A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

By Dr. Geo. Watt, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III, & IV of the Dictionary are ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross-references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal 8vo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L; and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which consists of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI), but a tenth volume has been issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index is practically a glossary of the vernaculars and Europian names of the principal products of India, and, as such, is a work of reference, which it is hoped, will prove of considerable value.

Index to Do. do. 8vo. R2 (4a.)

Note.—By January next 100 sets only of the Dictionary would be available for sale.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III, & IV of the Dictionary are ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross-references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal 8vo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L; and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which consists of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI), but a [illegible] volume has been issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index is practically a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and, as such, is a work of reference, which, it is hoped, will prove of considerable value.

Index to Do. do. 8vo. R2 (4a.)

NOTE.—By January next 100 sets only of the Dictionary would be available for sale.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III, & IV of the Dictionary are ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is £45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 0 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but common local and important vernacular names are also given as cross-references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal 8vo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 089 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of I to middle of L; and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which consists of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI), but a tenth volume has been issued, consisting of an Index to all [illegible] and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index is practically a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and, as such, is a work of reference, which, it is hoped, will prove of considerable value.

Index to Do. do. 8vo. R2 (4*a*.)

NOTE.—By January next 100 sets only of the Diction would be available for sale.

The 27th November, 1899.

AGENT TO THE GOVR.-GENERAL IN BALUCHISTAN.

NOTIFICATION.

Quetta, the 22nd November, 1899.

No. 8988.—Under the authority vested in him by section 14 of the Glanders and Farcy Act, XIII of 1899 (which has been applied to the Agency territories by Foreign Department Notification No. 1258-E.A., dated the 21st August, 1899), the Agent to the Governor-General is pleased to make the following rules under the said Act :—

Rule 1.—Every Inspector who receives information of the supposed existence, or who has reasonable grounds to suspect the existence of glanders or farcy in any place within the sub-divisions to which this Act has been applied, shall proceed immediately to such place, and there execute and discharge the powers and duties conferred and imposed upon him under this Act.

Rule 2.—An Inspector may, for the purpose of seizing any such horse, enter and search any field, enclosure, building, or other place where he has reason to believe that any diseased horse is to be found; but, as far as practicable, he shall conduct his search in the presence of the owner, or of the person in charge of the suspected horse, field, enclosure, or building, to whom notice shall be given previous to the search.

Rule 3.—Every person having in his possession or under his charge any diseased horse shall observe the following rules :—

1st.—He shall, as far as possible, keep the diseased horse separate from other horses not diseased.

2nd.—He shall give information of the fact of the disease as soon as possible to the nearest Police station, and the Officer in charge of the station shall forthwith report the same to the District Superintendent of Police, who shall communicate it directly to the Inspector.

Rule 4.—The Inspector whose duty it is under section 8 of the Act to cause the destruction of any horse which is within the limits attached to a Police station may give written directions to the Officer in charge of that station to destroy the horse. The officer receiving such instructions shall have the horse promptly destroyed by shooting or otherwise. He shall also be responsible for seeing that the rule next following is complied with, or that the person failing to comply with that rule is proceeded against under rule 9.

Rule 5.—When a diseased horse is destroyed under section 8 of the Act, the owner, or the person in charge, shall cause the carcass to be buried, without delay, 6 feet below the surface of the ground; and the skin to be slashed so as to prevent its being used. No person shall dig up, or cause to be dug up, the carcass of any horse so buried, or any part of it: Provided that an Inspector may direct the carcass to be burnt instead of being buried, and the owner or person in charge shall thereupon cause it to be destroyed by fire. The carcass shall be buried or burnt at a place to be fixed by the Political Agent and Deputy Commissioner.

Rule 6.—When a diseased horse has been destroyed, or has died of the disease, the Inspector may order that its dung and any hay, straw, litter, or other things commonly used for food or bedding of horses shall be destroyed, by burying or burning, or in some other way, as he may direct, and the owner, or person in charge of the building, shed, place, or line in which such diseased horse has been located, shall be bound to execute such order without delay. If the Inspector is of opinion that any clothing, saddlery, harness, or other gear used on a diseased horse should also be burnt, such clothing, saddlery, harness, or other gear shall be burnt, and the above provisions shall apply.

Rule 7.—The stable or building in which a diseased horse has been, shall be cleansed, and disinfected in the following manner :—

1st.—By sweeping out and removing all dung, litter, and other matter.

2nd.—By thoroughly washing all woodwork with boiling water.

3rd.—By application to all parts above the floor with which the horse or its droppings may have come into contact, after thoroughly scraping the walls, of a coating of lime-wash made by mixing immediately before its use good, freshly burnt lime with water.

4th.—By removal, if practicable, of two feet of earth from the floor or standings, which shall not be renewed for at least two weeks.

The owner or person in charge of the stable or building shall be responsible for carrying out the measures indicated.

Rule 8.—The Inspector shall grant a license for removal of a horse which has been in contact with a diseased horse, only when he considers that there is no danger of the first horse becoming diseased.

If any horse which has been in such contact is removed without such license, the Inspector may require it to be taken back within the limits of the place from which it has been removed.

Rule 9.—Any person convicted of breaking any of the above rules, shall be punished with imprisonment, which may extend to one month, or with fine, which may extend to R50, or with both.

By Order,
A. MCCONAGHEY, Captain,
Second Assistant

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India.

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.,

Reporter on Economic Products.

The first five volumes and Volume VI, Parts I, II, III, & IV of the Dictionary are ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is R45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made): packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, 2 rupees 6 annas per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, R6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, etc. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross-references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries, and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal 8vo pages; Volume II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Volume III contains the letters D, E, F, and half of G; Volume IV, latter half of G to middle of L; and Volume V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which consists of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI), but a tenth volume has been issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index is practically a glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals, and minerals of India, and, as such, is a work of reference, which, it is hoped, will prove of considerable value.

Index to Do. do. 8vo. R2 (4*a*.)

NOTE.—By January next 100 sets only of the Dictionary would be available for sale.
