U.C. Reply No. 1372 of 12/14/25

There is no information on the file that the resolution of the Salem District Soldiers' Committee has been considered and approved by the Madras Soldiers' Board. It appears to me that the first step is to ascertain whether the Madras Soldiers' Board after considering this resolution of the Salem District Board is prepared to support it. Until the Madras Soldiers' Board passes a resolution supporting the resolution of the Salem District Soldiers' Committee I do not see that the matter need be considered by Government. If, however, the Madras Soldiers' Board support the resolution of the Salem District Soldiers' Committee I trust that it will furnish some figures regarding the number of children of Indian Soldiers in South India and the places in which these children are at present residing and where the greatest concentration of these children is in order that we may have some definite facts to go upon.

Law (Cor.) Dept.

The Madras Soldiers' Board may be requested to state whether it supports the resolution of the Salem Dist. Soldiers' Committee and, if so, to furnish figures etc. relating to the Indian Soldiers in South India as suggested in the D.P.S. note above.

Please see the reply of the Com. of Salem on page 2 c.f. and page the article "Kunj George's Royal Indian Military School" - pages 9 & 10 of the Ganji Akhbar refd to therein. Before the Board expresses an opinion, Law (Education) may be requested to obtain the remarks of the D.P.S. on the practicability of the proposal contained in Resolution 6 from the material furnished by the P.D.S.C, Salem.

What mentioned!
There seems to be nothing except the article in the Ganji Akhbar 26/3/26.

26/3/26

I don't think a military school could be formed in the Madras Pres. on the lines & with the purposes of the S. George's schools. At any rate, nothing can be done in the resolution unless the Salem Committee are prepared to provide us with more information.
