of such person, either by a court-martial or by a criminal court, and shall further enquire into and record the general character of such person.

Evidence of previous convictions and general character.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 43-46.)

(2) Evidence received under this article may be either oral, or in the shape of entries in, or certified extracts from, court-martial books or other official records; and it shall not be necessary to prove the signature to such certified extracts, nor shall it be necessary to give notice before trial to the person tried that evidence as to his previous convictions or character will be received.

(3) At a summary court-martial the commanding officer holding the trial may, if he thinks fit, record any previous convictions against the offender and his general character, as of his own knowledge, instead of requiring them to be proved under the foregoing provisions of this article.

"Article 117A.—Subject to the provisions of the last foregoing article, the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, subject to such modifications thereof and to such additional rules of evidence as the Governor General in Council may, by notification, direct, shall apply to all proceedings before a court-martial."

1 of 1872.

General rule as to evidence.

43. For articles 119 and 120 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 119 and 120.

"Article 119.—No sentence of death shall be passed by any court-martial without the concurrence of two-thirds at the least of the members of the court.

Majority requisite to sentence of death.

"Article 120.—(1) The finding or sentence of any court-martial may be once revised by order of the officer authorized to dispose of the proceedings, and, on such revision, the court, if so directed by him, may take additional evidence.

Revision of finding or sentence.

(2) The court, on revision, shall consist of the same officers as were present when the original decision was passed, unless any of those officers shall be unavoidably absent.

(3) In case of such unavoidable absence the cause thereof shall be duly certified in the proceedings, and the court shall proceed with the revision, provided it still consists of the smallest number of officers of which such court is by these Articles required to consist."

44. For articles 122 to 124 (both inclusive) of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 122 to 124.

"Article 122.—(1) The judge advocate in the case of a general court-martial, and the officer ordering the trial in the case of any other court-martial, may, by summons under his hand, require the attendance before the court, at a time and place to be mentioned in the summons, of any person either to give evidence or to produce any document or other thing.

Summoning witnesses and production of documents.

(2) In the case of a witness amenable to military authority, the summons shall be sent to the officer actually commanding the corps, department or detachment to which he belongs, and such officer shall serve it upon him accordingly.

(3) In the case of any other witness, the summons shall be sent to the magistrate within whose jurisdiction he may be or reside, and such magistrate shall give effect to the summons as if the witness were required in the court of such magistrate.

(4) When a witness is required to produce any particular document or other thing in his possession or power, the summons shall describe it with convenient certainty.

(5) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, sections 123 and 124, or to apply to any letter, post-card, telegram or other document in the custody of the postal or telegraph authorities.

(6) If any document in such custody is, in the opinion of any district magistrate, chief presidency magistrate, high court or court of session, wanted for the purposes of any court-martial, such magistrate or court may require the postal or telegraph authorities, as the case may be, to deliver such document to such person as such magistrate or court may direct.

(7) If any such document is, in the opinion of any other magistrate or of any commissioner of police or district superintendent of police, wanted for any such purpose, he may require the postal or telegraph department, as the case may be, to cause search to be made for and to detain such document pending the orders of any such district magistrate, chief presidency magistrate or court.

"Article 123.—(1) Any witness duly summoned and any person who commits any contempt of court in the presence of a court-martial, or any offence described in article 56, 67 or 68, shall, if subject to these Articles, be proceeded against as the court may direct.

Contempts of court.

(2) If any such witness or person is not so subject, the president of the court-martial may certify the offence under his hand to the court of any magistrate within the local limits of whose jurisdiction it was committed, and the magistrate may thereupon take cognizance of the case, and, after hearing anything which the accused may desire to say, dispose of it as if the offence had been committed in a proceeding in the court of such magistrate.

"Article 124.—(1) No president or member of a court-martial, no judge advocate or superintending officer, no party to any proceeding before a court-martial or his legal practitioner or agent, and no witness acting in obedience to a summons to attend a court-martial, shall, while proceeding to, attending on or returning from, a court-martial, be liable to arrest under civil or revenue process.

Privileges of persons attending courts-martial.

(2) If any such person is arrested under any such process, he may be discharged by order of the court-martial."

45. Articles 125 to 129 (both inclusive) of the said Articles are hereby repealed.

Repeal of articles 125 to 129.

46. In article 130, clause (d), sentence 1, of the said Articles, for the words "one year" the words "two years" shall be substituted.

Amendment of article 130.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 47-60.)

47. For article 131 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 131.

"Article 131.—Dismissal from the service may accompany any other sentence passed by a court-martial."

Dismissal.

48. In article 132 of the said Articles, after the word "reduced" the words "to a lower grade or" shall be inserted.

Insertion of words in article 132.

49. For articles 133 to 137 (both inclusive) of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 133 to 137.

"Article 133.—In executing a sentence of solitary confinement, such confinement shall in no case exceed fourteen days at a time, with intervals between the periods of solitary confinement of not less duration than such periods; and, when the imprisonment awarded shall exceed three months, the solitary confinement shall not exceed seven days in any one month of the whole imprisonment awarded, with intervals between the periods of solitary confinement of not less duration than such periods.

Solitary confinement.

"Article 134.—A non-commissioned officer sentenced by court-martial to any of the punishments specified in the second paragraph of article 132 shall be deemed to be reduced to the ranks.

Reduction of non-commissioned officers to ranks.

"Article 135.—On a conviction of any offence, a general, summary general or district court-martial may, in addition to any other punishment which it is empowered to award, sentence the offender to forfeit all advantage as to additional pay and claim to pension on discharge which might otherwise have accrued from the length or nature of his former service, or to forfeit all such advantage absolutely, whether it has accrued from former service or may accrue from future service, or to forfeit service for the purpose of promotion, increased pay or pension or any other prescribed purpose, or to forfeit any military decoration or reward.

Forfeiture of pay and pension.

"Article 136.—Whenever a person subject to these Articles is convicted by a court-martial, his good-conduct pay shall, subject to any rules or orders which may from time to time be made with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, cease.

Stoppage of good-conduct pay on conviction.

"Article 137.—On a conviction for any offence if the offender is sentenced to dismissal from the service, or if his sentence involves such dismissal, he may further be sentenced to forfeit, if the court shall so direct,—

Forfeiture of arrears of pay.

(a) all or any arrears of pay and allowances or other public money due to him at the time of his dismissal, or

(b) such portion thereof as may be required to make good any proved loss or damage arising out of his offence."

50. The first paragraph of article 138 of the said Articles, and the word "and" at the beginning of the second paragraph of the same article, are hereby repealed.

Amendment of article 138.

51. In article 139 of the said Articles, for the words "in the case of an officer, two-thirds, or, in the case of any other person, one-half of his" the words "one-half of the offender's" shall be substituted.

Amendment of article 139.

52. Articles 142 to 149 (both inclusive) of the said Articles are hereby repealed.

Repeal of articles 142 to 149.

Amendment of articles 150 and 151.

54. To the last-named article the following proviso shall be added, namely:

Addition to article 151.

"Provided that, in the case of a sentence of such imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months, the confirming or superior authority or, in the case of a summary court-martial, the commanding officer holding the trial may direct that the sentence shall be undergone in military custody."

55. To article 152 of the said Articles the words "Subject to the control of the Commander-in-Chief in India" shall be prefixed; and for the words "the Commander-in-Chief of a Presidency" the following words shall be substituted, namely: "the general officer of the Command."

Amendment of article 152.

56. To the second paragraph of the last-mentioned article the words "Subject as aforesaid," shall be prefixed.

Further amendment of same article.

57. In article 155 of the said Articles, after the words "from the date of such sentence" the words "or, if an appeal be preferred against such sentence and fail, from the date of the disposal of such appeal," shall be inserted.

Insertion of new words in article 155.

58. To the last-mentioned article the following shall be added, namely:

Addition to same article.

"Provided that on active service any such person may, by order of the officer empowered under these Articles to confirm or otherwise dispose of the proceedings of the trial, be retained to serve in the ranks, and his service therein shall be reckoned as part of his term of transportation or imprisonment."

59. Articles 156 to 159 (both inclusive) of the said Articles are hereby repealed.

Repeal of articles 156 to 159.

60. For article 160 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 160.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 61-66.)

"Article 160.—When any person subject to these Articles has been convicted by a court-martial of any offence,—

Pardons and remissions.

(a) the Governor General in Council, or,

(b) when the person has been convicted of any offence other than a civil offence, the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command,

may—

(1) pardon the person;

(2) remit wholly or in part any punishment awarded to him;

(3) order the restoration to him of any service or other advantage forfeited under his sentence, or

(4) re-admit him to the service when he has been dismissed therefrom:

Provided that the general officer of the Command shall not exercise the powers conferred by this section in respect of any person, unless—

(1) the person was under his authority when sentenced; and

(2) the person is still in the service, or, if the person has been dismissed from the service, the corps or department from which he was dismissed has since continued under the authority of that officer."

61. In article 161 of the said Articles the words "or to the Government of Fort St. George, or to the Government of Bombay," shall be repealed; and for the words "Commander-in-Chief of any Presidency or of the officer commanding any force not attached to a Presidency" the following words shall be substituted, namely: "Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command, or of the officer commanding any force not attached to a Command."

Amendment of article 161.

62. After article 161 of the said Articles the following shall be inserted, namely:

Addition of new article after article 161.

"Preservation of Proceedings.

"Article 161A.—(1) The proceedings of all general courts-martial shall be preserved by the judge advocate general for not less than seven years, and the proceedings of summary general courts-martial and district courts-martial for not less than three years, from the date of the confirmation of the finding and sentence.

Preservation of proceedings of courts-martial.

(2) The proceedings of regimental and summary courts-martial shall be preserved for three years with the records of the corps or department to which the prisoner belonged.

(3) Every person tried by a court-martial shall be entitled, on demand at any time after the confirmation of the finding and sentence where such confirmation is required, and before the proceedings are destroyed, to obtain from the officer or person having the custody of the proceedings a copy thereof, including the proceedings upon revision, if any, upon payment for the same at the prescribed rate."

63. For article 162 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 162.

"Article 162.—(1) When any person subject to these Articles has been absent without due authority from his duty for a period of sixty days, a court of enquiry shall, as soon as practicable, be assembled, and, upon affirmation or oath administered in the prescribed manner, shall enquire respecting the absence of the person, and the deficiency, if any, of property of the Government entrusted to his care, or of his arms, ammunition, equipments, instruments, clothing or necessaries; and, if satisfied of the fact of such absence without due authority or other sufficient cause, the Court shall declare such absence and the period thereof, and the said deficiency if any; and the commanding officer of the corps or department to which the person belongs shall enter in the court-martial book of the corps or department a record of the declaration.

Enquiry on absence of person subject to Articles.

(2) If the person declared absent does not afterwards surrender, or is not apprehended, the record shall have the legal effect of a conviction of desertion.

(3) If the person declared absent surrenders or is apprehended, the record or a copy thereof, purporting to bear the signature of the officer having the custody of the court-martial book, shall, on the trial of the person for desertion, be presumptive evidence of the facts therein recorded; and, on proof of the identity of the prisoner with the person therein mentioned, he may be found guilty of desertion and of the deficiency, if any, therein recorded."

64. For the last paragraph of article 163 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Amendment of article 163.

"Such recommendation, duly confirmed by the Commander-in-Chief in India, or by the general officer of the Command, or the officer commanding any force not attached to a Command to which he belongs, or by any general officer under whose command the person is serving, shall entitle him to receive such arrears and reckon service accordingly."

65. For article 164 of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new article for article 164.

"Article 164.—The Commander-in-Chief in India, the general officer of the Command, the officer commanding any force not attached to a command, and the officer commanding any district or division or brigade, shall respectively have power to reduce to a lower grade or to the ranks any non-commissioned officer under his command."

Reduction to lower grade or ranks.

66. In article 165 of the said Articles, for the words "No such minor punishment shall be awarded by a court-martial," to the end of the article, the following shall be substituted, namely:—

Amendment of article 165.

"Unless otherwise specially provided by the said Commander-in-Chief, no Native officer,

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Sections 67-72.)

medical subordinate or warrant officer shall be liable to any such minor punishment.

"Good-conduct pay shall not necessarily be forfeited on the infliction of a minor punishment, but forfeiture thereof may be awarded as a substantive punishment, by order of the Commanding officer, as may from time to time be prescribed in the General Orders of the Commander-in-Chief in India.

"Forfeiture of good-conduct pay may be awarded in addition to any other minor punishment."

67. In article 166 of the said Articles, the words "the Governor of Fort St. George in Council, the Governor of Bombay in Council, or any other Local Government" shall be omitted.

Amendment of article 166.

68. In article 168 of the said Articles, for the words "the Commander-in-Chief of the Presidency" the words "the Commander-in-Chief in India or the general officer of the Command" shall be substituted.

Amendment of article 168.

69. In the second paragraph of article 169 of the said Articles, for the words "warrant officer" the words "non-commissioned officer" shall be substituted.

Amendment of article 169.

70. The second and third paragraphs of article 170 of the said Articles are hereby repealed.

Repeal of part of article 170.

71. For articles 171 to 175 (both inclusive) of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 171 to 175.

"Civil Offences.

"Article 171.—Every person subject to these Articles who at any place beyond British India commits any civil offence shall be deemed to be guilty of an offence against military law, and if charged therewith under this article shall, subject to the provisions of these Articles, be liable to be tried for the same by court-martial at any place, whether within or beyond British India, and on conviction to be punished as follows, that is to say:

Military jurisdiction with respect to civil offences.

(a) if the offence is one which would be punishable under the law of British India with death or with transportation, or with imprisonment for a term exceeding three years, he shall be liable to suffer any punishment assigned for the offence by the law of British India; and

(b) in other cases, he shall be liable to suffer any punishment assigned for the offence by the law of British India or such punishment as might be awarded to him in pursuance of these Articles in respect of an act to the prejudice of good order and military discipline.

"Article 172.—The Governor General in Council may, by notification, extend the last foregoing article to civil offences or any class of those offences committed by a person subject to these Articles when on active service in British India, and may cancel any such notification.

Extension of article 171 to certain civil offences.

"Article 173.—Every person subject to these Articles who, whether within or beyond British India, commits or attempts to commit or abets the commission of any of the following offences against any person subject to military law, that is to say, murder, culpable homicide or any offence punishable under any of the sections 323 to 335 (both inclusive) or section 506 of the Indian Penal Code, shall be deemed to be guilty of an offence against military law, and if charged under this article with any such offence shall, subject to the provisions of these Articles, be liable to be tried by court-martial at any place whether within or without British India, and on conviction shall be liable to suffer any punishment assigned for the offence by the said Code. XLV of 1860.

Certain offences when triable by military law.

"Article 174.—When under any of the foregoing Articles a criminal court and a court-martial have each jurisdiction in respect of an offence, it shall be in the discretion of the prescribed military authority to decide before which court the proceedings shall be instituted, and, if that authority decides that they shall be instituted before a court-martial, to direct that the accused person shall be detained in military custody.

Jurisdiction over certain offences.

"Article 175.—(1) When a criminal court having jurisdiction is of opinion that proceedings ought to be instituted before itself in respect of any alleged offence, it may, by written notice, require the convening authority or the prescribed military authority at his option either to deliver over the offender to the nearest magistrate to be proceeded against according to law or to postpone proceedings pending a reference to the Governor General in Council.

Power of criminal court to require delivery of offender.

(2) In every such case the said authority shall either deliver over the offender in compliance with the requisition or shall forthwith refer the question as to the court before which the proceedings are to be instituted for the determination of the Governor General in Council, whose order upon such reference shall be final."

72. For articles 176 to 179 (both inclusive) of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new articles for articles 176 to 179.

"TITLE VI.—PROPERTY OF DECEASED PERSONS AND DESERTERS.

"Article 176.—The following rules are enacted respecting the disposal of the property of every person who belongs to a class subject to these Articles who dies, is killed in the field or deserts:—

Property of deceased persons, deserters and lunatics.

(1) The commanding officer shall secure all the moveable property that is on the spot, and cause an inventory thereof to be made, and draw any pay and allowances due to the deceased or deserter.

(2) In the case of a deceased person who has left in a Government Savings Bank (including any Post Office Savings Bank, however named,) a deposit not exceeding one thousand rupees, the commanding officer may, if he thinks fit, require the secretary or other proper officer of the bank to pay the deposit to him forthwith notwithstanding anything in any departmental rules; and, after the payment thereof in accordance with such requisition, no person shall have any right in respect of the deposit except as hereinafter provided.

(3) In the case of a deceased person whose representative is on the spot and has given security for the payment of the regimental debts (if any) of the deceased, the commanding officer shall deliver over the property and the amount of the deposit (if any) received under clause (2) of this article to that representative.

(4) In the case of a deceased person whose estate is not dealt with under clause (3) of this article, and in the case of any deserter, the commanding officer shall cause the property to be sold by public auction, and shall pay the regimental debts and other debts in camp or quarters (if any), and in the case of a deceased person the expenses of his funeral ceremonies, from the proceeds of the sale and the amount of the deposit (if any) received under clause (2) of this article.

(5) The surplus, if any, shall in the case of a deceased person be paid to his representative, if any, or in the event of no claim to such surplus being established within twelve months after the death, then the same shall be remitted to the prescribed officer.

(6) In the case of the sale of the effects of a deserter, the amount remaining in the hands of the commanding officer shall be forthwith remitted to the prescribed officer.

"Article 177.—Property deliverable and money payable to the representative of a deceased person under the last foregoing article may, if the total value or amount thereof does not exceed one thousand rupees, and if the prescribed officer thinks fit, be delivered or paid to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive it or to administer the estate of the deceased, without requiring the production of any probate, letters of administration, certificate or other such conclusive evidence of title; and such delivery or payment shall be a full discharge to those ordering or making the same and to the Secretary of State for India in Council from all further liability in respect of the property or money; but nothing in this article shall affect the rights of any executor or administrator or other representative, or of any creditor, of a deceased person against any person to whom such delivery or payment has been made.

Disposal of certain property without production of probate, etc.

"Article 178.—A person shall be deemed to have deserted within the meaning of article 176 who has been convicted of desertion, or who has been illegally absent from duty for a period of sixty days and has not subsequently surrendered or been apprehended.

Meaning of desertion in article 176.

"Article 179.—The provisions of the last-mentioned article shall, so far as they can be made applicable, apply in the case of a person subject to these Articles becoming insane, such allowance being made for his support as is authorised by the Military Lunatics Act, 1877." XI of 1877.

Application of article 178 to lunatics.

73. For Part III of the said Articles the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new Part for Part III.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Section 73.)

"PART III.—MISCELLANEOUS.

"Article 180.—When any person subject to these Articles has been acquitted or convicted of an offence by a court-martial or by a criminal court, or has been summarily dealt with for an offence under article 165 or 166, he shall not be liable to be again tried for the same offence by a court-martial or dealt with summarily in respect of it under either of the said Articles.

Prohibition of second trial.

"Article 181.—(1) No person subject to these Articles shall, so long as he belongs to Her Majesty's Indian Forces, be liable to be arrested for debt under any process issued by, or by the authority of, any civil or revenue court or revenue-officer.

Exemption from arrest for debt.

(2) The judge of any such court may examine into any complaint made by such person or his superior officer of the arrest of such person contrary to the provisions of this article, and may by warrant under his hand discharge the person, and award reasonable costs to the complainant, who may recover those costs in like manner as he might have recovered costs awarded to him by a decree against the person obtaining the process.

(3) For the recovery of such costs no fee whatever shall be payable to the court by the complainant.

"Article 182.—Neither the arms, clothes, equipment, accoutrements or necessaries of any person subject to these Articles, nor any animal used by him for the discharge of his duty, shall be seized; nor shall the pay and allowances of any such person or any part thereof be attached, by direction of any civil or revenue court or any revenue-officer, in satisfaction of any decree or order enforceable against him.

Property exempted from attachment.

"Article 183.—Every person belonging to the Indian Reserve Forces shall, when called out for or engaged upon or returning from training or service, as an officer or soldier, be entitled to all the privileges accorded by the two last foregoing articles to a person subject to these Articles.

Application of the last two foregoing articles to reservists.

"Article 184.—(1) On the presentation to any court by or on behalf of any officer or soldier subject to these Articles of a certificate, from the proper military authority, of leave of absence having been granted to or applied for by him for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any suit or other proceeding in such court, the court shall, on the application of such officer or soldier, arrange, so far as may be possible, for the hearing and final disposal of such suit or other proceeding within the period of the leave so granted or applied for.

Priority of hearing by courts of cases in which Native officers and soldiers are concerned.

(2) The certificate from the proper military authority must state the first and last day of the leave or intended leave, and set forth a description of the case with respect to which the leave was granted or applied for.

(3) No fee whatever shall be payable to the court in respect of the presentation of any such certificate, or in respect of any application by or on behalf of any such officer or soldier for priority for the hearing of his case.

The Indian Articles of War Bill.

(Section 74.)

(4) Where the court is unable to arrange for the hearing and final disposal of the suit or other proceeding within the period of such leave or intended leave as aforesaid, it shall record its reasons for having been unable to do so, and shall cause a copy thereof to be furnished to such officer or soldier on his application, without any payment whatever by him in respect either of the application for such copy or of the copy itself.

(5) If in any case a question arises as to the proper military authority qualified to grant such certificate as aforesaid, such question shall be at once referred by the court to the nearest officer commanding a corps, whose decision shall be final.

"Article 185.—(1) Whenever any person subject to these Articles deserts, the commanding officer of the corps, department or detachment to which he belongs shall give written information of the desertion to such civil, political or police authorities as, in his opinion, may be able to afford assistance towards the capture of the deserter; and such authorities shall thereupon take steps for the apprehension of the said deserter in like manner as if he were a person for whose capture a warrant had been issued by a magistrate, and shall deliver the deserter, when apprehended, to military custody.

Capture of deserters.

(2) Such authorities shall also, by such means as appear to them best adapted for the purpose, prevent persons reasonably believed to be subject to these Articles from travelling through the areas subject to their jurisdiction, unless on duty, or furnished with a certificate of leave or discharge.

(3) Any police-officer may arrest, without warrant, any person reasonably believed to be subject to these Articles and to be travelling without authority, and shall bring him without delay before the nearest magistrate, or the nearest military commanding officer when no magistrate is readily accessible, to be dealt with according to law.

"Article 186.—Whenever any person subject to these Articles, who is accused of any military offence, is within the jurisdiction of any civil, political or police officer, such officer shall aid in the apprehension and delivery to military custody of such person upon receipt of a written application to that effect signed by his commanding officer.

Apprehension of military offenders.

"Article 187.—In any proceeding under these Articles, any application, certificate, warrant, reply or other document purporting to be signed by an officer in the civil or military service of the Government shall, on production, be presumed to have been duly signed by the person and in the character by whom and in which it purports to have been signed, until the contrary is shown.

Presumption as to signatures.

"Article 188.—(1) The Governor General in Council may direct that for the purposes of these Articles—

Portions of the forces under an Army Command.

(a) any portion of Her Majesty's Indian Forces belonging to a Command shall, when serving beyond the ordinary limits of the Command, continue subject to the authority of the general officer of the Command; or

(b) any portion of those forces not belonging to a Command shall be attached to a Command, and shall be subject to the authority of the general officer of the Command.

(2) Except as may be directed under clause (1) of this article, any portion of the said forces shall, when serving in a Command, be for the purposes of these Articles subject to the authority of the general officer of that Command.

"Article 189.—Nothing in these Articles shall be deemed to affect the authority conferred on the Commander-in-Chief in India by any Act of Parliament or by Royal Warrant or Commission.

Saving of authority of Commander-in-Chief in India.

"Article 190.—(1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification, make rules consistent with these Articles to regulate the procedure of courts-martial and officers, military, civil or political, having any jurisdiction or authority under these Articles, and for the purpose of carrying these Articles into execution, so far as relates to the investigation, trial and punishment of offences triable under them.

Power to make rules.

(2) Rules under this article may provide among other matters for the following:

(a) the assembly and procedure of courts of enquiry;

(b) the convening and constituting of courts-martial;

(c) the adjournment, dissolution and sittings of courts-martial;

(d) the procedure to be observed in trials by courts-martial;

(e) the confirmation and revision of the findings and sentences of courts-martial;

(f) the carrying into effect sentences of courts-martial;

(g) the forms of orders to be made under the provisions of these Articles relating to courts-martial, transportation or imprisonment.

(3) The Governor General in Council may by any such rule confer on any court-martial or officer any power (other than a power to try an accused person or pass a sentence) conferred on a court of original jurisdiction by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882. X of 1882.

"Article 191.—(1) The Governor General in Council may, by notification, apply all or any of the provisions of these Articles to any force raised and maintained in India under the authority of the Governor General in Council, and may cancel or modify any such notification.

