Mr. Prabhakaran Tampan had given notice of the same Resolution for the August meeting of the Council. The Resolution appeared in the Agenda but was deemed to have been withdrawn, the mover not being in his place. The notes prepared on the previous occasion may now be printed up. ~~It is presumed that it may be noted that since these notes were written, the draft rules for the President fund Scheme for teachers have been published. It is presumed that the D. P. I. will take charge of the Resolution.~~

Subject. Legislative Council Resolution- Opening the Post Office Life Insurance fund to teachers employed in all recognised schools.

The ~~additional~~ ^{hon} member (Mr. Prabhakaran Thampan) wants that the Govt. of India should be moved to admit teachers employed in all recognised schools to the benefits of the Postal Life Insurance fund.

2. Rules relating to the Postal Life Insurance fund are framed by the Govt. of India. The persons who may be admitted to the benefits of the fund are given in rule 2 of the rules relating to the fund.

It will be seen from that rule that besides permanent Government servants, and temporary Govt. servants in a few departments, the fund is now open to

- (1) servants paid from "Local funds" as defined in Art. 33 C.S.R; and
- (2) clerks of the Offices of the Registrar of the Calcutta, Punjab and Allahabad Universities.

Thus the teachers in Local Board and Municipal schools in this Presidency can now secure admission to the fund. The point that has now to be considered therefore is the admission to the benefits of the fund of teachers in private schools which have received Govt. recognition.

3. The question whether such a concession should be extended to teachers in private recognised schools is one for consideration in Law (Edn) who will have to address the Govt. of India in case they decide that the extension of the concession is necessary. It however seems doubtful whether the Govt. of India will agree to the proposal; so far, admission to the benefits of the fund has been restricted to Govt. servants and and quasi-Government servants only.

4. As the resolution is one in regard to which action will have to be taken in Law (Edn) department the case may it is submitted, be transferred to that department.

Law (Edn) Dept.

So far, the accepted idea of enabling teachers in non-pensionable service to make suitable provision for old age is by establishing provident funds for them. As it is, ~~it is no doubt the case~~ ~~that~~ only a few aided educational institutions have provident funds of their own. But the question of organizing a well established fund has been the subject of consideration for a long time both by the G. of I and the Local Govts. The Govt. of India have ~~now~~ now authorized Local Govts. to establish provident funds on the lines of a scheme outlined by them. This Govt. have committed themselves to the formation of such a fund and the rules to regulate its working are now under consideration, so that it is expected to put the scheme into working order shortly. It therefore seems unnecessary to press on the G. of I. the subject of the present Resolution. It is also doubtful whether India, whose anxiety is more about the starting of Provident funds, will be disposed to pay heed to any representations that may be made to throw open the post office life insurance to ~~non-pensionable~~ ^{(in private service so long as the form is still not out of the stage of a scheme. It is important (no) to the D.O. for} teachers.

Provident fund scheme appears to be more favourable to teachers as both Govt. and the teacher contribute an equivalent amount. No such contribution will be made in respect of insurance policies.

The essential difference between a Provident Fund and the Post Office Insurance Fund which has not been noted on above is that under the former the teacher will draw a lump sum when he retires or his residue will draw a lump sum at his death. No provision is made for enabling the subscriber to obtain an annuity either immediate or deferred. If the teacher desires an annuity he will have to purchase it in some private Insurance Society with his provident fund accumulation when he retires.

retires. The Post-Office Insurance Fund scheme makes provision for an immediate monthly allowance and a deferred monthly allowance.

I see no strong reason why teachers or indeed any member of the general public should not be admitted to the advantages of a post-office insurance fund. I am therefore in sympathy with the resolution.

The strong argument against the acceptance of the resolution is that we are on the eve of introducing a Provident Fund and that it is doubtful whether teachers who will be compelled to subscribe to the Provident Fund will be able to subscribe also to Post-Office Insurance Fund. The resolution is rather premature. It would be better to wait sometime to see what the effect is of the general Provident Fund which is being introduced.

It might be suggested to the mover that it will be well to postpone consideration of his resolution for a year or two.
