No. 172/D/VII-Ests. Report of Lee Commission.
Our proposals with regard to Women's Branch of the Indian Educational Service are as follows:--

1. Pay:-- The reasons for increase in overseas pay of men do not apply with the same force to women who are not faced with heavy expenses for maintenance and education of family in England. Consequently the tentative scale of increase suggested in Home Department letter No.178/11/24, dated the 21st June 1924, paragraph 29, though generally accepted by the Local Governments seems to us, on careful consideration, to be excessive. We are of opinion that it will be quite sufficient to increase the existing overseas pay of women of non-Asiatic domicile by Rs.50/- from 5th to 11th years of service and from the 12th year onwards by Rs.100/-. The question arises whether the overseas pay from 5th year of service, should, as in the case of other services, be paid in sterling. We think it would be better to leave it in rupees partly because this is likely to be more convenient to the women, who for the most part have no sterling commitments and partly because the total overseas pay is only a small sum. We therefore recommend that the overseas pay for women of non-Asiatic domicile be Rs.50/- 1st to 4th years, Rs.100/- 5th to 11th years, Rs.150/- 12th year onwards.

2. Pensions:-- We do not consider that women should be allowed the same rate of increase as has been accepted for men. But we recommend that the maximum of Rs.4,000/- after 20 years service should be raised to Rs.4,500/- rising each year by Rs.200/- to a maximum of Rs.5,500/- after 25 years.

Priority. Report of the Lee Commission. Reference our telegram No. 172/D/VII/24 of the 15th December giving proposals for women's Educational. We have not recommended that Women's pensions should be raised by same amount as men's. The entry in Schedule 5 of rules, however, is Indian Educational Service without qualification and may be held to entitle women to same pension as men. This would, in any case, be wrong, as women do not get any increased pension after 25 years. We, therefore, suggest that before the rules reach India, the words "men's branch" be inserted in Schedule 5 after Indian Educational Service.

No.265. Lee Commission. Women's Education Service

As regards passages I accept your proposal. I agree to rates with regard to overseas pay but I am of opinion that, as in the case of other services, remittance concession should be given from fifth year in sterling at a 2 shilling rate. The Lee Commission stated, respecting pensions, that the benefits which were recommended for other services would be applicable to this service. The fact that retirement is earlier in the case of women may justify an increase of less than Rs.1,000/- now sanctioned for other services, but I am doubtful as to whether greater reduction than would be proportionate to respective lengths of service can be justified and I would therefore prefer to fix rates at Rs.4,750 after 20 years service and Rs.5,750 after 25. The new rates of invalid pension for uncovenanted services will require modification for women's service whether the maximum is fixed at Rs.5,500/- or 5,750/-, otherwise the maximum of invalid rate will exceed maximum of retiring rate - the latter rate might become over-riding maximum, but please let me have your proposals.

The above refers to your telegram dated December 15th.

Reference correspondence ending with your telegram dated 1st April No.1040, Lee Commission definitely excluded women's branch of Indian Educational Service from remittance concession and we are not prepared to go beyond their recommendation. As regards pension we agree to maximum being raised to Rs.4,750/- after 20 years service and to Rs.5,750/- after 25 years as proposed by you. We suggest, for invalid pension, a scale less by Rs.250 all the way through than new scale for uncovenanted services. Further for service of 25 years and over pension should be 30/60ths of average emoluments and not 25/60ths as stated in the India Office memorandum of regulations regarding appointments to the service.

No.265. Lee Commission. Women's Educational Service
As regards passage I accept your proposal. I suggest rates with regard to overseas pay but I am of opinion that, as in the case of other services, remittance concession should be given from fifth year in sterling at a 2 shilling rate. The Lee Commission stated, respecting pensions, that the benefits which were recommended for other services would be applicable to this service.
The fact that retirement is earlier in the case of women may justify an increase of less than Rs.1,000/-

as to whether greater reduction than would be proportionate to respective lengths of service can be justified and I would therefore prefer to fix rates at Rs.4,750 after 20 years service and Rs.5,750 after 25.
The new rates of invalid pension for uncovenanted services will require modification for women's service

Concessions to women's branch of the Indian Educational Service. We are still of opinion that recommendations made by us are adequate and that remittance privilege should not be given in any case. If, however, you are of opinion that overseas pay must be increased, we recommend main improvement in earlier years of service, where we are impressed that need is greater than in later years, viz., 1st to 11th years Rs.100, 12th year onwards Rs.150. This will be in lieu of existing rate. Your presumption regards pensions is correct.