Powers to apply Articles to certain forces under the Government of India.

(2) While any of the provisions of these Articles apply to any such force, the Governor General in Council may, by notification, direct by what authority any jurisdiction, powers or duties incident to the operation of those provisions shall be exercised or performed in respect to that force."

74. After the Appendix to the said Articles the Second Appendix set out in the Schedule to this Act shall be added.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Burma Municipal Act, 1884, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 4th October, 1894:

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the Burma Municipal Act, 1884, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

From Chief Commissioner, Burma, No. 228—2-T.-4, dated 11th September, 1894, and enclosures [Papers No. 1].

2. We are not disposed to adopt the view of the majority of the Rangoon Municipal Committee that a portion of the expenditure on scavenging ought, having reference to the intention of the existing law, to be charged to the general fund, and we incline to the opinion that such a scavenging-tax should be imposed as would cover the whole of this expenditure; it appears, however, on the figures stated that a house-tax of eight per centum would not at present suffice to meet the general expenditure, and having regard to the admitted requirements for roads and otherwise, and to the fact that fresh and comprehensive legislation is contemplated in the near future, we are not prepared to suggest any reduction in the maximum rate of ten per centum on the value of the buildings taxed proposed in the Bill as introduced.

As, however, it is not desired to give power to enhance the house-tax save in the Municipality of Rangoon, we have altered the form of the proposed amendment of the Act so as to make this clear.

Amendment of section 41, Act XVII, 1884.

1. In section 41, sub-section (1), division A, clause (a), between the words "not exceeding," and the words "five per centum," the words "in the case of the Municipality of Rangoon ten per centum and elsewhere," shall be inserted.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Preliminary Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend certain sections of the Code of Civil Procedure and to repeal certain sections of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 18th October, 1894:

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend certain sections of the Code of Civil Procedure and to repeal certain sections of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our preliminary Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

No. II.

A Bill to amend certain sections of the Code of Civil Procedure and to repeal certain sections of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend certain sections of the Code of Civil Procedure and to repeal certain sections of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872; It is hereby enacted as follows:

XIV of 1882. IV of 1872.

1. (1) In the third paragraph of section 39 of the said Code, between the words "of any High Court established by Royal Charter" and the words "shall be required," the words "or of the Chief Court of the Punjab" shall be inserted.

Amendments of section 39, Act XIV, 1882.

(2) To the said section the following Explanation shall be added, namely:

"Explanation.—For the purposes of the enrolment of advocates the High Court of Bombay shall be at liberty to treat the Sadr Court of Sind as within the local limits of its jurisdiction."

2. For the first and second paragraphs of section 180 of the said Code the following shall be substituted, namely:

Amendment of section 180, Act XIV, 1882.

"The other party shall then state his case and produce his evidence (if any), and may then address the Court generally on the whole case.

"The party beginning may then reply generally on the whole case."

3. After the first paragraph of section 260 of the said Code the following shall be added, namely:

Addition to section 260, Act XIV, 1882.

"Provided that no decree for restitution of conjugal rights shall be enforced by imprisonment of the defendant, unless the Court shall, for sufficient reasons to be stated in writing on the face of the order, think fit so to direct."

4. For section 548 of the said Code the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new section for section 548, Act XIV, 1882.

"548. When a memorandum of appeal is admitted, the appellant shall present as many copies thereof on plain paper as there are respondents. [See s. 582]

Registry of memorandum of appeal.

"The chief ministerial or other proper officer of the Appellate Court shall sign such memorandum of appeal and copies, if on examination he finds them to be correct, and shall endorse thereon the date of presentation, and shall thereupon register the appeal in a book to be kept for the purpose.

"Such book shall be called the Register of Appeals."

5. At the end of section 553 of the said Code the following shall be added, namely:

Addition to section 553, Act X, 1882.

"Every notice under this section served on any respondent or his pleader shall be accompanied by one of the copies of the memorandum of appeal mentioned in section 548." [See s. 582]

6. Sections 17 and 18 of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, as amended by Act XII of 1878, are hereby repealed.

IV of 1872.

Repeal of sections 17 and 18 of Punjab Laws Act.

J. M. MACPHERSON,
Deputy Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 18th October, 1894:

No. 15 OF 1894.

A Bill to amend Act V of 1861 (an Act for the Regulation of Police).

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend Act V of 1861 (an Act for the Regulation of Police); It is hereby enacted as follows:

1. In section 1 of the said Act the following shall be inserted between the interpretations of the words "general police-district" and the word "property," namely:

Addition to interpretation-clause, section 1, Act V, 1861.

"The words 'District Superintendent' and 'District Superintendent of Police' shall include any Assistant District Superintendent or other person having charge of the administration of the police of a district in pursuance of a general or special order of the Local Government."

2. In section 7 of the said Act, in lieu of the words beginning "or fine any police-officer" down to the end of the section, the following shall be substituted, namely:

Addition to section 7, Act V, 1861, respecting minor punishments.

"or may award to him any of the following punishments, namely:

(a) fine to any amount not exceeding one month's pay;

(b) confinement to quarters for a term not exceeding fifteen days, with or without punishment-drill, extra guard, fatigue or other duty;

(c) deprivation of good-conduct pay;

(d) removal from any office of distinction or special emolument."

3. For the second paragraph of section 8 of the said Act, beginning with the words "Such certificate shall cease to have effect" and ending with the words "officer empowered to receive the same," the following shall be substituted, namely:

Amendment of section 8, Act V, 1861, respecting certificates and suspension.

"Such certificate shall cease to have effect whenever the person named in it ceases for any reason to be a police-officer, and, on his ceasing to be such an officer, shall be forthwith surrendered by him to his superior officer or some other officer empowered to receive the same.

"A police-officer shall not by reason of being suspended from office cease to be a police-officer. During the term of such suspension the powers, functions and privileges vested in him as a police-officer shall be in abeyance, but he shall continue subject to the same responsibilities, discipline and penalties, and to the same authorities, as if he had not been suspended."

4. For section 15 of the said Act the following shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new section for section 15, Act V, 1861.

"15. It shall be lawful for the Inspector General of Police, with the sanction of the Local Government, to be notified by proclamation in the official Gazette, and in such other manner as the Local Government shall direct, to employ any police-force in excess of the ordinary fixed complement to be quartered in any part of the general police-district which shall be found to be in a disturbed or dangerous state, or in any part of the general police-district in which, from the conduct of the inhabitants or of any of them, he may deem it expedient to increase the number of police.

Quartering of additional police in disturbed or dangerous districts.

"The cost of such additional police-force shall be borne, as the Magistrate of the district may direct,

(a) by the inhabitants of, or persons having interest in land in, the local area described in the notification, or both, or

(b) by any such inhabitants or persons, or class or classes of such inhabitants or persons, or both, as aforesaid, as in the opinion of such Magistrate have caused or contributed to the disturbance or other cause which led to the quartering of the additional police-force, and no portion of such cost shall be payable by any person or class of persons who, in the opinion of the Magistrate, have been free from blame.

and such Magistrate, after enquiry if necessary, shall apportion such cost according to his judgment of their respective means among the inhabitants and other persons who are as aforesaid liable to bear the same."

5. After section 15 of the said Act the following shall be inserted, namely:

Addition of new sections after section 15 of Act V, 1861.

"15A. If in any part of the general police-district as aforesaid, in which, under the provisions of the last foregoing section, an additional police-force might be quartered, death or grievous hurt or damage to property has been caused by or ensued from the misconduct of the inhabitants of, or persons having interest in land in such part, or both, and if no additional police-force has been quartered therein, it shall be lawful for the Magistrate of the district, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, to—

Awarding compensation to sufferers from misconduct of inhabitants or persons interested in land.

(a) make an award fixing the amount of compensation payable to the sufferers for the injury caused by or which has ensued from such misconduct;

(b) make an order determining the persons or class or classes of persons, being inhabitants of or having interest in land in such part as aforesaid, by whom the amount so awarded shall be paid; and

(c) make an order assessing the proportion in which the same shall be paid by each such person or class of persons according to his judgment of their respective means:

Provided that no portion of the compensation so awarded shall be payable by any person or class of persons whom the Magistrate shall, in such order, declare to be innocent of complicity with the misconduct.

"15B. An order made under section 15, clause (b), or an award or order made under section 15A shall not take effect until it has been confirmed by the Commissioner of the division or, where there is no Commissioner, by the Local Government.

Confirmation of orders and award under sections 15, clause (b), and 15A.

"15C. When an assessment made under section 15A has been confirmed under the last foregoing section, the amount assessed shall be recoverable, under the warrant of the Magistrate of the district, in the manner provided by sections 386 and 387 of the Code of Criminal Procedure for the recovery of fines."

Recovery of amount assessed under section 15A.

X of 1882.

6. In section 29 of the said Act, after the words "for the period" of two months" the following shall be added, namely:

Addition to section 29, Act V, 1861, respecting overstay of leave.

"or who, being absent on leave, shall fail, without reasonable cause, to report himself for duty on the expiration of such leave."

7. To section 30 of the said Act the following shall be added, namely:

Addition to section 30, Act V, 1861.

"And may also, in the case of any assembly or procession which in the judgment of the Magistrate of the district would, if uncontrolled, be likely to cause a breach of the peace, issue a license for the purpose of defining the conditions on which alone the assembly or procession is to be permitted to take place and otherwise giving effect to this section."

8. To section 31 of the said Act the following shall be added, namely:

Addition to section 31, Act V, 1861.

"It shall be competent to any Magistrate or police-officer not below the rank of an Inspector to stop any procession, and call on it or any assembly which violates the conditions of a license granted under the last foregoing section to disperse."

9. For sections 37, 38, 39 and 40 of the said Act the following section shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new section for sections 37, 38, 39 and 40, Act V, 1861.

"37. The provisions of sections 64 to 70, both inclusive, of the Indian Penal Code, and of sections 386, 387 and 389 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1882, with respect to fines, shall apply to penalties and fines imposed under this Act on conviction before a Magistrate."

Recovery of penalties and fines imposed by Magistrates.

XLV of 1860.

X of 1882.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to amend Act V of 1861 (An Act for the Regulation of Police). The Bill is partly based upon recommendations submitted by the Government of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and the Committee appointed in those Provinces for the reform of the police-force. It is also designed to remedy certain defects in the Act of 1861 which have been brought to notice by judicial interpretations of that Act, and to supply provision for some contingencies which the Act does not at present meet.

2. Section 1 of the Bill is intended to remove any doubts as to the legal powers vested in an Assistant District Superintendent of Police or other person whom the Local Government may find it necessary to appoint to the charge of the police of a district.

3. By section 2 certain disciplinary punishments, recommended by the North-Western Provinces and Oudh Police Committee, are added to the punishments specified in section 7 of the Act.

4. It has been held by two High Courts that at present a policeman when suspended, even temporarily, ceases to be a member of the police-force and is no longer amenable to the provisions of Act V of 1861. Section 3 of the Bill will enact that a police-officer shall not by reason of being suspended from office cease to be a police-officer or to be subject to responsibilities and discipline as such.

5. Section 4 will allow a discretion, which has been recognized as desirable, to levy the cost of an additional police-force from those persons only whose conduct has rendered the employment of the additional force necessary. Landholders, though not in person resident in the area affected, will unless exempted also be liable to contribute. It is proposed by section 5 that in some cases, where an additional police-force is not imposed, those who would be liable for its maintenance should pay compensation to persons injured.

6. In section 6 is embodied a recommendation submitted by the Government of Bengal that a police-officer who fails to return to duty after leave should be subjected to the penal provisions of section 29 of the Police Act, which apply to an officer who withdraws from his duties without permission or without giving previous notice for the period of two months.

7. Section 32, Act V of 1861, renders liable to fine any person who violates the conditions of a license granted by the District Superintendent or Assistant District Superintendent of Police for the use of music or for the conduct of assemblies and processions: but the provision empowering these officers to grant the license is not distinct. Section 7 of the Bill will expressly authorize the superior police-officers, in the case of any assembly or procession which requires control, to issue a license specifying the conditions on which it may take place. Section 8 will empower any Magistrate or police-officer not below the rank of Inspector to call on any procession or assembly to disperse which violates the conditions of a license granted as above.

8. The general provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure and the Indian Penal Code, in respect to the levy of fines, being sufficient to meet the case of penalties and fines imposed under the Police Act on conviction before a Magistrate, are substituted by section 9 of the Bill for the sections relating to distress in the Act of 1861, which are now not wholly appropriate for the purpose in view.

The 18th October, 1894.

Deputy Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 18th October, 1894:

NO. 16 OF 1894.

A Bill to amend the Burma Boundaries Act, 1880.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Burma Boundaries Act, 1880, with a view to protect all permanent survey-marks made or placed in the course of any survey executed by order of Government; It is hereby enacted as follows:

V of 1880.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Burma Boundaries Act Amendment Act, 1894.

Title, extent and commencement.

(2) It extends to the whole of Burma (inclusive of Upper Burma), except the Shan States; and

(3) It shall come into force at once.

2. For the preamble of the said Burma Boundaries Act, 1880, the following shall be substituted, namely:

of 1880.

Substitution of new preamble to Act V of 1880.

"WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the demarcation of land and for the establishment and maintenance of boundary and survey marks in Burma; It is hereby enacted as follows:—".

Preamble.

3. The following section shall be added after section 1 of the said Act, namely:

Addition of section after section 1 of same Act.

"1A. In this Act,—

"'Survey-mark' means any pillar, pipe post or other mark placed by or by order of any officer appointed by the Local Government to make a survey of any land on or within the boundaries of such land for the purpose of indicating survey points or lines."

Definition of "survey-mark."

4. Section 27 of the said Act shall be repealed.

Repeal of section 27 of same Act.

5. For section 28 of the said Act the following sections shall be substituted, namely:

Substitution of new sections for section 28 of same Act.

"28. When any officer is appointed by the Government to make a survey of any land, the Chief Commissioner may invest such officer, for the purposes of such survey, with all or any of the powers conferred on Demarcation officers by sections 4 to 9 (both inclusive), and also with power to cause any boundary or survey or other marks to be erected by the owners or occupiers of any land, or to erect such marks and to charge the cost of such erection to such owners or occupiers.

Survey-officer.

"All the provisions of sections 23 to 26 (both inclusive) shall apply to such marks and the officer invested with such powers shall have all the powers of a Boundary-officer under the said sections.

"28A. It shall be the duty of every village-headman and thugyi and of every owner or occupier of land,—

Duties of village-officers and of owners and occupiers of land.

(a) so far as he lawfully can, to prevent the destruction, injury or alteration of any boundary or survey mark within the local limits of his jurisdiction or on or within the land owned or occupied by him, as the case may be;

(b) whenever he becomes aware that any such boundary or survey mark has been destroyed, injured or altered, to report immediately to the officer in charge of the nearest police-station or to the nearest Magistrate such destruction, injury or alteration."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to amend the Burma Boundaries Act, V of 1880, with a view to protect all permanent survey-marks made or placed in the course of any survey executed by order of Government.

2. Though section 28 of the Act already confers power on Survey-officers to erect "other" as well as boundary marks, it is nevertheless desirable to make it clear by legislation that these "other" marks include all survey-marks, and further to provide for the application to such marks of the sections of the Act relating to the apportionment of the expense incurred in erecting boundary-marks, and the preservation and repair of such marks. It also is expedient to define the term "survey-mark," to impose like duties on village-officers with regard to such marks as are now imposed on them with regard to boundary-marks, and to extend these duties to owners and occupiers of land.

3. As Act V of 1880, which only applies proprio vigore to Lower Burma, has been extended by notification under the Scheduled Districts Act to the whole of Upper Burma, except the Shan States, the local extent of the Bill is made to cover the whole of Burma with the same exception.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

IN the Tariff Act passed in March last cotton yarns and piece-goods remained exempt from duty. The existing state of the finances is such as to render necessary the revenue to be derived from the duties on these classes of goods, and this Bill is introduced to authorize the levy of them. The opportunity has been taken of introducing several detailed amendments which the experience of the past eight months has shown to be desirable, and of which the object is to make the Tariff classifications more clear and precise and more easy of application.

The 17th December, 1894.

J. WESTLAND.

J. M. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 17th December, 1894:—

No. 18 OF 1894.

A Bill to provide for the Imposition and Levy of certain Duties on Cotton Goods.

WHEREAS it is expedient to impose certain duties on cotton goods; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PRELIMINARY.

Title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Cotton Duties Act, 1894.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India; and

(3) It shall come into force at once.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "the Principal Act" means the Sea VIII of 1878. Customs Act, 1878:

(2) "Chief Customs Authority" means, in the Presidency of Fort St. George, and the territories respectively under the administration of the Lieutenant-Governors of Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, the Board of Revenue; in the Presidency of Bombay outside Sind, the Commissioner of Customs; in Sind, the Commissioner; in the Punjab and Burma, the Financial Commissioner; and elsewhere the Local Government or such officer as the Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office:

(3) "Collector" means the Customs Collector mentioned in the Principal Act, and includes,—

(a) in any place for which there is no Customs Collector appointed, the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the district, unless the Local Government shall otherwise so direct, and

(b) every officer for the time being duly authorised to perform all or any of the duties of a Collector under this Act:

(4) "mill" means any building or place where cotton fibre is spun or otherwise converted into yarn, or where yarn is woven, by machinery, or by the use of any motive force other than manual labour:

(5) "warehouse" means a place licensed for the storage of yarn under this Act, and includes every public or private warehouse duly appointed or licensed under section 15 or 16 of the Principal Act, or under section 2 of the Inland Bonded XXI of 1887. Warehouses Act, 1887; and (6) "cotton yarn" means yarn wholly or partly composed of cotton fibres.

Performance of duties of Customs Officers and subordinate officers.

3. The officers subordinate to a Collector shall, unless the Local Government shall otherwise so direct, for the purposes of this Act perform the duties imposed and exercise the powers conferred upon officers of Customs under the Principal Act.

PART I.

EXCISE.

Application of Sea Customs Act.

Modifications to be made in Sea Customs Act as applied to this Part.

4. In the application of the Principal Act or any particular section or sections thereof to this Part the following modifications shall be made therein, namely—

(a) "the owner of the goods" shall include the managing agent or other principal officer of a mill;

(b) for "the bill-of-entry or shipping-bill" shall be substituted "the return required by this Act;"

(c) every reference to a warehouse, or warehousing, shall be construed as referring to a "warehouse" as hereinbefore defined.

Duties.

Imposition of duties on cotton yarns produced in British Indian mills.

5. There shall be levied and collected at every mill in British India, upon all cotton yarns produced in such mill, a duty at the rate for the time being prescribed in the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, for the levy of duty in respect of cotton yarns imported by sea:

Provided that no duty shall be levied upon yarns of the count or number of 20 or less:

Provided also that the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, exempt from duty any yarns of any count or number not exceeding 24.

Explanation.—Yarn is said to be "produced" within the meaning of this Act—

(a) in the case of yarn which is reeled and bundled in the mill in which it is spun—when it is so bundled;

(b) in the case of yarn which is woven in the mill in which it is spun—when it is passed from the spinning into the weaving section of the mill.

(c) in any other case—when it is issued out of the premises of the mill

Power to Governor General in Council to fix tariff values of such yarns.

6. (1) The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, fix, for the purpose of levying the said duties, tariff values of all such yarns as aforesaid or of any particular count or counts thereof, and alter any tariff values for the time being in force.

(2) In the absence of any notification under sub-section (1), the tariff values for the time being fixed for the purpose of the levy of duty in respect of such yarns when imported by sea shall be the tariff values for the purpose of the levy of duty under this Act.

(3) Such tariff value shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the "real value" of the yarns to which it applies, but save as aforesaid all yarns shall be assessed under this Act at their real value as defined in section 30 of the Principal Act.

Delivery of monthly returns of yarn produced by millowners.

7. (1) The owner of every mill shall prepare and deliver, or cause to be prepared and delivered, to the Collector, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, a return of all cotton yarn produced at his mill during the preceding month, whether liable to duty or not; and shall subscribe a declaration of the truth of such statement at the foot of such return.

(2) Every such return shall state for each count or number of yarn the quantity produced during the preceding month under each of the three heads mentioned in the explanation to section 5, and in the case of dutiable yarn the real value of such yarn.

(3) Every such return shall also contain such further information and be in such form and be subject to such conditions as to verification and otherwise as may be prescribed by any rules under this Act.

Assessment of duty and notice requiring payment.

8. (1) The Collector shall thereupon assess the duties, if any, payable in respect of the month to which the return relates, and unless the amount thereof is immediately tendered shall cause a notice, in such form as may be prescribed by any rules under this Act, to be served on the owner requiring him to make payment of the amount assessed within ten days of the date of service of the said notice.

(2) A notice under sub-section (1) may be served on the owner of a mill by delivering or tendering to him or his agent at his ordinary place of business a copy of the notice, or, if this cannot be conveniently done, by fixing a copy of the notice on one of the outer doors of the mill.

Application of certain sections of Sea Customs Act to assessment and recovery of duties under this Act.

9. Sections 30 to 34, 37, and 39 to 41, all inclusive, of the Principal Act, shall apply to the assessment and recovery of the duties imposed by this Act:

Provided that the rate of duty and the tariff valuation applicable to any yarn which has not been warehoused as hereinafter provided shall be those in force at the time when the yarn was produced, and not when the return was delivered as provided by the said section 37.

Recovery of unpaid duty.

10. (1) If any duty payable under this Act is not paid within the time fixed by any such notice as aforesaid for the payment thereof, the Collector may, in lieu thereof, recover any sum not exceeding double the amount of duty so unpaid, which he shall, in his discretion, think it reasonable to require.

(2) All sums recoverable under the last foregoing sub-section shall be recovered in the manner provided in Act II of 1886, section 30, sub-sections (1), (2) and (3), with respect to the sums therein referred to.

Warehousing.

Licensing of warehouses for storage of yarn, and fees for same.

11. (1) The Chief Customs Authority may from time to time license any room or place as a warehouse for the storage of yarn, and for the purposes of this Act every such place shall be deemed to be a warehouse and to have been duly licensed under the Principal Act.

(2) There shall be payable in respect of every such warehouse such and the like licensing fees and other payments as may for the time being be payable in respect of a private warehouse licensed under the Principal Act:

Provided that the Chief Customs Authority may remit the whole or any part of such fees or other payments in respect of any particular warehouse.

Permission to deposit yarn in warehouses.

12. (1) The owner of any mill may apply for leave to deposit in a warehouse any yarn in respect of which duty has become leviable under section 5 and which has not been issued out of the mill.

(2) Such application shall be in writing signed by the applicant, and shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Chief Customs Authority.

Application to yarn so deposited of provisions of Chapter XI of Sea Customs Act.

13. All the provisions of Chapter XI of the Principal Act, so far as the same are applicable to imported goods of a similar description, shall apply to all yarn in respect of which an application has been made under section 12.

Exemption from assessment of yarn so deposited.

14. When any yarn has been deposited in a warehouse, the quantity and particulars thereof shall be specified as so deposited in the return made under section 7 for the month in which the yarn was produced, and the said yarn shall be omitted in the assessment and collection of duty.

Inspection.

Power to Collector to inspect mills, and take copies of records and accounts.

15. (1) The Collector, or any officer duly appointed by the Local Government in that behalf, shall have free access at reasonable times during working hours to any mill.

(2) Any such officer may, at any time, with or without notice to the owner, examine the working records, sale records, and accounts of any mill, and take copies of, or extracts from, all or any of the said records or accounts, for the purpose of testing the accuracy of any return, or of informing himself as to any particulars regarding which information is required for the purposes of this Act or any rules thereunder.

Information acquired to be deemed official secrets within meaning of Act XV of 1889.

16. (1) All such copies and extracts, and all other information acquired by any such officer on the inspection of any mill or warehouse, shall be regarded as strictly confidential, and shall be deemed to be official secrets.

(2) If any such officer shall disclose to any person other than a superior officer any such official secret as aforesaid without the previous consent in writing of the Chief Customs Authority, he shall be guilty of a breach of official trust, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punishable in the manner provided by section of 1889. of the Indian Official Secrets Act, 1889.

(3) The restriction imposed by section 5 of the last-mentioned Act shall not apply to a prosecution for a breach of an official trust under this Act.

Export and Drawback.

Grant of certificate when dutiable yarn is to be exported to foreign port.

17. If any dutiable yarn is exported by sea to any foreign port before the return in respect of it has been delivered to the Collector under section 7, the owner of the mill in which it was produced may apply to the Collector at the port of shipment, who, on being satisfied that such yarn has actually been shipped for export, shall grant him a certificate stating the quantity and particulars of such yarn, and that it has actually been so shipped.

When certificate granted, yarns to be exempt from duty.

