Sir,

(R)

With reference to the correspondence ending with your letter no. 884, dated the 4th July 1917, I am directed to explain that the Government of India have been informed by the authorities at the India Office that, at any rate during the current year, a State scholar in sanitary engineering and sewage disposal should have reached at least the standard for the B. Engineering degree to enable him to enter upon an appropriate course of study in England. The Government of India therefore regret that they are unable to reconsider their decision in refusing to award a State technical scholarship to Mr. P. L. Mathai this year for the study of plumbing and sanitary engineering.

2. With regard to the candidature of Mr. B. K. Rama Prasad for a scholarship, I am to state that it is now too late to make the necessary arrangements. Moreover, Mr. Prasad has not yet definitely selected the industry which he desires to study; and it would take some time to complete the preliminary inquiries in regard to the existing facilities for training in England which it is generally found necessary to make before coming to a final conclusion.

3. The Government of India are prepared to reconsider the case of Mr. Mathai next year in the light of any further communications which may be received from the Secretary of State on the subject of qualifications. They will also consider the case of Mr. Rama Prasad in case the Government of Madras desire
