The humble memorial of
Mol Abdurrahman Sh. "Shahri"

Most respectfully sheweth

1. That your memorialist passed the Lower Secondary examination, which is equivalent to the abolished middle school examination in the year 1892 and subsequently he was exempted by Govt from passing the Upper Secondary examination in view to his admission into <sup>the</sup> police and <sup>the</sup> salt departments respectively.

2. That in consonance with the exemption referred to in para (1), your memorialist tried his utmost and spared no opportunity to searching for an employment

3. That your memorialist is under the wording of the said order, debarred from being entertained in other branches of the service, and thus he is unable to derive the benefit of the exemption which the Govt were pleased to confer upon him.

4. That under these circumstances your memorialist most humbly and respectfully prays that your Excellency may be graciously pleased to grant him a general exemption, as to enable him to secure a post in any department, taking into consideration the fact that the following gentlemen, none of whom can claim any superiority over your memorialist from an educational point of view, were fortunate enough to enjoy the concession of general exemption at the hands of our benign Government.

6. It is not out of place here to mention the fact that your memorialist's attainments in Persian & Urdu are of a very high order as it will prove that he has not wasted away his time <sup>idly</sup>. In support of this claim he has enclosed a printed copy of the remarks made by most learned men and poets of India on his poetical work. True copies of my father's testimonials and myself are also herein enclosed for your Excellency's perusal.

For which act of benevolence your memorialist shall, as in duty bound, ever pray.

MY FATHER
MOULVI MD. ABDUL GHANI KHAN BAHADUR.

(1) Great Grandson of H. H. Nawab Walajah and grand son-in-law of H. H. Azamjah, the 1st and the 4th Nawabs of the Carnatic respectively, was a distinguished, highly educated, most enlightened, public spirited influential and a very respectable member of the Carnatic family.

(2) He was an accomplished scholar in Arabic and Persian, a professor of various sciences and an able poet in the said languages. His illustrious work Anwar-e-Azeem was published and circulated and was highly appreciated by 40 great Moulvies of the age.

(3) In 1880, in consideration of his noble birth and extraordinary mental faculties and moral qualities he was gifted by H. G. the Duke of Buckingham with a Deputy Collector's post to start with, then 38 years of age, inspite of his having passed no examination or having attended no school. This office he held for several years and died in harness.

(4) In the whole of Madras Presidency none, has, up to date, been elevated to such a high official position, under circumstances mentioned above.

(5) In the age of 44, he passed, all the special Test Examinations very creditably.

(6) He was a fellow of the University of Madras, a Municipal Commissioner of the City of Madras, a Director of Monegar choultry a Vice President of the Central Muhamadan Association, a special Juror on many occasions of the Madras High Court. In addition to these he held many honorary functions and always took an active part in all burning questions of the day.

(7) The following are the true extracts of some of the letters addressed to him by H. G. The Duke of Buckingham (a former Governor of Madras) and The Honourable Mr. D. F. Carmichael senior member of the Council.

(A) 31st December 1880,

Dear Sir, In reply to your memorial addressed to H. G. The Duke of Buckingham and chandos I was directed to reply that your present appointment was given to you in consequence of your good character and education. I remain, Yours very faithfully, (Sd.) BERTIE HOBERT, Private Secretary. To ABDUL GHANI KHAN BDR., Ag. Deputy Collector, Cuddapah.

(B) 5th October 1881.

The Duke of Buckingham and chandos has this day received Abdul Ghani Khan's letter of 3rd September. The Duke is glad to learn from it that a further acting appointment was given and has little doubt but that the same disposition to work and perseverance in steady adherence to upright and honest discharge of duty which the Duke had noticed will secure employment and in due course promotion. To Abdul Ghani Khan.

(C) Ooty, 21-10-'82.

My Dear Webster, This is Abdul Ghani Khan Bdr. Two years ago, when Government determined to give special help to Mohamadans. He was selected, though then 38, as the most respectable and best educated of the Carnatic family for a probationary Deputy Collector. First trial given at Cuddapah, afterwards Kishna where he is now. But his health at Bundar is not good and he wants a change to Southern District. You will see Horsfall gives him a capital character.

Yours sincerely, (Sd.) D. F. CARMICHAEL.

(D) ORIENTAL CLUB, LONDON, W.

My Dear Sir, Thank you for your letter of 17th April last, I am glad to hear that you have been recently confirmed in the rank of Deputy Collector, into promotion to the 5th grade. It is a great encouragement to the Mohamadau Community when they see gentlemen of your rank entering the public service and proving themselves deserving officials. It is a false pride which has kept back the Arcot Kandan so long and it is creditable to you to have shown them a better example.

I remain, Yours Sincerely, (Sd.) D. F. CARMICHAEL.

