The Secretary to Government, (Transferred Half),

Encs: V.

S i r,

I have the honour, under direction from the Executive Committee, to submit to Government this application on behalf of the above Sabha (Karanakamma Sabha) for grant-in-aid from Government with effect from 1926-27 and to earnestly request that it may receive favourable consideration at their hands.

2. This Sabha has been in existence for the past nearly 10 years and was started with the main object of helping the poor boys of the karanakamma sect in their education. The printed appeal originally issued and the rules of the Sabha - copies of which are enclosed for reference - will give the Government a clear idea of the objects with which this Education Fund or the Sabha was started. Lists of stipends sanctioned for the years 1924-25 and 1925-26 are also enclosed.

3. The Karanakamma^s constitute a small ^cset of Andhra Brahmins. The community is a limited one, though scattered all over the presidency, from Ganjam in the North to Tinnevely in the South. There are some families of this sect in the Ceded Districts and Mysore Province, as well. I doubt whether among Andhra Brahmins or Brahmins generally, there could be a community or sect more depressed than this one. The sect is a very backward one and chronic poverty is the lot of the bulk of the families composing it. On account of this handicap, education of the kind which pays now a days and which has had a marketable value for the past 60 or 70 years or more, has not spread among them. There were very few men of this sect who, even under very favourable circumstances, ^{had} ~~have~~ risen high in public service and who held responsible positions or otherwise made a mark in the world. The number of such persons can be counted on one's fingers ends: and their influence naturally

* vide list at pp. 9 + 10 infra

was and counted for very little. If this was the state of affairs some time ago, what their position now is, when times are so changed and when economic condition has become more acute than ever, could be more imagined than described. To stem this tide of down-ward progress of a depressed community and to raise it, if possible, to the level of the other forward communities, the idea of starting this poor Education Fund was conceived in the year 1915 and was given shape to it. Since then, it has been doing some work - for the uplift of the community, but it very keenly feels, it is uphill work and realises at every step the difficulty of its position, hampered, as it is, at every turn, for lack of funds.

4. The main source of income for the Sabha is subscriptions raised from the members of the community and from gentlemen of other communities whose feelings of philanthropy and liberality know no sectarian or communal limits. Latterly there has been a small addition to it in the shape of interest from funded capital, which, however, does not exceed Rs .2,200/- for all these 10 years of Sabha's existence. All put together, the annual income of the Sabha does not exceed Rs .1,200/- per annum, on an average, as can be easily gathered from the following figures.

1916:	Rs .1239.	1921-22:	843
1917-18:	1664	1922-23:	1133
1918-19:	1559	1923-24:	1052
1919-20:	1415	1924-25:	1058
1920-21:	1290	Total ..	11253

or roughly 100/- per mensem or 1,200/- per annum.

With this sum, the Sabha has helped 584 students during these nearly 10 years of its existence. These stipendaries include students of the Arts Colleges and also those studying in the Secondary schools, from 1st to 6th Forms. Help has also been rendered to students taking to professional studies or technical training and also to Sanskrit students or institutions - like the one at Nellore. Help given has taken the shape of free-ships, examination fees - boarding charges in a few cases and contributions for purchase of books. In the case of Collegiate students the free-ship is ordinarily limited to one half and in the case of those studying from 1st to 6th forms the rate ordinarily sanctioned is a third, exceptions being, however, made made in cases of extreme poverty or outstanding merit. To technical or professional students the limit is generally one half of their fees and in the case of the only Sanskrit institution which is practically being helped from the date of starting of the Sabha, it is one half of the salary of one of the Pundits, Viz., the Rig-Veda Pundit. The Sabha is aware that this help could have but covered the fringe of the educational expenses - of the students concerned. But even with the best of will in the world, the Sabha could not have done better in the matter of help to students, for its resources are limited. That even this help was received with great avidity by those concerned shows the dire poverty of those students and of the Community to which they belong.

