REPORT—ELEMENTARY EDUCATION SURVEY OF 1924-25—
CHITTOOR DISTRICT.

The Chittoor district consists largely of zamindari tracts and hilly regions, rendering the education survey difficult. It is however satisfactory to note that the required particulars have been gathered with care in almost all the taluks. Certain discrepancies which were observed in the course of the scrutiny of the records relating to the Tiruttani, Kalahasti, Punganur and Madanapalle taluks were reconciled on receipt of further information from the educational survey officers concerned.

A 11 There are three taluk boards in the district comprising nine taluks in all. The Chittoor taluk board has jurisdiction over two taluks and the Madanapalle and the Chandragiri taluk boards over three and four taluks, respectively. The area under the control of the last-mentioned taluk board is so extensive and the number of villages belonging to it is also so large, as to render it difficult for the local body to exercise proper control especially in regard to matters connected with elementary education. It would, therefore, be of an advantage educationally if the taluk board were bifurcated so that the local bodies might be in closer touch with the conditions in the villages in their areas. The Chittoor and Madanapalle taluk boards are levying the education cess.

The results of the survey are tabulated in statement I. The total number of villages is 2,322 containing 8,128 population centres. Puttur, Kalahasti and Tiruttani taluks which consist of zamindari tracts contain the largest number of villages. The total population of the rural areas is 1,068,368 while the population according to the census of 1921 is 1,092,472. The population of school-age is 130,522 boys and 99,303 girls; of these 33,779 boys or 26 per cent of the total number of boys and 7,255 girls or 7 per cent of the total number of girls are under instruction. Chittoor is one of the backward districts, the percentage of the number of boys under instruction to the number of boys of school-age in the most advanced taluk, namely, Chandragiri, being 33. The district is not, however, much behind many others in point of girls' education, the percentage of the number of girls under instruction to the number of girls of school-age being seven.

There are 1,183 elementary schools in the district, the average number of pupils attending a school being 36. The number of Board schools is 279 and they form 23 per cent of the total number of schools. The Chittoor and Madanapalle taluks contain a larger number of Board schools than the other taluks, while their number is very low in the taluks of Kalahasti and Puttur.

Aided Mission schools are found working in all the taluks, the total number of such schools being, however, only 151, that is, 13 per cent of the total number of schools. The A.A.M., O.E.L.M., A.P.M., C.S.M., W.M., are the mission bodies managing schools in this district. Chittoor and Tiruttani have a greater number of mission schools than the other taluks, the number of this class of schools being below ten in the taluks of Kalahasti, Chandragiri, Palmaner and Vayalpad. Aided non-mission schools form, as in other districts, a large proportion of the total number of schools, their number being 528. There is very great disparity in the number of these schools in each taluk, there being as many as 112 schools in the Vayalpad taluk while Palmaner contains only eight. The number of private and indigenous schools is 225, their number being particularly large in the taluks of Vayalpad, Chittoor, Chandragiri and Puttur. It is desirable that these schools should be improved with a view to their being recognized and aided by the District Educational Council.

The boys' schools are all attended by girls as well and there are separate schools for girls mainly under Board management in centres with a dense population.

The only institutions which serve the educational needs of the Adi-Andhras are the Aided Mission schools and a few Board schools specially intended for them. The Board Hindu schools are not generally attended by Adi-Andhra children although there seems to be no objection to their admission into many of those schools. The aided non-mission schools are not accessible to the depressed classes owing to their being held in portions of dwelling-houses or rented buildings belonging to caste Hindus.

There are several centres of population inhabited by Muhammadans, the largest number of them being found in the Vayalpad and Madanapalle taluks where the Muhammadan population forms nearly 12 per cent and 10 per cent respectively of the total population. Schools intended for Muhammadans are found in many important centres, most of them being managed by the local bodies concerned and a few by private agencies. Schools for Muhammadan girls under public as well as private management exist in the more important centres.

The total number of teachers employed in the various kinds of schools in the district is 1,773, of whom 838 are trained teachers. The average number of pupils taught by a teacher is 23, which shows that nearly 21,000 more pupils can be brought under instruction, provided that suitable arrangements for additional accommodation are made in the existing schools. The percentage of the number of trained teachers to the total number of teachers is lower in the taluks of Tiruttani, Vayalpad and Puttur than in the other parts of the district.

Cases of overlapping of educational effort are very few in the district. The Board schools at Obanapalle (Chittoor taluk) and Bangaripalayam and Mooganapalle (Palmaner taluk) may be closed since it is reported that the needs of the centres concerned can be served by aided schools. The following is a list of Board schools that may be amalgamated with one another with advantage:—

Chittoor taluk.—Kalavagunta and Muthereval Board schools, Mahimandalam Adi-Dravida and Hindu Board schools.

Palmaner taluk.—Patturatham and Kadapanatham Board schools.

