G.O., No. 721, Educational, dated 30th October 1907.

ABSTRACT.—Issuing revised rules for the training of Hospital Assistants in Medical schools in the Madras Presidency.

II

Letter—from the Hon'ble Mr. J. H. STONE, M.A., F.R.H.S., Acting Director of Public Instruction, Madras.

To—the Secretary to Government, Educational Department.

Dated—the 29th June 1911.

No.—R.O.C. 2310/10.

Under the existing rule 95 of the Hospital Assistant rules, a pupil who fails in practical anatomy or operative surgery at the class or at the Board examination should be remanded without re-examination as he could not undergo a practical course during the school recess. This is considered to be a hardship and the Superintendent of the Rayapuram Medical School proposes to modify the rule so as to allow such failed pupils to be re-examined in practical anatomy or operative surgery at the beginning of the ensuing session in case where a practical course can be arranged during the recess and the Superintendent of the school is satisfied with the progress made by the pupils. The Superintendents of the Medical Schools at Vizagapatam and Tanjore are in favour of the above modification; but the President of the Board of Examiners, Medical College, whom I have consulted is not in favour of the change. He says that the subject of anatomy in which the majority of the students fail, is one of the most important of the whole course and that if a student is not properly grounded in anatomy and does not possess more than a very elementary knowledge of the subject, he cannot possibly expect to be an efficient medical officer. I therefore referred the matter to the Surgeon-General, who thinks that the proposal to amend the rule is a sound one. After a careful consideration of the matter, I see no objection to the change proposed by the Superintendent, Medical School, Rayapuram, to allow failed students in anatomy to be re-examined as in the case of students who have failed in any of the other subjects, at the beginning of the next session provided that a practical course can be arranged during the recess. I beg to submit herewith a draft of the proposed alterations in rule 95 and to request that if it meets with the approval of Government, early orders may be passed so that it may come into operation at once. The Superintendent of the Medical School, Rayapuram, reports that in anticipation of the sanction of Government, he opened a class in practical anatomy soon after the results of the last Hospital Assistant examinations were announced.