5. The Sabha is anxious that it should help the students of the community more liberally than it has done in the past, but it has, so far, resisted the temptation to seek outside help for this purpose. Self help is the best of helps and, with this help, it has tried to establish itself on somewhat sure foundation and it has secured this object in a great degree. The time seems to be opportune now, for the Sabha to turn its attention to other means of entrenching its position and augmenting its resources. A Sabha which has justified its existence, so far, on the basis of self-help, can very well claim and is entitled to outside sympathy and assistance and when it seeks it, at a time when self-help presents no immediate chance of further expansion, especially in the case of a sect like the one in question whose lot, as observed already, is one of chronic poverty and indebtedness, as it were, it would not perhaps be too much to hope for a ready and willing response from the Government which has made the welfare of its subjects, including small minorities like mine, its sole study. No help would or could be more abiding or substantial than that from Government and I pray that, in the circumstances explained, the Government would be pleased to contribute from the year 1926-27 as Grant-In-Aid from year to year, treating this as a special case, if necessary, at least, one half of the amount which the Sabha spends annually towards stipends - and thus help it to be established on a firm and lasting basis and enable it to become a constant source of help to the students of the Community. The Sabha earnestly hopes that the Government will take a special view regarding the admissibility of this application and not be hampered, in its disposal, by any lack of precedents in this direction or by the fear of ~~the~~ creating a new precedent. The general aim and purpose of the award of scholarships would be subserved and fulfilled by rendering grants-In-Aid of Education of backward communities and of scholarships on behalf of distressingly poor but highly deserving young men, entering on school - College -- ~~or~~ technical and professional education.

6. A copy of this application has been sent to the Director of Public Instruction, Madras.

7. Requesting once again that the Government would be pleased to bestow its favourable consideration on this application.

I have the honour to remain,

D.V. Srikantayya

THE KARNAKAMMA EDUCATION FUND.

AN APPEAL.

It is a matter of familiar knowledge that the Telugu Communities throughout the Presidency are bestirring themselves to keep pace with the march of times and to take their place by the side of highly progressive communities in the land. It is needless to point out that of the Telugu sects, the sect of Karnakammas scattered throughout the length and breadth of the Madras Presidency; except perhaps the West Coast, is in a very backward state and requires to be effectively organised before it can become an efficient unit of the ANDHRA COMMUNITY. As the first step towards the improvement of the present condition of this Community it is deemed necessary to start a scheme by which facilities might be afforded to eligible young men of the Community for pursuing their studies in schools and colleges. It will be a good thing if such young men could be accommodated in a central home in Madras and their education looked after but, although it is an ideal to be kept in view and worked up to gradually, it is for the present too ambitious a scheme and cannot be thought of, unless the small beginning now proposed to be made is encouraging and brings in adequate income for the purpose. To begin with, therefore, it is deemed expedient to invite contributions whether in kind or in cash from all members and friends of the Community and out of the funds so raised to award free-scholarships to young pupils and students of the Community, who in the opinion of the Committee to be appointed for managing the poor boys' fund are eligible for help and likely to profit by it wherever they may be. It is further requested that all members of the Community whatever their District and wherever their sphere of work might be, would earnestly and warmly respond to the appeal and make it possible for this good work to be started at the beginning of the next year. Besides contributing to the fund themselves, all members of the Community are requested to find out other members and induce them to take interest in the fund and help forward the work. It is suggested that on all ceremonial occasions, members of this Community would make it a point to give donations specifically in aid of the Institution. Each can do but little, but if that little is done, all will be done. It is in this spirit that contributions however small will be thankfully received.

2. Those who are desirous of knowing more about the objects and scope of the institution are requested to address D. V. Srikantayya, who has undertaken to arrange the preliminaries for the starting of the fund. Any suggestions for the furtherance of the scheme will also be thankfully received.

3. All gentlemen who may receive this appeal are requested to intimate to the undersigned at a very early date, the amount they are willing to subscribe every month and the intervals (quarterly or half yearly) at which they will find it convenient to remit the subscriptions. For a scheme like this to succeed it is obvious that subscriptions should be remitted promptly and regularly in advance. The efficient working of the scheme depends to a great extent also on the promptness with which this appeal is responded to. All lovers of the Community will, it is earnestly hoped, spare no pains whatever to make this scheme successful.

4. They will no doubt be glad to hear that the scheme has so far evoked considerable enthusiasm even among non-English knowing members of the community and that so many as.....gentlemen have expressed their willingness to become life-members, or subscribers or both. The institution of life membership by which members pay a minimum donation of Rs. 100 or more either in lump or in convenient instalments, it is hoped, will serve to place the fund on an enduring basis. Besides becoming life members, those favourably circumstanced are requested to help by periodic subscriptions as well since without them neither sustained nor successful working of the scheme will be possible.

5. The favour of an early response is solicited as steps have to be taken to commence regular work from 1st January 1916.
