A:3.

It is not clear whether the Hon'ble Member will raise the question of the inadequacy of the existing provision for the elementary education of the depressed classes, or whether he will refer to the free admission of the pupils of the depressed classes into schools under public management. The former point has been noted in connection with motions (Nos. 272 and 355). As regards the free admission of pupils of the depressed classes, the Government have already issued instructions to local bodies to remove any existing impediments to such free admission, by the removal of schools located in inaccessible places to places accessible to all classes of pupils. Annual reports as to the action taken by local bodies in the matter are being received, and these reports show that the number of pupils of the depressed classes attending schools not specially intended for them, is raising steadily year by year. The Hon'ble Member has also brought to the notice of Government cases of some schools in
