C. No.2054, from the Director of Public Instruction, No.5436, d/22-8-1907.

Subject.

Payment of an allowance to Dr. Chandrasekhar, Assistant Professor of Hygiene, Medical College, for performing the duties of Professor of Hygiene.

R. Dr. Chandrasekhar, Assistant Professor of Hygiene, Medical College, applies for the allowance sanctioned in G.O. No.655, Public, dated 6th September 1906, for doing the work of Professor of Hygiene from the 8th February to the 1st April 1907.

2. The D.P.I. submits the application for the orders of Government without explaining the circumstances under which Dr. Chandrasekhar was entrusted with the duties of Professor of Hygiene from the 8th February to the 1st April 1907.

Vide para.6 of Despatch from Govt. of India to Secretary of State No.139, d/26-4-06. (Page 3 of G.O.655, Public, d/6-9-06).

3. The duties of Professor of Hygiene and Bacteriology were entrusted to the Deputy Sanitary Commissioner from the 12th December 1904. But as this arrangement was found to be unsatisfactory, the Government decided in paragraph 3 of G.O. No.655 Public, dated 6th September 1906, to confer the duties on the Resident Medical Officer, General Hospital, for which he was to be given a separate local allowance of Rs.200 per mensem, and called on the Surgeon-General to submit a minute of appointment accordingly. But on the ~~D.P.I.~~ representation of the D.P.I. that it would not be desirable to make any change in the arrangement in the middle of the college session, the Government agreed to his proposal to give effect to the revised arrangement from the 1st July 1907 -

Vide

O vide G.O. No.804, Public, dated 12th November 1906.

4. The Government on reconsideration decided C in G.O. No.17, Public, dated 8th January 1907, that the Deputy Sanitary Commissioner should be immediately relieved of his lecturing duties at the Medical College and requested the Surgeon General R to carry out the orders in G.O. No.655, Public, dated 6th September 1906. It is not stated when the Deputy Sanitary Commissioner was relieved of his lecturing work, but it appears probable that he was relieved of these duties on the 8th February 1907. The Resident Medical Officer having been appointed to act as Professor of Hygiene and Bacteriology with effect from the 1st of April 1907— (not put up) vide G.O. No.R.175, Edl., dated 23rd April 1907, Dr. Chandrasekhar appears to have discharged the duties of Professor of Hygiene from 8th February to 31st March 1907. It is not clear who made the arrangement and under what authority it was made. Submitted that the D.P.I. may be asked u.o. to furnish information on the points raised above.

The papers on the subject have now been obtained from the Public Department. In his D.O. No.14, dated 10th January 1907, on page 9 of G.O.R. No.119 Public, dated 19th February 1907, the Surgeon-General proposed that the Assistant to the Professor of Hygiene (Dr. Chandrasekar) should carry on the duties of Professor of Hygiene from the date of relief of Captain Justice to the end of the session and this proposal was approved by Government - vide proposal No.4 on page 14 of G.O. 2. On former occasions when Dr. Chandrasekar did the duties of Professor of Hygiene and Bacteriology in addition to his own, he was given with the sanction of the Government of India an allowance of Rs.100 a month - vide G.O. No.430, Edl., dated 19th June 1906. In para.(f) of G.O. No.538, Pub., dated 8th July 1907, the allowance to an officer of the subordinate service temporarily performing the duties of a minor Professorship at the Medical College has been fixed at Rs.100 a month and in accordance with this order it appears that this allowance may be given by the Local Government without any reference to the Government of India.

Public Department

For the A.S.

Clause (f) of G.O. No. 533 Public, dated 8.7.07, rules that the allowance to an officer of the subordinate services temporarily [illegible] performing the duties of a minor professorship shall be fixed at Rs. 100 a month. This is a general rule limiting the allowance to a certain amount, but it seems doubtful whether it overrides the provisions of Art. 76(1) of the C.S.R., under which in individual cases, without the authority of the G. of I., no addition may be made to the pay & allowances of an officer if they would after the addition, exceed Rs. 250 a month. The pay of the Asst. to the Professor of Hygiene is Rs. 200-20-300. The A.G. may be asked whether he sees any objection to the draft order.
