Dear Sir,

I beg to forward you this my application for an appointment in the Indian Educational Service.

I am the second son of the Honble Dewan Bahadur P. Rajagopala Chari C.S.E. Member of Council and am 28 years of age.

I am a graduate of the Madras University (B.A. in Biology and Zoology) and also a graduate of Oxford University (B.A. Honours in Natural Science: Chemistry). After I took my degree at Oxford I was working at the Chemical Laboratory there for a year with a view to taking my B.Sc degree by research but on the outbreak of the war I offered my services to the Government and joined the Indian Volunteer Ambulance Corps which was formed in London and was afterwards unable to go on with my chemical work at Oxford.

I have had one year's training under the Oxford University Delegacy for the training of Secondary Teachers, passed their examinations in the Theory and Practice of Education and hold the University diploma in Education.

I have also served for a year as assistant master under the Walthamstow Higher Education Committee at their County High School, Technical Institute and the Sir George Monoux Grammar School. At the Technical Institute I was the Senior Physics master and in charge of the Physics laboratories both Heat and Electrical.

3 4
I am well known to Dr J. W. Rudol C. I. E. Secretary to the Indian Students' department, India office, and to Mr N. C. Sen Educational Adviser to Indian Students, London and if you wish to refer to them, they will be pleased to answer ^{all} questions as to my qualifications and character.

I beg to remain,

yours truly,

P. R. Chari

11th June 1914.

I have much pleasure in testifying to the ability and knowledge of Mr. P. R. Chari, B.A., of this University. I have known him during the whole of his residence in Oxford and have come into contact with him very frequently during this time in connection with his work in the Laboratory.

He has always been a most careful and painstaking student and in spite of the fact that he did not take a very high class in the final Honour School of Natural Science he has a sound knowledge of the fundamental parts of the science of chemistry.

He is a man who, so far as I can judge, might be put into a position of trust and be relied upon to carry out his duties faithfully.

I have much pleasure in bearing testimony to the high character of Mr. P. R. Chari, B.A., whom I have known since his Matriculation on October 27th 1910. Mr. Chari is well fitted for an Indian Educational appointment. He would be found a useful teacher, at a knowledge of Chemistry he adds a very practical acquaintance with Zoology and Botany which were subjects in which he passed in his course for the Degree. He is much interested in his work and has been a diligent student. As an Assistant Master, or, Professor he would be found active and conscientious and devoted to his work. He would spare no pains to ensure the success of his pupils, and he would win their respect and also the goodwill of his Colleagues.

September 1915.

Mr. P. R. Chari has been working with me for the past academic year in preparation for the Oxford diploma in Education. During the period he attended lectures and essay classes taught in elementary schools under supervision, and worked as a student teacher in some of the big secondary schools in London. I have seen a good deal of Mr. Chari and can speak with some confidence about him. I believe that Mr. Chari will be a successful teacher. He takes great interest in education and has made the best use of his opportunities during the past year. He is well acquainted with the newer methods suggested for the teaching of the ordinary school subjects and has specialised in the teaching of Natural Science. His service should be of value in connection with the training of teachers or the inspection of schools and I believe that he will be able to get on with his colleagues or to direct subordinates without any friction. He has my best wishes and I shall be pleased to answer any questions on his behalf.