A list of the schoolless centres based on the results of the intensive survey is given in statement III. It will be seen from statement II that the total number of schoolless centres with a population of 500 and above is 70, of which 28 contain a population of 1,000 and above each. The number of schoolless centres under the jurisdiction of the two cess-levying taluk boards is 40; Government have recently sanctioned subsidies for the opening of Board schools in 24 of these centres.

It is reported by the District Educational Officer that there are hardly any possibilities for the expansion of elementary education through private agencies in this district. The mission agencies do not seem to be prepared to open schools in the schoolless centres. The proposed higher rates of grants, it is stated, will not go a great way towards the expansion of education, since they give no additional benefit to the lower elementary trained and untrained teachers, who form the bulk of the men now in the field. Elementary higher grade men do not, as yet take to the teaching profession in large numbers in this district, and the few that take to it are unwilling to serve in rural parts. Further parents do not realize the value of education and are not willing to pay fees and teachers have thus no remuneration other than the Government grants. Another difficulty is also pointed out by the District Educational Officer in the way of opening aided schools. Schools under private management are closing rapidly since there is a general impression—and it would appear that it is encouraged by taluk boards—that Board schools would be opened in their places.

Statement IV showing the cost of the additional schools to be opened in the district is enclosed.

Education is free in all the Board schools in the district. Fees at varying rates which are generally higher than the standard rates are levied in most of the aided schools.

REPORT--ELEMENTARY EDUCATION SURVEY--
THE NILGIRIS DISTRICT--1924-25.

The Nilgiris district is the smallest one in the Presidency, excepting Madras. It consists of the Ootacamund and Coonoor taluks on the plateau, and Gudalur taluk comprising a valley on one side and on the other hilly forest regions bordering on the Malabar Wynad. The villages are scattered and sparsely peopled, so that the survey has been by no means an easy task. The maps and registers of the three taluks in the district have, however, been carefully prepared.

There are no taluk boards in the district, the District Board exercising the functions of taluk boards in matters relating to elementary education. It is gratifying to note that the education cess is levied by the District Board throughout the area under its jurisdiction.

The district contains three taluks comprising 54 villages in all, with 899 population centres. The average number of population centres in a village is 16, many of which have a population of less than 100 each. According to the recent survey the population of the district excluding the two municipalities of Ootacamund and Coonoor is 88,745, while the population of the rural areas according to the census of 1921 is 94,837.

It will be seen from Statement I tabulating the results of the survey that the number of children of school-age is 8,512 boys and 7,008 girls, of whom 3,521 boys and 555 girls are under instruction in the elementary schools in the district. The percentage of the number of boys attending schools to the number of boys of school-age is 41 for the district, while the percentage in the case of girls is 8. Boys' education is advanced in the Ootacamund taluk where 57 per cent of the number of boys of school-age are attending schools; on the other hand, girls' education is in a very backward condition, seeing that only 3 per cent of the number of girls of school-age in the taluk are receiving instruction in elementary schools. In the Coonoor taluk the progress in girls' education seems to be keeping pace with the progress in boys' education, the percentage of the number of children under instruction to the number of children of school-age being 44 in respect of boys and 12 in respect of girls. Gudalur is the most backward taluk in the district, the percentage of the number of boys under instruction to the number of boys of school-age being 18.

The total number of schools in the district is 73 of which 41 are Board schools. Aided Mission schools which number 29 are found only in the Coonoor and Ootacamund taluks, the chief mission agencies being the Wesleyan Mission, the Church of England Zenana Mission, the Church Mission Society and the Roman Catholic Mission. Aided non-Mission schools are very few in number owing to the peculiar difficulties of maintaining educational institutions in the Nilgiris. The average number of pupils attending a school is 56.

The boys' schools in the various taluks are attended also by girls, their number being smaller in the Ootacamund taluk than in the other two taluks. There are three separate schools for girls, two in the Coonoor taluk and one in the Gudalur taluk. Attempts should be made to start girls' schools in the Ootacamund taluk, where the facilities for the education of girls are not adequate.

It is a noteworthy feature in this district that the children of the depressed classes are admitted into all schools whether under Board or under private management.

The Muhammadan population in the rural areas is very insignificant except in Gudalur, Nelliyaalam and Wellington Cantonment. There is already a school for Muhammadans under private management in Wellington Cantonment. It is recommended that Board schools for Muhammadans may be opened in the other two places. There are at present no schools intended for Muhammadan girls in the non-municipal areas in the district.

The total number of teachers employed in the different kinds of schools is 176 of whom more than 60 per cent are trained teachers. The number of pupils taught by a teacher is on an average 23.

Statement III contains a list of centres with a population of 500 and above which are not provided with schools of any kind. The total number of such school-less centres is 11, of which six belong to the Gudalur taluk—vide Statement II. The opening of schools in four of these centres has been sanctioned by Government in their Order No. 877, Law (Education), dated the 23rd May 1925. There are, however, several centres with a population of less than 500 each, which are devoid of educational facilities owing to their isolated position and which will have to be supplied with schools if education is to be within the reach of every child of school-age in the district.

