Testimonials.

WORCESTER COLLEGE,
OXFORD,

26th May 1909.

I think my friend Mr. St. C. Ransford, formerly scholar of this college, would be an exceedingly good Principal for a college in India. He is a man of good ability, and of considerable acquirements, who has always borne a very high character both among his own contemporaries and among the older generation who as his tutor, etc., knew him well, as I did, through his time at Oxford. He is a gentleman, and has the ways and feeling of a gentleman, with good manners, good appearance and a pleasant address. In the examination for Classical Honours at Moderations, he took a Second Class, though a certain touch of style and distinction in his work had given me some hopes of his being placed in the First. And in the Final Classical Examination his place, a 4th class, I think, did not at all correspond, to his real ability. These things, however, give little idea of what he really is. If my judgment is not entirely mistaken, he would have possibly more than he knew himself—a far reaching and efficient influence in creating a manly, loyal, honourable tone among boys and young men. He would have their respect and regard, and his keen interest in games would be of no little value. He has excellent sense and tact, and, I should say the strength to take and maintain his proper position as a head.

T. W. JACKSON,
Fellow and Vice-Provost
(and formerly Tutor) of Worcester
College, Oxford.

SHERBORNE SCHOOL,
DORSET,
October 1901.

Mr. C. Ransford was a pupil of this school from September 1889 to July 1896; he obtained a scholarship while in the school and left it with an Open Classical Scholarship at Worcester College, Oxford.

He has a very considerable aptitude for classics, which should serve him well as a teacher. But, quite apart from that, he is a man of a very loyal and sound character, and can be trusted to do well whatever he undertakes. As head of the house and school here he was decidedly successful, and the relations between him and myself have always been excellent.

I look on him as quite one of the best of my pupils here, and I confidently recommend him to a headmaster in search of a colleague.

F. B. WESTCOTT,
Headmaster.

WORCESTER COLLEGE,
OXFORD,
October 1901.

I have much pleasure in writing a testimonial for Mr. C. de St. C. Ransford, B.A., of Worcester College.

Mr. Ransford was a Classical scholar of Worcester and obtained a Second Class in Moderations.

During his period of residence he bore an excellent character; he was popular in college and took a leading part in the undergraduate life. He is in the fullest sense of the word a gentleman, high-principled, courteous in manner and certain to exercise a good influence over his pupils.

I shall be very happy to act as his reference and to answer any questions of detail that may be considered necessary.

W. H. HADOW,
Fellow and Tutor.

ST. GEORGE'S COLLEGE, QULMES, F.C.S.,
BUENOS AIRES,
December 1902.

I have much pleasure in writing a testimonial in favour of Mr. C. Ransford, who has been an Assistant Master here since last August. He leaves us because he wishes to take up work in South Africa.

He is prompt and punctual in the discharge of his duties and I have found him a most agreeable colleague, ever ready to give all assistance in the interests of the school.

He has taken part in the school games and I have every reason to think that he would throw himself heartily into all school matters.

J. T. STEVENSON,
(Cape University) Headmaster.

PRETORIA COLLEGE,
April 1908.

Mr. Charles Ransford informs me that he is applying for the post of Professor of English Literature at Karachi College, Sind.

He has been, since April 1906, a senior Assistant Master at Pretoria College, Transvaal, of which I am Headmaster.

His special work has been the teaching of languages and literature and he has shown himself a thoroughly competent teacher of these subjects. He is a man of wide reading and cultivated mind who may be relied upon to carry out thoroughly and punctually the duties of the post. He has shown himself capable of easily maintaining excellent discipline, interested in his work and ready to share in the social and outdoor life of the college. I have found him a most pleasant colleague in all respects; I believe him to be a gentleman of thoroughly upright character; and I can with great confidence recommend him for the post for which he is a candidate.

J. G. ACHESON, M.A.,

Scholar of Hertford College, Oxford).

HUTTON BRIDGE,
NR KING'S LANGLEY, HERTS.
27th May 1908.

(Permanent address—

c/o Andrew, Wood Purves & Sutton, Solicitors,
8 & 9, Great James Street, Bedford Row, W.C.).

In reply to your letter of May 24th forwarded to me from London, I have the greatest pleasure in bearing emphatic testimony to the fitness of my friend and late colleague Mr. C. St. C. Ransford, for the post in question.

As Inspector of Schools for the northern district of the Transvaal during the years 1905 and 1906 when Mr. Ransford was still in charge of the Peitersburg Secondary School, I had frequent opportunities of visiting his school, and as the result of my inspections I was always able to report most favourably on its attainment, discipline and organisation.

