Insert the following as an additional paragraph at the end of existing rule 115 :—

“Secondary school-leaving certificates presented by applicants for admission into a training school shall be carefully scrutinized by the officer responsible for the selection of students and preference given in order of merit to (1) those which show ‘sufficient knowledge in two of the optional subjects specified in Group C other than shorthand and typewriting’ and whose holders are consequently eligible for Government service and (2) those which do not show two such optional subjects”.

From the Director of Public Instruction, dated 28th October 1910, No. 5371.

The Director of Public Instruction submits, for the approval of Government, a draft of the alterations to be made in rules 105 (ii) and 115 of the Madras Educational Rules.

2. Under the existing rule 105 (ii) of the Madras Educational Rules, persons who have passed the Matriculation Examination, the Upper Secondary Examination, the late Higher Examination for Women or other corresponding test, are eligible for training as teachers in Secondary Training schools. In G.O., No. 157, Educational, dated 16th March 1909, the Government have recognised the High School Examination for European schools as equivalent to the Matriculation Examination of the Madras University as a qualification for entrance to any school of professional or technical training which is not under the control of the University; and in G.O., No. 427, Educational, dated 21st July 1909, the Government have sanctioned a scheme for the award of Secondary School Leaving Certificates which was to qualify holders of such certificates for admission to a school of professional or technical teaching which is not connected with the University. The alterations proposed by the Director of Public Instruction merely includes these two classes of candidates among the persons given in rule 105 (ii) as eligible for admission into Secondary Training schools.

3. Rule 115 of the Educational Rules lays down certain instructions as to who should be given preference in the selection of candidates for admission into Training schools and who should be excluded. The Director of Public Instruction now proposes to add a paragraph to this rule specifying what qualifications should be looked for from the holders of Secondary School Leaving Certificates who might be selected for admission into Secondary Training schools. The directions given in the draft paragraph agree generally with those given in paragraph 2 of G.O., No. 649, Educational, dated 15th December 1909, in respect of selection of candidates for Government employment. But in view of the fact that there can scarcely be any order of merit among the holders of Secondary School Leaving Certificates, it is submitted that the words “in order of merit” occurring in line 4 of the draft paragraph may be omitted. It is also for consideration whether the last 19 words of the draft paragraph, beginning with the words “and whose holders” may not also be omitted. These words seem to be unnecessary. Candidates for employment in aided and unaided schools need not possess the qualifications prescribed for entering the Government service and it seems hardly necessary to give preference in the selection of candidates for admission to Training schools, to those who do not possess sufficient knowledge in two of the optional subjects specified in list C given in paragraph IV of the scheme for the award of Secondary School Leaving Certificates.

K. RANGASWAMI AYYANGAR—21-11-10.

The object of the last part of the amendment to rule 115 is to ensure that preference is given to candidates whose certificates qualify them under paragraph 2 of G.O., No. 649, Educational, dated 15th December 1909, for Government service, i.e., in this connection for employment as teachers in Government schools. This, I think, is a reasonable provision, and though the amendment as now drafted reads clumsily, I would let it stand. The expression "in order of merit" to which office takes exception is merely a convenient method of saying that preference should be given to candidates who hold the best certificates of those whose certificates qualify them for Government service. See the Government Order just cited.

2. The words "for the purpose" in the last sentence of the amendment to rule 105 (ii) are vague. In fact I am inclined to think that the whole sentence from "and which are accepted . . . ." to the end might go out. However, there may be some special reason for the insertion of the words and the Director of Public Instruction may see again on this point.

OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

Rule 105 merely states the minimum qualifications necessary and must be read with rule 115.

C. A. INNES.

If it is essential to shorten the rule, I would suggest —

- (1) Insert "such" after "holding".
- (2) For "which" read "as" before "are accepted."
- (3) Omit "which show that . . . and conduct and"
- (4) Omit "for the purpose".

A Making—"Such Secondary School Leaving Certificates signed by the Secretary to the Board for the award of such certificates, as are accepted by the officers responsible for the selection of students for training in these institutions."

Even then we have the inelegance of "such certificates" occurring twice!

The words suggested at A in the Hon'ble Mr Stone's note are an improvement and may be substituted for the passage I have bracketed in the draft amendment to rule 105 (ii) sent up. With this modification the amendments proposed may be approved.

C. A. INNES—25-11-10.

Yes. I agree to these modifications.