18. When any certificate has been granted under section 17, the quantity and particulars of the yarn stated therein shall be specified as so shipped in the return made under section 7 for the month to which the yarn relates, and the said goods shall be omitted in the assessment and collection of duty.

Repayment of duties paid in case of yarns exported to foreign ports.

19. When any yarn upon which duty has been paid under this Act is exported by sea from any customs port to any foreign port, such duty shall, except as otherwise herein provided, be repaid as drawback:

Provided that in every such case the yarn has not been woven into cloth or otherwise altered in character since the payment of duty, and is identified to the satisfaction of the Collector at the port of shipment, and that the export is made within two years from the date of payment of the duty, or within such further time as the Chief Customs Authority on sufficient cause shown may in any case determine.

Repayment of duties in case of certain cotton fabrics exported to foreign ports.

20. (1) When any cotton fabrics woven in a mill in India and composed in whole or in part of dutiable counts of yarn are exported by sea from any customs port to any foreign port, the exporter may apply to the Customs Collector at the port of shipment for the repayment as drawback of any duty which may have been paid under this Act in respect of such yarn.

(2) In every application made under sub-section (1) the applicant must state—

(a) the quantities and counts of yarns in respect of which drawback is claimed, the mill at which they were produced, and, as nearly as possible, the dates on which they were produced;

(b) the mill at which, and, as nearly as possible, the dates on which the fabric was woven.

21. The drawback shall be allowed by the Collector if it is proved to his satisfaction—

When such refunds may be granted.

(1) that the said fabric has been woven within six months of the date on which it is shipped for export;

(2) that the yarns in respect of which drawback is applied for have paid duty within the said six months.

22. The Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, prohibit the payment of drawback on the exportation of yarn or cotton fabrics to any specified foreign port.

Power to prohibit repayment of duty in case of exportation to certain ports.

23. Notwithstanding anything herein contained, no drawback shall be allowed in respect of any yarn or cotton fabrics on which duty has been paid—

No repayment of duty to be granted in certain cases.

(a) when the goods are of less value than the amount of drawback claimed, or

(b) when the claim is for drawback amounting to less than five rupees in respect of any single shipment.

24. Sections 51 and 52 of the Principal Act shall apply to every claim for drawback under this Act.

Application of sections 51 and 52 of Sea Customs Act to claims under this Act.

Offences and Penalties.

25. The offences mentioned in the first column of the following schedule shall be punishable to the extent mentioned in the second column thereof with reference to such offences respectively:—

Punishments for offences.

1. Contravening any rule made under this Act.	Penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees.
2. Concealing or attempting to conceal or knowingly permitting or procuring to be concealed, any yarn liable to duty under this Act with intent to evade payment of the duty or any part thereof.	Such yarn shall be liable to confiscation, and every person convicted of the offence shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding three times the value of the yarn.
3. Omitting to make any return required by section 7 or refusing to sign or complete the same.	Penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.
4. Making and delivering any such return containing any statement not true to the best of the information and belief of the person making the same.	The penalty provided in the Indian Penal Code, section 199, for making a false statement in a declaration.
5. Altering or falsifying any record or book of account kept in the mill with the intention of defrauding the revenue.	The penalty provided in the Indian Penal Code, section 465, for the commission of forgery. XLV of 1860
6. Omitting to keep such proper records and books of account as may be prescribed by any rule under this Act.	Penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees and a further penalty of twenty rupees for every day after the date of the conviction during which the offence is continued.
7. Omitting to make and deliver any return which by any rule under this Act ought to have been made and delivered.	Penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.
8. Intentionally obstructing any Collector or other Officer in the exercise of any powers given under this Act.	Imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, or both.
9. If any yarn in respect of which a certificate has been obtained under section 17, or on the entry of which for export drawback has been paid, are not duly exported or are unshipped or relanded at any customs port, not having been duly entered and discharged under the provisions of the Principal Act.	Such yarn, together with any vessel used in the unshipping or relanding them, shall be liable to confiscation, and the master of the vessel from which such yarn is so unshipped or relanded, and any person by whom or by whose orders or means such yarn is so unshipped or relanded, or who aids or is concerned in such unshipping or relanding, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding three times the value of such yarn, or not exceeding one thousand rupees.
10. If any yarn or cotton fabrics are entered for drawback which are of less value than the drawback claimed.	Such goods shall be liable to confiscation.
11. If any yarn is found concealed in any place, box or closed receptacle in any mill and is not duly accounted for to the satisfaction of the Collector.	Such yarn shall be liable to confiscation.
12. If any yarn is found in any mill in excess of the quantity entered in the return or not corresponding with the statement therein contained.	Such yarn shall be liable to confiscation or to be charged with such increased duty as the Chief Customs Authority may direct.
13. If when any cotton goods are passed by tale or by package any omission or misdescription thereof tending to injure the revenue be discovered.	The person guilty of such omission or misdescription shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten times the amount of duty which might have been lost to Government by such omission or misdescription, unless it be proved to the satisfaction of the Collector or other officer that the variance was accidental.
14. The offences described in the Principal Act, section 167, Schedule, Nos. 41—53, both inclusive, in reference to warehousing of dutiable goods.	The penalties prescribed in the same Schedule in respect of such offences respectively.

26. All offences against this Act may be tried summarily by a District or Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the First Class.

Magistrates having jurisdiction.

27. Section 168 of the Principal Act, shall apply to all cases of confiscation of goods under this Act.

Application of section 168 of Sea Customs Act to cases of confiscation under this Act.

28. All the provisions of Chapter XVII of the Principal Act, except sections 169, 170, 177, 182, 184, 185, 187, 190, 191 and 193, shall apply to all proceedings under this Act.

Application of certain provisions of same Act to proceedings under this Act.

29. The Local Government may, on the application of any person aggrieved by any decision or order passed under this Act, reverse or modify such decision or order.

Power to Local Government to reverse or modify orders under Act.

Miscellaneous.

30. (1) The Collector or any officer appointed under section 15 may at any time take samples of any yarn for examination or for ascertaining the count or value thereof, or for any other necessary purpose.

Power to take samples.

(2) Every such sample shall, if practicable, be restored to the owner, or, at his option, sold by the Collector, and the proceeds accounted for to the owner.

31. The provisions of section 198 of the Principal Act shall apply to all proceedings for anything purporting to have been done in pursuance of this Act.

Provisions of section 198 of Sea Customs Act to apply to proceedings under this Act.

32. The Governor General in Council may from time to time make rules under this Act—

Power to make rules.

(a) prescribing the form of any return required by this Act and the particulars to be contained therein respectively, and the manner in which the same is to be verified, and all such other conditions in respect thereof as may be necessary:

(b) prescribing the form of the notice to be issued by the Collector under section 8:

(c) regulating the inspection of mills, and the powers and duties of Collectors in respect thereof:

(d) regulating the provision of warehouses under this Act, and the deposit and discharge of yarn therein and therefrom, and the powers and duties of the Collector in respect thereof:

(e) prescribing the records and books of accounts to be kept by owners of mills under this Act:

(f) prescribing arrangements under which the requirements of section 21 shall be deemed to have been sufficiently complied with: and

(g) generally for carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

33. The provisions of sections 201, 204, 205 and 206 of the Principal Act shall be deemed to be incorporated in this Part.

Certain provisions of Sea Customs Act to be incorporated in this Part.

PART II.

INLAND CUSTOMS DUTIES.

34. (1) Duties of customs shall be levied at the rates for the time being prescribed in the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, upon cotton yarn, and upon cotton manufactures of all kinds, passing into British India out of any territory declared, under the power hereinafter in this section conferred, to be foreign territory. VIII of 1894.

Levy of duties on cotton yarns and manufactures passing into British India from foreign territory.

(2) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare that the territory of any Native Prince or Chief under the suzerainty of Her Majesty not forming part of British India shall be deemed, for the purposes of this section, to be foreign territory.

(3) The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, prohibit or restrict the bringing of cotton yarns or cotton manufactures into British India from any such foreign territory, or may prescribe the routes by which alone they may be brought.

35. The provisions of the Principal Act as to drawback on export shall apply to all yarns upon which duty has been paid under this Part.

Application of provisions of Sea Customs Act as to drawback to yarn taxed under this Part.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE finer classes of cotton manufacture in India enter into direct competition with the cotton manufactures imported from England. As it is intended to weight these last with an import-duty, it is considered necessary to levy at the same time a countervailing duty upon the competitive classes of Indian manufactures.

Abstract of the Proceedings of the Council of the Governor General of India assembled for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

ABSTRACT OF THE PROCEEDINGS OF THE COUNCIL OF THE GOVERNOR GENERAL OF INDIA ASSEMBLED FOR THE PURPOSE OF MAKING LAWS AND REGULATIONS UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF THE INDIAN COUNCILS ACTS, 1861 AND 1892 (24 & 25 VICT., CAP. 67, AND 55 & 56 VICT., CAP. 14).

The Council met at Viceregal Lodge, Simla, on Thursday, the 12th July, 1894.

PRESENT:

His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General of India, P.C., LL.D., G.M.S.I., G.M.I.E., presiding.
His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, K.C.S.I.
His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, K.C.B., G.C.I.E., V.C.
The Hon'ble Sir A. E. Miller, KT., Q.C.
The Hon'ble Lieutenant-General H. Brackenbury, K.C.B., R.A.
The Hon'ble Sir C. B. Pritchard, K.C.I.E., C.S.I.
The Hon'ble J. Westland, C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Sir A. P. MacDonnell, K.C.S.I.
The Hon'ble Baba Khem Singh Bedi, C.I.E.

NEW MEMBER.

The Hon'ble BABA KHEM SINGH BEDI took his seat as an Additional Member of Council.

PRESIDENCY SMALL CAUSE COURTS ACT, 1882, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER said:—"Before I make the first Motion, I have to ask, under circumstances which I will describe, that Your Excellency would suspend the 24th Rule of Business, in which it is provided that the Select Committee to which any Bill is referred shall state whether it has been so altered as to require republication, &c. By some accident—I will not attempt to determine who is to blame for it—I daresay I am, more or less, myself—the Select Committee to which this Bill was referred, having a great deal of matter before them which required consideration, omitted at the last moment to provide for this purely formal regulation, and the result is that, under the 24th Rule of Business, the Report is an incomplete one, and, if it were convenient, I should suggest that the Committee should be called again together pro formâ, for the purpose of completing its Report; but under the circumstances—this Committee having sat in Calcutta, one member being now in Calcutta and another in Bombay—this is practically impossible, and, as the matter is purely formal, I would ask Your Excellency to suspend this Rule of Business in order that the Council may now proceed to the consideration of the Report. It is entirely a matter for Your Excellency to decide."

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said:—"I think that, under the circumstances as stated by the Hon'ble Member, the Rule may be suspended in this case."

The Rule was accordingly suspended.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act, 1882, be taken into consideration. He said:—"I may state that I have received two telegrams from public bodies in Calcutta—one of them the Bengal Chamber of Commerce—pointing out, what is perfectly true, that, according to the ordinary practice, no Bill of a commercial or a controversial character ought to be passed except at Calcutta; and, if this Bill had not been practically settled in Calcutta and the entire discussion of it had not taken place there, I should not have thought of asking the Council to pass it in Simla. But the facts as regards the Bill are somewhat peculiar; it was discussed in Calcutta during two cold seasons; the Bill, in its original form, was discussed in Calcutta as long ago as 1892-93, and then the objections to the Bill were not only considered at considerable length, but they were sent home for the consideration of the Secretary of State in Council, and he expressed a wish to see the form in which the Bill was eventually passed through the Select Committee before any other step was taken. During the last Calcutta session the Bill was before a Select Committee, and my hon'ble friend Sir Antony MacDonnell, who was on the Committee, will bear me out in saying that it was considered with great care by that Committee, that all the points which were controversial were then and there discussed, and that a settlement was come to with the consent of the whole Committee, (I do not think there was any actual division on any occasion,) and the Bill as settled by the Committee would have been, in due course, passed during the last Calcutta session had it not been for the fact that the Secretary of State desired to see it before it was finally disposed of. Under these circumstances I stated in Calcutta at the time that my only reason for not asking the Council then and there to take the Bill into consideration was that we were under an obligation to send it home to the Secretary of State in Council. That was accordingly done, and we have received a despatch from the Secretary of State in Council stating that he has no further objections to the Bill; and, under these circumstances, I think that the rule that Bills of this character should be discussed and settled in Calcutta has been substantially complied with, and that there is not sufficient reason for postponing until the next cold weather the mere formal passing of the Bill as it has come from the Select Committee. It is a matter which I desire to leave in the hands of the Council. If it is considered that there is any reason for postponing the Bill for the next few months I should not press it, but I think myself that the rule has been substantially complied with, and, if so, there is another reason why the Bill should now pass into law—and if that view commends itself to the Council there is good reason for not delaying it—namely, that the best time for introducing any change such as the Bill proposes is at the end of the vacation. I propose, if this Bill be taken into consideration now, to bring it into force on the 1st October, so that it will come into force with the new sittings of the Courts, whereas if it be postponed to be passed in Calcutta, it will come in in the middle of the sittings, and consequently at a very awkward time, or be postponed for another twelve months. With these observations I beg to move the Motion in my name."

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL said:—"I should like with reference to this matter to say that from Lord Ripon's time I believe that most measures affecting the commercial interests of the country, or of a controversial character, have been passed by this Council in Calcutta. As my hon'ble friend Sir Alexander Miller has said, I was a member of the Select Committee on this Bill; the President of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Playfair, was also a member; and so was Sir Griffith Evans. The Bill was most carefully discussed, and my remembrance is that the conclusions come to were (if I am not violating the secrecy of the Select Committee) referred to the Chamber of Commerce with the view of procuring their assent to the arrangements come to, and we were informed in Select Committee that the arrangements or proposals made were acceptable to the Chamber of Commerce, and generally to the mercantile community of Calcutta; so that when my hon'ble friend Sir Alexander Miller the other day proposed to bring forward this Bill, I made no objection, because I thought that it would be passed through as a matter of course. Now, however, as objection has been raised to its being proceeded with in Simla by such an influential body as the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, it will, I think, be better if the Bill is submitted to the complete Council and if Your Excellency had the advantage of hearing a debate on the substantive provisions of the measure."

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND said:—"I am afraid I must say that I agree with the Hon'ble Sir Antony MacDonnell in his objection to the Bill being taken up and passed now. The objection seems to me all the stronger for the reason that, as Sir Alexander Miller has explained, the Bill when it came back from the Select Committee was submitted to the Secretary of State at a time when it was still before this Council. I remember the occurrence and my hon'ble friend Sir Alexander Miller's explanation that it was necessary to send the measure to the Secretary of State, because the Secretary of State had desired that it should be seen by him. But I confess that I think such bodies as the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the European and Anglo-Indian Defence Association would have grounds for taking strong exception to the procedure in this Council if a Bill of this kind were withdrawn from the consideration of the Legislative Council by reason of its having been submitted to the Secretary of State, which is practically what would be the result if it were passed at the present sitting."

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY said:—"I have the same feeling. The words of the telegram from the Bengal Chamber of Commerce are 'a strong protest' against the Bill being passed here; and I think it so important that in these commercial matters we should legislate in accord with bodies like the Bengal Chamber of Commerce, rather than in apparent opposition to them, that I would suggest that the Motion should be withdrawn."

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER said:—"I am quite prepared to abide by whatever decision the Council comes to. My only desire was to ascertain the feeling of Hon'ble Members on the subject."

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT said:—"I understand that it is the wish of the Council that the consideration of the Bill should be postponed. I did not think it right to stop it on the technical point raised by the Hon'ble Member in his opening remarks. I do, however, now consider that there is sufficient reason for not proceeding further with the Bill at present."

The Motion that the Report of the Select Committee be taken into consideration was, therefore, withdrawn.

INDIAN PENAL CODE AND ACT VI OF 1864 AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also moved that the Bill to amend the Indian Penal Code and Act VI of 1864 be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Westland, the Hon'ble Sir Antony MacDonnell and the Mover. He said:—"This is a Bill which was introduced at Calcutta. It contains amongst other things a provision for carrying out the international postal arrangement, and the Financial Department are very anxious to get it through as soon as possible. I do not think that it contains anything which is at all of a controversial nature, and it is unquestionably—at any rate so far as the part of it which refers to this international postal arrangement is concerned—of a very urgent character. I do not think therefore that any harm can be done by referring the Bill to a Select Committee; if hereafter it is thought necessary to postpone it, that can be done."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE AND PUNJAB LAWS ACT, 1872, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend certain sections of the Code of Civil Procedure and to repeal certain sections of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872. He said:—"The repeal of certain sections of the Punjab Laws Act is merely consequential and does not really require any explanation. The Bill proposes to alter the Code of Civil Procedure in one or two matters of practice which are said to be inconvenient. The first is that by section 39 of the Code every person appearing as a pleader or vakil in any Court of the country is obliged to produce a written retainer unless he happens to be an advocate of one of the Chartered High Courts, in which case he is entitled to appear, as every barrister in the United Kingdom can do, without producing any written authority for the purpose. It has been found very inconvenient that advocates practising in the Chief Court of the Punjab should be exposed to this difficulty unless they happen to be advocates of one of the other High Courts also, in which case they are not required to produce a written authority; and, looking to the character of the Chief Court of the Punjab—a Court which I confess I regret has not been put in the position of a Chartered High Court—it seemed not only to me but to the other members of the Government to whom the matter was referred some twelve months ago very reasonable that the advocates of the Chief Court of the Punjab should be put in this respect on the same footing as the advocates of the Chartered High Courts; and that is all which the first section of the Bill proposes to do.

"The second section of the Bill is intended to make clear a question on which there has been apparently a difference of opinion in different Courts. The Code as it stands, after providing that the party on whom the proof of the issue lies in any case is to open his case and produce his evidence, goes on to say that the other party shall then state his case and produce his evidence, after which the party on whom the issue lies shall have the right to reply. Some of the Courts construed this to mean that the second party must necessarily state his case first and then produce his evidence, the result being that the counsel for the 'other party'—in most cases the defendant—would ordinarily have no opportunity of commenting upon his own evidence and would be unable to produce before the Court a connected argument putting all the evidence together, would be obliged to rely on his criticisms of the plaintiff's evidence and to leave his own evidence to the criticisms of the plaintiff's counsel unexplained and uncommented on by himself, which of course would be a great hardship. I do not think that the Code was intended to produce such hardship, but as it has been so ruled in some Courts, it has been thought desirable to alter the wording of the section so as to make the matter quite clear; and, therefore, instead of saying 'the other party shall then state his case and produce his evidence, if any,' we propose to add 'and may then address the Court generally on the whole case.' The result will be to leave it in the power of the defendant's counsel to address the Court and sum up his evidence—a practice which prevails, I believe, everywhere except in some very few Courts, where it has been held that the Code of Civil Procedure negatives that practice—a practice which is universal at home, and which seems to me to be necessary in the interests of justice.

"The third section of the Bill provides for an alteration which I believe was originally agreed to as long ago as 1890, but it was not considered pressing, and the alteration was directed to stand over until some other amendment of the Code was in hand. In a case which no doubt most Hon'ble Members will recollect as having created a very great stir at the time—the case of Rukmabhai—it was decided by the High Court at Bombay that where a decree for the restitution of conjugal rights had been made and the defendant refused to comply with the decree, the Court had no option but to sentence her to imprisonment for three months under section 260 of the Code. This was considered a very great hardship at the time, and there was a great deal of discussion upon it, the notes referring to it amounting to—I am speaking from memory—something like one hundred pages in print; but the eventual outcome of the discussion was that it was then considered desirable to extend the discretion of the Court so as to make it unnecessary, unless the Court thought fit, to impose a sentence of imprisonment on the defendant who refused to comply with the decree. Personally I should like to go further and say that no woman should be compelled to live with a man whom she did not care for, and that it would be quite sufficient to determine that she should be civilly responsible for any pecuniary damage which the man sustained and also for damage to his feelings in the ordinary way; but the Government of India considered that that would be going too far and making too great an alteration in the existing law, and they proposed instead not simply to bar the right of imprisonment but to leave it discretionary with the Court whether to send her to jail or not. Of course, no civil remedy which the husband may have is in the least interfered with, and all the civil liabilities to which she is subject at present by law will still remain unaffected if this alteration is made.

"The fourth and fifth sections of the Bill provide that the respondent to an appeal shall get a copy of the memorandum of appeal, so that he may have the fullest possible information as to the grounds on which the decree is appealed from. I do not know how it has come about, for the memorandum of appeal necessarily contains the grounds of appeal, but at present all that the respondent is served with is a notice from the Court that an appeal has been entered, and he has to find out as best he can on what grounds the decree which he has obtained has been appealed from. It has been thought desirable to assimilate the practice in the case of appeals to the practice in the case of the original institution of the suit. In that case a copy of the plaint is given to each of the defendants at the same time as the summons; and if this clause passes, it will practically provide that for the future, when there is an appeal, a copy of the memorandum of appeal will be served on each of the respondents at the same time as the notice of appeal. This seems to me to be a very convenient practice, and one which practically, though not exactly in the same form, prevails in the Appellate Courts in England, and which will really put the practice as to appeals upon the same footing as the Code of Civil Procedure puts the practice as to the original hearing of suits.

"The remaining section of the Bill is merely a repeal of two sections of the Punjab Laws Act which are unnecessary, and the repeal of which is thought desirable by the Punjab Government."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

CANTONMENTS ACT, 1889, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Cantonments Act, 1889. He said:—"I have very little indeed to say upon this Bill. It is a Bill which has been introduced by direction of Her Majesty's Government in order to comply, if this Legislative Council should think fit to do so, with the requirements of the majority of the Commission which sat on the question of the practice of the examination of prostitutes in cantonments. That Commission reported by a majority of three to two that legislation was necessary in order to carry out the Resolution of the House of Commons on that subject, and the result of that decision is that Her Majesty's Government have expressed a wish that this particular Bill, which has been practically, though not formally, drawn in England, should be introduced for the consideration of the Legislative Council."

His Honour THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR said:—"We have not had any statement of what the provisions of the Bill are; so I think it is better that we should reserve any remarks which we have to make on it."

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER said:—"If His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor wishes, I will state what the provisions of the Bill are; but I purposely did not do so because I have explained the circumstances under which it is proposed to introduce the Bill, and I have no desire to express any opinion either way as to the advisability of its provisions."

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL:—"Are we to understand that this Bill is to be taken up in Simla?"

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT:—"I understood not."

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL:—"I ask the question with reference to what His Honour has said. If the Bill is not taken up in Simla, he will not have an opportunity of expressing his views on it. For my own part I think it would be very undesirable that it should be taken up in Simla."

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER:—"I think it necessary that a Bill of this kind, if introduced, should be circulated to Local Governments and Administrations. When that is done, His Honour will have an opportunity in another capacity of expressing his opinion on it."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Thursday, the 2nd August, 1894.

The Council met at Viceregal Lodge, Simla, on Thursday, the 16th August, 1894.

PRESENT:

His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General of India, P.C., LL.D., G.M.S.I., G.M.I.E., presiding.
His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, K.C.S.I.

QUESTION AND ANSWER.

The Hon'ble BABA KHEM SINGH BEDI asked—"Whether the Government will give some explanation of its procedure in selecting in the Notification of last Monday a portion only of the holders of the loan of 1865 for compulsory conversion."

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND replied:

"We have been following in this matter the procedure indicated by Mr. Goschen in his conversion operations in England in 1888. He began with an optional conversion, and declared his intention to deal with the dissentients by paying them off 'in such order, at such time or times, and in such manner, as Parliament may direct' (51 Vict., c. 2).

"In the optional conversion Mr. Goschen proceeded by special legislation, but, considering that in India there might be objections to this course, we preferred adopting our usual procedure and keeping strictly within the conditions set forth in our promissory notes. We notified one of our principal loans for discharge and offered terms of conversion which we declared equally open to the holders of all other loans. Having thus begun by offering equally favourable conditions to all, we consider ourselves free now to deal with those who have not accepted these conditions by paying them off 'in such order, at such time or times, and in such manner,' as may be expedient, and as are within the terms of the contract between the Government and the holders of the notes.

"In proceeding, therefore, to the conversion of other loans we have exercised a liberty which is undoubtedly within our legal rights in notifying for discharge only a portion of one of the loans. If we had selected that portion by the quotation of specific numbers of notes, we believe holders would in many cases have found difficulty in ascertaining whether their notes were within the terms of the notification or not. By describing the portion selected as that on which interest is payable at Calcutta, each holder knows at once to what extent his holding is now notified for discharge. The Calcutta portion of the loan of 1865 was selected as the largest of the five portions into which that loan is divided in the accounts of the Public Debt Office. The holders of that portion of the loan have not, it appears to me, any occasion to complain of their selection, for they cannot imagine they are selected for worse terms than we intend hereafter to offer to other holders.

