NOTES CONNECTED WITH G.O., No. 738, EDUCATIONAL,
DATED 4TH NOVEMBER 1907.

[SUBJECT.—Holiday on account of the King's Birthday.]

From the Director of Public Instruction, dated 30th October 1907, No. 7049.

In G.O., No. 707, Educational, dated 18th October 1907, the Government directed that all schools and colleges shall be granted a holiday on the 9th November on account of the King-Emperor's Birthday.

2. The Director of Public Instruction points out that this year the King's Birthday (9th November) falls on a Saturday, a general holiday in schools and colleges, and requests early orders whether, in view of its importance, the holiday may be granted on the next succeeding working day of the school or college, that is, on Monday, the 11th November 1907.

3. The Director of Public Instruction's suggestion may, it is submitted, be approved.

Submitted for orders.

C. A. SOUTER—31-10-07.

I doubt whether exceptions can be made. Schools which were open during the period for which the colleges were closed got the usual holiday in June. Government offices do not get an extra holiday because a gazetted holiday falls on the last Saturday or on a Sunday?

I would, however, make a general exception in schools when 9th November falls on a Sunday and allow the holiday in such case to be taken on the succeeding Monday.

If an exception is to be made in the case of Saturdays, a similar exception will have to be made in the case of Sundays and other gazetted holidays.

I recollect that when I was at school we got no extra holiday if the Queen's Birthday or any other recognised holiday fell on one of the ordinary half holidays!

H. D. TAYLOR—1-11-07.

I would allow it this year on Monday. It is well to mark it.

Draft please.
