He has been a clerk for 20 years and is reported to do his work well. He is too old to pass the examination which was introduced only recently. The Superintendent of Police recommends his permanent exemption, which I support.

US. Home (Jud) Sept. The departmental test referred to by the I.G. is the test in 'Police Orders and Practice'—vide notification issued in G.O. 945, Home (Edw), 8/16-7-18.
Prior to this, no special or departmental test was prescribed in the case

case of clerks in district Police offices. As the clerk in the present case has put in a service of 20 years, he would have learnt the office procedure by actual practice. The I.C.'s recommendation to exempt him from passing the book test, may therefore be accepted and the file returned to Encl. N.O. for the issue of necessary orders.

I am sure that the case is very strong. If he is "too old to pass the examination" he must be, one way or the other, too old to be much use at his work. Again if he has learnt the office procedure by actual practice, as a result of 20 years service, he should be able to pass the exam. without requiring any exemption. The arguments are rather thin.
