To The Secretary to the Government of Madras,

LAW (EDUCATION) Department.

Sir.

I have the honour to invite the attention of Government to their order No.16 Educational, dated 7-1-1915, sanctioning the institution of 8 post graduate scholarships tenable by students wishing to appear for the B.A.(Hons) degree examination after passing the B.A.degree examination and to state that in view of the small number of eligible applicants for these scholarships in the past few years, I do not think that it is necessary to have 8 scholarships of this kind. I, therefore,

I, therefore, recommend the reduction in the present number of these scholarships to 4 with effect from the next academic year.

I have the honour to be,

Sir,

Retrenchment Committee's recommendation

(7) Scholarships

As a measure of economy the Committee recommend that the present expenditure on scholarships of two and one-third lakhs should be reduced, at least temporarily, to one and a half lakhs of rupees.

Director's remarks

(7) Scholarships.-

Any large reduction in expenditure on scholarships such as that proposed is likely to do considerable educational injustice to the younger generation of this presidency. Large amounts of scholarships are spent on backward classes including women and on technical institutions, for example, the College of Engineering.

Law (Education) Dept.

The system of awarding scholarships to poor and deserving pupils in Educational Institutions is one to which the Government have all along attached great importance. The Educational Despatch of 1854 directed that the best pupils of the inferior schools should be provided for by means of scholarships in schools of a higher order so that talent in every class may receive that encouragement and development which it deserves. The Education Commission of 1882 interpreting this remark to mean that a continuous chain of scholarships connecting the lowest with the highest institutions ought to be established, pointed out that in Madras the scheme contemplated by the Court of Directors had not been carried out. ~~after consideration the Government of India from time to time urged on the Madras Government to revise their system to give effect to the declared policy. The scheme of Govt. scholarships in this Presidency was first systematised in 1894. The scholarship notification published in that year -~~

(a) definitely restricted ~~them~~ the scholarships to really poor and deserving students,

(b) threw them open to all classes,

(c) provided a chain of scholarships from the lowest to the highest grade of education, and

(d) introduced a comparatively larger number for the secondary grade.

The Govt. of India have on subsequent occasions urged on local Govts. the desirability of affording greater facilities by way of scholarships in secondary schools.

2. The provision in the current year's budget for 1923-24 scholarships amounts to Rs 2,32,400 for non-Europeans and Rs 20,000 for Europeans. As the Retrenchment Committee refers ~~only~~ to the provision of only $2\frac{1}{3}$ lakhs, its recommendation does not apparently apply to the scholarships awarded in European schools. A reduction of the amount spent on scholarships can be effected either by reducing the value of the scholarships or their number or both. All scholarships awarded for Indians are of the value of Rs 3 in middle school classes, Rs 6 in high school classes, Rs 9 in the Intermediate course and Rs 14 in the B.A. course. These rates ~~were fixed~~ have been in force since 1911-12.

~~Since then~~ Since then recommendations have been made ~~by the~~ by non-offl members of the local Leg. Council ~~and elsewhere~~ that the value of the scholarships should be increased in view of the increased costliness of living. Even if the rates are not increased, it seems desirable to maintain the existing rates. Any reduction in value will give rise to considerable opposition.

3. As regards the number of scholarships, it is submitted that while some of the scholarships are ear-marked for women or for particular communities such as Muhammadans, depressed classes etc., others are open to all classes of the population, though it is one of the fundamental principles in their award that the claims of those sections of the community who are most in need of aid should first be considered.

4. Scholarships for girls. With a view to give an impetus to ~~the~~ the spread of female education, scholarships for girls reading in the Queen Mary's College and in secondary and elementary schools and special scholarships for widows to enable them to take up eventually the teaching profession, have been instituted since 1912. Female education is still in its infancy in this Presidency, the percentage of girls in schools to the female population being ^{only} 1.8. A reduction of the existing facilities by the curtailment of scholarships ~~and~~ ^{is sure to} have the effect of retarding female education. No reduction can, therefore, it is submitted, be made under this head.

