No. 2303 OF 1908

From

The Honourable Mr. C. S. Bayley, C.S.I., I.C.S.,

Resident at Hyderabad,

To

The Chief Secretary to the Government of Madras,

MADRAS.

Dated Hyderabad Residency, the 7th March 1908.

Sir,

I have the honour to forward copy of an application in which G. Subarayadu, a Clerk in my office, solicits permission to appear at the ensuing special test examinations to be held at Madras. The applicant does not possess the educational qualification prescribed by the Government of Madras for admission to these tests, and I would enquire therefore whether, in the circumstances mentioned in his application, there would be any objection to his presenting himself as a special case for examination provided he submits with his application a certificate from this Residency granting him permission to appear.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

Chas. S. Bayley

Resident.

W.F.K.

Copy of letter No. 4 Dated the 20th February 1908, from G. Subbarayan, Clerk, Political Branch, to the Extra Assistant Resident, Hyderabad, Through the Head-Clerk, Political Branch.

As I am desirous of improving my qualifications with a view to better my prospects in the Government service I respectfully beg to submit the following for your kind and favourable consideration.

Before the transfer of Berar to the Central Provinces Administration the members of the Resident's Office had chances of qualifying themselves for higher appointments by passing the Berar Tests. As this chance is now denied them I beg that you will kindly recommend me to appear for the Special Test Examinations (Criminal and Account Tests &c.,) of the Madras Presidency.
The candidates who apply for such examinations should at least have passed the Matriculation ^{Examinations} of the Madras University; But in some cases Government servants who do not possess the necessary educational qualifications, have been, as a special case, permitted to appear for the Special Tests referred to above. My request is no exception as there are to-day in the Cocanada Collectorate men who though they have not passed the Matriculation examination were by virtue of their being in Government employment permitted to appear for the examinations with good results.
I similarly venture to ask for like treatment.

I therefore respectfully beg that my case may be recommended to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Madras for exemption from the restrictions above referred to.

For which act of kindness I shall ever feel thankful.

[Application of G. Subarayudu, Clerk in the office of the Resident at Hyderabad for permission to appear for the Special Test Examination
[C 435] From the Resident at Hyderabad
No 2303 & 7-3-08]

The Resident at Hyderabad forwards an application from G. Subarayudu a clerk in his office who asks for permission to appear for the ensuing Special Test Examinations to be held at Madras. The applicant does not possess the educational qualifications prescribed for admission to the tests; he will therefore require exemption from the rules if his request is to be granted.

The position is not the same as that of a man in employment in a service who is permitted to appear. Such a man could always qualify for service here. Is the number of candidates unduly large?

Please see the notes on the subject.

The number of entries was largely reduced after the fraud some years ago, and proposals were in fact submitted for reducing the number of candidates, at various periods between, even in 1901. The policy has been to restrict the number of candidates. The man would apparently appear at the Bellary centre or at the Manipal centre. That is the number of candidates appearing at these stations. GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

READ—the following paper:—

Letter—from L. E. BUCKLEY, Esq., I.C.S., Collector of the Nilgiris.
To—the Secretary to Government, Educational Department.
Dated—Ootacamund, the 7th April 1908.
No.—Current 23.

In submitting herewith an application from S. Vyasa Rao, second clerk of the Revenue Divisional Office, Coonoor, for permission to appear for the Revenue Test, Lower grade, for a period of three years, I have the honour to state that it is difficult to get well-qualified men for appointments in this district, and that even if they do take up appointments, they are always trying to get a transfer to other districts.

2. The applicant has had considerable experience in taluk work and may prove a useful Revenue Inspector. He is spoken of well by the Revenue Divisional Officer, and I therefore recommend that he may be permitted to appear for the Revenue Test, Lower grade, for three years.

ENCLOSURE.

Letter—from S. VYASA RAO, Second Clerk, Revenue Divisional Office, Coonoor.
To—the Collector of the Nilgiris.
Dated—the 2nd January 1908.

Under note 1 to the Public Service Notification issued under G.O., No. 317, Educational, dated 9th May 1894, communicated in Board's Proceedings, No. 263-L.R., dated 16th June 1894, persons who have passed the Middle School examination in the first class and who held acting appointments in superior service but were not confirmed before 30th June 1894 were ineligible for promotion although they were eligible for confirmation in the same appointment. In G.O., No. 301, Educational, dated 18th May 1907, Government were generously pleased to relax this rule and to allow the promotion of such persons "provided that otherwise they are deemed fit for such further promotion".

I respectfully beg to submit the following for kind consideration with regard to the proviso in the Government Order and reproduced above under quotation:—

Under article 4 of the Special Test examination rules appended to Government Order of 1894 referred to above, all persons who held superior appointments on Rs. 15 and upwards were eligible to appear for all special tests except Revenue Higher and Criminal Tests. This concession was subsequently withdrawn by the introduction of note (b) under rule 4 of the Special Test examinations published at page 240 of the Fort St. George Gazette, dated 27th April 1897, Part I-B, to the following effect:—

"Until 1st January 1902 all the special tests except Revenue Higher and Criminal Judicial Tests shall be open to persons who, on the 1st January 1897, held appointments carrying a salary of Rs. 15 per mensem or upwards in the superior service of Government and who had on that date passed either the General Test examinations or the Middle School examination in the first class."

