With reference to your letter No. 9168, dated December 20, 1918, forwarding an application for the further affiliation of the Ceded Districts College, Anantapur, in Groups (v) and (vi) of the B.A. Degree courses, I have the honour, by direction, to inform you that the Syndicate has appointed Mr. F. E. Corley, M.A. and Rai Sahib G. Venkataranga Rao, M.A., a Commission to conduct a local inquiry at the college under Section 21 (2) (a) of the Indian Universities Act, 1904, and that Mr. Corley has been requested to arrange for the inquiry at the earliest possible date in consultation with the Principal of the college.

Copy forwarded to the Principal, Ceded Districts College, Anantapur, for information.

Report of Messrs. F. E. Corley and G. Venkataranga Rao, who were appointed to conduct a local inquiry at the Ceded Districts College, Anantapur

In accordance with the instructions of the Syndicate, the Commission after correspondence with the Principal of the college, made arrangements to conduct the local inquiry on Friday and Saturday, January 31, and February 1. This was carried out according to plan.

The results of the inquiry may be conveniently arranged under the headings of Regulation XIV, 4.

(a) The college is under the management of Government.

(b) The college has already been affiliated as an Arts College, after the customary inquiries; the present inquiry relates only to the further affiliation of the college for Groups (v) and (vi) of the B.A. course. Presuming therefore that the Syndicate is already satisfied as to the general competence of the present staff (all changes made since the previous inquiry being duly intimated from time to time), and as to the terms of their tenure, the Commission had only to satisfy itself on the following points, viz.—(1) the competence of individual members of the staff for B.A. as distinct from Intermediate work; (2) the adequacy of the staff as a whole to undertake the considerable addition to the work of the college which affiliation for the B.A. course will entail.

Under the former heading (1) we have no reason to question the competence of the various members of the staff, provided the other point is made good.

(2) The contemplated addition to the work of the college is considerable and calls for treatment in detail.

The additions are as follows:—

- i. for Part I, classes for all students in English;
- ii. for Group (v), classes for the five regular subjects, and possibly for languages as an alternative to Political Science.
- iii. for Group (vi), classes for the teaching of Telugu and also of Sanskrit and Early South Indian History.

(i) The present staff (one Senior Lecturer, who is also Principal, and two Assistant Lecturers) is ample for the Intermediate work. The addition of B.A. classes will fully double the requirements, and an increase of the staff is plainly necessary. We understand that the Principal has applied to Government for the appointment of an additional man. In view of the fact that the Principal, who is the only teacher of English with the full status of Lecturer, must necessarily devote much of his time and energy to administration we are of the opinion that the addition to the staff should provide for a Lecturer, i.e. of the same qualifications as regards the lecturing work as the Principal himself and not merely an additional Assistant Lecturer. The full staff for English would then be:—

- (a) one Senior Lecturer
- (b) one Junior Lecturer
- (c) } two Assistant Lecturers.
- (d) }

(ii) The present staff for the teaching of History comprises one Lecturer and one Assistant Lecturer. For Intermediate work only, this provision would be generous. But the opening of B.A. classes for Group (v) involves the teaching of five new subjects, for each of which three or four hours must be set apart (say from fifteen to twenty-three hours the two classes), while the History staff will presumably have to provide a three or four hours' course in Early South Indian History as the 'related subject' for Group (vi).

We understood from the Principal that he would apply to Government for the appointment of an additional Assistant Lecturer. This should be regarded as the indispensable minimum; and in view of the importance of the subject it should be regarded as a sine qua non that one member of the History staff should possess special qualifications in Economics.

(iii) In dealing with the teaching required for Group (vi) one must remember that the Pandits already have to provide for the teaching not only of Vernacular Composition and Sanskrit Translation, but also of Telugu and Sanskrit as optional languages in Group (ii) of the Intermediate course, i.e. by the current time-table, Sanskrit and Telugu account for five hours each in class I and five in class II. The time-table contemplated for Group (vi) of the B.A. course will add nine hours (seven hours lectures, two hours library work) in each year for Telugu, and two hours for Sanskrit. Provided a first-rate man is always entertained in the position, a single Pandit should be able to overtake the work in Sanskrit, as the numbers in the classes are not likely to be large. But the appointment of a second and thoroughly competent teacher of Telugu must be regarded as indispensable.

The existing staff, as appointed and sanctioned for the work of Intermediate classes only, has already been augmented to meet the additional work of the Junior B.A. class. The propriety of this procedure in anticipation of affiliation it is not for us to discuss. But in looking to the future, we would point out that if the affiliation be granted immediately, and the present arrangements sanctioned ex post facto, the college will be obliged in July next to shoulder the full tale of work for both years of the B.A. course. The appointments recommended above (one Lecturer in English, one Assistant Lecturer in History, and one fully qualified teacher in Telugu) should be regarded as indispensable conditions of the affiliation is to be granted.

