ENCLOSURES

(i)

Despatch—from the Government of India, Finance Department (Salaries, Establishments, etc.—Education).

To—His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

Dated—Simla, the 19th May 1916.

No.—116.

We have the honour to forward for your consideration a copy of a letter from the Government of Madras No. 1076-Educational, dated the 29th September 1915, regarding a scheme for giving special training to selected members of the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services by deputing them to study the educational systems of England and other countries.

2. We approve of the scheme generally and of the conditions of deputation proposed by the Local Government subject to the reservations mentioned in paragraph 3 below. The intention as regards the emoluments of the scholars who will be sent abroad under the scheme is to apply the rules relating to study leave so far as they are applicable, that is to say, to grant them privilege leave, if admissible in the case of the individuals concerned, and to treat them as on extra furlough with ordinary leave allowances for the rest of the period of the deputation. Such period will count as service for promotion and pension but not for leave, but it will not affect any leave that may already be due to an officer and will not be taken into account in reckoning the aggregate amount of furlough taken by him towards the maximum period admissible. The special allowances provided for in paragraph 4 of the Local Government's letter will be paid in addition to any leave allowances to which the selected candidates may be entitled under the rules. We do not consider the terms proposed excessive as the scholars will generally have to provide for the maintenance of their families in India. We further recommend that while under training the travelling expenses of the scholars for journeys in England and Scotland should be defrayed by Government.

3. In commending the scheme for your favourable consideration we desire to make the following reservations :—

(i) As proposed by the Local Government, the scheme will not be given effect to until the financial situation improves.

(ii) In view of its novel characteristics the scheme shall, in the first instance, be ordinarily restricted in its application to members of the Provincial Educational Service though it may occasionally be applied specially to members of the Subordinate Educational Service who are likely to obtain promotion to the higher service; and that it will be introduced on an experimental basis for a term of three years during which period two or three scholars may be sent abroad annually.

(iii) The scheme will be withdrawn or modified later on if such a course seems desirable, in the light of the recommendations of the Public Services Commission.

(iv) During their stay in Great Britain the scholars will be under the supervision of the Secretary for Indian Students.

(v) On their return to this country the scholars will have no claim for special promotion by reason of having held these scholarships.

Despatch—from His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

To—His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor-General of India in Council.

Dated—India Office, London, the 4th August 1916.

No.—122, Public.

I have considered in Council the letter of your Excellency's Government in the Finance Department No. 116, dated 19th May 1916, in which you submit for my sanction proposals of the Government of Madras for giving special training to selected members of the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services by deputing them to study educational systems in England and elsewhere.

2. The scheme is put forward by the Government of Madras on the ground that officers whose education and experience have been confined entirely to India do not ordinarily possess the qualifications necessary for appointment to the higher ranks of the inspectorate which are entrusted with the duties of pioneering and superintending educational work. The proposal, therefore, is to grant to specially selected officers two or three scholarships annually of the value of 150l. a year (or in special cases 200l.) in addition to any leave allowances to which they may be entitled, to enable them to take a course of training in the United Kingdom under Inspectors of the Board of Education or the Scotch Education Department for two years or less, the actual period being decided in each individual case.

3. The scheme has much to recommend it, and I sanction it as an experiment, subject to the conditions stated in your letter, which appear to me to be generally suitable. I would, however, invite your Excellency's Government to give further consideration to the proposal of the Local Government that the period spent in training should be allowed to count for leave (as well as for promotion and pension). The officers who will be sent for training under this scheme will be subject to the Indian Services Leave Rules, and therefore cannot obtain furlough in the first instance till they have served for ten years, and subsequently till eight years have elapsed since their last furlough (article 338, Civil Service Regulations). To extend these periods by one or two years, which would be the effect of your Excellency's modification of the Local Government's recommendation, might cause considerable hardship, and I regard the original proposal of the Local Government in this respect as preferable.

4. I note that effect will not be given to the scheme until the financial situation improves.

(iii)

Despatch—from the Government of India, Finance Department (Leave and Leave Allowances).

To—His Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

Dated—Simla, the 27th October 1916.

No.—272.

We have the honour to refer to your despatch No. 122, Public, dated the 4th August 1916, in which you have sanctioned, as an experiment and subject to certain conditions, the proposals of the Madras Government for giving special training to selected members of the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services by deputing them to study educational systems in England and elsewhere.

2. We desire to explain that our objection to the proposal that the period spent in training should count as service for leave was based on the analogy of rule 13 of the rules for the grant of study leave to officers of scientific and technical departments—vide Appendix No. 32 to the Civil Service Regulations. On consideration of your remarks we are now prepared to withdraw our objection to this proposal. But we do not consider it necessary, as a consequence of this decision, to make any alteration in the rules for the grant of study leave, since officers taking advantage of these rules will ordinarily be subject to the European Service Leave Rules.

ANNEXURE.

Scheme for giving special training to selected members of the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services by deputing them to study the educational systems of England and other countries.

The scheme shall ordinarily be restricted in its application to members of the Provincial Educational Service, though it may occasionally be applied specially to members of the Subordinate Educational Service who are likely to obtain promotion to the higher service. It will be introduced on an experimental basis for a term of three years during which period two or three scholars will be sent abroad annually for training.

2. Selection will be made from among officers (male or female) who have graduated in Arts with credit and have, after training in the local Teachers' College, obtained the degree of Licentiate in Teaching. An officer applying for the concession must have had some years' experience of teaching or inspecting work in the Presidency. He must also satisfy the following conditions :—

(1) he should be a native of India, i.e., a person born and domiciled within the dominions of His Majesty, of parents habitually resident in India and not established in it for temporary purposes only ;

(2) he should be physically fit to undergo the course ; and

(3) he should execute bonds to serve the Government for a period of at least five years on return.

No limit as to age is laid down, but only persons of suitable age will be selected.

3. The officer selected will have free second-class passage to and fro, and be given ordinarily £150 a year, running up to £200 in special cases, in addition to tuition fees, if any, for study at a training college. He will be granted privilege leave if admissible, and, for the rest of the period of his deputation, he will be treated as on extra furlough and granted ordinary leave allowances. Such period will count as service for promotion, pension and leave. It will not affect any leave already due to the officer and will not be taken into account in reckoning the aggregate amount of furlough taken by him towards the maximum period admissible. While under training the travelling expenses incurred by the officer on journeys in England and Scotland will be defrayed by the Government.

4. Each officer shall, on arrival in England, at once report himself to the Secretary for Indian Students at the India Office, who will exercise general supervision over him during his stay in Great Britain. The officer will be interviewed by the Board of Education, which will decide in consultation with the Scotch Education Department, whether he should begin his studies in England or in Scotland. The officer will be attached to an Inspector and be afforded facilities for visits to all grades of schools, including technical schools which are predominantly rural in character. Where necessary, arrangements will also be made for a further period of study at a training college. The course of training will ordinarily last for one year in the case of persons for whom no period of study in a training college is deemed necessary, and in other cases up to a limit of two years, the actual period being decided in each individual case. The officer may, if he desires, qualify for the London University Teachers' Diploma ; but this will not be insisted on.

5. On his return to India the officer will have no claim for special promotion by reason of his having held the scholarship and undergone the training.