5. Scholarships for Muhammadans, Depressed classes and the Agency tribes. The amounts spent on special scholarships for these communities are comparatively small. There is a strong demand for additional scholarships for them and it is met from the provision for scholarships open to all classes. Any reduction of the amounts provided for the special scholarships is therefore not feasible.

6. Scholarships - General, for boys. The number of these scholarships is as shown below:-

Collegiate.	43 extending ^{over} from the Intermediate and B.A. courses.
	5 extending over the B.A. course.
	8 post graduate.
Secondary.	234 extending from 1st to 6th forms.
	55 extending from 4th to 6th forms.

Higher Elementary. 24 tenable in the 6th 7th and 8th standards

Prior to 1913, the number of collegiate scholarships was 24 and that of secondary scholarships 144.

In that year Mr. Srinivasa Sastri moved a resolution in the local Leg. Council urging ^{a large} increase of the number of these scholarships. In response to the ^{appeal} ~~request~~ made by non-official members in connection with that resolution, the Govt. undertook to provide for some increase of the scholarships. Accordingly, the number of collegiate scholarships was increased ^{from that year} to 38 and of secondary scholarships to 174. The cost of this addition was estimated at Rs 20,000 and this was met from the Imperial Recurring grant of Rs 6.8 lakhs received in that year. The next addition to the number of scholarships was in 1921. In that year, the Director pointed out that the collegiate scholarships were ~~not~~ inadequate to meet the increasing demand from students and that there was need for the award of more secondary scholarships with a view to provide for the increased demand for scholarships from ~~students~~ ^{pupils} pupils mostly of the backward classes. His recommendations were accepted and the scholarships were raised to their present number (shown on page 4 ante).

7. These general scholarships are open only to pupils of promise whose pecuniary circumstances are certified by the head of their school or college to be such as to prevent them from prosecuting their studies without assistance. In the award of the scholarships preference is given to Adi Dravidas, - Adi Andhras, Muhammadans, Oriyas and members of the other classes or communities which are declared as 'backward' for the purposes of educational concessions. Resolutions have been brought forward in the Legislative Council from time to time recommending large increases in the number of scholarships now provided for. The total number of pupils in all the Arts Colleges together is roughly 7,900 and it does not appear that the number of collegiate - - scholarships now awarded, viz., (43 plus 5) or 48, is too much for the number of students in colleges. A small number of scholarships is also provided for in the Engineering and Law Colleges. The approximate annual expenditure on this account is Rs.9,000. It does not appear that these scholarships can be curtailed.

8. The main item of expenditure under 'General' scholarships' is on account of those awarded in secondary schools. As pointed out in para 1 on pp.1 and 2 supra, the Government of India have from time to time insisted on the institution of a comparatively large number of scholarships in secondary schools and this has been provided for since 1894. In - - countries like England, the goal aimed at is a - system of free secondary education. Though any such is impracticable in this country where even elementary education has not yet become free, it is desirable desirable that such facilities as exist for bringing secondary education within the reach of the poor but promising pupils, particularly of the backward classes, should be continued as they are. The fact that fee remissions upto 10 per cent of the total fee receipts in the school have been allowed recently in secondary schools shows clearly that the facilities already provided were not found sufficient. Though the purposes of these two methods of help are not exactly identical, they go to constitute ~~as~~ inducements for the backward classes and as aid to the poor.

9. As regards elementary schools, the number of scholarships provided viz., 24, is very small for the whole Presidency and any reduction of their number seems out of the question.

