READ

Read letter from J. H. Merriman, Esquire., Deputy Commissioner, Central Division, No. 3600, dated 1st August 1900, submitting for the Board's orders Sub-Inspector Mr. Taylor's explanation for his failure to pass the Handwriting and Dictation Test.

Reference.

The Board begs to request the permanent exemption of Mr. A. E. Taylor, Sub-Inspector, Salt, Abkari and Customs Department, from the Handwriting and Dictation Test. Mr. Taylor who has passed the Matriculation Examination, was entertained in the Department on Rs. 60 Sub ~~pro~~ ~~tem~~ on the 4th January 1897 subject to his passing the Handwriting and Dictation Test. He did not apply for the examination held in December 1897 as he had no means of ascertaining the date of application when he was attached to a chowkie on the border of the Kurnool District. In May and December 1898 he appeared for the Test and failed. He did not apply for the examination held in May 1899 as he was not aware of the result of his previous examination and of the date (15th March 1899) by which his application should have been sent in, having been engaged at the time in weighing out salt to the French Government at Pondicherry. In December 1899 and May 1900 he appeared and failed again. The Board does not profess to understand success or failure in this examination. Mr. Taylor writes as good a hand as some at least of the passed candidates. He has passed a similar test in the Competitive examination for entrance into the Military Students' Class of the Medical College, Calcutta.

3. Mr. Taylor's handwriting (specimens of which are enclosed for the inspection of Government) is acceptable to the Board and his failure to pass has prevented his confirmation for over three years.

To
The Assistant Commissioner of Salt, Abkari & Customs Revenue
Chengelpat Sub-Division
Through
The Inspector of Salt, Abkari & Customs Revenue
Merkanam Circle.

Sir

With reference to your docket slip no 2468 of 1900, to the Inspector Merkanam Circle directing him to obtain my explanation for failing to pass the Handwriting Test Examination held in May last, I beg to state that I tried my best to pass the test but have been very unfortunate.

I also beg to state that I passed the Handwriting and Dictation Test examination in the Competitive examination for entrance into the Military Students' class of the Medical College, Calcutta, held in April 1894, which I believe to be in every way equal to that held in Madras for entrance into the Public Service

I have tried my best to give every satisfaction to my Superior Officers since I entered the Department which is now three and a half years. I have also acted as Assistant Inspector in the Channam-pet Factory for four months from March to June 1900.

Under the above circumstances I beg that you will kindly consider my case and be so good as to recommend me to be permanently exempted from passing this Test to the Board.

I beg to remain
Sir

Your most obedient servant

A. E. Taylor