"We have thought proper to renew for a short period (except to the holders of the balance of the loan of 1842-43 now under discharge) the terms of optional conversion offered on 30th June. We do this so as to put all holders once more on the same level as to the terms we offer, and by doing so to keep ourselves absolutely free in any future operations to deal as we please with each portion of each loan without being bound to offer the terms previously offered to others.

"The holders of the portion of the loan of 1865 now notified for discharge can, if they choose, take advantage of this offer. They have also the option given by the new notification of withholding their tender for conversion till September 15th, but in doing so they will receive payment on the less favourable terms of the new notification."

INDIAN ARTICLES OF WAR BILL.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Articles of War for the Government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces. He said:

"My Lord, the passing by the Imperial Parliament of the Madras and Bombay Armies Act of 1893 abolishing, from a date to be determined by the Governor General in Council, the presidential army system in India, has made it necessary to make certain alterations in Act V of 1869 of the Indian Legislature, known as the Indian Articles of War, in order to bring this Act into accord with the Madras and Bombay Armies Act.

"Legislation for the amendment of the Indian Articles of War having thus become necessary, it has been decided at the same time to make certain further amendments in these Articles which the experience of the last quarter of a century has shown to be necessary or eminently desirable. I therefore ask for leave to introduce a Bill for the above purpose, the details of which will be found sufficiently fully set forth in the Statement of Objects and Reasons.

"The Bill has been prepared in consultation with the Judge Advocate General and the military authorities."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

BURMA MUNICIPAL ACT, 1884, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Burma Municipal Act, 1884. He said:—"The Municipality of Rangoon, it appears, has not got an income sufficient to pay its expenses. The expenses have been very heavy in consequence mainly, I think, of the introduction of a system of sewage which they believe to be a great improvement. They could raise the necessary money by increasing the water-rate and the scavenging-tax, which they have the power to increase to any amount necessary for the purpose of paying the expenses of the improvements; but, for some reason best known to themselves, they desire not to do that, and therefore they want leave to increase the house-tax, which at present is limited to 5 per cent. on the value of the houses in the municipality. They did propose to amalgamate all the taxes into one general tax, but the Government of India, for reasons with which I need not trouble the Council, thought that proposal premature. It is estimated that if they are permitted to raise the house-tax from a maximum of 5 per cent. to 8 per cent., it will just cover the municipal expenditure without leaving them any margin for improvements, but will enable them to go on until such time as the new Bill which they wish to introduce can be examined and, if necessary, passed. On the other hand, it is proposed that they should be allowed to increase this taxation up to a maximum of 10 per cent., which would leave them a moderate, though not excessive, margin for improvements in the meantime while the other Bill is being dealt with. The Government of India has expressed no opinion as to whether 10 or 9 or 8 per cent. would be a proper maximum to introduce as a temporary maximum. They agree to the introduction of the Bill which I now ask leave to introduce, in which the maximum is fixed at 10 per cent.; but it must be clearly understood by the Municipality of Rangoon—and I wish it also to be clearly understood in this Council—that in introducing this Bill the Government is in no way bound to the figure 10, and if the Select Committee should think any lower figure sufficient for the present purpose, there would be no objection made to its being substituted for the other."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the Burma Gazette in English and in such other languages as the Local Administration thinks fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN ARTICLES OF WAR BILL.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY moved that the Bill to amend the Articles of War for the government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces be referred to a Select Committee consisting of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the Hon'ble Sir Alexander Miller, the Hon'ble Sir Antony MacDonnell and the Mover, with instructions to report within one month.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

REPEALING AND AMENDING (ARMY) BILL.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY also moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend certain enactments relating to the Army. He said:—"The Madras and Bombay Armies Act which has been passed by Parliament has thrown certain duties, and conferred certain powers, upon the Government of India and the Commander-in-Chief in India which were formerly thrown upon, or exercised by, the Governments of Madras and Bombay and the Commanders-in-Chief of those Presidencies respectively. It has therefore become necessary to amend certain Acts of the Indian Legislature so as to bring them into accord with the Madras and Bombay Armies Act; and the Bill which I beg to move for leave to introduce is for that purpose.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in English in the Gazette of India and in the local official Gazettes.

ENGINEERS' CERTIFICATES VALIDATION BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND moved for leave to introduce a Bill to validate certain certificates granted to engineers of steam-ships. He said:

"The Bill which I ask the leave of the Council to introduce has for its object the remedying of a mistake of little more than a technical character.

"Under certain Acts of the Governor of Bombay in Council, certificates of competency, which were styled Indian foreign trade certificates of competency, and which were valid only for Indian waters, were granted, after the necessary examinations, to engineers of steam-vessels in Bombay.

"The law under which these certificates were granted was repealed by the Inland Steam-vessels Act (VI of 1884), and an Act passed at the same time, the Indian Steam-ships Act (VII of 1884), provided a system of examination and a prescribed certificate, which after the date on which the Act came into operation should have taken the place of the examination and certificate of the former Bombay system. This certificate is of a somewhat higher character than the Indian foreign trade certificate of the Bombay system, being valid outside Indian waters, and being recognised by the Board of Trade.

"The Bombay authorities, however, failed to observe the repeal of their local Act under which these examinations were held and certificates given, and up till February, 1893, when the fact was brought to their notice, they continued to issue the Indian foreign trade certificates under the supposed authority of the repealed Act. About eighty such certificates have been issued, and under the circumstances explained they have no legal validity.

"Now, under the Steam-ships Act (VII of 1884), a certificate cannot be granted to a steam-ship unless the surveyor has first found the steam-ship complete in certain particulars, one of which is that the certificates of the engineer are 'such and in such condition as are required by any law for the time being in force and applicable to the steam-ship.' The certificate I refer to being invalid—a certificate of survey—has, strictly speaking, to be refused to a steam-ship if its engineer possesses only this invalid qualification.

"It is considered unfair to the men who hold these invalid certificates to recall them and so deprive the holders of their means of livelihood. It would be unfair to require them at the peril of losing their means of livelihood to qualify by the examination prescribed under the later Act for the higher certificate required under the existing law. Their certificates, though legally invalid, are really evidence of the possession of the necessary qualifications for their present employment within the limits prescribed in them.

"The object of the present law therefore is to declare these certificates to be legal to the same extent as they would be if the law under which they were granted had continued in force up to the time when they were granted. They will not have the greater, or rather wider, validity of certificates under the existing Act."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in English in the Gazette of India and in the Bombay Government Gazette.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE AND PUNJAB LAWS ACT, 1872, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER moved that the Bill to amend certain sections of the Code of Civil Procedure and to repeal certain sections of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Sir Antony MacDonnell, the Hon'ble Baba Khem Singh Bedi and the Mover, with instructions to report within one month. He said:—"The Bill is practically one of procedure merely. It mainly affects the Punjab. I cannot say that there is absolutely nothing in it controversial, because there is one section which has given rise to a good deal of criticism both favourable and the contrary. But there is nothing in the least of a commercial nature in the Bill, or such as is required to be reserved for discussion in Calcutta, and I think it will be convenient to have it settled here, although I do not think there will be time to pass it. It will probably have to be passed in Calcutta, but I think we can conveniently get it through the Select Committee stage in Simla."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

BURMA MUNICIPAL ACT, 1884, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also moved that the Bill to amend the Burma Municipal Act, 1884, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Sir Antony MacDonnell, the Hon'ble Mr. Westland and the Mover, with instructions to report at the next meeting of the Council. He said:—"It will be remembered that this is a small Bill of a single section, and the only question for the Select Committee is to what extent the powers of the Rangoon Municipality to raise additional taxation are to be increased."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

REPEALING AND AMENDING (ARMY) BILL.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY moved that the Bill to amend certain enactments relating to the Army be referred to a Select Committee consisting of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the Hon'ble Sir Alexander Miller, the Hon'ble Sir Antony MacDonnell and the Mover, with instructions to present its Report with the Report on the Bill to amend the Articles of War for the government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

LOWER BURMA VILLAGE ACT, 1889, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Lower Burma Village Act, 1889. He said:—"That Act, as the Council know, established a village-system in Lower Burma, and conferred on the village-headman certain powers, while imposing on him certain duties and responsibilities of an executive and fiscal character. Among these duties are the prevention of public nuisances and the promotion of general sanitation of the village. It has, however, been prominently brought to the notice of the Government of India that very great loss is annually caused to the Burmese people by the ravages of cattle-disease. Burma is an almost purely agricultural country; cattle form a large part of the wealth of the people, and the question of the preservation of cattle is therefore one of great importance in Burma. This question has engaged the special attention of the Local Administration for many years. It was considered seriously so far back as 1879, and has been, from time to time, during the last fifteen years, more or less carefully discussed. Sir Charles Bernard, than whom Burma has had no sincerer friend, was, after careful enquiry, brought to accept the desirability of legislation in 1885; but the time was not opportune. The disturbances in Burma broke out in the end of that year, and it was not till 1889 that the matter was again considered in connexion with the establishment of the village-system in Burma, with which Sir Charles Crosthwaite's name is so honourably associated. Sir Charles Crosthwaite was disposed to include measures for the prevention of cattle-disease among the duties of the village-headman; but the idea was not then carried into effect, possibly through fear of overweighting the newly created village-officials with responsibilities and duties.

"Afterwards the question was taken up by Sir Alexander Mackenzie, who was compelled to go on leave before his plans had been matured. But they were prosecuted by his successor, Mr. Fryer, who, backed by a great weight of official and non-official opinion, submitted a Bill for the consideration of the Government of India; and this Bill was endorsed by Sir Alexander Mackenzie on his return to duty this year.

"Thus, my Lord, the proposal to legislate on this subject comes before this Council backed up by the authority of four successive Chief Commissioners, and supported by a very important and weighty body of official and non-official opinion. Indeed, such dissentient voices as are heard object not so much to the substance of legislation as to the form which it was proposed the legislation should take. The question then which in this connexion the Government of India was called on to decide was whether the legislation should be by a special Act providing a special procedure and a special organization for giving effect to it, or whether it should be by an enlargement of the functions of the village-headman, as was proposed in 1889. We had in the Madras Cattle-diseases Act of 1866 a precedent for a special Act. After the fullest deliberation, the Government of India has come to the conclusion that it is better to proceed cautiously and tentatively, and without special compulsion to keep behind rather than abreast of advanced opinion in Burma on this matter; not to take any step which, if wrong, cannot be at once retraced; and, above all, not to take the matter out of the hands of the people themselves, or impose conditions which are not in harmony with their wishes and customs. This policy can be better carried out by an amendment of the Village Act in the way now proposed than by a special enactment. Ultimately, when through practice we see our way more clearly, and, if the people demand it, a special law of a more comprehensive nature may be required; but for the present we think it better to proceed on a system which can, without difficulty, be adjusted to the wishes of the people and the requirements of time and place.

"The Chief Commissioner, Sir Alexander Mackenzie, accepts this procedure; and the short Bill which I ask for leave to introduce will be presented to the Council with his concurrence. Practically it consists only of one clause, as it re-enacts or reproduces two other clauses which already exist in the law. The new clause merely imposes upon the village-headman the duty of taking precautions, subject to rules made by the Local Government, to secure the cure or prevention of cattle-disease. The Act will apply to Lower Burma only; a similar change will be introduced into the Upper Burma Village Regulation under the powers conferred on the Governor General in Council by the Statute 33 Vict., c. 3."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the Burma Gazette in English and in such other languages as the Local Administration thinks fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN ARTICLES OF WAR BILL.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Articles of War for the government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces. He said that he proposed at the next meeting of Council to move that the Report be taken into consideration, and that he would reserve such few remarks as he had to make until then.

REPEALING AND AMENDING (ARMY) BILL.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY also presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend certain enactments relating to the Army. He said that he would also ask that this Report be taken into consideration next week.'

BURMA MUNICIPAL ACT, 1884, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Burma Municipal Act, 1884. He said that he hoped to be able to move that the Report be taken into consideration next week.

LOWER BURMA VILLAGE ACT, 1889, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL moved that the Bill to amend the Lower Burma Village Act, 1889, be taken into consideration.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL also moved that the following be inserted as sub-clause (iii) of clause (l) of section 6 of Act III of 1889 as proposed in the Bill :

"the prevention and extinction of fires," and that the present sub-clause (iii) be numbered (iv).

He said :—"In introducing this Bill on the 20th September last, I took occasion to explain what the objects and scope of the measure were, and I do not suppose that it will be necessary to trouble Your Excellency or the Council now with more than a brief summary of what I said on that occasion. I explained that the object and scope of the measure were to empower the village-headman to take certain precautions in connection with the prevention of cattle-disease, and also, subject to rules and the control of the Local Government, to take measures for the cure of that disease. I also explained that the Bill was supported by a great weight of authority ; in point of fact, that it was admittedly a provision for what was felt to be a want in Lower Burma. Since introducing the Bill, I have had a communication from the Chief Commissioner, Sir Alexander Mackenzie, in which he stated, while accepting the Bill as it was introduced in Your Excellency's Council, that it is also the practice at present in villages in Lower Burma to make certain provisions for the prevention and extinction of fires, and he desired that advantage should be taken of this opportunity with a view of legalizing the rules issued for that purpose and generally of bringing the practice which prevails within the provisions of the measure now before the Council. Personally I consider that there can be no more unobjectionable and legitimate practice than that referred to by Sir Alexander Mackenzie, and I think that it is quite within the scope of the Village Act that such power should be taken. At the same time I am ready to confess that this new proposal introduces a very considerable extension of the Bill as it was laid before the Council, and that there has been no time allowed for that full publication of this addition which is usual in these legislative measures ; and if, having regard to that circumstance, there is any feeling in the Council as to the undesirability of proceeding with this addition on the present occasion, I shall not consider myself justified in opposing it. On the other hand, I myself think that there is no such great departure—certainly no departure from the existing practice, and no such very large extension of the purport and objects of the legislation contemplated—as to preclude the Council from considering this matter now and allowing the Bill to pass out as the Chief Commissioner desires that it should."

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER said :—"I do not know that it is necessary to add anything to what the Hon'ble Sir Antony MacDonnell has said. If this amendment were not proposed by the Chief Commissioner himself, I think it would be desirable that it should be sent back to Burma for an expression of opinion before it is passed ; but inasmuch as it is a suggestion of the Chief Commissioner, and as we may fairly take it that it has been duly considered there, and as it is only legalizing an existing practice, I do not think it is necessary to postpone the passing of the Bill, which is urgently needed, for the purpose of such a reference."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL also moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN ARTICLES OF WAR AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Articles of War for the government of Her Majesty's Indian Forces be taken into consideration. He said :—"The passing by Parliament of the Madras and Bombay Armies Act, transferring certain powers hitherto exercised by the Governments of Madras and Bombay to the Government of India, and abolishing the offices of Presidential Commanders-in-Chief from a date to be determined by the Governor General in Council, has made it imperative upon us to amend the Indian Articles of War so as to cause them to correspond from the same date with that Act. These Articles of War date from 1869, and experience of a quarter of a century has shown that they are capable of, and require, amendment in several points.

"The Bill now before us is the outcome of long and mature deliberation between Army Head-Quarters, the Judge Advocate General in India, the Legislative Department, and the Military Department of the Government of India. The Bill was referred to Local Governments for opinion, and all the suggestions made by them were fully considered by the Select Committee, on which there served the Commander-in-Chief, the Legal and Military Members of Your Excellency's Council, and the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Home Department, while the Judge Advocate General attended the meetings of the Committee in order that we might consult him on any points that might arise.

"The Statement of Objects and Reasons, which I laid before Council when introducing this Bill, went fully into the causes of most of the alterations in the existing law proposed in the Bill. The Report of the Select Committee has explained the amendments to the Bill made by that Committee, upon all of which we were unanimously agreed; and I think it is unnecessary for me to do more than briefly to call attention to some of the chief changes which the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, makes in the existing Articles of War.

"First, as regards offences punishable under this Act. Practically no new offences have been created: but some of the offences punishable under the Articles of War have been more clearly defined, and power has been given under this Bill for a soldier who commits certain grave offences involving violence against any person subject to military law to be tried by a Court-Martial instead of, as heretofore, exclusively by an ordinary Criminal Court; but power is reserved to any Criminal Court having jurisdiction to require the prescribed military authority at his option to deliver over the offender to the nearest Magistrate to be proceeded against according to civil law, or to postpone proceedings pending reference to the Governor General in Council.

"As regards Courts-Martial, great simplification has been made by the reduction of their number from eight, or in reality, if we include sub-divisions, from ten, to five; and the imprisonment which it is in the power of a District Court-Martial to award has been extended from one to two years, the amount which can be awarded by a District Court-Martial under the Army Act.

"There will now ordinarily be three kinds of Courts-Martial, namely, the General Court-Martial, the District Court-Martial and the Regimental Court-Martial, the powers of each of which are strictly defined; and there will be two kinds of extraordinary Courts-Martial, namely, the Summary General Court-Martial, which corresponds to the Field General Court-Martial of the Army Act and takes the place of the Detachment General Court-Martial of the existing Articles of War, and the Summary Court-Martial, which already exists and which is an institution peculiar to Indian military law. But whereas under the existing Articles of War a Summary Court-Martial held by an officer commanding a regiment or corps could pass any sentence not exceeding that awardable by a District Court-Martial, such Court-Martial cannot under this Bill pass a sentence of imprisonment exceeding one year. And provision is made that if the officer holding the trial is of less than five years' service he shall not, except on active service, carry into effect any sentence until it has received the approval of a superior military officer.

"In the existing Articles of War there are certain differences between Courts-Martial appointed under an Order in Council and other Courts-Martial; all such differences are by this Bill abolished. In the event of the Governor General in Council thinking it necessary to order a Court-Martial to be held for any particular purpose, his orders would issue to the Commander-in-Chief in India to convene a Court-Martial for that purpose, and the Court-Martial would be held under the ordinary procedure. The difference between the two classes of proceedings originally arose out of an Act passed during the Mutiny, which empowered the Governor General in Council to give general power to officers commanding stations and detached forces in India to hold Courts-Martial and to carry out the sentences of those Courts. Under the Bill now before Council the Governor General in Council can empower any officer to hold a Summary General Court-Martial, but there will be no difference between its proceedings and those of any other Summary General Court-Martial convened by an officer empowered by the Commander-in-Chief or by the General Officer of the Command. And any officer commanding any detached portion of Her Majesty's troops on active service can convene a Summary General Court-Martial, when in his opinion it is not practicable, with due regard to discipline and the exigencies of the service, that the offence should be tried by an ordinary General Court-Martial. And the term 'when upon active service' means, under the definitions in this Bill, the time during which the officer is attached to or forms part of a force which is engaged in operations against an enemy, or is engaged in military operations in, or is on the line of march to, a country or place wholly or partly occupied by an enemy, or is in military occupation of any foreign country, while again the term 'enemy' includes all armed mutineers, armed rebels, armed rioters and pirates.

"It will be seen therefore that under the Bill now before Council ample provision is made for such stern measures of discipline as may be necessary not only in time of foreign war but in time of internal revolt.

"There is only one other point in the Bill to which I think it is necessary to call attention. Under the existing Articles of War persons under this Act, together with their arms, horses, clothes, equipment, regimental accoutrements and necessaries, are protected from arrest or seizure for debt so long as they belong to the army. That provision has now been extended to the Indian Reserve Forces, which did not exist when the present Articles of War were framed. But this privilege is only extended to them when called out for, or engaged upon, or returning from, training or service."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER said:—"I have a number of small amendments to move with regard to this Bill, and with Your Excellency's permission, unless any Member of Council desires that they should be taken separately, I think it would be convenient to explain them all at once, in which case it will only be necessary to put one motion. The proposed amendments, as they stand on the notice-paper, are as follows:

that the word 'and' at the end of clause (21) of Part I, clause (e), as substituted by section 4 of the Bill, as amended, be omitted; that the following be inserted as clause (22) of the same Part, namely:

'(22) "offence" means any act or omission punishable under these Articles and includes a civil offence as hereinbefore defined: and';

that the present clause (22) be numbered (23);

and that in clause (23) as so renumbered the words 'and not herein otherwise defined' be inserted after the word 'Articles'; that in article 47 (a) as substituted by section 16 of the Bill, as amended, the words 'makes away with' be inserted after the word 'injures,'; that in section 30 of the Bill, as amended, the figures '83' be inserted before the figures '84,' and that the following be inserted as article 83 after the word 'namely' in that section, namely:

Appointment of regimental court-martial.

'Article 83.—A regimental court-martial may be appointed by the officer commanding any corps or department or detachment thereof, or by any officer when in command of two or more corps or departments or detachments thereof.';

that in article 117 (1), as substituted by section 42 of the Bill, as amended, the word 'military' be omitted; that to section 56 of the Bill, as amended, the following be added; namely:

'and in the same paragraph, for the words "any Presidency" the words "a command" shall be substituted.'

"The first amendment is an addition to the interpretation-clause of the Bill. On examination of the Bill it appeared that the word 'offence,' if not otherwise explained, might probably have been held to mean an offence as defined in the Indian Penal Code. In this Bill it includes a number of military offences which would not be offences under the Indian Penal Code, and therefore it was thought necessary to insert a special definition of this word 'offence' under these Articles, so that it should extend to what might be described as a military offence as well as a civil offence, that is, an offence under the Indian Penal Code. Then clause (23), which provides that the words 'not herein otherwise defined' shall be interpreted as they are interpreted in the Penal Code, has to be somewhat altered with the object of showing clearly that the new definition of 'offence' is intended to override the definition in the Code.

"Then, as regards article 47 (a), which provided for the punishment of a soldier who 'designedly or through neglect kills, injures or loses his horse, or ill-treats any animal used in the public service,' it was suggested that the words 'makes away with' might be inserted because they might well meet a case which the word 'loses' already in the Act does not sufficiently cover, and it was thought desirable that there should be no doubt about such a case being properly covered in the Bill.

"Then it appeared that accidentally, in the simplification of the various kinds of Courts-Martial, power to convene a Regimental Court-Martial had been more restricted than under the ordinary Act; and I propose, with the consent of the Council, to alter article 83 so as to enable the same class of officers who can at present convene a Regimental Court-Martial still to convene it. This merely gets rid of a quite accidental limitation which I do not think was in the mind of the Select Committee at the time when the Bill was considered by them.

"The fourth amendment is to leave out the word 'military' in article 117 (t). It is the only place in the Bill where the expression 'military offence' occurs, and it cannot be seriously intended to confine the clause to military offences, because it provides that when a man has been convicted of a military offence then the Court-Martial is to inquire into previous convictions with a view to determining the punishment. It is quite clear that, whether the offence is purely military or of an ordinary kind, the question of examination into previous convictions is equally important and pertinent.

"The last amendment I have to notice is in section 56, and is merely the result of a pure accident. The words 'any Presidency,' which occur in many places throughout the existing Act, it has been necessary in consequence of a recent change in the law to alter into 'a Command.' The expression has been left standing in one place merely because it had been overlooked, and it is desirable that the oversight should be remedied.

"I think I have now sufficiently explained the object of the various amendments, and I would ask Your Excellency to put the motion to the Council."

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY said that he accepted all the amendments.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY moved that the Bill, as now amended, be passed. He said:—"I confidently commend it to Council. It will simplify the proceedings of military justice. It in no way interferes with the existing rights of the Native officers and soldiers of the Indian army; it in some respects gives them increased protection; and it makes clear many points which were hitherto more or less involved in doubt."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

REPEALING AND AMENDING (ARMY) BILL.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY also moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend certain enactments relating to the Army be taken into consideration. He said:—"The Select Committee has only made one purely verbal amendment, and the Bill itself contains nothing but formal amendments to Acts to make them correspond with the Madras and Bombay Armies Act which has been passed by Parliament."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble LIEUTENANT-GENERAL BRACKENBURY also moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

BURMA MUNICIPAL ACT, 1884, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Burma Municipal Act, 1884, be taken into consideration. He said:—"It will be in the recollection of the Council that this is a small Bill, introduced for the purpose of enabling the Municipality of Rangoon to pay its way. Their proposal was that, whereas at present they are only able to impose a house-tax at a maximum rate of 5 per cent. on the value of the property within the Municipality, they should be enabled to raise that to 10 per cent., and the only question really before the Select Committee to which the Bill was referred was whether they should be permitted to raise the house-tax to a maximum of 10 per cent., or whether any lower maximum between the figures 5 and 10 would be sufficient for the purpose. The Committee were desirous of raising the house-tax to as high a figure as they could be permitted to do, in order that the very perfect form of scavenging which I understand they have adopted might be carried out without its being necessary to impose so heavy a tax as would be necessary if that system of scavenging was to pay its own way. The Committee, however, to which the Bill was referred thought that, having regard to the fact that the existing law enabled the Municipality to impose any tax whatever which was necessary for the purpose of making the scavenging pay its own way, such a scavenging-tax ought to be imposed as would cover the whole expenditure; but, when we came to consider the other figures, it appeared that a house-tax of 8 per cent. would be insufficient to meet the rest of the general expenditure, and considering that this is after all only a temporary measure, and that the whole question of legislation with regard to the Municipalities of Burma is intended to be undertaken in the near future, the Committee thought that the Municipality of Rangoon might in the meantime be permitted to raise the tax to the 10 per cent. which they asked for, and it is not proposed to insert any lower figure. It appeared, however, that the Bill as introduced would have enabled every Municipality in Burma to raise its house-tax to 10 per cent. if they thought fit, and, as that was never intended, the only Municipality that has any difficulty in the matter so far as we know being that of Rangoon, the Committee have altered the Bill so as to confine the extended power to the Rangoon Municipality."