10. Further, any reduction in the provision made for scholarships is likely to be received with alarm by the non-official public who may accuse Government of being apathetic towards the uplift of the illiterate and the poor. The recommendation of the Retrenchment Committee does not therefore seem feasible of adoption. It has been pointed out elsewhere that the object of retrenchment proposals is to divert money from non-essentials to essentials. From the Educational point of view, scholarships for the backward and the indigent should be regarded as coming under the latter category. The policy has been to draw out more of the backward and depressed and bring them under the influence of Education. Work in this direction is only now being vigorously pursued and the present is hardly the time for curtailing the facilities already provided. Real elevation of the backward and the depressed can never be achieved by confining their Education to the lowest standard in our system, but by allowing them the benefits of higher education.

The scholarships are intended for girls, depressed classes & the poor. The rates are very low & the number is miserably small when compared with the school going population or with similar facilities in other countries. Any reduction is likely to tell on the existing strength in schools. The demands of the public & of the Leg Council is for more scholarships.

Submitted with reference to the Ret. Committee's Resolution on page 1 ante.

27.11.23

The Under Secretary Education has entered into an elaborate justification of the grant of scholarships. This is not in issue. The only point in issue is whether as a temporary measure, owing to financial stringency, the recommendation of the Retrenchment Committee that, until the condition of the finances of the province improves, a reduction should be made in the grant of scholarships cannot be accepted. Will Law please therefore consider the actual recommendation of the Committee and not treat the latter as an attack on the desirability or otherwise of having a scholarship system.

LAW

Law (Education) Department

The Finance Department ^{points out} ~~opposes~~ that what was proposed by the Retrenchment committee ^{has} only a temporary reduction of the amount spent on scholarships. Submitted that the ^{wording of the recommendation} ~~wording of the recommendation~~ ~~would seem to refer both to permanent & temporary reduction. The words~~ "at least temporarily" would in justification of the grant of scholarships would apply to such temp. reduction also. Further, any sudden reduction of the expenditure under this head would mean the stoppage of scholarships awarded to poor pupils in the middle of their courses of study. In secondary schools, scholarships are begun from the first form, and in colleges, from the junior intermediate class. One of the conditions of their award is that on the candidate's promotion to the next higher class, the scholarship may be renewed or increased at the rates prescribed, provided his progress and conduct ~~have~~ been satisfactory.

In other words, the scholarship system is intended to serve as a ladder to enable ~~poor~~ poor pupils to proceed from the lowest to the highest stage of education. If, suddenly, in the middle of ~~a~~ a course, the scholarship is stopped for no fault of the student, it will cause considerable inconvenience

~~and may very probably~~ and may very probably result in the withdrawal of the student from study.

~~The money already spent by Govt. in educating~~ The money already spent by Govt. in educating the boy by the grant of scholarship will ^{also} become wasted.

It is, therefore, submitted that any sudden reduction of the amount spent on scholarships ^{as proposed by Finance} is not practicable.

8/12/23

Confirming myself to the specific issue raised by the F.S., it is clear that

p. 1 above

indicate that ^{part} was ^{intended} was a permanent reduction ^{if it} was not possible at least a temporary reduction. There was therefore ^{inappropriate} in ^{noting} on permanent ^{in any case} the ^{advanced}

Para 12 of ^{noting} p. 3 of Continuation scholarships cannot be stopped. And so, if retrenchment be effected to the extent contemplated, it really means cessation of all new Scholarships. This will tell severely on the educational progress of the sections of the public now benefited by the Scholarships.

Any such wholesale reduction in scholarships as that contemplated by the Retrenchment Committee appears to be quite out of ^{the} question and I cannot advise Government to accept this recommendation of the Retrenchment Committee.

The distribution of the current year's provision under scholarships is as follows, the figures given on page 3 of the Secretariat note file being not quite accurate:-

	Girls	Muslims	Depressed classes.	Agency	General
Colleges	10,000	3,000	-	-	a. 34,000 b. 9,000

Special schools	-	480	-	-	1,720 c. 5,400
	75,700	16,480	4440	6200	1,32,880

Total Rs. 2,35,700.

