University Regulations

Sanctioning certain alterations in and additions to the — relating to University Professorships, lectureships and studentships.

READ—the following paper :—

Letter—from F. DEWSBURY, Esq., B.A., LL.B., Registrar, University of Madras.
To—the Secretary to Government, Home (Education) Department.
Dated—the 28th March 1917.
No.—2093.

I have the honour, by direction of the Syndicate, to submit for the sanction of the Government under section 25 (1) of the Indian Universities Act, 1904, the enclosed alterations in and additions to the regulations which were adopted by the Senate on the recommendation of the Syndicate at its meeting held on the 9th March 1917, relating to University Professorships, lectureships and studentships.

In the place of Regulation 96 (iii) which the Senate now proposes to rescind, a number of new regulations were framed to provide for the appointment of University Professors and to define their duties. With the exception of one regulation dealing with the conditions under which University Professors shall hold their appointments, referred back to the Syndicate by the Senate for reconsideration, the whole of the regulations presented by the Syndicate to the Senate were approved, and the sanction of the Government is now requested thereto.

I may add that the regulations relating to University Professors will supersede and be in substitution of the Standing Orders of the Syndicate reported to the Senate at its meeting held on 3rd March 1916, to the arrangements contained in which the Senate then accorded its sanction. It is proposed that these regulations, if sanctioned, should be appropriately numbered and embodied among the remaining University regulations at a later date in accordance with suggestions now under consideration for a general re-arrangement of all the University regulations.

NOTES CONNECTED WITH G.O. No. 482, HOME (EDUCATION),
DATED THE 19TH APRIL 1917

[SUBJECT.—University regulations relating to University professorships, lectureships and studentships.]

HOME (EDUCATION) DEPARTMENT.

From the Registrar, University of Madras, dated the 28th March 1917, No. 2093.

It will be observed from the papers in G.O. No. 92, Home (Education), dated the 22nd January 1917, that at its meeting held on the 3rd March 1916 the Senate gave its sanction to a body of standing orders presented to it by the Syndicate in connection with the appointment and duties of University professors and that the standing orders Messrs. S. Kuppuswami Sastri, G. A. Natesan formed the subject matter of protests and K. B. Ramanathan. from the marginally-noted Fellows on the grounds that they were unnecessary and that they sought to create invidious distinctions in the duties assigned to the University professor of comparative philology on the one hand and the remaining University professors on the other. The standing orders and the protests together with the reply memoranda thereto were submitted to the Government—the former for their information and the latter for the consideration and orders of His Excellency the Governor—pages 1, 34 and 35 of G.O. No. 92, Home (Education), dated 22nd January 1917. In the course of His Excellency's note on page 87 of G.O. 92, January 1917. discussions on the above, it was recognized that the standing orders as they stood were imperfect and incorrectly designated; but as the Syndicate was understood to have been engaged in taking action to regularize the situation, the Government decided that it was unnecessary to intervene in the matter with reference to the protests.

2. The Syndicate have now framed fresh regulations on the subject and all of them except the one dealing with the conditions under which University professors shall hold their appointments which has been referred back to the Syndicate for further consideration have been accepted by the Senate. The new regulations appear to be an improvement on the standing orders and do not seem open to objection. The file may, in the first instance, be forwarded to the Director of Public Instruction for remarks as to whether the new regulations may be approved.
