READ—the following papers :—

From the Venerable W. WESTON ELWES, M.A., Archdeacon of Madras, to the Chief Secretary to Government, dated Madras, 19th October 1895, No. 2316.

I have the honour at the request of the Superintending Engineer, V Circle, under date October 10th, 1895, and with reference to item 67, Part I, class B of the Provincial Civil Works budget for 1895-96, to submit for the sanction of Government revised plan and estimate of Rs. 2,810 for extending the Protestant cemetery at Pallavaram.

2. The original estimate, amounting to Rs. 2,410, has had to be revised owing to certain omissions noticed in paragraph 2 of G.O. No. 1304 W., dated 24th May 1894, and to the substitution of a better design for the porch.

No. 2611, Ecclesiastical.

Approved and transferred to the Public Works Department.

(Signed) J. F. PRICE,
Chief Secretary.

1st November 1895.

From Lieutenant-Colonel C. C. RAWSON, R.E., Superintending Engineer, V Circle, to the Chief Engineer, Public Works Department, dated Tanjore, 17th December 1895, No. 469 W.

With reference to your Memorandum No. 3605 C., dated 22nd November 1895, I have the honour to submit the following further particulars respecting the Pallavaram cemetery. The cemetery is just at the foot of Pallavaram hill. There is a shallow surface soil of sand, detritus from the hill washed down. Below this, the so-called gravel is really clay containing stones, small and large, the size gradually increasing to boulders with the depth. The Executive Engineer considers that it must be quite impermeable down to the rock, as the water in a well in the cemetery is up to, if not above, ground level. There are no buildings near, and the average number of interments is only seven per annum.

2. This estimate is for extending the existing cemetery in which interments have taken place for many years, the soil of the extension is exactly similar to that of the existing cemetery, and I see no reason why there should be any difficulty about the hardness of the soil.

3. The concrete foundations to the porch and compound wall have been increased, as suggested in paragraph 2 of your memorandum.

4. The enclosures received with the above are returned herewith.

ORDER—No. 116 W., dated 11th January 1896.

The revised estimate, amounting to Rs. 2,910, for improvements and extensions to the Protestant cemetery at Pallavaram in the Chingleput district, is sanctioned.

2. The Superintending Engineer, V Circle, will report the amount that can be spent on the work during the current official year.

3. This sanction has been registered as Provincial No. 98 W. of 1895-96, and classified as Civil Buildings, Original Works.