I have been able to pass the marginally-noted examinations but not the Revenue Test

Criminal Judicial Test, Lower.
 Translation, Lower, Tamil.
 Précis-writing, Higher.
 Account Test, Lower.
 Forest Test in Code and Accounts.

although I appeared for the same on three or four occasions. I beg that I may be permitted to appear for this test at least for three years so that I may qualify myself for further promotion. There are many others in the district and elsewhere like myself, who have passed some of the tests and who have yet to pass some more in order to qualify themselves for further promotion. The Special Test examination scandal which was going on in an organised system for some years until 1904 accounts for this to some extent. Without completing the special tests it is not possible to secure promotion though persons may otherwise be deserving of such, and the generous order of Government in G.O., No. 301, Educational, dated 18th May 1907, will thus have no practical effect.

I therefore respectfully beg to submit that you will be graciously pleased to move Government to have the special tests open to such men with such restrictions that may be considered necessary. At present certain heads of departments such as the Inspector-General of Police, Prisons, etc., have been empowered to allow unpassed men to appear for the special tests required for appointments in their respective departments under certificates issued by them to the effect that the candidate is deserving of such concession. Government may be moved to extend such power to Collectors also.

N. Dis. Pet. 3 of 1908.

Forwarded for favourable consideration.

2. The applicant has been doing magisterial and income-tax work under me for several months and he is hardworking. He has still to pass only the Revenue Test, and he was dealing with the revenue work in the Coonoor Taluk office for seven years, for four years of which he was head clerk.

R. F. L. WHITTY,
Ag. Head Assistant Collector, the Nilgiris.

Order—No. 397, Educational, dated 21st May 1908.

S. Vyasa Rao will be permitted to appear for the Revenue Test, Lower grade, at the examinations to be held in October 1908, 1909 and 1910.

NOTES CONNECTED WITH G.O., No. 397, EDUCATIONAL, DATED
21ST MAY 1908

[SUBJECT.—Permission to S. Vyasa Rao, second clerk, Revenue Divisional Office, Coonoor, to appear for the Revenue Test, Lower.]

From the Collector of the Nilgiris, dated 7th April 1908, No. 23.

The Collector of the Nilgiris (Mr. Buckley) submits an application from S. Vyasa Rao, second clerk of the Revenue Divisional Office, Coonoor, for permission to appear for the Revenue Test, Lower Grade, for a period of three years.

2 The applicant has apparently passed the Middle School examination in the first class and was confirmed in the superior service subsequent to 30th June 1894. He may therefore be promoted to higher pay, under G.O., No. 301, Educational, dated 18th May 1907, provided he was otherwise qualified. He has passed the following special tests :—

Criminal Judicial Test, Lower.
Translation Test, Lower.
Précis-writing Test, Higher.

Account Test, Lower, and
Forest Test in Code and Accounts.

As he has however not passed the Revenue Test, Lower, he seeks permission to appear for the test.

3. He is well spoken of by the Head Assistant Collector and is recommended by the Collector, who says that it is difficult to get well qualified men for appointments in the Nilgiri district, that even if they do take up appointments they are always trying to get a transfer to other districts and that the applicant has had considerable experience in taluk work and may prove a useful Revenue Inspector.

4. It is for consideration whether, in these circumstances, the applicant may be permitted to appear for the Revenue Test, Lower, for three years.

M.R.N.—22-4-08.

The Collector's recommendation may, I submit, be accepted.

F. NOYCE—23-4-08.

As G.O., No. 301, Educational, dated 18th May 1907, has rendered these men eligible for promotion, should they not be placed in the same position as Matriculates and Upper Secondary men in regard to admission to special tests? It hardly seems worth while to debar them from going in for the special tests if they may be promoted.

A. G. CARDEW—24-4-08.

To the Educational Department.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

Under article 4 of the Special Test notification in force in 1894, the special tests were, subject to certain limitations, "open to all persons who held or were eligible (under article 2 of the Public Service notification) to hold superior appointments carrying a salary of Rs. 15 per mensem or upwards in the public service."

2. Under the Public Service notification issued in that year, the minimum qualification for entering the public service was laid down as the Upper Secondary or the Matriculation examination. A note was, however, added to the notification which ran—

"The rules contained in this notification shall in no wise affect the promotion of persons who held permanent appointments before they first came into force on the 1st July 1894, nor shall they apply to persons acting in appointments for which, though qualified under the rules in force on the 30th June 1894, they may not be qualified under the present notification, such persons being eligible for confirmation in the appointments in which they are officiating if they fall permanently vacant before termination of the acting incumbency."

3. In G.O., No. 301, Educational, dated 18th May 1907, the Government interpreted the above note to the Public Service notification as permitting the promotion to higher appointments of men who had passed the Middle School examination in the first class and had been confirmed in any post in the superior service carrying a pay of Rs. 15 per mensem or more subsequent to 30th June 1894, provided they were otherwise deemed fit for further promotion.

