2 para 1 of the
dubus flapped ①

(a) The examination for commercial diploma was, among ^{several} other Govt. Technical examinations instituted in January 1893, with the object of encouraging scientific and technical instruction with special reference to manufactures and industries and generally to the necessities of the practical side of life; and also for the purpose of testing the qualifications of persons desirous of becoming teachers of commercial subjects and employees under Govt, Local Boards or Muni Councils in which a practical knowledge of the subject might be required.

(b) The total number of diploma holders in Commerce is not known, the information not being available in the office. As regards the encouragement given to such diploma holders in the matter of Govt appointments, it may be observed that it does not appear that the Govt have accorded any special recognition to this diploma as a test for public

Commercial subjects. Commercial Practice and Geography, Book-keeping and commercial Arithmetic have ~~been~~ included in the optional group of subjects under the Secondary School leaving certificate course, and the services of those who hold the diploma would be engaged in such schools as teachers in the above subjects.

The final form of the question and answer as approved is:-

The Government Technical examinations (Madras).
1102 Q.—Mr. P. VENKATASUBBA RAO: Will the Hon'ble the Minister for Education be pleased to state—
(a) when and with what object the Government Technical examinations (Madras) for a commercial diploma were instituted;
(b) the total number of diploma-holders; and what encouragement the Government have given to such diploma-holders in the matter of appointments?
A.—(a) In 1893. The examination in commerce and Government technical examinations generally were instituted with the object of encouraging scientific and technical instruction and for the purpose of testing the qualifications of persons desirous of becoming teachers and employees under the Government, local boards and municipal councils, for whom a practical knowledge of the subjects is required.
(b) The Government have no information. Cases for any special encouragement have not come before Government.
