3. Alan Augustin Wells Gaudoin, Age 18 years 2 months. Passed High School Examination for Europeans.

2. All the three candidates possess ^{good} medium qualifications and none of them is very suitable. If however one of them has to be chosen, I would suggest the nomination of S.A. Rose Meyer. To,
The Inspector of European Schools, Madras.

Sir,
I beg to submit for your kind consideration my application for the State Scholarship to be awarded to European and Anglo-Indian boys domiciled in India.

I have passed the B.A Degree of the Madras University, the subjects I offered for examination being English Language and Literature, Political Economy and Indian Economics, Political Science, the History of Europe, the History of India and the Constitutional History of Great Britain and Ireland.

I was born on the 5th November 1897 and I therefore exceed the age as now, success was, which is, T. A. T. ...

limit prescribed. But on considering my case I feel sure that you will not let this in any way interfere with your recommendation. I passed the High School and Scholarship Examination at the age of 16. At the end of my first year in the Intermediate I changed my group and had to put in two years more at the end of which I appeared for the University Examination and came out successful being one of the three who passed in Group III out of a comparatively large number who appeared in this centre. I may mention here that so far I had always come out successful in the several Public Examinations for which I had appeared. In April 1917 I appeared for the B.A. Degree Examination but failed to get through. The Indian Defence Force came into being in February 1917 and as I had joined the same force the military duties I was called upon to perform interfered to a great extent with my studies and frequently necessitated my absence from College, so much so that the Senate of the Madras University specially exempted me from producing an attendance certificate for the first year of my B. A. Course and would have granted me an exemption for the second year as well were it not that I just had the minimum number of days required. I was mobilised for a short period in October 1918, during which time I contracted influenza and was unable to attend college for well nigh two months. The periodical as well as the preliminary training robbed me of many hours which would otherwise have been devoted for the purposes of study. In October 1919 I was again mobilised. You thus see, Sir, that all this accounted for my failure in 1919.

My father, the late Maurice John Edwin Rose Meyer, rendered over forty one years yeoman service to Government in the Telegraph Department when he retired in 1907. At the outbreak of hostilities between England and Turkey, a call was made on retired hands of the Department to relieve the younger men who were required to be sent out on field service to the several theatres of the "War" where their services were required. I feel proud to state that my father gallantly answered the call at the age of sixty seven and served the Department faithfully for sixteen months and was still in harness when he died in November 1917 at the age of sixty eight.

Both my elder brothers have had War Service. The elder - Military Assistant Surgeon J. F. C. Rose Meyer was in Mesopotamia and was mentioned in despatches. On his return from that country, from which he was invalided, soon after his recovery he was sent out on field service again - this time to the North-west frontier and has since been serving there. It is now over four years that he has been hovering in the wilderness of that frontier. He was again mentioned in despatches. The younger - Patrick Rose-Meyer of the Military Accounts Department went out with the first expeditionary force that landed in France in September 1914. He has seen service in France, Mesopotamia and Persia and but for a short break, served continuously on field service from August 1914 to May 1920. He was nominated to appear for the Indian Finance Department Examination. As regards my own war services I beg leave to state that I joined the Indian Defence Force and was twice mobilised. I was also responsible for getting up entertainments for the several War Funds and took a leading part in them.

I am the son of parents who are both Anglo-Indians. Our family circle includes two who are holding good appointments under Government - one being an Executive Engineer P.W.D, now at Midnapore, the other Acting Deputy Postmaster-General at Patna.

Before concluding allow me to state that I am very keen on furthering my studies and that at a University in England I feel sanguine; therefore, that my case will be carefully considered and I faint hope that the Scholarship will be given to me.

I beg to remain,
Sir,

Your most obedient servant,
Stanislaus. A. Rose Meyer.