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL said:—"My Lord, as a member of the Select Committee I wish to support what the Hon'ble Sir Alexander Miller has said in regard to the enhancement of the house-tax to 10 per cent. That percentage was agreed to because the percentage to be adopted now is a matter of a transient nature. When we have to consider the further and more extended scheme of legislation for Rangoon, it will be open to the Council again to consider whether 10 per cent. or any lower percentage is a proper one to take. I say this because I understand that by a considerable body of opinion in the Municipal Committee of Rangoon 10 per cent. is regarded as too high. We did not consider ourselves justified in going against the recommendation of the Local Government on that point now, but the Government has full discretion to reconsider the matter when it comes before us in connexion with the more extended legislation which is impending."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER also moved that the Bill, as amended, be passed.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Thursday, the 18th October, 1894.

CODE OF CIVIL PROCEDURE AND PUNJAB LAWS ACT, 1872, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ALEXANDER MILLER presented the Preliminary Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend certain sections of the Code of Civil Procedure and to repeal certain sections of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872. He said:—"It is not usual in presenting a Report of a Committee to make any observations, but I think that under the circumstances of this case it is necessary for me to explain that when the Committee met they thought there was so much in the Bill that it was desirable it should come before a Committee more numerous than we were, and more strongly constituted than it could be constituted here, and, therefore, with the single exception of introducing a clause which has been introduced at the instance of the Bombay Government for future consideration by the enlarged Committee, we have practically done nothing with the Bill, and we now propose to postpone it till the Council reassembles in Calcutta."

ENGINEERS' CERTIFICATES VALIDATION BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND moved that the Bill to validate certain certificates granted to engineers of steam-ships be taken into consideration. He said:—"I explained the object of this Bill at the time I introduced it as being that of removing a disability under which certain persons who held engineers' certificates in Bombay and the steam-vessels in which they were employed had been placed by certain action inadvertently taken by the Government of Bombay.

"The Bill was referred in due course to the Government of Bombay, and has been accepted, after consideration, by that Government. They merely make a suggestion for a verbal correction, intended to meet an objection which has been raised to the original wording of the Bill; but, as my hon'ble colleague Sir Alexander Miller agrees with me in thinking that the Bill as originally drawn is clear enough upon the point in question, I have no amendment to propose to the Council."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND also moved that the Bill be passed.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

ACT V OF 1861 (POLICE) AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend Act V of 1861 (an Act for the Regulation of Police). He said:—"The Bill which I wish to introduce deals, to some extent, with the internal discipline of the police-force; and to that extent it is not likely, perhaps, to give rise to any public criticism. But there are three provisions of the Bill which touch the general public more closely, and these provisions will doubtless be more fully canvassed.

"The first of these provisions is an amendment of section 15 of the existing Act. That section provides for the quartering of additional police in any tract which is declared to be in a disturbed or dangerous condition, and the charging the inhabitants thereof with the cost of such additional police-force. As the law stands, the cost must be apportioned among, and levied from, the entire population of the tract: and the amendment which I wish to propose empowers the Government to include in the assessment non-resident owners of property if, in the circumstances of the particular case, that be fair and just, and to exclude from assessment those people or classes who have not contributed to the disturbances, the cost of maintaining the additional police being levied only from the persons or classes who have caused such disturbances.

"The second important provision, which is an alternative course to the provision just noticed, will enable the Government to levy compensation from a disturbed locality for serious outrages committed therein, and pay it away to the persons who have been injured or to their families.

"The third provision to which I wish to call attention is the grant of licenses for processions when there is any reason to apprehend a breach of the peace if the procession were allowed to be conducted without conditions or control.

"These are important additions to the existing law, and I think that the public should have full opportunity of examining and criticising them before we proceed further to legislation. In accordance, then, with rule 20 of the Rules for the conduct of Legislative Business, I wish, with Your Lordship's permission, to postpone the discussion on the principle of the amendments until the full Council assembles in Calcutta. My object now is to have the Bill published for general information, in order that, when the time arrives for referring it to a Select Committee, I shall have, as it were, felt the pulse of public opinion, and be in a position to explain away doubts and justify the proposals, with even fuller knowledge of that opinion than I now possess."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

BURMA BOUNDARIES ACT, 1880, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL also moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Burma Boundaries Act, 1880. He said:—"The Bill is a very simple, and I think non-contentious, Bill in all respects. Under the existing Burma Boundaries Act, No. V of 1880, the only marks which a survey-officer is competent to erect are marks on the exterior boundary of the village-area or other parcel of land under survey. But the revenue-surveyors in Burma have often to deal with very large blocks of land, to the efficient measurement of which survey-marks on interior lines are essential. In regard to these interior or sub-traverse marks, as they are technically called, it is necessary that we should have the same powers of construction and maintenance as we have regarding the exterior or traverse marks.

"Another provision of the Bill is this. At present the duty of safeguarding boundary-marks rests on the village-headman and the thugyi. It is desirable that this duty should be extended so as to cover the interior as well as the boundary marks, and it is desirable that, in regard to both classes of marks, the owner or occupier of the land on which they are erected should be placed under an obligation to maintain them in good condition. This is a mere extension to Burma of the rule which prevails generally in India.

"The only other point I need notice is that the Bill contains a definition of 'survey-mark' which was wanting in Act V of 1880."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble SIR ANTONY MACDONNELL also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English and in the Burma Gazette in English and in such other languages as the Local Administration thinks fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned sine die.

INDIAN TARIFF ACT, 1894, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1894. He said :—

"On the 1st of March of this year I had the honor of introducing in this Council a Bill for the renewal of the import duties, which had been abolished in various stages from 1878 to 1882, and explained that the proposal of the Government was to levy duties, except in a few cases, of five per cent.; that Her Majesty's Government had, in view of the financial position, assented to this course, but that they were not prepared at that time to sanction the inclusion of cotton yarns or cotton fabrics among the articles declared liable to duty. The discussions which took place in this Council during the consideration of that Bill made it evident that the exclusion of these cotton duties was a policy which was not favoured by the individual members of Your Excellency's Council, but which was, for the time at least, directed by Her Majesty's Government, who, through the mouth of Your Excellency, gave us the assurance that if, after an interval sufficient to judge of the position as affected by the new Tariff Act, the course of exchange, and other circumstances, there were no improvement, they would be prepared to receive a further representation on the subject.

"I need not recount the discussions which have since then taken place on this subject. It has been discussed at length both in the House of Lords and in the House of Commons, and the Government of India have also laid before Her Majesty's Government the ample representations which they received on the matter from various public bodies in India. Finally we received the instructions of Her Majesty's Government on the general question in the Secretary of State's Despatch of 31st May 1894, in which, repeating the undertaking given through Your Excellency on 10th March, that Her Majesty's Government were prepared, if necessity arose, to receive proposals on the subject, he laid down the economic conditions which it would be necessary to observe in any proposals we made.

"I am concerned at present only with the question of the import duties on cotton goods, the imposition of which has now been sanctioned by Her Majesty's Government: the condition which has been attached to this sanction I shall deal with when I take up the second part of the duty which to-day's list of business allots to me.

"Under the circumstances which I have stated, I imagine that the Council will require little explanation of me, in justification of the Bill I ask leave to introduce. I do not intend to anticipate the financial explanations that I shall have to give in this place three months hence. I would merely remind the Council that it was by means which were only temporarily available, that in the estimates which I produced last year the revenue was brought within about 30 lakhs of the expenditure: and that was done by taking the exchange at fourteen pence. It is only by a miracle such as we cannot hope for that we shall be able to base next year's estimate upon so favourable a rate; and, even if we did so, we would, estimating on the basis of last year's figures, have to face a deficit of a crore or a crore and a half at least. I consider it to be as certain as anything can be, that depends upon such an unstable item as exchange, that without the aid of the cotton duties we shall not be able to present to the Council in March next such estimates as would meet with the Council's approval.

"The necessity of the income derivable from the cotton duties being thus established, it seemed to the Government to be advisable for many reasons that these duties should be introduced as soon as possible, and without waiting for the season when the Financial Estimates come before us in detail. The anticipation of these duties has already, as we are informed, caused considerable orders to be sent to England, and we learn from England also that goods are being shipped in larger quantities than usual, in order that they might arrive before the duties become leviable. To postpone legislation on the subject merely means to divert into the pockets of those importers the profit which I think they would themselves admit properly belongs to the State. There are also other economic disadvantages which arise to us, from a temporary excess of imports. I have no hesitation, therefore, in asking that we may be allowed, under the circumstances, to anticipate the financial arrangements of next year by bringing the proposed duties into effect at once. Even if we are fortunate enough not to require for the balancing of the current year's account the revenue they will bring in, yet we have the heavy deficits of the last two years to make up for, not to talk of the suspension of the famine insurance grant of the current year.

"We have taken the opportunity afforded by the introduction of the cotton duties to revise the Tariff also in some other particulars, keeping in respect of them, however, strictly within the lines of policy explained when the Tariff Bill was introduced in March last. In so far-reaching a subject, it was necessarily impossible to foresee all the difficulties and doubts that would arise in applying the provisions of the Tariff, and, though we have done our best to meet these difficulties, I am bound to admit that in some cases there has been cause for complaint. The main reason for this is that the Tariff is so drawn up as to leave, in some cases, a doubt as to whether certain articles are taxable or not. In a Tariff which has been in force for half-a-century, practice and custom have had the effect of defining pretty clearly the classification for Tariff purposes of the articles which are imported; each variation in the course of trade, each new article which has entered into the list of imports, has, as it presented itself, found its assigned place in the Tariff classification. But when a new Tariff is introduced, after twelve years' abeyance, the changes that have intermediately taken place in the course of trade present themselves in too great numbers for immediate settlement, and give rise to differences of opinion between the Collector and the payer, or rather to cases in which the latter is not satisfied with the decision of the former.

"I am quite willing to admit that a merchant, who would pay without demur a duty which was clearly imposed upon him by the law, is reasonable in resenting the levy of the same duty when he considers it is imposed upon him only by an interpretation of the law in which he does not concur. However clear the interpretation may be to an officer who is accustomed in his daily duty to deal with questions of classification, the merchant may reasonably claim that the law itself should be set forth in terms which do not leave the question of taxation to considerations which might, even for a short time, be interpreted in one way at one customs port and in another way at another.

"The difficulties and doubts in this respect have mainly arisen out of two causes, and these I shall ask the Council to enable me to remove.

"In the first place, the schedules as they stand at present are statements by classes of the goods that are liable to duty; they make reference to the goods which are free from duty, only when it is necessary to exempt some specified item or items coming under a class which is dutiable. When, therefore, an article is presented to the Collector, the question that has to be decided is, does it, or does it not, fall within one of the specified classes; if it does not, there is no authority to tax it, and it must go free. Now, if the huge variety of articles is considered, and the fact that our Tariff specified 62 classes only, it will easily be seen that there are numerous articles which the importer at least considers do not come within any of the classes, and which he therefore claims should go free. It does not satisfy him to be told that in the trade returns, upon which the Tariff classification was based, the articles in dispute have always been taken within a specified one of these 62 classes.

"In order to remove this cause of variance, we have adopted a principle which is followed by the American Tariff and by several other Tariffs I could name. We carefully specify and define the free headings as well as the taxed ones, and then we add that all unenumerated articles have to pay the general rate of duty. The result is that the contention that some specific article does not fall within any of the Tariff classifications results, not in letting it go free, but in subjecting it to taxation. I need not say that this course is adopted only because we believe it carries out the intention of the Legislature, when the matter was under discussion last March. A reference to the discussions in the Council will show that the principle of taxation was that everything should pay duty which there was not some special reason for exempting. This principle is obviously strictly carried out by examining and specifying what ought to be exempt, and then saying that everything else should be taxed. And in fact a mistake in this direction is easily corrected, for the Executive Government has the power of exempting anything that is by law taxable; but a mistake of the opposite kind, the accidental exemption, on a mere technical ground, of some unspecified article while other things of exactly the same character and use are taxed, creates an inequality which cannot be remedied without legislation.

"I may give one illustration of this, which, though it is not the case of an article taxed at the general rate of duty, I select because it arises in connection with the very first article in our schedules,—that of fire-arms. Somebody has invented a gun in which the explosive force is obtained by the release of highly compressed carbonic acid gas. These guns are quite deadly enough for any practical purpose, and ought for any purpose of taxation to be reckoned with fire-arms discharged in the ordinary way, but as the explosion is determined by a mechanical act, and not by combustion of any kind, the arms are not fire-arms and are chargeable with a much lower rate of duty than fire-arms.

"Or take the case of sponges: they were meant to be taxed under the classification of toilet requisites; but unfortunately sponges are used for many purposes besides application to the human body, and this gives occasion to a contention that under the existing Tariff sponges are not always taxable. A similar doubt of the opposite kind has arisen in the case of hops and certain pulses. We omitted all mention of them, with the intention of leaving them free of duty, but the question has arisen whether they are not, under the classification of 'provisions,' taxable at the rate of five per cent. under article 3.

"In these instances and in others we have made the necessary correction in the Tariff, but it is only by actual experience that we can say in how many cases in future similar difficulties will arise. Trade usages and trade nomenclature frequently create differences and difficulties in these points of detail, and the best way to remove them and prevent their interfering with the intended effect of the law is that which we have adopted, as I have explained above, in common with the American and several other Tariffs.

"The second cause of the difficulties to which I am alluding is the indefiniteness of the lines which divide machinery which is free, articles made of iron which are taxed at one per cent., and hardware and cutlery, including ironmongery, which pays the five per cent. rate of duty. The exemption of machinery was based on the principle that it was undesirable to burden with a five per cent. duty capital employed in the productive industries of the country; but, even while the old Tariff was in force, difficulties were found in restricting the application of the exemption within its intended limits. 'Machinery' is a somewhat wide term, and it gives rise to claims for exemption of 'machines,' which is a still more indefinite and extensive term. We have met this difficulty by giving a somewhat precise definition of machinery, which will, we hope, have the effect of opening the door freely to such articles as represent what may be called the fixed capital employed in productive industries, but will at the same time prevent claims arising for exemption of articles which, though they may bear, in common parlance, the name of machines, have no right to expect entry into India without the same payment of duty which we levy upon nearly all other imported articles. The proposed definition of machinery was circulated to Chambers of Commerce, and other authorities, a short time ago, and has been slightly expanded in consequence of suggestions received.

"These are the two principal directions in which we have amended the Tariff, with the object of making its effect more clear and precise and less liable to question. We hope that the additional clearness which we have imparted to it will remove the difficulties that have arisen in its application, and facilitate and expedite the action both of the Customs officers and of the importing merchants. It will be seen that the inclusion of the free classes, and the more careful definition of the taxable ones, have resulted in increasing the number of articles from 62 to 117, while keeping, as we believe, strictly within the intentions and principle of the original Act.

"We have also, in respect of the other articles of the Tariff of March last, made some amendments in the definitions, chiefly in the direction of expressing them more clearly and removing the chances of doubt as to what they really contain.

"The valuations have also undergone a revision. We receive monthly returns of prices, which in some cases at least are sent also to the Chambers of Commerce, and on the basis of these returns we have examined the valuations in the existing Tariff. The valuations adopted are mostly based on the prices of October, care being taken that nothing special or peculiar to that month has been taken as a permanent or normal value. This revision of valuations is a function which the Executive Government have authority to discharge without special reference to the Legislature, but we have thought it best to combine the operation with the present general revision of the Tariff."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English. He said:—"I have to explain that we have modified the usual form of this Motion in omitting the publication in the local Gazettes. The fact is that it will be necessary for me to propose to the Council that all the requisite steps be taken as soon as possible. I have taken measures that the Gazette of India in which this Tariff will be published will be amply distributed at all the customs ports, so that, so far as regards local knowledge of its provisions, publication in the local Gazettes is not absolutely necessary. The local Gazettes only appear, like our own Gazette, once a week, and, if I were to move that the Bill be published in the local Gazettes, it is quite possible that when the Council came to a full discussion of the Bill it would be found that some of these local Gazettes had not had time to publish it."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

COTTON DUTIES BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND also moved for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the imposition and levy of certain duties on cotton goods. He said:—

"I have now to ask the permission of the Council to supplement the imposition of import duties on cotton goods by introducing a Bill for the levy of excise duties on certain cotton goods manufactured in India.

"I would not be dealing straightforwardly with the Council if I pretended that this measure was recommended by the Government of India on its own merits. No Government would desire, except under the extremest stress of financial necessity, to impose a duty upon an industry so deserving of any fostering care which the Government can bestow upon it, as the cotton manufacturing industry of India. The proposal I make is therefore not made on its own merits, but as the necessary accompaniment of the fiscal measure which I have already to-day laid before the Council—a fiscal measure which we believe to be rendered necessary by the financial circumstances in which we find ourselves.

"Her Majesty's Government, representing the supreme authority in the administration of India, and following the instructions of the House of Commons, have stipulated that if we are obliged by stress of finance to impose an import duty on cotton goods, we must deprive it of a protective character by imposing an equivalent duty upon similar goods manufactured in India, to the extent to which these enter into direct competition with goods imported from the United Kingdom. I do not desire to discuss this condition—it is a decision arrived at by an authority which is as capable of pronouncing a judgment on the economic question as the Government of India is, and which has, by the constitution of the Government of India, the authority to enforce it.

"The part which the Government of India have taken in the discussion of the subject has been, in the first place, to lay before Her Majesty's Government such arguments on the subject as occur to themselves or as were communicated to them by various representative bodies in this country; and in the second place, after receiving the decision of Her Majesty's Government on the matter which they accept as a fully-instructed decision, to consider in what manner they can carry out the requirements of the House of Commons, while at the same time conserving to the utmost degree consistent with those requirements the interests of manufacturers in this country, and avoiding to the utmost possible extent all interference with the processes of manufacture and production in this country.

"The Bill which I now ask leave to introduce sets forth in legislative form the method in which we propose to carry into effect the results of our considerations.

"The first question, therefore, to which our enquiries were directed was the extent to which Manchester and Indian manufacturers compete. The details of the subject will be found in the papers laid before the Council, but generally it may be said that below the class of yarns described as 24s to 30s, the circumstances of production are such as to give India a natural advantage over Manchester, and above that class they are such as to give Manchester a natural advantage over India. The markets for these different classes of goods, the coarser and the finer, are also to a very great extent distinct.

"Both Manchester and India confine themselves for the most part to their respective spheres of industry, and thus to only a limited extent compete with each other, their processes in each case being adapted to their own spheres and not to their competitors'. In fact, if it were not that, by the continuous advance of the Indian manufacturers in skill and in enterprise, they are beginning, by the manufacture of the higher counts, to invade what has hitherto been the province of Manchester, it might be said that the two classes of manufacture and consumption were entirely distinct.

"The only fear, therefore, that arises to Manchester is that the imposition of a duty of 5 per cent. upon Manchester goods may give such an advantage to the Indian manufacturer in respect of the finer classes of goods, as to enable him, by reason of the difference of taxation, to oust Manchester in an increasing degree from its own sphere of manufacture; and we carry out the condition of non-protection imposed upon us by subjecting to an equivalent excise duty the classes of goods which I have described as primarily belonging to the sphere of non-Indian manufacture.

"We have had some correspondence with Her Majesty's Government as to the precise point where the line should be drawn. The information of the Government of India is that practically nothing below 28s is imported from Manchester, and we, therefore, proposed to limit our tax to counts higher than 24. The Secretary of State, on the other hand, believes, from the information supplied to him, that cloth is imported into India which contains, although in combination with finer yarns, yarns of count 24; and considering Her Majesty's Government pledged to the House of Commons to insist on the avoidance of all protection, desired to make 20s the highest free count. I may explain that there is not the least difficulty in getting the information in question as regards yarns. Yarns are classified by counts, and we know that of the total of imported yarns, only 2 per mille are of count 24 or less. Moreover, as Manchester, though it has the bulk of this trade, has not the monopoly of it, the probabilities are that a great part of this 2 per mille represents a portion of the import trade that does not belong to Manchester at all. It is more difficult, however, to gather the exact facts regarding woven fabrics; they are not classified for trade purposes by the counts of the yarn they contain, and it requires an expert examination to decide what the counts of the yarns really are. The fact, therefore, regarding which there is this difference of information between ourselves and the Secretary of State can be solved only by an enquiry of a kind that it is not possible to undertake while a measure like the present one is known to be under consideration, and we have made therefore this arrangement, with the sanction of Her Majesty's Government, that on the first introduction of the Bill we shall fix the line at 20, but we shall take power to raise it to 24, if it is found upon enquiry that woven fabrics imported from Manchester do not, as a matter of fact, contain yarns so coarse.

"Our proposal, therefore, is to levy an excise duty upon all yarns manufactured in mills in India which are above the count of 20, power being taken to exempt up to 24. We do not touch the hand-industry; little or no yarn of the finer counts is now-a-days spun by hand, and what is spun cannot be regarded as competing in the market with mill-spun yarns. Village industry is, however, almost confined to the weaving of yarns, either imported or Indian-manufactured.

"It will be seen from the papers that our first intention was to tax imports of fabrics at 5 per cent., and to tax yarns, both imported and manufactured, at 3½ per cent., these being the rates of the former Tariff. Objection has been raised to this as containing in itself an element of protection, and we now propose to take a 5 per cent. duty all round. The difference in the operation of a 5 per cent duty upon Manchester and upon India is this. The Indian producer will pay 5 per cent. duty on the yarns, and he will have also to pay something in respect of duty on the stores consumed in manufacture. The Manchester producer has not to pay duty on these stores, but on the other hand he has to pay the duty upon that portion of the value of his fabrics which represents the cost of the conversion of yarn into cloth, and upon the charges of conveyance to India. I do not know which of the two will in this respect have the advantage; in any case the difference will be a very small one.

"My discussion of the subject will have shewn the Council that our intention is to tax the production of yarns only,—that is, those of the higher counts,—and to tax cotton fabrics only through the taxation of yarns. It has been a great object with us so to regulate our procedure as to interfere as little as possible with the processes of production. If we tax the yarns, the cotton fabrics which are woven from them will necessarily pay their due share of duty, without our having in any way to touch the weaving departments of the mills. And as regards the taxation of the yarns, the method we have adopted is that of avoiding all interference with the mills themselves and with mill management, and basing our assessments upon monthly returns of production, which we shall lay upon the mill-owners a legal obligation to render to us. We believe we can take steps to prevent incorrect returns being sent to us, and can satisfy ourselves that the returns sent us as a basis of assessment are fairly and truly compiled. The processes of manufacture are such as to require the maintenance in the mills themselves of working-records which afford ample means of testing the returns. The problem set before the manufacturer, when he is producing 20s, for example, is that of producing 16,800 yards of yarn which shall weigh one pound neither more nor less; and this exact result cannot be attained except by examining and recording the result of each process and adjusting it to a definite standard. Moreover, it must be remembered that the yarns we tax are the finest that are produced in India, and are such as can be manufactured only in mills which are thoroughly well organized and managed. If we draw the dividing line above 20s, the yarn taxed in India will be only about 20 per cent. of the whole production, and if we draw it above 24s, it will be only about 6 per cent. In either case many mills will fall entirely outside the area of taxation, as they do not produce the finer counts at all, and their work and disposal of their produce will therefore be in no way interfered with.

"We provide that yarns which are intended for export either shall not pay any duty at all, or, if they have paid it, that the full amount shall be refunded.

"As we do not propose the present measure for the sake of the revenue we intend to derive from it, we do not attempt to justify it by shewing the amount of revenue it will bring in, nor can it legitimately be attacked on the ground that the revenue is too small to warrant the steps we take. The gross revenue I expect from excise duties is only about seven lakhs, and if the dividing line is raised to 24, only about two and a half lakhs; but the revenue with respect to which and for the raising of which the Bill is introduced, is that derived from the cotton duties as a whole. This I estimated last March at an annual sum of Rx. 1,350,000, and it would be considerably increased if based upon later figures.

