From the Director of Public Instruction, dated 11th May 1911, No. 2502.

Please see rules 35, 41, 70, 71, 74 and 78 of the rules for the training of hospital assistants (now called sub-assistant surgeons). Under these rules candidates who have passed the Matriculation examination of the Madras University or the compulsory portion of the Upper Secondary examination are eligible for admission into the medical schools. The Upper Secondary examination has now been abolished and the secondary school leaving certificate has been recognized both as an entrance test to the public service and also as a qualification for admission to secondary training schools and to the College of Engineering—vide G.Os., No. 649, Educational, dated 15th December 1909, No. 690, Educational, dated 1st December 1910, and No. 72, Educational, dated 6th February 1911. There appears to be no objection to the proposal of the Director of Public Instruction that the holders of the certificates which are found by the Superintendents of the medical schools as satisfactory may also be considered qualified for admission into those schools.

2. A draft order is submitted for approval.

It does not seem necessary to consult the Surgeon-General.

We may agree. It is, of course, an experiment and it may be necessary to insist on a higher standard later.