After the war the standard of education in the new colonies was unavoidably low and the equipment of the schools very defective, but despite all obstacles Mr. Ransford was the first Principal—outside the highly favoured schools of Pretoria and Johannesburg—to pass pupils for the Matriculation examination of the Cape University. I might mention that this test serves throughout the South African Colonies as the Preliminary examination for all the Professions and the Civil services, and that its syllabus of work is almost identical with that of London University.

Perhaps his strongest qualification for any scholastic appointment beyond the seas is that Mr. Ransford is a gentleman in every sense of the word and that he will always exercise the best influence over his pupils. I am more than usually competent to speak on this point, as for one and a half years we shared the same house and lived on close terms of friendship. He likewise possesses great tact and discretion—qualities in my opinion essential to the successful management of a school. After the war there was engineered by political agitators much senseless opposition to the so-called "Milner or English system of education", but by unflinching tact and courtesy Mr. Ransford converted many of the bitterest Anglophobes into firm friends of the new Education Department. He sacrificed much of his leisure time to keep in touch with parents and to interest himself in his pupils' outdoor pursuits.

He is a sound scholar, particularly brilliant in Greek and Latin Composition, is a keen student of English Literature and is proficient in French, German and High Dutch; for his proficiency in the last-named language he holds the Transvaal Education Department's higher certificate which is by no means easy to obtain. He has the happy knack of imparting knowledge, interests his pupils in their studies and maintains strong discipline without undue severity.

I may add that Mr. Ransford is a good all-round athlete, was Captain of Football at Sherborne and only just failed to represent Oxford at the same game. In any school under his charge the games will always be efficiently and properly organised. On his marriage in 1906 Mr. Ransford was transferred to a more remunerative post in Pretoria and there he has been as successful as at Pietersburg. I wish his application for the Principalship at Karachi every success and shall be very glad to answer any further questions on behalf of one to whose loyal co-operation I owe so much.

S. O. PURVES, M.A. (Cantab.),
Late Inspector, Transvaal Education Department.

7. THAT on the determination of the service at the expiration of the said term of two years, but not upon any subsequent determination, or if prior to the expiration of the said term of two years the party of the first part shall be compelled by ill-health (certified to the satisfaction of the Government) to give up the service, and shall actually quit the same in India, the Government will provide him with a first-class passage back to England at the public expense, provided he claims such passage within three months from any such determination of the service as is mentioned in this clause and leaves India on his return to England within such time as he may be directed.

8. THAT the party of the first part shall within the said term of two years pass such examination as may be prescribed by the Government in one of the vernacular languages, and if he shall fail to do so the Government may, notwithstanding anything contained in the next clause, dispense with his services.

9. THAT unless he, the party of the first part, shall receive notice in writing from some authorised Officer of the Government three calendar months before the expiration of the said term of two years that Government no longer require his services, or unless he shall give notice in writing to the Government three calendar months before the expiration of the said term of two years that he is desirous to put an end to his service under these presents, he will continue in the service of Government upon the like terms and conditions as are herein contained so far as the same are applicable, except that he shall not be entitled to receive or required to give notice of termination of his service under Government otherwise than as provided in the Civil Service Regulations for the time being in force or any other rules to which he may be made subject.

10. THAT if the party of the first part shall continue to serve Government under these presents after the said term of two years his service (commencing from the date of his entering on the performance of his duties as aforesaid) shall count as service towards leave and pension under such rules as regards leave and pension as may for the time being be applicable to his case. PROVIDED ALWAYS THAT in case of any dispute as to the interpretation of any of the said rules, or otherwise relating in any way to them the decision of the Secretary of State for India in Council shall be conclusive.

11. THAT in any payments which may be made in Great Britain under these presents the rate of exchange between England and India fixed from time to time by the Secretary of State for India in Council in communication with the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury shall be observed.

12. THAT the proceedings, letters, and reports of the Governor-General of India in Council, or of any of the Local Governments, and of all others the Officers and Agents of Government, or any copies thereof or extracts therefrom, which shall be sent officially to the Secretary of State for India in Council, or to any officers or servants in the Indian Service of His Majesty in England or elsewhere in any way relating to the sums of money to be paid or allowed to the party of the first part, or to his conduct, or in any way relating to the premises, shall be received as conclusive evidence of any matter therein contained in any action or in any legal proceedings by or between the parties to these presents, or in any way relating thereto.
