Question 73. Will the Government be pleased to state if the institution of model schools will be brought into force in the current year and in what places?

[Meeting of 27th September 1912.]

The Secretary of State has not yet sanctioned the scheme for the establishment of model high schools in the Presidency. The Educational Department of India has been under consideration with reference to the objections raised by the missionary council on aided education in Andhra and by the missionary societies in England and the Government of India have forwarded the correspondence of the Government for further report. A further report has to be prepared in consultation with the D.P.S. and when submitted to the Government of India they will take time to consider and make a report to the Secretary of State. In these circumstances the scheme cannot be brought into force during the current year. From the tenor of his present despatch it seems doubtful whether the Secretary of State will sanction the scheme in its entirety. The places in which model schools will ultimately be established cannot therefore be now stated.

The following answer is submitted for approval.

The scheme for the establishment of model high schools will not be brought into force during the current year and the Government are not in a position to say in what places the schools

The Secy of state has not yet sanctioned the scheme for the establishment of model high schools in this Presidency. In his despatch no. 106 Public dated the 28th June 1912, the Secy. of state has remitted the scheme ~~to the Govt.~~ ~~of India~~ for further consideration with reference to the objections raised by the Missionary Council on aided education in Madras and by the Missionary Societies in England, and the Govt. of India have forwarded the correspondence to this Govt. for further report. This further report has to be prepared in consultation with the D.P.S.; and when submitted to the Govt. of India they will take time to consider it and make a report to the Secy of state. In these circumstances the scheme cannot be brought into force during the current year. From the tenor of his present despatch it seems doubtful whether the Secy of state will sanction the scheme in its entirety. The places in which model schools will ultimately be established cannot therefore be now stated.

2. The following answer is submitted for approval.

"It is ~~improbable~~ ^{improbable} that the scheme for the establishment of model high schools will ~~not~~ be brought into force during the current year, and the Govt are not yet in a position to say in what places the schools will ultimately be established."

The Secretary of State has not yet submitted the scheme for the establishment of model technical schools in the Principality. In his despatch of 10th April 1912 the Secretary of State has submitted the scheme to the Board of Education for further consideration with reference to the objection raised by the Ministry Council on which objection in London and by the Ministry Council in London and the Board of Education have forwarded the correspondence to the Board for further report. This further report has to be prepared in consultation with the Board and when submitted to the Board of Education they will take time to consider it and make a report to the Secretary of State. In these circumstances the scheme cannot be brought into force during the current year. Some time later of his present despatch it was decided whether the Secretary of State will sanction the scheme in its entirety. The plan in which model schools will ultimately be established cannot therefore be made stated.

2. The following answer is submitted for approval
The scheme for the establishment of model high schools will not be brought into force during the current year and the Board are not in a position to say in what form the schools
