Catalogue of Works.

Ordering the publication in the Fort St. George Gazette of the — registered during the first quarter of 1900, and transmitting copies of it to the Secretary of State and to the Government of India.

GOVERNMENT OF MADRAS.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

Read—the following paper:—

From Diwan Bahadur M.R.Ry. V. KRISHNAMA CHARIAR, Registrar of Books, to the Director of Public Instruction, dated Madras, 16th May 1900, No. 129.

I have the honour to send on, for submission to Government, printed copies of the Catalogue of works registered during the first quarter of 1900.

2. The total number of publications received during the quarter is 348 or 6 more than the number catalogued for the corresponding period of 1899. It is absolutely the largest figure recorded in any one quarter since the date of the amending Act X of 1890, this being the season when large orders for school manuals and texts for examinations with or without annotations are booked by publishers and their agents.

3. The registered works may be classified as under:—

Books and pamphlets	273
Periodicals	75
Total ..	348

4. A reclassification in the order of languages shows that 112 works are in English including bi-linguals, 91 in Tamil, 69 in Telugu, 15 in Malayalam, 7 in Kanarese, 1 in Arabic and 52 in Sankrit besides 1 tract in the Badaga dialect.

5. In the column of remarks in the Catalogue will be found, as usual, brief notes on the contents of most of the registered publications. Nearly 30 per cent. of them are intended for educational purposes. Of the non-educational works the English translations of Upanishads and Rámánuja's Commentary on the aphorisms of Vyása deserve mention as the first contributions of their kind to the religious philosophy of the Indian Peninsula published in English.

6. Annexed is the printed statement containing the extract of entries of copyright registration of 82 works whose proprietors have secured their copyright paying the prescribed fee. The last two entries in this extract relate to works delivered for registration during the third quarter of 1899, but whose copyright has only been registered during the first quarter of this year.

Enclosure.

Varadarája Aiyangár, B.A., B.L., Chámarája Mahalla, Mysore.	This readable and reliable translation in English of the great commentary of Rámánujáchárya on the védánta sútras or aphorisms of Vyása whose mystic sense gave rise to different védántic thoughts on the riddle of existence, the characteristics of universal creation and the plan of salvation and like topics, is remarkable as the first instalment of the philosophic literature of the Vaishnava sect of the Indian Peninsula not familiar to the people of Upper India and scarcely known to oriental scholars of the west; and the most welcome part of the work is the introduction which contains a lucid analytical outline of the lines of argument adopted by the commentator in support of his philosophical and theological conclusions as opposed to those of Sankaráchárya school of advaita philosophy, and the whole work when completed by South Indian pens is expected to prove a valuable contribution, without a modern rival, to the metaphysical theology of the Hindu in English. Copyright registered.

Chandra Aiyar, Publisher.	20th do.	160	Do. ..	1st ..	1,000	Do.	0 9 0	T. R. Chandra Aiyar, No. 82, Varada Muttiappan Street, Madras.	Prince Vilvalan, the hero of this story, married eight wives and every one of them proved a scold and too ill-tempered for subjection. With the help of a devotee, he discovered this misfortune to be due to a demon or the ghost of a brahmin that died of unexpiated sin, and drove out the goblin and then found himself happy. The story affording instruction to men and women on the value of learning and moral and pious life, as well as pure love and sympathy, is likely to prove useful and interesting reading. Copyright registered.