V. SHAMS-UL ULAMA MAULAVI SHIBLI OF NUMAN, Fellow of the University of Allahabad, member of the Royal Asiatic Society, Calcutta, late professor of Persian and Arabic, M. A. O. College, and the greatest author of the day, writes:—Read your poetical work. Before this, also some of your short poems had illuminated my eyes while perusing them. For a long time past, I have been admitting and admiring your meditative faculty and your command of the language. The manner in which philosophical thoughts are expressed therein is hardly exemplified in the Urdu of any other poet.

VI. SHAMS-UL ULAMA KHAN BAHADUR MAULAVI ZAKAULLA SAHIB, fellow of the Allahabad University and late professor of the Muir Central College, Allahabad, writes:—Md. Abdurrahman Khan, Shatir, a member of a respectable family and an eloquent poet, has written a poem in praise of the great Shah of Karbala and has named it "Ijaz-i-Ishq" (miracle of love). The miracle in it is that he expresses philosophic subjects in the form of love. The inconsistency between love and wisdom is apparent and he combines these two things in such a fascinating manner that it is surely a miracle. However highly we praise of it, the less will it be.

VII. KHAN BAHADUR MAULAVI SAIYID AKBAR HUSAIN SAHIB, Judge, Small Cause Court, Allahabad, writes:—On perusing your eloquent and sublime poem, I was pleased to know that Muslims of high culture and philosophic disposition do still exist in this country. The whole of the poem is an ocean full of pearls. Going through some of the verses, I cannot help thinking them to be mines of rubies of inconsiderable value: Your intelligence seems to be higher than the stage of composing poetry, according to a well known verse of Mirza Galib. Translation: Although I was not at all willing to accept this position, yet poetry itself earnestly liked to become my profession. You seem to possess a full command over such wide compositions as are decidedly instructive of intelligence. No wonder, therefore, if your attention be drawn to prose works also, so that students might get greater facilities therefrom. It is my good fortune that a respectable, learned and eloquent poet of so high a position as you are has a regard for me at heart.

VIII. MAULAVI SHEKH MUHAMMAD IQBAL SAHIB M. A., Professor of Govt. College, Lahore, writes:—A portion of this poem has already been published in the "Makzan" and has been generally looked upon with approbation and esteem. There lives at Jalandhar a friend of mine who, I have heard, holds your poem in high estimation, so much so that, by continuous repetition of the verses, the whole portion of it, published in the "Makzan", has been committed to his memory. Almost all the verses are sublime and are carriers of deep significations. The style is clear and elegant and the internal effect of the poem is indicative of the pain-stricken heart of the poet. The manner of your expression is indeed unique and the eloquence of your language is a matter for your fellow-citizens to take pride of. For these reasons, I mistook you for a native of Northern India but was really surprised to know that you were brought up in Madras.

IX. MAULAVI SAIYID WAHID UDDIN SAHIB, SALIM, Literary Assistant to the late Sir Saiyid, writes:—I went through your poetical work minutely and was surprised to see how, in spite of being a resident of Madras, you mastered such pure and beautiful language and how you could so clearly express philosophical ideas in an ingenious and eloquent manner. Your taste of poetry bears the marks of accuracy and high basis; and your style is by far different from that of common poets. I heartily appreciate you on your success and feel thankful to you for your kind valuable present, which greatly adds to the excitement of my taste and pleasure.

X. KHAN BAHADUR MAULAVI SAIYID ALI MUHAMMAD, SHAD, Honorary Magistrate of Azimabad, writes:—In my opinion, either none from among the present men has composed a sublime poem full of such high speculations or that such a thing has not come to my notice. No words of mine could possibly appreciate the same. It is true to say that you have reached the zenith of poetry. Side by side with it, goes the beauty of style and language which shows that this must be the result of a life long practice. Upon my God, it surprises me how Madras got such an eloquence of language, combined with magnanimity of thought.

(2) It is no exaggeration that I should have used such words about you. It is a matter of chance that high birth and attainments should go together. In my opinion, it is a matter of great regret that Muslims should not value you. Had Muhammadans been duly appreciating the learned among their society, their status would not have indeed been so much lowered in public estimation. However, I hope you will value your own self, consider your existence a boon and lose no opportunity in attaining higher qualifications. Such intellectual capabilities are very rare and are due to the blessings of the Almighty God. Should you not properly utilize such a gift, you will be surely held answerable on the judgment day.

THE IJAZ-I-ISHQ.