"It remains for me to make some remarks on the manner in which we propose to deal with mills established outside British India. Those in Berar we need not reckon with; these territories are subject to our direct administration, and whatever law we apply to British India we can apply also to Berar.

"In Native States there are only one or two cases as yet with regard to which the question is of any practical importance, and the chief of these are the mills established in the territories of His Highness the Nizam. Our present information is that the yarns produced at these mills are consumed within the Nizam's own territories and do not enter British India at all. If that is the case, the question does not affect us, and is one for settlement by the Nizam's Government. But so far as regards this class of mills the existing law gives us ample power.

We can under the Tariff Act declare the territory of any Native Chief to be foreign territory, and thereupon all imports from it become subject to the ordinary duties levied upon goods imported by sea. But to make things perfectly clear we have repeated that provision in the present Bill, and have thus taken power, even without subjecting to duty all imports from any such States, to levy the duties upon all cotton goods so imported, and, if it is necessary, to prohibit importation except by specified routes. If we are burdening our own manufacturers in order to avoid protecting them against Manchester, we shall certainly take steps to prevent the protection, against our own manufacturers, of goods manufactured outside British India."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble Mr. PLAYFAIR said:—"I beg leave to reserve my remarks on the Bill introduced by the Hon'ble Mr. Westland until I have had an opportunity of examining it."

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English. He said:—"I have already explained the reasons for the shortness of this Motion, but I may state that, as a matter of fact, the mill-owners and the Chamber of Commerce of Bombay have in their possession at the present moment the Bill now laid before the Council. I have taken every possible step to keep them informed of the measures which are being taken here. I may also mention that, with Your Excellency's permission, I shall move for a Select Committee on Thursday next. The Hon'ble Mr. Playfair says that he intends to reserve his remarks until that day. It was with the intention of affording every opportunity for the examination of the Bill before discussion upon it in this Council took place that I have taken these special measures to communicate the substance of the Bill to the people interested in it in Bombay, and that I have put off for three days the Motion that the Bill should be placed before a Select Committee."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Thursday, the 20th December, 1894.

INDIAN TARIFF ACT, 1894, AMENDMENT BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND moved that the Bill to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Sir Alexander Miller, the Hon'ble Sir Charles Pritchard, the Hon'ble Fazulbhai Vishram, the Hon'ble Gangadhar Rao Madhav Chitnavis, the Hon'ble Mr. Clogstoun, the Hon'ble Mr. Playfair and the Mover, with instructions to report at the next meeting of the Council.

The Hon'ble SIR GRIFFITH EVANS said:—"I am glad to see that the almost unanimous remonstrance of the Council and of the public in India has borne fruit, though late. The debateable matters in this Bill are matters of detail, and are of a character which ought to be dealt with by a Select Committee before being finally decided by this Council."

The Hon'ble MOHINY MOHUN ROY said:—"I crave permission of Your Excellency to make a few observations upon this Bill. I was not present at the reading of the Bill on Monday. I have studied the subject of Indian finance with some care and written a few articles for the Calcutta Review upon taxation in India. One of these articles was upon customs-revenue. It was published in the April number of the Review for 1889. I rejoice to find that an import-duty is re-imposed upon cotton goods. This is what I had advocated. But I regret to find that in the export tariff the heavy duty of three annas per maund is retained upon rice. I was for a low one per cent. duty for exports, and for a wide distribution of the duty, and said in my article :—

'The duty upon exports should always be less than one-half of the duty upon imports. This has always been the proportion of the two descriptions of customs-duty. The freight which imports pay are usually small compared to the heavy freight which exports have to pay. There are other economic considerations, besides, in favour of a low export-duty. The duties on both imports and exports being light, there should be very few exemptions. Bullion and coin, precious stones and pearls, horses and other living animals should be free both for imports and exports, but no other articles either of import or export. Special import-duties should be retained upon the following articles, viz., arms and ammunitions, liquors, wines and spirits, salt, opium and petroleum. There should be no special export-duty upon any article. The present heavy duty of three annas per maund, equal to four or five per cent. ad valorem, upon rice is a highly objectionable tax. It falls chiefly upon the two provinces of Bengal and Burma, which export by far the largest quantity of rice. Wheat exported from the several provinces of India is now equal in value to the rice exports. There should be an equal duty upon all dutiable articles of export, and the duty so low that it should not be felt by the producers.'

[The Hon'ble Member here read statements giving the quantities of raw cotton, rice, wheat, hides and skins, raw jute and oil-seeds and other seeds in 1886-87.]

"Now the tariff is being revived, I would humbly suggest that a one per cent. export-duty be imposed upon all articles of raw produce, namely :—Rice eight millions in value in 1886 87, wheat eight millions, oil-seeds and other seeds nine, raw jute four, raw cotton thirteen, hides and skins five—total 47 millions. The revenue will not suffer. But the export-duty will be equally and fairly distributed, instead of being confined to one single article and weighing heavily, as it now does, upon the producers of rice."

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND said :—"I think it necessary to offer one remark with regard to the suggestion made by the hon'ble member who last spoke. I regret that it is one which I cannot in any way recommend to the Government for acceptance. There is one principle to be observed in the case of the imposition of export-duties which my hon'ble friend has somewhat overlooked. It is this, that an export-duty weights our own trade as compared with that of nations which do not impose the same export-duty. The rice duty has been consistently condemned by every writer upon Indian economics. The Government has, for a long time, been under a pledge to abolish that duty, but that pledge they have not, for financial reasons, been able to carry out. This question was under discussion some years ago when the Hon'ble General Strachey made an attack upon the Government policy in the matter of export-duties, and at that time he made the suggestion that a duty should be levied upon jute, rather than upon some of the articles which at that time were taxed. He justified that duty in the same way in which it is possible to justify our present duty on rice—namely, that it is an article in which we have a practical monopoly, in respect to which other countries do not compete with us, and in which the tax is paid by the consumer or can be made to be paid by the consumer in other countries. I think it would be impossible for the Government at the present moment to levy any tax on the export of wheat. Nothing could be more ruinous to the interests of the agricultural and mercantile communities of this country. Wheat has at the present time gone down to a price which renders it extremely difficult for the cultivator to make any profit upon it. I am told that in America, for example, as an effect of the low price of wheat, instead of exporting it, the farmers are obliged even to give it to their pigs. In this country any duty of the kind would, as I have said, be most inadvisable, and in imposing any such duty we would, in fact, be killing one of the geese that lay our golden eggs. For these reasons I could not consent to recommend to Government any alteration in the present export tariff."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

INDIAN TARIFF ACT, 1894, AMENDMENT BILL.

COTTON DUTIES BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND also moved that the Bill to provide for the Imposition and Levy of certain Duties on Cotton Goods be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Sir Alexander Miller, the Hon'ble Sir Charles Pritchard, the Hon'ble Fazulbhai Vishram, the Hon'ble Gangadhar Rao Madhav Chitnavis, the Hon'ble Mr. Clogstoun, the Hon'ble Mr. Playfair and the Mover, with instructions to report at the next meeting of the Council.

The Hon'ble SIR GRIFFITH EVANS said :—"I do not intend to oppose this Bill being referred to Select Committee, but I think it necessary to explain what my position is in regard to it. The general position, as I understand it, is this. The Secretary of State for India, after a discussion in Parliament and in consultation with Her Majesty's Government in England, has come to the conclusion that an import-duty on cotton yarn and cotton fabrics of 5 per cent. will be protective in its character unless balanced by a countervailing excise on such portions of the Indian manufacture as compete with the English imports. He has, therefore, while sanctioning the introduction by the Government in India of a Bill imposing such a duty, made it a condition that the Government should at the same time introduce a Bill imposing a 5 per cent. excise-duty on the Indian manufactured cotton which is in competition with the English imports. I should like to say a word or two with regard to this subject of protective duty. A protective duty is open to two objections, one which may be raised on behalf of the general public of the country which imposes the duty—i.e., that the duty benefits a certain class of manufacturers at the expense of the ordinary taxpayer; the other, which may concern the foreign manufacturer when his goods are handicapped in competition as against the Native manufacturer. In the case of completely independent States, the first objection only has to be considered by the State which contemplates imposing such a tax, but in the case of a dependency like India the second has also to be considered, and the way it works is this. The material interests of a great commercial nation like England in the East are, and must always be, mainly commercial. It was commerce which brought the English to the East, and but for commerce it is not likely that they would ever have embarked upon the gigantic task of founding or ruling this great Empire of India. Having undertaken the task originally in pursuit of commerce, they have resolved that their rule should be one of justice and fairness to the inhabitants of India. I think the manner in which they have carried out this resolve will, on the whole, meet with the favourable verdict of posterity. They have considered that they were bound to allow the inhabitants to progress in manufactures, although that progress was sure to enable them to compete with English manufactures. But, though they have been and are willing to allow India to compete on even terms, they have not been and are not willing to allow her to compete on other than even terms. They say in effect 'you may run in the race of manufacture against us and beat us if you can, but it must be at even weights—if the weight upon us is increased, the weight upon you must be increased to the same extent. We will not consent to be handicapped if in our opinion the extra weight would give rise to any chance of our being beaten.' Now this is probably as much justice as anyone can expect in this world. It falls short of the higher altruism exhibited by Gautama in one of his many incarnations, when he met a starving tigress with cubs, and was so moved with compassion as to allow her to satisfy her hunger by eating him. This was in the Golden Age, and the like is not expected of men in this Age of Iron. No doubt England would enforce this rule on the Colonies also, but she has granted them the power of self-government. She cannot withdraw the gift, and the Colonies rightly or wrongly exercise their power by putting on protective duties much to the disgust of the mother-country, who cannot, however, interfere.

"But assuming that it would be impolitic on both grounds to attempt to impose a protective duty; there is a serious difference of opinion as to whether the 5 per cent. import-duty would act as a protective duty. The Indian manufacturer contends—and it appears that the Financial Member agrees with him—that the 5 per cent. import-duty will not operate as a protective duty on the grounds set out by the Bombay millowners in their very able memorial and on other grounds. If this be so, the imposition of an excise-duty of 5 per cent. on Indian manufactures is, of course, wholly unjustifiable. It is onerous, unprofitable and harassing to trade. The English manufacturers and the Secretary of State for India contest this position, and maintain that the duty will be protective, and urge that even if the competition is small now it would increase greatly if the English goods were paralysed by a 5 per cent impost whatever might be the motive for imposing it.

The question is, what should we do now under the circumstances. Although the Secretary of State for India may order the introduction of Bills by the Executive Government before the Legislative Council, yet this Council is admittedly free to reject them wholly or in part. This Council is the only body in India to which legislative powers in these matters have been delegated by Parliament. I am not an expert in these matters, and my opinion as such cannot carry any weight; but I may say without going into details, which I leave to others more skilled; that using such intelligence as I possess upon the materials before us, I should come to the conclusion that no sufficient case had been made out for the imposition of this excise. If, therefore, we were dealing with this proposal solely upon its merits, I should divide the Council and vote against the Bill being referred to a Select Committee. But we are not dealing with abstract right, but must consider as practical men what is best to be done under the circumstances. Considering the previous history of the question, and considering the recent discussion in Parliament, and the pledges given then by the Secretary of State for India as a member of Her Majesty's Government, I do not think it is practically open to him at present to sanction an import-duty on cotton without a countervailing excise of some sort. The financial necessity for the imposition of the import-duties is imperative. As we must have these duties and cannot, under present circumstances, have them without a countervailing excise of some sort I do not think it wise to oppose the Bill being referred to a Select Committee.

"But as to the details of the Bill, and as to whether the limit should be 20s or 24s, I hold myself quite free and in no way bound by the limits which the Secretary of State has telegraphed, and which are consequently incorporated in the Bill. Should the majority of the members of the Council differ from the Secretary of State on these matters, and alter the limits to 24s, I for one will be perfectly ready to risk the chance of the Secretary of State for India exercising the only constitutional right he has with regard to the proceedings of this Council by vetoing the Bill. It would be a step which he would find it hard to take, and impossible to justify; but this is a matter for consideration at a later stage of the Bill. I mention it merely to show that I think different considerations will apply to the details of the Bill, even those ordered by the Secretary of State for India, and also in order to define my position, so that I may not hereafter be accused of inconsistency in bowing to the decision of the Secretary of State in the one case and refusing to do so in the other."

The Hon'ble MOHINY MOHUN ROY said:—"I have read the very candid statement made by the hon'ble member in charge. I have no hope that the Bill will be withdrawn, or that any large modification will be made in it. But I consider it my duty, as one of Your Excellency's Counsellors, to submit for your consideration what we think of it. The duty stood at 5 per cent. from 1859 to 1864. It was raised to 7½ per cent. by Act XXIII of 1864. It was reduced to 5 per cent. by Act XVI of 1875. This was the beginning of the end and the end came in 1882, when, by Act XI of 1882, the import-duty was wholly repealed, together with export-duties upon divers articles. How the reduction and repeal of the import-duty affected the revenue may be judged from the following figures:—In 1874-75, customs-revenue was £1,800,000, from 1875-76 to 1881-82 it fluctuated between £1,700,000 and £1,500,000. In 1881-82 it was only £400,000. During the long period from 1859 to 1882 there was no countervailing excise. 'Only once the question seems to have been raised; it was in the year 1861 when the Hon'ble Samuel Laing, the Finance Member, disposed of it as follows.

"I read from Calcutta Review of 1889, page 325. The Hon'ble Samuel Laing says (Financial Statement, April 27th, 1861):—

'The principle of free trade is to impose taxes for the purposes of revenue only, and, if yarn be a fit subject for taxation, there ought to be an excise on the Native manufacture, equal to the customs-duty on the import article, unless the latter be so small in amount that it would be palpably not worth while to establish a countervailing system of excise. With a 5 per cent. import-duty this might be the case, but, at any higher rate, untaxed Native yarn would manifestly be a protected article.'

"This seems to be the true exposition of the principles of free trade. If an import-duty be moderate, not exceeding 5 per cent. ad valorem, and imposed bonâ fide for purposes of revenue and not for the purpose of protecting an article of home produce, it is not contrary to the principles of free trade. With reference to the repeal of the cotton-duties, Sir Richard Garth in his Few Plain Truths about India says:—

'Of course we all know the true reason for that measure. We all know that it was pressure put upon England by the Lancashire cotton-spinners, although the pretext assigned for it was the plausible one of free trade. But what have we to say with regard to gold and silver manufactures? England's manufactures of that kind have long been admitted into India duty-free, while similar Indian manufactures are still subject in England to a heavy import-duty. Let us hope, from what we hear, that this injustice may soon be discontinued; but it has lasted long enough to make India doubt the sincerity of England's free-trade principles. And what have we to say to the Indian tea industry? No men in the world have worked harder, or under greater difficulties, to establish their position than the tea-planters in India. What has England done to aid those men? Have we given them the benefit of our vaunted free-trade principles? Although tea is one of the necessaries of life, and many people would say one of the special necessities of the poor, Indian tea is now paying a duty to England of six pence per pound, amounting annually, I believe, to upwards of two millions sterling. Is this free-trade? Does the duty upon Indian coffee or Indian rice savour of free-trade?'

"Sir Richard Garth's notions of free-trade appear to be somewhat hazy. Subjecting the gold and silver manufactures of India to a heavy import-duty is, no doubt, contrary to its principles, because it is protective of the same articles of English manufacture. But a heavy tax upon tea or other necessity of the poor has nothing to do with it, because England does not grow any tea which such a tax is likely to protect. It seems that even foreign wheat or other corn may be heavily taxed in England without contravening the principles of free-trade, provided that there be a countervailing excise on the British produce. I apprehend the doctrine of free-trade to be this, that no Government ought to impose a heavy duty upon a foreign article so as to favour and foster the producers of that article in the country, and by keeping up its price to make it profitable to them to produce it. The heavy duty falls indirectly upon the consumers. They may make a grievance of it, and complain that they are made to pay a higher price for the article than is necessary in order that the producers of the home article may thrive. The logical consequences of this doctrine are that every industry which cannot stand foreign competition must perish. To adopt this principle in a rich country, where the wages of labour are high, would seem to be questionable wisdom. For, if this principle were fully acted upon, most of the industries in England must succumb in time to foreign competition. But there is this peculiarity in the political principles of that country, that they are always subordinate to party considerations.

"And again:—

'An import-duty at 2½ per cent. upon the above articles which are now free under Lord Ripon's Act would produce £1,314,353, a sum very nearly equal to the loss of customs-revenue caused by that Act. If it be necesary for the purposes of the revenue to raise the duty hereafter to 5 per cent., it can be very easily done. To appease Manchester, it will be necessary to impose a 2½ per cent. excise upon the cotton goods manufactured by our mills. There is no competition There never was any between the Manchester goods and cloth made by weavers. The two articles are quite distinct from each other. The excise will, therefore, be limited to machine-made cloth, the produce of our cotton mills, and to such portion of it as is consumed in the country. A large portion is exported to China and other countries which will pay an export duty instead. There is an impression that the assessment of excise will be a matter of some difficulty. Our financiers say, how can we re-impose the import-duties without a corresponding excise upon the produce of our cotton mills? They seem to consider this as an insuperable objection. But there does not appear to me to be anything formidable in it. If for the reimposition of the import-duties it be necessary to have an excise, let us have it by all means. It will be limited, for the reasons stated above, to such portion of the produce of our cotton mills as is sold to country dealers for home consumption. The mills are few in number. There will be no great difficulty in ascertaining the quantity and value of the exciseable produce from the books of the firms.'

"I would humbly suggest—

"First, that the excise should be only 2½ per cent., or much lower than the import-duty.

"The import-duty may be divided into two parts—one-half or 2½ per cent. imposed bonâ fide for purposes of revenue. There should be no countervailing excise for this part.

"The other half or 2½ per cent. may operare as a protection, and we may have an equivalent excise for it.

"Secondly, the process for ascertaining the produce of the Indian mills and such portion thereof as is used for home consumption should be simple and not iniquisitorial and harassing.

"Returns made by millowners, as in the case of income-tax, should ordinarily be taken as sufficient."

The Hon'ble MR. PLAYFAIR said:—"My Lord, while the necessity for further taxation upon the people of this country for the purposes of the revenue of the State is greatly to be deplored, it will be hailed as a matter of public satisfaction that Your Excellency's Government has determined to liberate itself from the illogical position in which it was found last March, by now extending the tariff of imports to all classes of goods, including cotton fabrics and yarns. While the public feeling was very deep and pronounced against the exclusion of cotton goods from the Tariff Act, it was generally felt and admitted that the responsibility of that decision did not rest wholly with Your Excellency's Council. The satisfaction will be all the greater that, for the present at all events, it removes from the public mind the fear of a new resort to that most objectionable financial device, so far as a country like India is concerned—direct taxation. While the straightforward statement which has been made by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill cannot fail to be appreciated both within and without this Council Chamber, it will be a disappointment that the Government of India has been obliged to associate with this import-duty a countervailing excise on local cotton manufactures. I have found no desire, my Lord, on the part of those directly interested in the manufacture of cotton goods in this country, nor of any section of the community, to bring about a protective tariff. The proposed excise will in itself excite prejudice by what it may seem to lead to as well as by its actual provisions. In itself it will be regarded as pernicious, or, to take the mildest view, not promotive of revenue, or economy, and it must be admitted that the smaller the benefit to the revenue the more forcible is the enunciation of the principle upon which the Government is acting. As a principle it will bring into prominence the overpowering influence of an authority which, if exercised without regard to the immediate interests of India, may take away from this Council all independence and its representative character. It will be assumed—indeed it has already been assumed—that India is not to be allowed to develop any industrial enterprise if that enterprise is likely to compete with an English industry. Nor will the consistency of the principle be appreciated by the people of this country that it should be reasonable and proper for the British Government to realise a customs-duty on India's product—tea, amounting to £2,000,000 sterling per annum, while India may not be permitted to have freedom in the production of her cotton fabrics which may result in a possible annual pecuniary benefit amounting to £8,000 only. I have received from the Secretary of the Bengal Chamber of Commerce a copy of a resolution passed at a special meeting of the Committee held on Tuesday last, which reads as follows:—

'The Committee of the Chamber of Commerce protest against an excise-duty, not resorted to on its own merits, being levied on Indian goods merely as the result of a decision come to by an authority which, as alleged by the Financial Member of Government, has by the constitution of the Government of India the power to enforce that decision.'

"Time having afforded the opportunity for a more deliberate investigation of the whole question since the passing of the Tariff Act in March last, it has been shown by those more immediately interested in the manufacture of cotton goods in this country that the views held by some of the members of this Council were correct, and that the imposition of customs-duties upon what are known as Manchester goods would not in the circumstances be protective of the local industry, for the reason that Lancashire does not now attempt to manufacture, for export to this country, the class of goods produced by Indian mills. The very able letter addressed to Your Excellency's Government by the Secretary to the Millowners Association of Bombay, dated 10th September of this year, dispels the phantom of protection. It is clearly shown in that communication that India does not enter into competition with Lancashire, nor can Lancashire compete with India, the position now being that English spinners have confined their attention to what is to them the more profitable production of fine qualities of yarns manufactured from a quality of cotton superior to the supplies obtainable in this country, and that, combining therewith the advantages of highly skilled labour, and of climate, Lancashire is able to defy competition in these manufactures. It has also been shown that Indian machinery, on the other hand, can be more profitably employed on yarns of a low count, made from the short staple cotton of the country. A careful study of the question has revealed the fact that the production of cotton goods of the world has proceeded on perfectly natural lines, and that since the subject was reviewed by this Council twelve years ago Lancashire has confined her attention to the production of high class goods, leaving India to supply her own wants in the manufacture of goods of low quality. So pronounced has been the change in England to the manufacture of a finer class of goods only, that the export from Bombay to the United Kingdom of the short stapled Indian cotton has fallen from 62½ per cent. of the total quantity of cotton exported twenty years ago, to the insignificant figure of 2½ per cent. during the past year. That is to say, while in the year 1873-74 the exports of Indian cotton from Bombay to the United Kingdom amounted to 821,000 bales, the off-take for the United Kingdom during the past year was only 49,000 bales. During the same period the annual consumption of the Indian mills has risen from 83,000 bales to 731,000 bales, while the exports of Indian cotton to the Continent have advanced from 371,000 bales to 860,000 bales, a fact to which I would direct attention as being of considerable significance. In short, India, the Continent of Europe, and more recently Japan, have become the spinners of the short staple cotton which they manufacture into the coarser fabrics required by the poorer classes in the East. These circumstances, I presume, were not known to my hon'ble friend the member for Madras when in March last he criticised the proposed imposition of customs-duties upon cotton goods as protective in its character and therefore inadmissible. The resolution of the House of Commons of the 11th July, 1877, calling for the repeal of customs-duties on cotton goods, upon which the Secretary of State founds his action, was also based on the supposition that such duties would be protective and therefore contrary to sound commercial policy. I think I may claim that the altered position of the trade which has now been demonstrated does away with any force there might have been in that resolution. Statistics show that 94 per cent. of Indian spinnings represent counts of yarn under No. 24s; the remaining 6 per cent. represent yarns ranging from 24s to 40s. The latter is an infinitesimal portion of the entire production, and, even if such goods enter into competition with Lancashire manufactures, there appears to be no reason to believe that a moderate import-duty, unaccompanied by a countervailing excise, would bring with it an increase in the production of the finer qualities in this country. The whole experience of the manufacturers in India is that it does not pay to make other than low count yarns from the raw material ready to their hand. Four-fifths of the Indian production is exported to the China and Japan markets, the remainder is worked up for the most part on hand-looms, giving employment and a livelihood to many thousands of poor weavers all over India. The proposal, therefore, to levy a countervailing excise-duty upon the very small quantity of the finer counts of Indian yarn coming into a possible competition with Lancashire, is one that will never commend itself to public approval. It will be admitted that an excise-duty is indefensible if the revenue produced is not commensurate with the cost of collection. I assume, my Lord, that productiveness, equity and economy, both with regard to the cost of collection and the loss imposed on the community, are ends to be desired in connection with the imposition of taxation, and this ideal the present proposal of an excise-duty is not likely to realise. It has been estimated by the millowners of Bombay that the total value of yarn produced by all Indian mills amounts to about Rs. 200 lakhs; deducting from this the value of production in Native States, estimated at Rs. 42 lakhs, there remains Rs. 1,158 lakhs, 6 per cent. of which, representing the finer counts, would be equal to Rs. 69½ lakhs. Deducting therefrom 6 per cent. of the value of cottons exported which would become entitled to a drawback, there remains the sum of 32 lakhs of rupees for excise-duty, 5 per cent. of which would amount to the very trifling sum of Rs. 1,60,000. This forecast of income given by Indian millowners is somewhat less than the estimate of revenue made by the Hon'ble Member for Finance, placed by him at Rs. 2½ lakhs, and I presuppose that on further investigation the Government of India will find it equitable to exclude from the operation of excise local-made yarns of counts less than 24s. From the income of Rs. 1,60,000 the cost of collection has to be taken before the net value of the tax can be ascertained. It is therefore evident that it will not be a productive tax economically levied, while it will fail in equity, being inquisitorial in its character and therefore a harassment to trade. In short, it will not secure the high return that has been laid down as a necessary accompaniment in justification for the imposition of so vexatious a system as the excise.