- b. Professional colleges
- c. Sanskrit ~~colleges~~ scholarships
- d. Includes provision of Rs. 1000 for Mappila scholarships
- e. Includes provision of Rs. 1296 for Hobart secondary school scholarships.

There is a continual demand, and a just demand, for a larger number of scholarships, especially for scholarships tenable in elementary schools

(higher

(higher elementary schools) for boys. Less than two years ago the D.E.Os were asked how many scholarships they considered necessary in higher elementary schools. They requested that over 700 additional scholarships be sanctioned.

4 As emphasised in the Secretariat note preference even in the award of general scholarships is given to Muhammadans and members of the depressed and backward classes, while poverty is taken into consideration in the award of all scholarships.

5 We cannot view this question apart from the Reformed system of Government under which we are now working. If we proceed to reduce the value of the scholarships they will not be sufficient to enable the prospective recipients to take advantage of them.

If we reduce their number especially ~~for~~ members of the backward community we are not aiming at the which is postulated in our Reformed system of Government. democracy. The success of the Reforms cannot but depend upon wide educational facilities especially to backward communities and any reduction in the Budget allotment for scholarships will ~~be~~ in my opinion to make the Reforms a failure.

6 It is a regrettable fact that we do not have large private endowments for scholarships. The population relies to a very large extent upon the scholarships provided by Government.

7 Incidentally I cannot subscribe to the statement made in para 8 of the Secretariat note that in countries like England the goal aimed at is a system of free secondary education.. I do not think that this is a statement of fact although a small section of the people would like to consider it as a fact.

8 There is, however, one place where it might be possible to reduce the amounts. It is under widow scholarships. I have discussed this matter with the Principal

2. As regards the general question raised, the difficulties in the way of reducing the scholarships even as a temporary measure are set out in the notes above. There is a strong agitation in the Council and in conferences for increasing their number and it seems to be undesirable out of the question to effect even a temporary reduction.

3) I was first inclined to think that a reduction could be made in the number of scholarships in Arts Colleges (which cost about Rs 50,000 a year). I find however these were specially dealt with in 1921 & the D.P.I. at the time pressed for an increase in their number, which was sanctioned. Since then, there has been an increase in the numbers of admissions to Govt Colleges.

It is respectfully submitted that the recommendation of the Retrenchment Committee was for a temporary reduction of the expenditure on scholarships. While this recommendation was under examination, it was suggested that a special officer or a special committee might be appointed to examine questions connected with educational finance. The Hon'ble Sir Charles Todhunter evidently thought that the opportunity might be taken to have the question whether all the ^{existing} ~~scholarships~~ ~~now~~ really serving useful purposes investigated by the Special officer when he ^{was} ~~is~~ appointed. Mr. Moir who was on special duty for a short time (December 1923 and January 1924) was specifically entrusted with ~~the~~ two items of work, namely the preparation of a scheme for the expansion of elementary education and the drafting of a bill to amend the Madras Elementary Education Act ~~XXXX~~ and no other. Subsequently the idea of having an expert com-committee or a special officer was abandoned and the files that were awaiting the appointment of the committee or the special officer have been submitted for orders one by one. This is one such. The D.P.I. who was consulted has advised that no reduction is possible except perhaps under 'widow scholarships'. For orders whether in the above circumstances the investigation referred to by the Hon'ble the Finance Member is necessary. If so, the ~~addition made to the draft~~ ^{revised D.P. submitted} below is for approval. ~~For orders.~~

My dear Grieve,

Reduction in the number of scholarships.

Please see correspondence ending with Mr. Littlehaile's official letter R.C.No.1122-E/24, dated 17-1-1925 and his demi-official No.865/24, dated 16-1-25. The Government ^{are inclined to think} have reason to believe that the expenditure incurred by the Educational Department on widows' scholarships can be appreciably reduced. The question of post-graduate scholarships also requires further examination. I am to ask that the possibility of effecting economies in scholarships wherever possible may be examined once again and a ^{considered} ~~consolidated~~ report submitted to Government at an early date.

