The art class at Kumbakonam was first started in 1887, with the object of imparting instruction in drawing, painting and design to some of the students of the Government College as well as to outsiders on condition of their paying a monthly fee of 8 annas. The Municipal Council of Kumbakonam pays a contribution of half the salary of the Instructor attached to the art class on condition that 15 free scholars are admitted to the class from among the weavers goldsmiths, carpenters, metal workers and other artisan classes. The appointment of the Instructor is a temporary one and its continuance from time to time has been sanctioned ever since it was first created in 1887. The last sanction for the continuance of the class, for a period of five years from 1st April 1910, was accorded in G.O.No.151 Educational, dated 23rd March 1910. Instruction is now given in engraving, brush-drawing, free-arm drawing and modelling. If provision is to be made for giving instruction in weaving and dyeing, the ^{scope and} character of the 'art class' ~~will~~ will be changed.

2. The Industrial Conference held at Ootacamund in September 1908 suggested Kumbakonam as one of the alternative places ^{where a} ~~for one of~~ ^{the} weaving schools ^{might} ~~which they recommended~~ be opened in this Presidency.
