In the public examination held at the end of the secondary course there is no such thing as a 'pass' or 'failure'. Each examinee is furnished with a certificate book specifying, along with other matters, the marks obtained by him in the several subjects of the public examination. The admission of certificate holders to the intermediate class is no longer in the hands of the heads of colleges. According to the recent rules framed by the Syndicate of the University of Madras, the eligibility of candidates for the University course is to be determined by a committee appointed by that body, and a list of candidates eligible for admission to colleges is published in the Fort St. George Gazette by the University - vide pages 3 & 4 of G.O. 152-3 Educational, dated the 12th February 1916.

2. The following answer is submitted for approval:-

"(a) The percentage of passes at the Intermediate examination was as follows:-

1916	26.3
1915	27.5
1914	39.0

(b) Under the Secondary School-leaving Certificate Scheme each candidate is furnished with a certificate showing, among other things, the marks obtained by him in each subject of the public examination he undergoes at the end of his course. There is neither 'pass' nor 'failure'.
