Letter—from the Hon'ble Mr. H. SHARP, C.I.E., Joint Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Education (Education).

To—the Secretary to the Government of Madras, Educational Department.

Dated—Delhi, the 14th January 1913.

No.—67-C.D.

I am directed to inform you that there at present exists in Simla a school for the education of the children of Bengali clerks employed under the Government of India. It is aided and inspected by the Department of Education in the Government of India. Hitherto it has been possible during the cold weather or during the latter portion of a pupil's career to place those in the higher classes of this school in high schools in Calcutta recognised by the Calcutta University. The transfer of the seat of Government renders this arrangement no longer possible. It will obviously be undesirable that employees residing at Simla and at Delhi should send their children away from home influences to Calcutta for the latter portion of their school education; and it has always been regarded as a principle that employment under Government should not inflict any additional hardship or expense in connection with education upon those so employed. The managers of the school anticipate that by the year 1914 the school in question will contain pupils ready for the Matriculation examination in the highest class. The question has accordingly risen of the recognition of this school by the Calcutta University. It would not be in accordance with accepted principles nor would it be practically convenient for the school to be so recognised. Moreover it is probable that when the school, as has been suggested, is removed to Delhi it will serve the needs not merely of Bengali clerks but of clerks from other parts of India whose children will eventually desire to enter universities other than the Calcutta University. The managers of the school have suggested as an alternative the acceptance by the universities concerned of a school final certificate signed by an officer of the Education Department for the purpose of admission of the boys of the school to the intermediate courses in Arts and Science. The Government of India are prepared to take this course and to give certificates at the conclusion of the school career to pupils who have acquitted themselves with credit. It would be premature to state whether the certificate will be given purely as the result of the school record or after a test in certain subjects. This is a matter for subsequent arrangement. I am at present to inquire whether with the concurrence of the Governor in Council the Madras University may be asked whether it will admit holders of such certificates from the school in question to the Intermediate Course in Arts and Science. Should the answer be in the affirmative a scheme of examination will be worked out, and, previous to the issue of certificates in 1914 an account of the scheme together with a list of the school staff and other information will be sent to the University.
