Declining to sanction the employment of a special lecturer on a salary of Rs. 250 per mensem in the —.

I

Dated—Madras, the 18th August 1911.
No.—Ref. on Cur. 5022/11.

The Principal reports that the strength of the B.L., F.L. and the Peadership classes stands at present at 153, 237 and 70 respectively and that owing to its large increase it is impossible to adopt the arrangement hitherto followed under which the Peadership class students have assembled with the B.L. and F.L. classes for lectures in the subjects which are common to them. He states that each lecture room can accommodate only about 170 students and that it is with the greatest difficulty that lectures can be arranged at present for the F.L. classes alone. He considers therefore that, as arrangements are to be made for holding the Peadership class separately and as all the members of the staff are engaged for the maximum number of hours of instruction allotted to them, viz., 10, the appointment under rule 9 of the college rules of a special lecturer for this class on the pay and status of the present assistant lecturers is absolutely necessary.

Order—No. 812, Educational, dated 18th November 1911.

The Government are not satisfied as to the necessity for the appointment of a special lecturer for the Law College. They consider that by increasing the number of hours of work to 11 in the case of the Principal and to 13 in the case of each of the other lecturers the existing staff should, without difficulty, be able to give all the lectures necessary. The details of the distribution of the work among the staff may be left to the Principal.

NOTES CONNECTED WITH G.O. No. 812, EDUCATIONAL,
DATED 18TH NOVEMBER 1911.

[SUBJECT.—Lectures at the Law College.]

By an unfortunate blunder on the part of the despatcher, the original files relating to this and several other cases were missent from Ootacamund to the Secretary of State instead of to the Madras office by the mail leaving Bombay on the 21st October. Copies of the currents have been procured, but the notes previously recorded are not available. My recollection is that the Hon'ble Mr. Krishnaswami Aiyar expressed the opinion that the existing staff was by no means overworked and ought to be able to give all the lectures necessary, while the Hon'ble Sir Murray Hammick with a view to examine the matter in detail called for a time-table showing the work done by individual professors.

The B.L. classes are held between 11 and 1, while the F.L. and the Pledership students find their additional hours between 10 and 11 and between 2 and 3. The total number of lectures would be 50, but this number is reduced to 40 by the expedient of allowing the Pledership students to attend the F.L. class on Contract between 10 and 11 and the B.L. class on Hindu Law between 11 and 12. The Principal, the Junior Professor and the first and the second assistant Professors divide these 40 lectures equally, and thus have 10 hours' lecturing a week, 2 hours on each day except Saturday and Sunday. The Principal's hours are from 11 to 12 and from 12 to 1. Mr. Rajagopalachari lectures during the same period, while Mr. Kunhiraman's hours are from 12 to 1 and from 2 to 3 and Mr. P. Appasami's are from 10 to 11 and from 2 to 3.

3. In the Director's original letter, it is stated that 10 is the maximum number of hours of instruction allotted to each professor, but the authority for this maximum is not known in the Secretariat.

4. It is now proposed to entertain a special lecturer on Rs. 50 per mensem for a period of seven months from the 1st September 1911, the reason assigned being that with the present number of students there is not sufficient accommodation to continue the system of allowing Pledership candidates to attend common lectures with the B.L. and F.L. classes; and it is contemplated that the proposed temporary assistant professor should lecture to the Pledership students between 10 and 12 on each of the five working days. If there is no objection to increasing the maximum number of hours, there will be no difficulty about providing for these 10 lectures without adding to the staff. They are distributed under four subjects, the Indian Contract Act (3), the Transfer of Property Act (3), the Evidence Act (3) and Torts (1). If the Principal took Torts, this would leave three extra lectures for each of the other professors. Mr. Rajagopalachari has 5 hours disengaged between 10 and 11, Mr. Kunhiraman 10 hours between 10 and 12 and Mr. Appasami 5 hours between 11 and 12.

I have the honour to request you will be so good as to obtain the sanction of Government for the employment of a special lecturer on a salary of Rs. 250/- per mensem in the Madras Law College, for a period of seven months from 1st September 1911.

The Principal reports that the strength of the B.L., F.L., and the Pledership classes stands at present at 153, 237 and 70 respectively and that owing to its large increase it is impossible to adopt the arrangement hitherto followed under which the Pledership class students have assembled with the B.L., and F.L., classes for lectures in the subjects which are common to them. He states that each lecture room can accommodate only about 170 students and that it is with the greatest difficulty that lectures can be arranged at present for the F.L. classes alone. He considers therefore that, as arrangements are to be made for holding the Pleadership class separately and as all the members of the staff are engaged for the maximum number of hours of instruction allotted to them viz., 10, the appointment, under rule 9 of the College rules, of a special lecturer for this class on the pay and status of the present assistant lecturers, is absolutely necessary.

As stated by Mr. Nelson the strength in each class of the College has increased considerably, as will be observed from the marginal figures, and I think that a good case has been made out for the appointment of a special lecturer.

C. No. 2090 From the D. P. 9. No 5022 dated 16-8-1911.

SUBJECT.

Employment of a special temporary lecturer for the Law College, Madras.

In explaining the necessity for the proposed special lecturer, the ~~Deputy~~ Principal points out that "all the members of the staff are engaged for the maximum numbers of hours allotted to them, namely 10." The present staff of the College consists of a full-time Principal, a part-time Junior Professor and two part-time Assistant Lecturers. According to G.O. No. 2908 dated 15th May 1907, Mr. Nelson's hours of work are liable to such expansion or modification as the Govt. may consider reasonable, subject to a maximum of 20 hours of work a week at the College, not more than two hours formal lecturing being however required on any one day. Mr. Odgers is the permanent Junior Professor of the Law College, and Mr. Paul Appa Swami is acting for him. According to para. 2 of Mr. Odgers' agreement, he has to devote "such time to the duties of his office as the Govt. shall require". The limit of ten hours a week does not appear to have been fixed in in his case nor in the case of the two

Note for the Deputy Registrar, Educational.

Two gentlemen have recently called to see me in connection with the possibility of the creation of a temporary assistant professorship in the Law College. The first of these was Mr. Madhavan Nayar who previously acted in the college for Mr. Odgers and wishes his name to be considered. The second, Mr. Kunhiraman who is now acting ~~for~~ as an assistant professor is also a candidate, apprehending that his present post may terminate when Mr. Odgers returns from leave on or about the 10th October. The latter pointed out that the college is closed almost continuously from the 21st September to 5th October in consequence of the Michaelmas and Dassera holidays and that lectures are suspended for the next two or three days, as the class examinations begin on the 9th October and it is customary to allow the students a few days for preparation though the college is not actually closed. If the new appointment is created it would seem desirable to make it work in with the date on which Mr. Odgers returns especially if there is any question as to his reverting from the post of Administrator-General.