(c) The existing buildings give adequate and suitable accommodation for the work at present required, including a temporary arrangement for the B.A. Junior class. A considerable extension has been sanctioned by Government, and will be put in hand forthwith, which promises to provide for the work contemplated in the B.A. course, and at the same time to meet the points raised in this report. The chief features in the sketch plans submitted to us by the Principal are:—

(i) a new and spacious hall for the Library, with reading-room attached; and a lecture-hall for English;

(ii) two suitable class-rooms for the main work of classes III and IV respectively;

(iii) additional private rooms for the Assistant Lecturers, which are very necessary if the tutorial system recently introduced is to be effectively maintained.

These are all necessary to the efficiency of the college under the affiliation asked for, and anything less than the plans submitted by the Principal must be considered inadequate.

A feature in the existing buildings to which we are compelled to call attention is what seemed to us the inadequate provision for ventilation. The class rooms are reasonably large and well furnished. But the windows in many cases are far above the floor, and there are blank walls with neither door nor window. If the windows could be extended downwards and the walls pierced by doors or windows to ensure a through current of air, it would remedy a noticeable defect.

The existing Hostel (for about forty students), which is well built and well kept, is to be enlarged by the building at an early date of a block to accommodate about forty students. Under the tutorial system careful supervision is exercised over the residence of students not accommodated in the Hostel.

(d) The Library possesses a good nucleus of about 2,500 books. In view of the large additions demanded by the advancement of the college, the Principal has obtained from Government during the current year grants amounting to Rs. 6,000 instead of the annual sum of Rs. 2,000 previously allotted. We understand that the annual allotment is to be increased to Rs. 3,000. It is desirable also, as a means to overtake the more urgent necessities, that for two or three years this should be supplemented by non-recurring grants as in the current year.

The Library is at present housed in a room originally designed as an entrance hall. As the room still has to serve this purpose, it is on that account unsatisfactory as a library. Further, with only one room available, it is impossible to effect the separation that is to be desired between the consulting and borrowing departments, or to make provision for individual readers who may wish to use the Library at times when it is in use for the very necessary Library classes.

The Principal informed us that in the extension of the buildings already sanctioned, by Government a room (of the same area as the present one) will be set apart for the Library. We strongly recommend that at the same time additional rooms be included, adjoining the Library, to provide (i) a borrowing counter, etc., (ii) a room for individual reading apart from the room which is to be utilized for class work.

The supply of the maps is very inadequate. An immediate and generous allotment should be made under this head, and a recurring grant assigned either to the purchase of maps or preferably to the preparation of selected maps by a competent draftsman working under the direction of the History Lecturer.

(f) At present the Principal and all the members of the staff have to live in rented houses. We understand that Government, in the building scheme already sanctioned will provide a house for the Principal, but do not contemplate similar provision for other members of the staff. As the economic situation gives no assurance of suitable accommodation for such a staff as the college requires, we think it desirable that Government should provide a few houses suitable for members of the staff rather than leave them all to the restricted opportunities offered by a small town like Anantapur.

(g) The college is provided for by Government.

(h) (i) Since (1) there is no other college in the Ceded Districts, (2) the nearest college is the Central College, Bangalore, (which, owing to the development of the Mysore University, hardly comes into the reckoning), and (3) fees are levied at standard rates, there need be no fear of injurious competition.

In conclusion, provided that satisfactory assurances are given as to (1) the strengthening of the staff, (2) the completion of the buildings and adequate equipment of the Library, we see no reason why the desired affiliation should not be recommended to the Senate and to Government.

It should be added that the report has reference only to the comparatively small classes hitherto formed in the college. Should there be hereafter any great increase in the numbers admitted to any class, it would demand considerable alterations in the structure and internal arrangements of the college.

FERRAND E. CORLEY,
G. VENKATARANGA RAO.

Addendum

There is a further point which does not fall within the terms of reference, but which was raised informally by Mr. Ranganatham, and may arise in concrete form. Should the affiliation in Group (vi) be granted, will it then be within the competence of the college to present candidates for examination in any or all of the combinations of subjects covered by Regulation XXIII 5, II. (vi)? This would plainly go beyond the scope of the present inquiry and report; it is doubtful if it traverses any explicit provision of the Indian Universities Act or of the Regulations. To some extent the requirement of attendance certificates safeguards the point, but we felt that we could not honestly submit our report without laying this before the Syndicate. In our informal conversation with Mr. Ranganatham, we advised him that such a modification as the substitution of Sanskrit with Early Indian History for Telugu with Early South Indian History would be unobjectionable. Provided be satisfied the Syndicate as to the detailed arrangements proposed in respect of staff, time-tables and accommodation of the classes. But it is clear that a wider extension, such as a course in Persian and Early Muslim History or in Urdu and Arabic, would be contrary to the spirit, if not to the letter, of the Indian Universities Act and the Regulations of the University.

G. VENKATARANGA RAO.