4. The question has now been raised whether such persons should not be placed in the same position as Matriculates and Upper Secondary men in regard to admission to special tests.

5. The question as to whether persons who had passed the Middle School examination in the first class and who held appointments carrying a salary of Rs. 15 or upwards on the 1st January 1897 should not be permitted to appear for the special tests was raised in 1896—vide page 1 of K.W. G.O., No. 584, Educational, dated 21st September 1896.

The Hon'ble Mr. Grose then observed—

"The complaint of the petitioners results from the progress of education which has enabled us to insist on public servants possessing a certain standard of erudition. Till comparatively late years no standard could be prescribed. Then the general test standard and the middle school standard, which are far below the Matriculation standard, were insisted on. Last of all, education having made sufficient progress to supply enough men who have passed the Matriculation standard, that standard was prescribed. Parents who think it may be well for their children to enter the service of Government get them educated up to the Matriculation standard. This costs money, and it would be unfair to them and discourage education generally to let men (like petitioners) who have not attained this standard keep them out of the posts to which they aspire. According to article 2 of the Public Service notification no persons are eligible for appointments of Rs. 15, unless they have passed the Matriculation examination or something equivalent to it, but under Note 1 this does not bar the promotion of men in the service before the 1st July 1894.

Under article 4 of the Special Test notification the special tests are open to persons eligible to hold appointments of

Rs. 15, i.e., to persons who have passed the Matriculation standard, etc. The intention of the notification was to allow the promotion of men in the service to the lower appointments for which no special tests were prescribed, but to restrict the higher appointments to men who had reached the Matriculation standard. It is well, both "for the interests of education and of the public service, to insist on as high a standard as we can. It was in accordance with this view that G.O., No. 571, dated 9th July 1895, was passed, declaring the Special Test examination closed to men already in the service who, not having attained the Matriculation standard, were not eligible for the special test appointments. In consideration of the fact that some men of this description had prepared them as well for passing Special Test examinations, it was afterwards ordered that they might appear for those examinations in 1895 and 1896 (G.O., No. 767, dated 16th September 1895). I think this concession was sufficient. The petitions purport to be merely applications for leave to pass special tests, but they are really applications for declaring the said petitioners eligible for special test appointments. I think they should be dismissed."

6. The Hon'ble Mr. Bliss, however, thought that the course which was being pursued of preventing men already in the service from rising in it by passing the special tests, if they could, was not only most impolitic but most unjust. He said—

"I cannot see why persons already in Government service should not go up for special tests if they please. If they do they harm no one, except perhaps themselves inasmuch as they undertake labours which must usually be infructuous. But that is their look out. On the other hand, if they pass special tests, the very fact that they have done so will in many cases be a proof that, in spite of originally inferior educational advantages, they are competent to hold the appointments for which the particular special tests are prescribed; and heads of departments who do not generally complain of a plethora of qualified candidates for vacancies will on this ground, if they choose, be able to make a case for their exemption from the general educational tests in view to their appointment to the posts for which the particular special tests are prescribed. To adopt any other course and to shut out from all prospects of advancement in the public service men who have not had the advantage of a good education, seems to me not only impolitic in the highest degree but also distinctly unjust."

7. His Excellency Sir Arthur Havelock, agreeing with the view expressed by the Hon'ble Mr. Bliss, allowed those who had not passed the Matriculation examination, but who on the 1st January 1897 held appointments carrying a salary of Rs. 15 per mensem or upwards in the "superior service" of Government and who on that date had passed either the general test examination or the Middle School examination in the first class, to present themselves for the special tests during the next succeeding five years, that is, till 1st January 1902.

8. Subsequent to 1902 persons who did not possess the general educational tests qualifying them to appear for the special tests had to obtain the special permission of Government if they desired to appear for any of the special tests. Permission is now granted, in special cases, to those who have not passed the Matriculation or other equivalent examination to appear for the special tests. Similar permission is also granted to Matriculates and F.As. to present themselves for those special tests for which they are not, under the Special Test notification, qualified to appear.

9. It is for consideration whether any general concession such as that referred to by the Revenue Secretary may now be granted to first-class Middle school men. There is little doubt that the intention of the notification was to allow the promotion of men who had not passed the Matriculation or any equivalent examination and who were in the service on 1st July 1894 to the lower appointments for which no special tests were prescribed. The unqualified men who held Rs. 15 posts on 1st January 1897, that is, when the Public Service notification of 1894 was actually brought into force, having been permitted to appear for the special tests for a period of five years from that date, it does not appear that there is a case for the grant of any further concession. The effect of G.O., No. 301, Educational, dated 18th May 1907, will only be to render Middle School men who got permanent posts on Rs. 15 subsequent to 1st June 1894, eligible for promotion only to those appointments for which no special tests are prescribed.

K. RANGASWAMI AIYANGAR—9-5-08.

Mr. Grose's note is all the more cogent now when education has advanced, and it seems unnecessary to issue a general order as contemplated by the Revenue Secretary. Exemption may perhaps be given in this special case. No further order need be issued.
