The batch of students who are now undergoing practical course will be available for employment only in July next. To meet the present demand in the first circle and the probable demand in the next few months it seems absolutely necessary that the practical course of such of the Engineer and upper subordinate students (excepting the apprentice engineer and the military apprentice overseers who are now on military duty) as may be immediately required for employment should be terminated, their service in the department being treated as a part of their practical course for the grant of diplomas. x x x
