3. In the case of Mr. Joseph Sears, recommended for a scholarship by the Government of Madras, there must, I think, have been some misapprehension as to the conditions under which Indian students are now exempted from Responsions at Oxford. The Regulations which require students so exempted to have passed not only the First Arts examination in the University of Madras, (as formerly) but also the P.A., or B.Sc. examinations, have now been in force for nearly a year, and information on this subject has been published in the Handbook for Indian Students and communicated to the Advisory Committees in India. I would add that the late date of Mr. Sears' selection would have made it almost impossible, even had he been exempted from Responsions, to secure his admission to an Oxford College this month. The College authorities require time to consider testimonials and proposals for admission, and are not prepared to dispense with preliminary enquiries, even in the case of Government scholars.

Note. The telegram embodied in Gono. 856 of 16.9.13 was based on Mr. Stone's note on of that G.O. which again appears to have been based on the information contained on page 97 of the Madras University Calendar for 1913, 1914.
