Reprint of the Civil Judicial Acts prescribed for the Civil Judicial Tests of the Special Test Examinations

From

Register No. 2378

A Copy of the edition of 1911 of the "Civil Judicial Acts" in question is put up. It is a Collection of the several India Acts prescribed for the Civil Judicial Tests of the Special Test Examinations and was brought out by the Impdt. Govt Press in pursuance of the orders of Govt in G.O. 463 (Misc) Educational dated 8-8-1910. The question of issuing a revised edition is one for the Home (Edl) ^{Department} to Consider. The current way, it is submitted, be therefore transferred u.o. to that department.

To the Registrar,

As it is reported that Copies of the book have all been exhausted, the S.E.P. may be authorised to issue a ^{revised} ~~first~~ edition.

2. With regard to the question whether the new edition may be merely a reprinted or revised edition, it is submitted that as all the acts prescribed for the Civil Judicial Test are India Acts and as they are reprinted together in one volume chiefly for convenience and cheapness, it would seem sufficient in issuing the second edition to instruct the S.E.P. to reprint the Acts as was done on the last occasion from the latest modified editions of the Acts. ~~revised~~

3. ~~As~~ ^{As} regards the no. of Copies to be reprinted the S.E.P. has not suggested the probable ^{number} ~~number~~ required. From the notes on p. 9 of E.O. no. 463 EOL of the 8-8-10. it would appear ^{were} that 500 Copies of the book ~~had been~~ printed in 1910. This no. was based on the average no. of students ^{who} ~~that~~ appeared for the Civil Judicial Test during the quinquennium 1904-09, which was 132 per year on an average. The average no. per year during the quinquennium 1911-16 is ²⁶⁵ 265 which is ~~more than~~ double the no. for the quinquennium ¹⁹⁰⁴⁻⁰⁹ ~~1904-09~~. Moreover ~~the~~ ^{the} Supt. Govt. Press, states that there is a steady demand for