MUHAMMAD ABURRAHMAN "SHATIR", son of the late Maulavi Muhammad Abdul Ghani Khan Bahadur, Deputy Collector and great grandson of His late Highness Nawab Azamjah Bahadur, the Second Titular Nawab of the Carnatic, (with a salute of 21 guns) humbly begs to state that he is a poet and a scholar in Persian and particularly in Urdu. He has surpassed all the poets not only in this Presidency, but also in the whole of India, perhaps with but a very few exceptions. In order to establish his claim, he has published a philosophical poem in Urdu, appropriately called the "Ijaz-i-Ishq", i. e., Miracle of Love, which is admitted as a masterly work of the present age by almost all the great literary men. The poem contains 400 verses. In justice to himself, the author states, without fear of contradiction, that it is nothing short of a miracle. The author's inventive genius has done in poetry what Lord Bacon had accomplished in philosophy. It is no exaggeration to say that poetry and philosophy are the warp and woof of his marvellous intellect. He hopes that his name will be handed down to posterity for this grand achievement in poetry. In consideration of his literary talents, he has been selected an honorary member of the "Anjuman-i-Taraqqi-i-Urdu," an Association for the advancement of Urdu, formed at the Muhammadan Educational Conference held at Delhi. The author has composed another large poem exclusively dealing with scientific subjects in technical terms. The following remarks on "the Miracle of Love", made by the most learned men and poets of India, serve to shew, to some extent, their views regarding this extraordinary masterpiece:—

I. HAZRAT MAULAVI SAIYID SHAH HUSAIN SAHIB QADIRI, THE SPIRITUAL LEADER OF THE AUTHOR, writes:—Received the sublime poem of yours. It is impossible that any just man should dissent from the beauty of its contrivance and sublimity of expression. The following verses do specially need the appreciation of spiritually sagacious votaries. There are also many other verses of the kind. May you be blessed with a higher sense of meditation!

II. HONORABLE NAWAB IMADULMULK SAIYID HUSAIN SAHIB BILGIRAMI, B. A., Director of Public Instruction, Haidarabad, and member of the Viceroyal Council, writes:—Received your kind note, together with a copy of the poem, appropriately named "Ijaz-i-Ishq" (miracle of love). I am very much obliged to you for the kindness that you should have considered me a fit person for this invaluable present. I lack words to value your work, inasmuch as it has innumerable beauties of both language and meaning combined together. Should a selection be made of it, I think some such verses may be found out as would eventually be unique, not only for the originality of matter but also for the fluency of style, splendour of diction and propriety of words. However highly we praise of the Ijaz-i-Ishq, the less will it be. Consequently, taking into consideration the respectability of your family, it would not be improper to call you the possessor of double dignity (birth and attainments).

III. SHAMSUL ULAMA MAULAVI NAZIR AHMAD KHAN, L. L. D., of Delhi, writes:—The poem is beautiful and eloquent, with purity of language and sublimity of thought. Besides these, what else can a poem contain.

IV. SHAMSUL ULAMA MAULAVI ALTAF HUSAIN SAHIB, HALLI of Panipet, the greatest poet of the day, writes:—

(i) It was a matter of great surprise to me how and wherefrom such plain and eloquent Urdu, how so beautiful a prose and poetry and how such a really pleasant taste thereof immigrated to Madras. It is no exaggeration to say that when I read some of your verses, I envy why such a mode of expression did not fall to my lot. Specially, I am absolutely unable to praise sufficiently the following verse:— Translation. "Oh piebald of night and day, none of thy paces steps forward without appropriateness; hence it appears that some one rides over thee." This single verse alone is enough to prove your high capability in the art of poetry.

(ii) Read both of your poems with great interest; and, after deep perusal thereof, the impression made on my mind is that you are a born poet and you naturally possess a blessed capability of the art given you by God. The completion of the art of poetry does solely rest in you and you alone. I opine that not to value such an ability and grow indifferent of the same would be one of the most inexpressible sins. At present, neither this profession is a source of livelihood, nor does it fitly maintain prestige, which are, of course, discouraging agents for one's heart. I fear that, owing to the general tastelessness of the present age, you do not abstain from the profession, either now or in future. Pray you will not let this natural gift go wasted and lose no opportunity in reaching the zenith of the art. This will not only be conducive of good results in your favour but also benefit Urdu literature a great deal.

2. Please see however G.O. No.95, Edl., dated 16th February 1906. The Government first exempted Hyder Hussain from passing the Upper Secondary examination for holding appointment in the Survey department only. He then requested that he might be granted a general exemption. The Government declined to comply with his request.

3. Then again, K. Rama Rao, 2nd clerk, Piler Deputy Tahsildar's Office, was first exempted for appointment at Piler only. The Collector of ~~24~~ Cuddapah, in anticipation of sanction, transferred him to Kadiri and requested that the clerk might be exempted without restriction as to station or appointment. The Government after much hesitation extended the exemption so as to cover his appointment on the same pay in the Cuddapah District only.
