Sir,

I should be glad if you could find it convenient in future to send the Quarterly Catalogues direct to me here, instead of consigning them through the India Office. The latter arrangement entails always a certain delay, which ultimately must increase your labour in collecting the publications ordered by us.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

OFFICE NOTE.

SUBJECT. Supply of Quarterly Catalogues of Books to the British Museum.

From the Reg^r of Books No 637/15 d 3.11.15-

Register No. 4212 Ed.

Please see the Secretary of State's despatch to the Govt of India No 33 d the 6th June 1895 on p.2 of G.O. No 578 Finkl d 19.8.95, from which it will appear that the authorities of the British Museum made a special request that all official publications intended for their use should be forwarded through the India Office.
Accordingly the Quarterly Catalogues of Books registered in the Presidency are being despatched by this office regularly through the India office. In their letter No 1792 d the 21st Decem^r 1904 (on p.2 of G.O. No 51 Finkl (Books) d 21.3.05) the Govt of India decided that an extra copy of important publications should in addition to the above, be sent direct to the British Museum, provided that another advance copy was at the same time despatched to the India Office. Two advance copies of the Quarterly Catalogues, one for

for the British Museum and the other to the India Office are at present being despatched to the India Office. It has been usual for the British Museum to mark in one of the Copies of the Catalogue all the publications required by them and return it to the Registrar of Books direct who will collect and forward all those publications ^{to the British Museum -} (Vide G.O. No. 6177 dated 20th Sept. 1906 and No. 1751 of the 10th January 1907)

2. The Librarian of the British Museum states that the present arrangement of sending the Catalogues through the India Office entails always a certain delay which ultimately must increase the labour of the Registrar of Books in collecting the publications ordered by them in the Marked Catalogue of Books. ^{and asks the Dept. if it would be convenient for him to send the Catalogue direct to him instead of through the India Office.}

If, in future, the advance Copy for the British Museum is despatched direct to that institution as authorised in India's letter of the 21st December 1904, referred to in para 1 ^{Supra} instead of through the India Office as hitherto, the difficulty pointed out by the Librarian of the British Museum may be avoided. It seems therefore sufficient if the Despatcher is instructed to send the advance Copy direct to the British Museum. No further action appears to be necessary at present. A draft order is submitted for approval.
