Smith, Professor of Chemistry, Presidency College, Madras, having been granted leave for five months in continuation of the summer vacation of the Presidency College -- vide G.O. No. R. 27, Law (Education), dated 12th January 1926 -- it is proposed that (1) Dr. B.B. Dey, Additional Professor of Chemistry, Presidency College, may be appointed as officiating Professor of Chemistry in the same college vice Mr. W.E. Smith on leave and (2) M.R.Ry. G. Sambamurti Garu, Lecturer in Science, Government Training College, Rajahmundry, may be appointed as officiating Additional Professor of Chemistry in the Madras Educational Service vice Dr. B.B. Dey. The Indian Educational Service post of Additional Professor of Chemistry in the Presidency College may be temporarily kept in abeyance and a Madras Educational Service post created instead with effect from the 5th July 1926 till the return from leave of Mr. W.E. Smith. Mr. Sambamurti is the most senior officer knowing Chemistry in the Madras Educational Service and is acquainted with the work of the Presidency College -- having served for about four years from July 1913 to July 1917. In making this recommendation, I considered other officers knowing Chemistry now in the department. I am not prepared to advise that Mr. M. he is an M.A., L.T.; Mr. Sambamurti is a first class graduate and much more energetic than Mr. Kini nor am I prepared to advise the appointment of Mr. P. Narayana Goud who has European qualifications and who was directly recruited to the Madras Educational Service since on the previous occasion when he was working in the Presidency College, he, although a married man, made overtures to a Brahmin lady student of the Presidency College. I have left it on record that I am not prepared to recommend the posting of Mr. Narayana Goud to any position in which he comes in contact with women students. Moreover, although he has European qualifications, his degree is not a very high one and is of Edinburgh University. He is not as competent to fill the vacant post in the Presidency College as is Mr. Sambamurti.

Mr. H.O. Kershaw who has been to the Presidency College on a former occasion cannot well be spared from his present work as Inspector of European Schools.