"There is another aspect of the question to which I would respectfully invite the attention of the members of Your Excellency's Council. An examination of the profits realised by the Indian power-loom manufacturers will show that the trade is not a particularly remunerative one, and that the competition which has of late years arisen between Bombay and Japan, and which is now growing in importance, is not likely to render the position of Indian manufacturers more easy in the future. During the past ten years the Japanese have made large strides in the production of the quality of goods turned out by Indian mills, so much so, that not only have the exports from India and the United Kingdom to Japan been greatly reduced, but Japanese manufacturers have entered into serious competition with British and Indian cottons in the Chinese market. The report on the foreign trade of Japan by Her Majesty's Consul shows that the decrease in imported yarns during last year has been most marked in the Bombay yarns with which Japanese-made yarns, exported to China, compete more actively and effectively than with the higher grades from Lancashire; and with the continued development of spinning in Japan under the highly favourable conditions under which this industry is now conducted and is likely to continue to be pursued, there is every prospect, not only of the entire disappearance of Bombay yarns from the Japanese market, but even of their ultimate expulsion from the markets of China. This, Her Majesty's Consul remarks, is the outcome of the immense advantages obtained by Japan in having machinery of the best and latest kind and a plentiful supply of cheap labour extremely cheap fuel, and no factory regulations, the operatives being permitted, if they chose and are able, to work from twelve to fourteen hours a day. The position, therefore, may be this, that India's export trade in cotton yarns may diminish without the prospect of locally expanding the sale of the coarser yarns; and with the impossibility of competing successfully with Lancashire in the production of the higher counts, the manufacturing industry may languish to the detriment of the grower as well as of the spinner of Indian cotton.

"My Lord, looking to the interests at stake, and the grave political issues involved, I have gone further into this matter than otherwise I should have considered necessary, but it is absolutely necessary to impose an import-duty on cotton goods, and as the Government is precluded by orders from England from introducing a Bill for that purpose, without also introducing a Bill imposing a countervailing excise, I shall not ask Your Excellency to take a division on the question whether this Bill be referred to a Select Committee."

The Hon'ble MR. CLOGSTOUN said:—"The hon'ble member who has just spoken has referred to my objection last March to the imposition of duties on cotton goods as being protective. I welcome the Bill which has now been laid on the table, and which with even-handed justice both to the people of England and of India removes from these duties every atom of protection"

The Hon'ble FAZULBHAI VISHRAM said:—"My Lord, the Government of India is to be congratulated in having at last succeeded in obtaining sanction for the re-imposition of the cotton-duties. The necessity and justice of the measure were so fully discussed in Council on the former occasion that it is unnecessary to say more about it, though we cannot help regretting the loss of revenue and the dislocation of trade—not to speak of other mischievous consequences—that would have been avoided if Indian interests had not been considered in England of less importance than those of Lancashire.

"But the condition which is attached to this tardy concession of justice minimises the grace of the act. I may say at once that, subject to the qualifications I shall state, I do not wish to oppose the measure for the imposition of the countervailing excise on cotton goods manufactured in India. The position I take up now is the position I assumed when I had the honour of addressing Your Lordship's Council last. The remarks I made then seem to have been somewhat misapprehended in certain quarters, and I therefore beg Your Lordship's permission to quote what I said:—

'As regards the demand for a countervailing excise-duty upon cotton goods manufactured in India, had there been any parity between the goods upon which we suggest a duty should be imposed and the goods manufactured in India, and had even the levying of such an excise duty been practicable, the suggestion would be unworthy of the greatest nation of the world towards its almost bankrupt dependency. In order, however, to do away with a wrong to the country which results in the appropriation of the Famine Grant and other items ordinarily applicable for the improvement of provincial adminstration, I, for one speaking as a millowner, would be willing to support the levying of an excise-duty on cotton goods manufactured in India, assuming, of course, that such an impost can be practically levied without injustice and serious trouble.'

"My Lord, I deprecate most strongly—as strongly as anybody else—the necessity which compels Your Excellency's Government to impose, against its own inclination and considered judgment, a tax which no doubt will more or less cripple the industrial development of this country. It is a matter for regret that the idea of protection, which, speaking with all respect, I am bound to characterise as chimerical, should have induced the authorities in England to hamper the discretion of the Government of India in this question. I ventured to state, in the course of the debates on the Tariff Act, that there was very little parity between cotton goods and cotton yarns manufactured in India, and those imported from England, that even if an excise-duty was considered desirable there would be great difficulty in levying the impost. From the speech of my hon'ble friend the Finance Member I understand that all these considerations, which the Government of India as the custodians of the interests of this country must have laid fully and clearly before the Secretary of State, have been put aside. I also gathered that the sanction for the re-imposition of the cotton-duties is based upon the condition of introducing a countervailing excise impost. That being so, in accordance with the promise I ventured to make in Council last March, I give my adhesion to the principle of the Bill. At the same time, I beg to enter an emphatic protest against the proposal to make counts lower than 24 excisable. The Hon'ble Finance Member himself seems to appreciate the inexpediency of imposing a tax upon these low counts. As a matter of fact, counts below 24 (or even 28) do not enter into competition with imported yarns, and to impose a duty upon yarns below that count would, in my opinion, have the effect of materially crippling an industry which every statesman interested in the economic development of the country would endeavour to promote to the best of his abilities. It will not only cripple that industry, but will throw out of employ a large number of people now engaged in the manufacture of cloth. The countervailing duty would be comparatively harmless if Government were to exempt the country's production up to at least 24s counts instead of 20s as it now proposes to do. It will even then mean a tax on 6 per cent. of the Indian outturn. Over 20s counts it will come to about 20 per cent., but when it is borne in mind that the imports from England contain only about 1 per cent. of low counts below 24s or rather 2 per mile as the Hon'ble Mr. Westland stated on Monday last, it seems to me that it would be disastrous to the cotton industry of India to impose an excise-duty on counts below 24s. For these reasons I would strongly urge upon Government the desirability of placing the excisable limit at 24s instead of 20s. I feel that in saying these words I am to a certain extent running counter to the feelings and wishes of most of the millowners in my part of the world, as may be seen from the powerful memorial and the telegram from the Bombay Millowners Association circulated to us last night; besides which some telegrams have been addressed to me direct objecting to the excise-duty in toto, but a strong sense of duty and the conviction that the act of justice which has been accorded to this country can only attain fruction upon the condition that a countervailing duty should be levied upon Indian manufactured goods impels me to give my assent to the proposed measure. At the same time, I feel impelled to urge upon Government the consideration that, in imposing the duty in question, they should not go beyond the necessity of the case, and not do what may prove to be disastrous to an industry from which great results are expected to the prosperity of the country, and which besides has already undergone serious dislocation in consequence of the recent currency legislation and the imposition of duty on silver and on mill stores. It must also be remembered that a duty of 5 per cent. means a charge of nearly half an anna per pound when such a hue-and-cry is raging against the agent's commission of a quarter of an anna per pound of production. It is a serious burden on the poor of the country who use the coarse cloth which is manufactured from yarns below 24s. I appeal, therefore, to the Hon'ble Finance Member to exclude from taxation all counts below 24s, which cannot possibly compete with English yarns, instead of merely reserving a power to do so in future. Considering the facts that stand uncontradicted and the admitted circumstances of the goods manufactured in India and imported from England, such reservation, to say the least, is meaningless."

The Hon'ble MR. WESTLAND said:—"I cannot help thinking that the Government is placed in some difficulty in defending the provisions of a Bill which they have professedly brought forward as imposed upon them by conditions required by the Secretary of State and not by conditions which they themselves entirely, or independently, approve of. Our projected legislation was based upon our financial necessities, and our financial necessities are met by the imposition of duties upon imported yarns. So far as we were concerned, and so far as the object with which we impose these duties was concerned, we would have been satisfied with these duties on imported cottons. I freely admit that it is because the Secretary of State or rather Her Majesty's Ministers have laid upon us the condition of accompanying that measure with a measure for excise-duties, that we have brought forward this Bill; and, as I stated last Monday, I did not discuss it then on its merits, but simply stated that the decision was that of the Secretary of State; and I promised to lay, and did lay, upon the Council table the discussions of the subject which had passed between us and the Secretary of State. I am, therefore, of necessity obliged to state to the Council that this measure is recommended to us by superior orders and by orders which we are obliged to obey. In a paper which has been placed in my hands since I entered this room, I observe that the Chamber of Commerce have passed a resolution in which they say they object to, and protest against, the present taxation, because it has not been resorted to on its own merits, the duties having been levied merely as the result of the decision come to by the Secretary of State and Her Majesty's Ministers, I think that is an unfair statement of the case. If I had told the Council that those were the orders of the Secretary of State, and that it was the business of the Council to carry them out, that resolution would have been a just one. But I placed before the Council the full reasons which have recommended this measure to the Secretary of State, and if this measure is to be opposed, it ought to be opposed with reference to those reasons, and not on the ground that it is merely the result of the decision come to by the Secretary of State.

"Nor, as regards the position of this Council, am I at all at one with my hon'ble friend Sir Griffith Evans. He remarked that when the Legislative Council meets here we are at liberty to look at the matter from a purely independent point of view. That may be the case with members of the Council who are not also members of the Government, but I do not know of any foundation for the theory that, when Your Excellency calls together the additional members of Council to advise the Government of India, the Government thereby acquires an authority which in other respects it does not possess. The orders of the Secretary of State, though they may not be a sufficient excuse for the additional members of this Council voting against what is recommended to us, yet are sufficient for us who are members of the Executive Council, and who exercise our power not by any authority of our own or in our own name, but in the name of Her Majesty. Her Majesty's Ministers have considered the present subject, and, so far as we know, with the fullest information before them. Our duty has been to lay before them all the facts within our knowledge, and we have also laid before them all the arguments which we could bring to bear on the question. I cannot feel that we have in this respect in any way fallen short of our duty. We have stated the matter as fully as possible, and Her Majesty's Government have had before them a complete case before they pronounced their judgment. The Hon'ble Sir Griffith Evans has stated in words, which I am ready to accept as my own, how the problem presented itself to them. It is clear from his statement there are two sides to that problem. The fact that the Secretary of State has not decided altogether in favour of the proposals placed before him is no evidence that he has shut his eyes to Indian interests and discussed the matter from a purely English point of view. I think it is a matter for regret that in one of the papers, which has not yet been placed before the Council, but which is ready to be presented, a complaint to this effect is made against the Secretary of State. I do not think it is fair to take that position. I think the Secretary of State has acted throughout the matter with as much consideration as we could expect—with even more consideration than many of our public critics did expect. In March last he gave us a pledge that, if necessary, he would allow us to take into consideration the question of imposing the cotton-duties. He has completely fulfilled that pledge, and our hands are now free to do what last March he said he would under certain circumstances permit us to do. On the question of excise he has noted all the objections which have been placed before him. Almost every objectionable feature in the excise-duty has been eliminated. We have not a general excise-duty, but an excise-duty strictly limited to those counts which enter into direct competition with Manchester, and in thus limiting the duty he has laid down a principle which may very well be accepted as fair between the two contending interests. The only question of difference which arises is the precise point at which that principle shall begin to apply or cease to apply. It is on that point mainly that objections have been made to this Bill. We are told that counts below 24 are not competitive, and therefore ought upon this principle to go untaxed. The information given to us on that subject by Mr. Playfair is of value, but a great part of it was already before the Secretary of State, and he has so far met our views as to indicate that the question is not closed, and that it may be possible for him, after fuller enquiry on the subject, to exempt those counts although it is at present proposed to tax them. I think there is, therefore, no ground for alleging that the Secretary of State has not held the scales fairly as between English and Indian interests, and I commend the measure to the Council not merely on the allegation that the Secretary of State has laid upon us the obligation to impose it, but because from the merits of the discussion, and upon the facts as shown in the papers before the Council, it may fairly be accepted that the Secretary of State has done equal justice between two opposing interests, and that the measure he has imposed upon us bears upon its face the evidence of due consideration of our claims."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Thursday, the 27th December, 1894.

1. Notice is hereby given that all the Notes of the following two Loans, namely:—

The four-per-cent. Mysore Family Loan (about ₹5,00,080),

The East Indian Railway Commuted Stock (about ₹54,000), will be discharged at the General Treasury of Fort William (Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta) on Saturday, December 1st, 1894, on which date the interest on such Notes will cease.

2. Proprietors of Notes hereby advertised for discharge have the option, which must be exercised before noon of Saturday, September 15th, 1894, of transferring their Notes to the 3½ per cent. Loan of 1st May, 1865.

3. Notes may be tendered for this transfer at the Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, or at any treasury to which the Notes for the time being are enfaced for payment of interest. Notes so tendered must bear the following endorsement, etc., duly signed:

"Received in lieu of this Note a Note of the same amount of the 3½ per cent. Loan of 1st May, 1865, bearing interest from 1st November, 1894."

4. On Notes so tendered, the interest due and accruing up to 31st October, 1894, will be paid, as soon as possible and also—

(a) Six annas per R100 if the tender is made before noon of Monday, August, 27th.

(b) Two annas per R100 if the tender is made after noon of Monday, August, 27th.

5. In addition to the above payment of interest, a further payment of two annas per R100 will be made as brokerage or commission to the receipt of the person, whether proprietor or agent, who tenders the Note for reduction of interest.

[In the following Notification "Notes" means "Promissory Notes of the Government of India," and includes "Stock Certificates issued in lieu thereof."]

Notice is hereby given that proprietors of Notes of any of the following Four per cent. Loans, namely:

Four per cent. Loan of 1st May 1865, as far as not notified for discharge in Notification No. 4092, dated 13th August,

Reduced Four per cent. Loan of 1879,

may tender their Notes before noon of Monday, September 17th, 1894, for reduction of interest from 4 to $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.; such reduction to have effect from January 1st, 1895, on the same terms as are notified with respect to the Four per cent. Loan of 1854-55 in Notification No. 4426 of 1st September.

2. Clauses 3 (except for the substitution of the proper year or date for "1854-55"), 4, 6, 7, 8 and 10 of the said Notification apply to tenders made under this Notification.

3. On Notes tendered under this Notification the following differences of interest will, as soon as possible after the Notes are tendered, be paid in anticipation:

(a) On Notes of the Four per cent. Loan of 1st May 1865 on account of difference of interest from May 1st, 1894, to December 31st, 1894, five annas and four pies per Rs. 100;

(b) On Notes of the Reduced Four per cent. Loan of 1879 on account of difference of interest from July 16th, 1894, to December 31st, 1894, three annas and eight pies per Rs. 100.

4. All future payments of interest will be made on the usual half-yearly dates as if the Note bore interest at $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. instead of 4 per cent.

5. The Secretary of State will issue a corresponding Notification in London stating the terms on which Notes of the two loans abovementioned will be received for reduction of interest by the Bank of England.

No. 4460.

Simla, the 3rd September 1894.

[In the following Notification "Notes" means "Promissory Notes of the Government of India" and includes "Stock-Certificates issued in lieu thereof."]

Notice is hereby given that proprietors of Notes of any of the following Four per cent. Loans, namely:

Four per cent. Loan of 1st May 1865, as far as not notified for discharge in Notification No. 4092, dated 13th August,

Reduced Four per cent. Loan of 1879,

may tender their Notes before noon of Monday, September 17th, 1894, for reduction of interest from 4 to $3\frac{1}{2}$ per cent., such reduction to have effect from January 1st, 1895, on the same terms as are notified with respect to the Four per cent. Loan of 1854-55 in Notification No. 4426 of the 1st September.

2. Clauses 3 (except for the substitution of the proper year or date for "1854-55"), 4, 6, 7, 8 and 10 of the said Notification apply to tenders made under this Notification.

3. On Notes tendered under this Notification the following differences of interest will, as soon as possible after the Notes are tendered, be paid in anticipation:

(a) On Notes of the Four per cent. Loan of 1st May 1865, on account of difference of interest from May 1st, 1894, to December 31st, 1894, five annas and four pies per Rs. 100;

(b) On Notes of the Reduced 4 per cent. Loan of 1879, on account of difference of interest from July 16th, 1894, to December 31st, 1894, three annas and eight pies per Rs. 100.

4. All future payments of interest will be made on the usual half-yearly dates as if the Note bore interest at 3½ per cent. instead of 4 per cent.

5. The Secretary of State will issue a corresponding Notification in London, stating the terms on which Notes of the two loans above mentioned will be received for reduction of interest by the Bank of England.

II.

No. 4461.

Simla, the 3rd September 1894.

It is hereby notified that—

(1) Notes of the 4 per cent. Sicca Rupee Loan of 1832-33 will be received up to noon of Monday, September 17th, 1894, for transfer to the 3½ per cent. Loan of 1st May 1865. Upon such Notes the excess over an even hundred of rupees will be paid in cash, and the new Note will be issued for the balance only. The payment in adjustment of interest will be made as provided in clause 3 (a) of Notification No. 4460 of this date.

(2) Notes of the Four per cent. Loan of 1835-36 will be received up to noon of Monday, September 17th, 1894, for transfer to the 3½ per cent. Loan of 1st May 1865. The adjustment payment in this case will be ten annas and ten pies per Rs. 100, being as nearly as possible the excess of four per cent. interest from March 31st, 1894, to December 31st, 1894, payable on the old Note over 3½ per cent. interest from May 1st, 1894, to December 31st, 1894, payable on the new Note.

No. 4770.

Simla, the 20th September 1894.

[In the following Notification "Notes" means "Promissory Notes of the Government of India," and includes "Stock Certificates" issued in lieu thereof:]

1. Notice is hereby given that all the Notes of the following Four per cent. Loans, namely:

Four per cent. Loan of 1st May 1865, so far as not notified for discharge in Notification No. 4092, dated 13th August,

Reduced Four per cent. Loan of 1879,

will be discharged at the General Treasury of Fort William (Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta) on December 31st, 1894, on which date the interest on such Notes will cease.

2. Proprietors of Notes hereby advertised for discharge have the option, which must be exercised before noon of Wednesday, October 3rd, 1894, of tendering their Notes for reduction of interest from 4 per cent. to 3½ per cent., such reduction to have effect from July 1st, 1894.

3. The reduced loans thus constituted will be known as the 3½ per cent. Loans of 1st May 1865 and of 1879 respectively, and no part of them will be paid off or discharged before August 1st, 1904, nor until the expiration of three months after notice of payment to be given by the Governor General of India in Council in the Government Gazette.

4. Notes may be tendered for reduction of interest at the Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, or at any other Bank (including the Bank of England) or Treasury to which they are for the time being enfaced for payment of interest. Notes so tendered must bear the following endorsement duly signed:—

"This Note (or Stock Certificate) is tendered for reduction of interest in terms of Notification of September 20th, 1894."

5. (a) On Notes of the Four per cent. Loan of 1st May 1865 so tendered, interest for the half-year ending 31st October 1894 will be paid at once as follows:

	Rs.	a.	p.
For two months at 4 per cent.	0	10	8
For four months at 3½ per cent.	1	2	8
Total per Rs. 100 ...	1	13	4

and the next half-yearly payment of interest will be due on 1st May 1895.

(b) On Notes of the reduced Four per cent. Loan of 1879 so tendered, no payment in adjustment of interest will be made, and no demand will be made for refund of the excess four pies, being the interest at one-half per cent. for the period from July 1st to July 15th, 1894, included in the half-yearly payment due on 16th July 1894, but the next half-yearly payment of interest, namely, Rs. 1-12-0 per Rs. 100, will be due on January 16th, 1895.

6. Every Note so tendered will be enfaced in the following terms before it is returned to the proprietor:

"The interest payable on this Note is reduced to 3½ per cent., and the principal amount will not be discharged before August 1st, 1904."

7. All future payments of interest on any Note so enfaced will be made on the usual half-yearly dates as if the Note bore interest at 3½ per cent. instead of 4 per cent.

8. When a Note so enfaced comes in ordinary course under renewal, it will be renewed in its original form, save that—

(1) For "four per cent." will be substituted "three-and-a-half per cent."

(2) A clause will be added at the end—"The Governor General in Council hereby engages that this Note shall not be discharged before August 1st, 1904."

9. If by reason of the duly certified absence from India of the proprietor or of one of the proprietors of a Note included in the terms of this Notification a legal signature to the endorsement mentioned in clause 4 cannot be given by noon of Wednesday, October 3rd, 1894, then in such case the tender will be accepted if the Note be left before such time in the custody of the Public Debt Office, Bank, or Treasury (as the case may be), and the tender be legally signed within 21 days thereafter. This clause does not apply if the proprietor has an Attorney in India empowered to sell.

10. A payment of two annas per Rs. 100 will be made as brokerage or commission to the receipt of the person, whether proprietor or agent, who tenders the Note for reduction of interest.

11. The Secretary of State will issue a Notification in London stating the terms on which Notes hereby advertised for discharge will be received for reduction of interest by the Bank of England.

No. 4771.

Simla, the 20th September 1894.

Notice is hereby given that all the Notes of the following Four per cent. Loans, namely:

Four per cent. Sicca Rupee Loan of 1832-33; outstanding balance about Rs. 16,00,000;
Four per cent. Loan of 1835-36; outstanding balance about Rs. 55,00,000; will be discharged at the General Treasury of Fort William (Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta) on December 31st, 1894, on which date the interest on such Notes will cease.

2. Proprietors of Notes hereby advertised for discharge have the option, which must be exercised before noon of Wednesday, October 3rd, 1894, of tendering their Notes for transfer to the 3½ per cent. Loan of 1st May 1865 on the following terms:

(1) In the case of Notes of the 4 per cent. Sicca Rupee Loan of 1832-33, the excess over an even hundred of rupees will be paid in cash, and the new Note will be issued for the balance only. The payment in adjustment of interest and future payments of interest will be made as provided in clause 5 (a) of Notification No. 4770 of this date.

(2) In the case of Notes of the Four per cent. Loan of 1835-36 interest will be paid at once as follows:—

	Rs.	a.	p.
From March 31st, 1894, till June 30th, 1894, at 4 per cent. ...	1	0	2
From July 1st, 1894, till October 31st, 1894, at 3½ per cent. ...	1	2	8
Total per Rs. 100 ...	2	2	10

and the next half-yearly payment of interest will be due on May 1st, 1895. (If the interest instalment due on September 30th has been paid before tender, then only the excess of 2 annas 10 pies will be paid.)

3. Notes may be tendered for transfer at the Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, or at any other Bank (including the Bank of England) or Treasury to which they are for the time being enfaced for payment of interest. Notes so tendered must bear the following endorsement duly signed:

"Received the amount of this Note by transfer to the 3½ per cent. Loan of 1st May 1865 under Notification of September 20th, 1894."

4. If by reason of the duly certified absence from India of the proprietor or of one of the proprietors of a Note included in the terms of this Notification a legal signature to the endorsement mentioned in clause 3 cannot be given by noon of Wednesday, October 3rd, 1894, then in such case the tender will be accepted if the Note be left before such time in the custody of the Public Debt Office, Bank, or Treasury (as the case may be), and the tender be legally signed within twenty-one days thereafter. This clause does not apply if the proprietor has an Attorney in India empowered to sell.

5. In addition to the above payment of interest, a further payment of two annas per Rs. 100 will be made as brokerage or commission to the receipt of the person, whether proprietor or agent, who tenders the Note for transfer.

6. The Secretary of State will issue a Notification in London stating the terms on which Notes hereby advertised for discharge will be received for transfer by the Bank of England.

[In the following Notification "Notes" means "Promissory Notes of the Government of India," and includes "Stock Certificates" issued in lieu thereof and "Loan Certificates with coupons attached."]

Whereas all outstanding Notes of the following Four per cent. Loans are now under notice of discharge and are liable to be discharged on the dates shown against them, that is to say,—

Four per cent. Loan of	1842-43	November 1st, 1894,
" " "	1st May 1865 (Calcutta portion) ...	December 1st, 1894,
" " "	" " (remaining portion)...	December 31st, 1894;
" " "	1835-36
" " "	1854-55
" " "	Sicca Rupee Loan of 1832-33
Reduced Four per cent. Loan of	1879

It is hereby notified that proprietors of any such Notes will be allowed the option of tendering them for transfer to the 3½ per cent. Loan of 1893-94 on the following terms:—

(1) The new Note will be of the same amount as the old Note, except in the case of Notes of the Sicca Rupee Loan of 1832-33, in which case the excess over an even hundred of rupees will be paid in cash and the new Note will be issued for the balance only.

