SIR,

I am desired by the Committee to report that the new organ for the school Chapel ordered in 1914 has now arrived in Madras.

The nett cost of the organ packed in England was £ 543- and the estimated cost erected in the school Chapel was £ 655-6-0

The above ^{sums would} ~~cost~~ we have come well within the cost sanctioned by Government.

Owing to the war, however, Messrs. Rothwell & Co asked the Committee to appoint an agent with full powers to act for them and to pass the organ before shipment &c.

The Committee asked Sir Murray Hammick if he would be so kind as to act for them in the matter, and he kindly consented to do so.

I have the honour to enclose extracts from Sir Mupray Hammick's letters, and also a copy of Resolution of the Committee thereon.

The Committee much regret that, owing to the war, the cost of insurance, transport &c., has been very greatly exceeded, but trust that Government will be pleased to recognize that the war has upset their calculations and to kindly approve of their action.

Enclosures.

- (1) Extracts from Sir
Murray Hammick's
letters.
- (2) Resolution of Committee.

Extract from Sir Murray Hammick's letter dated March 15. 1918.

" I have been thinking of the organ for some time past and whether it would not be wise to send it out.

Mr. Rothwell says storage to date comes to £ 10 and a new organ would cost about £ 1000 now and that an organ packed and stored was liable to deterioration..... He also pointed out that there was some risk from air-raids. After consulting the people here at the India Office, I have decided that on the whole it is best to send the organ now..... "

Extract from letter dated June 15. 1918.

" I am afraid you will be horrified at the bill for insurance and freight. It comes to £ 197-7-8. The account is being examined by the Store Department of the India Office to see whether any reduction can be made in it..... The sooner the money comes the better..... "

Extract from letter dated June 15. 1918.

" If you will settle up the amount of enclosed bill, I will then settle up everything and return you, with accounts, any balance I may have out of the amounts you sent to Messrs. Grindlay & Co for me "

Sir,

I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of Memorandum No.2000 B-1, dated 19th October 1918, and to say that owing to rise in prices due to the war, our estimates for the organ have been considerably increased. The amount paid up to date is Rs.12,326/-, out of which Rs.340/- has since been refunded by Sir Murray Hammick after paying for the organ. The amount actually spent therefore on the organ is Rs.11,986/- to which Rs.410/- for locally erecting the organ should now be added, thus making the total extra expenditure over the estimated figures (for the two years referred to) Rs.1,396/-

2. The Committee trust that Government will be pleased to approve of their action in incurring the extra expenditure under the circumstances represented.

3. The extra expenditure will be met from the savings on the year's working.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,
