In the matter of the Luxmi Paper Mills

Sir, I beg to draw your attention to the fact that, in spite of repeated warnings from me, the Director of Industries, persists in mixing himself up with "what after all is a private property dispute and a matter for civil litigation". The winding up of the Luxmi Paper mill Co Ltd is not yet complete, and I as managing Director and a considerable share holder dispute the validity of whole proceedings. In the mean time, Mr Raman athenchethan, another director of the Company claims to have bought up the mill, and has entered into an agreement with the Director to work it, since then I have taken up my residence on the mill and to watch the property and have sent repeated notices to the Director, requesting him to remove his men & tricks - which he persists in ignoring & defying - As the whole matter will shortly be the subject of litigation in the High Court at Madras, it seems to me highly undesirable, that the Madras Government should be involved therein, and I therefore bring these facts to your notice.

Yours faithfully
T. M. Srinivasa Raghavan
