January 29th, 1925.

FROM: The Joint Secretary to the High Commissioner for India,
Indian Students Department,

TO: The Secretary to the Government of Madras,
Law (Education) Department,
Madras.

Sir,

I am directed to refer to previous correspondence ending with your letter No. 592 B/24-1, dated the 18th February, 1924, and to forward herewith for the consideration of the Government of Madras, an application from Mr. R. Vaidyanathanswamy for appointment in the Indian Educational Service.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient Servant,

Thomas Quangle
JOINT SECRETARY.

Mathematical Institute,
16, Chambers Street,
Edinburgh.

1925. Jan. 16 th.

Hearing from Dr. R. Vaidyanathaswamy that he is about to become a candidate for an appointment in India, I gladly take the opportunity to write a few words in his favour.

Since he came to this country, rather more than two years ago, I have been continually in touch with his work, and have formed a very high opinion of it. I understand that the regulations concerning the higher degrees of the Scottish Universities have not permitted him yet to submit a thesis for the degree of D.Sc., but I have no hesitation in saying that in my judgment the work which he submitted for the degree of Ph.D., was more than worthy of the D.Sc.. He has been a most prolific writer; and the fact that his papers have been accepted for publication by societies of such standing as the London Mathematical Society and the Royal Society of Edinburgh is sufficient to show the quality of his results.

He has done a great deal of reading during his stay in Scotland and has a profound knowledge of his chosen field of Mathematics.

I like him very much personally, and believe that this feeling is shared by all who know him.

Signed. E.T. Whittaker.

22.1.25.

I have known Mr. R. Vaidyanathaswamy since Nov: 1922, when he came to further his research studies in Geometry and Algebra with us here.

It was easy to see that this student shewed promise of producing very able and original work in his special field. He had already investigated problems with success, some of which, unknown to him, had been solved by continental mathematicians last century. This gave, in a manner, a standard by which to test his powers.

During the two years here he set himself to find out where he stood and what was already done in his field. I consider that he now has a first rate knowledge of the position, and that the substantial publications to his credit in these years promise a distinguished future as a research worker in Geometry.

Mr Vaidyanathaswamy is a colleague with whom one has been proud to be associated. His somewhat detached manner at first sight may possibly be a barrier between himself and other mathematicians, but I can say with confidence that in the cases when he has had opportunity to meet competent judges in his subject, at leisure, he has won high praise. This is both at Cambridge and at Edinburgh.

I have provided opportunities for him to visit these two centres of research work, partly to help him to familiarize himself with other minds, and to mix more freely with other research workers.

With the junior staff, research students and others, he has been on very friendly terms.

To a post which gave an outlet for his research powers he would do good work.