There appear no possibilities for expansion through mission bodies which are the only private agencies engaged in the field of education in the district; nor is there any overlapping of educational effort in any taluk. It is suggested that the Board school at Kagguchi (Ootacamund taluk) may be transferred to Kukkal which is more centrally situated with regard to the centres that may be served by it.

A statement showing the cost of additional schools to be opened in the district is enclosed.

No fees are levied in the Board schools. In Aided Mission schools fees are levied from pupils belonging to the non-backward classes.

It may be noted that a very large number of elementary schools in the district contain the V Standard and that more than 10 per cent of the pupils are studying in the V and higher Standards.

REPORT—ELEMENTARY EDUCATION SURVEY—
1924-25—SALEM DISTRICT.

The survey of the Salem district presented much difficulty to the educational inspecting officers since large portions of it, especially the taluks of Dharmapuri, Hosur, Krishnagiri, Namakkal, Tiruchengode and Uttangarai consist of mitta and inam villages in respect of which accurate village maps are not available. Portions of several taluks, e.g., Hosur, Dharmapuri, Uttangarai, Salem, Attur and Namakkal consist largely of hills and reserve forests, which render travelling in those parts difficult. With the co-operation of the Tahsildars and other officials of the Revenue department, however, the educational survey officers were able to gather the required particulars and prepare the maps and registers in accordance with the instructions issued on the subject.

There are five Taluk Boards in the district, comprising two taluks each. Two of these Taluk Boards, namely, Salem and Sankari, are levying the education cess in the areas under their jurisdiction. It is desirable that the other Taluk Boards should avail themselves of the power of additional taxation vested in them under the Elementary Education Act, so that they may augment their financial resources for the improvement and expansion of elementary education.

Annexure I contains the results of the survey tabulated in the form of a statement. The total number of villages in all the ten taluks is 1,615 containing 8,943 centres of population. The average number of population centres in a village is 5. The centres are located quite close to one another, so that every school draws pupils from a large number of centres around it.

The total population of the rural areas according to the survey is 2,011,835, the population according to the census of 1921 being 2,059,790. The number of children of school-age is 215,065 boys and 151,653 girls, of whom 37,988 boys or 18 per cent and 6,700 girls or 4 per cent are under instruction. Salem is one of the most backward districts in the Presidency in regard to the elementary education of boys as well as girls. The more advanced taluks in the district are Rasipur, Namakkal and Attur, all of which lie in the south of the district bordering on the Trichinopoly district. The percentage of the number of boys under instruction to the number of boys of school-age is below the average for the district in all the other taluks, the most backward ones being Tiruchengode and Krishnagiri. There is urgent need for improvement in the condition of the district from the educational standpoint.

There are 1,174 schools in the district, the average number of pupils attending a school being 38. Board schools number 434 and are fairly evenly distributed over the several taluks. Aided Mission schools are found in the Attur, Namakkal and Salem taluks, their number being very small in the other taluks, while Uttangarai has no mission school at all. The mission bodies working in the district are the L.M., S.B.M., D.M., R.C. and E.L.M. The number of mission schools in the whole district is only 67 which forms 6 per cent of the total number of schools. Aided non-Mission schools are found in large numbers, especially in the taluks of Namakkal and Tiruchengode. The number of private and indigenous schools is great, particularly in the Namakkal taluk. It is desirable that active steps should be taken to improve these schools with a view to their being brought on to the recognized and aided list of elementary schools.

As in the other districts, boys' schools are attended by a small number of girls. There are also separate schools for girls mostly under board management in a few important centres. The admission of girls in larger numbers into the boys' schools should be encouraged and girls' schools should be opened in places where and when the number of girls attending boys' schools is sufficiently large.

Attur taluk—East Rajapalayam Board Adi-Dravida.
 Tidavur do.
 Tiruchengode taluk—Tiruchengode Board Adi-Dravida.
 Namakkal taluk—Mohanur Board Adi-Dravida.

The total number of teachers employed in the different kinds of schools in the district is 1,819. The average number of pupils taught by a teacher is twenty-five which shows that nearly 19,000 more children can be brought under instruction in the existing schools, provided that suitable arrangements are made for the additional accommodation required. More than 50 per cent of the teachers are trained men, the proportion of trained teachers being however low in the taluks of Tiruchengode and Namakkal. The desirability of opening a training school in Tiruchengode may be considered in order to increase the percentage of trained teachers in these two taluks.

On a scrutiny of the survey records it is observed that economy can be effected in the following five cases by closing down the existing board schools in those centres seeing that the educational needs thereof can be met by aided schools :—

Tiruchengode taluk.—Thannirpandalpalayam Board.

As regards the possibilities of expansion through aided agencies, it is reported by the District Educational Officer that the proposed higher rates of teaching grants for elementary schools are not attractive enough for private bodies to start schools in backward areas. The public are in most cases not very keen on education because

Fees are levied at standard rates in the board schools and at varying rates in the aided schools in the district.