(2) The new Note will bear interest from 31st December 1894.

(3) Except in the case of the Loans of 1879 and 1842-43, interest will be adjusted to 29th June 1894, inclusive, that is to say—

Loans of 1832-33 and 1865.—By payment of 10½ annas per cent. in addition to the payment (if any) due and payable on May 1st, 1894.

Loan of 1835-36.—By payment of one rupee per cent. in addition to the payment (if any) due and payable on March 31st, 1894. But if the interest instalment due on September 30th, 1894, has been paid before tender, the tenderer will be required to refund one rupee per cent.

Loan of 1854-55.—No payment after that due and payable on June 30th, 1894, will be made.

(4) In the case of the Loans of 1879 and 1842-43 interest will be allowed up to their respective half-yearly dates—July 15th, 1894, and July 31st, 1894—and no further adjustment will be required.

(5) In all cases the tenderer will be required to abandon all claim for interest between the above dates, namely, 29th June, 15th July or 31st July (as the case may be), and 31st December 1894.

(6) Notes may be tendered for transfer at the Public Debt Office, Bank of Bengal, Calcutta, or at any other Bank (including the Bank of England) or Treasury to which they are for the time being enfaced for payment of interest. Notes so tendered must bear the following endorsement duly signed :—

"Received the amount of this Note by transfer to the 3½ per cent. Loan of 1893-94 under Notification of October 8th, 1894."

(7) The Governor General in Council reserves to himself the right to withdraw this Notification at any time when he deems fit to do so, and he will in any case withdraw it as soon as it is known that the aggregate balance outstanding for discharge is reduced to one kror of rupees.

(8) The Secretary of State will issue a Notification in London stating the terms on which Notes of the Four per cent. Loans above-mentioned will be received for transfer by the Bank of England.

J. M. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 27th December, 1894 :—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the list appended, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

Schedule IV, No. 8.—In consequence of representations received by us, we have simplified the classification of sugar contained in this number.

No. 11.—In accordance with a suggestion from Madras, we have exempted unmanufactured tobacco from duty.

No. 13.—We have exempted from duty water-lifts, sugar-mills and oil-presses as well as all machines ordinarily used in processes of husbandry or for the preparation for use or for sale of the products of husbandry which the Governor General in Council may by notification exempt.

No. 14.—We have carefully examined the definition of machinery and made certain additions with the view of rendering it more complete and comprehensive as well as more readily intelligible.

No. 15.—We have made one or two additions to the articles chargeable with one per cent. duty under the heads of iron and steel.

No. 44.—We have made the duty in the case of coloured twists and yarns and of piece-goods payable ad valorem instead of on a tariff valuation as in the Bill as introduced, and we have combined mule and water twists under the same head.

No. 46.—Owing to our having inserted this new number, which relates to earth, common clay and sand (declared to be free), we have had to alter the subsequent numbering to the end of the Schedule.

No. 93.—We have amended the proviso to this number so as to provide for the exemption from duty of the materials of such tramways as the Governor General in Council may think fit, by notification, specifically to exempt.

No. 96.—A representation has been received by us from certain of the Inland Steam Navigation Companies concerning the duty which it was originally proposed to impose on inland ships and vessels under this number. We have now made such ships and vessels free from duty.

2. We have also received and considered a number of suggestions as to the classification of articles and the tariff valuations, to some of which we have given effect.

3. The publication ordered by the Council has been made as follows :—

In English.

Gazette.	Date.
Gazette of India	17th December, 1894.

4. We do not think that the measure has been so altered as to require re-publication, and we recommend that it be passed as now amended.

THE SCHEDULE.—TARIFF VALUES OF YARNS.

An Act to provide for the Imposition and Levy of certain Duties on Cotton Goods.

WHEREAS it is expedient to impose certain duties on cotton goods; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PRELIMINARY.

Title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Cotton Duties Act, 1894.

(2) It extends to the whole of British India; and

(3) It shall come into force at once.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context,—

VIII of 1878.

(1) "the Principal Act" means the Sea Customs Act, 1878:

(2) "Chief Customs Authority" means, in the Presidency of Fort St. George, and the territories respectively under the administration of the Lieutenant-Governors of Bengal and the North-Western Provinces and the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, the Board of Revenue; in the Presidency of Bombay outside Sind, the Commissioner of Customs; in Sind, the Commissioner; in the Punjab and Burma, the Financial Commissioner; and elsewhere the Local Government or such officer as the Local Government may, by notification in the official Gazette, appoint in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office:

(3) "Collector" means—

(a) at Calcutta, Bombay, Madras, Rangoon and Karachi, the Collector of Customs, and

(b) in any other place, the Collector or Deputy Commissioner of the district or such other officer as the Local Government may appoint in this behalf, and includes

(c) every officer for the time being duly authorised by the Local Government to perform all or any of the duties of a Collector under this Act:

(4) "mill" means any building or place where cotton fibre is spun or otherwise converted into yarn, or where yarn is woven or otherwise manufactured, by machinery moved otherwise than by manual labour:

(5) "warehouse" means a place licensed for the storage of goods under this Act, and includes every public or private warehouse duly appointed or licensed under section 15 or 16 of the Principal Act, or under section 2 of the Inland Bonded

XXI of 1887. Warehouses Act, 1887;

(6) "yarn" means yarn wholly or partly composed of cotton fibres; and

(7) "customs port," "foreign port," "vessel" and "master" have respectively the meanings defined for them in the Principal Act.

Performance of duties of Customs Officers by subordinate officers.

3. The officers subordinate to a Collector shall, unless the Local Government shall otherwise so direct, for the purposes of this Act perform the duties imposed and exercise the powers conferred upon officers of Customs under the Principal Act.

PART I.

EXCISE.

Application of Sea Customs Act.

Modifications to be made in Sea Customs Act as applied to this Part.

4. In the application of the Principal Act or any particular section or sections thereof to this Part the following modifications shall be made therein, namely:—

(a) "the owner of the goods" shall include the managing agent or other principal officer of a mill;

(b) for "the bill-of-entry" or "shipping-bill" shall be substituted "the return required by this Act";

(c) every reference to a warehouse, or warehousing, shall be construed as referring to a "warehouse" as hereinbefore defined.

Duties.

Imposition of duties on cotton yarns produced in British Indian mills.

5. There shall be levied and collected at every mill in British India, upon all cotton yarns produced in such mill, a duty at the rate for the time being prescribed in the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, for the levy of duty in respect of cotton yarns imported by sea:

Provided that no duty shall be levied upon yarns of any count commercially known as number 20 or less:

Provided also that the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, exempt from duty any yarns of any count or number not exceeding 24.

Explanation.—Yarn is said to be "produced" within the meaning of this Act—

(a) in the case of yarn which is reeled and bundled in the mill in which it is spun—when it is so bundled;

(b) in the case of yarn which is woven or otherwise manufactured in the mill in which it is spun—when it is passed out of the spinning section of the mill;

(c) in any other case—when it is issued out of the premises of the mill.

Power to Governor General in Council to fix tariff values of such yarns.

6. (1) The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, fix, for the purpose of levying the said duties, tariff values of all such yarns as aforesaid or of any particular count or counts thereof, and alter any tariff values for the time being in force.

(2) In the absence of any notification under sub-section (1), the tariff values shall be those specified in the schedule to this Act.

(3) Such tariff value shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be the "real value" of the yarns to which it applies, but save as aforesaid all yarns shall be assessed under this Act at their real value as defined in section 30 of the Principal Act.

Delivery of monthly returns of yarn produced by mill-owners.

7. (1) The owner of every mill shall prepare and deliver, or cause to be prepared and delivered, to the Collector, on or before the fifteenth day of each month, a return of all cotton yarn produced at his mill during the preceding month, whether liable to duty or not; and shall subscribe a declaration of the truth of such statement at the foot of such return.

(2) Unless otherwise prescribed by any rules under this Act, every such return shall state for each count or number of yarn the quantity produced during the preceding month under each of the three heads mentioned in the Explanation to section 5, and in the case of dutiable yarn the real value of such yarn.

(3) Every such return shall also contain such further information and be in such form and be subject to such conditions as to verification and otherwise as may be prescribed by any rules under this Act.

(4) The first of such returns shall be made on or before the fifteenth day of February, 1895, and shall include all yarn produced since the commencement of this Act.

Assessment of duty and notice requiring payment.

8. (1) The Collector shall thereupon assess the duties, if any, payable in respect of the month to which the return relates, and unless the amount thereof is immediately tendered shall cause a notice, in such form as may be prescribed by any rules under this Act, to be served on the owner requiring him to make payment of the amount assessed within ten days of the date of service of the said notice.

(2) A notice under sub-section (1) may be served on the owner of a mill by delivering or tendering to him or his agent at his ordinary place of business a copy of the notice, or, if this cannot be conveniently done, by fixing a copy of the notice on one of the outer doors of the mill.

Application of certain sections of Sea Customs Act to assessment and recovery of duties under this Act.

9. Sections 30 to 34, 37, and 39 to 41, all inclusive, of the Principal Act, shall apply to the assessment and recovery of the duties imposed by this Act:

Provided that the rate of duty and the tariff valuation applicable to any yarn which has not been warehoused as hereinafter provided shall be those in force at the time when the yarn was produced, and not when the return was delivered as provided by the said section 37.

Recovery of unpaid duty.

10. (1) If any duty payable under this Act is not paid within the time fixed by any such notice as aforesaid for the payment thereof, the Collector may, in lieu thereof, recover any sum not exceeding double the amount of duty so unpaid, which he shall, in his discretion, think it reasonable to require.

(2) All sums recoverable under sub-section (1) shall be recovered in the manner provided in Act II of 1886, section 30, sub-sections (1), (2) and (3), with respect to the sums therein referred to.

Warehousing.

Licensing of warehouses for storage of yarn, and fees for same.

11. (1) The Chief Customs Authority may from time to time license any room or place as a warehouse for the storage of cotton goods, and for the purposes of this Act every such place shall be deemed to be a warehouse and to have been duly licensed under the Principal Act.

(2) There shall be payable in respect of every such warehouse such and the like licensing fees and other payments as may for the time being be payable in respect of a private warehouse licensed under the Principal Act:

Provided that the Chief Customs Authority may remit the whole or any part of such fees or other payments in respect of any particular warehouse.

Permission to deposit yarn in warehouses.

12. (1) The owner of any mill may apply for leave to deposit in a warehouse any yarn in respect of which duty has become leviable under section 5 and which has not been issued out of the mill.

(2) Such application shall be in writing signed by the applicant, and shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Chief Customs Authority.

Application to yarn so deposited of provisions of Chapter XI of Sea Customs Act.

13. All the provisions of Chapter XI of the Principal Act, so far as the same are applicable to imported goods of a similar description, shall apply to all yarn in respect of which an application has been made under section 12.

Exemption from assessment of yarn so deposited.

14. When any yarn has been deposited in a warehouse, the quantity and particulars thereof shall be specified as so deposited in the return made under section 7 for the month in which the yarn was produced, and the said yarn shall be omitted in the assessment and collection of duty.

Inspection.

Power to Collector to inspect mills, and take copies of records and accounts.

15. (1) The Collector, or any officer duly appointed by the Local Government in that behalf, shall have free access at all reasonable times during working hours to any mill,

(2) Any such officer may at any time, with or without notice to the owner, examine the working records, sale records, and accounts of any mill, and take copies of, or extracts from, all or any of the said records or accounts, for the purpose of testing the accuracy of any return, or of informing himself as to any particulars regarding which information is required for the purposes of this Act or any rules thereunder.

Information acquired to be deemed official secrets within meaning of Act XV of 1889.

16. (1) All such copies and extracts, and all other information acquired by any such officer on the inspection of any mill or warehouse, shall be regarded as strictly confidential, and shall be deemed to be official secrets.

(2) If any such officer shall disclose to any person other than a superior officer any such official secret as aforesaid without the previous consent in writing of the Chief Customs Authority, he shall be guilty of a breach of official trust, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punishable in the manner provided by section 4 of the Indian Official Secrets Act, 1889.

XV of 1889

(3) The restriction imposed by section 5 of the last-mentioned Act shall not apply to a prosecution for a breach of an official trust under this Act.

Export and Drawback.

Grant of certificate when dutiable yarn is to be exported to foreign port.

17. If any dutiable yarn is exported by sea to any foreign port before the return in respect of it has been delivered to the Collector under section 7, the owner of the mill in which it was produced may apply to the Collector at the port of shipment, who, on being satisfied that such yarn has actually been shipped for export, shall grant him a certificate stating the quantity and particulars of such yarn, and that it has actually been so shipped.

When certificate granted, yarns to be exempt from duty.

18. When any certificate has been granted under section 17, the quantity and particulars of the yarn stated therein shall be specified as so shipped in the return made under section 7 for any month not later than that in which the yarn was shipped, and the said goods shall be deducted in the assessment and collection of duty.

Repayment of duties paid in case of yarns exported to foreign ports.

19. When any yarn upon which duty has been paid under this Act is exported by sea from any customs port to any foreign port, such duty shall, except as otherwise herein provided, be repaid as drawback:

Provided that in every such case the yarn has not been woven into cloth or otherwise altered in character since the payment of duty, and that it is shown to the satisfaction of the Collector at the port of shipment that the duty on the said yarn has been duly paid, and that the export is made within two years from the date of payment of the duty, or within such further time as the Chief Customs Authority on sufficient cause shown may in any case determine.

Explanation.—Yarn bleached or dyed or converted into sewing thread is not to be deemed to have been altered in character for the purposes of this proviso.

Repayment of duties in case of certain cotton fabrics exported to foreign ports.

20. (1) When any cotton fabrics manufactured in a mill in British India and composed in whole or in part of dutiable counts of yarn are exported by sea from any customs port to any foreign port, the exporter may apply to the Customs Collector at the port of shipment for the repayment as drawback of any duty which may have been paid under this Act in respect of such yarn.

(2) In every application made under sub-section (1) the applicant must state—

(a) the quantities and counts of yarns in respect of which drawback is claimed, the mill at which they were produced, and, as nearly as possible, the dates on which they were produced;

(b) the mill at which, and, as nearly as possible, the dates on which the fabric was manufactured.

When such refunds may be granted.

21. The drawback shall be allowed by the Collector if it is shown to his satisfaction—

(1) that the said fabric has been manufactured within twelve months of the date on which it is shipped for export;

(2) that the yarns in respect of which drawback is applied for have paid duty within the said twelve months.

Power to prohibit repayment of duty in case of exportation to certain ports.

22. The Governor General in Council may, from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, prohibit the payment of drawback on the exportation of yarn or cotton fabrics to any specified foreign port.

No repayment of duty to be granted in certain cases.

23. Notwithstanding anything herein contained, no drawback shall be allowed in respect of any yarn or cotton fabrics on which duty has been paid—

(a) when the goods are of less value than the amount of drawback claimed, or

(b) when the claim is for drawback amounting to less than five rupees in respect of any single shipment.

Application of sections 51 and 52 of Sea Customs Act to claims under this Act.

24. Sections 51 and 52 of the Principal Act shall apply to every claim for drawback under this Act.

Offences and Penalties.

Punishments for offences.

25. The offences mentioned in the first column of the following schedule shall be punishable to the extent mentioned in the second column thereof with reference to such offences respectively:—

1. Contravening any rule made under this Act.	Penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees.
2. Concealing or attempting to conceal, or knowingly permitting or procuring to be concealed, any yarn liable to duty under this Act with intent to evade payment of the duty or any part thereof.	Such yarn shall be liable to confiscation, and every person convicted of the offence shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding three times the value of the yarn.
3. Omitting to make any return required by section 7 or refusing to sign or complete the same.	Penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.
XLV of 1860. 4. Making and delivering any such return containing any statement not true to the best of the information and belief of the person making the same.	The penalty provided in the Indian Penal Code, section 199 for making a false statement in a declaration.
5. Altering or falsifying any record or book of account kept in the mill with the intention of defrauding the revenue.	The penalty provided in the Indian Penal Code, section 465, for the commission of forgery.
6. Omitting to keep such proper records and books of account as may be prescribed by any rule under this Act.	Penalty not exceeding five hundred rupees and a further penalty of twenty rupees for every day after the date of the conviction during which the offence is continued.
7. Omitting to make and deliver any return which by any rule under this Act ought to have been made and delivered.	Penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees.
8. Intentionally obstructing any Collector or other officer in the exercise of any powers given under this Act.	Imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, or both.
9. If any yarn in respect of which a certificate has been obtained under section 17, or any goods on the entry of which for export drawback has been paid, are not duly exported or are unshipped or relanded at any customs port, not having been duly relanded or discharged under the provisions of the Principal Act.	Such goods, together with any vessel used in the unshipping or relanding them, shall be liable to confiscation, and the master of the vessel from which such goods are so unshipped or relanded, and any person by whom or by whose orders or means such goods are so unshipped or relanded, or who aids or is concerned in such unshipping or relanding, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding three times the value of such goods, or not exceeding one thousand rupees.
10. If any goods are entered for drawback which are of less value than the drawback claimed.	Such goods shall be liable to confiscation.
11. If any yarn is found concealed in any place, box or closed receptacle in any mill and is not duly accounted for to the satisfaction of the Collector.	Such yarn shall be liable to confiscation.
12. If any yarn is found in any mill in excess of the quantity entered in the return or not corresponding with the statement therein contained.	Such yarn shall be liable to confiscation or to be charged with such increased duty as the Chief Customs Authority may direct.
13. If when any cotton goods are passed by tale or by package any omission or misdescription thereof tending to injure the revenue be discovered.	The person guilty of such omission or misdescription shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten times the amount of duty which might have been lost to Government by such omission or misdescription, unless it be proved to the satisfaction of the Collector or other officer that the variance was accidental.
14. If any Collector or other officer subordinate to a Collector does any act or is guilty of any omission in contravention of this Act or of any rule or order made thereunder; or, with intent to cause injury or annoyance to any person, vexatiously and unnecessarily makes use of any power conferred upon him under this Act.	Such Collector or officer shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.
15. The offences described in the Principal Act, section 167, Schedule, Nos. 41—53, both inclusive, in reference to warehousing of dutiable goods.	The penalties prescribed in the same Schedule in respect of such offences respectively.

Magistrates having jurisdiction.

26. All offences against this Act may be tried summarily by a District or Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the First Class.

Application of section 168 of Sea Customs Act to cases of confiscation under this Act.

27. Section 168 of the Principal Act shall apply to all cases of confiscation of goods under this Act

Application of certain provisions of same Act to proceedings under this Act.

28. All the provisions of Chapter XVII of the Principal Act, except sections 169, 170, 177, 182, 184, 185, 187, 190, 191 and 193, shall apply to all proceedings under this Act.

Power to Local Government to reverse or modify orders under this Act.

29. The Local Government may, on the application of any person aggrieved by any decision or order passed under this Act, reverse or modify such decision or order.

Miscellaneous.

30. (1) The Collector or any officer appointed under section 15 may at any time take samples of any yarn or fabric for examination or for ascertaining the count or value thereof, or for any other necessary purpose.

Power to take samples.

(2) Every such sample shall, if practicable, be restored to the owner, or, at his option, sold by the Collector, and the proceeds accounted for to the owner.

31. The owner of every mill shall keep such records and books of account as may be prescribed by any rules under this Act.

Records and accounts to be kept by mill-owners.

32. The provisions of section 198 of the Principal Act shall apply to all proceedings for anything purporting to have been done in pursuance of this Act.

Provisions of section 198 of Sea Customs Act to apply to proceedings under this Act.

33. (1) The Governor General in Council may from time to time make rules under this Act—

Power to make rules.

(a) prescribing the form of any return required by or under this Act and the particulars to be contained therein respectively, and the manner in which the same is to be verified, and all such other conditions in respect thereof as may be necessary;

(b) prescribing the form of the notice to be issued by the Collector under section 8;

(c) regulating the inspection of mills, and the powers and duties of Collectors and other officers in respect thereof;

(d) regulating the provision of warehouses under this Act, and the deposit and discharge of yarn therein and therefrom, and the powers and duties of the Collector in respect thereof;

(e) prescribing the records and books of account to be kept by owners of mills under this Act;

(f) prescribing arrangements under which the requirements of section 21 shall be deemed to have been sufficiently complied with; and

(g) generally for carrying into effect the provisions of this Act.

(2) The application of any such rule may be confined to any place or places specified therein.

34. The provisions of sections 201, 204, 205 and 206 of the Principal Act shall be deemed to be incorporated in this Part.

Certain provisions of Sea Customs Act to be incorporated in this Part.

35. The provisions of section 10 of the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, shall apply to duties on cotton goods imposed under this Act.

VIII of 1894.

Application of section 10 of Tariff Act to duties under this Act.

PART II.

INLAND CUSTOMS DUTIES.

36. (1) Duties of customs shall be levied at the rates for the time being prescribed in the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, upon cotton yarn, and upon cotton manufactures of all kinds, passing into British India out of any territory declared, under the power hereinafter in this section conferred, to be foreign territory.

VIII of 1894

Levy of duties on cotton yarns and manufactures passing into British India from foreign territory.

(2) The Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare that any territory situated within or bordering on, but not forming part of, British India shall be deemed, for the purposes of this section, to be foreign territory.

(3) The Governor General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, prohibit or restrict the bringing of cotton yarns or cotton manufactures into British India from any such foreign territory, or may prescribe the routes by which alone they may be brought.

(4) The provisions of section 19A of the Principal Act shall apply to all goods brought or attempted to be brought into British India in contravention of any such notification.

37. The provisions of the Principal Act as to drawback on export shall apply to all goods upon which duty has been paid under this Part.

Application of provisions of Sea Customs Act as to drawback to goods taxed under this Part.

J. M. MACPHERSON,
Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

The following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to provide for the Imposition and Levy of certain Duties on Cotton Goods was presented to the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 27th December, 1894:—

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

WE, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to provide for the Imposition and Levy of certain Duties on Cotton Goods was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the list appended, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

2. We have revised the definition of Collector in section 2, with the object of showing on the face of the Bill that the Customs Collectors at the larger ports only are to perform the functions of the Collector under the Bill, and that elsewhere they may be discharged by the Collector of the district or by such officer as the Local Government may appoint.

3. We have so altered the first proviso to section 5 as to make it clear that it is the intention to exempt from duty all yarns which would, by mercantile usage, be reckoned as of the number of 20 or less, even though they may slightly exceed that number, that is, may weigh slightly less than the weight theoretically attributable to that number.

4. We have appended to sub-section (2) of section 6 a Schedule specifying the same tariff values for yarns dutiable under this Bill as those which are proposed for like yarns when imported by sea by the Bill to amend the Indian Tariff Act, 1894, which is now before the Legislative Council.

5. We have added a sub-section to section 7 under which the first returns of yarns produced will not be required of mill-owners until the 15th February.

6. With the view of meeting, as far as possible, an objection taken to section 18 by the Bombay Millowners Association, we have altered the section so as to permit of yarns shipped for export being shown in the return for any month not later than that in which the yarn is shipped.

7. We have added an explanation to section 19 the effect of which will be to enable the drawback on yarn which has only been bleached or dyed or converted into sewing thread being recovered under this section.

8. In deference to representations made to us we have extended the periods within which, under section 21, drawback on export of cotton fabrics may be claimed to twelve months from the date of the manufacture of such fabrics, and to twelve months from the date on which the yarns in respect of which drawback is applied for have paid duty.

9. We have inserted an additional number in section 25 taken from the Bombay Salt Act, 1890, imposing a penalty on officers guilty of abusing their powers under the Bill.

10. We have inserted two new sections (section 31), imposing on mill-owners the duty of keeping such records and accounts as they may be required to do by rule, and (section 35), applying the provisions of section 10 of the Tariff Act, which prescribe rules as to payment of duty in the case of contracts for sale made before duty has been imposed, to duties imposed under this Bill.

11. We have added a sub-section to section 36 with the object of subjecting goods which may be imported in contravention of a notification issued under the section to the penalties imposed by section 19 A of the Sea Customs Act in the case of goods whose importation is prohibited under that Act.

12. The other alterations we have made in the Bill as introduced do not appear to us to be of sufficient importance to call for notice.

13. The publication ordered by the Council has been made as follows :—

In English.

Gazette.	Date.
Gazette of India	17th December, 1894.

14. We do not think that the measure has been so altered as to require republication, and we recommend that it be passed as now amended.

We regret we must dissent from the Report in so far as it relates to section 5, which fixes the limit of exemption from Excise Duty upon yarns at the count of 20 instead of 24, as proposed by us in the Select Committee.
