Sir,

I beg to request you to kindly apply for another exemption for me from the Handwriting and Dictation test, as I failed to pass in December last when I appeared at Madras, my register number being 1058. I don't know why I failed as my writing is legible to most people.

I beg to remain,

Sir,

The Secretary gave me the desired information with reference to your Most Obedient Servant

when the Examination was to be held.

To my surprise I found that the Examination was held on the 1st December, 1900.

Proceedings of the Board of Revenue

(Separate Revenue).

Dated 18 July 1900.

Mis No. 3293

The Hon'ble Mr. J. THOMSON.

Read letter from J.H. Merriman, Esquire., Deputy Commissioner, Central Division, No. 3179, dated 11th July 1900, requesting the Board to move Government in view to obtain the permanent exemption of Mr. C.H. Gilby from the examination rules.

Resolution:-

The Board begs to request the exemption of Mr. C.H. Gilby, Sub-Inspector, Salt, Abkari and Customs Department, now on plague duty, from the Hand-writing and Dictation Test. Mr. Gilby, who has passed the Matriculation examination, was entertained in this Department on Rs. 60 Sub pro tem on 25th May 1897 subject to his passing the Handwriting and Dictation Test. He applied for the examination in 1897 but failed to appear. In May 1898 he appeared and failed; in December 1898 and May 1899 he was unable to appear as he was on plague duty. In December 1899 and May 1900 he appeared and failed again. The Board does not understand his failure, as he writes as good a hand as the majority of passed candidates. Captain French, the Special Plague Officer under whom he is now working commends his "good, legible handwriting, as well as his correct spelling and style of official correspondence," and the Collector of Salem adds his recommendation recommendation for his exemption on the ground of his "excellent plague service for nearly two years".

2. The Board would not ordinarily forward such an application. But in the present instance it is quite satisfied that Mr. Gilby's handwriting is as good as is required by the department and his failure to pass has prevented his confirmation for three years. In these circumstances the Board recommends that he may be exempted. Specimens of the officer's penmanship are enclosed for the inspection of Government.