Office of the Director of Public Instruction,
The Old College, Nungambakkam, Madras, 25th February 1925.

Dear Mr. Krishnamachari

Your D.O. No. 1766 C-2447 dated 11th February 1925---Reduction in the number of scholarships.

If Government consider that for financial reasons it is essential that some reduction should be made in the Budget allotment for scholarships I shall be glad if they will communicate to me the total maximum amount per annum which they consider admissible so that I may submit proposals for distribution. If, however, the question is to be settled not on financial but on educational and general considerations, I do not consider that any material reduction beyond that already recommended by Mr. Littlehales in connection with post-graduate scholarships should be made. The total amount provided for scholarships is not unduly large considering the needs of the presidency and the total population. It might be argued that scholarships should be a matter primarily for private benefactions, but here in South India such benefactions are rare and in general not for large amounts. It is, therefore, necessary for the State to supplement such benefactions so that equality of educational opportunity may be rendered possible. It is not in the interests of the State that poor boys and girls of real talent should be lost to the service of the State owing to their inability to receive financial assistance to enable them to secure higher education.

In the particular D.O. under consideration reference is made to widow scholarships. Of these there are two kinds:-

Ordinary widow scholarships tenable in any secondary school:

The number at present works out to 1 for every 107 girls---less than 1 per cent. This does not appear to me to be an unduly high number. They are fully utilised and no Inspectress is in favour of their reduction.

Special widow scholarships are 110 in number---64 tenable in the hostel of the Lady Willingdon Training College and 46 in the hostel of the Queen Mary's High School, Vizagapatam. At present the latter institution has about 20 widow scholars and the former

75. At Vizagapatam there are 15 vacancies and 11 have been, under Government sanction, transferred to the Lady Willingdon Training College. I would propose a redistribution of the widow scholarships as between the two institutions allotting 75 to the Lady Willingdon Training College and 20 to Queen Mary's High School, Vizagapatam. This involves a reduction in the total number by 15 and reduces the annual expenditure on this class of scholarship by Rs.2700. I am not in favour of any further reduction. Regarding the number proposed for the Lady Willingdon Training College, they can all be usefully awarded. The Principal of the Lady Willingdon Training College gives figures showing that out of 54 who have left the Model school section of her college, 16 are serving as teachers and nurses and 38 are studying for degrees or undergoing training for teaching or nursing.

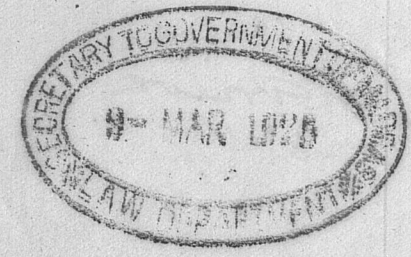

These figures show that in the widows we have a potential supply of teachers in girls' schools and of nurses. On the 'Transferred' side of Government there are two directions in which expansion and improvement are the special concern of the Hon. the Ministers, viz., the expansion of education and the promotion of public health. Any considerable reduction in the number of widow scholarships will be detrimental with both these directions. I may add in conclusion that there are other fields of work for women opening up for which the Hindu widow, without ties and less bound by convention, is the most suitable. An example of this is given by the Principal of the Lady Willingdon Training College. One of the widows there has taken up work as a welfare worker on the emigration boats to Penang and Singapore---work which no other Hindu woman would take up, but work which is well worth doing.

Yours sincerely,

R. A. Rive

The D.P.I. considers that the reduction in the number of post-graduate scholarships recommended by Mr. Littlehales may be given effect to. There are now 110 special widow scholarships and the Director recommends that these may be reduced by 15 and redistributed as shown in the margin. The Director states that he is unable to recommend further reduction in the number of scholarships. For orders whether the Director's proposals will be accepted. If so, the draft order submitted is for approval.
